

Little Mongolia Bone Of Red Contention

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—(NEA)—It is no coincidence that Red China is stepping up hostilities against Russia's Asian satellite, Mongolia, while world attention is focused on Laos and Viet Nam.

"Never get tired of deception in war," is a cardinal tenet of Mao Tse-tung's military strategy. As he wrote in his book on war, "Feint at east and strike at west is the surest method to lead the enemy into a wrong estimate of the situation."

The "People's Republic of Mongolia," lodged in the heart of Asia between Russia and China, has long been a bone of contention between the two Red giants. It is the only one of Asia's three Communist states—the other two are North Viet Nam and North Korea—which has so far managed to keep free of direct domination by Red China.

But to escape the clutches of the Chinese dragon, little "independent" Outer Mongolia had to become a satellite of the Russian bear.

This is a situation that Mao Tse-tung is not likely to tolerate. Mongolia's frontier with China is nearly 4,000 miles long. It is a strategic area for potential Russian attacks on key industrial centers in North China and Manchuria. United Nations observers familiar with Moscow's war industry and transportation system believe that the Russians are preparing to use the country as a base in their confrontation with Red China.

Long a "protectorate" of Russia's czars, Mongolia is, for the present at least, in the grip of Russia's commissars. It is the sole Asian member of COMECON, Moscow's version of the European Common Market. It is largely due to Soviet aid that the Mongols have been able to build power stations, cement plants, leather and shoe factories, radio stations and some prefabricated housing.

Russia's East European satellites are pitching in to keep their Mongolian "ally" from thinking too fondly of the Chinese "blood brothers" to the south.

Ulan Bator, Mongolia's capital, is a city of formidable contrasts. A majority of its 120,000 inhabitants—one-tenth of the country's scarce population—still lives in mud huts and yurt tents which can be dismantled in a half-hour. But the Communist officials, Mongolia's new aristocracy, drive Soviet automobiles and inhabit modern housing projects built by the Russians.

No wonder the party bureaucrats side with Nikita Khrushchev in his quarrel with Mao Tse-tung. Mongolia's Russian-trained "prime minister," Yumshagin Tsedenbal, has been busy lately denouncing the "Chinese comrades" and fighting against the upsurge of "nationalistic tendencies."

The famous historian Tumur-Ochir was ousted from the Communist party for sponsoring a celebration on the occasion of the 800th anniversary of the birth of Genghis Khan, the great Mongolian ruler who once conquered China and Russia.

However, Red China warmly commemorated the Asian conqueror, who reached the banks of the Dnieper River in what now is Soviet Ukraine.

Nationalistic Mongolians obviously see the Russian-Chinese conflict as a chance to advance their drive for independence by playing with Peking. Tsedenbal complained recently that Chinese conspiracies in Ulan Bator were aimed at overthrowing his regime. In a strong note to Peking, he even threatened to break diplomatic relations with Red China.

Thus, Mongolia may yet be Khrushchev's Achilles' heel. Should it fall into Peking's clutches, the rest of Russia's so-called Asian republics will be open to Chinese subversion and eventual domination.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) has decided to require that cigarette advertising and labeling include a warning to the public of possible health hazards, it was announced today.

FTC Chairman Rand Dixon made the announcement during a congressional hearing on the controversy surrounding the effects of smoking on health.

Dixon did not specify what the regulation will contain. Nor did he say what type of label cigarette manufacturers would be required to carry on packages.

The FTC held hearings on proposed advertising and labeling regulations and since May 15 has been considering whether to adopt them and, if so, precisely in what form.

Tax Law May Go To High Court

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Next stop for Florida's controversial new law taxing sporting goods probably will be the state Supreme Court, but Circuit Judge Hugh Taylor provided some guidance Tuesday on what is taxable and what isn't.

Taylor upheld the 1963 law in a Leon County Circuit Court ruling. The tax amounts to five per cent at the wholesale level, and Judge Taylor said it should be collected on all items primarily designed and customarily used for hunting, fishing, camping swimming or diving.

Hardware, sporting goods and bathing suit firms challenging the law are almost sure to appeal the case to the Supreme Court. Meanwhile tax collections are suffering because some firms are waiting to impose the tax until the matter is cleared up legally.

The tax is designed to finance a proposed $50 million bond issue to pay for new recreational lands in the state.

Bryant, Kynes Have Orders

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Gov. Farris Bryant and Atty. Gen. James Kynes were ordered to appear in federal court in Jacksonville Friday to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court.

The orders were delivered to Bryant and Kynes by a deputy federal marshal Tuesday. Judge Bryan Simpson issued the show cause orders after Bryant ordered a stop to night-time racial demonstrations in St. Augustine last Saturday. The judge had refused such a ban earlier and ordered police not to interfere with marchers in the troubled city.

SEMINOLE COUNTY citrus growers converged on the Home Demonstration Center Thursday night to hear Dr. R. C. J. Koo discuss the timely topic of grove irrigation. ## Citrus Growers Hear Talk On Irrigation

The use of irrigation to supplement rainfall, practiced for years in Florida, was discussed Thursday night at a Home Demonstration Center meeting for area citrus grove owners.

The principal speaker for the session conducted by Seminole County Extension Service was Dr. R. C. J. Koo, assistant horticulturist at the Citrus Experiment Station.

Dr. Koo noted that the knowledge of soil and plant irrigation has not developed as rapidly as the engineering aspects of the problem and research at the experiment station is directed toward getting information about plant and soil moisture. This is done, he added, so irrigation can be more efficiently practiced.

The speaker discussed surface evaporation and methods to combat it through irrigation, loss of moisture as trees absorb it in roots and emit it in the form of vapor from leaves. These two items, he said, account for about 75 per cent of the water lost.

Surface runoff is not considered a problem due to the sandy soil, the horticulturist noted.

Irrigation tends to increase the size of fruit although it has little effect on the juice content, growers were told. However, irrigation does help considerably (about 15-20 per cent more) during prolonged drought.

Dr. Koo also discussed the timing of irrigation noting that fall and winter irrigation should be avoided because of a tendency to lower the fruit quality. "Frequent fall irrigation," he said, "is justified to hasten fruit maturity and to meet specific fruit size varieties for fresh market."

He added that "trees should not be allowed to go into permanent wilt any time of the year for good production practices."

"A weakened tree will not produce or stand cold as well as a healthy tree," he concluded.

46 In Sanford, 427 And 436 Are Included

Seminole County's share of the $191 million State Road Department budget adopted Tuesday in Tallahassee amounts to $14 million and includes $200,000 in primary funds for the four-lane construction of SR 46 (25th Street) from French Avenue east to Mellonville Avenue in Sanford.

Also $300,000 was budgeted for the grading, paving and construction of 2.1 miles of SR 436 from the Orange County Line to Lake Howell.

No provision was made from primary funds for the construction of an interchange at the intersection of I-4 and Lake Mary Boulevard. According to County Engineer William Bush, it is unlikely that funds will be budgeted for such a project until Lake Mary Boulevard is paved.

Nor were funds appropriated for several other requested primary projects such as the two-lane construction of SR 426 from Goldenrod to SR 46 at Geneva, four-lane SR 48 from Mellonville Avenue in Sanford to the proposed Osteen Bridge, the four-lane SR 46 from I-4 west to the Lake County line, and slightly more than 13 miles of road from the intersection of S-425 and S-427 south across Lake Jessup, via Oviedo, to S-520 at the Orange County line.

Other primary funds were included for the paving of 1.32 miles of SR 415 from SR 15 east to the city limits of Sanford.

Secondary funds were approved for two-lane right-of-way and construction of 427 from SR 436 north to 434; acquiring right-of-way for the four-lane SR 46 from French to Mellonville Avenues, construction and right-of-way acquisition for two-lane 427 from 434 two miles north to ACL tracks at Gen. Hutchinson Parkway and 5.5 miles from that point north to 425 at Glendeville.

Also included were funds for two-lane right of way and construction of 4.1 miles of 426 from Goldenrod north to Oviedo to eliminate dangerous curves, to acquire right-of-way for 2.1 miles of 436 from Lake Howell south to the Orange County line, and the construction of railroad crossing signals on S-15 near Lake Mary, West 25th Street in Sanford, on O'Brien Road near Altamonte Springs, and on 427 northeast of Altamonte Springs.

Included in the budget are funds for the four-lane construction of 2.2 miles of SR 436 from U. S. 17-92 west to I-4. This project is already under contract.

The state board also budgeted $400,000 for preliminary county wide engineering on five other secondary road projects.

DOUBLE BUBBLE GUM TROUBLE is experienced by Brenda Patterson as she demonstrates the technique she used to win the Pinecrest School bubble gum blowing contest. The Herald's photographer, Bill Vincent, says Brenda excused the smallness of the bubble because she didn't have time to work up a good mixture before offering the demonstration. Brenda chewed away as fast as she could—inhaled deeply, let go—and came up with this sticky problem. (Herald Photo)

Disturbance Spotted East Of Barbados

MIAMI (UPI) — A strong weather disturbance 11h wind gusts up to 50 miles an hour has been discovered in the Atlantic, about 400 miles east of Barbados, the weather bureau said today.

"Conditions are considered favorable for intensification," the Miami Weather Bureau reported.

Forecasters predicted the disturbance probably would affect the Lesser Antilles Islands at the southeastern corner of the Caribbean tonight.

A hurricane hunter plane was en route to the scene and the San Juan, P. R., weather bureau was preparing a weather bulletin on the disturbance.

If the disturbance develops sustained circulatory winds of 39 miles per hour or greater it would become the first tropical storm of the 1964 season and be named Abby.

City Picks Up 54 Tagless Dogs

The City Manager's office reported today that 54 dogs have been picked up in the city limits since the crackdown began one week ago.

Only one dog has been reclaimed by the owner and the others will soon be nearing the end of the line, as dogs picked up by the dog catcher are only held ten days and then are humanely destroyed.

Babies and license tags for dogs inside the city limits was June 18 and since that time, the dog catcher has been working full time to clear streets and yards of strays and untagged, unlicensed animals.

Fire Auxiliary Plans Delayed

By Mrs. H. L. Johnson
Plans to organize a Women's Auxiliary for the newly formed Westside Volunteer Fire Department were temporarily postponed Thursday night upon agreement of some 30 residents attending the weekly meeting at the Lake Monroe Community Building.

In other business, presiding president George Bell appointed Nathan Stripling to take over the office of treasurer upon the resignation of Claude Hawkins. Appointed to the legal committee were Roy Brown and L. B. Legg who takes over for Drew Warren who also resigned.

A special meeting of the board of directors was set for 7:30 p.m. Monday at which time maps of boundary lines will be prepared and decisions on needed equipment will be made. Reports will be made at the next general meeting which will be held at 8 p.m. July 1 at Wilson School in Paola.

Scranton Raps LBJ And Barry

DETROIT (UPI)—Gov. William Scranton hit out at the Johnson administration today for not believing in the future and at the Goldwater wing of the Republican party for trying to ignore the future.

"Neither effort, the Republican Presidential hopeful said, will let the nation achieve greatness.

Snoozing Boy Awakens Alone

No matter how good a movie is, when an eight-year-old boy gets sleepy, he sleeps.

That's what happened to Scott Comfort of Fifth Street and French Avenue Thursday night. And when he woke up at the Ritz Theater he was all alone.

Scott let out a few yelps; he was heard by patrolling police, let out of the theater and taken home. The police report shows this was 1:14 a. m., long past any eight-year-old's bedtime.

Brevard Orders

ORLANDO (UPI) — Federal Judge George C. Young has ordered Brevard County officials to file a stepped-up school desegregation plan with the court by July 21.

ETV Engineer To Be Employed By Board

Seminole County's Board of Public Instruction voted Thursday to retain an engineer to prepare plans for the installation of central antenna systems at various schools for the conversion of the new ETV station's UHF signals to VHF so that some 190 sets now in Seminole schools can get proper reception.

Two representatives of the Brandon Electric Co., DeLand, appeared before the board and confirmed earlier engineering reports that the central antenna system would be the most practical for schools in this system.

The board was faced with the choice of converting each of the present VHF sets or establishing central antenna and converting systems. When the engineer is retained and specifications are prepared, the project, estimated to cost in the neighborhood of $20,000 to $25,000, will be awarded to the low bidder.

In other action Thursday the board awarded the purchase of paints to the Glidden Paint Company for the 1964-65 school year. The firm will provide paints through the Gator Lumber Company of Sanford.

It also opened bids from seven firms to provide gasoline, oil, fuel oil and kerosene and referred them to Administrative Assistant Walter Teague. He was directed to review them and make recommendations to the board. Teague was asked to do the same on bids for supplying school furniture, audio visual equipment, adding machines and typewriters. Sewing machines will be provided by the Sanford Sewing Center, the only bidder on this item.

Members of the board also decided to proceed with the construction of the music department at Crooms High School without making possible changes suggested by the State Board of Education, directed principals to promptly report to the school system's office any items of furniture or equipment stolen or missing, retained architect John Burton III on an hourly basis to prepare plans for the student driving range at Seminole High School, called for bids on industrial arts and supplies and renewed its agreement with Lester E. Levy of the Office Equipment Exchange for maintenance and repair of machines.

A senior at Seminole High School next year, Hall is a member of the Student Council, the National Honor Society and the Science Club.

"This is quite an honor and I am happy to have the privilege of serving as a page this summer," said Hall.

After graduation next year, he plans to enroll at the University of Florida as a pre-med student.

Two Quakes Hit New Hampshire

LACONIA, N. H. (UPI) — Two dish-rattling earthquakes about 50 minutes apart shook central New Hampshire today.

The tremors were the second earth shocks in the area in three months.

"It sounded like a train roaring through the valley," said a Claremont man who lives on a hilltop.

Bubble, Bubble, The Biggest—No Trouble

Grand champion bubble blower at Pinecrest is Brenda Patterson.

Brenda blew the biggest bubble gum bubble at the contest which climaxed the week's activities last week.

Civitan Club Installs Officers

Robert Brisson assumed leadership of the Civitan Club at banquet ceremonies held at Jim Spencer's Restaurant Thursday.

Installing Brisson in his new post was Charles Kampf, retiring president, who is also District Lt. Governor of Zone III. Kampf is the first member of the local Civitan organization to hold a state office.

Prior to handing the reins to the new president, Kampf gave a report of activities of the past year, listing support of the Little Red Schoolhouse, the junior baseball league and the Lake Mary Little League, the essay contest and the Miss Seminole County Beauty contest.

Civitan Gil Daigle was given the perfect attendance award and Herb McKenzie was honored for having sold over 700 pounds of fruitcake. Civitan John Brumley was a runner-up for this prize, having sold over 700 pounds, also.

"The success of this club in the past year would not have been possible without the combined efforts of all the members," Kampf said.

New President Brisson asked for the confidence and cooperation of the club.

Master of ceremonies for the banquet was Hammond Polk.

The slate of officers for 1964-1965 as installed include President Brisson; Clyde Long, president-elect; Hammond Polk, vice president; Gil Daigle, secretary; Lloyd Swain, treasurer; with William Claus, William Leyer, Sal Manfre and Charles Kampf as directors.

DOUBLE DUTY. Charles Kampf (right) retiring president of Civitans is also district lieutenant governor and serves as installing officer as he extends the gavel to new president, Robert I. Brisson at ceremonies conducted Thursday at a banquet at Spencer's Restaurant. (Herald Photo)

'O Lord, Give Us Wisdom'

Of our secular age it is that so many people seem to assume that you can't live in our world and be a good Christian at the same time. This kind of thinking results in many people leaving spiritual things to clergymen or someone else to change the things that can and should be changed. And give us wisdom to distinguish one from the other." One of the members of my church noticed this quotation and also the name of Admiral Thomas G. Hart's famous words, "Dear God, give us strength to accept with serenity the things that cannot be changed. Give us courage to one else who they feel is not closely allied with the world about them."

Presbyterian Group To Attend Tests Session

Four young members of the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant of Sanford and one visitor will leave Sunday for St. Petersburg where they will receive two days of vocational testing at the Presbyterian Guidance Center. In the group will be Bob Willink, Dick Willink, Peggy Miller, Tommy Makin and Pats Reynolds.

These young people have been receiving intensive counseling in the philosophy of Christian Vocation during the past several months under direction of the church's vocational aide, Mrs. Walter Bohannon.

The guidance center is located on the campus of Florida Presbyterian College which will have 750 in the student body in September. The testing is done under direction of Dr. Thomas West, an expert in this field, on the basis that sound advice can be offered these high school young people regarding their aptitudes and capabilities that will guide them in their later education.

Rev. Thomas H. Makin, minister of the church, will drive the group to the center and Mrs. W. A. Reynolds will bring them home.

Witnesses Set Convention

The District Convention of Jehovah's Witnesses will be held July 9-13 in Jacksonville, Fla. N. Stafford, presiding minister of the local congregation, announced today.

Stafford said that some 80 members of the Sanford church are making plans to attend the four day meeting which will be held in the Jacksonville Coliseum. It is one of 87 conventions that will be conducted this year sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society.

The program will feature Bible discourses and demonstrations and will illustrate ways that the ministerial work of Jehovah's Witnesses can be carried out with greater effectiveness. Stafford advised.

It is expected that 15,000 Witnesses from all parts of Florida, as well as many visiting members from some 18 other states and Puerto Rico will attend the convention.

Meet Postponed

Due to Vacation Bible School at the Forest City Baptist Church the monthly circle meeting has been postponed until July 9.

Lake Mary UPW Circle One Has June Meeting

By Frances Wester
The June meeting of Circle One of the UPW of the Community Presbyterian Church of Lake Mary was held at the home of Mrs. John Reaves.

Mrs. Ed Zimmerman presented the devotions from the fifth chapter of Matthew. The Beatitudes were read, followed by the Lord's Prayer said in unison.

Mrs. Robert Rugenstein was in charge of the program on Chapter Five of the group study book on Colossians, Be What You Are.

Reports were given on the recent Synodical meeting held at Daytona Beach by Mrs. Rugenstein, who attended the meeting with Mrs. Richard Keogh.

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Zimmerman, the church hostesses for July were named, Mrs. Lena Eith and Mrs. Zimmerman.

It was announced that on July 14 a combined meeting of Circle One and Two will be held at the home of Mrs. Joe Smathers with Mrs. Eith as co-hostess.

Mrs. Don Smith announced that there would be a Ladies Work Day at the Manse as soon as the men finished the work they had scheduled. Refreshments of punch, cupcakes, cookies and nuts were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Marian Reaves.

Other members attending were Mrs. Richard Beebe, Mrs. Joe Smathers, Mrs. Marie Lowe, Mrs. P. D. Anderson, Mrs. Ola Cochran, Mrs. Geneva Cochran and Mrs. Ruby Linden.

Lake Mary VBS Is Successful

By Frances Wester
A successful Vacation Bible School was held by the First Baptist Church of Lake Mary during the week June 15-19, with an average attendance of 60 children.

Commencement exercises were held last Friday night at the church with the various departments taking part on the program. A good attendance of interested persons and friends were present.

Church School Program Set Tonight In Casselberry

By Jane Casselberry
A closing program Sunday at 7:30 p. m. will climax a successful two week Vacation Church School at the Casselberry Community Methodist Church.

Following the program the work of the school will be on display in the classrooms and the children will receive their attendance certificates. Parents and friends are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Frank Messick, director, has announced that the highest attendance for a single day was 219 pupils and teachers. The offering brought by the children during the Church School will go to support of orphans in a mission school in Hyderabad, India.

The Junior High Class, taught by Mrs. Clare Balmer, took part in several interesting activities in conjunction with their course of study. Because they each were writing a newspaper, reporting on occurrences from the Bible, the class made a field trip last week to The Sanford Herald to observe how a modern newspaper is published. On the way they stopped at Big Tree Park for a picnic lunch.

They went down to the shores of Lake Triplet for their lesson on Jesus' Baptism. To better understand the background of their Bible studies, they visited the Temple of Liberal Judaism in Orlando. Activities of the group came to a conclusion this afternoon with a wieners roast at the Balmer home.

The Pre-School Class enjoyed some rather unusual visits on Wednesday to illustrate their lesson on being kind to animals. Peter Montgomery shared some of his strange 'pets' with the boys and girls. The animals included a turtle, a gopher (both of which took time out from laying eggs in the Montgomery's back yard for this personal appearance), a white mouse, two horned toads, a parakeet, an iguana whose exotic tastes range from fruit cocktail to hibiscus blooms, and of all things a bottle-fed baby bat.

Area Shattered As Trailerload Of Dynamite Explodes

4 Known Dead; Reptile Farm Blown To Bits

BUSHKILL, Pa. (UPI) — A truck-trailer loaded with dynamite blew up with a mighty roar on a highway in front of a snake farm early today as firemen were pulled up to extinguish a brake fire.

At least four persons were killed, including three of the firemen.

The truck driver escaped death. He was walking along the highway some distance away, en route back to the vehicle after telephoning for the firemen.

The Reptile Farm, a tourist attraction in this Pocono Mountain resort area, was blown apart. Poisonous snakes were hurled through the air for some distance, presenting dangers to rescue workers.

A crater 50 feet in diameter and 12 to 15 feet deep was left where the highway was. Only slivers of the truck could be found. Buildings as far as a block away were blown down and others were damaged or unroofed. Windows in buildings within a few miles were shattered. So was the display window of a dress shop at Stroudsburg, 12 to 15 miles distant.

Route 209, a heavily traveled highway which follows the winding Delaware River north from the Delaware water gap, was closed off between here and Marshalls Creek and all traffic was detoured.

The section was declared a disaster area and civil defense workers were dispatched to help police and firemen remove the dead and injured. Authorities pleaded with the public to stay away from the area.

"There are all kinds of poisonous snakes around here," a fire official said. "We're setting fire to the debris hoping to kill as many of them as possible."

The dead were identified tentatively as Earl Miller, Ed Hines, Leonard Moser, all of the Marshalls Creek Fire Co., and John Regine, 23-year-old son of the owner of the Regina Hotel, one of the buildings damaged heavily.

It was not determined immediately whether any other persons in the hotel were injured. Ambulances and rescue trucks took the injured to Stroudsburg Hospital but the emergency at the hospital was so bad that the staff could not even answer telephone calls.

The three fire trucks of the Marshalls Creek Co. had just braked to a halt with their sirens wailing when the thunderous blast roared through the river valley. Firemen about to alight from their trucks were hurled along the highway like tea pins. Most of them were among the injured.

The trucks, one of them a brand new vehicle, were smashed into wedge-shaped masses.

"The fire trucks seemed to melt like warm butter," one witness said.

Trees on the mountain slopes on either side of the river waved like a wheat field in heavy wind as the shock wave from the blast roared by.

North Orlando Drops Ouster Charges

The North Orlando Village Council, meeting in a brief special session Thursday night, unanimously agreed and accepted as valid, motions filed by Mayor Irene Van Espel and Councilman Arthur Ferrin to quash complaints against them as stated in a petition presented May 5 which also called for their removal from office.

It was explained that charges stemmed from the fact that Mrs. Van Espel and Ferrin had co-signed checks in the amount of $80.18 for painting and miscellaneous repairs on the police car and of $10 for rental of a dump truck when approval for payment of the bills was not recorded in minutes of the previous council meeting.

In view of the misunderstanding developing over the matter and upon motion by Councilman Dave Tilson, it was unanimously agreed that in the future all funds will be handled strictly according to charter and that no checks will be issued without verification and approval of council.

Barry Explains The Difference

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sen. Barry M. Goldwater said today it is "constitutionally right" to deny a man employment because of race and defended his vote against the civil rights bill as consistent with Republican philosophy.

Goldwater, the front-runner for the Republican presidential nomination, made his statement in a letter to the Chicago Sun-Times. He was answering an earlier Sun-Times editorial criticizing his vote against the civil rights bill.

"I agree with you that it is morally wrong to deny a man employment because of race, creed or color, but I will also remind you that it is constitutionally right until the time comes when we amend the Constitution," the Arizona senator said.

"My views are in perfect keeping with Republican philosophy in that I wanted a civil rights bill and would

About Sports Thinking Out Loud

By Julian Stenstrom

Ron-Sun's Sunny Hayes told members of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Coffee Club Thursday morning that Sanford should get a lot of attention during the sixth running of the Firecracker 400 at Daytona's International Speedway on July 4th.

Hayes was allowing as how the name of Seminole's seat, "Sanford," would be painted on the back of '64 Plymouths driven by Paul Goldsmith and Tey Land. Goldsmith has been tabbed by a panel of experts (see story elsewhere on today's sports page) to win the Firecracker day event.

In talking with Hayes we learned that this year's running of the "400" should be one of the most exciting races held so far. The speeds of the cars have increased considerably since the race was first run. Of course, he said that speeds are reduced considerably due to the heat and the effect it has on the tires. It's different than running in the "500" which is usually held in February.

Bernard Kahn, who has been the Daytona Beach News Journal's chief sports scribe since (we believe) before the newspaper came into existence, has picked A. J. Foyt in a '64 Ford to grab the event. Foyt was the Memorial Day winner of the Indianapolis 500.

The UPI reports that Y. A. Thile may retire after the 1964 NFL season . . . and then again he may not. About this time of the year somebody always begins speculating about YAT's retirement from the game.

The New York Giant quarterback said Monday night he was thinking of hanging up the cleats after this year's season is completed. But, on second thought, he said he wouldn't make a definite decision until the year is over.

But he did say he honestly thought he would call it quits when the campaign ends. YAT has been saying that for four years now, and he will speculate. We believe he'll quit when he quits — not until then. In fact we doubt if he'll ever stop playing voluntarily.

Hats off to the Hunt Lincoln-Mercury Comets! These ladies Wednesday night captured the 1964 Little National League flag. Now they'll meet the Sailors of the Navy nine in a best two-out-of-three series for the city's Little League title. It should be a whole of a good series.

We don't know how they go about it but every effort should be made to get Skipper Benark's name before National Little League officials for consideration for all-America honors. Any kid who'll go out there and hurl 16 games, fan 13 in 65 innings, and allow only 13 hits for an entire season, ought to be given utmost consideration.

"If you've never been to a swim meet," says Ida B. Wilson, PR specialist for the Seminole Swim Association, "you're invited to see one Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at Daytona's Welsh pool. It's not hard to find," she says, "when you come to the end of I-4 you follow the left turn signs to the hospital. Be listening for screams—not from the hospital but from the pool—and you'll know you're there."

Usually, she goes on to say, these events are free and you can come and go as you please. Programs are available, and grandstand seats, too.

The Seminole Swim Association is a fairly young club but its enthusiasm knows no bounds. "So, drop by Welsh Pool and see for yourself," reiterates Ida, "how exciting a swim meet can be. Who knows," she adds, "you might be watching some of tomorrow's Olympic champions." And she's probably right!

Angels Capture Ninth In A Row; Giants Edge LA

Once burned, twice shy, explains why there were no bonfires in Baltimore Thursday night.

Ordinarily, it should have been a night for rejoicing. The Orioles had completed a three-game sweep over the dangerous New York Yankees, increased their lead to 2 1/2 games and set Baltimore buzzing about the possibility of its first pennant in modern American League history.

The discordant note, however, was the memory of last year's bitter disappointment when these same Orioles looked like world-beaters until June and subsequently wound up 18 1/2 games off the pace.

"None of us on the ball club have forgotten that," says southpaw Steve Barber. "We're not looking for that to happen again."

Barber stopped the Yankees on three hits in a 3-1 Oriole victory that was witnessed by 38,539, Baltimore's largest crowd of the season.

Boog Powell put the Orioles in front with his 16th homer in the first inning and Brooks Robinson, who took over the league batting leadership with .328, belted his eighth homer of the season in the second.

In the only other American League games the Los Angeles Angels ran their winning streak to nine games—longest in the majors this year—with a 4-3 triumph over the Kansas City Athletics and the Cleveland Indians beat the Minnesota Twins, 8-1.

Three games were played in the National League where the San Francisco Giants outlasted the Los Angeles Dodgers, 2-1, in 13 innings, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Houston Colts, 4-2, and the Pittsburgh Pirates ripped the New York Mets, 8-1.

Tommy Grady was the game's winning pitcher. He also contributed three base hits. Twyman added a pair of safeties for the Dairymen and Adcock hit safely three times for the losers.

Perfection's season record was nine wins and 15 losses. George's broke even in 24 games—winning a dozen and losing the same amount.

This afternoon the curtain will come down on the Little American League play. Navy—second half champs—will tangle with Sanford Atlantic National Bank. In the Little National Standard Oil—losers of all 23 of their games—will get a last chance to post a win when they meet the loop champs, Hunt's Lincoln-Mercury Comets.

The Little National winds up the race Saturday night with the Engineers meeting First Federal again at Ft. Mellon Park.

Perfection's season record was nine wins and 15 losses. George's broke even in 24 games—winning a dozen and losing the same amount.

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI)—Texas and Pennsylvania each claims to be the top breeding ground for college football players, but those appearing in the fourth annual All-America football game Saturday night will let the fans decide.

Nine native Pennsylvanians will play for the East and nine Texans will shut up for the West.

The West holds a 2-1 edge in the series launched by the American Football Coaches Association in 1961. The heavier West squad has been installed a slight favorite in this nationally televised (ABC-TV, 9:30 p. m. EDT) battle between 38 of the nation's 1963 college stars.

Junior League coaches will draw pairings for the City Tournament which will be held July 6, 7, 9 and 10. Also to be discussed will be the city championship playoffs between the first half pennant winner, the Elks, and the Shrine, second half winners. Coaches also will vote on an All-League team. The all-star teams will be announced next week.

Little League Managers will select all-star teams from the Little National and Little American leagues which will represent Sanford in district play in July. Plans for the fifth annual Little League Bar-B-Que to be held July Fourth will be completed.

Florida State Bank, Robb's Cop Contests

Robb's Construction and the Florida State Bank captured victories Thursday night in the City Recreation Department's Men's Six-Pitch Softball League.

Robb's took a 12 to 6 decision from the USO with Chief Kuykendall paving the way with three hits and four runs batted in. Swann also added the cause of the Constructionmen with a pair of safeties and Earl Evans got credit for the victory.

Meanwhile, Florida State, behind 0 to 7 after the first two innings of play, bounced back to down Wilson Maier by a score of 14 to 11. Don Hunter with three hits and Earl Black and Mike Woodruff with two apiece paved the way for the Bankers.

Charlie Brown hit the game's first home run in a losing effort for the Furnituremen.

Rotary Defeats Shrine, 5 To 4, In Boys League

By Matrin Gleason

Bobby Powell sparked the Rotary nine Thursday as the Shrine's second half winners—fell by the wayside, 5 to 4, in a City Recreation Department Junior Boys League contest.

Rotary, behind 1 to 4, rallied for four runs in the final frame with Powell driving in the winning tally with a timely single to left. Frank Whigham got credit for the victory and also contributed to the Rotary cause at the dish with a booming triple.

The contest closed out the regular season's slate for both teams. The Shrine's finished with a record of 10 wins and two losses in second half play and an overall record of 17 and seven. Rotary went eight and four in the second half and posted a total record of 15 wins and nine defeats.

Lake Mary found its way into the win column, closing out its regular season play with a 7 to 3 triumph over the Kiwanis. Charlie Lytle settled down after the first inning and held the Kiwanis in check to get credit for the victory.

Roger Leep and Dickie Smith each had a pair of hits for Lake Mary. Freddie Weber had a pair of doubles for the Kiwanians.

Lake Mary completed the second half with three wins and nine losses for an overall record of seven and 17. Kiwanis, also with three wins and nine losses in the second half had a seasonal mark of nine wins and 15 losses.

The Elks and the CPO's play the final game of the regular season this afternoon. The championship series between the Elks and the Shrine's will begin Monday night and the Junior Boys City League tournament is slated to get underway July 6.

Paul Goldsmith Is Picked To Win 400

DAYTONA BEACH—Paul Goldsmith, quiet-spoken Indiana veteran who holds the track's qualifying mark of 174.910 mph, is the Pure Oil Racing Pan of Experts choice to whip a big, fast field in the sixth running of the Firecracker 400 at Daytona's International Speedway July 4th.

The nationwide panel cast 54 votes on the outcome of the Firecracker and Goldsmith, who will be driving a '64 Plymouth sponsored by Ron-Sun Chrysler-Plymouth of Sanford, got 16 of them. Estimates of Goldsmith's winning speed ranged from 166.550 mph, which would break the exalating mark by nearly 10 miles per hour, down to 148.902.

Sunny Hayes, co-owner and manager of Ron-Sun, said today that Ray Nichols of the Plymouth factory staff, would be in Sanford next week to begin readying the car Goldsmith will pilot in the 400.

Goldsmith, winner of the last Daytona beach-road race in 1958, and a former national motorcycle champion, edged out another Plymouth driver, Richard Petty, by two votes, despite Petty's world record smashing win here in the Daytona 500 in February.

Fred Loenzen and his Ford took third place with seven votes, followed by two other Ford drivers, Junior Johnson and A. J. Foyt, who got five and four votes, respectively. The small number of votes received by Foyt, double Indy 500 winner and USAC driving champ, was the surprise of the panel voting.

Hobby Isaac, Dodge, and Jim Paschal, Petty's Plymouth teammate, tied for sixth place with 2 first place votes. Following them, with one ballot each, were Earl Balmer (Dodge), Marvin Panch and Bobby Johns (Ford), and Lee Roy Yarborough (Dodge).

Overlooked by the panel were such red-hot drivers as Billy Wade, David Pearson, Darel Dieringer, Buck Baker, and Ned Jarrett, recent winner at Atlanta.

Forty cars are scheduled to start the Firecracker at 10 a.m. on the Fourth. The big race will have a rousing curtain-raiser on July 3, when two 60-mile qualifying races will be run, and by time trials on July 2, which will determine the two pole positions for the Firecracker.

More than 40,000 fans are expected to watch the 100-lap battle over the 2.5 Speedway for the more than $61,000 in posted awards.

Local Legion Team To Meet Eustis, DeLand

Post 19's American Legion Junior baseball club goes back into action tonight and Saturday.

Tonight the locals move into Eustis for a Sixth District contest with a club they've whipped once this season in the only affair between the two teams.

Saturday night Frank Thomas' nine travels to DeLand for a non-district loop encounter which will mark the first time these two teams have met this season.

Bobby Isaac, Dodge, and Jim Paschal, Petty's Plymouth teammate, tied for sixth place with 2 first place votes. Following them, with one ballot each, were Earl Balmer (Dodge), Marvin Panch and Bobby Johns (Ford), and Lee Roy Yarborough (Dodge).

St. Andrews Church Has Groundbreaking

By Maryann Miles
Ground was broken last Sunday by St. Andrews Presbyterian Church of Bear Lake for the first unit of the new church plant which will be Fellowship Hall. Ceremonies, held immediately following the morning worship service, took place on the church property at the corner of Bear Lake and Cub Lake Roads.

Special guests for the occasion were Rev. and Mrs. Howard Gress. Rev. Gress is executive secretary of the Presbytery of St. Johns and a former minister for St. Andrews. Rev. Thomas H. Makin is the present minister.

Other church officials taking part in the groundbreaking included John Bass, H. A. Essick and William Powell, deacons; Ed Colbert, church treasurer; Mrs. Bennie Driggers, organist; H. W. Gettings, L. C. Tinsley and Royce Ridgwell, elders and George Wehr, building contractor.

St. Andrews Presbyterian was organized, formally, on June 16, 1963. Before the group acquired a home on Linnel Beach Drive, which eventually will become the parsonage and where services are being conducted at present, meetings were held in various homes in the area with guest ministers leading services.

A five acre site for the church plant later was purchased from Mrs. Florence Hoover who donated an additional five acres.

Construction is to begin immediately on the first unit of St. Andrews which today has a total of 80 active members in the congregation.

The men received the awards because of their outstanding performance as the squadron's corrosion and painting team. Their work on one of the squadron planes was described as being difficult to duplicate even using modern equipment under ideal factory conditions.

Swindlers Feed On Their Ego

...with Alleen
No one wants to admit he has been bilked. But if a consumer keeps quiet about a run-in with a con man or swindler, he doesn't help himself or his neighbors.

Kenneth B. Wilson, president of the National Better Business Bureau, points out the NBBB or government agencies can do little to protect you if you don't speak up.

"Each year," he says, "unscrupulous promoters bilk the public of millions of dollars. He doesn't see a setup this season in warm-weather schemes.

Briefly, here are five swindles you should watch out for this summer:

Although "bait" advertising is outlawed in many states, it is still widely used. An advertiser offers to sell an item he really does not intend to sell or to stock to meet the demand from his ad. He may offer a washing machine or an automobile at a remarkably low price. If you go to the store, he will try to sell you a more expensive model. Usually, the "special" is "sold out."

In referral selling, the salesman asks you for the names of several prospective customers. For each additional name supplied by one of these persons, the customer receives a bonus of $10, $50 or $100 (or merchandise.)

The hitch is that the other prospects must sign a contract which requires payment for the product before any "bonus" is payable.

Unordered Merchandise floods the mail. This includes books, aprons, ties, handkerchiefs, fountain pens, wallsets and stationery. In general, the NBBB says, you are not obligated to acknowledge receipt of unordered merchandise; return it; pay for it, unless used; give it particular care or keep it beyond a reasonable length of time.

Scare tactics are also used in furnace repair swindles. A repairman may offer free inspection or cleaning and then tear the furnace down and tell the homeowner it is cracked and dangerous. Or he may report it is leaking carbon monoxide. The normal reaction is to buy a new furnace. Roofing and re-siding jobs are favorites of itinerant repairmen. They move into a community briefly. They may claim to represent a well-known manufacturer and say they are authorized to offer "commissions" on subsequent sales made in the area. Once you sign the contract, you may pay thousands for poor work.

Are Teenagers Stubborn?

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I wouldn't wish my worst enemy to be the parents of a teen-ager today. They are so mean and bull-headed. We have a girl, 16, who is always saying she is going to do something she knows we think is wrong. The latest is going away with her boyfriend and another couple for a weekend. The other boys press her contempt for you. The young are not so "bull-headed" as they are contemptuous. Contemptuous of the sloppiness of grownup conviction: the whole flabby wobble of the adult moral structure. They listen to our sermons on the obligation to do "the right thing" — and then watch us collapse like rag dolls when the talk demands transgression into action. The resulting feeling of the young is:

"If these grownups love their views of rightness so much that they can't stop talking about them, why don't they act on them? If their rightness isn't good enough for them, why should we have to act on it? Man can't yank!"

I don't know why your child should honor your moral view about this weekend if you aren't willing to fight for it.

But I advise you to do none of these things. You couldn't bring them off. You are so suspicious of what you claim to believe is right that any of these follow-through actions would come out defensive. You would be so abusive and accusing that your child would instantly spot your uncertainty.

So she would start exposing herself to riskier and riskier experiences in order to express her contempt for you.

Comics Like To Twit Barry

By Joan Crosby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA)—Joey Bishop, Al Fisher and Lou Marks grew up together in South Philadelphia. Until Lou stopped growing, says Fisher, the straight man, referring to his diminutive partner.

Fisher and Marks, with the help of Bishop, who has spotted them on his television show and also on the Tonight program, have just joined the platter parade with their first album, "It's a Beetle (Coo Coo) World." The album, they say, is doing very well. But they really want to talk about a Sinatra and Sinners show they did in Philadelphia, with Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Aris.) the guest of honor.

"I came out as Goldwater," says Marks, a short, stout type, "with a ten-gallon hat and boots. And Al was a reporter interviewing me." The gags went like this: "What do you think of Nixon?" "He's like the New York Mets," says Marks-Goldwater. "No, I take that back. The Mets win once in a while."

"Put in a right wing," "He's a great guy," tall, good-looking Fisher says. "He asked us to send him a couple of autographed copies of our album, and he invited us to visit him at the White House if he's elected. And I'm a Democrat."

Fisher and Marks have known each other all their lives. But they became a comedy team by accident. "Louis was a busboy in a night club where I was working," Al Fisher says. "In the second show, if there weren't too many people in the house, he would start clowning. He started getting more laughs than the rest of us, so the boss insisted he be put in the show."

Marks shrugs, "But I was making more money as a busboy. I think I was hired in the first place because I am so short, I would make the drinks look taller." The boys both continue to make their homes in Pennsylvania. "It's just as convenient as New York," Al Fisher says. "We have left South Philly," Lou Marks smiles, "but South Philly has never left us."

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Recently we started seeing a lot of a certain couple. I have always liked them both but we have never been real close friends. For the past few months I have had the feeling that something was going on between this woman and my husband. I have never been jealous before. When I first got that feeling, I told my husband about it. He denied everything and I felt like a heel. I haven't mentioned it since, but I am no fool. All of a sudden she has been planning things for the four of us to do almost every night, and she does favors for me that are uncalled for. I don't like the looks that pass between them or the way they always manage to sit close to each other, or the way they dance together, either. I've never had to cope with this in 20 years of marriage. Should I keep my mouth shut and keep watching or what? My woman's intuition is strong.

NERVOUS WRECK
DEAR WRECK: Your woman's intuition is probably better than Scotland Yard. Tell your husband in plain language that you are jealous, you sense danger and you have no intention of sharing him or losing him. If he fights too hard to continue the friendship, you will know your suspicions were correct, in which case you had better enlist the help of the other husband.

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago my wife's mother came to live with us. Everything is fine, except when we go out for a ride. I have a two-door automobile. My mother-in-law is 78 and quite large. She always climbs in the front, which seats two comfortably, but with three it's crowded. It is dangerous, because I have only two seat belts in front, and they are being sat on—not used. I certainly am not going to put my wife in the back seat alone, so she's up front next to her mother, near the door. My mother-in-law can't very well straddle that bump on the floor, so she puts both her feet next to mine, which interferes with my driving. She leans heavily toward me, so her head is right in my rear view mirror. I don't enjoy my rides, but I go anyway because my wife says her mother needs the fresh air. Is there a solution?

SKIP MY NAME
DEAR SKIP: It is not easy to get most large 78-year-old women into or out of the back seat of a "two-door automobile." But that's where "mother" belongs. Get a car with two more doors (Detroit will love you!) and enjoy a safer ride.

DEAR ABBY: No uglier facet of human personality is there than was shown by the critics who wrote to tell you that they would not stop to help an injured animal in the road. Surely you are not surprised! Thirty-eight cowards watched a New York woman being stabbed to death. They should hang their heads in shame. Twenty-three years ago, on an Iowa farm, a mad bull had my frail little mother was slain on the farm. She got a pitchfork and fought the bull back into the barnyard. Dad suffered a broken nose, but we had him another fifteen years.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

It was almost 80 years ago that Louise Winwright of New York became the first woman to win the Resinger trophy for the Eastern Team of Four championship. In those days Louise was an underbidder, but time changes many things and in a recent rubber game at the Regency Club in New York, she overbid to a rather doubtful game contract.

It wasn't too much of an overbid, but the wrong dummy hit the table and it almost required a good look at all the adverse cards for Mrs. Winwright to make the hand.

She ruffed the opening heart lead and led the Jack of clubs. East won with the king and shifted to a low trump.

Louise rose with the ace, and promptly took a diamond finesse. When this worked, business looked pretty good. The last club was led from dummy. East rose with the ace and led another trump. Louise refused a finesse. She could afford to lose a trick to the queen of trumps, but she could not afford to let her opponents lead a third spade.

From this point on, it was just a matter of mopping up. She started to run off clubs and then showed her hand explaining that whichever defender held the queen of trumps could take it any time he wanted to.

The Doctor Says: Emphysema Not Contagious

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Q — Is emphysema contagious or is it an allergy? Is there any cure?
A — Emphysema is a very common and a very chronic lung ailment in persons over 50. It is caused by air being trapped in the lungs due to a valvular obstruction. This obstruction occurs chiefly in heavy smokers, persons with chronic bronchitis and those who live in areas of extreme air pollution. It is not contagious and not an allergy. Its effects are sometimes similar to those of asthma.

Although there is no cure, the best treatment is early diagnosis. This will enable your doctor to prevent serious lung damage. If you have emphysema you should report to your doctor whenever you get a cold or other acute disease of the nose or lungs. It is helpful to quit smoking and to keep fit through moderate, but regular exercise. If your work requires you to breathe dusty or sooty air, you can prolong your life by wearing a respirator or changing your occupation.

Your doctor can help you by giving you antibiotics for some types of complicating infection. Other drugs, such as isoproterenol, will dilate the blocked air passages. Breathing exercises (humming, laughing and singing) are often useful. Even victims with far advanced emphysema can be helped. Vanille diethylamide, a respiratory stimulant, allows easier breathing. Inhalation of oxygen may make the difference between being confined to bed and being up and about. Postural drainage of the lungs (hanging over the edge of the bed for 10 minutes with your head near the floor) is another favorite method of treatment.

Q — Is it possible to be desensitized to the pollen that gives me hay fever in the summer?
A — First you must identify the pollen that is causing your hay fever. Desensitization must be started at least six weeks in advance of the time you usually get your attacks. It must be repeated every year.

I have taught mathematics at both the college and secondary school level, and have been gainfully employed for the past 10 years in applying these impractical, useless, painful, soul-wearing thought processes to such impractical, useless devices as synthetic fibers, guided missiles and jet engines. Yet I was nearly frightened away from mathematics by Skeptic's kindred in high school.—MATHEMATICIAN

ANSWER: If Skeptic's letter was planted, so is that! Thank you for your logical, clear, and convincing refutation. But what are we to do about students — and teachers—who aren't blessed with a mind like yours?

Boost For 'New Math'

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
By Susan Light
DEAR MRS. LIGHT: The letter you printed recently concerning the "new math" and signed "A Skeptical Teacher" must have been planned to draw reader reaction, since it is difficult to imagine a teacher subscribing to such an attitude. Whether genuine or not, it warrants a reaction since it so clearly reveals the weaknesses in the implementation of any reforms in public school mathematics.

Point One: The correspondent, hereinafter called Skeptic, implies mathematics is dull. Obviously, if Skeptic holds such an attitude, his teaching will suffer, the students will be repelled from mathematics and very little good will be accomplished. To good will be accomplished, the successful, mathematical, whether old or new, must be taught by inspired teachers and inspiration can be acquired only by a thorough mastery of the subject taught—regardless of many modern educators' opinions to the contrary.

Point Two: Mathematics is not necessarily (in fact only exceptionally) "useful" in the everyday problems of the real world. One must study it far beyond the public school level in order to apply it to such problems with which industry or defense is concerned. Even then, only a small fraction of what is taught gets used. Rather, mathematics attempts to acquaint the student with clear, unambiguous, logical thinking, and believe me, this is a painful, agonizing, hair-pulling experience.

It is advanced mathematics, he bids fair to live a lifetime of unemployment, being displaced by such "useful" gadgets as electronic computers which utilize the "useless" concepts expounded in base 7 arithmetic.

Point Three: Skeptic asks "what percentage of them will ever need or use such advanced mathematics?" It is becoming increasingly clear that unless the modern student learns something of the new (I do not agree that

What Does Mod Look Bode

By Jerry Sheehan
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — Coo, blokes! The Empire is dividing into two great camps; the Mods and the Rockers.

The Mods, of course, are the latter-day soot suiters. The Rockers, however, generally believe that money should be spent on things like motorcycle magnetos instead of snappy clothes.

In a sense, the open clash between these factions in England provides a larger-than-life study of the conflict which rages within most ordinary men.

A man may not be sure of the clothes he buys, so he deliberately dresses in a sweater and knock-around pants. Or he may become a fanatic about clothes and indulge himself in a cashmere sports jacket even though his kid needs an operation and his wife should really see a dentist.

The real lesson to be found in the case for Mod clothing may run even deeper. It is an axiom of the clothing industry that adult styles often take their long-range cue from teenage fashions. Mod (for modern) styles may be chucked at today we may have on our backs tomorrow—in a modified version.

What is the "Mod Look"? A Bostonian, John Stephen, is accumulating wealth with the correct answer to that question. Stephen owns a chain of 18 men's stores in England catering directly to Mods. Last year he turned more than $1.5 million on far-out fashions.

Some of the exotic items now in demand, according to Stephen: snakeskin jackets, gold leather waistcoats and winkle-picker shoes. A minimum wardrobe for a fashionable Mod: two dozen shirts (tab collar, no tie), 8 pair of slacks (tight), a suede jacket and one conservative suit. "The suit is worn on Sundays to please mum," says Stephen.

One provocative Mod innovation: pants with laces up the front instead of zipper. You can just see barber-dasher Stephen laughing all the way to the cash register.

The Bikinis Are For Sylphs

By Helen Hennessey
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Women's Editor
Did you ever take a good look around on the beach and wonder why so many women with full-blown figures choose to wear short shorts, stretch pants and bikinis? It's a puzzle, isn't it?

Do they, I wonder, look approvingly at a slim girl nearby in a brief swimsuit and then congratulate themselves on having selected an equally smart style — giving no thought to the fact that a profile doesn't stop at the chin? If I had my way, I would see to it that every hefty girl was equipped with a full-length mirror and an honest friend before she bought her summer play clothes.

You may look fine from the front in a two-piece suit, but turn sideways. Does your diaphragm bulge, your derriere look like a shelf and your tummy make you take a quick look to see if the bed pillow is still in its accustomed place? Then get yourself a one-piece suit with built-in figure control, a blouse-top with top shorts or a dressmaker suit with a short, swinging skirt. They are just as fashionable as the brief numbers and might even kid the public into thinking you have a good figure.

Stretch pants—or any pants for that matter—should only be worn by a slim woman. With all the colorful shifts around for summer lounging, why make yourself ridiculous instead of fashionable? Short shorts are designed to show off slim legs. So don't post-up a figure fault if you're not a long-stemmed beauty.

It's no trick at all these days to find smart, colorful play clothes, designed to make the most of every figure. You can't wish a way around your pounds, but you can keep them under wraps while you lose them and look as chic as the next one while you reduce. If you're guilty of trying to cover up a plump figure with one yard of fabric, take off your blinders. You delude no one but yourself.

Q—"I have teased hair and will not wear a hat because it flattens my hairdo. I wear a kerchief to church on Sundays, but my mother says it's too casual and a sign of disrespect. Is this true? I hate to ruin my hair style. It costs me money every week."
DEAR DOROTHY N.: I can't answer your question about the kerchief. The custom varies, I'm sure, in different locales. But why do you have teased hair? If it went out of style months ago. Get yourself a soft, close hairdo. It will be fashionable and you can wear a hat without hurting either your hair style or your mother.

Don't Throw Away That Junk

By Polly Cramer
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY Every time I think of a fine idea for you that day's paper peels it forth and from somebody else. So here is an idea, not really new but important. Thank you for the mention of a wash boiler in your column as it has been so long since I have seen one mentioned in print. The word has become sentimentally nostalgic.

There are still homes where no especially modern equipment exists but where daily papers are read, so let's hear of uses for sturdy old equipment other than filling the local dump. A wash boiler I have was once used for a bread box, rodent proof and capacious, to hold a huge baking of homemade bread. Copper sides polish to gold, it now graces a fireplace opening in the summer and holds gay flowers and foliage.

—C.M.C.
How about it girls, what have you done with outmoded household equipment? Pass on any ideas that C.M.C. and others might use. Old copper wash boilers are often used by the fireplace to hold small logs, too. — POLLY
DEAR POLLY — Today two men in an elevator commented on the following idea. Several times when carrying the newspaper in my arm, I have had the misfortune to get my white gloves covered with fresh ink off the paper and have spotted dresses and coats. Now these worries are gone as I always carry my newspaper in a plastic bag from the dry cleaners or my husband's shirt laundry. One of the men in the elevator said, "Well, that's a good idea. Why don't you send it to Polly?" So here it is. — MITZI

DEAR POLLY — When my wife realized that I did not have much time to read the newspaper because of my working hours, she started clipping articles from the paper that she thought would or should interest me. She clips two or three together and puts them in my lunch box so I can read while eating. — A GRATEFUL HUSBAND

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

The principal of an elementary school states that much tension and upset could be relieved if children were taught to speak quietly at home and in school.

She's testing the theory in her own school. It might not be a bad idea for mothers to test it in their own homes. Yelling at children is a bad habit too many mothers indulge in. They not only yell at the children when the children get out of hand, but they yell at them to relieve their own nerves.

Nom fights with dad in the morning and yells at the kids all day long. Or she gets herself into a dither trying to do more in one day than is necessary or possible, and relieves the tension by yelling at the kids. And when nobody in the family is yelling, very likely the radio is booming. When a city lens horn honking, it doesn't interfere with traffic getting where it was going. Very likely the same thing would happen in homes. Mom would probably find she could get just as much obedience if not more, by using a quiet voice when she tells junior to quit whatever he's doing, as by yelling at him. This yelling at children is really a vicious thing. Did you ever notice how often the mother who yells at her children has children who yell right back at her? And, often when the last threat is yelled, the mother has no other resource when her child still disobeys.

Highlights

7:30-8:30 p.m. CBS. The Great Adventure. "Wild Bill Hickok—The Legend and the Man." (Rerun) Interesting debunker with a good laugh to get it off to a rousing start. Very good is Lloyd Bridges, as Wild Bill Hickok, who earned his nickname after a youthful feat of heroism and lived to regret his prowess with a gun after accidentally killing his best friend. Sherree North appears as the girl who captures his heart. Van Heflin narrates.

7:30-8:30 p.m. NBC. International Showtime "Amazing Amsterdam Circus" (Rerun) A clever act involving baby elephants steals an otherwise pleasant hour of typical circus routines. There's some excitement on the trapeze, an acrobatic tumbling act, some impressive bareback riders and the conventional quota of clowns.

7:30-8:30 p.m. ABC. Destry. "Big Deal at Little River." (Rerun) The plot deals with gambling, gambling and more gambling. Destry (John Gavin) is in his element as he tries to help a friend (Katherine Crawford) beat the system. When she begins to get too successful, the crooks behind the gaming tables begin to get upset.

8:30-9:30 p.m. CBS. Route 66. "Kiss the Maiden All Forlorn." (Rerun) An unusual TV drama about a swindler who flees the country, then is willing to risk returning and much more, to prevent his daughter from entering a convent. Douglas Fairbanks Jr. plays the difficult role of the (Color) (Rerun) A chilling and inspiring dramatization of the novel exposing Soviet Siberian labor camps. Prisoners, seeking to improve labor conditions, set an unrealistic work quota and meet it. plishes nothing and proves nothing other than man's indomitable nature. Jason Robards is leader of the work squad, but this is not a star show.

'Thomasina' Now At Ritz

A switch on the witch Walt Disney sometimes uses in his cartoon features is Susan Hampshire playing Lori MacGregor in the live action feature, "The Three Lives of Thomasina."

The story of the little girl who loves her cat more than life itself now showing at the Ritz Theater here thru next Wednesday.

The switch in this witch is that Lori helps the little girl get her cat — and her life — back. In previous cases, such as "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" and "Sleeping Beauty" the witch hurts the good people and is, in all, evil personified.

In "Thomasina" it might be truthfully said, Lori is not really a witch at all. It is only that the children of the nearby village — and the adults, perhaps, as well — think she is one. Which may be the same thing. No witch has ever been more than a suspect.

Lori is really a girl who lives in the woods, loving animals so much that she finds herself capable of curing most of them through love and tender care alone.

LORI MacGREGOR is shown in a scene from "The Three Lives of Thomasina" which opens Thursday for a week's run at the Ritz Theater.

TABLE HOPPING

Your reporter was curious about the many pronunciations of the word "Caribe," the name of the cocktail lounge in the Valdez Hotel.

Best way to solve the mystery of "how you say it" seemed to be to go to the source.

So we did.

And the girls over there tell us that it is Care-ah-see, with the accent on the first syllable.

So now you know.

Unless you want to use the Spanish pronunciation, which would be Cah-ree-ah, with a roll of the "r-r-r" and the accent on the second syllable.

However you say it, it's still delightfully cool for lunch and your favorite beverage, with the delicious menu from Rose and Wilk's Restaurant next door, and gay and busy for the "happy hour" and on into the evening hours, right up to 2 a.m. every night except Sunday.

The music of the Lyricals combo will entertain you on Fridays and Saturdays from 10 p.m. to closing time.

The Chicken Treat folks are celebrating their Fourth Anniversary this week, and their customers are the winners. Special feature to celebrate their four years of operation is a half fried chicken dinner, complete with milk shake for only $1.19.

Sounds enjoyable — filling, too.

Jean's Spaghetti House in Orange City is featuring meat or cheese ravioli this week.

A wonderful place for the whole family to dine out, open every day, including Sunday. It's all air-conditioned, too. There is a varied menu available, along with cold beer.

On these hot days George's Tavern offers cool comfort with your favorite beverages. The air-conditioned lounge and package store, the reasonable prices and the always friendly atmosphere make George's a nice place to meet your friends.

If you are looking for something different to do this weekend, how about some square dancing? The McGreggor Ranch holds a big square dance every Saturday night, beginning at 8 p.m. It's located on McGreggor Road, which is just two miles south of DeLand and the dances are sponsored by the Volusia Square Dance Club. Try it — it's fun.

You can feel thrifty when you shop for your liquor supplies at Rex Liquor Mart of Values in the Pinetrest Shopping Center. They give paid stamps with each purchase. They'll deliver your favorite beverages, and bring you your stamps, too, or you can stop by and pick up your own.

There's something about brining the water that stimulates the appetite. The Lake Monroe Inn, halfway around the lakeshore on your left as you go towards DeLand is only about a mile and a half from town. They have become famous for their steaks, and have lots of other good things to eat on the menu, too, along with your favorite cocktails.

When Mom says it's just too hot to cook, but the dollar signs go up in Dad's eyes as he counts all the kiddies and consults his wallet, the place to go is the Trade Winds Cafeteria in Seminole Plaza. Children are welcome there and prices are so moderate that the whole family can well afford to take advantage of the delicious food, all placed so appetizingly in view. Dine out often, and the shopping center is open for late shopping, too.

If you have a private party coming up and no place to put the people, don't forget about the New Orleans Room at Jim Spencer's. It's available and will hold up to 50 persons. For a few couples, there's the gracious dining room, and all that superb sea food and steaks to make your mouth water. The service is unbeatable. While your order is being prepared exactly to your taste, sample the fine cheeses and meats under the umbrella or the dips and crackers in the bar.

You just can't beat the delightful atmosphere at Freddie's Steak House in Fern Park for an evening out. The food is out of this world and the service unexcelled. But don't forget to make your reservations, especially on the weekends. It's such a popular place and once you get there, you just stay and stay.

The Clyde Robertsons were the winners of the prize for the best costume at the Hoopring Twenties Party at the Capri last Friday, and a cute little couple from Casselberry won the Charleston contest.

Both couples received a bottle of champagne for being so good, with the costume design and the dancing. Everyone had a really grand time, and declared it was even better than last year. Things have sorta simmered back down to normal now, but we hear that there is a big private Navy party booked for July 3 that will take over the whole establishment, so the Capri will be closed to the public that night. However, on July 4, it will be open and swinging for your holiday fun.

Miss Tanner, James Cordell United In Holy Matrimony

Miss Johnnie Ellen Tanner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie A. Tanner of Jacksonville, and James Arthur Cordell, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Denver Cordell of Sanford, were united in holy matrimony on Saturday, June 20, at 4 p.m. at the Southside Baptist Church of Jacksonville with the Rev. Bob C. Barnes performing the candlelight ceremony.

Elmer E. James, soloist and uncle of the bride, furnished the traditional nuptial music. The lovely bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowning in a floor length silk organza over taffeta with floral lace trim around the Renaissance neckline and elbow length sleeves and the controlled skirt, featuring appliques, terminated in a chapel train. Her triple tiered veil of illusion fell to her waistline from a pillbox of seed pearls and she carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis centered around a white orchid.

Miss Nancy Tanner of Jacksonville attended her sister as maid of honor and Mrs. Brenda Karniewics of Jacksonville was matron of honor. Their pale pink silk organza sheaths featured tiered bell-shaped over-skirts of organza with scoop necklines and cap sleeves. Their circular blush veils were attached to matching silk organza open pillboxes with a silk organza rose, and they carried cascades of pink and white roses.

Attendants were Miss Maureen Ramsay, Miss Jean Bodstrom, Miss Dianne Cueny, Miss Judy Ford and Mrs. Patricia Whidden of Jacksonville and Miss Dian Steed of Statham, Ga. Their gowns were identical to the maid and matron of honor and they carried nosegays of feathered pink and white roses.

William Perkins of Augusta, Ga. was best man and serving as ushers were Terry Smith, Sanford, and Larry Keen, Buddy Newman, Alfred Karniewics and Tom Brennan, all of Jacksonville.

Anne and Allen Baughman, cousins of the bride, were flower girl and ring bearer. Following the reception atter the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Cordell left on a wedding trip to the southern part of the state and will reside at 9781 Nimick Court North, Jacksonville.

Miss Joanne Ruth Keefer Is Bride Of Carl Lee Dodson

By Frances Wester
Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Keefer of Lake Mary announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Joanne Ruth Keefer, on June 18th, to Carl Lee Dodson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George William Dodson of Lake Mary.

The wedding was solemnized at the home of the groom's parents on Lake View Drive, overlooking Crystal Lake. Reverend Lucian Scott of Winter Park and former pastor of the Community Presbyterian Church of Lake Mary, performed the ceremony.

Robert Perry of Casselberry was the Best Man, and Carol Lynn Dodson, sister of the groom, was the Bridesmaid. The traditional Wedding music was played by Harry Wester.

The setting of the ceremony was by the stairway going to the balcony of the split-level living room. Flowers of ferns entwined the wrought iron posts and railings, and baskets of white mums and carnations were on each side of the steps.

The bride was attired in a white chiffon street length dress, with a white beaded crown and nylon veil. She carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations and baby's breath with white satin ribbon streamers.

The bride's mother wore a beige, brocade dress, complemented with green accessories. The groom's mother was attired in an ice blue dress with white accessories. The Bridesmaid wore a pale yellow dress with white accessories, and carried a bouquet of white carnations with ribbon streamers.

A reception followed the ceremony with refreshments served buffet style on the terrace of the Dodson home. The couple left for a wedding trip to the northern part of Florida. For traveling, the Bride wore a baby blue suit with white accessories.

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lantz, of Deland, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keefer, of Oak Harbor, from the state of Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Duncan, of Forrest City, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Boech, of Longwood, and Mrs. Patay Shivers, of Longwood.

Members of the families, relatives, and friends attended.

Teen-Age Actresses Accept Sudden Fame With Wonder

NEW YORK (UPI) — A couple of teen-aged girls who received rave notices in the first movie they ever made take their new fame with a mixture of modesty and wonder at what happens next. Tippy Walker, 17, of Rye, N.Y., says, "I don't consider myself a star or anything like that. I simply acted in a movie the critics liked. Now, though, I've got to decide more things. Like am I going to be an actress?"

Merrile Spaeth, 16, of Philadelphia, figured that making one film has "pushed me ahead four years even though I was gone for only four months."

"I've learned you can't judge people by what they look like," said the blonde with the pigtail. "I'm happier. I'm nicer to people than I've ever been in my life."

Miss Walker, a natural blonde who went brunette for the movies, was in doubt about a career in acting although the producing company has both under five-year contract now for one picture each year.

But the one film convinced Miss Spaeth, who had performed in school plays earlier. Now she has found acting "tremendous fun—the movies and stage both gratifying."

"But I want to go on to college too," she added. "I guess I'm trying to walk a middle line. But I worry, what will happen to me?"

The movie in which the novice actresses appeared is "The World of Henry Orient," starring Peter Sellers. Pan Arts Co. made the film in which the Misses Walker and Spaeth play a precocious pair who attach themselves vigilantly to the coat-tails of a woman - chasing musician Sellers, leading him a dismal life.

New York critics referred to them as "two captivating newcomers," as "ready-made comers" and "the jolliest teens in all movie annals." One critic called them "delightful youngsters . . . the nicest proof since Hayley Mills that little girls are made of sugar and spice."

The two ham it up considerably in the film, what with a phony death scene on a street and with jumping fire hydrants leap-frog style.

"I still can't pass a fire hydrant without wanting to go over it," said Miss Spaeth. "I did the other day in Philadelphia strictly without thinking. . . in heels and all. Naturally everyone stared."

The Harold Lyles Relate Historical Vacation Trip

By Evelyn Lundy
The Harold Lyles tell of a most interesting vacation which they and their three children had recently.

Going by way of Lookout Mountain in Chattanooga they visited the renowned Confederoma. This depicts the entire battle of Chickamauga, the bloodiest battle of the Civil War. There are thousands of small figures carved to scale, and Mrs. Lyle said that the most fantastic part was that while these figures are stationary, they seem to be moving about because of the way the lights are focused on them.

The entire city of Chattanooga was also shown in small scale as it appeared during the Civil War days. Visiting the museum in another part of the mountain, they saw guns of all descriptions, cannon, minute balls and cannon balls.

Leaving Chattanooga, they drove over to the Smokies and spent several days sightseeing. The boys were enchanted by the bears they saw by the roadside and also by the colorful Indian dance in Cherokee.

After leaving the mountains, they visited relatives and friends in Montgomery and Bessemer, Ala.

Tamaar Braden has just

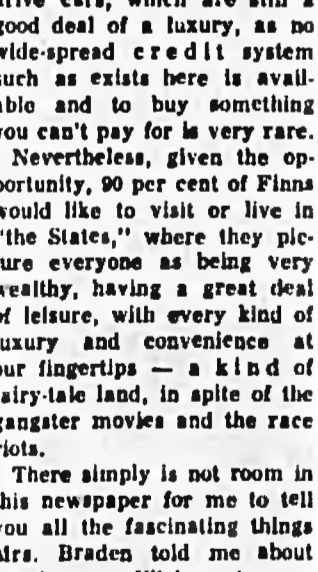

TAMAAR BRADEN

returned from a month in her native land, or her parents' native land, of Finland.
She speaks the language freely with the Finns, both to her delight and that of the people of the country. There's nothing like "speaking the language" to make friends and influence people.
Mrs. Braden found she had a missionary job to do, trying to explain to the Finns that what they see in American movies is not the way Americans really live.
"Biggest movie going in Finland while I was there was West Side Story, which was making a great impression on them," she said.
Taking advantage of being a Pan-Am dependent Mrs. Braden and so was able to move about and converse with the Finns. Braden was able to fly over and back on Pan-American for a very, very inexpensive fee, having all kinds of adventures along the way.
For instance, when she was waiting over in New York to catch her plane overseas, a delegation of Finns arrived for a conference here, and she served as impromptu welcoming committee of one, greeting them in their own language, which delighted the visitors no end.
She toured the little country, which is about the size of New Mexico, from one end to the other, visiting rest homes, schools and churches.
She was escorted and hosted in her travels, wined, dined, questioned and queried by 13 cousins along the way.
At one point she spoke to a gathering of Lutheran Church women, helping to clear up many of their misconceptions about Americans and their church attendance.
They seem to think we are rather heathenish, judging, no doubt, from what they see in the movies.
Few women know how to drive cars, which are still a good deal of a luxury, so no wide-spread credit system such as exists here is available and to buy something you can't pay for is very rare.
Nevertheless, given the opportunity, 90 per cent of Finns would like to visit or live in "the States," where they picture everyone as being very wealthy, having a great deal of leisure, with every kind of luxury and conveniences at our fingertips — a kind of fairy-tale land, in spite of the gangster movies and the race riots.
There simply is not room in this newspaper for me to tell you all the fascinating things Mrs. Braden told me about her journey. I'll have to save some of it for another day.

and Son luncheon that despite the Supreme Court ruling, Bible reading daily will continue in local schools until such time as someone files an individual injunction against it here, and a court order is received to force them to stop.
His remarks met with approving applause from Kiwanians.
"The reading is non-sectarian. We know there are many religions represented in our schools. No comment is made nor is any interpretation attempted," Carlton said.
"It is up to the parents and the churches to teach a child what to believe. It is the part of the schools to teach them how to understand, through their own reading and study," he added.

REMEMBER Peter Kurkijarvi?

He was the Finnish exchange student who was sponsored here by the Kiwanis three years ago? (Blonde, blue-eyed, a doll!)
You pronounce that koo-kee-ear-vee, incidentally.
When Mrs. Tamaar Braden was in Finland, she looked up Peter, who is now attending a university there, studying medicine.
Peter was well, studying hard, and asked many questions about Sanford and the friends he had made during his year in attendance at Seminole High School here.
YOU ALL remember Jeanne Warnke, I'm sure.
Had a "welcome back" note from her after returning to the Herald, which was most appreciated.
The Warnkes are living in Fort Smith, Ark., now and Jeanne says they do miss Sanford and all their friends here. They receive the Herald, so are able to keep up in some ways with what goes on here.
Jeanne says she has been offered the job of society editor of the Fort Smith newspaper, but thinks she'll just stay home and "get fat."
(You don't have to stay home to do that!)
"If you hear of any Sanfordites coming out this way be sure to tell them to stop by and see us," writes Jeanne.
So there you are. Going west you can stop over with the Warnkes in the Arkansas.

Proper Care And Repairs Lengthen Service Of Iron

Your iron will give you good service for years if you use it properly and keep it in good repair, says Myrtle Wilson, Home Demonstration Agent.
If the thermostat isn't operating, the iron won't heat or it may overheat. If you believe this is the reason your iron isn't heating properly, take it back to the dealer who sold it to you, to a serviceman, or the manufacturer.
A burned out heating element leaves you with a cold iron also. In this case, you should follow the same suggestions as for a faulty thermostat.
But before you hurry to the

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Norris of Sanford, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Betty Dean Norris, to William Douglas Ball, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Ball, also of this city.
Miss Norris was born in Sanford and attended the public schools here, having graduated from Seminole High School with the 1964 class.
Mr. Ball was born in West Virginia, attended the Sanford public schools, and was graduated from Seminole High School this year, where he was a member of the Future Farmer's of America. He is presently employed with his father in the citrus industry.
The wedding will be an event of Friday, July 3 at 8 p.m. at the Central Baptist Church, with the Rev. Gail B. Smith performing the ceremony.
No formal invitations are being issued and all relatives and friends are cordially invited to attend.

serviceman, check some common causes of appliance's not working. Is the connection at the wall outlet tight? Have you blown a fuse without being aware of it? Does the cord or plug need repairing? Check all these possibilities before going to a serviceman. You'll save yourself possible embarrassment.
Also if the iron is slow to heat, you may have it plugged into a light socket that isn't wired to handle the higher wattage demands of the iron. Plugging an iron into a long extension cord causes a voltage drop enough current.

Goldwater Takes Time Out For Daughter's Wedding Saturday

THESE ARE MY BOYS—Kiwanian Frank Dunn proudly indicates sons Bill, Roy and Frank Jr., at the Father and Son Day luncheon. Roy had his arm in a sling—fractured his elbow playing ball. (Herald Photo)

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater set aside his presidential aspirations briefly today to tackle a father's toughest task — completing arrangements for his daughter's wedding.

Margaret Ann (Peggy) Goldwater, 20, will take the arm of her distinguished, silver-haired father Saturday night and march down the aisle of the Trinity Episcopal Cathedral for her marriage to Reinard Arlen Holt, 26, Los Angeles.

Although today was devoted to fatherly duties, Thursday was packed with politicking as the Republican presidential hopeful spoke in Tucson at a "breakfast for Barry" and then hopped to Nogales on the Mexico border to address the state convention of the American Legion.

In his breakfast speech to about 1,300 persons, Goldwater said that the Far East crisis "has reached major proportions" and accused the Johnson administration of practicing news management in keeping the truth from becoming known.

He urged President Johnson and outgoing South Vietnamese Ambassador Henry Abot Lodge to tell the American people what America's policy is in that Asian nation.

Goldwater also said he was interested in why the highest ranking active U. S. general Maxwell D. Taylor had been sent to replace Lodge.

"If the military is taking over civilian jobs," the conservative senator said, "we ought to know about it and the reasons for it."

He noted that he frequently had been called a "warmonger" because of his attitude toward keeping America's defenses strong.

Goldwater also said he was interested in why the highest ranking active U. S. general Maxwell D. Taylor had been sent to replace Lodge.

"If the military is taking over civilian jobs," the conservative senator said, "we ought to know about it and the reasons for it."

He noted that he frequently had been called a "warmonger" because of his attitude toward keeping America's defenses strong.

"But I suggest that I'm a peacemonger," he said.

Mass Transit Bill To Help Downtown Areas Passes House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has declared war on the big city traffic jam which President Johnson said is slowly strangling the nation's metropolitan areas.

A group of Democrats and Republicans teamed up in the House Thursday to approve a $875 million program to improve urban mass transportation.

The House and Senate now have passed slightly different bills aimed at getting more motorists to leave their cars at home and take trains and buses. A compromise version of the measure now must be worked out.

Johnson praised passage of the bill as a "major step forward" in cooperation between federal and state authorities on urban problems. In a statement issued by the White House he expressed the hope that the differences between the House and Senate versions could be worked out "so that the bill can become law as soon as possible."

The legislation provides a federal matching grant program to be used by municipalities for purchasing new railroad cars, buses, commuter stations and other transportation facilities.

Record Of Progress

A decision made Wednesday by the Port Authority Committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce marks a milestone in the group's effort to attain its final objective — a port facility in this area.

It also means that this committee, under the capable leadership of Francis Roumillat, the trade body's immediate past president, has posted an enviable record of progress in a minimum period of time.

The committee's decision to recommend to the Seminole County Board of Commissioners that the engineering firm of Lockwood and Green, Spartanburg, S.C., be retained to make a feasibility study culminated the work it has accomplished in four months.

It was on Feb. 17 that the committee was organized with the following serving as members: Gordon Fredericks, James Avery, John Alexander, Andrew Carraway, A. L. Wilson, Carl Schilke, Scott Burns, Jack Bolt and Roumillat.

They immediately established two sub-committees — one to study the feasibility of the project and the other to work on legislative matters. The feasibility group went to Jacksonville and made an on-the-spot study of that city's port and the operation of its authority. They next went to Brunswick and made a similar study there. They are still planning to travel to Bainbridge, Ga., and study the facilities there.

The establishment of the committee was accomplished when the trade body's board of directors came under the conviction that the time was ripe to take advantage of the county's opportunities which would be presented by both the cross state canal and the St. Johns-Indian River Canal.

"When these canals come into existence," said Roumillat, "we want to have our facilities ready so that our growth and development will be commensurate with the rest of this area."

From the record this committee has established thus far, it is apparent Seminole will be ready to open the door when opportunity knocks.

Jobs: A Red Problem, Too

Communism's claim to have eliminated the old capitalist problem of unemployment has always been one of its greatest selling points.

Never mind how it is accomplished, there is simply no such thing as unemployment in a Communist society.

This Communist boast, like others, does not bear up under closer examination.

Government statistics from Poland, as analyzed and reported by Radio Free Europe, reveal that 200,000 persons were laid off from their jobs last winter alone, bringing the total of unemployment in that officially Communist nation to 500,000.

Significantly, many of them are young people. It is estimated that 1.5 million Polish youths will enter the labor market by 1970 and that the number seeking work will increasingly outnumber the new jobs available.

Apparently the Communist wave of the future is running up against the same shoals that were supposed to have defeated Western capitalism long ago.

Throughout the whole grand temple of the Scriptures, these two voices ever echo—Man is ruined! Man is redeemed!—C. D. Fos.

Thought For Today

For thus says the Lord: You were sold for nothing, and you shall be redeemed without money.—Isaiah 62:3.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Eva's case suggests the 10 lepers whom Christ healed. For only ONE ever returned to offer Jesus even a "Thank you." So will you readers please join the "Compliment Club" and be as free with your thanks as with your criticisms of your newspaper?

CASE T-404: Eva G., aged 32, is a cultured housewife. Although I routinely use actual office cases in this column and thus do not employ letters from readers (like the usual "advice" columnist), I am making an exception today to prove 3 points.

"Dr. Crane," Eva wrote recently, "I want to thank you for saving my marriage, and I'll give you the concrete evidence to show what your column in our newspaper has meant to me.

"We have been married for 12 years. But for the past year our marriage has been 'on the rocks,' as the saying goes.

"I sought out the professional help of a Marriage Counselor, plus our Priest and also our family doctor.

"They all bolstered my sadly deflated feminine ego a great deal but still my husband was cold, hostile and so fault-finding that he would reduce me to tears almost every night.

"Although I tried to get him to consult our Priest or a Marriage Counselor, he always refused, for he claimed there was nothing wrong with himself.

"Then you had several cases just like mine and offered some of your sex booklets, so I sent for them, as a last desperate hope.

"Well, I woke up with a bang to my own shortcomings. For I had no idea until I read your cases that this simple little habit of sexual indifference on my part was wounding my husband's sexual ego.

"He reacted exactly as you had explained in the newspaper, for he became suspicious, jealous and constantly caustic in criticizing everything I did.

"He even scolded our two children unmercifully and without adequate cause, apparently to strike back at me.

"Well, Dr. Crane, I decided to affect greater ardor and thus try to solve our problem.

"And it worked! It was a miracle! My husband now thinks I am even more wonderful than when we were first married!

"The change is so phenomenal that I can still hardly believe it could all be traced to my unintentional wounding of his sex vanity.

"So please pass my experience along to other wives to help them solve their problems and safeguard their children from divorce.

"I am writing you, Dr. Crane, and also our good editor for thus salvaging our home."

At the outset, I said I was using this letter to show you three points.

First, husbands are loathe to consult outside advisers about their marital problems, so your newspaper renders a blessing by thus bringing frank marital advice into their home.

Second, a few gray headed publishers have objected to my column on the ground that it is "too frank," but you can't stop the terrible divorce rate in America by piddling around with Pollyanna generalities concerning marriage.

Third, women are not passionate creatures, despite a false notion to the contrary by many men.

So send for my booklet, "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25c.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — It hasn't been publicly announced, but Air Force aerospace scientists have discovered that by means of electrodes placed on the skull it is possible to control switches by thought processes.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration scientists are now planning for the day when an astronaut in a space vehicle will maneuver his ship without using his hands or feet.

As one scientist puts it: "The pilot will observe his target and his eye movements will be translated into guidance signals."

It is only one step further to conceive of an airplane pilot or an automobile driver steering his vehicle by eye movements or by "thoughts."

The advantages would be great. If a man could control his space ship, his airplane or his automobile by eye control, for example, he could react four times as fast as he can when using his arms or legs for steering or braking.

Suppose it now takes a pilot or driver two-tenths of a second to react manually and put on his brakes. By eye control he'd be able to brake in five-hundredths of a second.

Medical scientists have constructed an artificial arm which ties into the nerves of the upper arm. "From these neural signals," says a NASA scientist, "the wearer can 'will' the mechanical arm, powered by small motors, to move—just as he does when he 'wills' his own arm to move."

Reportedly, the Russians have been able to make the same sort of a "mind-controlled" arm. Khrushchev now is spending large sums in this field of man's ability to control machines.

This eye and thought control opens great possibilities in the operation of complicated new machines. A successful system would make airplanes and automobiles far more maneuverable than they are today. It should be possible to type at fantastic speeds.

Aerospace scientists have been forced into this field. Actions while in space frequently must be so precise and so quick that manual controls won't do. Space ships and space suits require more buttons than a man could handle.

As one research man puts it: "A hard-shell space suit built for locomotion and work on a planetary surface (say the moon) would present a . . . ridiculous array of levers and buttons were it controlled by conventional methods.

By using the thought-action method, however "such a complex space suit could be worn and operated as though it were an extension of the wearer's own body. The suit's powered appendages would move as his own arms move.

His locomotion would be accomplished in similar fashion, enabling movement without strain or fatigue regardless of gravity, suit weight or terrain."

To The Editor

Editor, Herald

A proposal has been submitted to the Seminole County Board of Commissioners with copies to the Board of Public Instruction and Seminole County legislators calling for a joint discussion of the possibility and feasibility of legislation amending the present law by reducing the limit which the millage rate for routine county operations may not exceed, the amended limit to be more commensurate with the increased assessed taxable valuation.

The present state law allowing up to 50-60 mills for stated purposes has existed many years when the assessed taxable values were not only at various percentages of full value but at various percentages of unrealistic values having no basis for justification. It was recently reported that 34 counties now assess at percentages varying from 50 up to 100 percent and 33 counties assessing at from 27 up to 49 percent. No standard measures of value were stated.

Legislation of 1963 provides that as of Jan. 1, 1964, assessment of property in the various counties shall be at full value according to seven points of criteria to be considered and that millage rates shall be proportionately decreased. If this law is to be complied with, then why should not the law of millage limitation be amended accordingly?

For example: a high millage rate was necessary due to the low assessment prior to the 1959 reappraisal and reassessment. The total assessed taxable value of property in Seminole County for 1959 was $34,218,798 and a 41.8 mill levy produced $1,419,995 of tax revenue. This taxable value for 1959 was $162,880,852 and a 11.0 mill levy produced $1,791,489 of tax revenue, and for 1963 this taxable value of $196,146,521 with a 14.25 mill levy produced $2,794,425 of tax revenue.

Upon the completion of the 1959 reappraisal, reassessment and the decrease to an 11.0 mill levy, it was expected that new construction added to the tax rolls each year would provide the additional tax revenue required for the added demands for facilities and services. However, it has been necessary for the Board of Public Instruction to increase from the established 5.0 mills of 1959 to the present 8.25 mills. During the period of 1959 to 1962, a total of $75,056,235 estimated cost of new construction was listed on building permits issued, while the 1963 assessed taxable value of real property increased $30,793,597 over that of 1959.

Based on average annual increases since 1959, the assessed taxable value for 1964 should exceed $200,000,000 and with an expected increase in millage to be levied, I contend that the taxpayers would believe there is full justification for this proposal, and that if accomplished — even if only by a local law limiting the annual increases allowed — would encourage our existing commercial and industrial enterprises to expand and would be added inducement for others to locate in Seminole County, promoting a more diversified and stabilized economy. So would be the organization of the Seminole County Taxpayers Association as proposed in December, 1963.

British Vote In Doubt

LONDON, ENGLAND — Britain's October election has public and private commentators very much in the hedging mood.

The Conservatives have been weakened by a series of sex- and subversion scandals and their big man, Harold Macmillan, is hors de combat. Their new man, Sir Alec Douglas-Home hasn't quite acquired the nickname he hopes for — Smart Alec. The Tory prosperity is very real, but turning a little -shop worn, and the suspicion is that the British people might be in the mood for change.

But with the polls showing the Socialists as summer favorites, the same swing vote of the Undecideds which keeps American elections in doubt is operative in Britain. American officials, though officially neutral, incline to believe that Sir Alec, while no ball of fire, is superior to the Laborite Harold Wilson who, while no odd ball, may get hurt by some of the zany company that Socialism forces him to keep.

The Times of London seems to think that the old issue of public ownership is now a dead one, in that the Socialists are not so much interested in nationalizing businesses as in controlling them. Since the Conservatives do pretty much the same thing, and don't hesitate to promote public enterprise where private enterprise fails to serve the people, there is only a difference of degree in the regulation of industries.

But a small difference, as in the matter of sex, gets plenty of attention. The Socialists are charging that British firms are heavily contributing to the Tory war chest. Many corporate spokesmen are indignantly denying the accusation (fearing reprisals if the Socialists win), but Sir Alec treats it all with perfect British blandness.

"It would not surprise me," he told a rally the other day, ". . . if every enterprise in Britain subscribes to the Conservative party to keep the Socialists out."

It's noticeable to a reporter returning to England after more than a year's absence, that the term "socialist" is becoming somewhat a term of abuse here, as it is at home. The London Observer comes at this point a little obliquely by finding that the Labor Party's hope for victory in October lies partly in the hope of destroying its own image as acquired down the years. There are three surfaces, or angles, to the Labor image which its publicists seem to be trying to smudge.

Face To The Past: The British voter proved in 1959 that he is singularly bored with tales of how his father and grandfather were exploited by the Victorian money classes. World War I was the great watershed for this sort of thing. The Laborites have been twice bounced out of office for falling to look ahead instead of behind. They will have to prove that they have the answers to automation and foreign investment (which the Tories have handled pretty well) or they won't win.

Fight That Extremism: Wilson's predilection to take a trustful view of the Russians and to lean toward their disarmament has got him in a bit of a bind. The British have a sizable crackpot clique, led by fuzzy-minded philosophers like Lord Bertrand Russell and Han the Bomb exhibitionists, but these are out of fashion in an election season.

The average, prosperous Briton, whether a working man or a shopkeeper or a professional, seems to understand that it would be very poor economy to let the Defense machinery run down, and later be forced to restore it with a crash program. He may be a pacifist, but he inclines to believe that peace is best guarded by maintaining at least a semblance of military independence rather than tie himself inseparably to the tail of the American kite. The Labor Party still has to convince the British swing-voter that there is any safety in appeasement.

Pie In The Sky: British Socialists have never succeeded in making good on promises to cut taxes and provide more services. The old riddle of how to give something - for-everybody and do-more-with-less-money is still unresolved. The Undecideds rather fancy their present prospect to visions of p and Lachet.

It hardly pays any longer for an American to attempt to predict an American election. Still less should he dare to mind-read as secretive a race as the British.

The only safe forecast is that this political contest, like the recent California primary, will be subject to a last-moment trend, which no man is wise enough to anticipate.

When I watch the stone mason at his trade... then I'm sure I can shape a stone. If... I had the right tools! If... I could apply just the right driving force! But my stone always splinters, shatters. It should be easier to shape the future. Tomorrow seems so formless, so pliable. Yet there are so many tools. Which to use? So many kinds of force, of power. Which will shape, not destroy, my hopes? I am realizing fast that the vital tools must be spiritual. My Church is training me to understand, to use them. And centuries of Christian heritage convince me that the driving force ought to be spiritual. A Power that flows from God... is grasped by faith... and in the reverent hands of dedicated men will shape—rather than shatter—tomorrow.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL - ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. These are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and read your Bible daily.

On the local scene — A man carrying a watering bucket and diligently pouring the fluid on grass growing between cracks of the sidewalk.

The Herald got a pat on the back Friday when City Manager Pete Knowles called to tell us the city had just sold the 291st dog license. This was the grand total of the entire calendar year in 1963. "Last year at this time we had only sold 187 licenses," said Pete. He gives recent Herald stories and pictures the credit for the increase. Thanks, Pete. It's nice to get a rose now and then.

For a long while, plans had been in the works to hold a program on citrus grove irrigation. The dry season was upon the area. The meeting was called for last Thursday night. It was held. Mother Nature apparently didn't like people messing with her ball-wick. She dumped tons of water on the area scant hours before the meeting started. And has given almost daily encores since.

They sweated for hours the other morning on a brand new car parked at Park and First. The owner couldn't find the keys to the vehicle. And the doors were locked. After a multitude of methods were tried, the car was unlocked and a mighty harrassed driver got behind the wheel. His thoughts are discreetly censored here.

There's at least one good Samaritan on West First Street. Seems many employ-ees including those at The Herk-park their cars on Myrtle Avenue near the ACL tracks. When it rains, the man leaves his work and closes all the car windows in the parking area. From each of us: Thanks.

C. D. Perry who lives out Lake Harney way has a rather unusual sign posted in his yard. It reads "Perry-dise."

The Herald's general manager, Frank Volitoline, and his family were all packed, raring to go on their annual vacation. They were to leave Saturday for the North. Frank walked into Publisher Walter A. Gielow's office Friday afternoon and, in a not-too-happy voice was heard to say: "I'll see you Monday. Our daughter's got the mumps."

Feel like calling Japan? You can, more easily now. The first telephone cable between the United States and Japan has been placed in operation. It's the longest ever laid—stretches 5,300 miles. The new cable was designed by Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Memo to underage youths: Police are on the lookout for those who use phony identifications to obtain alcoholic beverages. Deputies arrested three the other night and they're now free on $100 bond pending legal action.

Sanford, via City Manager Pete Knowles, got a pictorial plug in the monthly publication of the "Florida Municipal Record." Pete was elected vice president of the Florida City Manager's Association at the Clearwater convention. The June issue shows him along with other officers during a break in convention bust.

Keep next Saturday open if you like having fun — safe fun. The Lions Club is all set for its annual Fun Fair on the lakefront. It'll offer a full day and part of the evening of fun for all and will be climaxed by spectacular fireworks that night.

Discussing the ringing of the "freedom bells" for the Fourth of July, Mayor A. L. Wilson suggested trying out the city's new sirens. "But be sure to give it plenty of publicity, lest people think World War III has started," he urged the press.

North Orlando Controversy Reaches Court

By Julian Grinstead
Mrs. Mona Grinstead, a member of North Orlando's Town Council, has sworn out a warrant charging Mrs. Betty Rhodes, wife of Councilman Arthur Rhodes, also of North Orlando, with violating Florida Statute 838.11, a law which prohibits "Publications which tend to expose persons to hatred, contempt, or ridicule."
Mrs. Grinstead's warrant, The Herald has learned, is directed to the publishing and distribution of the "Informers"—a controversial publication distributed by mail, allegedly by Mrs. Rhodes, in the North Orlando area.
The warrant was issued by Seminole County Judge Vernon Mize and served on Mrs. Rhodes by Chief Deputy James Singletary. Since Judge Mize was the official who issued the warrant, he is now required by law to conduct a public hearing to determine if there is sufficient evidence to hold Mrs. Rhodes for trial.
Judge Mize said that such an offense is a misdemeanor. He has not yet set a date for the hearing. He declared that he had not exercised any particular haste in this case since he was in hopes that the parties involved might settle the matter between them and that the warrant could be withdrawn.
The Herald asked Mrs. Grinstead if there was any possibility that she would drop the charges.
After conferring with her attorney, Carroll A. Burke, Mrs. Grinstead declared: "I'm sorry, I cannot drop the charges."
The Herald also contacted Mrs. Rhodes and asked if she wished to make a statement. "My attorney," she replied, "has instructed me not to discuss this matter with anyone." Her attorney is Kenneth W. McIntosh.
The statute under which the warrant was issued provides that it shall be unlawful to print, publish or distribute any material which tends to expose an individual or group to "hatred, ridicule or obloquy," unless the true name and post office address of the person or organization is clearly printed or written on the material.
It also provides that any one convicted of violating the statute may be fined up to $300, or confined to the county jail for not more than 90 days, or both.
The "Informers" was published and distributed several times in the North Orlando area and identified only by a return address listed as P. O. Box 23, Casselberry, Fla.

OFF TO CAMP were these boys and girls, members of local 4-H Clubs. They left this morning for a week of training and recreation at Camp McQuarrie. Theme of the camp is "Civil Defense." Classes on recreation, wildlife, swimming and foods will be included during the weeklong stay. Shown above are Myrtle Wilson, Home Demonstration agent, Susan Wirlick, Mary Ann Burton, Beth Bethen, Bonnie Gandy, Beth Taylor, Charlene Baker, Richard O'Dell and Bill Heim. (Herald Photo)

Jacksonville Banker's Son Found Slain

JACKSONVILLE (UPI)—The son of a prominent bank vice president was apparently murdered here last night and his body dumped on remote Seminole Beach, police said today.
Detective Chief J. C. Patrick said the body of Glenn L. Monroe was found early today by three women strolling along the beach. Police said Monroe had been shot twice, once in the back and once in the head. Seminole Beach is about 22 miles south of Jacksonville. Patrick said Monroe's wallet and car were missing.
His body was found dressed only in a sports shirt and a pair of black Bermuda walking shorts. He wore a 1963 University of Florida fraternity ring with his initials on it.
Patrick said the 23-year-old man was last seen by three friends at a downtown Jacksonville hotel at about 10:30 last night.
The detective added it appeared Monroe was shot elsewhere and brought to the beach.
Monroe was a recent graduate of the University of Florida and Patrick said the man had planned to leave next week for a teaching post in New Jersey.

Capt. Ware Retires At NAS Ceremonies

Capt. Robert M. Ware, commanding officer of Sanford Naval Air Station, retired this afternoon in special ceremonies at the naval base.
He is succeeded by Capt. Chandler W. Swanson who arrived at the station earlier this month.
Capt. Ware is completing 27 years of Navy duty. He is a 1937 graduate of the Naval Academy at Annapolis.
He was honored at a Capri Restaurant luncheon this noon and sponsored by the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce. An estimated 100 persons from throughout the county in addition to top-ranking Navy officials took part.
Capt. Ware plans to move to the Pensacola area to make his home.
Two Orlando brothers, Gene Joaly, 24, and Don Joaly, 22, were spilled in the lake during the brunt of the storm when their sailboat capsized near the bandshell. Neither were hurt.
Police said a rash of minor accidents were reported although no one suffered major injuries.
The rainfall lasted slightly more than an hour and was accompanied by severe winds, thunderclaps and lightning.

Ancient Fort Found At Cape

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Two foreign powers may have built fortifications in America's space center, but no one here is worried about it.
The Florida Anthropological Society says it has found what may be the remains of an ill-fated French fort and the foundation of an old Spanish sentinel station. Both are centuries old.
At the site of the French fort, researchers have found the remains of a ship under construction, old cannon wheels, several gold pieces, many Indian burial mounds and a well-preserved skeleton.
The fort apparently was built about 1565, the year Ponce de Leon founded St. Augustine.
At the Spanish sentinel station, the anthropologists have found a camp believed left by sailors of an armada that sailed from Cuba in 1715 and was swept onto the cape.
Hurricane hunter planes investigated the disturbance in the eastern Caribbean Sunday and after they found no evidence of circulation the Weather Bureau said no further official notices on its progress would be sent unless there is evidence of intensification.

Scranton Goes To Carolina

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI)—Gov. William Scranton arrived here today to begin his second foray into southern Goldwater country in a bid to block off the Arizona senator's drive toward the GOP presidential nomination.
The Pennsylvania governor landed in a chartered plane at 8:30 a.m. EST and was met by a cheering crowd of about 300 persons.
He went into a closed meeting with a group of North Carolina delegates to the GOP National Convention.

Drowns In Bay

CLEARWATER (UPI)—Charles Williams, 23, of St. Petersburg, apparently drowned Sunday in Old Tampa Bay.

3 Inches Of Rain Dumped On Sanford

A thunderstorm dumped about three inches of water on the Sanford area Sunday afternoon, caused a rash of accidents and upset the boat of two men sailing in Lake Monroe near the bandshell.
The heavy onslaught of rain struck the area in midafternoon and started traffic which Sheriff J. L. Hobbs described as "unusually heavy."
Radio communications were knocked out at the sheriff's department with the equipment unable to receive but not send. This condition existed for about four hours and communications were restored at about 9 p. m.
The power failure was blamed on lightning hitting the antenna.
Two Orlando brothers, Gene Joaly, 24, and Don Joaly, 22, were spilled in the lake during the brunt of the storm when their sailboat capsized near the bandshell. Neither were hurt.
Police said a rash of minor accidents were reported although no one suffered major injuries.
The rainfall lasted slightly more than an hour and was accompanied by severe winds, thunderclaps and lightning.

U. S. Warned By Red China

TOYKO (UPI)—Communist China warned today it will not simply "fold its arms" if the United States invades Communist North Viet Nam.
Peking's Ta Kung Pao (Great Fairness Newspaper) gave the warning in an editorial broadcast from Peking by the New China News Agency and monitored in Tokyo.
It said, "adjacent as it is to Indochina, and a signatory of the Geneva agreements, China will in no case fold its arms to see the Geneva agreements consigned to the dust bin, and allow the flames of war to spread to its side."
"The U. S. administration would be woefully mistaken if it deludes itself into thinking that it could do whatever it pleased in Indochina."
"No agonizing reappraisal could be of any help then if it does not wake up to the reality now."

Search Renewed In Mississippi

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (UPI)—U. S. sailors resumed the search today for three missing civil rights workers and police set up a roadblock to question local residents for some clue to their fate.
The three vanished a week ago and one state game warden participating in the massive hunt said "about 60 per cent of the people" in this rural area believe the three youths met foul play.
"About 40 per cent don't know what to believe," the warden said.

Letters Back Bryant Action

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Letters from all over the country are pouring into Governor Farris Bryant's office with comments, suggestions and criticism of the racial strife in St. Augustine.
The letters are about two to one in favor of the action Bryant has taken to promote and preserve peace in the nation's oldest city.

Bulletin

CRACOW, Poland (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said here today the assassination of President Kennedy was carried out by Lee Harvey Oswald as "a single act of one person protesting against society."
