GOP Group Rejects Non-Partisan Approach To Missile Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The word today is that Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) takes a dim view of the idea that the Senate investigation of the defense-missile program should be strictly non-partisan.

Symington was secretary of air in 1947-50. Then and thereafter in the Senate, personal St. never ducked a fight when he felt the air defense of the United States needed a defender. He backed the Democratic White House and all comers on such occasions.

These battles gave Symington a favorable political identity, sufficient to include his name among those contending in 1958 for the Democratic presidential nomination. Now comes the missile controversy set off by the Russian Sputniks. This controversy had the public's urgent attention from the moment it began. When a matter of national policy obtains the public's sustained and anxious interest there exists the substance of a so-called political issue.

Such political issues win elections, for political parties and make careers for political individuals. Symington apparently sees that clearly. The senator is a member of the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee chaired by Sen. Lyndon W. Johnson (D-Tex.).

Johnson opened the hearings this week with emphasis on the seriousness of the inquiry into missile and satellite development and his own disinterest in assessing blame.

What the committee would do, the chairman said, would be to find out what should be done to correct the missile situation.

"We will not," he added, "reach that goal by wandering up any blind alleys of partisanship."

Symington need not interpret that remark as any change of blind partisanship against himself. Moreover, if Symington briefly can be patient, there will be enough partisanship in the missile inquiry to satisfy everyone, including the voters of this republic who may by now feel that they have a right to know who was responsible for the lag in the United States outer space and missile performance which causes scientists to say the setback is comparable to what happened back there at Pearl Harbor.

Pearl Harbor was an all-time shocker until Sputnik I directed attention to something which sober men assert is even more catastrophically shocking. Vice President Richard M. Nixon and former President Harry S. Truman each are maneuvering to persuade the public that the other political party was at fault. You might almost say that these two have begun a public debate on the subject.

If that debate develops word partisanship will be weak for the scope of it. There is personal feeling those two fit to heat a litical issue white hot.

However that may turn out, the Republican National Committee rejected the non-partisan approach to the missile issue as the Senate hearings began. The committee issued an eight-page pamphlet full of facts and figures. The pamphlet lay the blame for Pearl Harbor No. 2 right in the lap of Harry S. Truman.

What happens next is likely to be quite lively because Mr. T. is not going to like that.

Two men were taken into custody by the Sheriff and "will be turned over to federal authorities," Sheriff Hobby said that both men had charges pending against them in Federal Court on moonshine operations.

The still, located not more than 100 feet off 17-92 about six miles south of Sanford, was torn down this morning.

It was constructed under a concrete back porch where excavations had been made large enough to house three vats and the still.

State and federal men, at the scene, said that the still was a 500 gallon capacity outfit and vats held approximately 1,750 gallons of mash.

The only way to reach the still was through a tunnel from the back porch which was hidden by a screen. Sheriff Hobby said the still was hot from being operated when he arrived at the dwelling near the site of the former San-Orlo Club.

One man was taken into custody last night when Sheriff Hobby and two deputies approached the dwelling. Three dogs were turned loose on them at the time.

Hobby identified the one man taken last night as E. F. Prange whose address was given as Box 403, Fern Park.

The other man, identified as E. H. Brannon, P. O. 901, Fern Park, did not return to his home and the scene of the still until about 7 o'clock this morning. According to the Sheriff, Brannon had just returned from a trip to Lake Worth.

Very little whiskey was found at the scene but the vats contained fermenting mash and the still was full and apparently ready to be put into operation. Heat was from propane gas and a burner under the still.

Sheriff Hobby called both State and Federal agents to the scene.

Also confiscated at the scene last night was a loaded rifle.

"This was the most cleverly hidden still I have ever seen," Sheriff Hobby said this morning.

Asked how he discovered the still Sheriff Hobby replied, "I could smell the stuff from down the lake where we were hidden and searching."

Brannon's three children watched the dismantling operations by the Sheriff, State and Federal agents from an upstairs porch.

Authorities Confiscate Still Under House

One of the largest and most cleverly hidden moonshine whiskey stills was discovered last night by Sheriff J. L. Hobby.

Two men were taken into custody by the Sheriff and "will be turned over to federal authorities," Sheriff Hobby said that both men had charges pending against them in Federal Court on moonshine operations.

Santa Claus To Visit Kiddies Here Dec. 4

Santa Claus will arrive in Sanford for a brief visit with Seminole County and surrounding area children on Dec. 4, according to an announcement made today by the Sanford-Seminole County Jaycees.

The arrival of the "Jolly Old Gent" from the North Pole will coincide with the gigantic Christmas Parade, sponsored by the Jaycees and the Sanford Merchants Association.

"The response to the parade by local churches, civic clubs, schools and businesses this year has been terrific," said John Alexander, chairman of the Jaycees Christmas Parade Committee.

"We are looking forward to the largest parade ever held in Sanford with beautiful floats and 13 bands participating," said Alexander.

Everything is fast shaping up and all the details will be worked out to assure both the children and adults of the Sanford and Seminole County trade area one of the finest parades ever seen here. Alexander remarked as reports from committee chairman began to come into the local Jaycees headquarters at the tourist information booth.

Bob McKee, chairman of the Balloon sales committee said today that there will be plenty of balloons available to make the parade an exciting one for the children. "All funds derived from the sale of the balloons," said McKee, "will be divided among the children of Lutheran Haven for their shopping tour in Sanford stores."

These children have a wonderful time buying gifts for each other with funds from the balloon sale," McKee said.

This year's parade will most certainly be the most spectacular ever staged here. John Alexander said today. Colorful bands, beautiful floats, prancing majorettes, and martial music with Christmas as its theme, will all go toward Sanford and Seminole County's most exciting day.

The parade Wednesday will get underway promptly at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Schools will let out in time for children to get to town to witness the gigantic event and to get a glimpse of Santa himself.

"We don't want a single child to miss this year's parade," Alexander commented this morning.

President, Mamie Motor To Farm Today

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower hoped to take another step today in his rapid recovery from a cerebral attack five days ago by motoring 80 miles to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm for the weekend or longer.

The 67-year-old President, who astounded a churchful of worshippers by suddenly appearing at Thanksgiving Day services Thursday, planned to leave with Mrs. Eisenhower after a morning checkup by his doctors.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said if the doctors approved Eisenhower would leave some time between mid-morning and early afternoon.

The plan to journey to the country was taken as another sign of the President's continuing "excellent" progress from the attack Monday which caused a temporary speech difficulty. It also kept alive hopes that he still might be able to attend the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO "summit" meeting in Paris Dec. 16-18 to take the lead in rallying Western nations against Russia's space missile and scientific threat.

Decision Expected Later

Hagerty said Thursday the President's doctors "will decide later" on the Paris trip. He did not say when.

Hagerty said if Eisenhower does not go to Paris he will send Vice President Richard M. Nixon in his place. The NATO nations agreed Thursday to go ahead with the chief-of-state meeting in either case.

Hagerty said the President will conduct government business at Gettysburg "if there were matters that needed his attention."

Collins To Attend Market Dedication

The dedication program is all set for the Friday, Dec. 13 dedication of the Sanford State Farmers' Market, Manager Leo Butner revealed yesterday.

Governor LeRoy Collins will be the guest of honor. He is slated to speak to the crowds attending the ceremony which begins at 2 o'clock.

J. Bralley Odham, local developer, will be master of ceremonies for the occasion.

Other dignitaries invited to speak during the ceremonies include Nathan Mayo, Neil Rhodes and Senator Douglas Stenstrom and H. L. Lewis.

The market is now in operation with a number of dealers already occupying stalls in the nearly $400,000 modern, fireproof structure of concrete and steel.

However, paving remains to be completed before the entire area is ready to get into full swing for the winter season here.

All of the 22 stalls and the complete complement of offices provided for related services, have been rented, said Butner "and we could rent additional space if we had it."

Not yet started, but slated to get underway in the immediate future will be a $40-thousand Texaco filling station and a new, modern restaurant. Also restroom facilities for trucks will be constructed outside of the market platform facilities.

Butner pointed out the new facility for housing electricity panels and meters. He said "There is no other market in Florida that can equal the one here in Sanford." Restrooms for employees of market platform dealers are conveniently located and 12 water coolers are conveniently located in the platform areas.

Each stall contains 2,000 square feet of floor space, drained from the center, and an office on the mezzanine floor of the building. Rental fee for each stall is $53 monthly.

Dealers on the market now include: Harold H. Kastner Co.; George E. Radde; Harvill and Touchton; C. E. Phillips; W. L. Justice; Robison Marketing Service; State Produce Co.; Corley Produce Co.; F. T. McInerney; W. R. Beasley; C. & J. Growers; Bill Hanson; A. E. Johnson Farm; Anderson Refrigerated Service; Orlando Apple House; Blue Ridge Produce Co.; R. E. Whigham; Roy Symmes; Florida State Employment Service; Florida Department of Agriculture, Citrus and Vegetable Inspection; Federal State Marketing News Service; Charles Chambers; Texas Oil Co.; Sanford Fruit Co.; Rivers Jones; and Johnnie Carlton.

Male Chorus Will Practice Monday

The Male Chorus will hold its regular rehearsal next Monday night at 8 o'clock at the First Presbyterian Church.

Harry M. Wier, chorus director, urges all members to attend, that proper preparation may be given to the Christmas music being planned for next month.

Mayfair Inn Starts 10th Year Dec. 7

The Mayfair Inn celebrates its 10th anniversary opening this year on Saturday night, Dec. 7.

Invitations to the annual gala affair have been mailed and reservations are coming in "excellently," according to the Mayfair Inn's General Manager Frank Mebane Jr.

The San Francisco Giants Mayfair Inn this year will welcome its guests with many improvements. Since closing for the summer season this year, the Mayfair Inn Motel has been added along with many other additions throughout the Hotel's facilities.

Already, renovations are underway at the golf course to take care of the growing membership and increasing reservations.

Mebane, in announcing the Mayfair Inn opening this year, said that cocktails will be served at dinner at 8 and dancing will begin at 9:30 when the hotel's doors are thrown open for another season.

Music for dancing and entertainment this year will be furnished by Pete Bukur and The Populares with Paul Caskey playing the bass viol and furnishing vocal arrangements. Jack Rossman and his accordion, and Pete Bukur featured on the saxophone, clarinet and drums.

With the Mayfair Inn's $15,000 PGA Open getting underway only five days after the formal opening of the hotel, it is expected that many dignitaries will be in Sanford for the Dec. 7 event.

The Mayfair Inn opening for the 1957 season signals the opening of Sanford's gay social season and a whirl of events which immediately get underway.

Shormaker Smith Enters PGA Open

DANVILLE, Va. (Special)—Al Smith, one of the great shotmakers of golf, said here today that he has entered the Mayfair Inn Open to be played December 12-15 at Sanford, Florida.

A former touring pro on the PGA circuit, Smith is limited to five tournaments a year now through his contract at the Danville Golf Club.

"Hub has been asking me every year to play in the Mayfair Open," Smith said, "and I just decided to go down and play at Sanford this year."

The "Hub" referred to by Smith is Carl Hubbell, farm director of the San Francisco Giants. He and Smith play golf together during baseball season while Hubbell is in Danville looking over Glenn farmhands. Danville is the Glenn B farm in the San Francisco system. The Danville Giants, with two tournaments of his choice, other 'Prisco farm clubs, train at Sanford.

For five years, Al Smith followed the tournament trail with the golf pro, constantly finishing in the money and winning several of the top prizes. His best finish in one of the "Big Three" tournaments was at the National PGA in Louisville in 1955. In the quarter-final round against Gary McCleodoff, Smith was eliminated, although he had a birdie on the first hole of the sudden death play-off when McCleodoff eagled the hole with a shot from the rough 75 yards away.

Smith accepted the golf pro job at Danville seven years ago, when his daughter reached school age. His contract permits him to play annually in the National Open, the National PGA, the Master's, and other tournaments of his choice.

THE QUEST FOR NEW TRAILS

The history of man is a story of progress. Each of its thousands of volumes could bear one common title: The Quest for New Trails. Even in childhood we display this strange genius which has brought us from primeval forests to this atomic age. We love to penetrate the untouched spaces . . . to open trails where none have ever been. But this quest could destroy us more rapidly than it has profited us. History recounts the fall of many a civilization too busy with its search for new trails to understand its deeper needs. For man can truly progress only when his spiritual growth keeps pace with his cultural and scientific advancement. Or, bluntly, the future of this young Arctic explorer and of his world depends on the Church. The truths of God are unchanging—and ever more essential—as we seek new trails into the Unknown.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church; neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his sake of his community and nation, (2) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Juvenile Delinquency Is High In Southeast

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UP)—Dr. Morris G. Caldwell, University of Alabama sociologist, today called on educators, social workers and law enforcement officers to help stop an increase in juvenile delinquency in the Southeast.

Caldwell, speaking before a Florida State University group here, said Florida, with a total of 13,313 official delinquency cases reported in 1956, has the largest number of cases reported for any state in the region.

The 12 southeastern states and the District of Columbia disposed of a staggering total of 77,664 cases during 1956, Caldwell said. "The total of 77,664 may be only a fraction of the actual number of cases of delinquency in the southeast during the year," he said, "due to incomplete reporting of juvenile cases in six states and the numerous cases handled unofficially by social agencies, other than the juvenile court, in all 12 of the states."

Caldwell described as "serious" the juvenile situation in Delaware, Kentucky, Maryland, Tennessee, Virginia, and the District of Columbia. He said there were phenomenal increases in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, North and South Carolina, and West Virginia.

"The need for delinquency control is urgent," Caldwell said. "The house is on fire. Let us put out the delinquency blaze before it assumes holocaust proportions."

Plastic Adhesive Tape Among New Medical Aids

By HERMAN H. BUNNISH, M.D.

A NEW transparent plastic adhesive tape, a quick method for detecting hearing loss and a new minute test for disease are among our most recent advances in medicine and health protection.

Practically invisible
The new adhesive tape helps eliminate unsightly bandages, since it is practically invisible when applied to the skin. It does its dull surface reflect any light, thus blending with the appearance of the skin.

It reportedly is stronger than other adhesive tapes and yet is as light and flexible as the skin. It does its dull surface reflect any light, thus blending with the appearance of the skin.

Like present opaque plastic tapes, it is waterproof and need not be replaced after washing or bathing.

All in all, it appears that transparent tape will make things a lot more pleasant for those who have to use tape to bind bandages or dressings.

Check on Hearing
A new instrument "Oto-Chek" can be used for quickly determining hearing impairment. It tests only at 4,000 cycle frequency and at fixed intensity levels.

Many doctors say that single frequency testing technique is ideal for use in industry, schools, doctor's offices and other locations where a rapid method of determining hearing impairment is desirable. They say groups can be tested accurately by response to 4,000 cycle frequency. The loss at 4,000 cycles, they say, will be no greater than the loss at lower frequencies which involve speech range.

Recognize Test
Clinical trials indicate the new Rapid Plasma Reagin test is a much faster, more economical and no less accurate than standard serum tests for detection of syphilis. The test measures reactivity in unheated plasma in a matter of minutes.

Such a procedure would be valuable in mass blood testing programs and in on-the-spot testing of transient populations.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
A. C.: Can you tell me some early signs of pregnancy?
Answer: The signs are varied. Swelling of the breasts, frequent urination, and nausea and vomiting, usually in the morning, are early signs. Life can be felt later on.

Sir Francis Cassel Makes U. S. Debut

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Sir Francis Cassel, a blond, blue-eyed, heavy sweated, lanky Englishman who spreads himself medium thin running a farm, a hospital, a potted-nursery, race horses, and international financial interests such as oil and nuclear power, is here on another professional labor of love.

He makes his American debut tonight in a piano concert at Carnegie Hall. This is his first visit to the United States, but he can't afford to tarry long. "I'll just see the supermarkets and go home."

He doesn't really think of himself as busy. He works fast, hopping from one business to another, and a typical day goes like this:

Typical Daily Schedule
Up at 7:15—piano practice for an hour—study the financial papers—practice another hour—tend to farm and nursery business—London for a hospital administrative meeting—no lunch (no lunch)—back home, piano practice two hours—dinner—to bed and study financial papers—half hour making financial decisions—to sleep.

Sir Francis began playing the piano at age four, gave his first public concert at 17, and has toured Europe as a concert artist. But during the last few years his concerts have been confined to one a year, at London's Royal Albert Hall, which he packs to 7,000 capacity.

Of all his activities, he says, "I like the piano best—but I believe I'm naturally better at finance because it's in my blood."

His great uncle was Sir Ernest Cassel, a financier of international repute and builder, among other things, of Iron ore mines and the great Aswan Dam. His father was judge advocate general and a man who did not think small boys should be seriously interested in the piano.

Heard Financier, Music
From childhood, Francis was accustomed to hearing talk of the ways of finance but he also got an earful of music: "my grandmother was always having people like Paderewski and Melba in to visit." As a result, "I seem to do well financially—even at concerts. Not many people sell out the Albert Hall."

Sir Francis was the first Englishman to play alone at Albert Hall—foreigners had done it but never before an Englishman. This was in 1912. At intermissions, he would hurry out to see how he was doing on the horses. It was fine. During the concert he won, in all, 230 pounds, which at that time was worth about $1,200.

Besides piano and international finance, Sir Francis' interests include: board chairman of Cassel Hospital, which treats functional nervous disorders; owner of Putteridge Nurseries, which he has built up to a 180,000 potted-plant turnover every six months; operator of a farm producing milk, chickens, meat and field crops; race course representative for Miss Dorothy Paget (29 flat racers, 20 jumpers).

He insists his theory of life is that "it's better to do a lot of things badly than one thing well" but he hardly seems to fit him. After all, what's he doing badly?

STOCKYARDS ABANDONED
ARTESIAN, S. D. (UP)—The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railway has been authorized to abandon its stockyards here. The railroad told the South Dakota Public Utilities Commission that no loads of stock have used the "deteriorated" facilities in the last 21 months.

NO EVIDENCE
HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—Police Court Judge Michael Radin refused to order a mental examination for a 24-year-old man accused of assaulting a policeman. "Just because he had a fight with a policeman doesn't mean that he is mentally unbalanced," the judge said.

Project 'Pied Piper'

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Air Force has awarded a contract for "studies" of a reconnaissance satellite which may be built and launched in the early 1960s, government sources said.

The contract for the project, dubbed, "Pied Piper," went to Lockheed Aircraft Corp., of Burbank, Calif.

Government sources described the project as definitely being in the "study stage" at this time. They indicated Lockheed would gain considerable information for the project from studies on its three-stage X17 rocket.

This is an Air Force project designed to help solve the problem of bringing ballistic missiles back through the atmosphere at tremendous speeds without having them burn up like incense as a result of friction with air particles.

Government sources took exception to a reported launching schedule for the reconnaissance satellite which was published Sunday by Data, a private publication dealing with government research and development information.

The publication said in a special letter to its subscribers that Lockheed was slated to have an unmanned test vehicle ready for launching next year. It added that "Air Force sources reveal hope" of having a manned reconnaissance satellite in space by 1960. Government sources said the suggested date for launching the unmanned satellite was much too early and that a manned satellite was much further in the future.

Data said the unmanned satellite was expected to be "massive and elaborately equipped to orbit

TODAY'S THOUGHT
 After the earth shall be filled with the glory of the Lord.

Friendly Merchants, Excellent Displays Attract Shoppers Here

Overheard in Sanford the other day: "I love to shop here. The people are so friendly and personal. Most of all, I can shop in leisure with courteous attention from the salespeople."

Such were the words in a conversation on First Street at Magnolia Avenue between three ladies who had just parked their car and were preparing to start their shopping expedition.

The automobile from which the ladies got out bore a "777" license tag. It was a revelation to hear these visitors talk about their trip into Sanford to enjoy the things that we take for granted and sometimes never pay attention to them.

And it goes to prove a statement made by one of our Sanford merchants the other day. He said "that fine, big highway we now have runs both ways." And he went on to enumerate the number of sales he had completed—profitable ones too—where visitors from other cities and communities had come in to shop and trade.

Perhaps we're underestimating the power of our salesmanship — even among neighbors and friends — and feel sort of resentful about mentioning to those whom we know and with whom we associate that merchandise in Sanford stores is of the same quality and bears the same famous brand names as those found in stores that seem to have extra glamour because of their being impersonal.

Maybe, too, we're suggesting to our neighbors as they come in to shop with us and fall to find exactly what they want that they "go to some foreign city to find" that item not presently carried in stock. We should refer our customers to the neighbor's store for perhaps there the "hard-to-find" might be at hand.

An incident, several days ago, goes to show what we mean about sending customers out of town to purchase merchandise. A lady and her daughter visited a local furniture store in search of an item that had perhaps not been in any stock during the past quarter century—failed to find item anywhere. But during the visit the daughter exclaimed "Why, Mamma, isn't that the same chair we bought at so-and-so's store?" "It certainly is," the elderly lady replied, and added "the same color, the same brand, the same material."

"The only difference," the daughter said, "is that this one is ten dollars cheaper."

Sanford is fortunate to have its friendly merchants and the large selections. And as a writer to this paper said recently in a letter signed "The November Shopper" Sanford's stores could be much larger, in fact, Sanford could be one of the finest shopping centers anywhere, if local people would only shop in them.

Just As Our Visitors Picture Us

Most visitors from abroad seem to return home with a yen to tell everyone their "impressions" of the United States. Some of them get into print. The latest of these comes from the pen of Aneurin Bevan, that controversial British political figure who will be foreign secretary if the Labor party returns to power.

Bevan thinks we are "open, warmhearted, generous and infinitely hospitable." Having thus observed the amenities, he lets go with the haymaker that in the United States he found a "desperate feverishness, with no sense of direction, and certainly with no conception of social design." Bevan's view of our society holds that "the frame is more magnificent and glittering than ever, but the picture inside is shallow, unwarding and in places even tawdry."

That's Bevan's view. We can either smother it in a tide of resentment and scorn, or we can take the wiser course of reflecting LATEST report is that the next Soviet might be the one who will be Foreign Minister Gromyko. It begins to appear as though headrolling has become a major Kremlin sport.

Only 16,000 of the 71,000 Area in Great Britain in 1955 were started by children, statistics show. Guess we gotta keep matches away from adults, too.

Observers say the regime of King Hussein of Jordan is mighty shaky. There's one throne that sits more like a rocking chair.

The Cleveland Indians will enter the 1958 American league season with a brand new general manager and a brand new field manager. And, the club owners hope, a lot of brand new customers.

Queen Elizabeth has named one of her newly-acquired race horses "White House." A royal gesture—as we hope it doesn't prove a white elephant, instead.

A hippopotamus has been grazing on the greens of a Durban, South Africa, golf course. Now there's a hazard that is cool.

Tax Tips

(This is the last in a series of four articles on federal income taxes. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Florida Institute of Certified Public Accountants.)

As you check over the list of people you intend to claim as dependents on your 1957 tax return, keep this phrase in mind: more than one-half support.

This is the test of dependency. Unless the money you have contributed during the year is enough to make up more than one-half of a dependent's living costs, you might as well cross that person off your list. He or she will not qualify as a dependent for tax purposes—and you will lose a valuable $600 exemption on your 1957 return.

Taxpayers with children who work part-time or during the summer should watch this angle closely. It's not how much your child earns during the year—it's how much he contributes to his own support. The law specifically states: a parent may claim an exemption for a child, stepchild or adopted child under 19 years of age, no matter how much he earned, provided the child depended on the parent for more than one-half of his support.

Bank Child's Earnings Here is an important point to remember when you are trying to decide whether you have contributed the necessary amount: the money a youngster banks or invests is not considered to be a contribution to his own support costs. Check carefully to see how much your child's earnings have gone for his support. You may find that it will save an exemption on the family return if you have him bank his earnings for the year of the year.

A child 19 or over may not be claimed as a dependent unless he is attending school on a full-time basis or earning less than $600 a year. The $600 earnings maximum does not apply to students. You may claim a dependency exemption for a student, regardless of total income, so long as you fulfill the support test requirement.

Supporting a Relative If you have helped support a relative during the year, make sure that what you have contributed is enough to permit you to claim an exemption for his dependent. For example, you may have paid approximately $400 of your mother's $1,400 living expenses. By contributing another $35 or $60 to her support before December 31, you can push the total over the more-than-half mark of $700 and gain an additional exemption.

Or, if you shared with others in the support of a parent, take steps now to insure that one of you can qualify for an exemption. Make sure, first of all, that your combined contributions were enough to total more than one-half of the parent's living expenses. Then, have all the members of the group that contributed 10 per cent or more of the parent's support sign Multiple Support Agreements, granting one signer of the agreement permission to claim the full exemption.

Claim All Exemptions Exemptions cannot be juggled, shifted, bunched or pyramided to gain a tax advantage—but they can be overlooked. Be sure to claim all the exemptions you properly can, because each one reduces your taxable income by $600. Remember that to qualify for an exemption, a dependent must:

- (1) Have received more than one-half of his support from you, unless you file Multiple Support Agreements (which may be obtained at any Internal Revenue Office).
- (2) Have less than $600 gross income for 1957, unless he or she is your child and under 19, or a full-time student.
- (3) Not file a joint return.
- (4) Live with you (absence while attending school does not interfere), or be a close relative as specifically defined in the official instruction book, or be a cousin receiving institutional care for a mental or physical disability who had lived with you before going to the institution.

(5) Be either a citizen of the United States or a resident of the U. S., Canada, Mexico, Panama or, in some cases, a serviceman's child living in the Philippines.

Your exemptions usually depend on whether you and your dependents qualify under these rules at the end of the year. However, if your spouse died during the year, you may file a joint return and take the same exemptions that both of you would have otherwise had for the full year. Similarly, if a dependent died during the year, the rules are applied as of the time of his death.

If you are supporting dependents but are not able to file a joint return because you are unmarried you may be able to qualify as the "head of a household" and be entitled to use a special schedule of tax rates that gives you half the benefits of income-splitting. Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
 United Press Staff Correspondent

Spain has suffered a setback of slave trouble in its little West African territory of Ithi.

Moroccan guerrilla bands have attacked Ithi, the capital, and half a dozen isolated Spanish army outposts.

Unconfirmed reports say the guerrillas have seized control of Ithi, its adjoining air field and three army posts.

The guerrilla action is relatively unimportant in itself.

But it points up the fact that all of the enclaves scattered around the world are potential trouble spots — and that two of them could explode into a third world war.

An enclave is a tract of territory, held by one country, which is enclosed within the territory of another country.

Ithi, 741 square miles in territory, is surrounded by Morocco which has attained its independence from France. Morocco wants Ithi. The guerrillas who have attacked it are not part of Morocco's forces. But Moroccans hardly can be expected to hate them.

Other Enclaves In addition to Ithi, the world's enclaves include West Berlin, British Hong Kong, Portuguese Macao and Portuguese Goa.

West Berlin, isolated 110 miles inside Communist East Germany, is one of the world's acute danger spots. Politically it is part of West Germany. The United States, Great Britain and France are committed to its defense.

A Communist attempt to seize West Berlin could conceivably lead to war with Soviet Russia. Hong Kong, a British crown colony, is an island of about 32 square miles in area at the mouth of the Pearl River. Britain also holds 21 square miles of the Kowloon Peninsula on the Chinese mainland.

Hong Kong is surrounded, on the side, by Communist China — and China would like to have it. Britain is committed to defend it against any attack. That the Communists could take it can hardly be doubted. But an attempt might start a great war. One reason why the Reds have let it alone is that it is a valuable outlet and inlet for foreign trade.

Reds Want Macao Portuguese Macao, only six square miles in area, lies across the Pearl River estuary from Hong Kong. Red China would like to have it, too, but as to the instance of Hong Kong has let it alone.

Portuguese Goa lies on the west coast of the Indian Peninsula. It and the islands and other coastal territory held by Portugal occupy 1,537 square miles. Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru wants it badly. Only Tuesday the World Court at the Hague, Netherlands, decided over India's objection to hear a plea by Portugal to rule against any Indian claim to it.

The countries which surround the world's enclaves want no foreign country to hold a foothold on their territory. Despite say regulations of rights or wrongs, it looks as if the day of the enclave is passing.

- 3 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup soft butter or margarine
- 2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup whole bran cereal
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
- 2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, melted
- 1/2 cup broken nuts
- 1/4 cup halved candied cherries
- 1/4 cup cut dates

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Blend butter and sugar; add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in whole bran cereal, milk, vanilla. Add sifted dry ingredients mix well. Spoon half of dough into separate bowl.
Into half of dough, stir cooled melted chocolate. Into remaining half, fold nuts and fruit. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheets. Decorate chocolate cookies with pecan halves, and fruit cookies with halved candied cherries. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) about 12 minutes.
Yield: about 3 dozen each Fruit and Chocolate Cookies

Two more crisp cereal holiday treats, these cookies would make delightful gifts from Santa's kitchen, and, of course, are delicious for any festive occasion.

MACAROON BARS

- 1/2 cup soft butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 cup flour
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup shredded coconut
- 1 cup whole wheat flakes
- 1 cup chopped nuts

Blend butter and sugar thoroughly. Add flour and mix well with fork. Press mixture evenly and firmly into bottom of a 13 x 9-inch pan. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 15 minutes or until delicately browned.
Beat eggs well; add sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture is light and fluffy. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Spread over previously baked crust. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 25 minutes. Cut into bars while still warm.
Yield: 30 bars, approximately 2 x 1-1/4 inches.

DATE Dainties

- 2 cups corn flakes
- 1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 cup finely cut dates
- 1 cup chopped nuts
- 1 cup shredded coconut
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla flavoring

Crush corn flakes slightly. Combine sugar and eggs. Stir in remaining ingredients together with corn flakes crumbs. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 12 minutes.
Yield: About 3 dozen cookies, 1 1/2 inches in diameter

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA COON, Society Editor

Lee and Dave Conning put their four children in their station wagon and took off for Sarasota Wednesday afternoon, where they will spend Thanksgiving with Dave's parents. Lee and Dave are building a home on the eighth hole of the Mayfair Country Club in a spot which promises to become dangerous for their car, windows and possibly occupants of the house.

It will be close to the golf course, there is no denying that. But unless some of us can correct our hooks, the house has had it. Seriously, golfers are looking forward to the day when the genial Connings move in. Such a perfect spot to stop and refresh oneself! The Mushmouths flapped their lips and beat their chests Wednesday night when head chief Tully called them all into a campfire conference, minus poison tipped spears. The pot boiler was held at the B. O. Q. Chief Tully presented special guests—with mementos (I can assure him, they are unnecessary—no one ever forgets a tour of duty with Fiv). Silver cigarette boxes went to Jerry and Cherry Ryman, who have orders out—and Carl and Jean Tegeldt, who have, in these many months, been pillars of HATU.

Extra special presentations went to Jim Reddy, (who received a FIVETU diploma), and a suit bag for those trips when one wishes to remain inconspicuous. This bag is conservatively enhanced by large portraits of mushmouths.
Another recipient of a FIVETU certificate was none other than our own editor Marion Harman. I will finally get my comeuppance when I have to sit and look at that thing framed in his office all day. The open door faces my typewriter—the open door—never did finish my story about Helen Andrew, the Country Club and her dinner party for Central Florida children. I didn't have time to run in that night and find out what she had created out of havoc, but did stop the next morning. Even with the disorder of a party, the place had been transformed. Furniture had been changed. Unpainted spots had been covered very subtly—the work is progressing very nicely, and those visitors from all over the state who come to the P. G. A. Open (the twelfth are bound to go away claiming that Sanford has its new club house after all.)
John and Jean Dooley extended their hospitality Thanksgiving to Cy and Jean Filton, Cy's father, John Miller and various assorted children.

In impressive ceremonies unseen by me HATU was delivered the other day into the hands of Eric Bower. Great white father Forrest Norvell is through, and then to climax this gala week is the glamorous Mayfair Inn opening on Saturday night, the seventh. This is absolutely the last word in Sanford society, besides being a very nice party. This is where one may see the ball gowns hidden away in closets the rest of the year. Of course, they are only worn once. Everyone in Sanford has such a fabulous memory that someone is bound to say "I always did love that dress on you."

Pot Luck Supper Planned By EMWC

Final plans for the Pot-Luck Supper by the Enlisted Men's Wives Club were completed last night at an Advisory Board Meeting at the home of Mrs. Alice Fulver.

All members and persons interested in becoming members are invited to come to the supper Monday Night at 7 P.M. at the USO Building. The only requirement for the supper is to bring a covered dish. The husbands are especially invited.

I've had fun just imagining who was going to represent what in the fashion show. Very provocative. Unfortunately, these thoughts do not go on paper. But you must come, and bring the children. For them it is free. For you there will be fashions, birds, refreshments and flowers, plants, all for one small dollar.

Fast on the heels of all this excitement is another great occasion. Bob Conn is coming home on the sixth.

Australia, South Sea Islands Supply Cinerama Thrills

By ERIC REEL

United Press Staff Correspondent SYDNEY—(AP)—Reprising Captain Cook's historic journey, an 18-man Cinerama film crew performed varied scenes including the land divers of the New Hebrides, the legendary South Sea belles of Tahiti and the kangaroo, because of its remoteness cities of Australia.

Starting from Hawaii last June, Carl Dudley, producer of "Cinerama South-Sea," took his crew on a three-month working cruise aboard the 146-foot two-masted schooner Te Vega.

"We took our cameras from the hip-swinging dancers of Papeete, Tahiti, to Queen Salote's Methodist choir singing Handel's Messiah at 'Mukualoh, Tuaga," said Dudley.

Dudley threw in more South Sea island glamour for Cinerama's 15th production, with scenes of adolescence and rapturous photographs of annual rituals of fire-walking and land-diving.

About 25 Filipinos from the island of Negros (pronounced Neng) brought their own special stoves for the fire-walking ceremony to Fiji's capital, Suva—a distance of 30 miles. They take eight hours to bring the stoves to white heat for the endurance test of 45 to 60 seconds.

A Story Then, at Ponape, Island, in the New Hebrides, the crew spent four days filming primitive leaps from a 75-foot tower—with vines tied to each leg to arrest the diver's impact with the ground. For each of the athletic divers, prouder than any Olympic medalist, there was a personal prize of a boar's tooth from the tribal chief.

Departing from Cinerama's previous pattern of "tourist-eye-view" pictures, the latest production actually weaves a story. This is done by giving a picture of Australia grants than the United States or Canada.

"Cinerama-South Sea" grinds out its Australian footage, to occupy one-third of the new picture, through the eyes of a European migrant family. The story builds up from the arrival in Sydney of Stefan, Knacker, and his 11-year-old daughter, Anna, who John Stefan's brother at an outback sheep station.

To some of the 1,300,000 post-war migrants who swelled the country's population to just over 9,000,000, the Australians brought to the screen will be their first introduction to things such as a kangaroo roundup or the famed "flying doctor" service of the outback.

On the Great Barrier Reef, off Cairns in tropical northern Queensland, the crew found little contrast from the lazy islands of the Pacific. It spent a week on close-ups of the unique coral formations, lowering their camera in a specially-constructed bathysphere.

Camera Is Lost

From Cairns, the company came down to Sydney to organize a safari into Australia's dusty outback. The crew spent a rugged eight days camped out at Moran, 700 miles north of Sydney, to get one of the film's highlights, a mighty (if artificial) stampede of king-size kangaroos.

The cowboy "drovers," slouch-hats and all, cracked their whips and fired their pistols to herd the leaping animals out of the "bush" into a 13-square-mile triangle. "It was only 75 yards wide at the point we had our cameras," said crew-member Saul Cooper, of New York—who got so close to the excitement he didn't realize he was squatting on a dead emu and

Fighting Seminoles Come From Behind To Defeat Stubborn Bulldogs 12-6

Auburn Has Five Players On UP All-SEC Teams

By ANDY REESE JR., United Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA (UP)—Unbeaten Auburn, best defensive team in the nation, landed five players on the United Press All-Southeastern Conference selections announced today.

However, bow-tied Mississippi and Tennessee tied the Tigers for first team honors, also placing two men each on the first eleven. Kentucky's bushy senior tackle Lou Michaels, who led the Wildcats to a startling upset over Tennessee last week, was the only unanimous choice.

Michals, who made the United Press first team All-American, played on the Auburn team for most points. Michaels chalked up a perfect 200, while Phillips had 288.

But the fiery, red-haired Auburn end received most ballots for most valuable lineman. Auburn is now ranked third in the nation by the United Press board of coaches.

Dream Backfield

Billy Stacy, Mississippi State's triple-threat quarterback, led in backfield votes with 235 points, but Tennessee tailback Bobby Gordon, who got 220 points, was named most valuable.

Others in the first team dream backfield are Ray Brown of Mississippi and Louisiana State's hard-charging fullback Jimmy Taylor.

Another All-America choice, Don Stephenson of Georgia Tech, beat out Auburn's aggressive sophomore Jackie Burkett in a Mississippi State's Jimmy Dodd, although hampered by injuries part of the season, was a close third.

The first team line, which averaged nearly 210 pounds per man, also included Mississippi's Gene Hickerson at tackle, guards Bill Johnson of Tennessee and George Deidrich of Vanderbilt, and Phillips' running mate at Auburn, Jerry Wilson.

Though unable to make the first team, Florida grabbed three spots on the second string, with Charlie Mitchell at tackle, and Dan Felham and halfback Jim Rountree. Auburn also placed three men, including Burkett at center, Ben Preston at tackle and Billy DeLand for losses of 12 and 28 yards.

The first half failed to resemble the Seminoles of the past, but of the half the boys got together and defeated a very stubborn DeLand club by a score of 12-6. Although DeLand took advantage of a Sanford error and went ahead six points in the opening minutes, the Seminoles completely outshined the Bulldogs in every department. The great defense, led by Claude Hittell, Bill Tyrre, Allan Swain, and Dave Stanley, held the Bulldogs to two yards rushing. Co-captain Eddie Barbour also had a big hand in this defensive feat.

CECIL DANDRIDGE, "The Little General," played a great running game by shaking loose for three first downs and 48 yards rushing.

Atkins at fullback.

Loaded with Seniors

Vanderbilt's Phil King and Billy Cannon of LSU, only sophomores besides Burkett in the top 20, rounded out the backfield, and Georgia Tech's Jerry Nabors nailed down the other end position.

At guard, Mississippi's Jackie Simpson led with 130 points, while Billy Raines of Alabama and Jack Benson of Mississippi tied with 80 each.

Both first teams were weighed down with senior lettermen, with only seven of the 23 players returning next year. Deidrich and Wilson were the only junior linemen on the first string, and Stacy, another junior, the only back not graduating.

Stacy, Michaels, and Stephenson were the only returnees from last year's first team. Phil King, who made the first team in 1936, led the voting for the second team this year.

Dick Powell Making Singing Comeback

BY VERNON SCOTT United Press Hollywood Writer HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—You can tell Tommy Sands, Elvis and the rest of the musical crowd to move over for an old timer. Dick Powell is making a singing comeback.

Powell is one star who's happy his old movies have been revived on TV—despite the fact that televisioners think it's his son. Thanks to such nuggets as "Goldiggers of 1933" and "Pistolion Walk," Powell has been asked to tune up his pipes for another shot at crooning.

Warble Album of Oldies Not content with being a producer-director at 20th Century-Fox, a TV lyricist (Four - Star Films) and an actor ("Zane Grey Theater"), Powell has signed a contract with Verve Records to warble an album of oldies.

He needs the money like Yule Brynner needs dandruff. So how come?

"I want to see if I can still sing," Dick claims.

"Of all the things I've attempted in my life I was never successful at making records or singing in night clubs. I want to do both.

"When I began my singing career there were only two crooners around—me and Bing Crosby. Now there are a million of them."

From 1931 to 1942 Powell made 35 musicals as a "pretty boy" singer. In 1935 he was one of the 10 top money-making stars. But by 1943 his star was setting slowly in the west, like the last scenes in some of his movies.

Then he clipped his curly hair and became a hard-boiled detective in "Murder, My Sweet," and a new career in dramatic pictures.

"Back Where I Started" "Now I'm right back where I started, singing," he says. "My voice is a little lower than it used to be, and I haven't had much chance to practice—just in the car to and from the office. Guys in other cars look at me as if I'm crazy when I hit a high note."

Dick blinked happily when a waitress in the Fox commissary brought him a slice of cake with a candle sparkling from it.

"It's my birthday (his 33rd)," he grinned. "I didn't think anyone would remember."

Powell recently completed directing "The Enemy Below," a tense Navy drama. Asked why he doesn't tackle a musical, he said, "They're too expensive.

"One production scene today costs more than an entire picture did when I was making them. Musicals used to be the big money-makers, especially in Europe. Now people won't stand still for them.

They had to take the songs out of 'The King and I' in Europe before audiences would go into the theaters.

"But I can't complain about my old musicals on TV," Powell said. "They're responsible for my second chance at a singing career."

THE CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The Sanford Herald means a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes but also courteously acknowledges the services and kindnesses of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot be mailed.

Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as socially correct. Emily Post, the noted authority on etiquette, feels they serve many good uses.

There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the occasion comes you will find a sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.

THE "IN MEMORIUM" NOTICE It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "In Memorium" notice in newspaper classified columns. They find a real solace therein. Preparation in selection of a suitable verse brings back to them tender, pleasant recollections. As Eliza Cook, the English poet has so beautifully expressed it: "How cruelly sweet are the echoes that start What memory plays an old tune on the heart."

Most frequently an In Memorium is inserted on the anniversary of death. However, other dates, which it is felt are appropriate or meaningful are also selected. The birthday of the departed, the wedding anniversary, Memorial Day, even Christmas are among other significant occasions chosen.

If you are hesitant to express your tender thoughts in poetic form, you may avail yourself of the Herald's collection of original verses. These express in poetic beauty the emotions of the heart-strings. Among them are verses appropriate to any circumstance.

THE RATE Cards of Thanks and In Memorium notices, due to the fact they may run to considerable length, are billed at $1.00 per column inch.

President Returns To Washington Today After Weekend On Farm

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—President Eisenhower, refreshed by a week and on his farm, planned to return to Washington today to begin getting his hand back on the wheel of the ship of state.

He was expected to drive to the capital in time to preside—at least briefly—at an afternoon cabinet meeting at which tentative decisions may be reached on next year's budget and legislative program.

He also hopes to attend Tuesday's White House meeting with congressional leaders of both parties which may bring him face to face for the first time since his re-election with his defeated Democratic opponent, Adlai E. Stevenson.

The State Department announced Sunday night that Stevenson, acting as special consultant to the President on plans for the Dec. 16 Atlantic Alliance "summit" meeting, will participate in the portion of the legislative meeting dealing with the Dec. 16 Paris conference.

While the White House had no official word on whether the President will attend the legislative talks, he is known to be anxious to do so and presumably will attend if his doctors don't veto action.

May Fellow Schedule
The fact that they were willing to give him a go-ahead on attending today's cabinet session indicated he probably will be able to carry out his original plan to attend the legislative get-together barring any setback in his current "excellent" recovery from a mild stroke.

Among other things expected to be discussed is a Defense Department budget of around $9 billion, including more money for missiles, that may be given close to final approval.

Modifications in some of the spending and legislative plans may be made later as a result of the congressional talks. The meeting with leaders of both parties Tuesday is expected to deal largely with international and overall defense aspects of the President's program. Purely domestic issues, if previous procedure is followed, will be saved for discussions with GOP congressional leaders which will follow at the White House Wednesday.

If Eisenhower does not attend the legislative meetings Vice President Richard M. Nixon will sit in for him.

First Participation
The Chief Executive's attendance at the cabinet meeting would be his first personal participation in formal councils of state since he was stricken a week ago today with a mild cerebral attack.

The cabinet decision appeared also to strengthen somewhat the possibility Eisenhower will go to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO meeting in Paris Dec. 16 as originally planned. This however, would be a more strenuous business and awaits a further ruling from his doctors.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerly, who announced the President's decision to preside

"for a short while" over the cabinet meetings, said the Chief Executive still faces several weeks of rest and greatly reduced activity.

Asked for his evaluation of how the President has snapped back from his attack, Hagerly said he looked "increasingly better" each day and "I hope to get a kick out of seeing him get a morning look-

Gun Club Being Re-Organized; Meets Tomorrow

A meeting was held in the Commissioners' Room of the City Hall recently, attended by about 20 people interested in re-organizing the Seminole Gun Club, which was originally incorporated here in 1940, but which lapsed into inactivity during and after World War II.

Discussion revealed that additional persons probably would wish to join this organization, which encourages rifle and pistol shooting, education, safety, and proper care of firearms among citizens of Seminole County.

The following were appointed Acting Officers to carry on with the re-organization of the club: W. Henry Wright, president; William Bush, secretary-treasurer; William A. Laffler Jr., Range Officer; director; Ben Butler, range officer and director; W. A. Adams, executive officer; J. Vidal Jones, director; George Bergstrom, director; and Police Chief Roy G. Williams, director.

Those present decided to hold another meeting tomorrow night at 7:30 p. m. in the Commissioners' room of City Hall, to which the public is cordially invited. At a meeting they hope to proceed with formal re-organization of the Seminole Gun Club, and discuss such matters as by-laws, dues, range location, meeting dates, etc. All people interested in safe shooting as a hobby are urged to attend. The Club intends to renew its affiliation with the National Rifle Association.

Over 50 Floats To Be In Christmas Parade

The Jaycees are completing final details and plans for the gigantic Christmas Parade which will be seen in Sanford Wednesday afternoon beginning at 4 o'clock.

More than 50 floats have entered into the huge parade that will probably turn out to be the largest and most colorful ever presented here.

The parade is the highlight of the pre-Christmas season with the Jaycees doing the work and the Sanford Merchants Association

'Cold Weather Fires' Keep Fire Department Busy

"Cold weather fires" kept the Sanford Fire Department busy over the weekend.

Alarms were answered at 204 West 17th St. Sunday at 12:45 p. m. when a floor furnace became overheated. Very little damage was reported.

At 5:05 p. m. Sunday afternoon a defective space heater at 1400 Park Ave. was responsible for another run by the firemen. Flue trouble caused a small amount of damage.

At 11:15 last night firemen were called to 2414 Stevens Ave. where a defective flue did little damage.

And at 5:31 this morning the Sanford Fire Department found a defective flue which resulted in only slight damage.

Negro Man Killed In Wreck Saturday

A 47-year-old Sanford Negro was killed instantly Saturday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock when cars rammed one another at the intersection of Brison Ave. and State Rd. about one mile east of city limits.

Eddie Lee Niblack Jr., whose address is given as 418 E. 4th St. was thrown from his car under the automobile which collided with his.

One of the automobiles ran a stop sign at Brison Ave. causing the crash, which Florida Highway Patrolman James L. Sikes said occurred about 2:30 Saturday.

Driver of the car under which Niblack was thrown was Dan Wells, 33-year-old Sanford Negro who was uninjured.

However, Joe Richardson Jr., 32-year-old Negro, and a passenger in Wells' car was injured when he received lacerations about the face and head. He was taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital.

Both cars were a "total loss" said Patrolman Sikes who investigated the accident.

Niblack's body was taken to Burien Funeral Home.

No charges were reported by the investigating officer.

Crazed Navy Chief Killed By Lawmen

A gun-crazed Navy chief petty officer shot and killed one Navy man, seriously wounded another, shot a wildlife officer and then attempted to shoot it out with more than 50 law enforcement officers.

William H. Kelly, 35-year-old, a chief petty officer in VAH-5 at the Sanford Naval Air Station entered the back door of the Chief's Club at NAS, pulled a .357 magnum pistol, and without argument fatally

Frost Covers Area As Thermometer Drops To Forty

A snow-like frost this morning covered the Sanford and Seminole County area with temperatures dropping to the 40 degree mark for the first time this season.

Automobiles left in the open were covered with ice and roofs and lawns appeared white under the shimmering frost.

Apparently the frost did much damage in the area to tender crops. However, it was too early this morning to ascertain the extent of damage to the area. Farmers and growers had not yet reported damages as the sun came out to possibly wither the tender leaves.

Citrus growers are probably delighted over the frost which fell during the early morning hours. With a frost before Christmas fruit moving into the Yule tide markets will be juicier and better conditioned for eating.

Tender leaf crops such as beans, lettuce, escarole, cabbage and others planted at this time of the year will suffer from the effects of the icy covering which was predominant this morning.

Low ground areas where the heavier frost settles, will probably suffer greater than the Sanford area just off Lake Monroe and on higher ground.

At press time today, reports had not been received from the westside or eastside truck farming areas.

Final Plans For PGA Open Near Completion

Final plans for the third annual Mayfair Inn Open, to be held here starting Dec. 9, are nearing completion. Frank Mebane, manager of the Inn, stated Saturday that nearly a complete list of contestants has been received and this should be the greatest field of players to be seen in the Sanford tournament.

Along with all the top golfers in the country, many outstanding baseball personalities will be on hand to add to the color and excitement of this big event. Horace Stoneham, Carl Hubbell, and Bill Higney, of the Giants are among the many that will be here. Many of the countries leading newspaper men will also be here to cover the play.

This $15,000 event is, by far, the largest tournament of its kind to be held in the entire Central Florida area. Mebane and his staff at the Inn have put many hours into the tourney to make this one the "most successful" in the entire state. The Jaycees are taking over the task of furnishing a Marshall force for the third time in as many years. This is one of the most important jobs, in that they police the area and keep complete order for this fine group of "divot diggers".

Among the many things being done in preparing for the PGA event is the remodeling of the club house and bar. Mebane and his crew have gone in and completely remodeled from top to bottom in an effort to make things more pleasing.

In the last list of commitments received by Mebane, the name Doug Ford appeared. Ford is the second leading money winner of 1957, taking in over $45,000. He is a very colorful champion and is a fine gallery attraction. Another gallery favorite, Dow Finsterwald, has also committed. Finsterwald

Eye-Witness Account Of Hunt For Crazed Gunman

By J. MARION HARMAN SR.

There is more to hunting and ferreting out a crazed gunman than meets the eye.

Lawmen from the entire Central Florida area searched frantically for William H. Kelly, a chief petty officer at the Sanford Naval Air Station, who, for some unknown reason, shot down Floyd E. Dobbins Jr. Dobbins was working in the Chief's Club at the Naval Air Station and shortly before 10:30 Saturday night was rolling a keg of draught beer from the club's storeroom when Kelly entered the back door and deliberately poured two shots from a .357 magnum pistol into him.

It was a bare few minutes after this tragic event that this Sanford Herald writer was notified and followed the events which led up to Kelly's death early Sunday morning.

From the radio room of Seminole County Sheriff J. L. Hobby's office Deputy Sheriff Decker, well-trained for emergencies such as this, authorities were notified.

Decker dispatched deputies, ambulances and other officers to the scene at the Sanford Naval Air Station where Chief Petty Officer J. R. Van Landingham Jr. had been shot down at the main gate by Kelly as he sped out of the area. The Deputy Sheriff notified the Florida Highway Patrol, the FBI, the Volusia County Sheriff, constables in the area, and all law enforcement groups which could set up road blocks to prevent the escape of Kelly who was identified as driving a 1955 Buick Riviera with license tag 1W-2293.

Authorities knew by this time that Kelly had driven to his home at 2205 Coronado Dr. only to yell at his wife "The police are after me. I shot a man at the base", grabbed a 44 magnum pistol and fled.

No one knew in what direction the apparently crazed man was headed.

At the Seminole Memorial Hospital, doctors were working feverishly to save the life of Van Landingham when Herbert W. Jones a Wildlife Officer assigned to the checking station at the Farmington Hunting Area eight and a half miles east of Osteen was brought in. Jones had been shot just below the ribs by a then unidentified assailant. The elderly wildlife officer told authorities at the hospital that a blue and white Chevrolet with license tag 1W-2963 had come through the gate and he had attempted to stop him.

Jones identified a picture of Kelly and said "That's the man that shot me."

Officers then knew that a wreck reported in the Farmington Hunting area was the automobile belonging to Kelly.

At the scene of the wreck officers from all over Central Florida gathered to press their search for Kelly. Deputy Sheriff Oscar had ordered bloodhounds from DeLand. The automobile was a total loss, wrecked as it attempted to speed through a slick, muddy area of road. It had left the road, smashed into a tree and was demolished about 20 feet south of the unpaved highway.

It was apparent that Kelly was seriously injured in the smashup and officers were amazed at the driver's ability to climb out of the wreckage.

A bloodhound was set on the trail. James Dees' "Poor Boy", known for his ability in following scents started from the scene of the automobile crash at 1:30 a. m. Sunday morning and shortly before 2:30 had Kelly cornered in a ditch on Maytown Road, east of Osteen in the Farmington Hunting area.
