State Crime Lab Is Headed For Orlando

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Despite intense lobbying by several top local law enforcement officers, the new $3.2 million Central Florida Crime Lab will be built in Orlando.

The announcement was made this morning by Florida Department of Law Enforcement Commissioner Bill Dempsey at the Sanford Airport, where the present lab is located.

The announcement was received angrily by Seminole County Sheriff John Polk, who traveled to Tallahassee for a conference with Dempsey Monday in a last-ditch effort to get the new facility built in Lake Mary, who claimed the issue of the lab's new home was made a year ago.

Polk said the information "slipped" from a Florida Cabinet aide Monday. "Just before I left for Tallahassee Monday the information was let slip by mistake that cabinet aides were informed a year ago," the sheriff said.

And today, Polk has a copy of a letter written last December by then-FDLE Commissioner James J. Nease following his department's position that the new crime lab will be built in Orlando.

State Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood, said today he always has felt the new facility to be built to replace the overcrowded Sanford Lab, which is considered the work horse of the state system, should be built where it would most conveniently serve the law enforcement agencies — Lake Mary.

He noted the vast majority of the lab's work is outside Orlando and Orange County.

Brantley labeled the decision on the Orlando locale "political." "It was a political decision based on commitments made as much as a year ago," he said.

Brantley said he plans to appeal the decision directly to Gov. Bob Graham and the state Cabinet.

Although Polk received the information on a decision, he went to Tallahassee anyway Monday to bring current data on the decision to Dempsey's attention.

Polk said that Alachua, Lake, Marion, Volusia, Seminole and Brevard counties make up 47.17 percent of the laboratory's case work and 40.56 percent of its court time and they all want the lab to be built in Lake Mary.

The city of Lake Mary offered a minimum two-acre site for the state facility on city-owned property off Rinehard Road on a 99-year lease arrangement at $1 a year.

Only two area law enforcement agencies want the lab in Orlando — the Orange County Sheriff's Department and the Orlando Police Department — and they represent just 21.28 percent of the laboratory's case load, Polk told Dempsey.

Polk added all other law enforcement agencies in Orange County, including Winter Park and Maitland, want the laboratory in Lake Mary. Osceola County law enforcement also has noted its preference for Lake Mary.

The Central Florida Criminal Justice Association composed of 17 law enforcement agencies in Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties has a resolution some months ago, endorsing the Lake Mary site to the governor and Cabinet.

Only Orlando and Orange County Sheriff's Department dissented.

State Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs, pushed through the Florida House legislation appropriating the $3.2 million for the crime lab more than a year ago. Hattaway included in the bill that passed the House the location of the crime lab at Lake Mary.

When the bill got to the Florida Senate, the Lake Mary site designation was removed in favor of "a Central Florida site." And Hattaway reported at the time that he had a "gentlemen's agreement" that the commitment made to him on the Lake Mary site choice would be honored.

For the past year, FDLE officials have said that no decision has been made on the site, but that Orlando was favored. Hattaway last week lost his bid for election to the Senate

City Not Acting On Suggested Ouster

The Sanford City Commission will not discuss or consider the requested ouster of a Sanford Housing Authority member unless or until documented evidence is submitted showing she has not performed her duties.

But the commission is willing to consider swapping its old warehouse property on West Sixth Street for a new warehouse constructed at the city's public works complex behind the Evening Herald Building off French Avenue.

The first item of business on City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles agenda at Monday night's meeting was the petition signed by 33 residents of Redding Gardens, one of six public housing projects in the city. Petitioners sought the ouster of Mary Whitney, a Sanford Housing Authority commissioner.

Knowles had warned the city could not take action on the petition without documented evidence and Mayor Lee P. Moore followed the same logic.

When Alfred DeLattibaudiere, a leader in the black community, asked to speak on the item Moore said, however, that until the commission is presented with specifics on the complaint against Mrs. Whitney that she had not performed her duties, the commission won't discuss it.

"We will not be a party to this," the mayor said, adding the commission has to be careful on items of this nature and must be presented with fact, "documented fact."

The petitioners suggested that Mrs. Whitney be removed from office because "she has not provided any assistance nor concerned herself with the tenants' needs during her tenure."

The petitions suggested Mrs. Whitney be ousted and that Teri Buratti be appointed to replace her. Ms. Buratti previously served on the housing authority commission.

Mrs. Whitney has declined comment.

The commission is interested in an offer relayed by realtor A. B. Peterson Jr. of St. Johns Realty on behalf of a client. The offer is to swap the city's old railroad shop used as a warehouse.

Knowles said Peterson's client wants the warehouse, located on 51,000 square feet of property on West Sixth Street, for an indoor firing range. The building is an irregularly shaped facility containing 14,400 square feet.

Knowles said the layout of the present building is not the best in that trucks cannot drive into it to unload. The manager added that the old warehouse would be replaced by a 10,800-square-foot building with more usable space. And he said the city would provide the basic design for a new structure and see that it is built to city standards.

The proposed new building would be a metal type structure, 16 feet high.

Knowles also told the commission the current warehouse has been subjected to vandalism and a new facility at the public works complex would be more secure.

Knowles noted the city warehouse property was appraised in July at $226,725. He added that the city is interested in having that property placed on the tax rolls. —DONNA ESTES

Games Hundreds Go For Gold In Sanford's Golden Age Fun

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

More than 2,000 men and women from 55 to 98 years of age have entered the eighth annual Post Fun 'N Fitness Golden Age Games being held through Saturday in Sanford.

This figure is expected to reach 3,000 by the end of the week, Virginia Langwell, Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce executive assistant, said today.

"They are very enthusiastic this year; they want to get into everything," she said. "They are each entering six to eight events."

Things got underway Monday with only a few hitches — windy and rough conditions prevented the holding of the sailing event and even though the canoeists retreated to the relative safety of the marina, one canoe still overturned.

Today's events included golf, checkers, tennis, bowling, the 5-mile bicycle ride, men's rotation billiards, competitive diving and race walking.

Schedule of Events For The Week . . . Page 2A

Exhibits entered today in the hobby show and photography contest will be judged Wednesday morning and will be on display in the Sanford City Hall at Park Avenue and Fulton Street for the rest of the week.

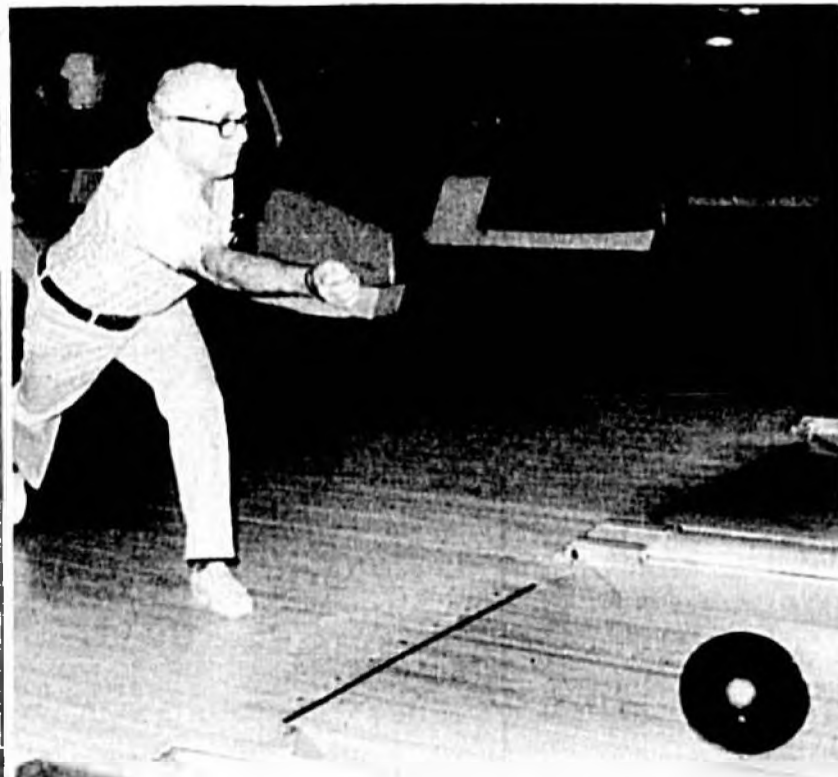

Wednesday will see the conclusion of the golf tournament at the Mayfair Country Club, tennis competition at Spencer Courts and Seminole Community College, cribbage and the dance contest, both at the Civic Center, and Part I of the decathlon at Seminole High. The deadline for decathlon entries is 5 p.m. today.

Among the entrants this year are 98-year-old Fred Broadwell of St. Petersburg, who will be entering track and field events, and 55-year-old twins, Bill Downey of Hialeah and Earl Downey of Lake Worth, who will enter the decathlon. Earl also will enter swimming and track and field.

The father and son team, Charles C. Leichtenberger, 84, of Winter Park, and his son, Charles W., 60, of Altamonte Springs, will enter bowling and track and field events. The son also will enter arts and crafts events in the hobby show. Jim Mason, almost 94, of Bram Towers, Sanford, is a bowling competitor.

Free breakfast will be available at the Civic Center courtesy of Post each morning for Games' participants. Orange drink and coffee will be furnished by McDonald's at the chamber headquarters.

Brother Charged In Greco Murder

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

A 16-year-old Longwood boy has been charged in the brutal slaying of his 14-year-old sister who died after being struck numerous times in the head with a metal hammer.

Richard David Greco of 1685 Glenethel Court in Longwood has been charged with second-degree murder in the beating death of his sister, Katherine Suzanne, 14. Greco was picked up on an arrest warrant issued by the Seminole State Attorney's Office by Sheriff's Investigator George Hagood from a Gainesville hospital Monday night. The youth was scheduled to appear in court at 1:30 p.m. today to determine if bond will be set. Greco is currently being held in the county jail.

Deputies discovered the bleeding Miss Greco at about 7 p.m. on Sept. 7 lying on the kitchen floor of her home after her brother, Richard, notified her father, Richard J., 33, at work that Katherine had been beaten.

Greco called deputies asking them to check on the well-being of his daughter while also calling a neighbor, Michael Young, asking him to go to the home, deputies said.

When deputies arrived at the home, they found the teenage boy lying on the front porch apparently in shock, saying, "My sister, my sister." Deputies then entered the home and were met by Young who led them to the girl.

Deputies added that a small metal, claw hammer was found on the kitchen floor near the bleeding girl. The hammer had been removed from the family's tool box, deputies said.

Earlier reports indicated an intruder had broken into the home and had beaten the girl while her brother listened to loud-playing music in the living room. However, deputies said there was no evidence a burglary had been committed and that nothing was stolen.

The young girl was taken to Florida Hospital-Orlando for treatment of the severe head injuries but was not operated on for about three hours, after her parents refused to allow blood transfusions because of their religious beliefs as Jehovah's Witnesses.

The girl was then transferred to the Orlando Regional Medical Center (ORMC) where Dr. German Montoya agreed to perform the operation under a court order at his hospital, providing that he could use whatever means necessary to save the girl's life. The court order was issued by Orange County Judge Michael F. Cyranick.

Katherine Greco died two days later at ORMC after never regaining consciousness. Doctors said she had suffered 14 or 15 blows to the head with the blunt end of a hammer.

Deputies said the young Greco boy was with his family during the ordeal at the hospital. But according to hospital officials at Shands Teaching Hospital in Gainesville, he was admitted under the care of psychiatrist Dr. Phillip Springer at that hospital on Sept. 22. Officials declined to disclose the nature of care young Greco received until the time of his arrest at 9:35 p.m. Monday.

Deputies listed Greco's occupation as a student enrolled in the high school program at Seminole Community College. However, school officials said that although Greco enrolled in September, he dropped out of school a few days after the semester began.

S&L Executive Guilty Of Contempt

A savings and loan executive is scheduled to be sentenced Dec. 15 after a Seminole Circuit judge ruled he was in contempt of court for firing a Lake Mary man who refused to ignore a jury duty summons.

Robert Fintel, assistant vice president and comptroller of Pioneer Federal Savings and Loan Association's Clearwater office, Monday was found guilty by Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Leffler of contempt for firing Carl W. Neidhart. Although Fintel could face up to 60 days in jail and a $500 fine, Leffler indicated he does not plan to impose the jail sentence because Fintel was acting as an officer of his company.

Neidhart, who was a senior accounting clerk with the company when he was called for Seminole County jury duty in July, told Leffler that he was fired from his job after notifying Fintel that he planned to report for jury duty.

Fintel maintains that Neidhart was fired for "insubordination" and not for his refusal to disregard the summons.

Neidhart, who has been unemployed since his July 6 firing, says he plans to file a lawsuit against the company, adding that he has been unsuccessful in finding a job because of the dismissal.

Florida law prohibits an employer from dismissing or threatening to dismiss an employee who is called for jury duty and makes the employer subject to contempt of court for such action.

Leffler rendered his decision in the case following a 90-minute hearing and set Fintel's sentencing date for 1:15 p.m. Dec. 15. — TENI YARBOROUGH

IN BRIEF

Social Security Needs At Least $75 Billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The president's commission on Social Security says the system's old-age and disability funds need at least $75 billion in cuts or could need up to $200 billion.

The panel's staff said the funds need the $75 billion in taxes or cuts through 1989 to pay checks on time through 1988 under moderate economic projections. Under pessimistic projections commission Republicans favor, because they say they approximate current conditions, the need would be more than $200 billion.

The report said if Social Security's healthier Medicare trust fund is included, the system's need drops to at least $44 billion through 1987 under moderate projections and $128 billion under pessimistic projections.

Inmate Charged In Fire

BILOXI, Miss. (UPI) — A man with a long history of mental illness was charged with 27 counts of murder for setting a fire in his padded cell at the Harrison County jail that killed 27 inmates and injured 47 other people, nine critically.

Robert Eugene Pates, 31, Granite City, Ill., suffered only minor injuries and was in the psychiatric unit at Memorial Hospital in Gulfport, Miss., today, where his policeman-brother said he should have been all along.

Authorities said Robert Pates apparently started the fire early Monday after he was put in a padded cell alone Sunday night. He had been arrested twice within six hours Sunday for public drunkenness, and was ordered held for a sanity hearing when he refused to leave the jail after his second arrest.

Was DeLorean Trapped?

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — John DeLorean's attorney says federal agents illegally trapped his client and prosecutors have resorted to distorting facts to bolster their cocaine conspiracy case against the multimillionaire automaker.

After DeLorean pleaded innocent Monday to charges he took part in a conspiracy to distribute cocaine, his attorney, Seth Hufstader, said the government had publicized half-truths and lies about the case. He said DeLorean's lawyers were from the "old school" and would not discuss the case, which will be tried beginning Jan. 7.

At that time, Hufstader said, he would attempt to show DeLorean would not have become involved in an illegal act without the guiding hand of law enforcement.

Altamonte Man Faces Theft, Maybe Arson Charge

By TENI YARBOROUGH
 Herald Staff Writer

An Altamonte Springs man was being held in the Seminole County jail today following his arrest Monday on charges that he stole some jewelry from another Altamonte Springs man and set fire to his home.

Dennis Clinton Mayfield, 19, of 900-B Creekwood Apartments, was arrested Monday at the Night Train lounge, Maitland Avenue and State Road 436, Altamonte Springs, where he is employed, and charged with grand theft. Mayfield is being held under $5,000 bond and police said an additional charge of arson is expected to be filed against him.

Police arrested Mayfield after Roger Frazee of 863-J Wind-song Apartments off State Road 436, told them that he was awakened by the smell of smoke in his apartment at about 3:45 a.m. Monday, discovered two fires in his home, his watch and ring stolen and Mayfield gone.

Frazee told police he had invited Mayfield to spend the night at his apartment.

Police went to Mayfield's home to talk to him about the theft and fires and were met by his sister who told them Mayfield was at work. After police told her of the incident, she allowed police to search the room and the watch and ring were found under a bed in Mayfield's bedroom, police said.

Mayfield told police that he had gone to Frazee's apartment to buy a guitar and amplifier and that Frazee had also sold him the jewelry. Frazee denied offering his jewelry for sale.

Mayfield also reportedly told police that he accidentally set the two fires in the apartment but that he had attempted to extinguish them before leaving.

CHURCH OFFICE RANSACKED

Someone broke into a Longwood church between 8:50 p.m. Sunday and 5:40 a.m. Monday, stole nothing, but vandalized the building.

Neal C. Webber, 56, minister of the Neighborhood Alliance Church, 301 Markham Woods Road, told deputies someone broke into the church offices and caused about $500 damage. Webber said the thieves apparently were searching for cash, but fled emptyhanded.

Pedaling Hard At 70

By MICHAEL BEHA
 Herald Staff Writer

Fitness is a way of life for Alex Gilchrist. It has been that way since he was born 70 years ago.

His childhood was spent pedaling a bike cross country through the heather in the highlands of Scotland. From that base, he has made cycling a lifelong activity.

On Monday, the Ellenton, Fla. resident competed in his age bracket in the quarter-mile bicycle race at the Golden Age Games. Because of a mix-up by officials, Gilchrist initially was given a gold medal but later had it taken back. He wound up in fourth place with no medal.

Ironically, it's swimming, not cycling, which has taken up most of Gilchrist's time this year. He saw coverage of last year's games on television and set out to train for this year's event.

"I started out in January swimming two miles a day," he said in his thick Scottish accent.

He continued that training throughout the spring and summer and when it was time to ride his bike around the Seminole High School track, Gilchrist was ready.

"It felt good out there. But that was from the swimming," he said.

"If you taken care of the engine," he said, pointing to his heart, "the engine will take care of you."

Gilchrist is also concerned with helping other senior citizens take care of their "engines."

 "I teach exercise classes at a senior citizen's center near Bradenton three times a week

'I sure don't feel 70.

You can be 28 or 30 and feel like you're 40 or you can feel like you're 21. It's all a matter of how you take care of yourself.'

— Alex Gilchrist

About 70 older people come out and exercise for a half hour," he said.

Gilchrist is 70, going on 40, and he subscribes to the theory that you're as young as you feel.

"I sure don't feel 70," he said. "You can be 28 or 30 and feel like you're 40 or you can feel like you're 21. It's all a matter of how you take care of yourself."

Gilchrist said old people aren't the only ones who need to exercise.

"You've got to get a good exercise program and stick with it, do it regularly," he said.

Despite the heavy emphasis on swimming in Gilchrist's training, he won't be getting into a pool competitively at the Games.

"I'm a cyclist, not a swimmer," he said.

That may be bad news for the other entrants in Friday's half-mile bike race.

Lloyd Meadows, 24, of 1504 Carlisle Ave., Casselberry, told police Joyce struck him, knocking him into the window of the store and breaking it. Meadows was taken to Florida Hospital-Altamonte where he was treated and released.

HOME NEAR ALTAMONTE SPRINGS ROBBED

Thieves broke into a woman's home near Altamonte Springs between 5:30 p.m. Friday and 1 p.m. Saturday and stole two hanging plants, an electric heater, a vacuum cleaner, a wall clock, a barbecue grill and a porch swing.

Betty Hudson, 34, of 1025 W. Notre Dame, told deputies the stolen property is valued at about $390.

FAULTY BLANKET CAUSES FIRE

Police said a faulty electric blanket caused a fire at a Sanford man's home early today. Although the bed was destroyed and the bedroom damaged, no injuries were reported.

Neal Farmer, 86, of 2824 S. Elm Ave., told police he was awakened at about 12:40 a.m. by "popping noises" and found his bed on fire.

Firefighters arrived on the scene and extinguished the blaze which they said destroyed the man's bed and caused heavy smoke damage to the bedroom. Officials said the fire appears to have been sparked by a faulty electric blanket.

FIRE CALLS

The Sanford Fire Department made the following calls: Friday

- 9:02 p.m. Apartment 47, Lake Monroe Terrace, false alarm.
- 9:07 p.m. 81 Redding Gardens, rescue.

Final Arguments Today In Pulitzer Divorce Trial

WEST PALM BEACH, (UPI) — Testimony in the divorce trial of publishing heir Peter Pulitzer and his wife Roxanne ended sensationally with a surprise witness saying he saw Mrs. Pulitzer in bed with wealthy socialite Jacqueline Kimberly.

Circuit Judge Carl Harper was scheduled to hear final arguments today, then pack up his copious notes and take them off on vacation to mull over what has been an emotionally bitter courtroom battle leaving little to the imagination.

Harper has heard accusations of drug abuse, bizarre sex, incest, adultery, occultism and lesbianism, all apparently intended to sway his decision as to which Pulitzer should retain custody of the couple's twin 5-year-old sons.

Also at stake is the Pulitzer fortune, pegged at $25 million by Mrs. Pulitzer, but estimated at one tenth that amount by her husband.

Measles Outbreak Spreads

MIAMI (UPI) — The largest measles outbreak in the nation apparently is edging northward in Dade County, say health officials who are still uncertain where the infectious outbreak came from.

Officials have extended a measles emergency to all public schools in the county and are sending thousands of students home because they lack proof of recent immunization. Nearly 118 cases at 24 Dade schools have been confirmed by the county health department.

Some 176,000 students in north Dade now are affected by the emergency, issued following the outbreak of two new cases in north Miami. The emergency previously had been in effect only in south Dade schools.

Today, ERA Would Pass

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — It's too late now unless Congress proposed a second Equal Rights Amendment, but the Florida Senate finally is pro-ERA.

The Senate rejected the ERA 22-16 during a special session this summer just before the national deadline for ratification. The House had voted for the ERA, but Senate rejection in one of the handful of states targeted by ratification strategists was deadly not only in Florida, but nationally as well.

But if a vote were taken today, the ERA would pass 25-15 because of changes in the Senate's makeup produced by last week's elections, according to Janet Canterbury, state president of the National Organization for Women. The House also appears still behind the amendment so Florida would vote to ratify.

Pope Plans Polish Visit; Solidarity Leaders Jailed

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Polish authorities, trying the carrot and stick method to quell threatened widespread unrest this week, scheduled a visit next June by Pope John Paul II but arrested key Solidarity underground leaders.

The warning was the most serious made yet by military authorities to stop the targeted eight-hour strike and mass street rallies called for Wednesday by the underground leadership to protest last month's outlawing of Solidarity.

Illegal marches also were planned for Thursday to mark Poland's pre-war independence day, and protest was likely Saturday to mark 11 months of martial law.

Authorities announced the arrest of about a dozen key regional underground leaders in Wroclaw, including a member of the five-man Solidarity underground leadership, Piotr Bednarsz.

Costs Of Hospital Options Compared

Seminole County commissioners are studying the comparative costs of using the old Seminole Memorial Hospital for county office space on a long- and short-term basis.

Public Services and Development Director John Percy presented figures to commissioners at a Monday work session on the costs of extensive renovations, needed for long-term use of the building, and minor alterations, all that is necessary for short-term use.

Improvements to the hospital for short-term use would be $113,000 Percy said. Operating costs for the first floor would be about $108,000 per year.

If the second floor is also renovated for use by the Property Appraiser, Tax Collector and Supervisor of Elections offices, the renovation costs would be $20,000, operating costs for the two floors would be about $170,000 per year, he said.

The cost of rental space equal to what's available in the hospital would be $266,667 for space equal to the first floor and $462,000 for space equal to the first two floors, Percy said.

Over a three-year period rental space equal to the first two floors in the hospital building would cost $1,386,414. Short-term renovations and operating costs to the hospital would cost $919,287 over that same period.

Long-term renovations to the hospital would cost about $3.78 million Percy said. Over a 20-year period, operating costs for the hospital would be in excess of $5 million bringing the total cost for renovation and operation for 20 years to more than $8.8 million.

New construction, with space roughly equivalent to that available in the hospital, would cost $5.8 million he said. Operating costs for a new building over 20 years would be more than $3.7 million, bringing the total cost of a new building to about $9.5 million over 20 years.

Commissioners must also find a new home for the Health Department's Sanford clinic. Dr. Jorge Deju, Health Department director, said a 13.8-acre parcel behind the Zayre Plaza on Airport Boulevard is now the first choice for relocation of the clinic from its current French Avenue site.

The property is for sale at a price of $20,000 to $23,000 per acre. Another parcel, 10 acres immediately west of the Zayre site, is also available at a price of $20,000 per acre.

Commissioners have considered using the old hospital as a new home for the health clinic.

A Nov. 23 vote is expected on the use of the hospital. One bid was received on the property last month but George Kline of Bethesda, Md. did not include a 10 percent bond along with his $611,000 bid. — MICHAEL BEHA

Mayor's Race May Spark Battle

Bill Clark, a Circuit Court bailiff, and a prospective candidate for mayor of Casselberry, will make a decision today on whether he wants to initiate a court battle to have his name placed on the city's Dec. 7 election ballot.

Former Casselberry councilman Jim Lavigne said today that he is prepared to show that Clark was improperly denied the right to be a mayoral candidate because of a technicality.

City Attorney Kenneth McIntosh ruled Monday that Clark had not properly met the qualifying deadline of 5 p.m. Friday. Thus, Longwood businessman and former councilman Charles Glascock would have won election unopposed to the office being vacated by Mayor Owen Sheppard.

Sheppard has resigned effective Jan. 10, leaving the remaining one year in his term up for grabs.

Clark completed the qualifying procedure at 5:03 p.m. Lavigne said a Florida appellate court has ruled that a candidate, as long as he is in the office where qualifying is to take place, has the right to complete the qualifying process after the deadline.

In addition, Lavigne said that City Hall has "no official clock," only a number of watches. He added that he has witnesses who will affirm that Clark's qualifying papers were "perused" by City Clerk Mary Hawthorne, the city's election official, before Clark had to leave her office momentarily to have those documents notarized by another city employee in the same building.

Others who have qualified for the Dec. 7 election for three council seats are: Seat 1 — Richard Russo, Bertha Rines, Jim Hill, Michael Bratman and Margaret Driggers; Seat 2 — incumbent Frank Schutte, and Frank Stone; Seat 3 — incumbent Bill Grier; Carl Robertson Jr. and Valentino Zeek.

... Greco Boy Charged In Murder

Meanwhile, deputies continued their investigation of the brutal slaying, declining to say if their suspect was a family member after discounting any claims that a burglar assaulted the girl.

However, deputies said their investigation began to center around the Greco boy after investigators received a call from the family's Miami lawyer, who told them not to look any further.

Deputies said the lawyer, whose identity has not been disclosed, agreed to bring the Greco youth to the Seminole County sheriff's department for questioning concerning the murder. But, in trying to coordinate a meeting with the defendant's lawyer and state prosecutors, deputies turned their case over to state prosecutors, asking them to file charges against the Greco boy.

Deputies added the case became somewhat confusing after Prosecutor Ralph Eriksson subpoenaed the boy's father, Richard J., to appear for questioning concerning the girl's death "and he wasn't even a suspect in the case," said Sheriff's spokesman John Spolski.

Spolski said Hagood, who served the subpoenae to the elder Greco, was barred from the interview and that his department still has not received a copy of the interview transcript.

"Let me assure you, I will get a copy of the transcript," Sheriff John Polk said. "And, my man should have been in on that interview. There is no reason why he should have been excluded."

In addition, Eriksson denied that he was involved in any way with the Greco case, adding that Greco "just stopped in to say hi and see how things were going with the case," although Eriksson said he and Greco had never met.

W.J. Patterson, executive director of the Sanford office, later disputed Eriksson's claims, saying the state attorney's office was working on the Greco case and that Eriksson had subpoenaed the elder Greco to discuss the Lake Mary High School sophomore's murder.

Neither family members nor the family's lawyer could be reached for comment.

If convicted of the second-degree murder charge, the youth could face a maximum sentence of life in prison, prosecutors said.

Social Security Must Be Handled

With the election finally behind us, we can hope that our political leaders can now return to a rational discussion of the Social Security problem. Since the campaigns started early this year, those involved in politics have: 1. tried to avoid the subject, 2. blundered by talking about solutions, or 3. exploited it in a way that carried demagoguery to new heights.

Social Security is in deep trouble. November benefit checks for the elderly were covered with borrowed money. The retirement fund is expected to need $11 billion in loans from the disability and Medicare funds to cover its obligations during the balance of the current fiscal year.

Not only is the system in trouble, but there is no way of solving its problems without stepping on political toes. That explains why Sen. Robert Dole sees the lame duck session of Congress as a rare window of opportunity to come to grips with the issue of Social Security reform.

The National Commission on Social Security Reform is scheduled to meet the middle of November to take final action on what promises to be a controversial report summing up its year-long study. Alan Greenspan, the chairman, offers little comfort about what it will contain. The president and Congress, he says, may have to settle for the "least worst" of the options for putting the system on a sound financial footing.

But what is least worst may depend on one's point of view. The option of raising payroll taxes would not please President Reagan, who is trying to keep taxes down for the sake of economic growth. Nor would it please younger workers paying into a system that promises only a distant and dubious return.

Advancing the age for eligibility for retirement benefits, or phasing out the early retirement option, would irritate those workers now nearing 62 or 65. Tinkering with the automatic cost-of-living increases in future benefits would be resisted by those now retired and accustomed to seeing their checks rise with the consumer price index.

Finally, the option of forcing employees of federal, state, and local government to meld their now-separate pension systems with Social Security would be perceived by them as a threat to their potential retirement income.

With all those political considerations, Dole thinks the best hope for action lies in putting Social Security on the agenda of the rump session of the 97th Congress convening at the end of November. Some members will be retiring at the end of the year, thus free of re-election considerations, while the rest will not have to face elections again for two to six years.

That the lame duck session would confront the issue is only a long-shot possibility. Its agenda already is crowded with major appropriations bills hanging over from the pre-election session. The familiar Social Security "crisis" may be greeting the 98th Congress when it convenes in January.

Whether it is an expiring Congress or a new one that finally tackles Social Security reform, there is precious little time to spend in debating the options offered by the Greenspan commission. Somewhere among the least worst choices is a formula that is workable and fair. The president and Congress must find it before Social Security falls under the approaching shadow of the 1984 elections and we are back where we started.

BERRY'S WORLD

"After all these years, son, I realize I should have been saying good boy to YOU as much as I said it to the dog!"

The general elections are over in Seminole County for another year. The city elections in Sanford, Lake Mary, Longwood and Casselberry are yet to come in December.

And the Democrats came out the losers in the countywide elections again.

Only Gov. Bob Graham, Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner and state Sen. John Vogt of Cocoa Beach were able to carry the county.

Some Democrats are trying to assess blame for the situation. Whose fault is it, Democrats are saying.

The party felt it had some excellent candidates. And there was a scientifically run telephone poll and walking campaigns through many of the precincts of the county by several of the candidates. But most of those walking campaigns were concentrated in the south end of the county.

Twenty years of observation of local politics shows, however, that for Democrats to win they must get a good turnout of Democratic voters in the north end of the county — the Sanford area.

But, traditionally those north end voters, for the most part working people, must be encouraged right up to and including election day to turn out and vote.

In years past when the two-party system came into Seminole and began winning elections in Seminole County in the mid 1960's, emphasis was placed on getting Sanford Democrats to the polls. And the result was that those Democrats did elect.

By the late 1960's, a Democrat had to take Sanford by about 1-2-10-1 to win; by the 1970's the margin of victory in Sanford had to be about 2-10-1 and today it must be about 3-10-1.

While Democrats Bettye Smith, who was running for the legislative seat won by Art Grindle, and Troy Piland, who was running for the legislative seat won by Carl Selph, both took Sanford by a good margin, the margin wasn't large enough to overcome the Republican vote from the south end.

John Kimbrough of Longwood was the first county commissioner elected in the early 1970's studying the voting trends in the county. A Republican, he knew that his chances in that election against a Sanford Democrat among the voters of Sanford were practically nil. He ignored Sanford in both his election campaigns, concentrating his efforts among South Seminole Republicans. He won.

Both Selph and Grindle did the same thing last Tuesday while Mrs. Smith and Piland were putting out their major efforts, also in the south end.

Selph and Grindle had interesting last-minute campaign literature distributions.

From the Grindle camp came a letter to Republican voters signed by Mrs. Phyllis Grindle. The letter on blue stationery was of such high quality, each appeared to be originals and included were two photographs of Grindle family gatherings.

Selph distributed cards to Republicans in his district, telling each voter where his polling place was. With the change in polling places occurring so often in this growing county, the Selph card was very helpful to many voters.

And They Call It Journalism

NEW YORK (NEA) — It was in New Zealand, on my recent swing around the Pacific Basin, that I chanced to come upon the article by Robert Chesshyre that constitutes the subject of this column, and that is why I shall always think of Chesshyre as "the noted New Zealand political reporter." Newspapers these days are very eclectic, however, and for all I know Chesshyre, whose spoor I had not come across before, may be rooted and based in Boston.

Anyway, he landed an interview with Sen. Ted Kennedy, and it was his account of their conversation that was picked up and published at the other end of the world, where I stumbled across it. It was a routine job, with a little of this and a little of that, and I would have forgotten it within minutes if a sentence toward the end hadn't caught my eye. Chesshyre is explaining that Sen. Kennedy has tried to use the nuclear freeze issue to put a little wind in his political sail, and pauses to brief his readers on a collateral point. Quoth Chesshyre:

"Ronald Reagan — perhaps believing the American public is nostalgic for Spiro Agnew, who branded everyone with whom he disagreed as a 'Communist' — has accused the many millions of freeze supporters of being manipulated 'by some who want the weakening of America.'"

Now, being a columnist myself, I know how Chesshyre happened to write that sentence. He was in a hurry, and he simply counted on the inveterate hostility of the world's liberals (which is the audience he is apparently cultivating) to Agnew and Reagan, to excuse the intellectual sloppiness and downright falsity of his attacks on them. But there are still quite a few people around who know a bucket of mud when they see one being slung, and I rise to nail Chesshyre in the act.

The chief object of his assault is, of course, Ronald Reagan. According to Chesshyre, Reagan's recent assertion that nuclear freeze demonstrators are being manipulated "by some who want the weakening of America" is a falsehood comparable to the accusation that an innocent person is a Communist.

Now, the first thing any rational reader of Chesshyre's sentence must notice is that, whatever the truth of Mr. Reagan's charge, accusing someone of being "manipulated" by America's foes is not anywhere nearly in the same category as accusing him of being a Communist — i.e., a conscious agent of those foes. "Manipulation," almost by definition, assumes the unawareness of the manipulatee. Quite a difference!

In the second place, if one stops to think about it, Mr. Reagan's assertion isn't all that implausible. Certainly it doesn't fall of its own weight, as Chesshyre (and Kennedy) seem to think. They evidently assume that the "many millions" of Americans who support a nuclear freeze simply constitutes too large a number of people to be "manipulated." But it was Abraham Lincoln who told us that, on the contrary, "You can fool all of the people some of the time" — a piece of world-weary wisdom that tends to get lost in our gratification at its sequel. Suckering a few million people into the nuclear freeze movement has been child's play, as Reagan ruefully observed.

Solidarity Courts Danger With Plan

WASHINGTON — Tomorrow the first real test of strength will come between Solidarity and the Polish military regime since the workers' movement was outlawed last month.

It will also, according to top administration sources, mark the beginning of a new and dangerous course decided on in recent weeks by the union's underground leaders.

The strategy reflects the courage and stubbornness that have been both the hope and despair of Poland in the two years of Solidarity's history. The union leaders' goal is nothing less than to force the generals to back down through a series of escalating demonstrations that would culminate in a nationwide general strike next spring.

The first of these demonstrations is the eight-hour work stoppage called for tomorrow, the second anniversary of Solidarity's legal recognition by the communist government. The next show of strength will be a protest on Dec. 13, the first anniversary of the declaration of martial law.

Poland-watchers in the administration were unwilling to predict the outcome of tomorrow's strike, much less the probable results of Solidarity's ambitious strategy. They point out that for the grand strategy to succeed, each new demonstration must build on the one before it, with a "crescendo" effect that will finally convince the military regime it must retreat from its hard-line repression.

The boldness of Solidarity's gamble is a sharp change of course, born of desperation and disillusion. In the 11 months since the military crackdown shattered the union leadership, Solidarity has often been indecisive and ineffective. Its remaining leaders have come to the realization that they must regain the offensive if the movement is to survive at all.

Part of Solidarity's passive behavior in recent months can be traced to the leaders' hopes that Gen. Wojtek Jaruzelski wasn't as bad as he seemed to be, and that he would keep his promise to end martial law and allow Solidarity to function again.

Washington (NEA) — If you're worried about contracting cancer, forget about your exposure to benzene, cadmium, chromium, nickel and the thousands of other industrial substances strongly suspected of being carcinogenic agents.

Instead, you'll want to modify your dietary habits to increase consumption of vitamins A, C and E as well as selenium, beta-carotene and selected chemicals.

That, in effect, is the new policy of the Department of Health and Human Services, which has subordinated — if not abandoned — its concern about the carcinogenic properties of industrial chemicals and other compounds used in manufacturing processes in favor of a "you are what you eat" approach to reducing the nation's soaring rate of cancer.

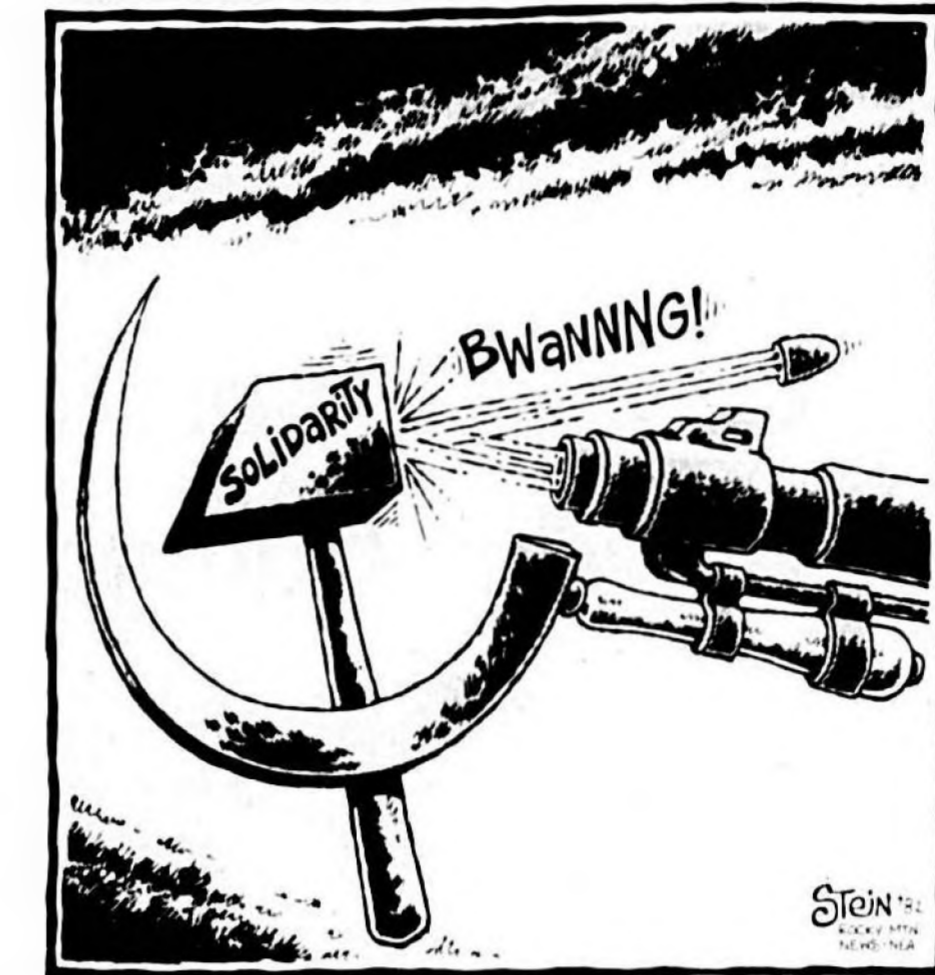

It wasn't always that way. Prior to President Reagan's inauguration, HHS and other federal agencies had mounted a concerted effort to identify, classify and regulate cancer-causing agents in the nation's workplaces.

"Occupationally related cancers may comprise as much as 20 percent or more of total cancer mortality in forthcoming decades," warned a 1978 report prepared by the National Cancer Institute and two other government health agencies.

"There are still many unregulated carcinogens in U.S. workplaces," the report added. "A number of occupations are characterized by excess cancer risks which have not yet been attributed to specific agents."

Among the high-risk occupational groups are asbestos, furniture, rubber, shoe, leather, foundry and textile workers; coal and hard-rock mineral miners; those handling cadmium and coke by-products; chemists and printing pressmen.

"Occupational exposure to carcinogens is a factor in an estimated 20 to 30 percent of all cancers," the chairman of the Council on Environmental Quality estimated in 1979

The Irony In Spain

There are a number of questions that have been raised rather than settled by the Spanish election, not the least ironic of which concerns Spain's NATO membership.

It is not an affiliation of long duration. Spain became the alliance's 16th member this year, just before the NATO summit in Bonn.

It would have been much earlier if several administrations in Washington had been able to arrange it. But most of the Europeans would have none of it as long as the Franco regime remained in power. Franco's wartime Axis affiliations made his Spain a political affront to Western Europe deep into the post-war era, long after animosities toward the defeated Germans had largely been laid to rest.

It was not until Franco's death allowed his designated heir, King Juan Carlos, to begin gingerly transforming the fossilized authoritarian Spanish state into a functioning parliamentary democracy that Spain became politically respectable enough to be accepted into the Western alliance.

The most striking evidence of the king's success — so far — is the transfer of power through a free election to the Socialists, outlawed as long as Franco still breathed.

Precisely the sort of democratic performance that should remove any question as to Spain's suitability as an ally. But the Socialists, having benefited so handsomely from the democracy that NATO pressure helped bring to Spain, are now asking whether Spain should remain in the alliance. Ironic, certainly, but no cause for panic. Yet.

The Socialists are not talking about withdrawing outright, but of putting the question to the Spanish public in a national referendum. And their leader and new prime minister designate, Felipe Gonzalez, is saying privately that he may put the vote off until after the next election, which could be four years.

Meanwhile, there will be no shortage of more pressing questions facing Gonzalez. There is the economy, in bad shape even by Western Europe's current stagnant standards. Spain's unemployment rate is the continent's highest.

There are the separatist movements which continue to challenge the central government in Madrid. The Socialists argue that they are in the best position to deal with the situation because their strength in some of the most sensitive areas, such as the Basque provinces and Gonzalez' own Andalusia.

But if they can't deliver, the failure may provide the provocation for military intervention to preserve national unity.

And there is the biggest question — the military. Franco may be dead, but Francism lives on in an officer corps hostile to Spain's new democracy and that has already spawned one attempted coup.

The officers may ultimately but indirectly decide the NATO issue.

Solidarity's vacillation at the time of the prohibition decree. The shipyard workers in Gdansk staged massive walkouts. It was the right psychological moment for Solidarity to call a nationwide protest in their support. Instead, the surviving underground leadership called for tomorrow's strike — a month after the opportunity for spontaneous public support had passed.

In the long run, of course, the odds against Solidarity and the Polish people are slim. If the union's new strategy succeeds in forcing concessions from the military regime, it must be careful not to go too far. This could lead to replacement of Jaruzelski with even tougher hard-liners, or to intervention by the Soviet Union.

If the union does beat the odds, it will have to show restraint — and its record on that score in the past is not encouraging.

However, should there be an overwhelming show of support for Solidarity tomorrow, the analysts will have to go back to their drawing boards.

Lyman Faces Inexperienced Eau Gallie; Lions Battle Tourney-Vet Tampa Catholic

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Volleyball teams from Lyman and Oviedo will go to regional championship games tonight, but that's as far as the comparison goes.

Oviedo plays at home against Tampa Catholic. Lyman travels to Melbourne to take on Eau Gallie. The Lions will play a veteran, tournament-tested Tampa Catholic outfit which beat them in the regional last year. The Greyhounds take on a young, inexperienced Eau Gallie unit which finished the season with a 9-7 record.

Ironically, Oviedo handed Lyman its only loss in what has been a sparkling 21-1 campaign for coach Karren Newman's Greyhounds. Lyman had beaten Oviedo earlier in the season, however, so the county's two best ended on even terms.

"I talked to the Brooksville (Hernando) coach," said Oviedo coach Anita Carlson. "She said, 'Tampa Catholic is not as good as they were last year.'"

Last year, Tampa beat the Lions 15-7, 16-14. Carlson feels, however, this year's team is stronger and the home court advantage may give the Lions an edge. "I hope we're not as nervous as we were in the district," said Carlson. "We'll be playing at home and that should help."

In the district at Lake Mary, the Lions swept past Leesburg, St. Cloud and Eustis for the title. The Lions' big gun is Fay Robinson. The 6-1 junior is a devastating spiker. Theresa Willis, Sandy Stevens and Fran Foster are solid all-around players. Mary Lokers, Kim Boston and Stephanie Nelson round out the regulars.

Lyman, meanwhile, will see an opposite group of players in Eau Gallie. The girls of coach Emory "Flip" McMillan were stumbling along with a 2-7 record when they suddenly caught fire and reeled off seven straight wins.

"They're a pretty young team," said Eau Gallie athletic director George Ketchum. "They don't really have any of the big kids either and only a couple of seniors." Eau Gallie's two best players are Alyce Kelly and Barbara Berry. They're both 5-7 and do most of the spiking, according to Ketchum.

The Greyhounds should have an edge in height, especially with the continued fine play of 6-0 Vikki McMurrer. The blonde-haired senior came out late for the team when Lyman was hit by several injuries. Normally a basketball player, she has improved with each outing.

The Greyhounds' solid six are made up of Lynn Lugerling, Amy Babcock, Wynne Wycoff, Pam Stambaugh, Carol Rogers and Ronda Tempeta.

Lugerling is an excellent all-around player who was voted the most valuable performer in a summer camp at Florida State University.

Directions to Eau Gallie are as follows. Take Highway 50 to County Road 520 to Interstate 95. Take I-95 south and exit on Eau Gallie Boulevard. Go three lights and turn north (left) on Croton Road. At the next light, turn east (right) on Eau Gallie Boulevard. The school is on the left, two or three blocks down.

Lyman's Lynn Lugerling (no. 5) goes high in the air to block a point in Friday's District 4A-9 championship game against Lake Howell. The Lady Greyhounds took two out of three from the Silver Hawks to earn a trip to tonight's Region 4A-5 match against Eau Gallie in Melbourne.

Players Want Management To Respond

ETTA HULME
N.E.A.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The striking NFL Players Association, claiming its rank and file spumed management's latest offer, called upon pro football's owners to "respond to our proposal" and "obey the law."

NFLPA Executive Director Ed Garvey announced Monday night 24 of the 25 teams polled, convincingly turned down the owners' current offer. He said his union is waiting for resumption of talks that might end the 50-day walkout.

"We're delighted management's latest illegal tactic has failed," said Garvey, alluding to the league's plan to present its contract offer directly to the players. "The offer, quite frankly, was not much more than they put on the table last week."

"We hope now management will respond to our proposal. The next step is for them to obey the law. The system catches up with you in this country."

According to the NFLPA, 24 of the 25 teams polled so far have turned down the owners' current offer. Three West Coast teams had not yet been heard from while the New Orleans Saints were the only club to support management.

Chuck Sullivan, vice president of the New England Patriots and chairman of the NFL Management Council, called the poll inaccurate.

"The NFLPA's claim 24 out of 25 teams have turned down our offer is untrue," Sullivan said. "Our information is that at least 10 teams have yet to vote upon our proposal. We are hopeful that when the players learn the details of our proposal many of them will vote to approve it."

The union did not specify the exact voting of each team, nor did it say if the votes were cast by secret ballot.

Union President Gene Upshaw, aware of criticism in some quarters, defended his union's conduct.

"The players have not lost control of the union," he said. "It's an open union, the players have input."

Marvin Powell, the New York Jets' player representative, said the owners' 75-page proposal, in which management offered $1.3 billion over four years with $60 million in bonuses this year, had no chance of approval at the team meetings.

The teams received a 4½-page synopsis of the offer because, according to Garvey, management provided only one copy of the complete proposal to the union.

"I don't think any reasonable person who can read would accept that (proposal)," Powell said.

The union said the Saints' vote was not a true indication of team feeling since, according to the NFLPA's count, less than 20 players attended the meeting in New Orleans. But player rep Russell Exelbren said team members attending a special meeting or contacted by phone voted, 45-1, to accept the offer in principle, with one player abstaining. The players conceded, however, there remained details in need of negotiation.

One of those at the meeting, safety Tommy Myers, criticized the union and its executive director.

"In my way of thinking, it's an upside down organization, with the power coming from Mr. Garvey," he said.

With the strike in its eighth week and the possibility growing of the season having to be canceled, the league is considering abandoning its hotel arrangements for the Jan. 20 Super Bowl in Pasadena, Calif. The NFL had said it planned to tell the Los Angeles Visitors and Convention Bureau, which oversees hotel reservations during Super Bowl week, that it could free its rooms.

However, the president of the bureau said he has yet to hear from the league.

Negotiations recessed Saturday after eight days of New York meetings with Jack Donlan, the NFL Management Council's chief negotiator, announcing the two sides were wider apart than ever.

Private mediator Sam Kagel, having failed to obtain an agreement in Maryland and in the latest sessions in New York, flew home to San Francisco Sunday.

Garvey said he expects negotiations to resume "fairly soon" in New York, saying an injunction would help get management back to the bargaining table.

The NFLPA previously charged the owners with not bargaining in good faith and the National Labor Relations Board set next Monday as a hearing date for the complaint.

Culverhouse, Williams Urge Players To Vote

TAMPA (UPI) — Tampa Bay Buccaneer owner Hugh Culverhouse and quarterback Doug Williams share the same hope — that striking NFL players will be given a chance by the union leadership to vote on management's latest offer.

Culverhouse told reporters Monday he respects the solidarity of the NFL Players' Association but said it was time for the union leaders to put that solidarity to the test of a secret vote.

"I think that it should stand the test of all of the democratic process that we have in this country, and that is a secret ballot," Culverhouse said.

Williams, the fifth-year quarterback out of Grambling, has been an outspoken critic of the strike and he told Tampa Tribune sports writer Jim Selman Monday he believes as many as 35 and possibly 40 of the 49 players on the roster would vote to accept the contract if the vote was by secret ballot.

But he said the players buckle under to peer pressure and don't stand up in opposition during player meetings where assistant player representative Dave Stalls has briefed them on contract negotiations.

"If it came to a vote today and everybody expressed their feelings, we'll have a season," Williams said.

Culverhouse made his first public statements since the strike began 49 days ago, saying he had remained silent because he felt his role as a member of the NFL Management Council Executive Committee would be jeopardized by any public statements and because of a gag rule imposed by the federal mediator.

"The gag rule is off today and will remain off," Culverhouse said. "At this time the danger of losing the 1982 season is so real that I think our fans deserve to be fully informed." Culverhouse said it was his belief that if the games this weekend are called off, the season will be over.

Asked if he blamed the union leadership for the stalemate, he replied:

"Yes sir, unequivocally. I think when Mr. (Ed) Garvey wants a settlement, you'll have a settlement. It's that simple."

Culverhouse said if play is resumed and the season is salvaged, it would be too late to rebuild a schedule around division games.

"It's too late for that," he said. "Today, you would play out your schedule as originally agreed upon and then you'd negotiate to see whether you'd make up one game, two games or zero games."

Culverhouse expressed disappointment that some NFL players had dropped by the offices of the new United States Football League.

"I didn't appreciate them going down to see them," he said. "I think it's disloyal. I was disappointed."

Culverhouse said if the Bucs' players voted to accept the management offer they would be welcomed back.

"I would certainly take them back and hope we had some work to do, but if we don't have anyone to play against, I can't pay them," he said.

Williams and several other players walked out early on Stalls' meeting Sunday night and Colzie agreed with Williams that the players want to return, a view disputed by Stalls.

"Everybody should have a vote," Colzie said. "Everybody wants to go back to work."

Morgan Captures Comeback Award

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you've got to have a bad year, it's best to bounce back in style. Joe Morgan did.

"Obviously, it's not an award anyone sets out to win," the plucky San Francisco Giants' second baseman said, after learning he was named the National League's Comeback Player of the Year. "But it's tough never to have one bad year, so in that regard it is an honor."

Morgan, 39, earned 14 of a possible 51 votes from a panel of sports writers for helping pull the Giants within a whisker of the NL West Division title. He easily outdistanced New York Mets' righthander Craig Swan, who notched 11 votes for battling back from a rotator cuff injury to post an 11-7 record.

A two-time Most Valuable Player whose career appeared to be on the wane when he hit only .340 in 90 games last season, Morgan rebounded in 1982 with a .288 average, 14 home runs and 61 RBI.

The native of Bonham, Texas was a key figure in the Giants' team that shook off a sluggish start, then made a charge that placed them in contention facing a season-ending, three-game series against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Pookie, Fabricating Split; Cook's Wins 16th

S&H Fabricating and the Pookie Bears played two make-up games a piece Monday night and each came away with splits in Sanford Men's Softball League action at Pinehurst Park.

Fabricating trimmed the Pookie Bears, 5-1 in the first game of the night behind Dave Perry's two hits, two runs scored and two RBI.

S&H Fabricating took an early 2-0 lead in the first inning on RBI singles by Don Waterman and Dean Krick. Krick's RBI groundout put S&H up 3-0 in the third inning and Perry's two-run single in the fourth gave S&H Fabricating a comfortable 5-0 lead.

Mark Smith scored the only run for the Pookie Bears in the sixth inning. S&H Fabricating outhit the Bears 10-4.

Playing consecutive games may have been too much for S&H Fabricating, though, as they were stomped by Cook's Corner, 13-0 in Monday night's second game.

Levi Raines belted four hits, two doubles and a homer, and collected five RBI to lead Cook's Corner to its 18th consecutive win. Cook's had 21 hits in the game compared to just four for S&H Fabricating.

The Pookie Bears played exterminator in the final game Monday night, getting the termites out of its bats in time to hammer Session Time, 19-1.

Fred Aiken had four hits (three triples) and Mark Smith added four singles to the 23-hit Pookied Bear barrage. Bob Beine added a three-run home to the fireworks and Wayne Crocker cracked a two-run shot.

SMALL CELEBRATION

There wasn't too much for Seminole High football players to celebrate Friday night against Lyman, but Steve Alexander (left in right photo) and quarterback Rob Cohen made the best of what they had. Cohen tossed a 10-yard scoring pass to Alexander in the fourth quarter for Sanford's lone TD. Most of the time Friday, however, it was like the below photo as Seminole's Tim Herring (no. 18) takes a tumble as Lyman speedster Vince Presley heads for a big gain. Lyman whipped Seminole, 49-7. ## Tangerine Bowl Eyes Auburn

College Football

ORLANDO (UPI) — Auburn University has been chosen as the favorite to host the Tangerine Bowl Dec. 18 and probably will take the offer.

The only hitch in the plan would be if Auburn is invited to the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans, "an extreme longshot," it was reported.

"Auburn is a program on the upswing that has exceeded its expectations for this season, no matter what happens in its final two games," said Chuck Rohe, the executive director of the Tangerine Bowl.

"They have a devoted fandom and should we be lucky enough to have them come here, I would expect they would bring a host of folks who would stay for several days."

The Tigers have not made a bowl trip in eight years. They have averaged more than 61,000 fans at their seven home games this year.

Kermit Perry, assistant athletic director at Auburn, said the school was honored to be considered by the bowl.

"It's a bowl that has made as many strides as any bowl in the past several years," he said. "It is played at a good time of the year — before Christmas and in good weather and with good attractions and good entertainment."

Rohe, who stressed the bowl would wait until Nov. 20 to make a formal bid, said one advantage of choosing Auburn was that it would not conflict with the school's final exams. Terry estimated that up to 25,000 Auburn fans would visit Orlando for the bowl if Auburn were invited.

No firm options have been established for choosing an opponent to Auburn, it was reported.

No. 1 'Dawgs Want To Repeat

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two years ago, the University of Georgia moved into the No. 1 spot in UPI's Board of Coaches ratings at this stage of the season and went on to capture the national title. The Bulldogs are hoping for a repeat of history.

"It's a point of pride," Coach Vince Dooley said Monday of the top spot, "but I know I speak on behalf of our players and coaches in saying the most important thing is to be No. 1 when the season is over. It will be a great challenge to see if we have the maturity to stay No. 1."

Georgia, 9-0, claimed the top spot by collecting 22 first-place votes and 607 points from the 42 coaches on the Board, while No. 2 SMU, also 9-0, received 18 first-place votes and 602 points. Last Saturday, Georgia, led by Herschel Walker's 219-yard, three-touchdown performance, walloped Florida, 44-0, and SMU topped Rice, 41-14, to extend its winning streak to 13 games.

Four of last week's Top 10 teams lost Saturday, and all of them tumbled from their high spots in the ratings. Pittsburgh, ranked in the top three from the start of the season, fell to No. 7 and Arkansas, which lost, 24-17, to Baylor for its first defeat of the year, dropped from fourth to No. 9.

Nebraska, 8-1 after a 48-10 triumph over Oklahoma State, moved up two positions to No. 3 with one first-place vote and 514 points. Penn State, a 54-0 winner over North Carolina State, also moved up two spots to No. 4 with one first-place vote and 493 points.

Unbeaten LSU, 7-0-1 after a convincing 20-10 victory over Alabama, advanced five places to No. 5 followed by No. 6 Washington.

Rams Raise $27,000

Lake Mary High School, if everything goes as planned, will have a new football stadium complex by the start of the 1983 football season.

Monday night, at the Sweetwater Club west of Longwood, the Lake Mary Boosters kicked off their fund raising drive by getting 77 members into the Century Club. Members of the Century Club are $1,000 donors which brings the total raised Monday night to $27,000.

Many more activities and fund raising efforts are planned for the future to involve the Booster Club and the students of Lake Mary High. The stadium will have about 3,000 seats for the home crowd and about 1,400 for the visitors. The Boosters Club has a committee looking for the best possible type of complex.

Wildcats Edge Bulldogs, 8-6

Patrick Dougherty's 28 yard touchdown pass to Kerry Wiggins proved to be the winning margin for the Wildcats as they edged the Bulldogs, 8-6 in the Junior League Championship of the Sanford Flag Football League at Chase Park.

George Gordon scored the Bulldogs' only touchdown on a 32-yard run in the first half to give the Bulldogs a short-lived 6-0 lead.

Over the past two weekends the Sanford Recreation Department has sponsored a football skills competition for ages 8-13.

In the 8-year-old age division, Demetry Beamon compiled a total of 133 points for first place. The competition includes three events, punting, passing and kicking.

Bear Not Ready For Hibernation

College Football

ATLANTA (UPI) — Hold up on that Bear Bryant retirement announcement.

Oh, it's going to happen one of these days, probably at the end of next season. But nobody, certainly not the president of the University of Alabama, is going to force Bryant out this year because the Crimson Tide has lost a couple of football games.

Bryant was talking retirement last Saturday after Alabama lost to Louisiana State. But that was more likely frustration over the loss than a decision to come off his coaching tower.

There was a move in Alabama to permit Bryant to coach as long as he wanted to; the state legislature giving him a special exemption from the law that forces state employees to retire when they are 70 years old. But a judge — who just happened to be an Auburn man — ruled such an exemption was unconstitutional.

Since Bryant got the word out that he didn't want the judge's decision appealed, one concludes that since he'll be 70 years old next Sept. 11, he plans to wind up his coaching career with the 1983 season which is scheduled to begin for Alabama on Sept. 10.

Bryant brought up the subject back in August while addressing a group of touring media, saying "I don't know how much longer the university can afford to keep me. I don't want to wait until the program is down. It's time to make a move."

Bryant was harder on himself after the loss to LSU. That plus an earlier loss at Tennessee marked the first time since 1976 the Crimson Tide had lost two Southeastern Conference games the same season and Bryant said, "When you don't do any better than we've done, you've got something wrong at the top — and I'm at the top in my organization."

Any hint that Bryant, winningest college coach of all time with 322 victories in 38 seasons, might be getting ready to pack it in starts speculation about his successor.

It caused a bit of a furor within the organization when Bryant, who insists he was misunderstood, was thought to have said in August that his successor would be brought in from outside.

But whether that was indicated or not, the general feeling is that Alabama will want Bryant's successor to be a native son who has already made a reputation for himself elsewhere.

The heir apparent changes from time to time as the fortunes of college football switch. There was a time when Steve Sloan seemed to have the inside track, but five straight losing seasons at Ole Miss appear to have derailed his chances.

Jackie Sherrill was another name banded about when Sherrill was at Pitt. But the big bucks Sherrill got to go to Texas A&M would seem to push him down Alabama's list.

At this point, just making a guess, you have to like Danny Ford over at Clemson. Ford is a native of Alabama who both played for (1967-69) and assisted (1970-73) Bryant at Alabama and who has had tremendous success at Clemson — winning the national championship last year and losing only to Georgia so far this year.

"Whoever we get, I know one thing," Bryant said back in August. "When I leave here, we're going to have a better coach than we have now."

Bryant was just being modest. He may not be as forceful a coach at 69 as he was when he returned to Alabama a quarter of a century ago, but he'll leave behind a record that will plague the men who follow him for years to come.

Remember, we're talking about a school where two losses in the same season has the head coach talking about throwing in the towel; a school that has had two regular-season losses the same season only twice in the past 12 years.

Whoever is the next coach at Alabama will have Bryant's legend hanging over his head like a dark cloud. Alabama fans will remember only the good years — Bryant's three perfect seasons and four national championships — and be infuriated by the 83 or 9-2 records that delight fans at schools with less glamorous pasts.

Few men have replaced a legend and been as successful. Most lasted only a few years and then were shunted aside in a continual search for someone who can restore the glory days.

One assistant in a similar situation put it best: "I would not want to succeed our coach," he said. "But I would like to succeed his successor."

Charlie McClendon, now executive director of the American Football Coaches Association, lived under such a cloud during his 18 seasons at LSU where he was the eighth most successful active college coach in the nation with a 137-98-7 record.

Despite taking the Bengals to 13 bowls, McClendon was haunted by the ghost of LSU's 1968 national championship team.

"Four of my teams won nine games, but that was never enough," said McClendon. "We had too many influential supporters who lived in the past, who continuously waited for another national championship. They were unwilling to settle for anything less."

Neither will the Alabama fans.

Special Ed Director Has 'An Open Ear'

By DEEGATRELL
Herald Correspondent

"I spent my life in special education, and all understanding past the parent is superficial. The real understanding is with the parent. It's (the child's handicap) very personal," says Don Ricci, new director of special education in Seminole County.

Ricci fills the vacated position of Mary Witengler who retired in June of this year. He assumed his new position on Oct. 1 after serving as director of special education in Kenosha, Wis., where he spent the past 25 years.

About living in Central Florida after so many years of cold weather, Ricci said, "I wouldn't desire the sun so badly that I would've taken the job unless it had real potential to become a dynamic process."

Ricci says he feels Seminole County is in the process of very rapidly becoming a large school district. He feels the parents he has met are very enthusiastic about their children's education, and he feels the district has made a good commitment to education, he says.

What improvements would he like to see?
Ricci says he hasn't been here long enough to make any hasty changes but he feels the referral system needs speeded up, so that the child can "get into placement as soon as possible."

"Working with parents is critical. Unless we have a team, parent and school, it can't be done. I have an open ear," Ricci says.

For the past seven or eight years, Ricci says he and his family have spent Christmas in Florida. His parents live in Fern Park, his sister lives in Orlando and one of his four sons lives in Winter Park.

Ricci says he's been interested in a position in this area since 1971, but he and his wife, Karen, decided to wait to make a move "until the kids got older."

"I think working and living where I enjoy being is great," he says.

One of the things that impresses Ricci in the area is the quietness and friendliness of Sanford. He relates an incident he encountered recently in a drugstore in Sanford. A young couple with a baby were trying to eat but were having a hard time because the baby kept grabbing everything. There were several older, observing ladies at a nearby table.

"Those ladies offered to take the baby and hold it so the parents could eat. That really impressed me as to the warmth of the people in this community," says Ricci who related the incident to his wife.

His wife and sons are still in Wisconsin but he hopes to have them moved here by Jan. 1.

After having received tips on houses to buy and a supply of material on special education to read, Don humorously quipped that with all the reading material he was given to go over, he wasn't sure "if I'll have any time left to house hunt over the weekend."

Learning Disability Is Treatable

DEAR ABBY: In July 1980 you printed a (fine article about "problem children." The Lancaster (Pa.) County Association for Children and Adults with Learning Disabilities is now conducting an awareness campaign, and a rerun of that letter would help us enormously. Thank you.

PAT DEMMY, ASSOCIATION SECRETARY

DEAR PAT: Here's the letter:
DEAR ABBY: Eight years ago I wrote to you concerning a problem we were having with our son who was then in the third grade. His teacher told us he was having difficulty keeping up with his class because he couldn't read. (She even hinted that he might be "slightly retarded.") She said he was also a discipline problem and she couldn't recommend him for the fourth grade.

I wrote to you in desperation, and you suggested I write to the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities. I did, and want you to know that this organization has helped us enormously. Our "problem child" is now a high school senior who qualifies for college.

Abby, please acquaint others with this wonderful group. Had it not been for you, we never would have known about it.

GRATEFUL IN ELIZABETH, N.J.

DEAR GRATEFUL: Thanks for this opportunity to advise other parents to take a closer look at their "clumsy" 3-year-old who can't sit still and seems hard to handle or the slow learner who's a troublemaker and disrupts the class.

That child could be brighter than average but afflicted with a learning disability that is treatable if detected early. A letter requesting information can be sent to: The Association for Children and Adults with Learning Disabilities, 4186 Library Road, Pittsburgh, Pa. 15234. It is not a high-pressure group and does not solicit public funds. It helps by sending educational material. The organization is non-profit, so when writing, please enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: Please add this suggestion to your annual fire prevention article: "And if a child is burned, contact any Shriner."

We budget $81,460,000 for our three burn institutes to treat children up to the age of 18 free — regardless of race, color or creed.

Pass this along, Abby.
J. AUSTIN VINCENT, THOMASVILLE, GA.

DEAR J.A.V.: For years the Shriners have been famous for their crippled children's hospitals, but their burn treatment centers are relatively new. Any child who has been disfigured by fire qualifies for free treatment. Contact any Shriner.

Dear Abby

If you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say, send for Abby's complete booklet on letter-writing. Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Pac N' Send also provides other special services for unusual shapes or hard to ship items. They will do special design packaging, large item crating and packaging for fragile items.

During citrus season they will ship fruit to your relatives and friends and take orders through a local grower.

Pac N' Send has been located in Sanford for two years and is now under the ownership of Charles and Deann Baird of Sanford. Charles is in package engineering with NCR in Lake Mary and applies this expertise to his new business.

Pac N' Send is available to serve you all year long, not just at holiday season. They are open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday and during the holiday season will have extended hours.

They will be glad to give you pointers on packaging.

Bring in your items (large or small) and they will package and wrap them to the correct specifications so that they will arrive safely at their destination anywhere in the country or internationally.

Don't forget if you want your gifts to arrive in time for Christmas, the Bairds advise they should be mailed early, the first two weeks in December at the latest.

Singles Are Making Less But They're Spending More

By Gail Collins
UPI Business Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) —

Single Americans make less money on the average than their married counterparts, but seem to spend it more freely — to the delight of advertisers.

The demographic "jump" in the population created by the postwar baby boom is now 22-36, and because Americans are marrying later, the number of adult singles is soaring.

The past decade has witnessed a 46 percent increase in the number of single persons over 18. The group has an estimated $150 billion in cash to spend each year. Although their average earning power is lower than married wage earners — many have not reached their peak income — most spend more of their money on luxuries than their married counterparts.

"There are a lot of young people who may fall into low-income groups but their background gives them appetite and ambition beyond their means," said Ken Olsham of Wells Rich Green advertising agency. "They often are good customers for products the statistics would not suggest."

A study by Young & Rubicam advertising agency showed singles are far less likely to save than married or previously married Americans, and far more likely to spend on luxuries like restaurant meals, sports cars and imported wines.

"The average person who lives alone spends almost as much on restaurant meals as married couples do, and just a bit less than a family of three," the Young & Rubicam study found. The agency said it was surprised to discover singles eat at fast food restaurants as often as their married contemporaries.

Single adults are a particularly juicy market for items relating to jogging and skiing, painting, motorcycling and bike riding, the agency said.

They are not, however, into needlework and gardening, and purveyors of rifles might better look at another market. "Hunting is the one activity which is more popular with marrieds," the study said without further comment.

Singles buy less luggage but more suntan lotion, drink rum and tequila rather than rye, and are a particularly eager market for imported beer and ale, Young & Rubicam said. They are a big market for mineral water, but drink less diet soft drinks than other parts of the population.

Anything having to do with stereos is a singles market, according to the Young & Rubicam study. But Olsham suggested that such sweeping categorization may be misplaced.

"I'm sure in stereos and televisions, marrieds are as good a target as singles are," he said.

The ski-products market may be heavily unmarried, Olsham said, but is probably more affected by geography than marital status.

In some cases, Olsham said, the real differentiation is between people with children and those without, who have more discretionary income with which to indulge themselves.

"There's no way to generalize," he said.

Getting at the singles market is a problem, said Terry McDonald of Young & Rubicam, partly because its membership is always shifting.

"It's not a static market," she said. "People are always coming in and out of it. If you're going to do a campaign you don't start today and stop tomorrow when you've got your message across." The problem is similar, she said, to that for baby-care products, which must constantly communicate to a new crop of mothers.

To get at the never-married consumer, Young & Rubicam said, the sellers need not shell out for prime time TV spots. Singles just don't watch as much television as the rest of the population. They do, however, show an above-average propensity for late-night TV fare.

The agency probably did not need its survey to determine that singles are more likely to read "Rolling Stone" or "Cosmopolitan" than married Americans and less likely to pick up "Family Circle" or "Parents."

Zoo House is ready for Saturday's auction

Zoo House Auction Saturday

The R.C.A. Zoo House at Hidden Lake in Sanford has been completed and is ready for the auction Saturday.

The three bedroom, two bath home built by Residential Communities of America on a treed lot will be auctioned Saturday at 3 p.m.

Proceeds from the sale will go to the Central Florida Zoo.

"Public interest in the R.C.A. Zoo House has been tremendous," according to Dick Sitron, spokesman for R.C.A. "We are showing the house to many prospective buyers and I am getting calls from people specifically asking to see the 'Zoo House.' Our recommended sale price on the home is $54,970, and with the generous contributions we have received from suppliers we should be able to give the Zoo over $30,000."

Higginbotham Realty of Lakeland will conduct the auction and have waived their commission on the house. A number of bidders already have been pre-qualified by R.C.A. and competition is expected to be fierce Saturday afternoon.

For more information persons may contact Liz St. John, market development group, 3101 Maguire Blvd., Orlando, 32803, or Sitron, 158 E. Altamonte Dr., Altamonte Springs 32701.

HOROSCOPE

By BENNICE BEDE OSOL

For Wednesday, November 10, 1982

YOUR BIRTHDAY

November 10, 1982

Don't hesitate this coming year to become involved in larger ventures than you have in the past. It may take awhile to adjust to the new environment, but later you will fit in comfortably and do well.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21) Substantial strides can be made today regarding something you've been hoping to bring into being. Take active measures to get things rolling. Order now: The NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet which reveals romantic combinations, compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There are a number of promising developments behind the scenes today you might not be aware of. Persons with your interests at heart are engineering them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Plans that you have today which are beneficial to friends as well as yourself should prove to be lucky. Be sure to include others in what you envision.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't be disturbed today by any changes or shifting conditions careerwise. What ensues could later prove to be of advantage to you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your greatest asset today is your willingness to be cooperative. Put this to maximum use. You could benefit from team efforts.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This is a good day to catch up on tasks you've been neglecting. They won't seem so tough now, and many can be accomplished.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Involvements today with members of the opposite sex should turn out to be lucky for all concerned. Cupid and Dame Fortune are both on your side.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you have been thinking about brightening your surroundings either at your office or home, this is the day to do something about it.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Your words carry more weight than usual today. You are especially adept at impressing persons who have real clout and who can help you.

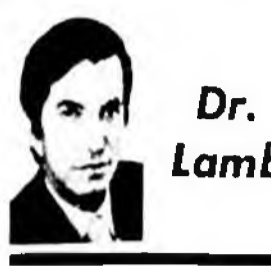

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Give priority today to matters of material importance to you. If you stay atop things, your chances of wrapping them up as you desire look good.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You have the ability today to gain support for ideas or projects about which you are enthusiastic. Sell them with sincerity.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You could be rather lucky in financial or material ways today from a set of circumstances not of your making. When opportunity knocks, don't get in its way.

Symptoms Compel A Thorough Exam

DEAR DR. LAMB— My 36-year-old son was found to have aortic stenosis and aortic insufficiency when he was 12 years old. He has been on penicillin since that time. He has not had serious problems but he does tire easily.

Dr. Lamb

He is a full-time college teacher and plays the French horn. Recently he has been having fainting spells and an irregularity of the heart which showed up on a heart monitor. The cardiologist said his ECGs are very bad but his doctor has not yet recommended he seek further help. He is looking for other problems. The doctor recommends meditation and walking. My son objects to conversations implying there may be an advanced heart problem so nothing is said.

What does the fainting mean? Is it serious? Should he lift heavy objects? Can walking 60 minutes a day be of great help?

DEAR READER — I'm glad you wrote me. While I can't be sure about your son's status, the combination of a story of fainting and aortic stenosis is not good. Aortic stenosis means obstruction of the valve that regulates the flow of blood out of the heart to the head and body. Fainting can mean that the obstruction is rather severe. Since your son also has aortic insufficiency it may be that the obstruction is not critical but this question must be answered. It is answered by good diagnostic studies to measure the degree of obstruction.

I would not want to delay such examinations a single day longer than necessary. The fainting can be from reflexes triggered by the obstruction and the heaving squeezing effort the heart must make to force blood through the obstruction. Or it can be a sign of inadequate blood flow to the brain.

If the valve is severely damaged or obstructed it can be replaced. Such surgery may extend a person's years of useful life and happiness. Urge your son to have complete studies to see if he needs surgery.

Meanwhile I'm sending you The Health Letter 9-2, Fainting: Loss of Consciousness or Syncope, which discusses all the causes for fainting. Others can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My sense of taste is satisfactory. I do not hear very well and my sense of smell is terrible. Fifteen years ago I could detect the scent of a deer in the woods but doubt that I could recognize a skunk by scent now.

It's disappointing but understandable that I can't hear the songs of the birds but to lose the scent of flowers seems unusual. There are compensations but I'd rather take the bad and have some of the good than to have neither. Is there a solution?

DEAR READER — There are many causes for decrease or loss of smell. The list begins with obstructions in the nose. A stuffy nose from a common cold, or an allergy, is an example. Polyps in the nose, swollen nasal linings and anatomical defects may prevent odors from reaching the odor sensitive cells. Involvement of nerve fibers, medications and even a brain tumor that affects the odor detection parts of the brain may be the cause.

See your ear, nose and throat specialist. If it is a local problem in the nose, he may be able to help you. And while there he may be able to help your hearing, too.

The acronym ARCH is an important code word for both declarers and defenders. A for Analyze the lead; R for Review the bidding; C for Count winners and losers; H for How can I make or defeat the contract? Now put yourself in the East seat for today. Your partner leads the deuce of diamonds and your ace tops dummy's king.

Analysis shows that your partner has led fourth best so declarer has three diamonds.

Review of the bidding indicates that South holds more than a minimum opening.

Count of your winners shows that you hold three. Where can a fourth winner come from?

If your partner holds the spade king a spade shift will be your best play. Still it looks as if South, who has nothing in diamonds or clubs, is likely to hold both top spades.

Now you can find a way to retain the spade option if South holds 5-3-3-2 distribution. You take your diamond queen and lead another diamond to force dummy to ruff.

Now declarer's goose is cooked to a turn. He has no trump entry to dummy any more. He draws your trumps and leads a club. You duck one club, take the second and finally lead a spade. Your partner's queen becomes the setting trick. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)
