HOOVER SAID IN ACCORD WITH NAVAL GROUP

Delegation Has President's Unqualified Support Is Report Made By Secretary

WASHINGTON, Mar. 29—(AP)— Acting Secretary Cotton of the State Department said today there were no differences of view between President Hoover and the American naval delegation in London.

The delegation, Cotton said, always has had and now has, the President's unqualified support and authority. He said the delegation was in London to consider every suggestion made and every possibility that could lead to the adoption of a conference which he described as the reduction and limitation of naval arms and the protection of the peace of the world.

Cotton added it was the "short hop" that a plan for such a conference and limitation could be carried which would meet the approval of the American people and at the same time be consonant with traditional policy and ideal of the United States.

Cotton issued the following statement: "There are no differences of view between the President and our delegation in London. The delegation has almost had and now has the unqualified support and authority."

"The delegation is in London primarily to explore every suggestion made and every possibility that leads to the great peaceful of the conference that we desire and limitation of naval arms and the preservation of the peace of the world. It is the high hope the American delegation can be carried which meets the aspirations of the American people and will be consonant with our traditional ideals and ideals."

BOSTON, Mar. 29—(AP)— A year's cruise in quest of rum in the Pacific by Mr. L. Brandy of Cleveland has ended here with capture of his yacht in two cases of choice liquor in wine on his yacht.

Brandy, a contractor, sought on board his ship because he is a dream to establish a new independent of all nations. With the return yesterday of his yacht, The Peony, customs men found the liquor in a glass bottomed boat. G. V. Griffin, skipper, claimed the all knowledge of the 14 who were on board.

LEHMAN ISSUES CALL FOR HELP IN CLEAN-UP DRIVE

Mayor Asks Co-Operation In Campaign To Rid Groves Of Fruit

MAYER H. J. Lehman today re-sented a letter from the Florida

Citrus Growers' Committee. Mayor Aspinwall, general manager of A. M. Pratt, who asked for the co-operation of Sanford officials and the Chamber of Commerce to help end the statewide clean-up campaign.

In his letter, Mayor Lehman pointed out that this season it should be particularly important to rid the groves of diseased fruit before April, when the citrus fruits begin to ripen and require more careful handling and shipping, which becomes difficult as the crop reaches maturity.

Mr. Pratt, in his letter, pointed out that this season it should be particularly important to rid citrus trees of diseased fruit before April, when the citrus fruits begin to ripen and require more careful handling and shipping, which becomes difficult as the crop reaches maturity.

In his letter, Mr. Pratt, chairman of the grove committee, requested that he be allowed to speak at the meeting of the City Commissioners in order to make the following statement: "There is no fruit for the市民 to eat on fruit trees in the city, then the city will become a dead zone."

Mayor Lehman, in a letter addressed to the Citizens of Sanford, asked for the co-operation of every one in the spiritual, material, civic, financial, and political fields to help end the statewide clean-up campaign.

The following letter was received by Mr. Lehman from the Florida Citrus Growers' Committee:

"Dear Mayor Lehman: We are sending you a copy of the letter sent to you by the Florida Citrus Growers' Committee.

FOREIGN NATIONS ARE INCREASING CITRUS PRODUCTS

Brazil And South Africa Show Signs Of Competition For U.S.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 26.—The American citrus fruit industry is confronted with interesting competition in foreign markets from foreign producing countries. In which production is being stimulated by the steadily growing demand for oranges and grapefruit, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, following a world survey of the situation.

"Outstanding points in the world citrus fruit situation," the bureau says, "are increasing production of oranges and grapefruit, with recent new plantings and large non-bearing areas in a number of countries pointing to continued future expansion; an upward trend in consumption of both oranges and grapefruit, particularly grapefruit, in the United States and the principal importing countries; and an apparently fairly stable production situation, at least, however, that necessitates the use of a considerable proportion in the manufacture of by-products."

Increasing production and exports of oranges in the Southern Hemisphere, especially the Union of South Africa and Brazil, is reported by the bureau as of specific significance to California Valencia producers, with whose fruit the Southern Hemisphere product competes on European markets. Also, continued large Spanish crops, together with expanding production in Palestine, is considered to "leave little prospect for volume exports of American oranges to Europe during the winter and early spring."

Production of oranges in the United States for the present season (1929-30) is estimated by the bureau at 35,730,000 boxes compared with 54,130,000 boxes last season, and an average for the years 1925-27 of 34,355,000 boxes. Of this year's crop, 70 per cent is in California and about 28 per cent in Florida. About 19 per cent of the present total United States orange acreage is reported as "non-bearing."

There has been a large increase in the consumption of oranges in northwestern Europe in recent years. Per capita consumption of citrus fruit in the United States is also on the increase. Per capita consumption figures place Australia in the lead with a consumption of approximately 23 pounds of oranges per person annually per capita; a consumption in the United States is 22 pounds, and in the United Kingdom and Canada 21 pounds.

Consumption in Northwestern Europe ranges from 13 pounds to Netherlands to 5 pounds for Sweden. A large part of the variation in per capita consumption between different continental European countries can be explained, say the bureau, by import duties. Consumption is highest in the Netherlands where oranges imports are free, and lowest in Sweden where the tariff on oranges is the highest in Northwestern Europe.

Elks' 2nd Minstrel Planned For April, 11 On Milane Stage

Featuring a cast of 50 local men, girls, and boys, the second annual Elks' Minstrel, which is sponsored by the Sanford Lodge Number 1241, R. P. O. E. will take place in the Milane theater April 11, and is expected to surpass the one presented last year, in "class, color and talent", according to the opinion expressed by several local Elks, who today declared that their club is "putting forth every effort to produce an attraction that will be bigger, brighter, and better than ever."

The cast is now rehearsing under the direction of Herb Woltz, well known in Florida as a minstrel leader, who today declared he is satisfied that with the talent which he has found in this city he can produce one of the best minstrels composed of amateur players, ever seen in Sanford.

The Milane Theater is Co-operating with the sponsors of the home fare to make the event a success. New scenery and costumes, together with an array of lighting effects is expected to be an outstanding feature of the coming attraction on the local stage.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

The Dead in Christ—For he that is dead is freed from sin. Now if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him. Knowing that Christ being raised from the dead death no more; death hath no more dominion over him — Romans 6:7-8.

Prayer:
Lord, reign in us Thyself, then no evil thing can live with Thee.

A mechanic who gets the breaks can always re-line them.

We never before heard of a fellow with too much ginger in him being paralyzed.

We don't suppose the recent wet weather in Sanford has had any material effect on the Literary Digest poll.

The golf course was given a thorough overhauling at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon yesterday.

Gene Tunney had an automobile accident near Stuart the other day.
He should have used his bicycle.

It doesn't pay to be a confidence man in Orlando. The other day two of them were sentenced to seven years of hard labor in the state prison to strict confinement those confidence men would likely prefer to work for a living now.

Yesterday's meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was the largest and most enthusiastic gathering we have seen in Sanford in three years. There is no cause to be dismayed as long as men show their willingness to try.

Three lakes near Interlachen are under consideration for use as a breeding place for black bass, while the tiny fish obtained from the state game department will be stocked and kept until four or five inches in length, when they will be distributed along the county if it was announced. — Palatka News.

To prove to the visiting Kwan-tan, A. M. Albrecht of Toledo, O., had an display at the Fountain Inn, two fish that he caught in the Okefenokee river one weighing 12 pounds and 8 1/2 ounces and one weighing 10 pounds and 14 ounces. Mr. Albrecht has caught many large ones this season and is the champion troutsman of the Florida Inland. He is excepting also for the 1928 H. P. Miller trophy which he took last August.

There are some who should come down to Florida, or the gulf coast down across the border to California, and let me tell you John Rossiter and Arthur Brinton. He should come to Florida himself. It has been a long time since he has been here, and Florida is getting old. If he would not have gone to California, California is the place for the old who have to grow old, who would be happier as well as longer.

Remember last fall when you read in the Herald that W. H.
Gamble, famed New England publisher, was about to embark upon a fourteen thousand mile airplane cruise of the Caribbean? You thought you would be reading of his vanishing the next time you heard anything of him. But as a matter of fact he completed that tour, arriving back in Miami the other day, younger and healthier than ever, without a single accident.

The Miami Herald, speaking of Edgar Waybright's determination to run for the state senate as a Democrat in the coming primary, reckoned the guy which ends thus:
"No, he isn't a foolster, but he proves the truth in an absolute by-gone-ignorable form". The Gerald adds: "Waybright may not be a Republican, but he is beginning to present Democratic alliances in an absolutely unrecognizable form". It will be interesting to see how the voters of Duval feel about it.

The Spirit Of Play

A tourist who is spending the winter in Sanford dropped into our office the other day, and while he was praising the golf course, he commented upon how few local people seem to use it. This remark set us wondering if Floridians are not slow to take advantage of the recreations offered in the great playground the state affords. People come from all over the world for the opportunities to play that are at our door, and because we are so used to them, or because we are too engrossed with other things, we do not avail ourselves of them.

Naturally, Sanford men and women have their work to do.
They are not vacationing, and we are not suggesting that they shut up shop and follow the tourist routine of morning swim and sun bath and afternoon golf and sailing, but what about the leisure hours? On a day when the sun is golden, and the sea blue and beckoning, many of even the younger generation, imitating their elders, are gathered indoors around the bridge tables. Bridge is a fasinating game, but it seems to us that the vogue of bridge for evening hours and rainy days would be the ideal one for Florida. The day, in a climate like ours, rightly belongs to the out-of-doors.

The ocean with one of the most famous beaches in the world is only a few miles away at Daytona, and a swim in the surf may be had for nothing, but comparatively few Sanford people seem to feel the lure of the sea. Two weeks ago, Kaye Don, the British war ace, made an attempt, unsuccessful, it is true, but none the less interesting, to break the automobile speed record made by Seagrave. Don's car, "Silver Bullet," was alone worth the trip to see. The eyes of the sporting world were focused on this event, which took place at our door, and how many cars from Sanford were there? There was a golf match at Winter Park recently in which some of the crack players of America took part, and we wonder how many Sanford golf enthusiasts were among those present.

How many Sanford golf enthusiasts are there anyway?

This city has one of the sportiest courses in Florida, and of this season, it is particularly beautiful with the live oaks dotted in new leaves and the greens, the very color of spring. Not only the men but also the women would find great enjoyment and a new zest for life if they would take up golf even if they can only afford to play once a week.
The girls would discover very likely that golf is as good as the eighteen day diet for achieving a svelt figure and certainly a lot pleasanter.

Sanford has a lake, a beautiful one, with a shore line made picturesque and interesting by cypress, oaks, palmetto, and grey moss. It is well adapted for sailing, but it can boast only a meager number of boats. From the Billings yacht to a little sail boat within the reach of a model soccerbook in a long jump but that is the mental aerobics turn our fancy took when we saw the "Old River" riding at anchor on Lake Monroe last week, and our imagination filled the lake with white sail boats owned by Sanford people.

There is one sport, however, and one of the best, that Sanford does not neglect, but hogs to its heart, and that is hunting. In the season, the man, the dog, and the gun are familiar pictures, and game dinner and hunting tales add a frothy color to life. The hunter comes home with sandy cheeks, and whether his knapsack is bulging or empty, he has a whole string of yarns that he will tell at length to anyone who will listen. And there is a sparkle in his eye that shows that he has a drink of a powerful spirit called play.

We feel that Sanford needs more of this spirit of play, not the gaiety that comes from the gin bottle, but the keenness about things in general, the thing the French so aptly call the "jou de vivre" that has to brighten having a recreation that one really enjoys. All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. Just as the tourist can learn many things from Sanford, Sanford can learn from the winter visitor how to enjoy its own playground.

Pals To The Last

The love of a boy for his dog is a strange and powerful thing. A little boy who lived in Owenboro had a mongrel pup, not much of a dog as dogs go in this world, but enough so that the boy and the dog were inseparable.

Whether the boy did not know he was supposed to have a pet or not whether he just didn't have the money to pay for it, we don't know, but the fact remains that he got into trouble with the dog catcher.

Dolbert Wald, keeper of the city pound, tried to take the dog away from the boy, who apparently not realizing the seriousness of his offense, but thinking only of the pet with which he would not part, drew his knife and prepared for a battle to the death.

Of course he was arrested, but the people of Owenboro were human. They got together, took up a collection, bought him a dog license, and prepared to pay whatever fine the judge might see fit to assess. The love of the boy for his dog interested them.

Yesterday the boy, with the dog, properly caged, and resting under his arm, appeared in court. The judge, undoubtedly turning over thoughts of his own son but days and the fun he used to have with some "Scamp", shook his head, gave the boy a serious lecture, and then declared "Charge dismissed".

That judge will always be a hero to the boy and a hero to everybody else.

Great Garbo's Voice Is Well Adapted To Film "Anna Christie"

It is entirely characteristic of Great Garbo that she walked right into her first talking picture without even taking counsel with a voice test.

That very minute she looked up and saw the microphone over her head was perhaps the most important in her career. She was going to talk in pictures. Or she wasn't.

Not the slightest trace of anxiety or apprehension did she betray. No sign of whatever conflict or surge of doubt may have been buried beneath that solid mask.

Instead, she merely nodded readiness and began her lines.

"Glimme a whiskey—gnger ale on th' side . . . an' don't be stony, baby!"

Supporting Miss Garbo in "Anna Christie" are George Marion, who created the father role in the stage play; Marie Dressler, playing her first straight dramatic part, and Charles Bickford.

Brown directed the picture from Francis Marion's adaption of the stage play; few alterations or changes being made in the script.

Picture Exhibit Will Be Held Next Month

The first showing will be on Wednesday afternoon and the final showing will take place on Friday evening. The Exhibit will be open to the public from 3 o'clock to 6 o'clock in the afternoons and from 7:30 o'clock to 9:30 o'clock on Friday evening.

Persons familiar with the picture, and the artists represented will be on hand to discuss the picture with students and adults who visit the exhibit.

Friends of Mrs. John Borland of Waycross, Ga., formerly Miss Clara Miller of this city, will be glad to learn that she is getting along nicely after undergoing a serious operation at the King's Daughters Hospital in Waycross recently.

Mrs. Schwartz Gives Party At Her Home

Complimenting Mrs. J. J. Thomas of Chicago, Ill., who is spending the winter here, Mrs. S. M. Schwartz, was hostess to a number of her friends at abridge party given yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at her home, "Margot's Lodge" on Golden Lakes. Mrs. Schwartz greeted her guests in a pink gown of pink georgette trimmed with coral lace, while Mrs. Thomas selected for the occasion a lavender chiffon dress made with close fitting waist and a long flared skirt.

Throughout the afternoon bridge games were enjoyed by the guests and at a late hour cards were taken and Mrs. F. S. Dugger collected high and low scores. Mrs. Thomas received as guest prize, a hand painted picture of the Rock Memorial Tower, while Mrs. Dugger was given a green pottery pitcher as high score prize. Mr. J. B. Cogburn, who held low score was the recipient of hand made blue handkerchiefs, while Mrs. John Meach who was lucky in cutting, received a black and white etching. Each prize was wrapped with lavender ribbon and tied with pink satin ribbon.

Lavender, pink and green were the predominating colors used for party decorations and appointments. A profusion of snapdragons and other garden flowers, in tones of pink, were strung with fern in vases and bowls about the party room, while tables and bridge accessories were designed in pastel shades. At the tea hour, refreshments accentuating the color motif were served on the bridge tables which were overlaid with linen covers. The tea table was covered with a large vase of pink snapdragons and snapdragons fern.

While refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. A. D. Zachary, Mrs. Frank Bartholomew, Miss Lois Turner, Miss Anna Howard, and Mrs. Margaret Zachary, Mrs. Claude Horner presided at the punch table from which punch was served by Miss Maria Ann Powers and Mrs. Adelette Higgins.

The present wife, Mrs. J. J. Thomas, former resident, Mrs. F. S. Dugger, Mrs. Fred Palmer, Mrs. Harry Wilson, Mrs. John Meach, Mrs. Fred Williams, Mrs. W. M. Thompson, Mrs. J. K. Culbreth of Pataskala, Mrs. Fred Bender, Mrs. J. B. Chapman, Mrs. Edward Higgins, Mrs. John W. Lewis, Mrs. G. Marion, Mrs. T. L. Dumas, Mrs. W. Theodore Landry, Mrs. Walter Morgan, Mrs. George Knight, Mrs. R. J. Holly, Mrs. L. P. Hartman, Mrs. Ray E. Sykes, Mrs. Sandra Schultz, and the Misses Lettie Caldwell, Lois Turner, Ollie Johnson, and Frances Finnerity.

Johnson Leaves For Biloxi To Attend Agricultural Meet

Alex R. Johnson, supervisor of agriculture in the local high school, and state master teacher, left this morning by auto for Biloxi, Miss., where he will attend the south eastern states' convention for vocational agriculture instructors.

One master teacher from each of the 12 southeastern states will represent each state respectively at the meet. Mr. Johnson represents Florida in this capacity. Yesterday afternoon he told a Herald representative that he did not know exactly what would take place during the convention, but he expects to be away from town for about a week.

Mr. Johnson has been head of the agricultural department of the Seminole High School for the past two years, during which time he is said to have accomplished more work in this particular line than any other agricultural instructor in the state. In recognition of this achievement he received the honor of being named state master teacher.

Alleged Incendiary Is Freed Of Blame

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Mar. 29 (AP)—Carl Melcher, charged by police with starting a fire which caused his own and three other deaths recently, has been cleared of the charges by a coroner's jury which depicted him as a hero instead of an incendiary.

The verdict, returned last night, asserted the death of three persons, trapped in a rooming house that was burned with several other buildings, were caused by the fact that the building in which they were sleeping was a fire trap.

Testimony before the jury at a previous session had shown Melcher purchased a large quantity of gasoline and was seen near the fire at its start.

Reputing the Neck

Many and many a beauty connoisseur has a neck! For the neck is the most neglected part of the average body, we find. Why it is difficult to determine, but it seems that the young of a nation are especially neglectful except the older thereof.

You will see ladies too hasty in snapping dark, crimped hair, too soon will a well-groomed show and turn the head chin and the straightened cheeks, helplessly stiff above, roughly needled.

Now the way to keep a neck in the "fancy" of today is to be simple, to brush it and stroke it and pat it. Obviously it demands a smooth, clean, soft, and the application of a little fresh, yet firm, cream, is all that is needed.

Hoover In Favor Of Following Report Deputies That They Back Young's Plan

WASHINGTON, Mar. 29.—(AP)—President Hoover believes he can best fulfill American obligations in Haiti by carrying out the recommendations of the Farber commission that marine forces be gradually withdrawn from the island republic and diplomatic relations intensified.

Accordingly, he has accepted the commission's report, submitted less than two months after its appointment, as the basic policy of his administration in dealing with Haitian affairs. The same known late yesterday as unanimously with the publication of the report.

Under it terms, the United States will recognize Laurent Roy as president and his provisional government which will succeed that of President Boisr on May 15. When deputies and senators have been elected as a subsequent step and they in turn have named a president, that official and his government also will be recognized.

The new minister to Haiti to succeed Major General John H. Russell, American high commissioner under the recommendations of the commission, will be made responsible for "an increasingly rapid Haitianization" of the stand government for the purpose of having experienced Haitians in every department ready to take full charge at the expiration of the existing treaty in 1936.
