At this time, the board did not officially go on record as favoring it, but appointed a committee which should investigate it further and ascertain whether other organizations were planning to support the project. This committee was given the power to pledge the board's support provided in the opinion of its members that the organization was the proper way of meeting the local situation.

Lakeland has just done a wonderful thing in raising $50,000 to finance its chamber of commerce," said Col. Corbett. "I take off my hat to him. We are not this splendid accomplishment a result of the fact that the merchants and business men and women of Lakeland realize the importance of co-operation and that there are some things that cannot be done by individuals. This is not co-operation, it is co-operation, it is a good thing for the growers of citrus fruit."

The meeting was well attended and Col. Corbett was listened to attentively. Dr. W. H. Groover, physician and grower owner of this city, presided and introduced the speaker. Arrangements have been made for a committee to attend all of the meetings, he declared Thursday. W. H. Tunncliffe, president of the Peoples' Bank and either E. F. Whitner, Sr. or A. L. Betts, will represent the First National Bank. All are participating a most successful gathering.

Orlando, it is said, is planning a number of entertainment features for the visitors which will include dances, motor trips, banquets, golfing and other delightful forms of amusement. Assisting the committee of Orlando bankers in charge of the entertainment is the Chamber of Commerce of that city.

There is no doubt that we are facing a situation which in five or six years may bring about so serious a shortage of journeymen that it will be difficult for many plants to operate and run only at a very excessive cost. The promotion and development of printing trade schools will tend to make more journeymen and better journeymen and to keep down the arbitrary and unjust demands of the trades unions for a wage which in a few years would become prohibitive.

Following the talks of Miss Cooney and Miss Crawford, the matter will be decided upon finally and the decision made will stand, it is understood.

4-FOLD ATTACK ON REVENUE BILL OUTLINED

(Continued from page 1.) taxation the principle of a graduated tax in accordance with ability to pay, while under the present law the rate of taxation is the same whether there be one or many beneficiaries. This is unjust. Bonds Escape Tax. Declaring the flat tax of 14 per cent. on corporation incomes "unjust and inequitable" the report declared this "wholly ignores the principle of a graduated tax in proportion to real ability to pay." The report did not indicate whether a graduated tax would be proposed on the floor, merely pointing out that such a proposal was defeated by the majority members in committee. In connection with the corporation tax in the bill as reported, it was declared that corporations by purchase of federal bonds $18,000,000,000 of which are outstanding, could escape entirely the normal tax because the bonds are exempt. "It would seem, therefore," the report added, "that before any one connected with the administration should denounce the issuance of tax-exempt securities by states, he should first suggest such changes in the law as would permit the federal government to tax federal securities in accordance with the intent of the law which authorized their issuance."

HARRY W. THAW IS SANE SAYS JURY'S VERDICT

(Continued from page 1.) authorities to extradite him. Thaw Creates Scene. The case was given to the jury at 3:20 p. m. and at 5:35 o'clock Judge Monaghan ordered a recess until 8 o'clock. The last hours of the trial was marked by a sudden outburst on the part of Thaw. At the noon recess of the court when, incensed at the scolding attack of William A. Gray, counsel for Evelyn Nesbit, Thaw's divorced wife, Thaw rushed over to the press table shouting a denial that he was "nervous" because of Gray's statements. "I was nervous because I was afraid I'd lose the jury," Thaw asserted, and blurted out confused statements about the "common law" and a "withdrawn juror" and "records of conversations between a husband and myself." "What do you mean by a juror being withdrawn?" Thaw was asked. "That's taken care of in common law," he replied excitedly. Few were able to understand his speech. "Wait a minute, wait a minute," he cried, "my mother wants to talk to you, too. Don't go away." Mrs. Thaw, however, sat impassive, seemingly unaware of the support of her son's remarks. Bailiffs quickly cleared the court room, but Thaw was gesticulating as the last of the spectators left including the jurors. With some heat he explained to his counsel he wished to make himself clear on his anger at Mr. Gray's remarks. "You see," he added, "I had three different ideas I was trying to make articulate at one time." Judge Monaghan in his charge to the jury stressed the fact that the opposition did not take advantage of Thaw's appearance on the witness stand to cross examine him.

Consolidation of Schools Is Studied By State Officials

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Apr. 22.—The state school authorities are making a study of consolidated schools of the state, and have asked the county superintendents throughout the state for co-operation in gathering data on the subject. The study is being made with the view of improving the rural school facilities of the state, and raising the standards of efficiency as applied to the country schools. A questionnaire covering the principal phases of consolidated schools has been sent the county superintendents, with the request that they answer the questions and return the papers promptly. TRAGEDIENNE OF GREAT FAME IS CALLED BY DEATH

Famous Italian Artist On Farewell Tour of United States Dies of Influenza.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Apr. 22.—Eleanora Duse, the noted Italian tragedienne, who arrived in Pittsburgh three weeks ago Monday on her farewell tour of the United States, died early Monday morning in her room at a hotel. Death was caused by influenza, Dr. Barron, her physician, announced. Her body will be taken to New York where arrangements can be made and later be removed to Italy, the homeland of the famous actress. Madame Duse, after a retirement from the stage extending over a long period, last year was induced by personal friends and the United States, a few triumphant series of appearances on the other side of the Atlantic, she came to America in October, 1923, and, under the management of Morris Gest, played in New York, Boston and Philadelphia. She was generously acclaimed by thousands of admirers, and under the management of the Zellwens and Fortine Dallo, extended her tour to take in every section of the United States. Her condition was such that she played only once or twice a week. Beginning in New Orleans, she appeared in the South west and later on the Pacific coast and in the Middle West. After her appearance at Indianapolis, she decided not to take her usual rest of three days, but came direct to Pittsburgh. She was here for a week before she appeared in Syria Mosque, and during that time she visited many of the parks and other places of interest. Madame Duse's illness dated from the day of her appearance here. Early that day she decided to visit the Mosque, and attended only by her chauffeur, she went into the building, two blocks from her hotel. She failed to locate the main entrance and walked about in the rain for 10 minutes. When she entered the hall she complained of a chill. On the stage that night she appeared in a weakened condition.

SUPREME COURT OF STATE HANDS DOWN DECISIONS

Decisions Recently Made Are Announced By Justices of Supreme Court State of Florida.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Apr. 23. The Florida supreme court has handed down the following decisions:

Affirmed judgment of the circuit court for Calhoun county in case of George Cope, convicted of unlawful cohabitation.

By memorandum decision without opinion, affirmed the circuit court for Santa Rosa county in the case of John Bray and Eula Bray, appellants, vs. Millie McCalder, administratrix of the estate of Sam McCalder, deceased.

The supreme court has affirmed the decree of the circuit court for Duval in the case of Maude DeLong Norton, appellant vs. Blanche Norton Bays, joined by Louis Z. Bays, her husband, and Ruth Norton Christie, joined by George T. Christie, her husband, appellees.

This was a suit seeking to have deeds purporting to convey lots of land in Jacksonville from John H. Norton to Maude DeLong Norton, his wife, decreed to be null and void. The appellees are daughters of Mr. Norton, by a former wife, Mr. Norton is dead.

The supreme court found there is evidence in the record to sustain the circuit judge's finding of fact that it was the intention of the grantor, John H. Norton, that the delivery of the deeds to his wife should be effective after, but not before his death, if she survived him, rendering them testamentary in character, and that upon his death the delivery of the deeds to the widow was consummated; but because of the constitutional inhibition against the devise of homestead property where the testator leaves children surviving him, the court decreed the deeds, to the extent that they attempted to convey homestead property, to be void and ineffectual. This holding was sustained.

The supreme court also has affirmed judgment of the circuit court for Highlands county in the case of John G. Herrin, plaintiff in error, vs. Avon Manufacturing Company, defendant in error. This was a suit to recover damages for personal injuries sustained by Mr. Herrin while in the defendant's employ in a crate mill. The jury returned a verdict of $6,500 damages for the plaintiff. The circuit court granted a motion for new trial upon the ground that such verdict was contrary to the law and the evidence. Herrin took a writ of error to the supreme court from the order granting a new trial, but the supreme court finds from the record nothing to indicate that the circuit judge's discretion in the matter of granting a new trial was abused.

By memorandum decision without opinion, affirmed judgment of the circuit court for Orange county in the case of J. F. Ange, plaintiff in error, vs. Stephens Lumber Company, defendant in error.

Because of failure of counsel for appellant to file briefs, though the case had been on the court's docket over two years, the court dismissed the appeal in the case of W. A. Dutch, appellant, vs. M. D. Marmichael, and others, as city commissioners, and Karl Riddle as city manager of the city of West Palm Beach appellees.

Ordered that if J. A. Bowen, defendant in error, in a case appealed from Duval county by the East Coast Lumber Company, shall enter a remittitur so that the judgment shall be for $4,214.42, with interest as stated in the verdict, the judgment shall stand affirmed for such $4,214.42 and interest; otherwise, the judgment will stand reversed for a new trial.

Affirmed the order of the circuit court for Pinellas county in the case of Minnie Veillard and her husband, Ralph Veillard, S. T. Worthen and his wife, Mary P. Worthen, Jennie R. Durant and Charles Durant, her husband, appellants, vs. the City of St. Petersburg. This was a suit by the city against the appellants to foreclose a mortgage certificate lien against abutting property. In the course of the pleadings a motion to dismiss the bill of complaint was granted without prejudice. The defendants appealed, and assigned as error this order. The supreme court holds that this is a matter within sound judicial discretion of the chancellor, and sustains Judge McMullen's order.

Republicans New Jersey Will Have A Close Contest

NEWARK, N. J., Apr. 23.—A close contest between President Coolidge and United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson for delegates to the Republican national convention and for presidential preference is looked for in the New Jersey primary election to be held Tuesday.

Adherents of President Coolidge were first to file nominating petitions both for presidential preference and convention delegates, but these were quickly followed by petitions in favor of Senator Johnson and in the end complete slates were filed for both. The campaign was vigorously conducted with prominent Republicans as speakers for both candidates.

United States Senator Edge, former Senator Frelinghuysen and former Governor Edward C. Stokes, now chairman of the Republican state committee, are among the candidates for delegate-at-large, of whom seven will be chosen, who favor President Coolidge. Two women candidates for delegate-at-large have been named by both the Coolidge and Johnson sides. No contest of importance has appeared for the Democratic primary and the delegation to the national convention at New York will be headed by Governor George S. Silzer, who has been mentioned for the presidential nomination. A majority of the state delegates will be pledged to him.

There will be eight delegates-at-large to the national convention, each with half a vote. The number was increased to eight to provide places for three women. Among the delegates-at-large will be United States Senator Edwards and F. W. Donnelly, mayor of Trenton.

Wunt's Washington Letter

HARRY B. HUNT
 Service Staff Writer.
 WASHINGTON, D. C.—Cal Coolidge is no fan. The "great game" of baseball leaves little time for anything else. That was evident at the opening of the American League season at the Madison ball park.

Coolidge complied with the tradition that the first ball of the first game in Washington must be pitched by the president. But he did it with an expression of a man that distasteful he had yet to be called upon to perform as executive. If hurling a ball were out into a ball, while a crowd of spectators looks on, was a daily of the presidential routine, it will be Calvin Coolidge who'll be running for reelection.

Coolidge's discomfiture as he got up to throw the ball was not only evident in his face, but in his smile. He went to it as an unpleasant, undignified proceeding that he had to go through with, but he didn't enjoy or even dread it.

Instead of tossing the ball out, he sort of pushed it away from him with an overhead gesture, as if he might have been hit. As Coolidge might have been hit, then, with the home team, he got up and left in the middle of the third inning.

COOLIDGE may not be warm to baseball, he does not seem to be into the curves of that great national pastime, politics. Already his campaign manager has to have about 100 of his 255 delegates to the Republican convention roped and cajoled. The home team is not so sure of their position. They are not so sure of their position. They are not so sure of their position.

What the World Is Doing

AS SEEN BY POPULAR MECHANICS MAGAZINE

Medicine Is Fed into Lungs of White-Plague Victims

For the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis a medicine is being used that is inhaled directly into the patient's lungs through a tube and mouthpiece.

A loud speaker lacking a horn was also tested. It was a large disk, about three feet in diameter, and connected by wires and a vacuum tube with the mouthpiece. The device did away with the metallic noise, and proved it could reproduce the voice at almost any magnitude.

Facilitating Handling of Rowboats

Ordinarily it requires the assistance of two men to launch a rowboat, but one man can easily do the work if the footboard is provided with a small bronze roller as shown in the drawing. The detail shows how such a roller is attached; a wooden skeg keel is fastened to the main keel at the stern by means of iron plates and lag-screws, and a recess is cut in the skeg to accommodate the roller, which is held in place by means of two bronze side plates. The roller must, of course, turn freely between these plates. A steel or iron roller should not be used, as it soon rusts and then becomes useless. The roller should be kept well greased in order to obtain the best results.

Payroll Card System Helps in Avoiding Mistakes

Time, expense and mistakes in computing pay of employees of a large eastern company who work on an hourly basis are saved with the use of a system of cards that indicate the length of time a man has worked and the exact amount due. When a task is started, a card, marked in fifteen-minute intervals from 7 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the evening, is punched to show the beginning hour. Another perforation is made on quitting. This card is placed upon a master card which shows the labor prices in progression from fifteen minutes up to and including eleven hours through the perforations. For the various kinds of work, seventy master cards are used in the factory. They are kept in a handy index so that they may be found immediately.

Two-Element Tube Needs No B-Batteries

Makers of reflex-circuit sets will be interested in a tube that has recently made its appearance. The tube has but two elements, hence its name—"diode." It is said to combine the clear reproduction of the crystal with the sturdiness and reliability of the tube, and to operate on less than 1/2 amp. from a single dry cell. No B-batteries are required. It is adapted for use in all reflex circuits, and requires no adjustments for changes in wave length.

Uncle Sam Builds Highways Enough to Circle Earth

More than 8,000 miles of roads of all types were completed with federal aid during the year which ended June 30, 1923, according to a government report. This, added to the mileage completed previously, brought the total for finished projects up to 26,336 miles, or more than enough to circle the earth. The projects under construction at the close of the year amounted to 14,772 miles, and were estimated at 53 per cent complete.

Lamp Is Lighted by Wireless Transmission of Power

Just a glimpse of the future possibility of the wireless transmission of power was given in the east recently, when an ordinary 110-watt incandescent lamp was lighted while being held a foot from a vacuum tube containing 1,000,000 cycles of alternating current.

The demand for clay products, and particularly structural materials, will also continue to expand with general growth and development within the state. Common brick, face brick, hollow block, fireproofing, roofing tile, and floor tile, will be more widely used than now on account of the decreasing supply and increasing cost of lumber.

"Herein, therefore," the report says, "lies the greatest possibility in the development of the clay industries of this state. All of the products above enumerated can be produced from Florida clays, and if not produced in the state, will be imported from adjoining states."

Clay resources and reserves of the state are varied, it is stated. Some sections, for example the region to the latitude of the Everglades, and southward, are said to have practically no clays, and other sections have clays, but none that are of practical value in the manufacture of clay products. Still others have clays that, with careful treatment, may be used for products of fair grade. Then, some sections have an almost unlimited supply of excellent clay. This ap-

Seniors Entertain Junior Class With Banquet Recently

FLORIDA STATE COLLEGE WOMEN, Apr. 24.—The banquet given by the Juniors for the Seniors was one of the most brilliant affairs of the year at the Florida State College. The college dining room was the scene of this event, which was held Monday evening and ended by 300 persons.

Decorations for the occasion both unique and artistic. A green garden was represented, with bloomed daffodils and other flowers of the spring time. Entering the garden was by a run of flags, and in the garden were set a fountain, groups which were placed.

Arranging an ideal program, the duty of the Seniors was to blend with the color scheme of blue, white and lavender, carried in the decorations, was the arrangement of clinging vines and fern greenery about the stage. Further enhancing the beauty of the scene were small parasols standing from each chair, and overabounding with vari-colored flowers.

Music was furnished by the orchestra for dancing between courses. The musicians were seated in a Chinese tea house, with flowers and slowly burping.

Cards carried out the Oriental theme, as did the favors, tiny colored baskets filled with miniature leather pocket-knives, Chinese fans, and small

Sanford's planners had vision and Sanford will not have any trouble widening its streets. It will be necessary to pay for the parkways into pay-

For What Do You Tell Your Troubles?

Speaking of trouble, literally "the speaking of trouble," is so much a daily occupation for some people, The Herald is moved to start the query, without hope of receiving many replies, regarding the profit derived from that use of time.

None of us is in this world very long. The present hour is all we can count on, and sometimes not even on the whole of that. What, then, do we get in the way of benefit from spending any moment of that time in the recitation of our troubles, or our aches and our pains?

If by telling our troubles we arouse sympathy that is helpful or elicit aid that relieves us, we might call our complaining good business. But in honest fact, how much of our complaining does bring a single thing of value, either to ourselves or to our friends?

Standing a few days ago near an automobile in which several people were waiting for another member of their party to finish her shopping, we over-heard a woman say, "You may not believe it, but this is the first time I have consciously complained of a thing this year."

We heard no more of the conversation, but over and over again that statement has recurred to us. It must have been a New Year's resolution, we think, that had kept the complaints un-voiced—a New Year's resolution that would be of untold benefit to mankind, if put into general practice. And it would not be necessary to wait until the beginning of 1925 to give it a trial.

Take today, for instance, to try it out. Do not permit yourself to mention any of your ailments or complain of any of your misfortunes or vexations. Having more or less successfully controlled your tongue today, you may find the task a little more easy tomorrow. And day after day being on the watch to guard against talking of your troubles, you will begin to realize just what a pest you used to be, and in a new-born self-respect you will refuse to return to the old practice of imposing your misery upon others.

Very certainly, too, in failing to use your troubles as a topic for conversation, you will get away from dwelling upon them yourself. You will seek topics that are pleasing to your friends; and almost in spite of yourself your condition will react to a sort of mental sunshine, and health will come.

"Talking of troubles," how much of it do you do in a day, and what do you get out of it in benefit either for yourself or your loved ones?

Plant A Delegate Tree For 1972.

In addition to educational work for the protection of the country's present forests, tree-lovers are taking advantage of "Forest Protection Week," now being celebrated throughout the United States, to arouse interest in the planting of more trees everywhere.

The American Forestry Association would like to have trees set out with the idea of their being full-grown and beautiful for the centennial of Arbor Day in 1972. And in response to the appeal many thousands of trees will be planted as delegates to the forest convention, forty-eight years from now. Thus many of today's boys and girls, growing old then, will be on hand at Arbor Day programs to tell the story of "Arbor Day in 1924."

In connection with the appeal for tree-planting, too, comes the sensible suggestion that native trees be used as much as possible. Elm, linden, black walnut, hickory and maple are recommended for planting in northern states with the oak for all sections of the country, because of its many varieties and its adaptability to all climates.

Here in Florida we know the oak; but in their eagerness for quick returns from their landscape work, too many developers are planting trees and shrubs that will mature quickly and die early. And outside of the real estate companies and a few wealthy individuals, no one is paying much attention to any kind of tree-planting.

To replace the wonderful forest growth which has been so ruthlessly, and so ignorantly, destroyed, Florida seems to think that it still has an inexhaustible supply of native forest. There even are places in Florida where farmers will burn off an acre of virgin forest to plant an acre of peanuts, so pitifully uneducated are the people as to the value of the trees.

And so far as The Herald knows there is no systematic forestry work going on in Florida. A few enthusiastic people and a few organizations are looking after some creditable special projects, but educational work in behalf of reforestation is gravely inadequate.

Perhaps, however, Florida will be awakened, and have millions of trees as delegates to the centennial of 1972.

If a man has good corn, or wood, or boards, or pigs to sell, or can make better chairs or knives, crucibles, or church organs, than anybody else, you will find a broad, hard-beaten road to his house, though it be in the woods. And if a man knows the law, people will find it out, though he live in a pine shanty, and resort to him. And if a man can pipe or sing, so as to wrap the prisoned soul in an elysium; or can paint the landscape, and convey into oils and others all the enchantments of spring or autumn; or can liberate or intoxicate all people who hear him with delicious songs and verses; 'tis certain that the secret can not be kept: the first witness tells it to a second, and men go by fives and ten and fifties to his door.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

We defy augury: there's a special providence in the fall of a sparrow. If it be now, 'tis not to come; if it be not to come, it will be now; if it be not now, yet it will come; the readiness is all.—Shakespeare.

He, who has committed a fault, is to be corrected both by advice and by force, kindly and harshly, and to be made better for himself as well as for another, not without chastisement, but without passion.—Seneca.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

Once upon a time, answering a request for information from the editor of a magazine, I risked the guess that, in the cultural scale, the average moving picture promoter ranked somewhere between Key West coach fishermen and members of the late Bender family of Kansas. But a person of wider experience than mine in the field of the cinema goes further than that. He remarked the other day, in my presence, that the only word of more than one syllable in the vocabulary of the typical producer was the word "million." And he added that some of the directors were equally intellectual. All of which served to remind me of a story I heard concerning the assistant manager of one of the big Hollywood studios. On the spot, this gentleman is famous. He is regarded there as a self-made man who rather eked out the job. To him there came an applicant

Duse Is Dead. How Asia Grows. Liberty Is a Teacher. Copyright, 1924

ELEONORA DUSE is dead, dying at her work, dying as every real worker would like to die. She, Sarah Bernhardt and Rachel, will be remembered as great leaders in the art of interpreting thought, directing and stimulating imagination.

There is no one in sight to take the place that Duse leaves. But, among the Italian and Jewish children in the poor quarters, there are a dozen Duses and Bernharts. Some one of them will fight her way into the sunlight of fame.

THE PRINTING association of Tokio votes a boycott on all products from the State of California. That is their right, but they will soon forget about it. Commerce goes to its best market.

In any case, Japan and the United States will have no quarrel. We are only excluding all Asiatics as Japan excluded the Chinese.

YOU KNOW that the population of Asia increases now by six millions every year and that as they learn more about keeping their babies alive the increase will be twenty millions. The entire increase would come to California if it could. That makes it necessary to have our position understood. We are not interested in "gentlemen's agreements." They are apt to develop into "scraps of paper."

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, Jr., tells his young men's Bible class, using the parable of the talents, that too many people want liberty without understanding corresponding responsibilities.

This, he said, applied to nations, groups and individuals. It's a good reminder.

BUT MR. ROCKEFELLER knows as everybody, that responsibility FOLLOWS liberty.

You must let a child TRY to walk before it can walk; you must let it try to swim before it can swim. No people or individual was ever completely ready for liberty's responsibilities when liberty first came. This country isn't quite ready for liberty yet, judging by the Papist dome and the little attention paid to government by the average man.

DR. GUTHRIE, earnest Protestant Episcopalian, in whose church young women go through beautiful dances as part of the religious service, tells the Christian church it is in danger. It has lost the working classes already and the intellectuals may slip away from it.

Certainly, as you look over history, the intellectuals slip away first and laugh up their sleeves as they go through the motions. The working classes change from one religion to another, that suits them better. What is there in a "fashionable" modern church—outside of Bible reading—to comfort the working classes or interest the intellectuals?

THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN supposed to represent the Republican National Committee, sees direful visions, including red revolution. LaFollette, who thinks the people govern the world, reads instead of being governed by them; Senator Wheeler, who rebelled against Montana's copper mine government, and others among our mild "radicals" aim to overthrow this government, according to that Republican organ.

IT ACCUSES various publications, including Labor, an excellent working man's weekly, published in Washington, of trying to control the American Government. Why should they not try. They have as good a right to try as the oil trust, the beef trust, coal trust and various other trusts that have not only tried to control the American government but have thoroughly CONTROLLED it, occasionally.

AS TO LaFollette and the others, they have at least made a few Americans think about their own government. And that would be a great public service, even if LaFollette and the others were one hundred per cent wrong in everything they advocate.

TROTZKY says the United States plans a great war. He imagines this nation a-raining poison gases from airplanes on starving Europe. "Only complete destruction of capitalism will make the world safe," says he.

Meanwhile, Russia is hurrying back to capitalism as fast as it can hurry. Theory, after all, is not as attractive as regular meals.

BERTRAND RUSSELL, English mathematician and philosopher, believes the United States will extend its empire all over the world, controlling all nations by the power of money. He thinks that might be a good thing on the whole as it would prevent war. Bertrand Russell is in the United States. Such visitors come surrounded by their own atmosphere, don't get outside of it and don't see the United States.

OUR CIVILIZATION and liberties exist because men in the past have been willing to fight for them. Young men that would hesitate to fight for them now would not be worth the money spent to educate them. But those young men only imagine themselves pacifists, and if war really broke out, probably would fight as well as anybody.

THE COMMUNITY CHEST

MIAMI HERALD

Perhaps no movement ever undertaken in this city has so thoroughly attracted the attention of the citizens of Miami and so taken hold of their imagination as this movement to establish here the proposed Community Chest.

The agencies to carry on the campaign through which the Community Chest is to be made a practical thing have all been organized scientifically and we are in the hands of the most intelligent and active men and women in the city. For three days, then, of this week, the campaign will be pushed vigorously for the purpose of securing all the pledges necessary to raise the proposed fund of about $125,000.

Not a single note of objection worthy the name has been urged in opposition to the movement. The people seem to be of one heart and carrying out the socially practical thing that Miami has to put the campaign over with the same vigor and the same success that marked the efforts of Miami in the direction of the great war.

There is an appeal to everyone in this movement. To the harassed business man, who has heretofore been compelled to listen to the pleadings of many different and varying committees for many different causes, the Community Chest will be both a money saver and a time saver.

Probably every community in this country has gone through or is compelled to go through the same experience that Miami has had to endure down to this time. Every worthy cause, and some that have not been worthy, enlist friends for that particular cause. Committees are appointed and drives are started to raise funds to carry out the socially proposed work. This means that the business men and others have been called upon to help with their money causes in which they have had no personal interest. Miami's business people have always subscribed to the result has been that they have been visited from ten to twelve times a year by different committees, have been compelled to listen to the appeals to their generosity and civic pride.

Central Marketing Organization

LAKELAND STAR-TELEGRAM

The Lake Wales plan is one step in the right direction looking to the solution of the problem facing the Florida grower of citrus fruits. The co-operative marketing system saved the Burley tobacco growers of Kentucky from ruin; co-operative marketing saved the California grape growers from bankruptcy; co-operative marketing placed the California citrus industry on a paying basis. But it is to be noted these industries mentioned were benefited not so much through pooling their interests as they were through pooling their marketing.

If the Florida Citrus Exchange is able to sign up at least seventy-five per cent of the growers of the state, there still remains twenty-five per cent of the growers who will market their fruit through independent companies. What control will the exchange have over the independents? What will prevent the exchange or independents from that matter, from cutting prices, shipping green fruit or glutting certain markets? How will the independents or the exchange know to what points the other organizations are going to ship? Will the exchange guarantee the growers against loss? Will the exchange get together with the independents and establish a central marketing organization?

It is to be noted that the other industries which were faced with practically the same proposition that the citrus growers face today, saved themselves through co-operative marketing.

Believing that the term "artificial silk" and like cognomens applied to novelty materials was misleading the National Dry Goods Association, of which this store is a member, passed a resolution giving the name "Glo" to such fabrics. In the future "Glo" will be used in the advertising where "artificial silk" was formerly employed.

BOXING CARD FOR MAY 2 GIVEN OUT BY BILLY DAWSON

Young Wallace and Ben Brewer will meet in headline attraction of the Bill With Ragan and Terry in the Semi-Final.

A sparkling boxing card has been arranged for Sanford under the auspices of the local National Guard organization for Friday night, May 2, according to an announcement by Billy Dawson, matchmaker for Col. Geo. W. Knight and Maj. R. E. Stevens, who are in charge of the promotion of the bouts. Young Wallace of New Orleans, and Ben Brewer, champion of South America and more recently of Tampa, will engage in the headline argument of 10 rounds, while Battling Myers, of Boston, and Miekie Dugan, of Bridgeport, will mix matters in an eight round semi-final bill. Wallace and Brewer are both welterweights and accredited with a long list of pulverized victims. Wallace has a decision over Jimmy Finley to his credit, and that alone stamps him as being among the leaders in this division. Finley has proven himself to be one of the toughest and cleverest welterweights to ever appear in a Florida ring. The New Orleans boy is fighting fast and possesses a multitemple power kick in either mitt.

This Brewer person is another sucker, according to the records. Upon his return from the land of Luis Firpo and the Antozon River Ben topped over Mickey Shannon in one round and Tommy Farrell in four rounds. Both of these scrappers are above the average and Brewer's feat is noteworthy. As a result, the headline fray on Friday week should be a whirlwind affair from start to finish.

Battling Myers and Miekie Dugan are featherweights and speedy little boxers. Myers made a big hit here in his last scrap and gained many friends who will be looking for him to sock Dugan into dreamland. But Dugan has other ideas about the matter and will put up a determined opposition. Both boys have impressive records and will put up a big fight. A six and a four round preliminary bout are now being arranged by Mr. Dawson, who states that the card will be the most attractive ever presented in this section of the state.

Final Preparations For Aquatic Meet Are Now Complete

Final preparations have been made for the big State Intercollegiate Aquatic Meet scheduled for Saturday, April 26, Lake Virginia, Rollins College.

Twenty schools have qualified according to eligibility rules of the State High School Athletic Association. Eighteen boys' teams and twelve girls' teams will compete for championship honors. Teams and enthusiasts are arriving daily. The lake shore is crowded with people and contestants who are making preparations for the big event. Admirers of Pete Desjardines are delighted to learn that he will dive in the meet this year. Desjardines has made many friends in central Florida and high honors will be contested for by this young diver and Ward Kab of Hillsborough High School.

Winter Park, Orlando, Winter Garden, Apopka and other nearby towns, besides Sanford, Kissimmee and other nearby cities, are planning to turn out strong for the contest Saturday and a record-breaking crowd is predicted.

Hundreds of sport lovers are of the opinion that the keenest competition ever seen on a swimming course in this section of the country will be staged on the official course at Rollins College.

Henry Kart, referee of the meet, has notified his officials to report not later than 9 a. m. Saturday when they will receive final instructions and necessary equipment for their many duties. Mr. Kart has a wonderful team in this group and a successful meet is assured with this corps of interested sports who take part in this way in the interest of Florida high school boys and girls.

PLACE WHERE ROOSEVELT ATE BOILED DINNERS TO GO

(By The Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Apr. 24.—The "High Chair" restaurant which for half a century, has reposed in a sleepy corner of lower Manhattan, and where Theodore Roosevelt used to enjoy corned beef and cabbage, is to pay along with other landmarks of the Grand Street neighborhood.

When the old ferries steamed between Manhattan and Brooklyn and when the car barns which housed the ancient horse cars were nearby, the restaurant with its solid mahogany tables flourished. Besides Roosevelt many widely known politicians were patrons.

"Now, they're all gone," mused Harry Tomlinson, its veteran proprietor. "The boys send down for coffee instead of beer. They eat ham and eggs instead of corned beef and cabbage. All the old ones have grown up and their children have moved away."

Lake Worth—Sixty thousand dollars being spent for improvement and reconstruction of Florida Hotel on Lake Avenue.

Fort Myers—$63,000 school building.

Dr. W. A. MacKenzie, Mayor, Leesburg; L. H. Kramer, President Board of Trade, Lake Wales; J. E. Worthington, Editor Highlander and Board of Trade, Lake Wales.

CITRUS GROWERS—Watch the newspapers for announcements of speaking dates and be sure to hear some of the able men who are giving their time to this campaign.
