Tornado Twister Rips Power Poles, Bounces Mobile Home

By Deane Jordan Herald Staff Writer When the driving rain Monday afterneen began to "sting like needles" Kevin hancy sought shelter in his sister's mobile home.

That was seconds before a tornado gripped the trailer with violent winds shaking everything in the home --Haney, his brother-in-law included like dice between your hands.

At exactly 2:36 p.m. - the time the electrical clock in the trailer stopped - a tornado travelling west to east touched down a few hundred feet west of Cameron Avenue west of Midway and right next to a trailer owned by Kevin Rhoden, 23, and his wife Tammi.

The twister shook the home like a rattle moving it a yard northeast before crossing Cameron Avenue snapping four powerpoles, two near the ground, two close to the top.

The downed lines, repaired by Florida Power & Light by 7:15 p.m. were main transmission lines to Deltona, Osteen, and Lake Ashby, leaving the 1,900 customers in those areas without electricity for approximatedly five hours.

According to Al Montgomery, district general manager for the company, the shattered poles were specially treated new poles that could easily withstood winds of 60 m.p.h. He said only the winds of a tornado could have snapped them off.

Inside the trailer, both Haney and Rhoden were bounced around it what Haney described as resembling a crazy house. Mrs. Rhoden was not at home at the time.

Hancy said he rushed into the trailer. which sits east to west, to get out of the painful rain and walked to the kitchen located west of the trailer's center. As he turned around the tornado bounced the trailer up and down three or four feet several times sending furniture flying. knocking everything off surfaces, flinging doors open and closed, and shaking anthing loose towards the east end of the home.

"The refrigerator door opened and hit me, I turned around and it opened again and hit me again. I got a big knot on the back side of my head," Haney said.

Snapped like kindling, a pole selected and treated to easily withstand 60 m.p.h. winds.

the east to the west end.

The contents were not insured, she said. Between her husband's accident and the tornado, she added, she was not going to remember February as a good month.

A cat in the house, called "KC" was uninjuried.

Elsewhere in the county heavy rains accumulating to three-quarters of an inch and high winds caused several car accidents, trees on power lines, and sporatic power outages.

According to the National Weather Service in Daytona Beach, Seminole County was in the path of a 100-mile wide squall line heading southeast Monday afternoon at 20 to 25 miles per hours. Within the the 100-mile path several thunder storms were brewing and travelling northeast at 45 to 50 m.p.h. fed by an 11-degree difference in temperature on the two sides of the squall line.

Hardest hit was Seminole County and south Volusia county, according to the weather bureau.

In Longwood and Apopka, several thousand residents were without electricity until 11 p.m. Monday night as repair crews of the Florida Power Corporation worked to repair down lines.

Standing where her mobile home used to rest before a tornado bounced it from its tie downs, Tammi Rhoden shows where winds knocked it off its blocks at one end, leaving the other several feet higher.

Aftermath inside the Rhoden home...dumped out drawers, strewn cupboard contents, furniture turned over.

The EDB Legacy – Saltwater Intrusion Into Sanford Well

By Donna Estes Herald Staff Writer

Just when Sanford thought it had the EDB crisis licked, another problem stemming from the infiltration of the deadly cancer-causing pesticide into city wells surfaced - saltwater intrusion into one of three municipal well fields

At Monday's city commission meeting, City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles revealed that one well in the old well field off U.S. Highway 17-92 and Airport Boulevard is pumping chloride (salt) at the rate of 230 parts per million of water.

"If it gets to 250 parts per million, it will have to be shut down," Knowles said.

The well has already been taken out of operation in the hope that it will recharge liself with water from the underground wells and to replace the water supply lost because of the contamination. The state has agreed to pay the city $40,000 to defray some of the costs of connecting two privatelyowned irrigation wells to the city system.

• Agreeing to take an option to purchase 24-acres, located about 1,200 feet from the Mayfair well field, for $292,500 from Patricia Stenstrom for a new well field.

The purchase will be contingent upon approval by the St. Johns River Water Management District of the site and test results showing the property is appropriate for a well field. Knowles said the city could drill a maximum of five wells on the property.

• Turning down a suggestion from Mayor Lee R. Moore that the Stenstrom property be purchased jointly with Lake Mary and be operated as a regional water system. Knowles insisted Sanford will need the water produced there, about 5 million gallons daily according to his estimate, for its own growth and to replace water from the Mayfair well field if EDB shows up again in the wells there.

• Telling Colbert to prepare an ordinance to require Lake Mary, Midway-Canaan Water District and the Indian Mound water district to pay Sanford a $332.30 fee for each new unit connected to their systems served with Sanford city water. The $332.30 includes the per-unit fee of $265 already being paid by Sanford developers and homeowners plus a 25 percent premium allowed under state law. Moore noted that Lake Mary has agreed to pay the county a $425 connection fee for each of the 61 houses in the new proposed Country Downs housing development which is to be served by county-water.

• Ordering Colbert to prepare an ordinance hiking the city's water and sewer connection fees from $1,150 per unit to $1,925 to help pay the cost of expanding the water system to meet the demands of growth.

"I thought the trailer was going to roll over and I was getting ready to go with it," he said.

The 24-year-old man received almost identical cuts to each side of his face near the cheek bones from the refrigerator door.

Meanwhile, Rhoden, uninjuried but recovering from being run over by a tractor two weeks ago, was sitting on a couch on the north side of the home when the jumping trailer flung a large portable television set at him forcing him to leap out of the way.

Rhoden said his first thought was to get outside the trailer and into a nearby waterfilled canal but that the ruckus was over with before he got to the door.

Mrs. Rhoden returned a few minutes after the wind-funnel swept through to find the contents of her home destroyed - furniture broken, cubbards empty, dishes smashed, Jars and boxes of food broken, and her trailer three-feet off its hold-downs with an up-hill walk from

Among the seven cities in the county, Altamonte Springs reported the most weather-related traffic accidents with six fender-benders. Lake Mary police reported two storm-flung trees blocking roads and one tree causing a power outage. Casselberry had one power line knocked down by the high wind and Longwood reported a tree down but discovered several hours after the storm passed. Oviedo and Winter Springs reported no weather-related incidents and the Sanford Fire Department responded to one tree against a power line at 2572 French Avenue. The Sanford Police department had not sorted their calls from Monday to determine how many weather-related calls they received.

According to a county spokesman, Seminole fire units responded to 16 calls between 2 and 5 p.m. including minor accidents, trees across roads, and power lines down.

No damage was reported at the Sanford Airport or by the Florida Highway Patrol.

Knowles cautioned commissioners that the entire well field must be so 'rested.' He said the eight wells at the 17-92/Airport Boulevard field have been pumped continually to capacity since the New Year's holiday weekend when all but one well at the Mayfair Golf Course was shut down because of EDB contamination.

That continuous heavy pumping has depleted fresh water supplies in the one well, allowing salt water to intrude.

Armed with Knowles' warning, the commission took several steps Monday designed to expand the city's water system to produce more water and to offset costs of the EDB contamination. Those steps include:

Instructing City Attorney Bill Colbert to determine how the city can best recover from the state part of the cost associated with salvaging the seven ethylene dibromide contaminated city wells at the golf course. The city so far has spent or committed to spend more than $600,000 to rehabilitate the

Court: Schools Can Discriminate

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Supreme Court ruled today that colleges that do not receive federal ald need not follow antidiscrimination law in all educational programs, even if students at the college receive federal financial help.

The ruling was a setback for women's rights groups and a victory for the Reagan administration, which supported a private college in arguing against broad application of federal civil rights laws to private colleges and universities.

Grove City College, a 107-year-old liberal arts institution in Mercer County, Pa. has been battling with federal education officials for five years over its refusal to sign an anti-sex discrimination pledge.

At issue was whether a college must comply with Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 if it does not receive federal funds but its students do. Title IX prohibits sex discrimination "in any education program or activity receiving federal financial assistance."

The court unanimously upheld a lower court ruling that said the school must abide by Title IX anti-discrimination guidelines in its Anancial aid programs. But the court with Justices Thurgood Marshall and William Brennan dissenting - said that the guidelines cannot be imposed on all academic programs at the school just because some students receive government aid.

Most To Repay Renovation Loan

County Divvies Surplus $1.5m

By Britt Smith Herald Staff Writer

Faced with a budget surplus of nearly $1.5 million, Seminole County Commissioners have tentatively agreed to divide the leftovers among office renovation, next year's contingency fund, and repayment of money borrowed last year from an Internal account which provides money for indigent health care.

At a Monday workshop session, commissioners also set a meeting next week with the contractor renovating the old Seminole Memorial Hospital building into county office space to find out why he's running three weeks behind schedule.

It was the consensus of the commission that $855,963 borrowed last year from a special fund set up with proceeds from the sale of the old SMH building, money which was used for renovation of the building into new county office space - be repaid.

A $250,397 slice of the surplus will be used to pay for additional renovation of the SMH building, with the remaining $355,462 earmarked for next year's contingency fund to pay unexpected expenses.

Replenishing the special hospital fund was one of the first ideas mentioned when the surplus was brought to commissioners' attention two weeks ago. The fund was established with the $5.4 million received from the Hospital Corporation of America when it moved out of SMH and built a new facility --Central Florida Regional Hospital - which opened last year fronting Lake Monroe.

A total of $2.2 million of the fund has been designated to pay for a new county health clinic near Zayre's Plaza in Sanford, but what made repayment of the $855,963 so important was that interest from the fund is used to pay medical care costs ior indigent patients at CFRH.

And according to Eleanor Anderson, director of the county's Office of Management and Budget, anticipated growth in the cost of such services is expected to deplete the fund within five years. Raiding the fund without repayment would have caused the indigent care monies to dry up even quicker, she said.

While the commission's plan for divvying up the $1.5 million surplus seemed pretty well set at Monday's meeting, a date for a public hearing on the matter was to be set today to formally adopt the proposal.

The surplus, which has prompted commission chairman Sandra Glenn to say there will be no property tax hike next year, was created by a combination of frugal spending and unexpected hikes in various revenue sources.

One such source of revenue this year may be a $500-a-day fine against Gulf Seaboard of Jacksonville for delays in completing renovation of the old SMH building for county office space.

No fines have been levied so far, "but that doesn't mean we won't go back and do that," County Administrator T. Duncan Rose said.

Gulf officials and commissioners are scheduled to meet March 6 "so we can find out what the problem La. ** Mrs. Glenn said. "The contractor has complained about problems with the architect or delays In signing change orders, which we must do."

The county staff, however, has said that Gulf employees are not being properly supervised and some of the work is shoddy.

Commissioner Bob Sturm said he visited the site last week and could locate only 12 of the 32 workers logged in as being on the job. County Construction Manager H. L. VerHalen said many of the workers are signing in and then leaving for other jobs.

Rose said the contractor claims he can make up the lost time and still have the building ready for occupancy by early summer. That is, providing county employees don't start moving into the building in phases beginning in mid-April as planned

A decision on whether to go ahead with the phased in move, expected to take about four months, or do it all at once may be made after the March 8 meeting.

DeDe Schaffner, cochairman of the development council, said an all-out push is underway to raise that $2,000 which must be in the bank before closing of regular office hours Wednesday.

The money will be used to buy new technical equipment and to update equipment, sald Mrs. Schaffner, an alumnus of the school.

She said those wishing to make last minute contributions may call SCC President Earl Weldon or Dean James Sawyer at 323-1450.

So far the donations are running from a low of $10 to a high of $8,000 from Central Florida Regional Hospital.

The state is matching local contributions on a basis of $4 for each $6 raised locally.

Wednesday is the final day of the three-week long drive.

Shattered near ground level, one of four power poles on Cameron Avenue fell across the road onto a chain-link fence dropping several feeder lines to the ground causing a five-hour power shortage in Osteen and Deltona.

AT&T Asks FCC To Reconsider Access Charge

WASHINGTON (UPI) - American Telephone & Telegraph Co. asked the Federal Communications Commission to reconsider its recent decisions on access charges, saying they are unfair and will cut the company's carnings by more than half.

AT&T said Monday the decisions, particularly one that gives its long-distance competitors such as MCI and Sprint a 55 percent discount on the rates they pay for their connection to local telephone lines, will lower AT&T's return on its investment from 11 percent to a point below of percent --- a level it called "confiscatory."

The company's return on equity would fail even lower - to between 2 percent and 3 percent, the filing said.

The petition filed late Monday had been expected, but it paints AT&T's situation as even more bleak than AT&T president Charles Brown described a week and a half ago. Brown then said the rates outlined in the orders would drive the company's earnings down to "about half" the company's authorized rate of return -"severely below the range of reasonablesness."

Governors' Deficit-Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The National Governors Association's four-day meeting ends today with votes on deficit reduction and acid rain two issues that illustrate the governors' feisty new attitude and the gulf that separates the states from the federal establishment.

The governors conveyed their views to President Reagan at the White House and to several high-ranking administration officials at their conference committee meetings Monday. Today, they vote on an updated version of a deficit reduction plan first approved last summer at Portland, Me. It calls for budget cuts, including restraints on defense spending and revenue increases, which could include tax hikes, to get the predicted $308 billion 1989 deficit down to no more than $120 billion.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Winter's biggest storm plowed across the Midwest and Great Lakes Monday, plastering Missouri with up to 21 inches of snow. The blizzard like storm blamed for 11 deaths was poised to strike the Northeast. Monday night snow extended from northeastern Oklahoma across much of Illinois into Pennsylvania and western New York state. The storm system's high winds, cold temperatures and heavy snows were blamed for 11 deaths from Texas to Florida and the Great Lakes. By Monday night, the storm had dumped up to 21 inches of anow in central Missouri, 15 Inches in Northern Arkansas and 13 inches in central Illinois. The storm was especially dangerous because of its slow pace, which gave the system time to collect more moisture as it moved from the Gulf of Mexico toward the Atlantic Ocean. The storm system brewed heavy rains, high winds and tornadoes throughout the eastern Gulf Coast. A blast of cold winter weather brought predictions for snow flurries in north Louisiana Monday and prompted Carnival parade-goers in the South to bundle up against cold winds and temperatures In the 40s.

New Hampshire Democrats, in the nation's first presidential primary, today decide the extent of Mondale's grasp on his party's front-runner status, and whether Hart or John Glenn will become his chief rival.

The crucial showdown among the eight contenders for the Democratic nomination rests, to some degree, on the weather - with forecasts of snow and sleet threatening to dampen the size of the turnout.

Far more is at stake than selection

An impressive Mondale win would make his momentum difficult to stop. A stumble, as many frontrunners have done in New Hampshire, would bring a challenger to the forefront.

"I'm not taking anything for granted," said Mondale of the voters of a state historically gruff with presidential front-runners. "I think the reason I've done well is that I'm a person who has kept his promises." On the last full day of campaigning before today's balloting began, Hart and Glenn jockeyed to persuade voters to jump on their bandwagons.

Adulterers Will Be Stoned To Death

ABU DHABI, United Arab Emirates (UPI) - A couple who had illicit sex will be stoned to death. but the sentence will not be carried out until after the woman gives birth to her baby, the semi-official Emirates News reported today.

The newspaper said the sentence was passed on the couple - both Asians working in the Gulf state - by an Islamic judge under the United Arab Emirates Sharia (Islamic) law.

Indian cook Kondila B.K., 27, and Sri Lankan housemaid Shahila H.A., 25, both married to other people in their native lands, admitted having 'sexual intercourse several times," the Emirates News reported.

The woman is six months pregnant and the newspaper said Shahila's employer reported the case to the police after she could no longer "conceal her pregnancy."

Judge Sheikh Mohammed Idris of Al Ain city. about 100 miles cast of Abu Dhabi, said Shahila will be stoned to death after "delivering and weaning her baby."

The sentence, believed the first of its kind in the history of the conservative nation, is subject to ratification by chief Sharlah Justice and President Sheikh Zayed Bin Sultan al Nahyan.

Islamic law states that married Moslems who engage in adultery should be stoned to death in public. The couple would have received 100 lashes each if they were not married, or deported if non-Moslem foreigners.

Sanford Woman, Daughter Injured In Collision

A Sanford woman remains in Central Florida Regional Hospital today suffering from injuries sustained in an accident Monday night when her car collided head-on with another car on state Road 427 south of Sanford.

According to a hospital spokesman, Mrs. Marsha Gruby, 36, of Rt. 2, box 4911, Sanford, is in stable condition with neck and chest injuries at the hospital and her daughter, Jennifer, 11, a passenger in the car, was discharged today after being treated overnight for cuts and bruises.

Florida Highway Patrol Trooper R. Davis said Mrs. Gruby and her daughter were travelling west on S.R. 427 near Nolan Road when an eastbound car driven by Elenor Elchorn, 67, of 519 E. 1st St., crossed into the westbound lane and struck Mrs. Gruby's car head-on. Ms. Elchorn was treated and released from the hospital. Ms. Elchorn's 1977 four-door Oldsmobile received

$1,100 worth of damage and Ms. Gruby's 1983 Oldsmobile station wagon received $1,500 worth of damage

Ms. Eichorn was cited for failure to use due care.

BHOOTING

A 19-year-old Altamonte Springs man was shot in the groin by a gunman who fired into Nelson's Pool Hall, 40 North St., Altamonte Springs, at about 8 p.m. Sunday.

Alexis D. Cleveland of 303 Teakwood Lane, Altamonte Springs, said he was playing Pac-man when he saw the other customers in the pool hall run for the back door. Cleveland told sheriff's investigators that he ducked behind the game machine, but felt a bullet from the only shot fired hit him in the groin.

He was taken to Florida Hospital-Altamonte, by said. Penny Oalkey Stone, 26, and Richard Kirk Foshee, 22, were charged in the case and tests on the suspect materials allegedly found in their possession identified the materials as cocaine and marijuana, the police report said.

CONCEALED GUN

A 42-year-old Orlando man stopped for a traffic check was charged for carrying a concealed weapon after an officer allegedly saw him try to hide a .38 caliber handgun beneath his feet on the floorboard of his vehicle.

The man was stopped on Bunnel Road at State Road 431, Altamonte Springs, at about 9:10 p.m. Sunday after his car failed to maintain a single lane on Bunnel Road, according to Altamonte Springs police.

During a license check when the man appeared to be trying to conceal something on the floor of the car, the officer ordered him out of the vehicle and reportedly found the handgun.

David Lee Jones posted a $5,000 bond and was ounty jall. He is schedu released from the Seminole C

$1,200 motor and a $35, six-gallon gas tank from his father's boat, which was parked at his home. The theft occurred around 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, a sheriff's report said.

Steve Rice, 34, of 839 Canterberry Drive, Lake Mary, reported that $1,500 worth of plywood, studs, paneling and roofing paper were taken from a construction site off Interstate 4 on north State Road 46, in northwest Seminole County. The items which were taken Tuesday or Wednesday belonged to Rice Properties, Inc., 111 Cove Ridge Lane, Longwood, according to a sherriff's report.

Rick Allen Steele, 38. of 124 E. Osceola Road, Geneva. reported that a thief ransacked his house and took $2,275 worth of Items including jewelry, three shotguns and four revolvers. The thief, who entered the mobile home through a den window, apparently cut himself and used a diaper and bedspread, which were left behind, to catch the blood. The break-in occurred around 6:04 p.m. Wednesday, a sheriff's report said.

A $600 air compressor, a drill and spray gun valued at $100 each and a $30 radio were taken by a thief who entered the home of Michael C. Hoening, 33, G.G. Sylvan Drive, Sanford. The thief entered the home through a rear sliding glass door Tuesday or Wednesday and Hoening reported to the sheriff's department that he found tire tracks leading from his home to a wooded area behind his house.

DRUG CHARGES

An Orlando couple charged with possession of cocaine and marijuana posted $8,000 bond each and were released from the Seminole County Jall.

The pair were arrested 3:56 a.m. Saturday by an Altamonte Springs police officer who spotted them in a van in the parking lot of the Hotline Bottle Club, 803 State Road 436, Altamonte Springs, as they were apparently preparing cocaine for use, a police report said.

The officer, on foot patrol, said he looked into the open driver's side door through an outside mirror on the van and saw a woman rolling up a $20 bill. This, he said, indicated to him that she was preparing to use cocaine. On further investigation the policeman said he saw an ashtray with four lines of white powder on it between the two occupants of the van. A $20 bill was on the floor and a hand-rolled cigarette and a small bag of white powder were on the dashboard of the vehicle, his report to appear in court on March 16. FIRE ARREST

Harriett Lea Henderson, 20, Markham Woods Road, Sanford, was cited by a sheriff's deputy at 1:19 p.m. Thursday for allegedly setting a fire in her backyard and leaving it unattended. The fire allgedly got out of control and burned 15 acres, a sheriff's report said. BURGLARIES

Lac Hong Rham, 35. of #1 Spring St., Altamonte Springs, reported that a thief broke a west window of his home using a pool cue, which was found outside the house, entered and took five watches and a camera with a combined value of $1,490. The break-in occurred between 10 a.m. and 1:57 p.m. Thursday, according to a sheriff's report.

Joseph Jerome McGibrany, 26, of 1719 W. 18th Street, Sanford, reported to the sheriff's department that someone entered his room at a rooming house between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Thursday and took a small black and white television, a radio and a cassette tape player with a combined value of $130.

Pharis H. Fish, 26, of Deltona, reported that two rolls of fence and other fence materials valued at $192 were stolen from his open field at the end of Arletta Street, off State Road 431, in southwest Seminole County between Monday and Wednesday.

WORLD IN BRIEF Diplomacy Gaining,

But Fighting Continues BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) - Rebels clashed with government troops in downtown Beirut and the mountains overlooking the city today amid stepped up diplomatic efforts aimed at ending the bloodshed in Lebanon. Sources close to Christian President Amin Gemayel's pro-western regime predicted an imminent summit between Gemayel and Syrian President Hafez Assad, a meeting that could pave the way for the resumption of Lebanon's factional peace talks and a durable cease-fire on the ground.

Two newspapers, the independent An Nahar and the rightist Christian Al Anal, today said the Gemayel-Assad summit would be preceded by a visit to the Syrian capital of Damascus in the next 24 hours by a Gemayel envoy.

Chernenko: 3 Top Posts?

MOSCOW (UPI) - New Soviet leader Konstantin Chernenko has been appointed commander in chief of the armed forces and could soon be named president, consolidating his power by taking the countries' top three posts.

Chernenko, who was appointed Communist Party leader four days after the death of Yuri Andropov Feb. 9, was referred to as the chairman of the U.S.S.R. Defense Council by Soviet Chief of Staff Nikolai Ogarkov at a reception on Armed Forces Day late last week, a Western defense attache who attended said.

Iran Denies Kharg Attack, Says Iraqi Attack Repelled

ABU DHABI, United Arab Emirates (UPI) - Iran denied today that Iraq attacked its Kharg Island oil facilities and said it had repelled a heavy Iraqi counter-offensive in the 3 1/2-year Gulf war.

The United States said Monday a U.S. warship protecting Western oil supplies in the Persian Gulf fired warning shots at an Iranian plane and ordered away an approaching Iranian frigate.

Iran reported "intense fighting" and "heavy damage and casualties" inflicted on Iraqi forces Monday at Al-Ozayr, 16 miles inside Iraq. The town is in marsh land, about 60 miles northwest of Bsara.

"The fighting, hand-to-hand in some places, dealt severe blows on the Iraqi enemy." the Iranian news agency IRNA said in a report monitored in London.

"The battlefield is now filled with hurding leagt sanks and vehicles with thick smoke covering the area. Over 500 Iraqi forces were killed or wounded and hundreds were captured."

"Others ' where their ranks and joined .slan. (Iranian) combata...ts." It accused Iraq of having introduced chemical weapons in the past couple of days "causing skin burns, severe membrane irritation and mental disorders" in more than 400 Iranian soldiers

IRNA emphatically denied there had been any Iraqi attack at Kharg Island. "A well-informed source at Kharg Island said this morning that there are no signs of a successful Iraqi air raid on oil tankers ... and Iraq has gained nothing from its alleged missile attack and air raid on Kharg," IRNA said.

The source said movement of ships and activity at Kharg was normal, IRNA reported. Tehran Radio said three Iraqi warplanes were shot down, bringing the total to six in the current offensive.

Iran has repeatedly warned it would close the strategic Hormuz strait at the mouth of the Gulf, through which 20 percent of the West's oil passes, if its oil exports were threatened.

"Iraqi warplanes Monday mounted destructive attacks on a number of oil tackers berthed at the Kharg Island." said the Iraqi news agency INA. monitored in Abu Dhabi. "With this strike, the first day of the blockade (of Iranian facilities) has started."

U.S. officials said the guided missile destroyer Lawrence was operating in the Gulf near the Strait of Hormuz when an Iranian P-3C patrol plane came within 5 nautical miles of the warship Sunday in violation of a U.S. warning notice issued more than a month ago.

Strait Blockade Would Halt Oil

United Press International Western nations fear the worsening Iraq-Iran war could lead to a blockade by Iran of the Strait of Hormuz, the strategic waterway through which 20 percent of their oil is shipped out of the Persian Gulf

The 40-mile wide channel is the only passage through which oil can move from Gulf producers into the Arabian Sea, making it a lifeline vital to the economic stability of most industrialized nations, in particular Japan and Western European states.

It is feared that the sinking of just one tanker attempting to run a blockade could effectively shut down Gulf oil supplies because of the huge losses international shipping insurers and owners would risk.

Concerns over security of the straft grew Monday after Iraq claimed it attacked oil tankers at Kharg Island. Iran's major deep-water oil terminal in the Gulf, approximately 20 miles from the mainland.

Iraq also said it will prevent tankers carrying Iranian oil from leaving the Gulf. Iran has warned that such a move would prompt it to blockade the strait to all oil traffic.

to the charge.

Iraq's aim in blocking Iranian oil shipments is to deprive Tehran of the revenues - estimated at $2 billion a month - it receives from petroleum sales to pay for costly military offensives. the most recent of which began last week.

Iran used a similar tactic in the 42-month-old war to shut down lrag's oil ports, cutting its exports to under 800,000 barrels daily via a pipeline to Turkey and pushing Baghdad into an economic crisis. Iraq was further hurt by the closure of a pipeline that ran through Syria, which is supporting Iran.

Curtailment of its oil sales could hurt Iran as deeply as it has Iraq, which has been loaned more than $25 billion by Arab allies and has paid part of the $1 billion it owes France for weapons in oil because it lacks hard cash.

An attempted blockade could spark a direct military conflict between Iran and the United States, which has vowed to keep the waterway open.

Each day, 8.8 million barrels of crude oil, including 2 million barrels from Iran. move through the Strait from Kuwall, Bahrain, the United Arab Emirates and Saudi Arabia.

Citizens Needed To Curb Crime Rate

President Reagan summed up the purpose of community crime prevention programs the other day during a ceremony at the White House. The president put it this way:

"Americans should have the right and the opportunity to walk our streets without being afraid, to feel safe in our own homes and to be confident that when our children leave the house they'll return safely."

But the president had some cause to be upbeat as he marked the observance of the recent National Crime Prevention Week.

Crime Prevention Week has passed, but the cooperation between police officers and citizens that it symbolizes continues throughout the year.

Mr. Reagan said that the nation is making progress in the fight against crime partly because of Neighborhood Watch-type programs.

"What we're really witnessing," Mr. Reagan said, "is a reaffirmation of American values, a sense of community and fellowship, individual responsibility, caring for family and friends and a respect for the law."

As the Neighborhood Crime Prevention Coordinating Committee put it. "the problem of crime isn't going to go away, unless there is help from ordinary, everyday, concerned citizens."

Police agencies unanimously encourage citizens to watch their neighborhoods and report crimes and suspicious activity.

Police department programs in many areas include, for example, Home Alert, Operation Identification and the Community Contact Program.

Home Alert (the Neighborhood Watch program) organizes neighborhood groups which meet with police officers to upgrade community security.

Under Operation Identification, property is inscribed with identification numbers to discourage its theft and aid in its recovery.

Community Contact fosters the exchange of crime prevention ideas between citizens and police officers. It also results in the police department and residents knowing what they can expect from one another.

These are only some of the police department's crime prevention programs, and the sheriff's departments similarly are involved in community security efforts.

It cannot be stressed enough that both the police and sheriff's departments really want residents to

EDWARD J. WALSH On The Passing Of Andropov

(Editors Note: Edward J. Walsh is a staff writer for the USBIC Writer's Group. His column is published in a variety of newspapers throughout the United States.)

The language of diplomacy is the product of the high art of blending dignity and hypocrisy. The death of Andropov was another opportunity for us to observe how heads of state employ eloquent pieties to camouflage the true feelings of entire nations.

British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, a staunch anti-communist, was credited with saying that she learned of Andropov's death "with regret." and that "the foss will be widely felt." France's Mitterand responded similarly, adding that he saw no reason to believe Mr. Andropov's death would "cause problems." West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl, as the only Western leader to have met the deceased dictator, ventured that "I want to express my honest sympathy at the great loss the Soviet Union has suffered."

The Secretary General of the United Nations, Javier Perez de Cuellar, raised this tune to a fever pitch by declaring that "having had the privilege of meeting and holding detailed talks with President Andropov during 1983, I could not fail to be impressed by his fervent commitment to work for world peace and an end to the arms race."

All this is scant, signifying nothing. President Reagan's message was better: he sent only "condolences." The statement by Pope John Paul II was the best. It offered "a thought on the passing of an illustrious leader."

Smearing D'Aubuisson

NEW YORK (NEA) — El Salvador will be holding national elections in March, even though leftist guerrillas backed by Nicaragua. Cuba and the Soviet Union are doing their level best to reduce the country to a shambles. The circumstances are not, therefore, exactly auspicious.

The two leading candidates for the presidency are former President Jose Napoleon Duarte, who might be called broadly "liberal" in American termis, and the distinctly more conservative Roberto d'Aubuisson, who had been speaker of the Constituent Assembly before becoming a presidential candidate. As far as an outsider can tell, the election could go either way.

Presumably, the United States would

That, however, didn't stop White, who in fact seems to be stepping up his attacks on d'Aubuisson as El Salvador's presidential election approaches.

I had occasion to question White recently on a television panel program, and as a former practicing attorney I could admire the skill with which he avoided saying anything that might expose him to a libel suit by d'Aubuisson. Being a "public figure" if there ever was one, d'Aubuisson would be required, under the prevailing Sullivan rule, to prove not only that White's charges are false but that White knew them to be false. When I invited him to make his accusation about d'Aubuisson's responsibility for the death of Archbishop Romero on the air.

Reagan's 'Bully Pit' ...

By Helen Thomas UPI White House Reporter WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House:

President Reagan thinks of the presidency as the bully pulpit, a good place to exhort the American people to volunteer and to get involved.

He preached that theme recently at a ceremony proclaiming crime prevention week, particularly extolling the neighborhood watch program — people working together to protect themselves and their neighbors.

White House aides say that as the president was making his remarks, a robbery of a sports store was under way a couple of blocks away. A carpenter working in the area, who aides said had been listening to Reagan's remarks, chased the robber down the street and was joined by two other men who cornered him until the police came.

"The president said we should get involved." the carpenter was quoted as saying."

Mrs. Reagan, like most of her predecessors, has to sit through her husband's speeches and listen to anecdotes she has heard many times before.

Often a first lady will put a rapt expession on her face, at least she must be duly attentive and admiring if she is sitting on the platform.

Lady Bird Johnson used to call time contact them to enlist in the fight against crime.

It is worth noting that Mr. Reagan praised the nation's police officers as men and women who are "expected to be administrators, social workers, public relations experts, at times philosophers, politicians, and still somehow always to be an officer of the law."

The police do have a tough job.

It would be foolish to turn them down when they ask our help in preventing crime.

Offing The Tube

Even as surveys were reporting that the average American watches more than seven hours of television a day, the citizens of Farmington, Conn., decided to try reversing this trend. For a month, many of them pledged to go without TV.

It was tough going. One self-confessed TV addict, who watched the boob tube so many hours that, as he ruefully observed, "my mother thought she was raising three children and a turnip," reported that "cold turkey" had put him into a state of shock. A local radio station broadcast synopses of "Pallas" and the soaps to ease the strain. Super Bowl Sunday tempted almost everyone into breaking the vow. But a quarter of the townspeople — the figure was higher among elementary school and preschool youngsters — did change their ways for the month.

In the process, the residents of Farmington rediscovered old pleasures. The town library did a land-office business, some parents even attended seminars to learn the disappearing art of reading to their children. Ping-Pong tables were taken down from attics. There was even a revival of charades.

Will this abstinence become habit-forming, with, arts and crafts supplanting "The A-Team?" Will "Dynasty" be done in by dominoes? While our sentiments tug for "yes," the odds are with the electronic pitchmen. A follow-up survey assessing the impact of this voluntary blackout is planned. Stay tuned -- if you'll pardon the expression.

BERRY'S WORLD

"This will be my last run for today. I'm goin' back to the lodge - OK, Grandma!?"

Of course, there is nothing for the Western democracies to gain by speaking the truth about the days and works of Yuri Andropov. That is, of the brutal, reflexive crucity he exercised in putting down the Hungarian uprising of 1956, in devising the K.G.B. practice of imprisoning dissidents in paychiatric hospitals, in crushing the Polish labor movement. In arranging an assassination attempt on the Pope, in acquiescing to the destruction of an unarmed civilian airliner. This is the legacy of Andropov, who was only a product of Soviet communism, albeit a peculiarly talented one. He held no press conferences, signed no international agreements, and, in his tenure, never left the Soviet Union. Yet we know well what kind of a man Andropov was.

It was only a month ago. in Stockholm, that the Soviet Foreign Minister, Andrei Gromyko, assaulted President Reagan and the United States as "maniacal." "militaristic," "piratical." and "criminal." On January 23, the Soviet press outlet Tass described Mr. Reagan as a "rabid militarist."

Two days before Andropov died, reports from Afghanistan, made public in New Deihi, told of new Soviet attacks on civilian villages, that included bombing runs by helicopter gunships and shelling from tanks. Soviet troops are said to have bayoneted large numbers of Afghan women and children.

support a Salvadoran government led by either man, assuming (as seems likely) that the election is reasonably fair. D'Aubuisson, however, would first have to contend with one of the most virulent and systematically orchestrated smear campaigns that has ever been waged in this country against a foreign leader friendly to the United States. It is high time to nip that campaign in the bud.

The man behind it is Robert White, a former Foreign Service officer who was Jimmy Carter's ambassador to El Salvador. In the course of that assignment -- during which, you will recall, the situation in El Salvador slid from bad to worse - White developed a truly formidable hatred of d'Aubuisson, whose unpardonable sin it was to be more anti-leftist than Carter and White deemed necessary. Ultimately, the ambassador was describing d'Aubuisson, for quotation, as a "pathological killer" and the man behind the 1980 assassination of Archbishop Oscar Romero.

One of the first acts of the Reagan administration was to fire White, who has since made a cottage industry out of going around the United States badmouthing d'Aubuisson and denouncing the Reagan policy toward El Salvador in general. The voters of El Salvador, meanwhile, demonstrated that they disagreed with White's opinion of d'Aubuisson by voting, in notably free elections in 1982, to give a majority of the seats in their Constituent Assembly to a coalition of conservative parties that (as aforesaid) elected d'Aubuisson as its speaker.

where it would not be protected by the congressional immunity that had cloaked his recent testimony before a House subcommittee. White defily sidestepped: he had studied the evidence, he replied, and it seemed to him to leave room for no other conclusion than that d'Aubuisson was responsible. (Thus setting up a well-nigh unassailable Sullivan defense.)

Actually, White's "evidence" against d'Aubuisson is a tissue of baloney, if I may coin a phrase. He tells of meetings at which eyewitnesses claim to have watched d'Aubuisson plan the Romero assassination and various other "death squad" activities. When asked who these "eyewitnesses" are, however, White claims that he dare not identify them, because, you see, they are still in El Salvador, and their lives would be forfeit if they were named. (One would think that the high cause of thwarting d'Aubuisson would justify one of them coming to the United States and backing up White's charges, but none has done so.)

No wonder the Democrat-controlled House Intelligence Committee, as well as such pillars of the liberal media as The New Republic and NBC News, and even d'Aubuisson's rival for the presidency, Duarte, have all studied White's "compelling" evidence and rejected it. D'Aubuisson, whose party has lost three of its deputies in the Constituent Assembly to left-wing death squads, and who has taken builets in his own body for daring to d-fend the right, is a Salvadoran patriot. White is simply an embittered and vindictive man at the end of a botched career.

on her husband's stem winders on the campaign trail, sending him a note, saying in effect, "That's enough, time to go."

Rarely did he take her advice.

Of the many speeches that Mrs. Reagan has heard her husband deliver, she believes that his State of the Union address was one of the best.

Luci Johnson, who was married to Pat Nugent with great fanfare in 1966, and has since been divorced, will march down the aisle again on March 3 at the LBJ ranch.

Luci, 36, is marrying lan Turpin, who was born in Scotland, and is presently a banker in the Bahamas.

Friends say they plan to live in Switzerland and that Turpin does not want to reside in Texas. And Luci's four children will probably spend some of their time with their father in Austin and Europe.

In the small talk department, the weather predominates during picture takings in the Oval Office before the president and his visitor, often a head of state, get down to business.

The weather in Washington and California usually gets exhausted as a topic under such circumstances.

But Vice President George Bush found a new topic to throw reporters off the scent. After his return from Europe recently, he lunched in the Oval Office and leaned over to the president whispering, "You know the best meal I had was in Paris."

Death Squads Eyeing U.S. Targets

WASHINGTON — Intelligence sources are worried that right-wing death squads, which have stained El Salvador with the blood of political opponents, may export their violence to the United States.

Under pressure from President Reagan, the Salvadoran government has started to expel the most notorious death squad leaders. At least one of the alleged leaders has turned up in San Jose, Calif. He is Lt. Col. Aristides Alfonso Marquez, who had been director of intelligence for the pational police.

This has made one California congressman nervous. Last year. Rep. George Miller, D-Calif., learned that a gunman, linked by the U.S. embassy to the Salvadoran death squads, had been on his trail. The alleged assassin came to San Francisco in 1982, according to a confidential State Department report, to "investigate" Miller.

The embassy picked up word that the gunman was interested in Miller "personally." This is evidently a chilling word in the Salvadoran environment. Miller is an outspoken critic of the Reagan administration's Central American policies. He made no secret of his views during a fact-finding trip to El Salvador in April 1982. At a U.S. Embassy function, he also made critical remarks about the right-wing political elements in El Salvador.

elements in El Salvador. Among Miller's listeners were some associates of Roberto D'Aubuisson, a cashiered army major who had just been elected president of the constituent assembly and is now a leading candidate for president in this month's election.

Former U.S. ambassador Robert White has characterized D'Aubuisson as a "pathological killer" with close links to the Salvadoran death squads. His trusted personal bodyguard is Col. Ramon Suvillaga.

Not long after Miller left El Salvador. Suvillaga dropped by the U.S. Embassy seeking information on Miller. According to the confidential report examined by my associates Dale Van Atta and Jon Lee Anderson, Suvillaga was "remembered as being present during an embassy reception as Roberto D'Aubulgania sciulta bedutuerd "

D'Aubuisson's private bodyguard." Because of the man's ties to D'Aubuisson, his request for information on Miller was referred to the embassy's political section. which obligingly provided the congressman's Washington and California office addresses. Not until the following December, when an embassy official learned through a chance social encounter that Suvillaga was interested in Miller "personally," did the embassy get alarmed.

The concern was compounded by a report that Miller was planning to return soon to El Salvador. A cable was sent off warning him not to come, adding ominously: "The embassy discovered that a D'Aubuisson crony and security man, retired Col. Ramon Suvillaga, traveled to San Francisco to 'investigate' Miller" shortly after the congressman's visit in April 1982.

As it happened, Miller was already on his way to El Salvador. He was shown the warning cable at the U.S. Embassy in Mexico City on Jan. 9, 1983. FBI agents told Miller he had "reason to be concerned." So he canceled his trip.

The idea of being stalked by a Salvadoran gunman, with alleged death squad links, outraged Miller who demanded more information from the State Department. The request was stalled until 62 colleagues joined in the demand.

Even then, the State Department professed to be unable to supply the most basic details of Suvillaga's travels to this country. There could be a reason: Jack Russ, the House sergeant-at-arms, discovered that Suvillaga's last recorded entry into the United States had been April 2, 1980, and his visa had expired 12 days later. There was no official record found that he had legally visited the United States in 1982.

ORLANDO - Two teams playing their best basketball of the year collide tonight in Orlando as 4A District 9 champion Sanford Seminole goes up against District 10 champion Orlando Evans in the 4A Region 5 championship.

Tip-off is set for 8 p.m. at the Evans High gym. Tickets are available at Seminole High for $2. Only 400 tickets were alloted to each school. Any remaining tickets will go on sale at 7 p.m. with another 400, which was kept for that purpose. The gym seats 1.200.

beneficial. One look at the teams that played for the district championship Saturday and you'll find Martin County. Carol City, Tampa Catholic and Buchholz. The first three won while Buchholz was beaten.

On the other hand, Evans, which was 13-9 in the regular season, upset fourth-ranked Oak Ridge in the semifinals then hammered eighth-ranked Edgewater, 64-41, for the district title.

Seminole's leading scorers in the three district games were Willie Mitchell and James Rouse. Mitchell, who averaged down 11 rebounds against Lake Mary but got into foul trouble and missed much of the Spruce Creek game. He came back against DeLand to score 10 points, pull down 10 boards and block a number of shots.

Seminole's backcourt tandem of Bruce Franklin and Stephen Grey also performed well in the district tourney. Franklin hit some key outside shots to open up the inside game and ran the offense impressively. He also made some key steals and turned in a good defensive tob. Grey also did a fine job on defense and handling the ball on offense.

Top performers off the bench for Seminole include Kenny Gordon and Tommy Stiffey.

Evans likes to clog the middle on

The Trojans might not get away with that against Seminole since the 6-3 Mitchell has been almost unstoppable in the paint and Rouse has been on fire from the wings.

Rebounding will again be a key for Seminole. The Tribe outrebounded De-Land in the district final to take away DeLand's main strength. Seminole outrebounded the Bulldogs, 39-28, for the game. Evans also dominated the boards against Edgewater, pulling down 35 rebounds compared to just 16 for Edgewater.

Evans would also like to have another good shooting night tonight. The Trojans hit 23 of 35 from the field against Edgewater for 65 percent accuracy. Edgewater shot just 29 percent from the

The USFL is planning on expanding again next season so look for USFL Quiz number 2 same time next year. Here are the names of some of the new franchises I heard might be popping up. The Minnesota Manglers, the Boston Stranglers, the New Orleans Bojanglers and the Philadelphia Starspanglers.

Turning to baseball, how many people are picking the Minnesota Twins to go all the way this year?

I know of one person who is. Twins' owner Calvin Griffith. The portly 70-year-old baseball magnate was in Sanford recently to speak at the Dugout Club at Sanford Memorial Stadium. Griffith said the Twins could win it all this year if they find a good shortstop. Probably the most asked question was if the Twins would be moving to the Tampa Bay area in the near future. Griffith said it is a possibility once Tampa and St. Petersburg decide which of the two towns is going to build a stadium.

In the meantime, one big concern of Griffith's is to draw some fans to the Hubert H. Humphrey Metrodome in Minneapolis. The Twins lost a bundle of money last year mainly due to poor attendance and, with the increase of salaries on this year's team. Griffith would like to see more fans at the ballpark this year.

Although Minneapolis is a little too far of a drive, you can see the Twins in Spring Training at Orlando's Tinker Field. The Twins first home exhibition game is Wednesday, March 7 against the Toronto Blue Jays. Game time is 1:30 p.m.

Sorry to hear about the death of Mary McLeod. Mary ran the concession stand and helped out at the Dugout Club meals at Sanford Memorial Stadium for the past five years. "It was quite a shock." said Florida Baseball Schools owner Wes Rinker. "I don't know how to replace her. She'll definitely be missed at the ballpark."

Rinker said the concession stand will be closed this week in her memory.

games were close, but Seminole never had any doubts that it would come out on top.

"Playing those tough teams (Gainesville Buchholz and Stuart Martin County) and the Kingdom of the Sun tournament definitely helped us down the stretch," said Seminole coach Chris Marlette, "I just told the kids 'we don't play anybody better than the three teams (Tampa Catholic, Miami Carol City and Decatur, Ga.) we beat at Ocala.'

After averaging just over eight points during the regular season. Rouse sizzled in the district tourney. The junior sharp-shooter pumped in 21 points against Lake Mary, 19 against Spruce Creek and 14 against DeLand.

The Tribe also got some hefty board work from senior Jimmy Gilchrist. Mariette's scheduling has proven Gilchrist scored 13 points and pulled

Marlette Has Score (129-38) To Settle With Old Foe Tapia

By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

"All the way to state, all the way to state." was the resounding chant which reverberated throughout Lake Mary High's gym Saturday night after Sanford's Fighting Seminoles had disposed to DeLand for the 4A District 9 basketball championship.

But for that dream trip to materialize, coach Chris Mariette's Tribe needs two more victories, one in the 4A Region 5 tonight and one in the Saturday's 4A Section 3 against the winner of the Stuart Martin County-Palm Beach Gardens game. Then, it will be on to Lakeland.

Evans is coached by Rudy Tapla. The wily coach is a veteran of championship games but he had some rough sledding in big games the past two years until he moyed to Evans from Edgewater. The past two years he had his Edgewater teams in the championship game of the district, but couldn't pull it out. Tapia had been at Edgewater for 10 years and the transfer was a difficult one, but he went because it was a return home. He served as an assistant under Fred Pennington for eight years at Evans after graduating from college.

"I guess I finally broke the Jinx by changing schools." laughed Tapia Sunday night.

Seminole and Edgewater have had similar seaons. Both played well early in the year, hit a slump and then rallied for the district title. Evans has a 19-12 record and was a fourth-place finisher in the Metro Conference. Seminole has a 21-11 record and finished tied for third In the Five Star Conference.

Although Tapla has the experience on' Seminole mentor Chris Marlette, the 35-year-old Tribe boss has a score to settle with the Evans skipper. Ten years ago, while Marlette was coaching the Sanford Naval Academy and Tapla was doing the same for Lake Highland, Tapla's team routed the Middles, 139-28. Marlette's recollection of the event, as one might expect, is very lucid. "He was pressing with two minutes to go and they were up by 80," said Marlette. "I

District Basketball guess he was just young-then. He was ranked second in the state at the time and I guess he was going for rating points.

Tapia didn't recall the incident as clearly as Marlette and didn't remember who was coaching SNA at the time. "I remember scoring over 100 points there one time." said Tapia. "But I didn't know Chris was the coach. We only had seven players and I kept rotating them." Marlette said Tapia's recollection for squad numbers has diminished somewhat over the years.

Anyway, an excellent battle can be expected tonight. Evans is coming off its best win of the year. The Trojans throttled arch-rival Edgewater, 64-41, Saturday night and shot 65 percent from the field in doing it.

Tapla was known for producing good guards while he was at Edgewater, but, frontcally, that is the weak point of his Evans' squad. His two backcourt players - Jo Jo Harris and Fred Shorter - are averaging just four points aplece .-'Teams that give us trouble are teams: that have beller guards," said Tapia:" "We're not as quick as I'd like us to be. We're still using the 2-2-1 press, but it's not as effective as in the past."

The Trojans' best outside weapon is forward Robert Worthington. He is averaging 13 ppg and is a 6-1 senior. "He's really a tough shooter," said Marlette. "We'll need to shut him down to beat them."

Evans main strength, nevertheless, is its inside game. John Hadley, a muscular 6.5 senior who is going to Florida State to play football, is averaging eight points per game while Moses Gordon, a 6-4 senior, is averaging 10 points per outing. Jimmy Kuhl, a 6-6 Junior who played at Bishop Moore last year, is the spark off the bench. Kuhl's brothers played with Darryl Dawkins on the Evans' championship team of several years ago.

Herald Phote by Bennie Wiebeidt

Chris Mariette has a word with his players during a timeout against DeLand. The Seminole coach has an old score to settle with Evans' coach Rudy Tapla. When Marlette was coaching at Sanford Naval Academy and Tapla was at Lake Highland, Tapia ran up a 129-38 beating on the Middles.

Baseball's Pied Piper Still Pulls The Biggest Crowd

Baseball has itself a new Pied Piper.

He goes back to the era when everyone still wore steel spikes, he's looking for a position to play, any position, and he's supposed to be all washed up, but he's the player pulling in the biggest crowd every day in the whole state of Florida.

Of course, you know who it is. Old Charlie Hustle himself - Pete Rose, who already has his new Montreal uniform all sweated UD

Every move he makes, every place he goes at the Expos' spring training site in West Paim Beach, people keep following him as closely as pensioners do the mailman at the beginning of every month.

"We set a record when the rest of the squad reported Friday," says John McHale. Phillies released him. the Expos' president. "It was the biggest crowd we ever had for a workout. More than 1,000 people. It seemed as if they all wanted to see Pete. -

"He went out to shag balls in left field, and everybody followed him. Then when Bill major-league season. Virdon split the squad and Rose went out to the other diamond beyond right field, the crowd all went there. I never saw anything like it in spring training before."

Rose, who'll be 43 in two months, still isn't sure where he'll play with the Expos. He has been working out mostly in left field but he brought a first baseman's glove along with him, too, since Al Oliver was finally traded to San Francisco Sunday, so might wind up back at the same position he played the past five seasons for the Phillies.

The Expos offered Rose no guarantee he'd play regularly when he signed with them last month. He still thinks he can even though he showed signs of going back last year when he finished with a .245 average, only 45 RBI and no home runs before the Rose ian't looking to be a cheerleader with Montreal. What he's looking for is the 202 hits he needs to break Ty Cobb's all-time record of 4,191. That's what he wants more than anything else starting his 22nd Virdon's eyes out with some manner of But first, he'll have to find a place to play with the Expos and that could be tough because they're very high on the two young left-handed hitting outfielders they've got. 24-year-old Terry Francona and 25-year-old Mike Stenhouse.

So what Rose will have to do is knock skyrocket performance. That could be difficult at his stage of the game even ing for his first workout. No one would've his crack.

pounds lighter than he was last year.

As always, one of Rose's biggest assets is his intensity.

You should see him in the batting cage. Every time he steps in to hit, it's like the seventh game of the World Series, with one on and two out in the ninth and the score tied.

His first day in camp, he jumped in against Joe Hesketh, a 25-year-old rookie left-hander from outside Buffalo, N.Y., and you would've thought he was going one-on-one with somebody like Steve Carlton or Jerry Reuse.

Rose kept up a tight constant stream of chatter on every pitch.

"Man on third, winning run, gotta put the ball in play," he said, as much to himself as anyone else ... "Fast ball inside, runner on first going" ... "Curveball had good bite on it," he encouraged Hesketh, taking the pitch for a strike. "Remember how you threw it." Rose didn't get much sleep before report-though he worked regularly on the Nautilus ever known it watching him work. His plane program this winter and is six or seven coming from Cincinnati and connecting in ? Atlanta was more than two hours late arriving in Florida and he didn't settle into the place he rented until around 3 in the morning.

Nevertheless, he got to the park a little after 9. in plenty of time for the meeting Virdon had set for an hour later.

When the workout was over and most of the other players headed for the clubhouse. Rose remained on the field. He wanted to take some extra batting practice, and so did Al Oliver, who wasn't yet aware of the trade, Seeing what the two of them had in mind. Bryan Little, the Expos' good-looking second-year second baseman from Texas, piped up in that thin, squeaky voice of his, Hey, what are we doing here, practicing for an Old Timers' Game?"

Little, 24, showed he could play with the big boys last year. He's always out there hustling, too, which might've been the only reason why Rose and Oliver both laughed at

Moses Wins Sullivan

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) - Edwin Moses has won 87 consecutive races in the 400-meter hurdles, but he said the excitement of winning the Sullivan Award for 1983 made his heart beat "faster than any race."

Moses accepted the award from the Amateur Athletic Union Monday night at a dinner. The Sullivan Award, given annually to the outstanding amateur athlete. is awarded to the athlete among 10 nominees who were voted upon by AAU officials, past winners, reporters and U.S. Olympic Committee members.

The other nine nominees were 1984 Winter Olympic champions Scott Hamilton in figure skating and Phil Mahre in skling, alpine skier Tamara McKinney, golfer Jay Sigel, swimmers Mary T. Meagher and Rick Carry. diver Greg Lougants, boxer Mark Breland and track and field runner Evelyn Ashford.

"I am very pleased to have won," Moses said. "I felt just like this before the finals of a race. In fact my heart was beating faster than any race."

The win by Moses marked the third straight Sullivan Award given to a track and field athlete, as Mary Decker received the award for 1982 and Carl Lewis took it the previous year.

Moses, 28, received the award from the first track athlete win the the award, Glenn Cunningham, a middle distance runner who won the Sullivan in 1933.

Moses, the top-ranked 400-meter hurdler in the world, has set three world records and holds nine of the 10 fastest times ever in the event. He captured the 1983 U.S. Track and Field Championships with a winning time of 47.84 in the finals and won a gold medal in the first World Track and Field Championships in Helsinki. Finland, taking the final in 47.50.

"It has been a long career," Moses said. "I've been working very hard at winning a long time. I've been successful, if I do say so myself. I'm pleased to be the Sullivan Award winner and to represent what this award means."

Timeout For A Chew

Brian Rogers takes timeout for a chew. It's not the chew you think it is, though. Instead of tobacco, the Seminole shortstop is munching on sunflower seeds. Rogers and the Fighting Seminoles' baseball team get back into action Thursday night at home against New Smryna Beach at 7 p.m.

Winfield Blasts Steinbrenner For Allowing Goose To Leave

United Press International

Dave Winfield arrived at the New York Yankees training camp Monday and immediately began swinging. Then he stepped into the batting cage.

"There are certain things he does that are just no good for the team." said Winfield, who showed up five days later than expected at the Fort Lauderdale complex because of personal commitments. "They are beginning to hurt the team in a lot of ways. Certain things he does make no sense.

"We lost a big guy in Goose. We lost one of the best, and you don't patch up something like that overnight.

Winfield also expressed concern that Righetti, who pitched a nohitter last season, would hurt his arm in his transition to reliever.

"Dave's one of the best young starters in the league," he said. "I just hope he doesn't hurt his arm. I

Winfield would not elaborate on was "strained."

In other news, Montreal first baseman Al Oliver, one of baseball's premier hitters, was traded to the San Francisco Glants for righthander Fred Breining.

Oliver's shipment to San Francisco appears to give Pete Rose the starting position at first base and a golden opportunity to break Ty Cobb's all-time record of 4,191 hits. He ended the 1983 season just 201 hits short of that mark.

The Glants acquired Oliver, a .300 hitter for the last eight seasons. after they failed to agree with the Cubs on a trade for Bill Buckner. Last season, Breining was 11-12 with a 3.82 ERA.

At the Expos' camp in West Palm Beach, Fla., Oliver was bitter.

"I'm disappointed, but there's nothing I can say. It's a management move, not mine," he said. "No other top player has given up his way to keep him on our roster."

Intermediate All-Stars Capture District Tourney

Both Sanford Recreation all-star basketball teams advanced to the state tournament as the Intermediate League stars won the district tournament and the Junior League all-stars came in second.

The Intermediates rolled to the district title with a 91-66 rout of Kissimmee Friday night at Seminole High.

Albert Armstrong poured in a game-high 28 points to lead Sanford and was joined in double figures by Horace Knight with 21, Darryl Lee with 18 and Darryl Williams with 11.

The Junior League dropped a 48-29 decision to Apopka in the finals. Apopka rolled to a 27-8 lead by halftime over the cold-shooting Sanford team. Willie McCloud led Sanford with 13 points.

Both teams will advance to the state tournament this weekend at Orlando.

Breakers Sign Dupree

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) - Running back Marcus Dupree has agreed to a flve-year, $5 million contract with the New Orleans Breakers of the U.S. Football League, a New Orleans newspaper reported today.

Breakers owners Joe Canizaro told the New Orleans Times Picayune-States Item he still is trying to obtain approval from the USFL to sign Dupree, who last season dropped out of football programs at Oklahoma and Southern Mississippi.

The league is involved in a lawsuit questioning a rule that prohibits college football players from signing an athlete until his class graduates.

NEW SMYRNA BEACH - "Finishing second to Trickle is like finishing first in your class," says an old midwestern proverb.

Proving that saying true once again. David Rogers, who recently finished second to Trickle in the 18th Annual Skoal Bandits World Series of Asphalt Stock Car Racing point standings, drove the Wayne Densch Budweiser Firebird to victory in the 50-lap End of the Month late model championship on Saturday night at New Smyrna Speedway. ## In And Around Longwood

There's JOY in Longwood

The Longwood city commissioners had a pleasurable task to handle during their last commission meeting. For the fourth year in a row it was their task to give five area students the "JOY" award. JOY stands for Juvenile of the Year, and is an award given yearly to only one student from each of Longwood's schools. The award is not given for the best grade, but to a student that the school has recognized as being an all-around conscientious student. Eligibility requirements include neatness, attendance, behavior, attitude, average grades. a 9:15 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. each day. willingness to follow directions, and a consistent striving to improve.

Each of the five schools in the Longwood area was contacted and asked to select a student from each grade level, then with the process of elimination the overall winner for the school is selected.

The students each received a certificate, and a plaque with the student's name (and the name of the former winners) to be hung with pride in each of the schools.

This year's winners were: James Deavitt, nine, of Woodlands Elementary: Jeannie Metts, 11, of Longwood Elementary: Karina Bull, 13, of Rock Lake Middle School, Mark Dubin, 14, of Milwee Middle School and Jerry Arsenault, 17, of Lyman High School. Congratulations to these fine students.

The Sweetwater Oaks Woman's Club will meet on Wednesday, March 14, in Mt. Dora for luncheon and antiquing. The luncheon will be held at Lee's Lakeside Inn, starting at 11:00 a.m. Penny Woodward, owner of Penwood Antiques, will be guest speaker, and will bring along some of her wares for members to look over. Reservations are needed by March 11, and can be made by calling 862-3538, or 869-8842. Members are asked to arrive at the luncheon early so they can have time to browse.

Reservations for April's meeting aboard the Star of Sanford must be made by March 16.

Parents are invited to attend Field Day at Longwood Elementary School. Coach Mike Platt asked that students participating in the even be sure to wear sneakers to school on their assigned day. Kindergarten will hold their field day on Friday, March 2, first grade on Monday, March 5, second grade on Tuesday, March 6. Field Day for grades 3-5 will be held Thursday, March June Lormann for graciously donating her leftover 8, with coach Crowley. Activities will take place from campaign funds to the club.

The Seminole County Social Studies Fair was held on Feb. 4, at Lake Mary High School. The central theme for the fair was focused around the family and the community. Students of Rock Lake Middle School received many prizes for excellence in various categories.

Mary Hungerford's project on "the Tudor Family" won second place, while in the media presentation, Kristen Patrick won first place and Donald NeStar won second.

The school's debating team finished first place in the competition, debating on the question, "Should the federal government establish minimum educational requirements for the elementary and secondary schools in the United States?"

Chad Driscoll finished second in the extemporaneous essay contest, and the school took second and third place in the Dramatic and Musical competition, with a play entitled "A Swiss Family", and an original song called, "The Army." Congratulations.

The Longwood Woman's Club will meet on Tyesday, March 6, 1 p.m., at its club building, 150 West Church

A program on "Crime Watch" will be presented by Officer Jim Bishop, of the Orlando Police Department, and Tina Kautter. Interested area women are invited to attend this informative meeting. Hostess's for the meeting will be Lena Hammond, Lucy Nell Young. Betty-Jean Eldridge, and Mary Mitchell.

The club would like to thank Longwood commissioner

1936 Spingold. Mike's brother Steve now shares B. Jay's column. Ron Rubin wanted, at one stage of his career, to be an actuary, but he became a successful stockbroker

"In today's hand Ron sat South. He doubled Edgar Kaplan's one diamond. My father did the best he could to upset them by jumping to four diamonds, and Edgar kept up the considerable thought. Mike bid five hearts. Now it was Ron's turn to huddle. Finally he produced a five-spade call. Now came a typical Becker action in accordance with his father's principle that slams are fine but plus scores are better. He passed five spades. Six would make if all three trumps weren't in the West hand, but five became a winner when
