CONVICTS, GUARD DIE IN RAIL BREAK

Five Criminals, Being Sawed-Off Guns, Make Run For Freedom
Officials Killed by Fire

State Penitentiary Is Scene Of Night Escape
New Orleans, La. Sept. 10.—Five convicts and a guard were killed and a boat tender for the Louisiana Railway and Company wounded today when a train carrying 14 convicts armed with sawed-off guns and a guard was derailed at Angola penitentiary.

Stanley Owens, of Hamden, who shot a New Orleans man and who twice had been in the Louisiana State Penitentiary, was shot by the guard, Frank Beck, of Bayou Lafourche, who only recently had been released from the penitentiary. Owens and Beck were shot in the back of the head and died instantly. Stanley St. Paul, Miami, convicted of the murder of a New Orleans man, also died in the hands of the guards. The other convicts were Jack Kinchen, convicted of killing a man, and J. M. Smith, who was serving a term for a robbery.

When the train derailed, the convicts fled. The Louisiana Railway Company Captain Singleton and his men engaged in a battle with the convicts. Singleton was killed and his men were wounded. The convicts fled in the direction of the bayou. Four convicts were seen to escape. They were followed by the guard.

Follows Rigid Rules in France

Sept. 10.—(INS)—The gayest city in Europe today, Paris, returned to its normal life after a week of rigid rules. The city was closed to all but the necessary services. The police were on high alert. The city was in a state of emergency. The police were on high alert. The city was in a state of emergency.

Herald To Conduct Straw Vote On Contest Between Hoover, Al Smith

Voters In Each Suscribing Family Asked To Participate In Poll; Ballot Will Be Published In The Tuesday's Issue

In an effort to obtain some idea of how Seminole County citizens feel about the presidential race, and how they are going to vote in the November election, The Sanford Herald today announces plans for a straw vote on Herbert Hoover and Al Smith.

In tomorrow's issue, The Herald will carry on its front page a ballot. It will be published only once because The Herald desires the poll to be as accurate in recording local sentiment as it is humanly possible and it also wants to prevent ballot stuffing, so only one ballot will be permitted for each family.

The ballot will be an arrangement to permit every member of a subscriber's family to register his choice. In this way it is hoped to secure the opinions of several thousand persons. No names will be signed to the ballots, thus making it a secret poll. The number of persons of a voting age in each family will be requested and also information as to which party the voters belong, and how they expect to vote this time.

Every family receiving The Herald will be asked to participate in the poll. Ballots may be returned to The Herald in person or sent through the mails. In either case they should be sealed in envelopes. Several days will be allowed for the votes to be turned in and then the results will be tabulated and announced some time later in the week.

REPUBLICANS BID FOR COUNTY VOTE IN MEETING HERE

Major J. C. Patterson of Miami, personal representative of Mr. Hoover, spoke for the Republican nominee for president, while Mr. Howey and Mr. Lawson talked in behalf of their own candidates, A. E. Barnett of Fern Park, who served as chairman of the meeting.

Work of Prisoners Keeps Rivers From Flooding Territory

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 10.—(INS)—Graves from a frying pan, caused a fire that destroyed the Biograph Cafe and seven other buildings in a downtown district here today. The property loss was estimated at $25,000. No one was injured.

Paul Reed and Charles Burks, who were engaged in a fist fight Saturday afternoon in the vicinity of the depot, were assessed fines of $15 each on a technical charge of disorderly conduct.

KELLOGG, WITH PEACE TREATY, SEEN AS ISSUE LANDS TODAY

Secretary Disembarks From Leviathan Minus Demonstrations Given Him In Europe

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—(INS)—Frank H. Kellogg, secretary of state, returned from Europe today aboard the Leviathan, bringing with him the recently signed peace treaty. He was accompanied by Mrs. Kellogg. They were taken off the ship at Quarantine at dawn, disembarked at the Battery, and went directly to the Pennsylvania Station to catch a train for Washington.

The arrival of Kellogg was that of a private citizen, without any of the pomp and ceremony which marked his visits to France and Ireland. There was no official reception here.

Together with the small yellow pigskin bag, containing the historic document which he took aboard to have signed by the world powers, the Secretary of State also returned with an important announcement. He declared that the Anglo-French naval agreement is consistent with the Paris pact for the renunciation of war, but that he did not understand that there is any Anglo-French treaty; both countries have said there is no treaty.

Work of Prisoners Keeps Rivers From Flooding Territory

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 10.—(INS)—The heroic work of 100 "hog" prisoners was declared today to have prevented the dikes and levees from breaking near here yesterday when the crest of the flood of the Mississippi river was reached. Half the dikes given away, it was estimated that some $500,000 worth have been destroyed.

Search for Carnes Shifts To Regions Of Tropic America

ATLANTA, Sept. 10.—(INS)—Search for Clinton R. Carnes, a missing member of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board shifted from American cities to regions South of the Gulf of Mexico today. Police detectives have uncovered information that made it seem probable that Carnes used connections of the Home Mission Board in Central America to stake out a haven for himself in the contemplated flight.

Hundreds of islands that dot the Caribbean Sea and the wild regions stretching Southward from the Guianas afford a shelter which would be difficult to penetrate, it was pointed out.

Coolidges Make Plans To Depart This Evening For Capital After Vacation

Farewell Address Will Be Made At Superior By President Who Will Then Entrain With His Wife For Washington

SUPERIOR, Wis., Sept. 10.—President Coolidge sings his swan song in northwestern Wisconsin today. This evening, he is scheduled to appear on the steps of the Superior central high school this summer's site of the temporary executive offices—and tell the people of the surrounding neighborhood how glad he was to have spent three months fishing on the Brule river.

Immediately following this "farewell address" the President and his party will entrain for Washington Wednesday morning will find him back at his desk in the national capital.

PROSECUTOR HAS STARTLING FACTS ON POLICE GRAFT

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—Angry by the abrupt disappearance from the police gallery records of the pictures of millionaire bootleggers, District Attorney John Monaghan promised revelations concerning grafting police that will shake up the police department in the foundation of the third week of the prohibition underworld conditions here began today.

Hunter Wins First Tennis Match With Norris R. Williams

WEST RIDE TENNIS CLUB, FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Francis T. Hunter of New Rochelle, N. Y. ranking player and "Big Bill" Tilden's Davis Cup doubles partner played steady and at times brilliant tennis to defeat R. Norris Williams 7nd of Philadelphia in the first round of the men's national singles tennis championship in the stadium here today 6-1, 6-4, 7-6.

It was a battle between two old masters, for the careers of both Hunter and Williams antedate the war and it was in 1914 that Williams won the championship when he defeated Maurice McLoughlin, the "California crook." That the Williams 7nd of Philadelphia is the first to win the championship when Williams bowed to Hunter today.

At 11:30 o'clock all of the flowers in class B had arrived and happened off with the exception of C. W. Mary, Tucson, Ariz., in a War plane. The 19th plane, in part was that of R. J. Merritt, of New Castle, Pa.

G. O. P. ORDERS VEILED JIBES TO BE BANNED

No Mudslinging To Be Tolerated Says Campaign Chiefs Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(INS)—"No mudslinging." This order went forth from Republican national headquarters today to the army of party leaders seeking to place Herbert Hoover in the White House. It followed a public denunciation by Hubert Work, republican national chairman, of "whispering campaigns" and it marked a very definite effort by Republican leaders to halt under-cover attacks on both Hoover and Governor Alfred E. Smith his Democratic rival.

Work Denounces Shaded Tactics

The move had the approval of the Republican nominee, who attacks all types of warfare attacks on candidates for public office. Hoover looks on "mudslinging" as beneath the dignity of a presidential campaign and he feels the battle should be won or lost on party issues. He doesn't even favor attacks on Democratic issues or the record of the Democratic Party. He has told his advisers he prefers that his campaign be made an affirmative one, confined to extolling Republican issues and praising the Republican record.

WOMAN PAYS FINE

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 10.—(INS)—Mrs. Lulu Russo, "queen of the handbooks of New Orleans," paid a $100 fine in Judge Humphreys' court today, rather than spend 90 days in jail. Mrs. Russo was found guilty of operating a large handbook on horse races.

Chicago Gangsters Get Vengeance By Killing Tony Lombardo's Slayer

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—(INS)—Chicago allies of Tony Lombardo, slayer of "Scarface Al" Capone, super gangster, the Chicago police believe today, have taken their first vengeance toll for the killing of the Chicago bootlegger and gangster.

That the local police and Sheriff Fred G. Bryson of Harrison County believe today is part of the gritty and bloody hammer of punishment—the manifestation of an ancient law of blood which demands "an eye for an eye" and "a tooth for a tooth."

By Jerry Evans

Well, at any rate, the presidential campaign is causing a lot of people to think and talk religion, whether they are any better as a result, or not.—Calro Messenger

Don't forget to vote in The Herald's straw election tomorrow. Will it be Hoover or Smith? Mark your ballot and send it to The Herald office.

Florida's citrus yield this year is estimated at eighteen million boxes, worth sixty-five million dollars to growers. Who says this is nothing but a tourist state?

Both Bryan Owen has been compelled to deny upon two separate occasions that she would take the stamp for Al Smith. Mrs. Owen is still running for Congress from the Fourth Florida District and is wise to let Al Smith handle his own campaign.

Another "unloaded" gun has sounded off. A Coral Gables boy scout has a fractured skull as a result. Nevertheless an unloaded gun has never killed anyone. It is only the gun which is loaded but which you think is unloaded that is really dangerous.

Herb Felkel, editor of the St. Augustine Record, is the original Al Smith man in Florida, being practically the only Floridian for Smith before the convention. We expect to see Herb appointed ambassador plenipotentiary to Singapore after the election.

Major Barnett said at the Republican meeting Saturday night that he was a registered Democrat but that he was going to vote for Howey for governor because Carlton was supporting Al Smith. We do not believe that any real Democrat will vote against Mr. Carlton for living up to the oath he took when entering the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Senator Fletcher objects because Florida boys fail to pass entrance examinations to United States military and naval schools. He says that out of sixteen who took the mental tests for the Coast Guard academy last June, only one passed. Our senior senator is inclined to believe there is some fault in the fundamental instruction received by the boys at home and in the public schools. We wonder what percentage passes in other states.

President Coolidge, Saturday, borrowed a .38 caliber automatic pistol shot almost from the hip and brought down a bird on the wing at 20 yards, out there in the west where presidents are men.—Tampa Tribune's Gulf Stream. It hasn't occurred to us to doubt this story. The bird might have flown right against the bullet. But President Coolidge or any other man will have to do that stunt at least twice in succession before we believe it was anything but an accident.—Palm Beach Independent. —Palm Beach Independent. We saw a fellow once with a gun in one hand and a bottle in the other. He threw the bottle into the air, then threw one gun after it. With the other gun he shot, hitting the firing pin of the first gun, which went off, sending a bullet straight into the bottle.

Setting The Example

A few months ago a New York taxicab stopped for traffic near Times Square. Another taxicab containing four men drew up alongside. Instantly there was the crash and rattle of a machine gun and two automatic pistols. Then the second taxicab dashed on and disappeared in a flood of humanity beyond. Diamond-studded Frankie Lyle, king of New York bootleggers, was left behind, bullet-ridden.

A few days ago in Chicago revenge came sweet. Tony Lombardo, side-kick of Capone, partners in the richest liquor industry in America, walked down Madison street in one of the busiest sections of the loop. Two well armed body guards walked with him. Suddenly automatics cracked. Chicago's crowded thoroughfare was quickly deserted except for the body of Lombardo lying in a pool of blood where it had fallen.

Law-abiding citizens read these accounts with horror. Bankers, merchants, tailors, restaurateurs tremble at the boldness of the gunmen and question the strength of their vaults. Worried men and timid ladies hesitate to go upon the streets fearing to be the "innocent bystander." They wonder why the police cannot do something about it. They see an end to peace in this country and dread the wild disorders of Bolshevism if the laws of the land are not more widely respected.

From Philadelphia come reports of startling exposures by Mayor MacKey and District Attorney Monaghan. Brigadier General Smedley Butler, now commanding a detachment of Marines in Peking, reads them and snorts. "The Brigadier General had some experience with law enforcement in Philadelphia when as director of public safety he attempted with little success to clean up the filth of that city. Says he, speaking from the knowledge of personal experience:

"I have always believed the situation described as inevitable, primarily because of the lack of interest and determination among the substantial people of the city. By substantial people I do not necessarily mean the so-called 'better elements' whom I have frequently found through intimate association to be hypocritical, selfish, and unwilling to support a universal cleanup because they feared their so-called 'personal liberties' would be curtailed."

"I can recall," he continues with astonishing disregard for the feelings of the 'best people,' "incidents involving the 'better elements' during my stay in Philadelphia when they refused their support on the ground that they had previously been able to buy whiskey at five dollars a quart but that they had to pay fifteen dollars a quart after my arrival."

Apparently the people of wealth, class, and refinement wish to see certain laws enforced and certain other laws, which do not appeal to their particular tastes, ignored. Laws against murder, robbery, wooden checks, and safe-blowing, which protect them in their position of wealth, they approve, and continually point out, in one way or another, to the multitudes, that these laws must be obeyed.

Other laws, for instance those enacted under the Eighteenth Amendment primarily for the benefit of the masses, the "best people" insist it is proper to ignore. Such laws, they say, interfere with their "personal liberty" and should never have been passed. They do not argue with the thug when he says that laws against housebreaking interfere with his personal liberty; they simply demand that these laws be enforced.

The more cultivated minds of the "best people" are able to differentiate between various sets of laws, but how they can expect the naturally warped mentality of the average gangster to so accurately gauge the shade of difference between violating the liquor laws in order to supply social leaders with their very necessary champagne and murdering a competing bootlegger who threatens to undersell him, is beyond our comprehension.

By persistently encouraging a complete disregard for some of our country's laws, the "better elements" are laying the groundwork for a wholesale violation of all our laws, most of which are more beneficial to them than to any other class.

Whose Fault Is It?

Rising in defense of the younger generation which is persistently criticized for its modern conduct, the Columbus Enquirer-Sun asks ten questions of the heads of households, who, it seems, may be as much or even more to blame than their children if the "jazz age" is not all it should be. The following, a sort of "report card," was prepared by the National Educational Association:

1. Does the home maintain an atmosphere of mutual love and respect?
2. Is there sufficient income to maintain a reasonable standard of well-being for all members of the family?
3. Is the family housed in a way that takes care of the needs of each of its members?
4. Is there a proper amount of wholesome food attractively served to meet individual needs?
5. Does the family have an intelligent daily routine that safeguards the energy and time of its members?
6. Are the duties and responsibilities of the family fairly divided among its members according to their strength?
7. Does the family have a common social and recreational life that appeals to all members?
8. Does the family have a growing library and a common intellectual life?
9. Does the family have an intelligent attitude on important moral, civic, and spiritual problems?
10. Does the home promote the maximum happiness and growth of each of its members?

These questions are rather far reaching and if they can not be answered truthfully in the affirmative, parents have no one to blame but themselves if their children do not behave exactly to their liking. The chances are about ten to one that not one family in ten maintains a home atmosphere which will be as pleasing and entertaining to the younger members as to those members which, on account of gout or lumbago, prefer to sit by the fire and play checkers.

THE EXCEPTION

Some of the things printed in a newspaper are as disagreeable to the newspaper itself as to the sincere critics who would prefer to see less or none of the so-called "scandal" news. But in the performance of what it conceives to be its duty to print the news, the publications at times, like the judge on the bench, are confronted with unpleasant obligations.

There can be no justification for a newspaper that in cold-blooded panders to the lower instincts of its readers or peddles filth and obscenity. Not many newspapers do this and none that do would admit it. It is a question whether the

The minister, who assailed Governor Smith, four times governor of New York as a menace to the moral progress of the nation, has drawn almost as much publicity as a presidential candidate. He shortly set out on a speaking tour against Governor Smith that will carry him to all the southern states.

It is his privilege to oppose Governor Smith and it is the privilege of any American citizen to oppose his views. Dr. Straton will find quite a bit of Smith sentiment

THE TIME IS SHORT!

WIN THIS BEAUTIFUL PONY

First Period Ends Next Saturday

The First Period of The Sanford Herald's Shetland Pony and Bicycle Campaign will come to a close next Saturday night. Votes will not count as much in the second period which begins Monday Sept. 17 and ends Saturday night Sept. 22. Right now is the time to pile up votes while they count the most. Right now is the time to get in your best efforts.

Now Is The Time To Pile Up Votes

The boys and girls who are working to win the beautiful Shetland Pony offered by The Sanford Herald in this campaign should pile up as many votes as possible before next Saturday night. Votes count more in the first period than in the last two weeks of the campaign. A big lead now may easily be held until the close.

Only Three Short Weeks Left!

The lovely Shetland Pony offered as the major prize in this campaign and the sturdy Ray-O Bicycle, purchased from Geo. Deetch in the McLander Arcade, which is second prize, are two awards well worth the slight effort it takes to win. This campaign will end in just three short weeks! Some boy or girl is going to be the proud owner of these valuable awards on Saturday night Sept. 29th. If you have not yet entered this campaign do so at once—there is yet time to win—the first period does not end for another week and a big lead in votes can be piled up in just a few days.

Science Is Studied In Church

Science was the subject of the sermon in the First Church of Christ, Scientists, on Sunday. The sermon was based on the Golden Text which reads: "Thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou shalt be as head above all, and there shall be no one like thee, and thou shalt reign over all." The citations which were used in the sermon were from the Bible: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. All things were made by him; and without him anything made that was made." (John 1: 1, 2).

The sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science text: "Science and Health with the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy; "Spirit, the synonym of Soul, or God, is the only substance. The spiritual individual man, is an idea, reflecting the substance of 'Spirit' (p. 10).

More Picture 'Tempest' Is At For 2 Days

The new John Barrymore picture for United Artists to be at the Milane Theatre and tomorrow, represents a financial outlay, the production schedule and the striving for popular entertainment in the famous star's career, it was declared to manager J. L. Marentette. "It is declared, and the plea of thousands of admirers for a picture of a modern setting. After a series of costume pictures, in which played romantic characters hundreds of years ago, Barrymore and his United Artists have yielded to what is a popular demand and a modern story—a saga of 19th century Russia.

"Tempest," the screen and has the role of a devil-subaltern whose affairs of art and sword lead him into the strangest adventures of the revolution which czarism, made fugitives and dukes and rulers outcasts. The early part of the picture depicts all the pomp and pageantry of the empire; with the most gripping scenes yet made of that epoch.

Barrymore, as a peasant officer, is supported by hundreds, the principal characters are Louis Wolheim, the German star of the country to become the leading lady; George Haupt, Boris de also came to America especially to appear in the picture; Lena Malena and

Mrs. Paul Forbes Is Honored With Party

Saturday afternoon Mrs. E. D. Mobley and Miss Mary Graves entertained with a lovely bridge party in honor of Mrs. Paul Forbes a recent bride of this city. The room in which the bridge tables were placed was charmingly decorated with golden glow and yellow zinnias arranged in green crystal vases. The tables were made in the shape of butterflies and were of yellow color thereby helping to carry out the green and gold color scheme.

After the scores were counted it was found that Mrs. Ed Meisch had high score for which she was awarded a crystal fruit bowl. Mrs. Grant Wilson was given Honigan's bath salts for low score and Mrs. John Meisch Jr. received a silver cigarette box for cut prize. The honoree, Mrs. Paul Forbes, was presented with a lovely lace boudoir pillow.

Late in the afternoon a delicious ice course also carrying out the color scheme, was served by the hostess assisted by Miss Georgia Mobley. The guest list included the following: Mrs. Paul Forbes, Mrs. Ed Meisch, Mrs. John Meisch Jr., Mrs. Cawthon Hutcheson, Mrs. A. W. Lee Jr., Mrs. Sanford Doudney, Mrs. Ben Caswell, Mrs. Frank McNeil, Mrs. Gisma Wimbish, Mrs. Grant Wilson, Mrs. Raymond Phillips, Mrs. Dick Brown, Mrs. Hugh Welchel, Mrs. Lloyd Boyle, Mrs. Lloyd Tucker, Mrs. Emmet Hunt, Mrs. W. C. Hill, Mrs. Griffin Herring, Miss Mina Howard and Miss Helen Vernay.

Miss Eloise Lanier left yesterday afternoon for her home in Orlando. She has been spending the past few weeks as the guest of Mrs. J. N. Robson at her home on South Sanford Ave.

Mr. R. A. Newman and daughter, Olive, returned Sunday night from Daytona Beach where they spent last week. Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Newman and her son Bobbie, will spend another week there.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Driver returned home Friday from Winston-Salem, N. C., where Mrs. Driver has been spending several weeks taking treatments at the City Memorial Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Driver were accompanied home by Walter Lee Stoudenmire Jr., of this city and Mrs. G. W. Parks and son, G. W. Jr. of Leesburg.

DRY QUESTION SEEN AS ISSUE IN SOLID SOUTH

Her Virginia engagements for Sept. 14, 15 and 17, are in the hands of Governor Harry Byrd but the places have not yet been announced. From Virginia, Mrs. Ross will continue through West Virginia and Kentucky, with time out for a hop to New York Sept. 18, for an address at a radio dinner here Sept. 18.

Mrs. Ross, former Governor of Wyoming, has assumed the task of aligning all classes of women voters behind the Democratic banner, but she will place particular emphasis upon her appeal to the normally dry feminine voter. As in Maine last week, the burden of her message to the South will be that despite his vigorous demand for modification of the Volstead Act, Governor Smith would be powerless to alter the present regime without the consent of a majority in both houses of Congress.

Some of them have been sent country under the protection of privilege and of the congressional frank.

"There are real and fundamental issues in this contest and vital principles of government are at stake. These immaterial utterances of foolish extremists on either side should not be used to obscure the real issues. The Republican Party submits its record of a prosperous country. We advocate certain principles and policies which the administration has followed and which we believe necessary for the country to follow.

"Upon these and the character broadcast in certain sections of the and capacity of our candidates to administer the highest office in the world do we submit our cause to the people of the United States and repudiate and resent maligned and under-cover methods either to elect or defeat a candidate for the presidency."

Work declared he has received information of attacks against both Hoover and Smith. He denounced both as an "offense to common decency."

"I wish to denounce these and similar utterances or statements that may have appeared or that may subsequently appear from what ever source," he added. "And irrespective of which candidate they attempt to malign, I cannot be too emphatic in saying that no personal attacks have been made either with the sanction or authority or knowledge of the Republican national committee. We do not want to win votes on tactics that are contrary to every standard and tradition of our party. Once and for all, I denounce all such activities as vicious and beyond the pale of decent political campaigning."

Hoover today held a conference with Louis Liggett, new national committeeman; John S. Richardson, his pre-convention manager, and Francis Prescott, the state chairman in Massachusetts.

They came to arrange a date for his New England address, probably early in October and to discuss the situation "down East."

CO-ORDINATION

When you shall be carefree as any bird I shall grow young; Till then, youth will be no more than a word Stripped from my tongue.

When you shall gain your ultimate content, So, too, shall I Knowing the sublimity that Eden meant In days long by.

Well, at any rate, the Presidential campaign is causing a lot of people to think and talk religion, whether they are any better as a result, or not.—Cairo Messenger

Don't forget to vote in The Herald's straw election tomorrow. Will it be Hoover or Smith? Mark your ballot and send it to The Herald office.

Florida's citrus yield this year is estimated at eighteen million boxes, worth sixty-five million dollars to growers. Who says this is nothing but a tourist state?

Ruth Bryan Owen has been compelled to deny upon two separate occasions that she would take the stamp for Al Smith. Mrs. Owen is still running for Congress from the Fourth Florida District and is wise to let Al Smith handle his own campaign.

Another "unloaded" gun has sounded off. A Coral Gables boy scout has a fractured skull as a result. Nevertheless, an unloaded gun has never killed anyone. It is only the gun which is loaded but which you think is unloaded that is really dangerous.

Herb Folkel, editor of the St. Augustine Record, is the original Al Smith man in Florida, being practically the only Floridian for Smith before the convention. We expect to see Herb appointed ambassador plenipotentiary to Singapore after the election.

Major Barnett said at the Republican meeting Saturday night that he was a registered Democrat but that he was going to vote for Howey for governor because Carlton was supporting Al Smith. We do not believe that any real Democrat will vote against Mr. Carlton for living up to the oath he took when entering the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Senator Fletcher objects because Florida boys fail to pass entrance examinations to United States military and naval schools. He says that out of sixteen who took the mental tests for the Coast Guard academy last June, only one passed. Our senior senator is inclined to believe there is some fault in the fundamental instruction received by the boys at home and in the public schools. We wonder what percentage passes in other states.

President Coolidge, Saturday, borrowed a .38 caliber automatic pistol shot almost from the hip and brought down a bird on the wing at 20 yards, out there in the west where presidents are men.—Tampa Tribune's Gulf Stream. It hasn't occurred to us to doubt this story. The bird might have flown right against the bullet. But President Coolidge or any other man will have to do that stunt at least twice in succession before we believe it was anything but an accident.

Palm Beach Independent. Guess that's nothing. We saw a fellow once with a gun in one hand and a bottle in the other. He threw the bottle into the air, then threw one gun after it. With the other gun he shot, hitting the firing pin of the first gun, which went off, sending a bullet straight into the bottle.

Setting The Example

A few months ago a New York taxicab, stopped for traffic near Times Square. Another taxicab, containing four men drew up alongside. Instantly there was the crash and rattle of a machine gun and two automatic pistols. Then the second taxicab dashed on and disappeared in a flood of humanity beyond. Diamond-studded Frankie Unle, king of New York bootleggers, was left behind, bullet-ridden.

A few days ago in Chicago revenge came sweet. Tony Lombardo, side-kick of Capone, partners in the richest liquor industry in America, walked down Madison street in one of the busiest sections of the loop. Two well armed body guards walked with him. Suddenly automatics cracked. Chicago's crowded thoroughfare was quickly deserted except for the body of Lombardo lying in a pool of blood where it had fallen.

Law-abiding citizens read these accounts with horror. Bankers, merchants, tailors, restaurateurs tremble at the boldness of the gunman and question the strength of their vaults. Worried men and timid ladies hesitate to go upon the streets fearing to be the "innocent bystander." They wonder why the police cannot do something about it. They see an end to peace in this country and dread the wild disorders of Bolshevism if the laws of the land are not more widely respected.

From Philadelphia come reports of startling exposures by Mayor MacKey and District Attorney Monaghan. Brigadier General Smedley Butler, now commanding a detachment of Marines in Peking, reads them and snorts. The Brigadier General had some experience with law enforcement in Philadelphia when as director of public safety he attempted with little success to clean up the filth of that city. Says he, speaking from the knowledge of personal experience:

"I have always believed the situation described as inevitable, primarily because of the lack of interest and determination among the substantial people of the city. By substantial people I do not necessarily mean the so-called 'better elements' whom I have frequently found through intimate association to be hypocritical, selfish, and unwilling to support a universal cleanup because they feared their so-called 'personal liberties' would be curtailed."

"I can recall," he continues with astonishing disregard for the feelings of the 'best people,' incidents involving the 'better elements' during my stay in Philadelphia when they refused their support on the ground that they had previously been able to buy whiskey at five dollars a quart but that they had to pay fifteen dollars a quart after my arrival."

Apparently the people of wealth, class, and refinement wish to see certain laws enforced and certain other laws, which do not appeal to their particular tastes, ignored. Laws against murder, robbery, wooden checks, and safe-blowing, which protect them in their position of wealth, they approve, and continually point out, in one way or another, to the multitudes, that these laws must be obeyed.

Other laws, for instance those enacted under the Eighteenth Amendment primarily for the benefit of the masses, the "best people" insist it is proper to ignore. Such laws, they say, interfere with their "personal liberty" and should never have been passed. They do not argue with the thug when he says that laws against house-breaking interfere with his personal liberty, they simply demand that these laws be enforced.

The more cultivated minds of the "best people" are able to differentiate between various sets of laws, but how they can expect the "naturally warped mentality of the average gangster to so accurately gauge the shade of difference between violating the liquor laws in order to supply social leaders with their very necessary champagne and murdering a competing bootlegger who threatens to undersell him, is beyond our comprehension.

By persistent encouraging a complete disregard for some of our country's laws, the "better elements" are laying the groundwork for a wholesale violation of all our laws, most of which are more beneficial to them than to any other class.

Whose Fault Is It?

Rising in defense of the younger generation which is persistently criticized for its modern conduct, the Columbus Enquirer-Sun asks ten questions of the heads of households, who, it seems, may be as much or even more to blame than their children if the "jazz age" is not all it should be. The following, a sort of "report card," was prepared by the National Educational Association:

- 1. Does the home maintain an atmosphere of mutual love and respect?
2. Is there sufficient income to maintain a reasonable standard of well-being for all members of the family?
3. Is the family housed in a way that takes care of the needs of each of its members?
4. Is there a proper amount of wholesome food attractively served to meet individual needs?
5. Does the family have an intelligent daily routine that safeguards the energy and time of its members?
6. Are the duties and responsibilities of the family fairly divided among its members according to their strength?
7. Does the family have a common social and recreational life that appeals to all members?
8. Does the family have a growing library and a common intellectual life?
9. Does the family have an intelligent attitude on important moral, civic, and spiritual problems?
10. Does the home promote the maximum happiness and growth of each of its members?

These questions are rather far reaching and if they can not be answered truthfully in the affirmative, parents have no one to blame but themselves if their children do not behave exactly to their liking. The chances are about ten to one that not one family in ten maintains a home atmosphere which will be as pleasing and entertaining to the younger members as the those members which, on account of gout or lumbago, prefer to sit by the fire and play checkers.

ST. PETERSBURG TIMES

Some of the things printed in a newspaper are as disagreeable to not the medium through which it reaches the public. Much by the way of honest criticism has been said of newspaper publicity of crime. It has never been satisfactorily proved that news of crime begets crime. As a matter of fact the evidence is rather that there is no connection between them. It is possible that some person may get a wrong slant on domestic relations by the news of divorce cases, but this slant will not prevail outside of shallow thinkers, for to all others it must be apparent that in most instances it is only the un-

WATCHING THE BATTLE

LAKELAND LEDGER

Dr. John Rosch Stratton, famous pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, New York, will speak to an audience as large as can get in the auditorium tonight. There is genuine interest in his message. The minister, who assailed Governor Smith, four times governor of New York as a menace to the moral progress of the nation, has drawn almost as much publicity as a presidential candidate. He shortly set out on a speaking tour against Governor Smith that will carry him to all the southern states.

It is his privilege to oppose Governor Smith and it is the privilege of any American citizen to express his views. Dr. Stratton will not quite a bit of Smith sentiment in Lakeland; indeed, had he waited a few more weeks, it would be much greater. The Rev. J. Catts, who urged race track gambling and loose living for the East coast in order to bring prosperity, likewise has raised the sword against Smith and Romanism, averring, we are informed, that he could have got $25,000 for supporting Smith. The Rev. Catts believes, in taking up collections from the brethren, a practice he forgoes in early life and has adhered to faithfully during all his campaigns, including those he waged in his own behalf.

Florida we mean to observe, will get their advice from many sources. Sidney Catts at Mulberry Thursday night; Dr. Stratton here tonight; Senator George last week; somebody else next week; maybe one of the two principals on one of the tickets later, and a general bombardment all along the line. All we trust, will be given a polite hearing. All of them have a right to air their opinions regardless of where they hail from, or under what guise they appear. Lakeland and Polk county people will remember that in any event they will lose nothing by being courteous to all speakers; Local people can afford to maintain an equanimity through it all, remembering only that they must live together after this campaign is over and after the invading speakers have departed. Most people ought to have lots of fun listening to the speeches, all of which will be free if the audience does not choose to contribute money for highpowered oratory.

THE TIME IS SHORT!

WIN THIS BEAUTIFUL PONY

First Period Ends Next Saturday

The First Period of The Sanford Herald's Shetland Pony and Bicycle Campaign will come to a close next Saturday night. Votes will not count as much in the second period which begins Monday Sept. 17 and ends Saturday night Sept. 22. Right now is the time to pile up votes while they count the most. Right now is the time to get in your best efforts.

Now Is The Time To Pile Up Votes

The boys and girls who are working to win the beautiful Shetland Pony offered by The Sanford Herald in this campaign should pile up as many votes as possible before next Saturday night. Votes count more in the first period than in the last two weeks of the campaign. A big lead now may easily be held until the close.

Only Three Short Weeks Left!

The lovely Shetland Pony offered as the major prize in this campaign, and the sturdy Ray-O Bicycle, purchased from Geo. Deetch in the McLander Arcade, which is second prize, are two awards well worth the slight effort it takes to win. This campaign will end in just three short weeks! Some boy or girl is going to be the proud owner of these valuable awards on Saturday night Sept. 29th. If you have not yet entered this campaign do so at once—there is yet time to win—the first period does not end for another week and a big lead in votes can be piled up in just a few days.

Picture Tempest Is At

The new John Barrymore picture for United Artists is at the Milane Theatre tomorrow, represents the financial outlook, the production schedule and the driving for popular entertainment in the famous star's career. It is declared to be the most gripping picture ever made of that century. The screen depicts the role of a devil, subaltern whose affairs part and sword lead him into the strangest adventures of the revolution which czarism, made fugitives and dukes and rulers out of the empire; with the names the most gripping story yet made of that century.

Mrs. Paul Forbes Is Honored With Party

Saturday afternoon Mrs. E. D. Mobbey and Miss Mary Graves entertained with a lovely bridge party in honor of Mrs. Paul Forbes a recent bride of this city. The room in which the bridge tables were placed was charmingly decorated with golden glow and yellow sinimia arranged in green crystal vases. The tables were made in the shape of butterflies and were of yellow color thereby helping to carry out the green and gold color scheme.

Her Virginia engagements for Sept. 14, 15 and 17, are in the hands of Governor Harry Byrd but the places have not yet been announced. From Virginia, Mrs. Ross will continue through West Virginia and Kentucky, with time out for a hop to New York Sept. 18, for an address at a radio dinner here Sept. 18.
Mrs. Ross, former Governor of Wyoming, has assumed the task of aligning all classes of women voters behind the Democratic banner; but she will place particular emphasis upon her appeal to the normally dry feminine voter. As in Maine last week, the burden of her message to the South will be that despite his vigorous demand for modification of the Volstead Act, Governor Smith would be powerless to alter the present regime without the consent of a majority in both houses of Congress.

Some of them have been sent country under the protection of privilege and of the congressional frank.
"There are real and fundamental issues in this contest and vital principles of government are at stake. These immaterial utterances of foolish extremists on either side should not be used to obscure the real issues. The Republican Party submits its record of a prosperous country. We advocate certain principles and policies which the administration has followed and which we believe necessary for the country to follow.

"Upon these and the character broadcast in certain sections of the and capacity of our candidates to administer the highest office in the world do we submit our cause to the people of the United States and repudiate and resent malignant and under cover methods either to elect or defeat a candidate for the presidency."
"Work declared he has received information of attacks against both Hoover and Smith. He denounced both as an "offense to common decency."
"I wish to denounce these and similar utterances or statements that may have appeared or that may subsequently appear from what ever source," he added. "And irrespective of which candidate they attempt to malign, I cannot be too emphatic in saying that no personal attacks have been made either with the sanction or authority or knowledge of the Republican national committee. We do not want to win votes on tactics that are contrary to every standard and tradition of our party. Once and for all, I denounce all such activities as vicious and beyond the pale of decent political campaigning."
Hoover today held a conference with Louis Liggert, new national committeeman; John S. Richardson, his pre-convention manager, and Francis Prescott, the state chairman in Massachusetts.
They came to arrange a date for his New England address, probably early in October and to discuss the situation "down East."

Momenteers & Visioneers

CONFIDENCE is the empire builder. It is the dynamic force which penetrates mountains, breathes life into desert places and sends the human voice riding winds of the universe toward the stars. It is the pulse of achievement and the glory of ambition. Confidence knows no moment. It measures its strength by long reaches of time. A single realization does not satisfy it; a single disappointment does not destroy it. When Flagler had his dream of shining rails through the wildernesses of Florida he was justified in it only through confidence, through a faith more penetrating than the headlights which have followed it; and in the face of discouragement and advice inspired by the moment he set his stakes --and carried on! Plant was of the same caliber, a man of vision, and in more recent years and in the same pioneering spirit Warfield created new arteries of transportation which have opened great areas to commercial contact with the world. In other endeavors thousands of believers have proved themselves, proved their confidence by challenging the future, are still proving the courage of the faith. The momenteer thinks everything should measure up to his expectations all the time and complains if it doesn't. The visioneer realizes that progress is a gradual upward movement filled with valleys and peaks and that confidence and work are its motive power. Florida must ignore the momenteer and enshrine the visioneer. The future is so great, so promising and so challenging that only confidence and work are justified, and practicing these virtues our rewards will exceed our fondest hopes.

DOCTOR GOES ALONE TO CONGO TO SEEK CURE FOR DREADED SLEEPING SICKNESS

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—(INS)—An Army of Science, just begun by a young University of Wisconsin professor, may result in the rediscovery of the continent of Africa, according to his colleagues.

Dr. Warren K. Stratman-Thomas, 28 and unmarried, started alone from New York a few days ago on a trip to the wilds of the Belgian Congo jungles that will occupy at least two years, probably more and possibly may cost the young scientist his life.

He goes, armed with six new arsenical compounds, to prove a cure for the scourge of sleeping sickness which annually sweeps tropical Africa with a toll of 100,000 human lives. Dr. Stratman-Thomas believes he has found a cure for this dread disease, a feared mystery for two and a quarter centuries, and he wishes to establish proof of the cure on the scene of the plague's greatest inroads.

"Finding a cure for sleeping sickness would be equivalent to discovering a continent," says Dr. A. S. Loevenhart of the University of Wisconsin, under whose direction Dr. Stratman-Thomas works.

Six compounds were selected to be taken to Africa after experiments with 120 animal subjects developed in the Park-Davis Laboratories at Detroit.

Each successive preparation has a greater "kick" than the previous. It is in the last, number 130, that Dr. Stratman-Thomas places his greatest hopes, based on the results of carefully observed experiments. "I am confident that among the compounds I have a cure for sleeping sickness," said Dr. Stratman-Thomas just before he sailed. "I think it may be number 130."

Dr. Stratman-Thomas is good-looking with curly black hair which starts well back on his broad forehead. As he talks he has a way of tilting his eyes slowly and then of starting ahead of him as if in a great stream. His voice is mellow and low and his speech is rather slow.

"The story of how we got the strain of African sleeping sickness into this country is rather interesting," the young doctor said.

He went on to describe his efforts over the past five years to develop a compound which would cure sleeping sickness. First, he explained, he had the African sleeping sickness which has been recognized since 1700, is entirely different from the so-called sleeping sickness prevalent in this country and elsewhere among white races.

"African sleeping sickness," Dr. Stratman-Thomas explained, is caused by Trypanosoma, parasitic organisms carried by the tsetse fly. In this respect, Chagas disease, affecting humans, and mal de cadere, an affecting animals in South America, are, in the Philippines, and North America, are similar, all being similar symptoms. From their source the so-called American sleeping sickness is entirely different.

The picture was obtained on July 21 and showed the terrific increase in voltage after the bolt hit the line. The study permitted covered only forty-ninths of a second. The maximum effect of the bolt was reached ten-thirtieths of a second after the line was struck. After that it decreased with many oscillations to the normal 220,000 volts.

The Rockefeller method of the bolt was created in a steel structure to protect the delicate machinery. The photograph is an adoption of the cath-

JAZZ AGES GIVES NEW METHOD TO ELECT PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(INS)—The "jazz age" has penetrated into the "serious" domain of political campaigns, whose business it is to select the next president with the result that brand new methods of political campaigning will be used on the humble but powerful voter in the next three months.

Requests for speeches "we have had just an inkling of," says Mr. Hoover as we proceed to a "jazz age" in the campaign. "I am sure," he said, "that the radio will be a powerful factor in the next three months."

It is the days of the torchlight parade and in the place of the old-time songs which the modern youth can stream on the ukulele and banjo.

The radio has dealt a hard blow to the political speech maker of little mouth, and both parties will exercise greater care in sending speakers before the voters in the hinterland.

Must Be Careful
Both Herbert Hoover and Gov. Al Smith may speak far and wide but both must be careful to avoid a constant repetition of the same speech, for this constant repetition would be carried into the ears of voters by the way of the radio and evoke resentment.

The old-time button, slogan and picture remain, but in addition ardent party workers now demand a constant repetition of the same speech, for this constant repetition would be carried into the ears of voters by the way of the radio and evoke resentment.

TEA AND POLITICS DO MIX

ORMOND—Flagler Clay Holding Company plans immediate development of 2000 acres of land 14 miles west of here.

Republican or Democrat both parties are preparing special appeals to the young men and women of the nation.

While the radio is playing its regular music to a vast throng of the campaign, the same party chiefs are placing their old-fashioned "jazz" in the word by way of the newspaper and pamphlet.

Newspapers advertising will appear prominently in the campaign for it, the strategists believe, will hold the eye, more than a mere radio announcement.
