N. Y. Manufacturer Leases Building Of Crown Paper Co.

$250,000 Annual Payroll Is Envisioned

Verbal acceptance of a lease on the Crown Paper Co. building by a New York clothing manufacturer employing 150 persons with an annual payroll of $250,000 was announced today by Bralley Odham, chairman of the Sanford Industrial Board, on the eve of a "kickoff breakfast" which will launch the drive tomorrow to raise $75,000 for Sanford Industries, Inc. A lease on the building was recently signed by Crown Paper Co. with Sanford Industries, Inc. with full authority to sub-lease, and this morning Ralph Cowan, president of the corporation, received a telephone call from the New York manufacturer who has a record of 25 years of successful operation. He would accept the Sanford proposition.

Representatives of the New York firm recently visited Sanford. In the property, made suggestions for improvements. Investigated the potential labor supply, and appeared on a radio program with Mr. Cowan and Mr. Odham with regard to the program of Sanford Industries, Inc. The campaign workers after they have been divided into geographical sections.

Rosenbergs' Hopes For Life Narrowed By Supreme Court

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court today refused for the third time to grant a hearing to condemned atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. This left as their only appeal the electric chair. A decision to tell the government any espionage secrets they may still hold.

President Eisenhower rejected their clemency pleas last February. But Justice Department sources said Saturday the Rosenbergs have said they might be able to save themselves "singing" in federal prosecutors.

The husband and wife pair were convicted more than two years ago on wartime conspiracy to transmit atomic secrets to Russia. In addition to rejecting the appeal, the high court directed that the stay of execution granted by the U. S. Circuit Court in New York Feb. 17 be vacated.

The stay had been granted to permit filing of the appeal acted on today. The Rosenbergs had been scheduled to die the week of March 9. The Justice Department presumably will ask U. S. District Judge Irving R. Kaufman in New York to fix a new execution time.

The Supreme Court's vote on the Rosenbergs' third appeal was 7-2. Justice Black and Douglas favored hearing the case. In other actions today the high tribunal:

John Pierson, above, died yesterday at the age of 61. He had attended the final session of the American Legion State Convention in Orlando yesterday morning. His body was found in Fort Mellon Park yesterday afternoon where he had gone to read and sun himself.

Dr. Frank Pyle Speaks To Rotary About Urology

Dr. Frank J. Pyle, president of the Orlando urologists association, spoke to Sanford Rotary at the Yacht Club today on "A Urologist's Ramblings" in which he outlined some of the experiences and problems connected with his profession. Declaring that a specialist should have a general practice before becoming a specialist, Dr. Pyle declared that specialists are not necessary because their fees are high pointing out the big overhead expenses their offices with large staffs and special instruments and equipment entail, and adding that out of a $5 fee doctor may actually gain for himself not more than $1 in take-home pay.

John Pierson, Civic Leader, Dies Of Heart Attack

John Pierson, prominent local civic leader, died yesterday of a heart attack in Fort Mellon Park where he had gone to read and sun himself after returning from Orlando where he had served as a local delegate to the American Legion State Convention.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced pending word from a son, George W. Pierson, a member of the Merchant Marine, who is now in France.

Two other sons—Robert Pierson, a student at Stetson University in Deland, and John Thomas Pierson of Orlando are in Sanford today. They said that in accordance with their father's wishes, they would request that any memorials to their father should be donated to the Boy Scout movement.

Mr. Pierson was born Aug. 1, 1888 at Hazleton, Pa. and had lived in Daytona Beach for about six years and in Orlando for 10 years before coming to Sanford five years ago. He was with the War Assets Administration in Daytona Beach and was a State Health Inspector in Orlando.

His final service in Sanford was as a delegate to the American Legion convention in Orlando last weekend. According to James Singletary, newly elected Sixth District commander, Mr. Pierson had been in good spirits while at the meeting and was his usual jovial self. Mr. Singletary said he hadn't heard of his friend's death until this morning and was "extremely shocked" at the news.

Ex-Treasury Head Injected Self In Liquor Tax Ruling

WASHINGTON—House investigators developed a story today that the Treasury Bureau once reversed its own specialists and gave a favorable tax ruling to a liquor industry official who then Secretary Snyder was quoted as saying that Snyder was "interested" in the thing if the Treasury could do, let's say, help them out.

A House Ways and Means subcommittee digging into tax frauds, went into the case as part of an inquiry of the extent to which "high Treasury officials" may have intervened in tax cases during the Truman administration.

The committee first heard testimony from technical tax experts. They then had counsel read excerpts from a transcript of telephone conversations between Snyder and a lobbyist for a liquor industry official who then Secretary Snyder was quoted as saying that Snyder was "interested" in the thing if the Treasury could do, let's say, help them out.

American Red Cross To Relay Messages

The American Red Cross, with the approval of the Department of the Army and Air Force, has been authorized to relay by rapid communications the messages involving the members of the immediate family of servicemen in these two branches of the service who are stationed overseas.

According to Mrs. Velma Gonzalez, executive secretary for the local chapter, this service will be inaugurated next Monday. This extension of service is being undertaken because it is believed that it will have a beneficial effect on the morale of service personnel. It does not apply to the Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard because the use of Naval communications facilities is available to those personnel.

New Era Born As Artillery Fires 1st Atom Shell

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—The first firing of an atomic shell from the United States' 280-millimeter cannon came off brilliantly today, signaling the beginning of a new era in artillery warfare.

The nuclear shell burst 500 feet above a target of tall trees, road cars and military equipment on Fort Ord, 65 miles north-west of Las Vegas.

The long awaited shot from "Atomic Annie" apparently proved artillery experts' contention that the huge gun can handle nuclear as well as conventional ammunition.

TALLAHASSEE—The Senate today passed, 48-14, and sent back to the House the administration backed bill increasing the state's take from dog racing tracks.

The House, which previously adopted the bill, must concur in an amendment, approved by Gov. McCarty, which would permit the tracks to keep the 100,000 annual they net get from the old penny, after mutual payouts to the nearest time.

Before adopting the bill, the Senate heat down 48-14, an amendment by Sen. McArthur, of Oklawaha, which would have softened the impact of the bill.

It would have cut the increased take to the lowest bracket of the graduated scale to give the state more and the tracks less of the 17 cents withheld from every dollar bet by the public.

Good Yield Seen In Sweet Potato Areas Of Florida

WINTER HAVEN (Special)—Sweet potato packing operations will get underway this week for the first time on the Fort Pierce State Farmers' Market. Of the estimated 1200 to 1500 acres in the Fort Pierce-Indiantown area some 400 to 500 acres will be processed at the Fort Pierce Market and with continued favorable weather a good yield of excellent quality potatoes is anticipated and the movement will likely continue through June and July. M. E. Williams, Manager, reported today. "During the past weekly report period ending May 19, 33,722 crates of tomatoes moved through this market with F.O.B. prices of $10.00 on best quality in 50 pound wire bound crates for 6x6 and larger".

he stated. "The past week ended the Spring tomato deal and while receipts for the Spring deal compared favorably with the 1952 receipts, unfavorable weather conditions affected the bumper crop expected at the beginning of the season".

Other markets reporting to L. H. Lewis, Director of State Markets, show good crop conditions exist in the Starke State Farmers' Market area with the sweet corn and pepper deal getting off to a good start last week with quality and demand good and volume steadily increasing. Peas, butterbeans and Ford Hooks will begin moving this week. A very light volume of strawberries brought an average of $5.00 per crate the past week. The Brooksville State Farmers' Market reports the cucumber crop about over as unfavorable weather cut the crop short about 75%. Pepper, butterbeans, corn, blackeye and crowder peas are moving in fair volume at good demand. During the past weekly report period 15,755 units brought growers $32,065.90.

Extensive gunnery, navigational, engineering and operational exercises were conducted during the cruise. The group visited ports in North Africa, Sicily, France, Greece, Cyprus and Gibraltar.

Rural Common Sense By SPUDS JOHNSON

Tractor accidents are increasing with the increased number and use of tractors on farms in Florida and elsewhere. The National Safety Council estimates that there are from 600 to 700 accidental fatalities and 20,000 to 30,000 non-fatal injuries with tractors in the United States annually. Tractors seem to be involved in about one-third of the non-fatal machinery accidents and over one-half of all the fatal mishaps with machinery. At least one-third of all tractor accidents occur on the highway. The average cost of non-fatal machinery accidents is about $60 for medical expenses and 20 days lost time. Some of the common causes of tractor accidents are listed here: Overtaking accounts for more than half of all the tractor accident fatalities. Losing control of the tractor due to excessive speed is the principal reason for side slips. Forcing tractors out of ditches, rear wheels tend to become "anchored", accounts for most of the backward tipping casualties. Traffic collisions, under-age operators, extra riders, children playing around tractors, falls, getting "run over" or "crushed between" and unguarded power take-offs also take a large portion of the victims each year. Collision with stationary objects, fires, improper cranking, and lightning, are some of the many other causes that show up in the records. All these tragedies could be avoided if operators would just apply good common sense. The tractor is a necessary piece of machinery on the Florida farm, but it doesn't need to be a dangerous one.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

This is probably the earliest record of clairaudience and clairvoyance in recorded history. It was handed down by word of mouth probably before the alphabet was invented. Story tellers were the first historians. And then the Lord opened the eyes of Helaam, and he saw the angel of the Lord standing in the way.—Numbers 22:11-31.

PLAINS DRIVE
(From The Colorado Quarterly)
SPACE and sweep and speed and silence—Oh, these are Wonderful good, Riding in a car Seventy miles an hour.

Over black and brown, By grain, by gold, by green Only rarely here, Where the light and air Lift the heavy mood.
Even the great, the strong, We have heard, go down To the deep, dark water, black and very bitter. Here no water lies, No great mountains rise.

We must turn, we know, Back where we belong, Toward the little town At the mountain's base, Facing peak and cloud.

Turn southwestward, face Slant of storm, and loud rushing mighty wind, Only, as we go, Keeping in the mind Sweep and speed and space, Light and quietude.

ROLFE HUMPHRIES
Allied headquarters are working on a revised Korean truce plan to be presented to the Reds on a "now or never" basis. This "now or never" approach may sound bold for us but the Comies have learned from long experience that we don't really mean it, that we are stuck with Korea, the alternatives being to pursue a war we are hesitant to win or negotiate a peace we are loathe to accept.

"Spare the rod and spoil the child has no place in the philosophy of life of Howard Burnell of Chesterton, Ind. and his family. They are suing two school teachers there for $60,000 because they used what the AP aptly calls "the board of education"—a yard long, an inch thick and all wood—to install a little respect for authority into their son. Such a board undoubtedly can be applied too vigorously, but it can also collect too much dust if left standing indefinitely in the corner.

He first served for a year with the original NLRB set up under the National Industrial Recovery Act and then for six years on the NLRB established by the Wagner Labor Relations Act and for three years as commissioner of labor and industries for Massachusetts and was an appointee of the late President Roosevelt as an official U. S. observer at the Geneva International Labor Conference; but Edwin S. Smith refused to tell Senate investigators if he was a Communist while holding any of these jobs. Maybe he wasn't a Communist, but in our book his silence convicts him.

The Legislature has just passed a bill tightening up on requirements for a fortune teller's license, making it necessary for clairvoyants to be registered voters of the county in which they crystal gaze, to be residents of Florida for at least two years, and requiring them to produce five witnesses as to their good character. This is a good law and anyone who is inclined to feel sorry for the members of this profession or thinks, perhaps, that they are being unduly penalized in their efforts to earn a living, should remember that fortune tellers are skilled in occult science, that they know in advance which way the stock market is going, what place of real estate will profit in value during the next year, what one of their clients will do, and how much they will make, and so on with all their advantages.

Organized Gambling

The slaying of Orlando gambler Ed Miami in typical gangland style points up a lesson to Seminole County which it would be well for everyone to heed. The murder of a man is bad enough but the implication that his slaying was the result of a sanguinary struggle for control of the numbers racket adds to its seriousness and should arouse us to the evils of organized gambling and beatr us in our efforts to see that our community does not become involved.
We have heard some respected citizens maintain that a few dollars now and then for a bolita ticket is not particularly harmful; we have even heard it contended that the numbers boys and their customers contribute to the economic well-being by keeping money in circulation. These are specious arguments but they do give an idea how crime is sometimes excused.

Gambling, first of all, in most of its phases, is unlawful and those who make a livelihood out of such illegal enterprises almost always fall into the general pattern of degradation which starts with a more or less easy buck and proceeds through the varying stages of official bribery, violence over control of certain territories, and then gangland war with murder inevitable.

The most effective way to prevent the development of what happened in Orlando is to see that the seeds don't get started in the first place. If the petty gamblers are not allowed to operate, if their activities are constantly harassed, if their efforts cannot become lucrative, then the urge for gang organization, corruption, violence and murder does not arise.

It is up to our law enforcement officers, our civic leaders and our good citizens to be always alert in preventing Sanford and Seminole County from becoming a mecca for shady characters who start by taking money and end up taking lives.

Sound Sense

In his fireside talk to the American people President Eisenhower said plainly that there will be no income tax cuts before next January 1. He also said that he wants the excess profits tax, which is scheduled to expire on June 1, to be extended for six more months.

The President would like to reduce taxes immediately and do away with the excess profits tax. He has said so repeatedly. But he has also said that a balanced budget comes first. In taking this stand he demonstrates good sense and judgment. It is never wise to reduce income until spending can be brought in line.

Some Congressmen, however, are determined to push a bill which would make income tax cuts effective immediately. These legislators have hinted that if they are frustrated in their effort to push through tax cuts they will delay legislation which the administration wants passed as soon as possible.

Why not give the President and his advisors a chance? They have studied the problem and have reached the conclusion that no immediate tax relief is possible without cutting down on defense spending to the extent that our security might be endangered. Last November the American people demonstrated their confidence in the judgment and ability of President Eisenhower by giving him a decisive majority. Congress should be willing to demonstrate the same confidence at least until there is some reason to believe that it is misplaced.

As soon as it is possible taxes should be reduced. But the reductions should not be made with such haste that other factors such as national security and economic stability are forgotten in the rush.

Singing Judge

As a United States Court of Appeals Judge, Learned Hand won an enviable reputation. Recently it was revealed that he is not without other talents. The Library of Congress released an album of folk music. Two of the ballads in the album are sung by former Judge Hand.

The ballads recorded by the jurist are "The Iron Merrimac" and "Phil Sheridan"—both popular during and after the War Between the States. Judge Hand heard the songs when he was a boy and remembered them.

For a long time no effort was made to collect American folk music. It was considered by most musicians and music lovers as not very important. But in recent years many people have come to realize that the type of songs people sing tell something about the kind of people they are.

The Library of Congress is making an effort to get as much of our folk music recorded as possible. Much of it has already been forgotten and lost. It is well to see an attempt made to preserve whatever traces remain of this part of our cultural heritage.

Defense Secretary Called Square Peg

MIAMI (AP)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson is a "square peg in a round hole who may get President Eisenhower in a lot of trouble," Sen. George Smathers says.

The Florida senator told news-men during an interview Sunday that "Wilson can't even convince the Republicans that we can cut five billion dollars from the Air Force budget and still have enough left to run."

THE JUDGE WILL DECIDE

Housholder Explains Why Suit Was Started To Collect Sheriff's Fees

Ernest Housholder, attorney of Sheriff J. L. Hobby in the litigation growing out of fees presented for payment to the County Commission, issued a statement Saturday afternoon shortly before leaving for Tallahassee, explaining his side of the controversy.

"The County Commissioners, after first declining to pay the fees upon advice of their attorney, consented Tuesday morning to pay them, but after being served with a writ of mandamus Tuesday afternoon, decided to leave the matter in the hands of the court."

"The procedure I have taken will present the cause in a proper manner to Judge Smith and when he speaks that will not just be an opinion but will be the law of the case."

"The writ simply commands the County Commissioners the fees represented by his cost bills or how Judge Smith a legal reason why they refuse."
"I might say that so far as I understand the Attorney General does not have anything to do with disputes between County Officials and that his opinion would not be binding upon either party and would not be the law, as only the Court can construe the law and make it effective."
"When this case has been presented to the Court I will be glad to give to the interested citizens the facts and the law involved therein, inasmuch as it involves our interest and officials."

Protect Your Ears When Swimming

By W. V. HITTING
Touchton Drug Co.

Germs in the water cause ear infections, and they are more dangerous when they enter through the nasal passage. So one of the best precautions is to breathe through the mouth and exhale only through the nose.

Bathing caps do not keep germs out, ear plugs or cotton do a good job. Leave the water before your body is chilled, and avoid catching cold and lowering your resistance to infection. Don't swim in contaminated water.

A reliable pharmacist never prescribes medicine but he will help you in any way he can.

Violence Erupts In Syracuse Plant Of General Electric

By The Associated Press
Violence broke out today on the nation's labor scene, where strikes have made more than 100,000 workers idle.

Three pickets and a sheriff's deputy were injured at Syracuse, N. Y., when white collar workers passed through picket lines at two strike-bound General Electric Company plants. Four members of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers were held for questioning.

GE, which had invited its 4,000 salaried employes to return, said 675 white collar workers had passed through 500 to 1,000 pickets. There were reports that pickets turned back hundreds of others.

Some 7,000 GE production workers represented by IUE struck seven weeks ago over local grievances.

The first break in a series of sporadic strikes that have crippled a large segment of the auto industry came Sunday when a CIO United Auto Workers local in Detroit ended a walkout at the Buick Co., caused by a jurisdictional dispute between its units.

The end of the walkout, called off on orders from the UAW International, is expected to permit some 44,000 Chrysler workers to return to their jobs in a day or two.

However, a strike at the Ford Motor Company's forging plant in Canton, O., has kept 85,000 workers in the Ford system idle. Another strike at the Warner Gear Co. in Muncie, Ind., has affected auto production at Studebaker, Willys, Nash and some General Motors plants.

About 8,000 AFL brewery workers stayed off the job in Newark, N. J., while their joint board met to map strategy in a dispute with its breweries over retroactive wages. The company offered a 23-cent hourly boost that would bring minimum weekly wages to $93.50 to $74.50, a company spokesman said. The union wants the strike boost retroactive to April 1, 1953.

The St. Louis building industry, nearly paralyzed by a truck drivers strike, suffered a new blow to the tax collector he would notify you by mail and then if you still didn't pay up he would declare it delinquent. After that he would file a tax lien on the property with the clerk of the Circuit Court.

Anytime within two years, you—and no one else—could pay up your taxes, pay 12 per cent on the tax amount the first year and 6 per cent the second year and get your property back.

The collector would refuse to accept any current taxes until you had settled up with him on back taxes.

Actually you could repossess the property by paying up anytime up until the minute of its sale by the county. It probably would take another six months after the two-year period of delinquency before the property would be sold.

The proposed overhaul of handling tax properties would stop sale of all tax certificates to the public after Jan. 1, 1954.

Save the property is sold at a public sale. The county then would give the new owner a title. Sponsors of the bill say the title would be airtight and there would be no clouds on it. These sponsors claim you can't say the same for tax deeds issued under present law.

Proposed changes in the delinquent property sale law are included in a bulky bill which would bring up to date all laws pertaining to ad valorem taxes.

The revision or recodification eliminates 54 obsolete sections of law pertaining to property taxes, some of the old laws which would be taken off the books date back to 1907.

The bill, worked on for four years by interim legislative committees, was put into the house by Rep. Williams, Seminole County; and in the Senate by Sen. Gaultier, New Smyrna Beach.

It runs on the Senate calendar. A House sub-committee headed by Rep. Fee, St. Lucie County, is studying the measure and has prepared several amendments, most of them of a minor nature.

County tax officials and clerks of courts in larger counties have been the bill's strongest backers. Those who like the bill say it will eliminate speculators in tax certificates, reduce costs by abolishing the present legal provision that delinquent tax rolls be published and the general public will benefit on proceeds from delinquent property rather than just one individual as at present.

Opponents say it will put counties into the real estate business.

Today when about 500 AFL ironworkers went out, demanding a 23-cent hourly pay boost.

Veteran Legislator Suffers Hemorrhage

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Rep. Charles E. Sheppard, veteran St. Johns County legislator, is in a critical condition at Tallahassee Memorial Hospital after a cerebral hemorrhage.

He was stricken with a slight attack Friday and taken to the hospital, where his condition worsened after an intestinal hemorrhage Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Sheppard said it will be perhaps 48 hours before the doctors can fully diagnose his condition.

Sheppard, who is president of the Record Press, St. Augustine job printing establishment, is serving his fifth term as a member of the House.

He has been in ill health since he was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage 13 months ago.
