By LARRY VERSHEL
Nobility asked me but, how come the Democratic Executive Committee isn't allowing a question and answer period at the four scheduled rallies? How are we going to get to know these men better... You know, we can get tired of listening to them tell about their education, background and how many kids they have. We WANT TO KNOW WHAT THEY STAND FOR!

Memo to the executive committee: How about a quick change?

Three weeks ago we mentioned that we learned there would be no written exams for the postmasters job here... and BANG... we got besieged with angry inquiries ranging all the way from Washington that "it just wasn't so." Well, may we quote the examination form put out by the Civil Service Commission:

"Candidates for this examination (postmaster) will not be required to take a written examination, but will be rated on a scale of 100 on the basis of an evaluation of their business or professional experience and their general fitness for the position of postmaster."

Wonder if belonging to the right political party justifies fitness?

A few left over notes from last Friday's political rally in North Orlando... Only a few people braved the below 50 temperatures... one candidate served cokes... Although the meeting was in North Orlando... you could count the people from that area on one hand... One candidate told me that he was pressured into going to the Democratic executive meeting at the courthouse that same night and faced the loss of some strong political support... if he didn't show...

FROM A POLICE REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK... Seminole County jail jammed Sunday night... I had to bunk on pads on the floor... 83 registered... Police and Sheriff's office investigating a criminal abortion ring... One Negro near death at the hospital as a result... Spring Circuit Court starts April 17... No requests as yet for calling a grand jury... Stuart Dutton of 410 Magnolia Ave. found dead in his car parked between Commercial and Seminole Blvd... autopsy ordered... results believed to be from natural causes...

Still no word on John Angelo's boss contractor... Maybe he's waiting the county's decision on that $8,500 for the zoo.

We hear from reliable sources that the attorney general is thinking of expanding the ruling of cutting off federal funds to racially segregated school districts serving the children of servicemen and federal workers. As of now Seminole County won't be too badly hurt financially... Only four young students attend schools here that live on a federal installation... If the law is expanded, it would mean this county would lose $130,000 annually and automatically kill the county's chances of getting $200,000 for building funds... That's the word from Supl. of Schools R. T. Milwee.

County Zoning officer reported that 121 building permits issued for March... Grand total of $1,000,044.

Commissioner Vernon Dunn told us this morning that he will have a prepared statement to be made public Tuesday on the decision to appropriate money for the zoo. Dunn favored the move at the last meeting... As a matter of fact, the entire board did...

Sanford doctor Vincent Roberts in Chicago being honored by the American Obstetricians Society... Vince will be inducted into the group... a high honor.

State Gives Up Control Over County Utilities

Hutchison Asks Order Be Rescinded

The Florida Railroad and Utilities Commission has informed the County Commission that it is vacating its order controlling all utility companies in the county and giving the control to the board of county commissioners.

However, the Herald learned today that County Commission Chairman J. C. Hutchison will ask the commission at its Tuesday meeting to rescind this order "calling it a misunderstanding" of the state board's decision.

Hutchison said that he wanted the railroad and utilities board to control all the bigger utility companies while the county would handle all companies serving homes or under once a franchise directive is established.

"We still want the state board to control the big operations," Hutchison said.

The order from the state board said that they were vacating all water and sewer utilities operating in the county and that the county which has "previously submitted itself to the jurisdiction of this commission is hereby relieved of any further obligations or responsibilities."

Bolling Stanley, executive secretary of the board, said in the order that the county attorney for Seminole addressed a communication to this commission directing attention to the house bill enacted by the 1961 legislature which authorizes the Seminole Board to grant franchises for the construction and operation and maintenance of public utilities, including water systems, sewer and gas systems and vesting jurisdiction for the County Commission to review and fix rates for public utilities.

Stanley said that the county attorney advised "this board that the Seminole Board of County Commissioners 'in being expert' in the field of rate fixing requests him to contact this commission seeking assistance in this regulatory matter."

However, County Attorney Harold Johnson, when this order was made public, said that he never wrote that the board was expert but explained that "it was not any expert."

DeLand Youth Wins Road-E-O

MIAMI (UPI) — James Rodas Lawrence, 17, of DeLand, won the annual Teenage Road-E-O here Sunday with his driving skill.

The first prize earned him a $500 college scholarship and the right to represent the state in the national contest.

Second place went to Patrick James Centimole Jr., 16, of Miami, and Daniel Elmore Goss, 17, of Bartow, was third.

The contest was sponsored by the State Junior Chamber of Commerce and was held in conjunction with a three-day conference of Florida's driving instructors.

COUNTY SERVICE OFFICER, Karlisle Housholder, carries an armload of law books into his new offices at 101 West First St. from his former offices in the Roumiltat Building. Housholder, attorney, also serves as county prosecutor.

No Question About It

No questions from the floor will be officially permitted at the four political rallies planned by the Democratic Executive Committee, it was announced by Chairman Robert S. Billhimer at the executive committee meeting held Friday.

"However, a candidate may use all or part of his allotted time in answering questions from the floor, if he personally prefers to do so," Billhimer said.

The time allotments have not yet been set, but will probably be from five to 10 minutes each for the 13 candidates. (See story on page 2.)

Seminole Citrus Damage Light

LAKELAND (UPI) — A two-week survey by Florida Citrus Mutual has resulted in one big question facing the citrus industry: how much fruit will result from recent and current blight?

Robert W. Rutledge, executive vice president of Mutual, said recent rains have generally given groves new life, but added, "The long drought still has its effect on growing conditions."

The survey showed that in Seminole County the severe drought has been broken by recent rains. The high winds and blowing sand early in March caused scattered minor damage to foliage and bloom in unprotected and young groves just disced.

Bloom loss was negligible because all varieties have a very heavy bloom. The one exception is tangerines which do not have such a heavy bloom.

Post-Season Outlook Good

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Industrial Commission Chairman A. Worley Brown has high hopes that Florida's climb out of its recession slump will continue even after the winter season tourist boom comes to a close.

Figures for recent weeks have shown record highs in employment and job placement and a decrease in unemployment compensation payments.

Hotelmen and others closely associated with the tourist industry tab the current season as one of the most successful in years.

After Crashing Lake Monroe Seawall

2 NAS Men Badly Hurt In Separate Accidents

Two Naval Air Station men were critically hurt in two separate accidents in the Sanford area Saturday night, the Florida Highway Patrol reported.

Dennis C. Abney, NAS, was hit by a car on Onora Rd. late Saturday night and is in critical condition at the Orlando Air Force Base Hospital suffering from two broken legs, a spinal injury and a skull fracture.

Another sailor, Herman J. Jones, was critically hurt but reported improving after his car crashed into the seawall at Lake Monroe.

According to Highway Patrol Trooper Jim Chambliss, Johns suffered multiple head injuries. He apparently fell asleep at the wheel losing control of his car, the trooper added.

Abney was hit by a car operated by Mrs. Reiko Powell, Lake Mary, according to the sheriff's office. Deputies said that Abney walked in front of the car. No charges were filed.

A few hours later on Hwy. 17-92, a car driven by James Milton Bass, 40, of Myrtle Motor Lines, went out of control and slammed into the seawall at Lake Monroe also.

Bass was not seriously hurt, the Florida Highway Patrol said.

Lake Mary C Of C To Meet Tuesday

This month's meeting of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce will be held at 8 p.m. on Tuesday instead of on Thursday as regularly scheduled.

The main items of business will be to elect six members to the board of directors and to discuss the new by-laws now in effect. Existing and needed committees also will be discussed according to Clifford Nelson, C. of C. president.

A movie will be shown and refreshments served following the business meeting. All members, friends and prospective members are invited to attend the Tuesday meeting which has been advanced only for the month of April.

Time To Register

Today is a good day to register because time's getting short and there are less than two weeks left to qualify for the upcoming county elections. Go to the C. of C. Building any time from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. except for the noon hour and sign up so you can help decide who will be the new members of the County Board of Commissioners and who will be the other county officials.

Patrol Lt. John Conroy said their car skidded as they passed a northbound truck on rain-slick U. S. 17 about 20 miles north of here.

The car careened into a southbound truck driven by Hinson Bracewell of Jacksonville. Then it bounced back into the other lane and was hit by the first truck, driven by Woodrow Wilson Reynolds, Ellerbe, N. C.

North Orlando Rally Kicks Off County Races

Political newcomer John Alexander blasted the "complacent attitude" of District 2 Incumbent Ted Williams and charged him with not taking "the initiative on full-time health protection at the first political rally of the spring at North Orlando Friday night."

Only a handful of people turned out at the open rally to hear Alexander declare that the county deserves "full-time health protection" while Williams charged back that the county was doing more business at the center without a full-time man and "we are saving $700 of your money every month."

Most of the issues in the two county commission races were limited to a full-time health director and the franchise directive.

Alexander, discussing the franchise directive, said it calls for "serious consideration and declared he would work for the end of 'dictatorial directives.'"

Williams cited figures that the health department has handled more business without a full-time health man and emphasized that he never voted against a full-time health director but that Dr. Clyde D. Brothman was fired because "he was unwilling to cooperate with us."

Williams gave a brief run down of what the board had accomplished during the year, singling out improvements in the road department and drainage. He also observed that the board held the tax millage at a low level despite many hardships.

In the district 4 County Commission race, only three of the candidates were present, Lee Gary, Pitt Varner and Robert Cameron.

Gary, said he had no area to grind and is not making any wild promises. He pointed out what he had accomplished as mayor of Oviedo for 15 years.

Cameron said he was "against the franchise directive as it now is written" and declared that the present directive "did not spell out the rights of the people, only the franchise holder."

Varner said he established the issues in the campaign and that the other candidates would be running on a "Me Too" campaign.

He stressed the need for "common sense" decisions and cited the importance of water management and urged the people to forget about "sectionalism."

The only school board candidate, at the meeting, Bill Clause, declared that the board needed "five active members" to work with the superintendent of schools and that the public should be made aware of increased needs in the schools.

He said he disagreed with the system of appointing school superintendents and said that a boost was needed to perk up the education TVing.

Lormann Vs. Davis

Legislative candidate S. J. Davis Jr., speaking at a political rally Friday night in North Orlando, called the reapportionment act "not adequate" but "probably the best we could get at this time."

Davis and his opponent, Al Lormann, called for progressive and alert leadership in the Legislature as their campaign pledges.

Milton Buries His Storm Dead

MILTON, Fla. (UPI) — This small panhandle town, still reeling from the devastation wreaked by a killer tornado Saturday, today began the sad task of burying its 15 dead.

National Guardsmen had the worst hit areas sealed off to prevent looting and to steer away curiosity seekers, a several hundred state and local workmen helped homeless families clean up this storm's damage.

Gov. Farris Bryant flew over the ravished area Sunday and said the damage appeared more extensive than that caused by a twister which hit nearby Crestview Jan. 5.

Will Decision Help Or Hurt Florida Reapportionment?

Better Bill Than Present One Unlikely--Bryant

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Farris Bryant said Sunday he has no opinion yet on whether the U. S. Supreme Court decision on legislative reapportionment will help or hurt the chances of the reapportionment bill to be voted on in Florida this year.

The high court held that federal courts may intervene in cases where state legislatures are unfairly apportioned.

"There may be resentment on the part of the people as to what they might consider this additional intrusion of the federal government," said Bryant. "On the other hand, the people might think that this is a hope for better reapportionment. I can't tell yet."

Under the present apportionment, which dates from 1913, 123 per cent of the voters control a majority of the 38 Senate seats and 117 per cent a majority of the 93 House seats.

Bryant said he thought it was a "false hope" to think that the present Legislature would ever agree to a better reapportionment than the one approved in the last session.

That plan, subject to voter approval this year, would add seven new senators and nine new House members, allotting them to the larger counties.

Rather than trying to wring a better reapportionment from the present Legislature, Bryant suggested that big counties might be better off if they approved the present plan, then attack the reapportionment issue again with their reinforced strength.

Bryant helped write the present plan and strongly supports it. But he said he will wait to decide on voter reaction to the Supreme Court decision before he makes any move to stump for the plan in the larger cities.

Until the decision, he had believed that no such personal appearances would be necessary to put the plan over.

Bryant has sent to Washington for a copy of the decision to see exactly what it says. His horseback opinion, however, is that it is aimed particularly at states which have ignored long voter pressure to reapportion.

Bryant pointed out that Florida not only reapportioned in 1945, but that the Legislature also has passed three more reapportionment plans since then.

One was rejected on a technicality by the courts, the other was rejected by the voters in 1959, and the third is up for decision this year.

4 Rallies Set By Demo Organization

1st Planned
For April 19

Four tentative dates and places for political rallies were named by members of the Democratic Executive Committee at their meeting in the Courthouse last Friday. The first rally sponsored by the committee, which is headed by Chairman Robert Hill, is slated to be held April 19 in the Fern Park-Casselberry-Altamonte-Longwood area.

The second rally, is set tentatively for April 23rd in the Bear Lake-Forest City area, probably in the Forest City shopping area.

On April 28th, there will be a rally in the Oviedo School cafeteria and representatives stated that refreshments of some kind will be served.

The Sanford rally is set for May 3rd at the Sanford Junior High School.

Mrs. Camilla Bruce, supervisor of registration spoke briefly on the new registration cards, outlining the necessity for renewal cards due to changes of address, and the seven new precincts which have been added.

Mrs. Bruce said that receipt cards were to be mailed out Saturday so that all voters should have their new card by Tuesday.

Any person who has not received their registration renewal card by Tuesday is asked to come in and be re-registered.

WALTER MERIWETHER, left, and Al Skinner, both of Sanford proudly exhibit some cabbage from the current Central Florida quality crop which is being shipped in volume at $5 per 14 1/2 bushel wirebound crate—the best price realized since 1951, according to Skinner.

Long Overdue Rain Aids Cabbage Deal

SANFORD—Thanks to long-overdue rain a few days ago the Central Florida cabbage deal last week moved into top quality status and shipping volume reached what is expected to be a peak level for the current season.

At the same time shippers are enjoying a stable market with a price of $5 per 14 1/2 bushel wirebound crate, according to Al Skinner of Sanford Produce Co.

Skinner, a veteran Florida produce shipper for more than two decades, said that current cabbage prices are the best since 1951.

"This crop offers some of the most gorgeous cabbage we've seen in years," Skinner noted, "and we've had extremely fine reaction from our buyers up north."

Sanford Produce Co. moved about 150 carloads of cabbage during the past week and Bill Martin, Skinner's partner, noted this probably would be as heavy a shipping week as the firm will experience this season.

Only a short time ago growers and shippers were lamenting the lack of rain which has materially affected the cabbage deal since it got under way in early January. Now it appears the spring crop will be marketed profitably through May.

A large portion of the Sanford area cabbage is field-packed through the ends of wirebound crates. This form of packing was initiated in the Sanford area to give a uniform pack and weight. In fact each packed crate is weighed in the field to insure weight uniformity.

According to Skinner, red potato shipments from Sanford are expected to begin in some volume this week.

He reported that sample diggings made in the past few days indicate that these potatoes will be of outstanding quality at the outset of the season.

Concert Tickets Available Now

The DeBary Concert Orchestra will open the community's weekend celebration for the dedication of the new auditorium at the Community Center with a program in the auditorium beginning at 8 p. m. on Friday.

Admission will be by ticket only due to the limited seating capacity. The tickets may be picked up, free of charge, at the DeBary Pharmacy, LaRoy Hardware and Variety or by contacting Chester Hearick, chairman of the program.

A free will offering for the stage equipment fund will be acceptable.

Saturday's eventful day will open with a 2 p. m. parade with the line of march from the corner of Delany Dr. and Hwy 17-92 to the Center. The parade will be headed by a band and composed of military units and representatives of DeBary's organizations.

After the parade the Seminole High School Band will present a concert from the stage of the newly enlarged Community Center to officially open the building.

Refreshments will be served following the program.

Geneva Citizens Pay All Bills

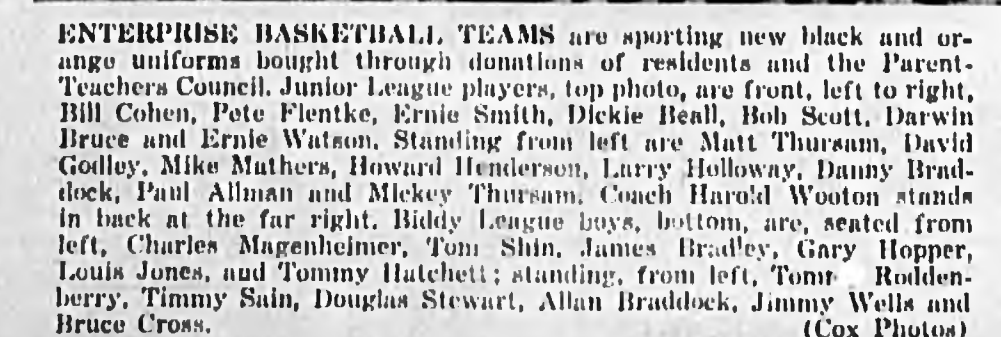

Attendance at last Thursday's meeting of the Geneva Citizens Assn. was less than anticipated due to conflicting attractions according to reports from Charles Lamb, public chairman of the association.

During the business session prior to a recreation period of shuffleboard and card games, all current bills were paid leaving a balance of more than $200 working capital for the organization, Lamb said.

"There were plenty of doughnuts and lots of coffee on hand and those who didn't come missed a good time," Lamb said.

The next meeting of the association will be held at 8 p. m. in the Community Hall on April 26 when the Geneva Band will be the feature attraction playing a number of old marching tunes and old time favorite melodies.

Catholic Church Threatened Her, Racialist Says

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel threatened at least one Roman Catholic segregationist with excommunication Sunday for denouncing his order to desegregate southeast Louisiana parochial schools.

Mrs. J. B. Galliot Jr., president of the segregationist group Save Our Nation, Inc., disclosed Sunday that Rummel flatly threatened her with excommunication in a registered letter.

A spokesman for the U. S. parish (county) archdiocese of New Orleans confirmed a "personal and confidential" letter was sent to Mrs. Galliot but "categorically" denied reports it had confirmed any other such letters were sent.

Among those reported to have been sent letters were Republican mayoral candidate Ross Buckley, political boss Leander II. Perez Sr. and New Orleans public school board member Emile Wagner Jr.

But Wagner said he had refused to accept a registered letter Saturday night from the archdiocese of New Orleans. He said he did not know what was in the letter or what it was about and refused it because:

"I am not on a corresponding basis with the archdiocese about anything."

Mrs. Galliot said she felt other letters similar to hers were sent out but had not yet reached the addressees. She said her letter went to an old address and, because a former neighbor notified her, she went to the post office to claim it.

Mrs. Galliot and SON maintain the Bible teaches segregation. SON members picketed the archbishop's residence after his order last week. One sign they carried read "God demands segregation."

Lack Of Aid Helped Reds, Survey Shows

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A survey by two senators shows that Britain's refusal to help enforce U. S. export controls has resulted in shipment of millions of dollars worth of goods to the Communist bloc.

The unpublished survey was presented by Sens. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N. Y., and Thomas J. Dodd, R-Conn., for the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. Sources said the subcommittee planned a full-dress inquiry.

The survey indicates that Britain and other Western European governments have done their best to block shipments embargoed by the Coordinating Committee for Internal Controls (COCOM).

But cooperation to enforce the more rigid U. S. restrictions often is lukewarm, according to the survey. It said British authorities in particular were "naturally reluctant" to act against British traders who violate U. S. controls but stay within the COCOM prohibitions.

As a result, strategic goods destined originally for Allied nations wind up illegally behind the Iron or Bamboo curtains, the survey reported.

To the extent that U. S. export controls go beyond those accepted by COCOM, the survey said, "it is difficult to obtain the cooperation of British authorities for enforcement purposes."

Village Council To Reorganize

By Glady Skisla

A special meeting will be held at 8 p. m. today in the North Orlando Village Hall to reorganize the council and officially install newly elected councilmen Robert F. Stephenson and W. W. Anderson.

The regular monthly meeting of the North Orlando Civic Assn., also scheduled today, has been postponed until April 9.

Tuesday at 8 p. m., the monthly business session of the Village Council will take place at the Village Hall. Expected on the agenda will be a request for the residents to be charged only the minimum water rates during the summer months in cooperation with the community effort for beautifying the village.

Both meetings are open to interested citizens of North Orlando.

Sherried Eggs

Comedy-Drama Presented At SHS

By Dottie Higgins

Members of the Seminole High School Dramatics Club, identified themselves almost too closely with their roles in "Seventeenth Summer" last Thursday night, and carried the teenage members of the audience right along with them, in a realistically portrayed comedy-drama of the joys and heartaches of growing up.

Big sister Margaret (Linda Sue Williams) played 17-year-old "Angie" told by Susan Tanner.

"It's always been like this—you just weren't old enough to realize it," as Angie discovers the same boy who brought her so much happiness she was dazzled, also brought her a heartbreak she had never known before.

Sister Lorraine (Kae Adams) also discovers what it's like to place her affection on the wrong person, and little sister Kitty (Johnnie Gore) feels left out as her big sisters struggle with love and life. Parents (Janet Ely and John Westgate) try to help their children as much as they can, as they stumble in and out of triumph and trouble during Angie's seventeenth summer.

Robert Murrie played Jack, who became such an important part of Angie's life and Linda Milia and Phyllis Spencer played the "friends" who betray her. Gene Dimmock, Mike Smith and Ken White played three of the boys who figured in the story, and Robert Richards is sister Margaret's faithful "Fitz."

The delights and laughs, the tears and frustrations as the youthful actors and actresses unfolded the story, were shared by the audience. The author, Anne Coulet Martens, had struck pretty close to real life as she laid out the plot, and most teenagers were familiar with some of the lines, and many of the adult audience murmured, "It sounds like home."

Circle To Meet

The Sunshine Circle of the Casselberry Community Methodist WSCS will meet from 9 a. m. until 11 a. m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. William Shook on Lake Kathryn in Casselberry.

Class To Meet

Local Realtors To Attend State Meeting

Sanford Realtors and their salesmen will travel to Tampa this week for a statewide meeting of the Florida Association of Realtors, Byron L. Kimball, Fern Park, president of the Seminole County Board of Realtors, said today.

Kimball reported that he and Neal V. Farmer, publicity chairman of the county's Realtors, are among those invited to attend a Realtor public relations dinner at the Tampa Terrace Hotel Friday.

Highlight of the two-day Realtor's gathering on April 6 and 7 will be a Board presidents' dinner roundtable featuring talks by Lynn B. Clarke, a St. Petersburg public relations director, and Victor P. Leavengood. The latter is director of community relations for the Tampa Tribune.

Several hundred Realtors, their Associates, and their wives from all parts of Florida are expected to attend the Friday and Saturday sessions at the Tampa Terrace Hotel, according to James O. Buck, Jacksonville, president of the Florida Association of Realtors.

Buck said 51 program events will include a salesmen's clinic, a workshop on multiple listing of properties for sale, and business meetings of the Association's committees. There will also be sessions for Board of Realtor secretaries, real estate traders, farm brokers, appraisers, and industrial Realtors.

Wives of Realtors and salesmen will be honored at a coffee hour sponsored by the Tampa Board of Realtors, and the Women's Council of the state Realtor organization will hold a luncheon. "Association business, professional education, and fellowship are stressed at these quarterly meetings," the local Realtor president pointed out.

Members of the Tampa Sales Executives Club will conduct a program for real estate salesmen at the Friday afternoon clinic, and other business and government leaders will address various Realtor groups at the Tampa meet.

No Appeal From Life

This country's ideals are closely entwined with concepts of equality—be it the law, equality of opportunity, and so on.

President Kennedy reminds us, however, that there is no such thing as equality of treatment from life itself.

The many burdens and hazards of life strike us all with great unevenness. We cannot expect Soviet Premier Khrushchev, or disease-bearing bacteria, or the elemental forces of weather to sign codes of "fairness" to Americans.

The President, of course, directs his comment to those relatively few National Guardsmen who unwisely demonstrated against what they regard as the inequality of their military sacrifice in this time of crisis.

As he notes, military sacrifice is seldom, if ever, "equal." Some men die, some are brutally mutilated, others never come within a thousand miles of danger.

To most of the men called up in 1961, there is no danger—only inconvenience and occasional economic hardship.

Consider by contrast, the disparities of the Korean War. You could stroll down a city block, point out houses where the words "killed in action" had struck their blow, mark perhaps a similar number where the booming wartime factories had brought unparalleled job prosperity.

The Korean conflict is considered a particularly harsh example of unequal sacrifice. In larger wars the losses are more general.

Can anyone pretend, even so, that there is ever anything "fair" about the impact of war upon the lives of men? And where is the equality in the devastation wrought by a twisting tornado or an influenza epidemic?

Most of us have heard stories of individuals who have suffered not one blow but a whole series of misadventures.

Take the case of Jane Froman, an attractive, accomplished American popular singer, who sustained serious injuries in a plane crash near Lisbon while en route to entertain U. S. soldiers in World War II.

In the intervening years, Miss Froman has endured literally dozens of operations in the effort to regain normalcy. She has successfully resumed her career under handicap, then abandoned it again to submit more times to the surgeon's knife.

There is no public report of her complaining of the "inequality" of her sacrifice.

This nation today offers good living to more of its people than ever in history. Yet this is, at the same time, an age more beset with varied and continuing troubles than any we have known.

No common-sense American, looking life in the face, can expect to have the one without the other. None of us should really need the reminder the President found it necessary to deliver on this score.

Worry Clinic

Do you think Freddy will ever look tolerantly on Communism? Or will he not assent in college classes when "pinko" professors try to belittle American industry? Scrapbook this

U. S. Suspends Potsdam Liaison

HEIDELBERG, Germany (UPI) — The U. S. Army announced today it is suspending activities of its liaison mission in Potsdam, East Germany, and permitting the Soviet mission in West Germany to travel only with American escort.

An Army spokesman said this meant members of the U. S. mission in East Germany would remain there but would not conduct their regular patrols around the country.

The mission has operated in the Soviet zone of Germany since the end of World War II.

Gen. Bruce C. Clarke, the Army's European commander, announced the suspension in a statement terming "unacceptable" a Soviet reply to his protest over the shooting at an American Army vehicle March 20.

columns, for Jack Lacey has sprouted one of the most patriotic ideas I have ever seen. All parents should follow this superb plan.

CASE L-478: Freddy Chey, unskilled, aged 11, is setting a superb example for all American school children.

"Hey, Mom, how did we do today?" Freddy exclaimed when he got home from school.

Then he thumbed through the pages of the St. Petersburg Independent (UPI) which he reached the stock market page.

For Freddy is one of about 25 Florida youngsters who belong to "Junior Investors," which was launched in 1959 by a superlative sales executive, Jack Lacey.

Jack is a loyal American who feels that one of the quickest ways to combat Communism is to educate school children in our "free enterprise" system.

He is connected with one of the Mutual Funds, which invests its shareholders' money in a wide variety of sound stocks.

He decided it would be a wise and patriotic innovation to urge parents (and grandparents) to make stockholders out of their youngsters.

Then, as the children grow toward college age, their stocks will meanwhile be rising in value with the constant development of America's industry and commerce. Best of all, the children, even as young as Freddy, will then take a daily interest in the financial page of their family newspaper.

Heretofore, the financial page has usually been ignored by youngsters, yet it reveals the financial backbone of our great Republic and its wonderful economic system.

Although Communists have tried to belittle American Capitalism, isn't it odd that England, France, Italy and even Russia have had to come to us for huge loans to bail them out of two World Wars?

At present, those Socialists and Communists nations still owe us over $121 billions of dollars.

An astute Sam Pettengill has pointed out that even at our lowest wage scale, American workers have earned more than English and Russian workers, even at their highest wage scale.

So it is high time we began to inform our children about the American "goote" that has been laying the golden eggs that grant us this highest standard of living in the world.

By encouraging youngsters to invest their birthday and Christmas gift money, as well as funds earned by carrying newspapers, we can thus insure their vital interest in our American system.

For no child will be likely to try to destroy the system in which he has become a cash stockholder.

Freddy, for instance, has already saved another $47 toward a $50 purchase of his next block of Mutual Fund securities.

Jack Lacey deserves special praise for thus getting children into the stockholder class before they leave grammar school.

As a professional psychologist, I can't laud him enough, for this is the smartest idea I have seen to combat the insidious "pinko" influence on the part of many college professors in American universities.

Send for my booklet "How to Save Our Republic," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20c. It is still not too late to cut taxes, abolish bureaucratic government, and stop the grand to Socialism.

Phil Newsom Says . . .

Toward 'Basic Democracy'

KARACHI, West Pakistan — When Pakistan completes its second five-year plan four years hence, United States aid will have totaled about $2 billion.

Of this amount, $1 billion already has been spent and another $800 million authorized. Other aid will come from West Germany, Britain, Japan, Canada and France.

This expression of confidence in Pakistan's future largely is due to the country's straight-talking soldier president, Field Marshal Mohammad Ayub Khan.

Ayub, a graduate of Sandhurst, Britain's West Point, addressed the United States Congress last year and talked in typically tough terms.

Of foreign aid, he told the lawmakers, "You had better not get tired at this point."

Countries such as Pakistan, he said, "are pressing against you as friends. But if we don't make the grade and, heaven forbid, will fall under communism, then we will be pressing against you again—but not as friends."

It was an unpleasant topic, but Congress gave him an ovation.

Ayub came to power in a bloodless coup in 1958 and since has ruled the country under martial law.

Early this month he took the first step toward establishing Pakistan as a democracy.

He announced a new Constitution, placing the country under a president and a two-house parliament. Ultimately, he foresees a presidential system on a pattern similar to the United States. But he does not see it now in a country where literacy is only about 10 per cent.

For the present he plans a "basic democracy" wherein one "basic democrat" will be elected to represent a village. From this will pyramid district councils of "basic democrats," provincial councils, and finally a parliament and a president.

In the end, a basic body of some 80,000 "basic democrats" will elect the president and parliament.

Opponents charge that the plan takes the voting franchise away from millions. But Ayub contends that only in this way can elements of the nation be represented.

He has cleaned up graft and black marketing and halted inflation. A land reform law limited single holdings to 800 acres of irrigated land or 1,000 acres of non-irrigated land. New industries were established and schools and hospitals began springing up.

An American here said up Pakistan this way: "Whether or not Pakistan is to have a democracy will depend on how Ayub feels about it." Right now Ayub seems to approve.

It should be far more effective than trying to arrest the alien files and look them for Mann Act violations.

I would like to commend the department for thinking up the plan, which strikes me as being an important step forward in man's conquest of his environment.

That the files can be rendered barren with doses of cobalt 60 radiation already has been proved in Florida. Thousands of male so treated were released in that state to join in fruitless union with female flies.

Dick West Says

Florida Did It

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Out of the truly test tubes of the U. S. Agricultural Research Service comes today another chapter in the stirring saga of insect birth control.

Can our scientists, working at all deliberate speed, sterilize male screwworm flies faster than they can cross the border from Mexico?

That is the question which the Agriculture Department, abetted by a $3 million supplemental appropriation, hopes to answer within the next three years.

The plan was outlined before a House subcommittee by Dr. W. L. Popham, deputy administrator for regulatory programs, who firmly believes that it can be done.

Simple in concept, yet breathtaking in scope, the program basically is this: To create an "artificial barrier" of impotent male flies along the Mexican border to mate with northbound female flies.

The department hopes in this manner not only to stamp out screwworms in the American Southwest, but to keep them from repopulating the area.

That the flies can be rendered barren with doses of cobalt 60 radiation already has been proved in Florida. Thousands of male so treated were released in that state to join in fruitless union with female flies.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

The man picked to organize the new right-wing Committee for the Co-ordination of Conservative Effort is Edward Hunter. He is a former New York, Newark, New Orleans and Philadelphia newspaperman, foreign correspondent, lecturer and author of half a dozen books on international communism.

As a war correspondent he covered Hitler's advance into the Rhineland, the Japanese conquest of Manchuria, Spanish Civil War, Italian conquest of Ethiopia. In World War II he served in the Office of Strategic Services, forerunner of CIA. He was a consultant on psychological warfare during and after the Korean War.

Perhaps his greatest claim to fame is that he put the term "brainwashing" into the English language.

After interviewing American prisoners of war released by the Chinese Communists in the Korean War he wrote two books, "Brainwashing in Red China" and "Brainwashing: The Story of the Men Who Defied It." They revealed the Red tortures of POW's and served as the basis for indoctrination courses to prepare American military personnel for Communist cruelties under captivity.

After returning from his last overseas stint in Afghanistan three years ago, Hunter says he sensed a change in this country. Anti-Communist sentiment had taken hold at the grass roots and was growing. He decided to work with this movement and he became a consultant to congressional committees investigating international communism.

His most recent claim to fame is that it was his testimony before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee last July which sparked the probe of muzzling military officers' speeches by Pentagon and State Department censors.

Hunter moved to the Washington area several months ago with some misgivings. He says it is the first world crisis he has not covered at the front. But he has a feeling now that the next "war" may be to save the United States from communism and that many of the battles will be fought in Washington.

He has had no political background and only one previous experience in American anti-Communist organization. He headed a national committee which cleaned the Committee out of the American Newspaper Guild when "it couldn't be done."

Hunter is 60, of medium height and build, with a wiry, ready smile and quick movements. He speaks with energy and dedication. He is a high school graduate, described in Who's Who as "self-educated." He is a Methodist.

His idea is that he will establish an office of his own, other than his Arlington, Va., apartment. He would like to use the facilities of some of the 60 or more right-wing groups that have their national headquarters or offices here.

Hunter says he has been given no money with which to operate and his own income from royalties, lectures and consultants' fees is not sufficient to carry the expense.

Before the first formal meeting of his committee, now scheduled for June, he hopes to have ready budget estimates of what it will cost to operate, and recommendations for the stipends to be paid a permanent staff.

He does not now anticipate that the expenses will be large. He does not see the committee as a national political action group. Every co-operating organization will be left completely free to carry on its own projects.

Hunter's idea is that his committee will function as someone suggested during the exploratory meeting of rightists called here by the Rev. Dr. Billy James Hargis of Christian Crusade—like the "Committee of Correspondence" in pre-American Revolutionary times.

OUT OUR WAY

J. E. COLE (left) of Sanford, and O. R. Wilson of Mt. Vernon, Indiana, hauled in 26 shad, including ten roe off Crowe's Camp in Sanford.

By Jack Trim

The contest is over, but the shad fishing remains good and probably will until about April 15. Some limit catches are being brought in right along and the roe percentage is good.

For instance, Cliff Pardoe and three visiting couples made up a crew at Crowe's Camp and caught 105 shad Thursday. There were 62 roe in the catch.

Taking much of the interest here lately also has been the numbers of big bass landed in the river and many lakes.

Adah Sutton called in from Wekiva Haven on the west end of the county to report that Albert Cacho of Delray had landed a seven and a half pound bass along with four other nice ones.

Mrs. Sutton said that Cacho was fishing for bream and perch when the bass started biting — the big one was caught on a bream hook.

Today we have a couple more entries in the Fishing Liars Contest. The last ones will be printed Wednesday and the winners of the two prizes contributed by The Herald and Robson's Sporting Goods will be announced Friday.

Andy Lyon sent in this one: "I would like to tell about the best fishing trip I ever had. It was one afternoon that I went by myself up a little creek.

"Fished a spell, had my limit and had thrown back more than I could count. Then I popped my bug another time or two and a big old gator took it.

"Mr. Gator didn't like the hook and I tried to break the line but that just made him mad. He thrashed around so that he upset the boat and I lost my tackle, fish and everything.

"I figured nobody would believe how good fishing had been if I came home empty handed and I was feeling mighty low. After righting the boat, I had nothing left but an old croaker sack and my pocket knife.

"But 'bout that time I spied an old bay tree leaning across the creek. I took my knife and carved me a frog on the tree about a foot above the water.

"And you know, with those fish jumping for that frog, I caught the sack full in a few minutes!

"Then I sat back and watched one big old bass jumping for the frog until the sweat was running off him. I got sorry for him and cut the frog off the tree and went on home with enough fish for a good fish fry."

R. E. Jones submitted one about a friend of his.

"I would like to tell you readers about a little friend of mine that I brought with me when I moved to Florida. This little friend was a four inch shiner that I called Oscar.

"Last year I went fishing in the St. Johns and carried Oscar along. I was not doing too well plugging, so I got Oscar out of the minnow bucket and put him on a hook and tossed him out. Nothing happened for awhile and I reeled in.

"Now I know you fellows won't believe this, but Oscar had bit the line into and went out on his own.

"It wasn't long before I heard the water churn at the side of the boat and there was Oscar with a 12 pound bass by the tail and shaking it like a rag doll.

"I netted the fish and Oscar was gone again — this happened eight more times and I finally came home, leaving Oscar behind.

"I was cleaning my fish and noticed that each one had Oscar's teeth marks, with one tooth missing on the tail.

"I sure hated losing Oscar, but anyway, things went along for a week or so before I read that a 90 foot whale had beached himself on the coast. I drove down to look at the whale and wondered why he had beached himself.

"I walked around his tail and lo, and behold, there were Oscar's teeth marks!

"I shudder to think what will happen if Oscar is out there in that big Atlantic Ocean and ever mistakes one of our submarines for another whale!"

By Ronnie Broadway
Herald Sports Editor

A large crowd was on hand to witness the Pro-Am Matches at the Mayfair Country Club Sunday afternoon.

This was the first of the week-long activities of the G. W. Spencer Tournament. In the Pro-Am division, there was a two way tie for both first and second place. The team of Bill Morgan, Coleman Jackson, Bob Barber and Pete Krevich tied for first place with the team of Ed Dyson, Larry Bentley, Pat Murphy and Cal Callaway. Both teams had totals of 63 for the course. Second place ended up in a tie between the team of Irv Watermann, C. E. Phillips, Dick King and O. P. Iernuon, and the team of Neil Popper, Dr. H. Ring, Cy Hintz, and Dr. H. S. McCallum. Both of the second place teams shot 64's for the course.

In the Am-Am division, the winners are as follows: Class A—1st, John Miller and Bill Foulk, 66; 2nd, Coleman Jackson and Key Seales, 67; 3rd, Jim Spencer and Dr. H. Ring, 70. Class B—1st, G. G. Pearson and Jack Irick, 67; 2nd, Earl Higginbotham and Jim Palmer, 68. Class C—1st, Art Wesler and Mack Cleveland, 71; 2nd, Dick King and George Harden, 72.

Today through Wednesday will be set aside for qualifying for Championship Flight, with the first round beginning Thursday.

Racing Season Ends Tonight

A splendid 11-race program tonight ends the 92-day racing campaign at the Sanford-Olando Kennel Club. The 11th event will be the traditional Au Revoir Handicap and it will go the long 10th-mile distance. Then the lights go out on one of the most successful meets in the track's history.

The eighth, ninth and tenth races send all Grade A greyhounds to the post. In the featured tenth event fans get their last chance this season to see the great Mac Tray in action. Regarded as one of the top greyhounds in this country, he took the 25th annual Central Florida Derby Friday night with 3½ lengths to spare.

Among the stars opposing Fred Whitehead's speed artist will be Mary McLain, Derby runnerup. Barnacle Bob, who was bumped and finished sixth in the Derby, is also in the lineup.

Two other Derby contestants, Ruth Grace and O.H. Meleon, will see action in tonight's eighth race.

Last week drew by far the largest crowds and heaviest mutual play in track history, indicating that more records may topple today.

Giants May Have Added Power As Alou Showing Plenty At Bat

United Press International

Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda, the San Francisco Giants' answer to the Yankees' "M-and-M" boys and the Tigers' "C-and-C" twins, may have a new hitting partner in Felipe Alou.

Last year, Mays and Cepeda hit 88 homers between them and accounted for 263 runs batted in. Both figures compared favorably with the 113 homers and 270 RBIs recorded by Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris of the Yankees and 272 RBIs turned in by Norman Cash and Rocky Colavito of the Tigers when you consider the San Francisco stars played in what many admit was a tougher league.

Now with the National League expanded and the pitching spread out to 10 clubs instead of eight, both Mays and Cepeda are expected to top even last year's highwater marks in homers and runs batted in.

Alou, a solid 6-footer who packs 195 pounds, capped 18 homers and had 52 RBIs a year ago when he split outfield duties with kid brother Matty and Harvey Kuenn.

Felipe rammed homers No. 6 and 7 Sunday, tops in Grapefruit - Cactus League play, while leading the Giants to a 7-4 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Alou, who has hit four of his homers at the Giants' training base in Phoenix, currently is batting .383, Cepeda, who hit homer No. 6, is batting .383 and Mays, who has three thus far, is batting .323.

Most training camp observers say the only weaknesses the Giants have are at second base where rookie Chuck

Miller is attempting to fill Joe Amalfitano's shoes and possibly in pitching.

Miller is not regarded a major league hitter while his fielding is only adequate, while in pitching, the Giants are banking on comebacks by Billy Pierce and Don Larsen, both picked up from the Chicago White Sox.

Alou's improved hitting, if he can carry it over to the regular season, may take care of Miller's deficiencies at the bat, while Juan Marichal, who was 12-10 last year, looks like he is ready to hewhether the pitching staff.

Marichal, just back from his honeymoon, pitched a six smooth innings, in Sunday's win over the Red Sox, striking out six batters and allowing just one earned run. Juan now has worked 13 innings this spring, allowing 12 hits and two earned runs while fanning 14 and walking only four.

Elsewhere, the St. Louis Cardinals, picked by many to win the NL pennant, scored three runs in the ninth and three more in the 10th to beat the pesky New York Mets, 7-4. . . . Rookie catcher Bill Bryan hit successive homers off Jim Bunning in the third and fifth innings to pace the Kansas City A's to a 12-5 romp over the Detroit Tigers. . . . The Chicago White Sox defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 10-6. . . . The Los Angeles Angels nipped Dallas-Ft. Worth, 10-9. . . . and Oklahoma City routed the Houston Colts 4-0, 14-4. . . . The Chicago Cubs beat Milwaukee, 16-0. . . . And the Indians nipped the Dodgers, 6-5.

weekend as they lost a close one to the Oviedo Lions, 6-5 on Friday and then came back to dump Father Lopez of Daytona, 3-1.

Friday's loss was the first of the season for the Greyhounds and Saturday's win was their sixth. They had previously won five in a row. Don Smith went all the way on the mound for the 'Hounds but a five run seventh inning couldn't quite pull it out of the bog for him.

Oviedo scored all of their runs in the third inning on several Lyman errors. They picked up only two hits, but the errors allowed the six

Shoemaker Tops Hi-Nooners Loop

The final week of Hi-Nooners League play has never been so close as it is this year. Shoemaker Construction is leading 58½ wins-69½ losses; WSFR, 58-50, and Monroe Harbor 57-51.

Shoemaker Construction won three points from the CPO Wives; Stenstrom Realty won three points from WSFR and Monroe Harbor won three from Grapeville Nursery. Lovely Lady Beauty Salon made a clean sweep against the Movieland Drive-In Theater.

Ginny Frederick converted the 5-10; Ella Dorman the 5-7; Marjorie Kipp the 3-6-7-10; Kitty Purdy the 3-8-10; Cathy Poulter the 4-5-7; Vera Lawrence the 5-6; Lil Donat, Martha Knapard, and Marjorie Kipp the 3-10. Turkeys were rolled by Kathy Gray, Wilma Rodgers, and Marge Woods. Lil Donat had the highest game with a 192; Marge Woods had high series of 541.

The slate of officers for next year are: Ginny Frederick, president; Wilma Rodgers, vice-president; Mary Elmore, secretary, and Helen Altman, sergeant-at-arms.

runs to score. Oviedo held a 6-1 lead up until the top of the seventh, when a grand slam homer by Ron Huggins scored four Greyhound runs. Lyman could pick up only one more and the ball game ended with Oviedo handing Lyman its first defeat of the season, 6-5.

Oviedo picked up six runs on five hits and four errors. Lyman scored five runs on five hits and five errors.

The Greyhounds got revenge, however against Father Lopez of Daytona Beach, when the Greyhounds dumped them 3-1 on the 'Hounds home grounds. Jim Williams, playing with a torn back muscle, saw his first action in some time and was the star of the game as he knocked in all three Lyman runs with a double in the first inning and a single in the fifth. Williams was playing first base.

Gene Griffin went all the way for Lyman as he pitched his way to his fourth win against no losses. Extra base hits were also picked up by Carl Presley and Gary Ferrin for Lyman. Each of the fellows got doubles.

Lyman scored their first run in the fourth with Williams' double. Father Lopez got their lone run in the top of the fifth, but Lyman came back in the bottom of the inning with two more big runs to wrap it up.

Lyman is now 6-1 for the season and travels to Daytona Beach tomorrow where they will once again do battle with Father Lopez. Payne looks for a victory in the contest. Aside from the back injury of Williams, the Greyhounds are in fine physical condition. Payne hopes to have Williams back in regular action soon. The 'Hounds have a fine ball club this year and Payne feels that all the boys are doing a fine job.

Hern-Clark Wedding Solemnized In Ceremony At Ebenezer Church

Miss Patricia Hern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Hern, and Roger Eugene Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Clark, all of Sanford, were united in marriage March 9 at 8:30 p.m. at the Ebenezer Methodist Church.

Rev. Grover C. Sewell Jr., pastor of the Sanford First Presbyterian Church, and Rev. Hugh Booth, officiated at the double ring, candle-light ceremony.

The church was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli, mums, two large candelabra and palms.

Miss Janet Johnson, pianist, presented a program of wedding music and accompanied the soloists. Miss Lynn McCord sang, "The Story of Ruth" and "The Lord's Prayer." Miss McCord and Miss Susan Tanner sang a duet, "O Perfect Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal length gown of imported Chantilly lace, over satin, with long pointed sleeves and tiny seed pearls on the scalloped neckline. Her veil of silk illusion was attached to a crown of seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of tiny white roses.

Miss Jean Henson was maid of honor and Miss JoAnn

Hern, bridesmaid. Jean wore a waltz length gown of soft blue chiffon and JoAnn wore the same style gown in pale pink chiffon. Their circular veils matched their gowns and were attached to crowns of flowers. Each carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations.

Carl Hess was best man and serving as ushers were Larry Shook and Joseph Welsh Jr.

The bride's mother wore a beige silk sheath with blue accessories. The groom's mother wore a powder blue silk dress with white accessories and they each wore a white orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Church Social Hall. Various shades of pink carnations were used for decorations and the bride's table was overlaid with a cloth which is a family treasure made by the bride's grandmother.

Mrs. Berl D. Henson served the cake; Mrs. Harold Mitchell and Mrs. Joseph Welsh presided at the two punch bowls and Miss Sally Wallace kept the bride's book. Mr. and Mrs. John Houser served as floating host and hostess.

The couple left for a wedding trip at the El Caribe Penthouse Apartments in Daytona Beach. For her going-away outfit Mrs. Clark wore a three piece beige linen suit, matching accessories and the corsage from her wedding bouquet. After a wedding trip the couple returned to their new home, 123 Club Road in Sanford.

SILKS FOR SPRING

Swirled or slim, the spring evening dress is clearly a beauty. Silk chiffon and silk crepe lead off a list of fabrics notable for their pure slattery. Jackets, stoles and circles of tulle or ostrich feathers find favor as cover-ups.

Colors are the prettiest ever: apricot, hyacinth blue, clear red or brown, emerald green and peach follow each other in vivid succession. Ruffles have returned as trim and appear either at the hemline or as edging on small, detachable capes. You'll see a good many slim evening skirts, but the wide skirt is still with us.

Girl Scout Diary

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 14
The Girl Scouts of Troop 14 went off on a hilarious camping trip recently. They met at the Pinecrest School at 4 p.m. on Friday with an assortment of gear, ranging from bobbie pins and curlers to "fizzies" and "fritos." The fuzzies were donated by Sally Deal and Dale Bromberger and Kathy Evenell brought the fritos.

The trip got off to a roaring start by packing all the equipment (approximately three overstuffed bags per girl) into four cars. All along the way the girls sang and shouted at the top of their lungs.

The campers brought their own canned food and the trip was in the form of a survival test. They spent the rest of the first day doing camping chores and worrying about what they would eat during the weekend.

Saturday was nice and hot with prospects of rain. During the late morning they went on a long dreary five mile hike. Their leader, Mrs. G. H. Bromberger, and her husband accompanied the group and Mr. Bromberger, who was in charge of the excursion, almost lost the way, but their wonderful sense of direction saved them for the day.

Sunday started out with the Scouts' own and flag raising ceremony. While waiting in the lake several were splashed so generously that they were tempted to go swimming but had to be content with wading this time.

At last the parents arrived to take the grimy but happy girls home. Everyone agreed, however, that it had been lots of fun.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR READERS: A battery of attorneys advised me to change the title of my book, MARRIAGE ON THE ROCKS. So I sent an SOS to you for some suggestions, and the response was overwhelming!

From Alaska, "Why not call it, 'How Now Then Vow?'" From Brazil, "Marriage In Orbit," from Canada, "Wedlock Deadlock," A Captain in Korea suggested, "Betrothed and Betrayed," and from Maine to California came:

"Altar Ego," "Double Bedlam," "Marriage Fallout," "How To Succeed in Marriage Without Really Trying," "The Marriage Mirage," "The Rise and Fall of Marriage," "Stalemate," "Remember the Alimony," (from Texas, natch), "A Funny Thing Happened To Me On My Way To The Lawyers," "Bed and Bored," "The Trouble With Marriage," and "How to Stay Sane in a Private Institution." And literally thousands of others.

Since my book is all about marriage, I have decided to play it straight and call it simply, DEAR ABBY ON MARRIAGE. It will be out in May. You might be disappointed with the title, but you won't be disappointed with the book. And that's a promise!

Gratefully yours,
ABBY

DEAR ABBY: It was nice of you to tell that lady not to blame her husband for calling her another woman's name in his sleep. You said, "A man can't be blamed for what he does in his sleep."

I disagree with your advice. I would have advised that woman to give her husband a good punch in the eye because "a woman can't be blamed for what she does in her sleep."

for what SHE does in HER sleep, either." This works because I have tried it, and my husband has never called me by another woman's name in his sleep again. "SIXTY"

DEAR ABBY: Last night I felt very blue and depressed. My parents were not home so I telephoned my boy friend, who is taking basic training in Texas. We got carried away in conversation and talked for 35 minutes. When we hung up, I called the operator to find out how much the call cost and she said $23.80. Now, Abby, I am only 15 years old and do not have that kind of money. I am afraid to tell my mother because I know she will be furious. I am terribly sorry for what I did, but that won't help now. Would it be proper for me to ask my boy friend for the money?

TELEPHONE TROUBLES

DEAR TROUBLES: Don't ask your boy friend for the money. He has his own troubles. Tell your mother and ask her to take it out of your allowance (if you get one). Otherwise, offer to "work it out" somehow. Your parents were lucky your boy friend wasn't in Korea. And next time, try the pen.

CONFIDENTIAL TO O. J.: Get it in writing!

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

We The Women: By Ruth Millet

A college dean who is deeply concerned because so many bright high school students never go on to college because of lack of money says:

"We need less objection to borrowing against the future on the part of both students and their parents."

"It has always amazed me that the same person who will go out and buy a car on the installment plan won't even think of borrowing for an education. Yet here is something no one can take away from you."

The dean has a good point of course. Money borrowed to send a son or daughter through college will pay off better than money borrowed for almost any other reason. Yet many families that will go into debt for a ranch style house in an expensive suburb, for two cars, for vacation trips and for the latest household appliances, wouldn't think of financing a college education by borrowing.

But the dean should have pointed out one other fact of modern life. Many parents could afford to send their children through college if they didn't try to give them so many luxuries through their younger years.

The money that is spent on a girl, for instance, who takes piano or dancing lessons, who has three times as much spent on her clothes as is necessary, who is given all the spending money she asks for, who starts adding evening dresses to her wardrobe at 13, would, if saved through the years, go a long way toward helping the girl through four years of college.

Also, a lot of "keeping up" that families do is done on money that could be carefully saved for education.

The dean pointed out that Americans are used to buying everything but education on the installment plan and they might as well put education on their lists of buy-now, pay-later projects. But if families

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

One of the modern bidding gadgets which has become deservedly popular is the "short suit game try."

First thought of by Edgar Kaplan of New York's Card School, the bid is simple and effective. Specially, it is used when your partner raises your major suit opening from South's three diamond call is a perfect example of this bid. He only has 13 points in high cards, but he does have an unbalanced distribution and is very short in diamonds.

North holds a minimum spade raise, but he has four little diamonds and honors in both the other suits so North jumps to four spades. Four spades cannot be beaten. The best defense is for East to overtake the king of diamonds with the ace and return a trump. South must go right up with the ace and go about the business of ruffing two hearts with dummy's last two trumps. After that his only losers will be the ace of clubs and king of spades.

NOTABLE NAVAL BOOKS — James Warner, Library Assistant, and Catherine M. Stowell, NAS Librarian, stand behind a display of notable Naval Books. These and other interesting volumes will be featured as part of the reading material to be found in the Library during National Library Week, April 8-14.

Book Boost

When NAS Sanford was recommissioned, the Library had approximately 1,500 books. Today, it boasts nearly 8,000 volumes ranging in subjects from A to Z. Reference books, technical books and both fiction and non-fiction can be found.

The library is open to all military personnel (active or retired), their dependents, and all civilian personnel aboard NAS Sanford. It is open from 8 a. m. to 4:30 and from 6 to 9 p. m. daily, seven days a week.

Senior Lifesaving Course Scheduled For Casselberry

By Jane Casselberry

A 17-hour Senior Lifesaving Course, under the direction of Mrs. Martha Kilpatrick, Red Cross water safety instructor of Lake Mary, will open in Casselberry Thursday, weather permitting.

Assisting the instructor will be Mr. and Mrs. Tom Herald and Mrs. Joseph Klein.

According to Mrs. James Birkenmeyer Jr., who is in charge of arrangements, classes will be limited in attendance. Sessions will be held at a private pool, location to be announced, from 7:30 p. m. until 9:30 p. m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Persons interested in enrolling for the course should immediately contact Mrs. Birkenmeyer at TE 8-4415 or the Herald at TE 8-5894.

To qualify for the instruction, an applicant must be a good swimmer, be 16 years of age or older or a junior in high school. The only charge will be 75 cents for the purchase of a Red Cross lifesaving manual.

There is an urgent need for trained adults and it is hoped that many will take advantage of the classes, Mrs. Birkenmeyer says.

The senior course is a prerequisite for the approved water safety course to be held at the Sanford Municipal Pool in May which, if successfully completed, qualifies the recipients as certified lifesaving instructors.

A program of swimming courses in Casselberry is being planned to open in June after school is out. Last year, more than 300 children and adults took advantage of the water safety program in Casselberry.

Area Members At District WSCS Meeting

By Jane Casselberry

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Casselberry Methodist Church was represented at the annual meeting of the Orlando District WSCS last Thursday at the Apopka Methodist Church by Mrs. Thomas Gullickson, Mrs. E. P. Richards, Mrs. Finney Haynes, Mrs. Arthur Putnam and Rev. Oscar C. Poole, pastor of the Casselberry church.

District officers were installed by Dr. Bruce F. Gannaway, district superintendent. Guest speaker was Miss Rosemarie Kasher, special term worker who has just recently returned from Japan.

Mrs. David R. Thurman, president of the Florida Conference, also was introduced at the meeting.

City tax collector Henry Tammi Jr. says that thus far $510,702 collected in the city. . . . with over $10,000 Monday alone.

Maybe the County Commission made a mistake by agreeing to appropriate money for the zoo but it's a worse mistake to back down on their original decision.

State Rep. Gordon Frederick hasn't got that legislative plate on his car anymore. No, Gordon didn't take it off when he decided he wasn't going to seek another term. A telephone pole ran in front of his car recently and ripped it off.

SHOCK OF THE WEEK: Is it true that Sanford Junior High is not being accredited next year?

Supreme Court To Decide

OK 'To Pray Or Not To Pray'?

The Supreme Court hears arguments today on a subject of intense interest to many Seminole County residents and other Americans: Does non-compulsory recitation of a prayer in public schools violate the constitution?

Supt. of Schools R. T. Milwee today said that students in all the 23 schools read the Bible and "The Lord's Prayer" which is a state policy.

Two years ago a teacher in the school system was fired because, according to Milwee "he showed no interest in reading the Bible."

In recent weeks the court has received hundreds of letters urging it not to take God out of the schools. The justices do not see this mail. The great bulk of it has come from Pennsylvania, although the case to be heard originated in New York.

A group of parents in New Hyde Park, N. Y., brought the suit after the school board decided in 1958 that the so-called "regents' prayer" would follow the salute to the flag every morning.

The prayer, designed to be non-sectarian, was adopted in 1951 by the Board of Regents, which administers education in New York state. It may be used at the discretion of school districts.

The prayer is: "Almighty God, we acknowledge Thee, and we beg Thy blessings upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

The parents bringing the suit include Jews, Unitarians, members of the Ethical Culture Society and non-believers. They said the prayer is contrary to their beliefs; that it favors belief over non-belief; and that it necessarily results in coercion on the children.

The parents lost in New York state courts. Answering their appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court, the school board said that any child may be excused from the exercise on written request of a parent.

Sixteen other parents of children in the same schools joined the proceedings in state courts in support of the board. They include members of the Hebrew, Protestant and Roman Catholic faiths and one who is not a church member.

U. S. Jets 'Machine-Gunned' Bay Defenders - Cuba Says

HAVANA (UPI)—Charges that U. S. jet fighters machine-gunned Cuban troops defending the Bay of Pigs beach during last year's abortive invasion were made at Monday's session of the trial of 1,179 Cuban war prisoners, the government-controlled press reported today.

Capt. Jose Alvarez, described as commander of anti-aircraft artillery, told the five-man court-martial that "we had to fire against U.S. jet planes of the same type utilized by aircraft carriers."

tan commanders defending the beach, said two U. S. destroyers approached to within three to four miles of the shore and picked up fleeing invaders who flocked around the warships in small boats, press accounts of the trial said.

Syrian Army Issues Ultimatum To Rebel Army

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—A Damascus radio announcement said today that order had been restored in Syria and the revolt in Aleppo ended.

DAMASCUS, Syria (UPI)—The Syrian army command issued an ultimatum to rebel army forces in Aleppo today to surrender or face the "severest penalties."

The ultimatum, signed by the military command which seized the government in the earlier revolt last week, ordered the rebels to surrender by noon.

Later broadcasts by Aleppo radio, which is under the rebels' control, indicated the insurgents were ignoring the order.

The rebels have pledged their loyalty to United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser, who offered today to mediate in the Syrian crisis.

The ultimatum told the rebels to "surrender and return to barracks" by midday or they "will be considered mutineers subject to the severest penalties."

Radio Damascus, in a broadcast several hours after the ultimatum period had expired, said the "Syrian military command will vanquish the traitors."

The broadcast accused the Aleppo officers of announcing their allegiance to Damascus early today "in order to gain time and secretly ask for Egyptian forces."

Paret Drops Fight For Life Bout

NEW YORK (UPI)—De-throned welterweight boxing champion Benny (Kid) Paret died early today without regaining consciousness from his knockout March 24.

The kid was counted out the last time at 1:33 a. m. EST before his pregnant wife, Lucy, could reach his side.

The 24-year-old Cuban was the first champion in boxing history to die of injuries received in a title bout.

Paret was pounded senseless by Emilio Griffith in the 12th round of their title fight at Madison Square Garden.

The Cuban boxer underwent emergency surgery to relieve pressure on his brain early March 25 but stayed in a coma until he died. With only a 10,000 to 1 chance at survival at the time, Benny began to make slight progress.

To aid his breathing surgeons inserted a tube into his throat. He was reported to be making some slight progress until Monday when he contracted pneumonia.

Paret's condition then began to worsen.

Mrs. Lucy Paret, who flew here from Miami, Fla., after her husband was felled, reached his bedside too late.

With her were Paret's mother, Mrs. Maximino Crespo, his brother, Antonio, and a Roman Catholic priest.

Mrs. Paret collapsed on learning of her husband's death and was unconscious for about 15 minutes, Manuel Alfaro, Paret's manager told reporters. Alfaro was with the boxer when he died.

The wife, the mother and the brother wept "uncontrollably and hysterically."

"Please, I want to go with you," Alfaro quoted Mrs. Paret as saying as she stood beside her dead husband.

"Take me along."

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI)—The government of Ecuador decided Monday night to break relations with Fidel Castro's Cuba, it was reported today.

Only 4 of the 20 Latin American nations still maintain relations with the Castro regime — Brazil, Bolivia, Mexico and Uruguay.

It was not immediately certain which nation would take over Ecuadorian interests in Cuba, including the 120 refugees in which more than 120 refugees are staying while they wait for official permission to leave the country.

Interior Under Secretary Manuel Cordova Galarza announced Monday night that the cabinet had voted unanimously to break relations with the Castros. A formal announcement was expected later today.

The plane left Lantana airport near West Palm Beach, Fla., Sunday evening en route for Minneapolis. It failed to make radio contact at Gainesville, Fla., and did not make a scheduled refueling stop at Albany, Ga.

"Many of our citizens are unhappy with the format of forthcoming rallies as announced by the Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee, especially since no question and answer periods will be included at their meetings," she said.

Mrs. Bennett said that it is for this reason why for the forums, with question and answer periods specified, will be continued if the demand is sufficient.
