Darren McGavin Jerry Lewis' New Co-Star

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Meet Jerry Lewis' new co-star—a chunky red-haired Irishman named Darren McGavin.

He will play the lead with Jerry in "The Delicate Delinquent," performing in the role which Dean Martin refused and which led to their split as a team.

McGavin is quite a switch from the dark-haired, Italian Martin. McGavin is an intense, accomplished actor; Martin is easy-going almost lethargic. About the only similarity between them: They both sing.

"But I won't be singing in the picture," McGavin said.

Right now McGavin is playing with another comic, fellow named Bob Hope. The actor portrays Charley Hand, the former managing editor who masterminds the political career of New York's Mayor Jimmy Walker, played by Hope in "Su Jams."

Don't get the idea this McGavin is a funny fellow, just because he cavorts with comics. He had made his mark as a dramatic actor.

Matter of fact, he's an alumnus of the Actor's Studio, along with such notables as Marlon Brando, James Dean, Rod Steiger, Julie Harris, Paul Newman, Shelley Winters and that student of the Russian classics, Marilyn Monroe.

Second matter of fact: He's probably best known as the nasty mean, lowdown dope pusher in "The Man with the Golden Arm."

When someone suggested McGavin to Jerry Lewis as his co-star, the comedian replied: "That nasty character? I hated him!" But Jerry was persuaded to talk to the actor, and they hit it off from the start.

What are chances for a permanent teaming?
"That's up to Jerry," said McGavin, "as for myself, I never plan ahead."

WHITE ROCK, B.C. (AP)—RCMP Announced a summer-long crackdown on teen-aged drinking parties in the White Rock area just south of Vancouver, following the arrests of 22 juveniles, including four girls under 17 years of age, on charges of drinking in a public place.

Veteran's Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. I am a veteran with a total and permanent nonservice-connected disability. I waited several months before applying for disability pension payments. Is it possible for the payments to be back-dated to the date I incurred my disability?

A. Under VA's regulations, the effective date that payments may begin is the date VA received the claim or the date the disability arose—whichever is later. In your case, the date of VA's receipt of the claim would be later.

Q. Premiums on my World War II GI term insurance policy are under waiver because I've been totally disabled for more than six months. May I convert my term policy to a permanent plan, even though I am totally disabled?

A. You may convert your term policy to any permanent plan other than an endowment. Also, you will not be required to take a physical examination.

Q. I want to take a course under the Korean GI Bill that's commonly considered recreational in nature. In my case, I need it in connection with the business I plan to enter. Will I be allowed to take it?

A. Yes—if you submit justification to VA that the course will be of bona fide use in your present or contemplated business or occupation, and VA approves the case in advance. The only courses absolutely prohibited by law are bartending, dancing or personality development.

Q. My son is eligible for schooling under the new educational program for children of deceased war veterans. His college begins early in September. Will he be able to receive payments from his first day in school?

A. The law specifies that monthly payments may not begin before October 1, 1956. Veterans living in Central Florida who wish further information about their GI Benefits should write the VA office at 42 E. Central Ave., Orlando.

SPECIAL MEETING TODAY
LAKELAND (AP)—A special fresh fruit quality committee is meeting here today to discuss ways to improve sales of citrus.

Points expected to be discussed include effectiveness of the present inspection program, internal quality requirements, possible changes in U. S. grade standards, and the possibility of setting up standards for export fruit.

Fifth, it provides for liberalized transportation expenses in an amount of $150 when the automobile is stolen.
11. It is no longer necessary to report the existence of a bailment lease, conditional sale, purchase agreement, mortgage or other encumbrance.

13. The borrower of an insured automobile is protected against legal action by the owner's insurance company for damage that occurs while the automobile is in the borrower's possession.
14. The family automobile policy provides for the settlement of any loss on a borrowed automobile either with the insured or the owner of a borrowed car.
15. The policy affords coverage on a borrowed utility type trailer up to a limit of $500.
16. The insurance provided when the policyholder uses another private passenger automobile not owned by him has been broadened for all coverages, including towing and labor costs; to provide insurance when the borrower permits another to use the vehicle; to protect the borrower for the amount of the difference when his insurance has a smaller deductible than the owner's policy; and to cover a private passenger automobile borrowed from an automobile sales agency, service station or parking lot operator.
17. The assignment provision of the policy has been amended so that in the event of the death of the named insured and provision has been added to cover his legal representative as named insured while acting in the scope of his duties and to cover any person having proper temporary custody of an owned automobile until the appointment and qualification of such legal representative.

Negro Ministers Against Boycott

Canal Committee, Nasser Proceeding Cautiously In Talks

CAIRO, Egypt, (AP)—The Menzies Committee and President Nasser were reported today "down to meat" of the Suez Canal controversy and proceeding cautiously in their talks on a possible solution.

A source close to the five-nation group headed by Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies described the atmosphere as friendly despite many disagreements.

The committee—Australia, Ethiopia, Iran, Sweden and the United States—is pushing an 18-nation plan for international operation of the 103-mile Mediterranean-Red Sea waterway, which Egypt nationalized July 26. The plan came originally from Secretary of State Dulles and was worked out at the 22-nation London Suez conference Aug. 16-24.

In Paris, the 15-nation council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was to get a report from British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd on the London Suez conference.

Foreign Ministers Christian Pinon of France, Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium and Lester B. Pearson of Canada also were on hand for the one-day NATO meeting. Representative NATO headquarters representatives were attending for the other countries.

The council was not expected to give formal backing to the London plan or to the British-French military buildup set off by the canal crisis. The council can act only by unanimous decision. Unanimity seemed unlikely because one member, Greece, turned down an invitation to the London conference.

"Before leaving London to fly to Paris, Lloyd told newsmen, 'We are still working for a peaceful settlement.'"

"Use of force," he declared, "is always distasteful to our people and must be a last resort."

Lloyd said present British and French military preparations "are of a precautionary nature."

"But," he added, "there may come a time when vital interests which are not ours alone may have to be protected...."

A big question in the Cairo talks was whether Nasser would put forward a new proposal of his own for the future of the canal, a route of Middle Eastern oil shipments vital to Western Europe.

Miamian Charged With Smuggling
Guns Out Of U.S.

MIAMI (AP)—Juan Maria Iza, a 41-year-old Miami businessman, faced arraignment today before a U. S. commissioner on charges that he smuggled guns out of the country.

He was nabbed by customs agents last night as he got off a plane from Havana.

Iza was released from jail Aug. 30 in El Salvador. He was arrested at San Salvador, capital of the Central American country, in July when authorities caught him with 80 revolvers in four suitcases.

Iza said he had sold the guns to Sergio del Toro, an exile from the Dominican Republic who has been denounced by that country as a "traitor." Del Toro was also arrested by El Salvador police.

The Miami man told El Salvador authorities he bought the guns in Miami's Negro section for $48 each and that they would bring $100 each in the Caribbean market.

Ministerial Assn. Welcomes 2 New Members At Meet

The first fall meeting of the Seminole County Ministerial Association was held yesterday at the First Baptist Church.

Two ministers were elected to membership of the Ministerial Association: Rev. Fred Bowery, Free Methodist Church and Rev. George Ross of the Church of God.

Meeting dates were changed when it was adopted that the association meet on the first Wednesday of each month at the Education Building.

An invitation was extended to members of the Ministerial Association to attend the reception given in honor of Rev. H. Lyttleton Zimmerman on Thursday evening, Sept. 6 between 8 and 10 p. m. at the Parish House of the Holy Cross Episcopal Church.

A committee of three, including Rev. A. G. Melms, Rev. W. P. Brooks Jr., and Rev. Perry L. Stone was appointed to look into the race relations in Sanford and Seminole County.

Lester L. Marx, Hebrew evangelist, presented the program and offered his services in appearing at churches and schools in behalf of his program to educate youth in the dangers of narcotics.

County To Get Over $20,000 From Gas Tax

Seminole County will receive $20,352.19 from gasoline tax collected during the month of August for July gasoline sales. The tax is returned to the county for road bond and road building purposes.

Ray E. Green, State Comptroller, in his monthly release said that gasoline sales during the month of July totaled 106,800,123 gallons, a decrease of 11,242,840 gallons under the 117,442,963 gallons sold during the previous month of June. However, July sales are 8,028,910 gallons more than the 86,171,216 gallons sold during July of the previous year, 1955.

Similarly, gas tax collections, which totaled $7,044,599, represented a decrease of $745,416 in collections under the $8,190,015 collected during the previous month, and an increase of $600,359 over the $7,589,660 collected during the same month last year.

Although July sales and collections fell below those of June, they are still ahead of last year's sales and collections and represent a new trend. This year's June sales and collections were unexpectedly high, as during past years summer sales and collections usually level off beginning in May, with only relatively minor-to-month variations during the summer, and rise again in October.

Jaycees To Hear Retired Officer

Comdr. G. R. Strickland, U. S. Navy, retired, will speak at the noon luncheon meeting of the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce Thursday at the Yacht Club.

Bob Crumley, a director of the Jaycees arranged the program and will introduce the Navy speaker.

Post Office Opens 1st Rural Substation Today

The first rural substation to serve customers out of the Sanford Post Office was announced today by Postmaster Joel Field.

The substation to be known as Sipes Rural Station was opened in the Midway Grocery on Sipes Ave. It is a contract rural station, said Postmaster Field, and will be operated by Cecil Carlson, owner and operator of the grocery store.

Mail will be delivered daily to the substation by Rural Route Carrier Harold P. Payton.

All services of the Post Office will be available at Sipes Rural Station, said Postmaster Joel Field, with the exception of Postal Savings. Residents of the Midway area, heretofore served by rural boxes, may use the facilities of the new station and eliminate many of the inconveniences of the open boxes.

The new substation was opened with 41 lock boxes and all of them were rented on the first day and a waiting list has already been established. It is planned, Postmaster Field said this morning, to have at least 200 post office boxes available for use in the area.

The new substation will eliminate many of the roadside boxes in which the rural route carrier placed as many as 16 light boxes in one box. Additional security in the delivery of checks and other valuables through either the general delivery or post office box features.

James Cooper, of the Midway section, bought the first rural office issued at the Sipes Rural Station.

"This is one of the features of the local Post Office program to improve mail delivery service in the Sanford area," Postmaster Field said this morning as he announced the opening of the new substation.

"This substation has been located in one of the most thickly populated sections in Seminole County," the Postmaster said. "Within 35-hundredths of a mile there are 117 rural boxes, he commented.

Task Of Bringing Constitution Up To Date Continues

MIAMI (AP)—The giant task of bringing the Florida Constitution up to date continued here today at a public hearing.

The Constitutional Advisory Commission is hearing suggestions in a series of hearings and then will draw up its recommendations for presentation to the Legislature.

A dozen persons yesterday discussed various basic law questions.

Former Gov. Fuller Warren, a member of the study group, said he thought any new Constitution should tighten the rules for levying taxes.

He said a two-thirds vote in each house of the Legislature should be required on the adoption of tax laws and that no taxes of any kind should be levied on groceries, medicine, house rentals or clothing worth less than $25.

The 27-member commission will hold sessions in Tampa tomorrow and Friday; Orlando Monday, Jacksonville Tuesday through Thursday and Panama City Friday.

The many recommendations it hears are supposed to help form the basis for a proposed Constitution to replace the one which was adopted in 1885 and which has been amended 84 times.

Al Stine Gets Big Boost In Column

Al Stine, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Stine of Sanford, received quite a boost in a recent edition of the Charleston Daily Mail, a daily publication in Charleston, W. Va.

Sol Paulinsky, in his column "Of All Things" had this to say about Al Stine:

"In the spring of 1939 Al Stine proudly exhibited his Charleston High School diploma, but there was one course that he pursued that has his the greatest for him."

"His studies were in the class of Miss Agnes Burton, drawing such stock high school subjects as the bees and flowers."

"George Spruce, the WCHR-TV promotion director, a CBS classmate of Al said:

"Al is a big man today in the art world in Chicago and nationwide, and it's no surprise."

"His classmates know that he was heading for the big time. His work showed it."

"Today, Al Stine is instructor at the Chicago School of Fine Arts and also is a member of the art staff of a big advertising agency."

"His Charleston pals, that is those who buy the masculine-type magazines, are getting a fine sample of Al's prowess at the drawing board."

"Al Stine, who used to draw the bees and flowers at Charleston, is represented in the current edition of Playboy, of all things."

Air Force Man Is Jailed, Charged With Hit, Run

A 19-year-old Orlando Air Force base photographic squadron man was jailed late Monday afternoon after being taken into custody 10 miles from the scene of a hit and run accident.

Robert Henry DeSantele was charged with exceeding safe speed and hit and run following an accident at the Lake Monroe Bridge shortly before 4:30 Monday afternoon. Traveling north on 17-92, DeSantele skidded into a car that had stopped because of the bridge being closed. DeSantele turned his car around and sped from the scene. He was taken into custody by Florida Highway Patrolman Carl Williams, Deputy Sheriff Andy Evans and Pat Baker.

DeSantele was driving a 1947 Chevrolet coach.

20 Railway Workers Killed In Headon Collision Of Trains

Bridegroom Kills Betrothed, Self As Bride Reconsiders

FOLKSTON, GA. (AP)—A bridegroom killed his bride, then himself, when the speeding Santa Fe Chief smashed head-on into a side-rail mail train in northern New Mexico.

Sheriff A. O. Sikes said John William Mercer, 49, a West Palm Beach, Fla., plumber, shot to death, Mrs. Lillian Der Baum, 48, of Tampa, Fla., and turned the gun on himself in the pastor's study of the First Baptist Church.

The pastor, the Rev. Clyde P. Jones, said the couple arrived at the study a minute or so before and Mercer said they wanted to be married.

But Sheriff Sikes said "The lady insisted they have a talk with the minister first."

She sat down, Sikes continued, and thereupon Mercer pulled out a .32 caliber pistol and fired twice into her head.

The Rev. Mr. Jones rushed out of the study to warn a women's Sunday School class, meeting in a nearby room, to leave fast. He then called police.

Sikes said the couple had been in Folkston—a Greensboro community line—about two hours before going to the church. "They took blood tests and obtained a marriage license," he said.

"I think she wanted to change her mind or postpone things when they went into the church," Sikes said.

He added there also was a possibility Mercer had made her accompany him at gunpoint. He said "the pistol was new—the box it came in was on the front seat of his car."

County Listed 23rd In Service Trades Receipts Report

Receipts from Florida's service trades amounted to more than $653 million in 1954, the University of Florida's Economic Leaflet reports.

In the county-by-county tabulation of these receipts, Seminole County is listed 23rd as compared to the number of service trade establishments during 1954.

According to the Economic Leaflet there were 148 establishments with receipts totaling $1,023,000. Per capita receipts were $88, with a payroll of $634,000, and 234 paid employees.

Based on figures compiled by the U. S. Census Bureau, the Leaflet reveals that Florida ranked fourth in the nation in total receipts from service and tourist counts.

Authored by Carter C. Osterblad, associate research professor, and Elias S. Jones, assistant in research, the Leaflet is published monthly by the University's Bureau of Economic and Business Research.

"Florida's increase over 1948 in total hotel, motel, and tourist court receipts of 89.4 per cent, representing a change of $77.7 million, was outranked only by Nevada's increase of 93.3 per cent," the authors reveal.

Receipts accounted for 71 per cent of the state's total service trade receipts in 1954. They were Duval, Duval, Hillsborough, Pinellas, Broward and Palm Beach. Within this group, Duval had by far the largest receipts with $347.1 million, or about 26 per cent of the total receipts by service trade establishments in Florida.

FSL Head Will Not Seek Re-Election

John Krider, president of the Florida State League, said in Sanford today that "I will not be a candidate for president of the Florida State League at its directors meeting which will probably be held in October."

Krider explained that "the pressure of business will keep me from serving as president of the league for another season."

N. Mexico Is Scene Of Wreck

SPRINGER, N. M. (AP)—Twenty railway workers perished early today when the speeding Santa Fe Chief smashed head-on into a side-rail mail train in northern New Mexico.

Railway officials said the death toll may be higher when wrecking crews pry into the twisted and torn cars of the Chief.

At least seven were injured. Santa Fe spokesmen said as far as can be determined there were no passengers killed in the early morning tragedy.

The Chief shot into the siding where Santa Fe mail train No. 8 was waiting its turn for the main line.

The dead included the engineer of the mail train, the engineer, fireman and conductor of the Chief, and 16 waiters and lounge car attendants who were asleep in a dormitory car on the Chief.

The identified dead are L. J. Rugh of Raton, N. M., engineer of the mail train; E. O. Foster of Raton, engineer of the Chief; W. H. Adams of Raton, fireman on the Chief; and W. L. Schriever of Las Vegas, conductor on the Chief.

Hospitalized at Springer in critical condition is Jim Walter of Rockford, Ill., cook on the Chief. In serious condition are Charles Kinsaid of Albuquerque, brakeman, and William P. Wright of Chicago, waiter.

In less serious condition in Springer are Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rosen of New York, Miss Jessie Schweizer of Maplewood, Mo., and Mrs. Hattie Meckfease of Maplewood.

Associated Press writer John B. Curtis said "the task even of determining the number of dead is horribly complicated because of condition of the trains."

"The cars," Curtis said, "are mangled, twisted and standing on end. Women's shoes, bedclothing and suitcases are strewn everywhere."

Ambulances, doctors and officers from most of northern New Mexico were summoned to the scene.

The accident occurred at 3:10 a. m. five miles south of here in gently rolling ranch country. The main line of the Santa Fe at this point parallels U. S. Highway 85.

Only the diesel units of the mail train went off the track, crushed and torn.

Of 13 cars in the Chief, only seven remain on the track. Others Curtis said, were "twisted and mangled and telescoped, pointing upward at grotesque angles."

A Santa Fe spokesman said the Chief ran through an open switch and into the siding where the mail train was waiting.

President To Open Campaign Sept. 12 With 'Pep Rally'

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS President Eisenhower will open his re-election campaign with a "pep rally" at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm Sept. 12, a day before Adlai Stevenson makes a major campaign speech at Harrisburg, Pa.

Stevenson, already well into his own fight for the presidency, scheduled an address today in Los Angeles, and a quick trip to San Francisco for another in a series of regional meetings with Democratic leaders.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty announced the President's "rally" yesterday. But got more Democratic reaction with criticism of Stevenson.

Hagerty, citing a clipping from the New York Times, said it appeared to indicate that Stevenson and the Democratic party consider American unemployment "a good news" as it relates to the Democratic campaign fight.

The story linked two Stevenson statements made at a Chicago news conference. It quoted Stevenson as saying "all the news is good," then as adding "there was serious unemployment" in some areas.

The Times issued a statement in the wake of Hagerty's comments, saying the excerpt he quoted was an "unfortunate inversion" of Stevenson's remarks. The paper said the construction "was unfair to Mr. Stevenson," and added it would print his statement in full.

Stevenson's press secretary, Clayton Fritchey, accused Hagerty of "taking two wholly unrelated comments and telescoping them." Hagerty said "I didn't telescope them," and refused comment on the Times statement.

Study Of State's Traffic Safety Needs Begins Soon

MIAMI (AP)—A state legislative committee begins a study this month of Florida's traffic safety needs.

Sen. Merrill P. Barber's committee on traffic and highway safety will use its findings as the basis for new bills to be placed before the next legislative session.

The Florida death rate is about 30 per cent higher this year than last year when about a thousand persons were killed. Exactly 800 persons have been killed to date this year compared to 836 by the corresponding time last year.

A total of 20,264 have been injured compared to 18,454 last year. Barber, who met yesterday with Dade County Safety Council members, said the major aim of his committee will be to write a uniform traffic law. Other aims are closer supervision of drivers' licensing and stricter auto inspections.

"If we can eliminate faulty drivers and faulty cars and get uniform traffic laws we are bound to stop a lot of the highway bloodshed," Barber said.

His committee will hold seven hearings beginning in Miami Sept. 24 and continuing at Fort Pierce Sept. 25, Orlando Sept. 26, Tampa Oct. 1, Jacksonville Oct. 3, Pensacola Oct. 9 and Tallahassee Oct. 11.

Underground Blast Touches Off Fire In Isolated Mine

MYTON, Utah (AP)—Black smoke poured from the shaft of the small Parlett Gilchrist Mine today following an underground blast that touched off a fire in the isolated diggings late yesterday.

But, the mine's estimated 25 employees had ended operations for the day and left for home about an hour before the blast.

There were no injuries, but mine Supt. Robert Ferron said the mine itself would be a total loss.

A gasoline mine explosion at Bonanza, Utah, further east, killed eight men in November 1953.

Gasoline is a solid petroleum substance similar to asphalt. It is used in paints, varnishes, insectum compounds and other products.

Motorists—Watch For Children When Passing School Zones

There are a few things in this world more tragic than the sight of a limp form sprawled grotesquely on the cold, hard surface of a street.

A moment ago, the form laughed and played, enjoying life as only a child can enjoy it.

But, in an instant of carelessness, a life was lost.

Perhaps it was the child's fault. Perhaps he dashed suddenly from the school playground, or off the school sidewalk, into the passing traffic. Perhaps he ran headlong from behind a parked car.

Or maybe the driver was at fault. For just an instant he may have glanced aside.

After death, though, the placement of blame becomes nothing more than a legal question. While guilt may be established, it does not breathe life into a broken body. Neither anguish nor remorse can undo the tragedy which has occurred.

Those who are familiar with the ways of children know they are often unmindful of danger. They lead a carefree existence, hearing but not always heeding the admonitions and teachings of their elders. They know it is dangerous to walk or dash into the street without looking both ways but they sometimes forget in a moment of exhilaration or excitement.

It becomes the duty of adults, then to "think" for the children. Those of us who drive are obligated to exercise extreme caution at all times, especially when passing through school zones—school zones which are now filled with youngsters excited over their beginning days of school.

Those of us who drive cannot assume that no child will dash out in front of the car. We cannot assume that some teacher, directing the activities of thirty or more students (and more often many more), can miraculously stay the action—the sudden spurt of action—of one particular child.

So let us keep these things in mind as we enter a new school year. Let us remember that the safety of the children lies in our hands, that by the mere virtue of driving a car we automatically assume certain specific obligations.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

How long will thou forget me, O Lord? Forever?—Psalm 13:1.
Men have written us that they have prayed for strength that has not been given them. How do you know it has not been given you? Try using the strength God has already given you and God will surely give you more strength.

Let us more vividly remember, too, that the tragic sight of a limp little form sprawled grotesquely on the cold, hard surface of a street cannot be wiped out and eliminated in a lifetime.

Seniors, Study Hard

All over the country, high school seniors are looking forward to a year replete with the satisfactions of being at the top of the heap in their particular world. They know—and many of them relish the idea—that a bit of academic coasting will be tolerated simply because they are seniors.

All over the country, too, there are college freshmen who are wishing that they hadn't done so much academic coasting in the past. After a few weeks of college grind, many of them will actively rue the leisurely pace of learning during that final high school year.

The situation is pointed up by Ira M. Smith, registrar emeritus of the University of Michigan. In two booklets recently published, he says that the senior year in high school should be "academically the most difficult and not the easiest." If the going is too easy, he notes, the awakening in college is likely to be of the variety known as rude. Fewer than half of the nation's college freshmen, he reminds us, ever graduate from college.

These are things for high school seniors to be thinking about as they begin that golden year. Their parents can help by recommending some meditation on Smith's sound advice to young people: "Begin your planning now—not only for the next four years but for the next fifty."

Free Press

It is a truism to say that Americans live a favored existence. The great majority of us have adequate food, clothing and shelter. Almost everyone who wants to work can have a job. We can come and go pretty much as we please.

To sum up, most of us live a life of freedom and plenty. We have become so accustomed to these advantages, which are far beyond the reach of countless millions elsewhere, that we sometimes take them for granted.

One of the things we take for granted is a free press. Virtually anything that is not slanderous or indecent can be printed by newspapers in the United States. It is not so in many parts of the world.

Consider what is happening in Colombia, whose president is the dictatorial Lieut. Gen. Gustavo Rojas Pinilla. General Rojas has effectively gagged the press in Colombia. Moreover, many publications from the United States and other countries are banned, and outgoing dispatches are rigidly censored.

Last year the dictatorship closed down the Liberal newspaper, El Tiempo. Now its successor, Intermedio, is being subjected to confiscatory taxes and newsprint "storage fees". The latest move is to establish the first of what is to be a chain of government-sponsored newspapers. They will tell the people only what the regime wants them to be told. It is a case history that should make citizens of the United States grateful for their freedom, including a free press.

Puttering Around Proves Profitable

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (U)—Many wives to-day complain that puttering husbands are driving them out of their minds.

It's a side effect of the do-it-yourself fad that has gripped millions of American men.

"They leave the house a mess from basement to attic," some wives object bitterly.

But the truth is that a number of these amateur tinkers are coming up with new and profitable household inventions.

"My husband," the average wife may object, "if I gave him a blow torch, he couldn't even invent warm water."

Well, maybe. Then again, maybe not. You never know when or where inventive genius will strike. For example:

When his wife became ill, Eli Teback, a hardware dealer of Linden, N. J., had to prepare his own meals for a few days.

Teback, who likes to broil steaks didn't mind the cooking at all. But he hated the later chore of scrubbing pans.

Noticing some aluminum foil in the kitchen, he began tinkering with it, trying to make a disposable cooking tray.

After several experiments, he came up with a tray with high sides and deep grooves to catch the drippings. He found he could cook his steaks, throw away the aluminum foil tray, and leave the remainder as clean as a—well, a housewife's blouse.

Teback naturally bragged about his new idea to some fellow businessmen, and one suggested: "Why don't you patent and sell it?"

He did. He founded a new firm, the "Disposable" tray, and now sells to hundreds of supermarkets, and Teback is brimming on a million-dollar business.

So a fellow doesn't have to work for his wife to fall ill to come up with a money-making idea.

Take George Lerner of Frooport, Long Island. One day bad weather kept his children in and, bored, they asked him if he couldn't think up something they could play. They were tired of their old toys.

Remembering a game he had played in rainy days during his own childhood, Lerner, a commercial artist, got out some potatoes and carrots, toothpicks and other odds and ends, and began to turn the vegetables into lifelike people. The children were delighted.

"If my kids got a kick out of a simple thing like this, why wouldn't other kids?" Lerner asked himself.

The result was "Mr. Potato-head," a collection of plastic ears, noses, mouths and eyes which children could press into vegetables and making amusing caricatures of human faces.

The game became a surprise big-seller.

"They told me that nobody would buy a game that merely called for making faces out of vegetables and fruit," recalled Lerner, whose royalties now enable him to buy several vegetable or fruit farms if he chose.

Lerner, who now works full time in his basement laboratory developing new toys, has this to say about his success.

"Unfortunately, many people, when they do get a good profitable idea, don't have enough faith in it. They're afraid it's too simple."

The moral, ladies, is this: If you have a husband who likes to putter, let the guy alone.

If he comes up with even one good simple idea, it'll keep you in milk cost money the rest of your life.

MAN KILLS DOVE

LONG BEACH, CALIF. (U)—It was the opening day of dove season but Pete Peters, skipper of a sport fishing boat, didn't expect to participate.

Peters said he was 40 miles at sea Saturday when a dove landed on a rail of his boat. Fisherman H. Peters shot it with a gun he keeps in the cabin, picked up the bird from the deck and brought it home.

Last year the skipper shot a rabbit about 15 miles at sea. The rabbit was on a kelp bed that apparently had floated away from shore.

PAIN IN THE NECK

Too Late To Classify

By RUSSELL KAY
I can assure you, if you have not visited Silver Springs since fire destroyed most of the old buildings, you won't know the place. I stopped by for a visit with Bill Biss and Cliff Deavenport not long ago and they were kind enough to give me a personally conducted tour of the property.

The old bathhouse, administration building, restaurant, gift shop and shopping area have been replaced with new modernistic buildings designed especially to add beauty and tone to the famous attraction.

A new modern restaurant and banquet hall is being built in another location on the highway directly across from the attractive Carriage Cavalcade. While unfinished when I inspected it, it was far enough along to enable me to visualize what it will be like when it is finished.

In the past, Silver Springs has been handicapped for the lack of accommodations to care for large convention groups. The new facilities solve that problem and provide ample room with the very latest equipment, giving this area of the state convention accommodations that are unsurpassed.

Spending the better part of a day at the Springs I visited Tommy Bartlett's Deer Ranch, Ross Allen's Reptile Institute, the Carriage Cavalcade and a new attraction, The Prince of Peace, and found them all thoroughly enjoyable. All of these splendid attractions are well worth seeing, and to enjoy Silver Springs to the full, you should spend several days for there is enough to do and see to keep you busy from daylight until dark.

You will enjoy the rides on glass-bottom boats, photo subs and the fascinating Jungle Cruise down the Silver River. I have made these trips many times but always find them most enjoyable and manage to see something new on each trip.

I stopped at Clermont to visit the new Florida Citrus Tower, Florida's newest attraction. This amazing structure, located just out of Clermont on Highway 27 sits on a hill that affords a view of the countryside for miles and miles. This is the heart of the Florida citrus producing area and is a region of lakes and hills where thousands of acres of citrus groves form a blanket of green. Nowhere in the world can so many citrus trees be seen at one time, well over a million, now upon row they extend in fascinating patterns in all directions. It is a scenic wonderland that you will never forget.

An electric elevator carries you to the top of the giant structure and carillon bells ring at regular intervals adding their magic charm to the glorious scenic beauty of your surroundings. A fine gift shop and modern restaurant and lounge are operated in connection, located on the ground floor. I was thrilled to find my old friend John Whiting in charge of the attraction. For many years John was general manager of Tamiami Trailways and is an old hand at serving the public. Under his able direction the Citrus Tower should be a success from the start.

Returning to Tampa by way of Orlando I stopped at another new attraction located on the Orange Blossom Trail about midway between Orlando and Kissimmee, known as Bibleland. It is most unusual, consisting of 20 dioramas which feature the life of Christ. Each scene is 14 feet wide and nine feet high and is painted in oil on masonry opposite that give a 3-D effect. No admission charge is made although contributions are accepted. The dioramas are the work of Rev. and Mrs. Earl E. Lund, while the attraction is operated by Mr. and Mrs. Fay Morse. Additional features are planned including a Holyland Museum.

Many churches and ministerial associations have arranged to take Sunday School classes to Bibleland, for youngsters are tremendously impressed, and this unusual visual education is most effective. Stop by for a visit to Bibleland next time you are in that area.

MORE FUNDS REQUESTED
TAMPA (U)—The Tampa City Board Council has indicated it will go along with a request for more funds from a police chief who says his force isn't accomplishing all it should.

Chief Malcolm E. Beard, who took over the job Aug. 1, said "We are not getting the crime solved that we should."

Beard asked for an increase of 200 of Squiresville. . .

Shock Changes Style Of Ike, Adlai

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (U)—It took a shock piece to make President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson change their style. The shock Stevenson suffered seems to have affected his literary style, too.

Eisenhower's shock came in 1952, Stevenson's not until 1956. But that Stevenson has learned a lesson showed up Monday in his straightaway Labor Day speech in Detroit.

In 1952 Eisenhower was making a fumbling campaign until some of his warmest supporters told him publicly he was "running like a dry creek." Then he took out like a rabbit, made a slam-bang campaign the rest of the way, and won.

In 1952, Stevenson, who had to be drafted as the Democrats' presidential candidate, was so highly self-conscious it showed up right at the beginning: in his acceptance speech.

He not only employed the letter "I" so often that it may have set a record for that kind of speech but used a biblical phrase which conveyed tones of martyrdom: "This was when he said he had wished 'This cup would pass from me.'"

He conducted what has come to be known as a "high level" campaign, talking reasonably and well. There could be no doubt of his intelligence. And it was refreshing to voters long jaded by political claptrap to hear a politician who used both restraint and a nice taste in the English language.

But there was always the added touch of the literary dancing master prouetting among the epigrams. He is alleged to have entranced some intellectuals. But there were those who wished he had laid aside the flowers.

If he had talked more simply and hit the issues harder, analyzing and explaining them, what he said might have stuck in people's heads better when they went into the polling booths in 1952.

But even though he lost, he seemed pretty much the same Stevenson this year when, knowing he had to fight this time for the nomination, he began his campaign by going into the state primaries for delegates.

His shock came when Sen. Estes Kefauver beat him so badly in the Minnesota primary. One more defeat like that would have just about ended Stevenson's hopes. And he knew it. He picked himself up off the floor and began to change.

Going into other primaries against Kefauver, he got around among people more, shook more hands—although it's still hard to believe there's a special magic in that—and talked more to the point. In short, he caught on fire.

With the self-consciousness of 1952 melting away, he beat Kefauver in the rest of the primaries in which they competed directly. Former President Truman may have been still depressed by the memory of 1952 when, before the Democrats picked Stevenson this year, he tried to flax him by saying he wasn't a "fighter" and couldn't win.

Now reports from Stevenson's trip around the country last week tell of such a change in Stevenson it's almost unbelievable.

When he sees fit he now drops his clipped accent, affects a drawl, gets downright folksy, and even scrambles his grammar. That may be all right, talking to small groups here and there.

But Stevenson would hardly try the homopous touch on nationwide TV. What he may well do when ever he talks on TV or to big crowds in person is what he did in his Detroit speech yesterday.

That speech was so plain, so lacking in literary flowers, it could have been put together by a rewrite man on a newspaper. But it had punch, it talked to the point. And it hit the issues, or should, nonliterary speech.

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

By MOY KING

SOME PEOPLE thought the Republicans laid it on a bit thick in nominating Richard M. Nixon. They praised him as everything but R.M.N.

Spirits were running high in San Francisco hotels, too, it is reported. One grand old party after another.

The Republicans had more of a parade than a political convention. However, one Nebraska elephant ran amok.

That Joe Smith, whoever he is, may be famous long after you have to think twice to remember anyone else at the 1956 Republican convention. . . All it's the first time an absentee was the star of a show.

A lot of people at the Democratic convention furnished Republican campaign material. It took someone who was not at the Republican convention to return the compliment.

Nixon will remember the 1954 Republican convention on the convention of his second nomination. Delegate Terry Carpenter of Nebraska will remember the 1956 convention on his best.

This may be the era of the common man, but you can't get nominated at a Republican convention if you're just Joe Smith. You've really got to be somebody.

Impressive Candlelight Rites Unite Miss Bryan, Wendell Hirt

Miss Elizabeth Foye Bryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Azzarello of this city, became the bride of George Wendell Hirt, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hirt, of Osteen, at 4:30 p. m. on Saturday in an impressive candlelight service performed in the First Methodist Church by the Rev. Milton H. Wynn.

Baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums, two seven-candle candelabra and potted ferns formed a background for the beautiful double-ring ceremony.

"Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by soloist, Hoover Ehriss before the start of the nuptials, after which Mrs. Albert Hickson played the traditional wedding march followed by appropriate bridal music played softly throughout the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, J. N. Azzarello, was radiant in a white embroidered organdy, floor-length gown featuring a fitted bodice with a beauteous neckline below which was a row of embroidered flowers with centers made up of tiny seed pearls. The bouffant skirt was in three tiers and her elbow length gloves were the same material as the dress. She wore a lace cap outlined with seed pearls and net veiling and scattered with veiling and seed pearls. Her veil was shoulder length and she carried a white satin-covered Bible with a white purple-throated orchid, white tube roses and white ribbon streamers.

Maid of honor, Miss Marilyn Calhoun, chose a floor-length white organdy gown with tiny puff sleeves and a V-neck worn over a blue taffeta slip, with a matching blue taffeta sash. With this was worn a large, crownlike picture hat of Maline in the same color as the slip and sash, and also as the slip and sash. The bridesmaids, Miss Carolyn Hirt, sister of the groom, and Miss Yvonne Cullen were lovely in dresses styled the same as the maid-of-honor's only pink instead of blue. They all carried old-fashioned nosegays of pink and blue feather carnations with white satin streamers.

Robert Hirt, brother of the groom, served as best man while ushers and groomsmen were David Hoesch and Harvey Wilkinson.

Mrs. Azzarello chose for her daughter's wedding a stunning dress of pink cotton lace cut along princess lines, worn over a taffeta slip, and with a pink satin bow in front. She wore matching pink accessories and a purple orchid corsage.

The groom's mother, Mrs. George Hirt, selected a dress of pale yellow pique with a floral print. Her accessories were black and her corsage was of yellow Yucca roses and blue feather carnations.

Immediately after the wedding, a reception was held in McKinley Hall. The bride's table was covered with a white imported cut-work tablecloth, which was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake featuring, between the second and third layers four roses budding in four pillars, which in turn held up the third layer which was topped by a miniature bride and groom. The cake was surrounded with gladioli and mums and was flanked on

Cafe Curtains Give Any Window Big Lift

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

CAFE CURTAINS can give a lift to almost any window in the house. Smart and easy to make are button-on curtains which have special fashion interest in their novel use of buttons and their gay multi-color trim.

An effective color combination is to make curtains of yellow Indian-head cotton trimmed with coral buttons and rickrack with coral and rows of bias binding and rickrack in brown, coral and aqua across the bottoms of the curtains. Local sewing center experts advise use of four time-saving sewing machine attachments—the buttonholder, the multi-slotted binder, the edge stitcher and the zigzagger.

To estimate the amount of material needed for a pair of the curtains, first measure the distance from the curtain rod in proper position to the window sill. Then subtract two inches from this length, to allow for the button-on tabs across top; and add four inches from this for the seam at top edge and the hem at bottom edge. Using fabric 36 inches wide, double the final measurements to determine the total yardage needed for each pair.

To make a pattern for the scalloped facing at top, it is suggested you cut a strip of paper 4 1/2 inches by 28 inches. Measure in 1 1/2 inches from each short edge and mark, to allow for the button-on tabs across top, and add four inches. Divide the distance between these two marked points into five equal sections, placing a mark every 6 1/2 inches straight across the pattern. Connect these points with a curved line, using a round bowl or plate as a guide for marking, to outline a series of scallops about two inches deep.

Using scalloped paper patterns as a guide, cut material for facings. Cut lengths of material for curtains. Turn a one-inch hem inside edges of curtains then turn under the bottom edge, and stitch. Press hems. On the facing, turn under the bottom edge 1/4 inch. Also turn under the side edges 1/4 inches so that the facing fits curtain. Edge-stitch and press.

Place the right sides of curtain and facing together and stitch 1/4 inch from scalloped edge. Trim this edge to within 1/4 inch of stitching and clip curves. Turn facing to wrong side and press. Slip stitch curtain and facing together at side edges.

Using the buttonholer attachment for the sewing machine, make a buttonhole in the point of each scallop, starting 1/4 inch below the top. Decorate the curtain with rows of bias binding and rickrack as desired. Use the edgestitcher attachment for your sewing machine to stitch the bias and rickrack together as they are being applied to the curtain.

To make the tabs on which the buttons will be sewn, cut long strips of fabric 1 1/2 inches wide, allowing six inches of material for each tab. Using a double thickness of material, bind edges together with bias binding, employing the multi-slotted binder for the sewing machine. For applying the rickrack to the tab strips, use the edgestitcher or the zigzagger attachment for the sewing machine.

Cut the long rimmed strips into six-inch-long tabs. Fold each tab in half, to form a loop; sew on button, one inch from cut edges. Overcast raw edges together. Slip loops over curtain rod, and button curtains to loops.

A variation of this idea, employing the buttonholes as slots for the curtain rod rather than for use with buttons on the looped tabs is another quick and attractive way to make cafe curtains. Make the curtains as described above, but eliminate the tabs. Then, using the buttonholer attachment, place a pair of buttonholes in the point of each scallop. Slip the rod through these openings when hanging the curtains. This method requires no buttons, rings or clips and gives the finished curtains a crisp, perky look.

Chop mint leaves from your garden and mix them with currant jelly and grated orange rind for a delicious sauce for ham.

Short chunky pods of okra are usually better eating than the long slender pods.

Terry Styles For Tykes

These same qualities make Terry a popular utilitarian fashion for infants and children. For example, you can dress your youngster in a terrycloth sleep and play set of blouse, pants, and bonnies. Any slightly larger archin who loves the beach will also love a one-piece hooded Terry slip-suit that's especially comfortable for after-the-plunge wear.

The GOLDEN WITCH

By ZOLA ROSS

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE
IN THE GRAY noisiness of the December day, Michael mounted the porch of the old habit of cursing the four-hundred-foot climb from the business district. If the city hadn't owned this blasted property, the courthouse would have been built in a decent location.

Inside the courthouse, he found his way to Dan Farmer's office. "Come in, Michael," Dan boomed out a chair with his feet, thrust it toward Michael. "I expected you."

Michael sat and came directly to the point. "It's true you intend to arrest Meg Beumont for her husband's murder?"

Dan's ruddy cheeks deepened in hue. "You do get around, Michael. Didn't our coroner's jury bring in a verdict of death being homicide at the hands of person or persons unknown?"

"Remember says you're about to tie a name to that verdict," Michael countered. "What brings on this now? As you see another page in the newspapers about Farmer, our fearless prosecutor, indicting another killer?"

"Dan faced Michael with the slightest forward expression that had made seater his success in politics. "Look, Michael, the woman's guilty. On the verge of marrying Ten Kyrck, who'll probably be able to buy and sell us all in a matter of a few years, she thinks her husband's safely dead in the Klondike until here he is, no richer than he left." He spread his hands.

"She's got two kids. Maybe her husband won't go for a divorce. And some women don't like to witness anything. Too mean. Held against 'em later on. So, she polishes him off."

Michael snorted. "Are you arguing that she said to herself she'd never be hung because there hasn't been a killer executed for donkeys' years in King County?"

"No-o." Dan looked as if he'd like to say it but didn't feel it advisable. "See here, a dozen people could have killed Beumont. He was alone in the house for quite a while. Anybody could have come in."

Dan patched his judicial expression into place. "You mean when his wife was out walking around—she says?" he asked without enthusiasm.

"Yes."

Dan wagged his head. "We can't and a soul who saw her, Michael. And she's not a woman people would pass in the street and forget. You're only her word for it that she left the house at all." He coughed. "I will say Ten Kyrck took a lucky time to go to California. If he'd been in town—well—"

Michael felt as if he battled black swarms of the flies of suspicion. "I tell you Meg Beumont is innocent."

"A lawyer ought to believe that," Dan agreed. "We always stopped to be fair."

"Abruptly Michael saw it was no use. He got up. "When are you arresting her?"

"In time," Dan regarded him with obvious sympathy. "We always stopped to be fair."

Michael did not answer. He stormed out into the corridors, replying to greetings with such clipped abstraction that no man halted him for conversation. It was almost a month now since Kemp had been killed. Michael remembered that he had been in the Savoy bar when Tim O'Brien brought the news.

Michael was talking to an acquaintance over a drink when his friend stepped in the middle of a word and stared past him. Michael turned to see Tim, gray and pinched, looking as if he might be sick right there in the bar.

"What's up, Tim?"

"Kemp's beer . . . shot to death. They—Meg was with him."

"Then—then Meg's dead, too?" Tim shook his head. "No. She—was with him."

Michael remembered the wild hack drive to the Cox house. Meg was sitting up in bed, her bright hair unbound and flowing about her. Matilda, undressing her, had failed to button the high-necked gown to the throat. Meg's bosom, half-valued, rose and fell with the swiftness of her breathing. Her eyes were almost black in the paper-whiteness of her face.

He came to her, sat on the edge of the bed, caught her hands in his, changing and warming them between his own.

"It will be all right, Meg."

He heard his own inane words over a thunder in his body and brain. Why, he loved this woman! The moment he touched her he recognized it. His old passion for Charlotte dissolved into the nothingness it was. In Meg, even wrapped in tragedy, there was a warmth and a quicksilver Charlotte had never held for him. Looking at Meg, he rejected his own impatience with men who claimed to fall in love at a glance. It did happen. He knew, pain stirring beneath the knowledge, that Meg might never return his love. It didn't matter.

She began to talk. Sometimes she spoke in so low a tone Michael could hardly hear her again she shrilled into a half-scream.

"He stole the money from the Swede, the money the Swede gave him to get the supplies in Skagway. He ran away. He came back because he was in trouble, I think, and heard I was doing all right. He told me all this; he kissed me; he made love to me." Convulsive shudders shook her. "And I broke away and walked the streets. I hid from everyone I saw. I couldn't bear to speak, to be seen."

She was silent until Michael prodded her into speech. "And you made up your mind to leave him?"

Her eyes widened. She was puzzled but not resentful. "No. I made up my mind to stay. He was like Johnny—like Honora Jane—my responsibility. I'd taken it on. I couldn't let it go. I came back to tell him so and—and found him."

Now she wept, tears spilling down her cheeks. Michael held her close.

Alone, Michael considered Meg's story. He believed her. Few people would. He knew a conviction that Meg would be tried for her husband's murder. Unless he came up with the real killer, she would at the worst hang. At the best, she would spend years in prison.

He came back to the present with a start. At the foot of the hill, he veered into a side street. His first belief had been deepened when Jason stormed into his office two days later.

Jason flung himself into a chair. "They arrested her yet?"

"No."

"They will!" Michael nodded. "She didn't do it, you know, Jason."

Jason's shoulders went rigid. "Of course not! But there was no heartiness in his voice and his tone was agitated walking."

"You know the water front, Jason," Michael said. "Find out about the ship from Noma. See if somebody aboard had it in for Beumont. None around."

"All right," Jason looked glad of action, but when he left, Michael realized Jason believed Meg guilty. He loved her, would probably marry her even in the shadow of the gallows, but he didn't think her innocent of murder.

Meg would certainly be tried for murder. Innocence? Justice? Michael had been a lawyer too long to believe either was necessarily connected with court procedure and its results.

Redlegs Move Into 2nd Place

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

Win, lose or draw, the Cincinnati Redlegs are almost certain to walk off with the following honors this year:

1. The most successful extra-inning club in the major leagues.
2. The most powerful home-run hitting crew in big league history.
3. Possessor of the National League's rookie-of-the-year in Frank Robinson.
4. Owner of the No. 1 relief pitcher in both leagues in Hershel Freeman.
5. Having the manager-of-the-year in Birdie Tebbets.

The amazing Redlegs solidified their hold on all five honors last night by handling the front-running Milwaukee Braves a stunning 4-2 defeat in 10 innings, made possible by Robinson's 27th home run and Freeman's 20th victory-bringing relief job. The Red's brilliant fireman received credit for his 12th victory. He has saved 18 other games for Cincinnati.

The Red's triumph, their second in a row over Milwaukee after a seemingly disastrous opening game defeat in Monday's doubleheader, boosted Tebbett's never-die outfit into second place, a half game ahead of Brooklyn and 2 1/2 lengths behind the Braves.

It marked the 10th consecutive overtime triumph for the rampaging Redlegs, who have fought back into contention after having been counted out more times than a glass-chinned fighter.

In the only other National League game played last night, the New York Giants thumped Philadelphia 7-3 under the lights. Cleveland's hopes of overtaking the American League leading New York Yankees became dimmer than ever when the tail-end Kansas City Athletics dumped the second placers 5-3 to drop the Indians nine games behind New York.

Chicago's third place White Sox climbed to within two games of the Tribe by whipping Detroit 11-4 and Boston needed a 12th-inning home run by Ted Lepcio to nip Washington 7-6. Baltimore and New York had a day off.

Freeman made his 49th mound appearance for Cincinnati in the ninth with the score tied 2-2, and gave up a leadoff double to rookie Earl Hersh, playing in his first major league game. But he pitched out of the jam by purposely walking Joe Adcock, getting Bobby Thomson to ground into a double play and retiring Bill Bruton on a grounder.

Ernie Johnson was on the mound for Milwaukee in the 10th when Robinson rocked him with a home run to bring the flashy outfielder to within one of Wally Berg's rookie homer record of 28. Singles by Ted Kluszewski, Wally Post and Ed Bailey added an insurance run.

Max Burkott, supported by a 12-hit attack, notched his second victory since joining the Giants two weeks ago with a six-hitter against the Phils. A four-run ninth finished off loser Harvey Haddix. The Athletics handed Herb Score his ninth defeat with an early attack that included a base-loaded single by Joe De Maestri. Jack Crisman gained his third victory.

Dick Donovan not only pitched his sixth consecutive complete game victory with a 10-hitter against the Tigers but helped his cause with a three-run homer off Steve Groat. Nellie Fox paced Chicago's 12-hit attack with three singles to wrest the lead from Mickey Mantle with 112 hits. Lepcio added a two-run single to his game-winning run to give Frank Sullivan his 12th triumph as the Red Sox swept the three-game series from their Washington tormentors.

Plans Are Received For Firm's Building

Post Office May Mechanize City Route Carriers

A survey is being conducted, according to Joel Field, Sanford Postmaster, to determine the feasibility of mechanizing the entire city route carriers.

To assist in the survey, Al Blaine, a representative of the Regional Industrial Engineers of Atlanta, Ga., is in Sanford poring over maps of Sanford to establish mileage and length of routes.

The "mailster", a dressed up and highly improved "scoter" is the type of transportation proposed for the mechanization, said the local Postmaster.

In order to make the survey, huge maps have been prepared with about five streets wide the scope of each section so that streets and routes can more easily be determined.

"Whether or not the mechanization will take place is still a question," said Postmaster Field, "and must await the outcome of the survey now being made."

Taking part in the survey is Superintendent of Mails Dick McLaulin and Clerk Clyde Piery.

If the feasibility of the survey is approved, the Postmaster revealed, "mail and parcel post will be delivered by the carriers which in turn will make deliveries earlier and more complete."

"Plans for the new Sanford Manufacturing Company's building, which include the working drawings and specifications, have been received and have gone to the mortgage company for a final commitment," William H. "Bill" Stemper, vice chairman of the Sanford Industrial Board, said late yesterday afternoon.

"In addition," said Stemper, "response has been good on the request for Sanford people to invest in this growing company."

Stemper said that all contacts made by the volunteers who have been working with the Sanford Manufacturing company officials in order to keep the industry in Sanford "have been made by mail in order to keep too much work from being thrown onto any one group."

Sanford citizens who would like to invest in a Sanford enterprise can volunteer their pledges, Stemper commented.

In answer to several questions which have been raised concerning the enterprise, including "How will the funds be disbursed?" and "whether or not the investments will be paid off with the original mortgage?" Stemper said, "Three of the investors have been named as agents with the Florida State Bank as the depository to receive and disburse the funds by a trust agreement."

He also said "Repayment of the investments will be made simultaneously with the original mortgage and such payments will include the interest."

"This is not a give-away program" emphasized the Sanford Industrial Board's vice-chairman, "but a means to make financing available to an organization that has proven by actual experience that they can operate in Sanford and bring new money into the community's economic life."

"I would like to point out," Stemper said, "that the Sanford Manufacturing Company's money to provide plans and specifications for the new building and as their part of the investment, has already been deposited in the local bank."

"We have been able to retain an important industry in Sanford, providing a large annual payroll, because of the wonderful cooperation on the part of the City of Sanford in making land available and lending their assistance whenever possible without impairing the city's normal services," Stemper explained.

Capt. Blackburn Makes Non-Stop East-West Flight

A recent flight of an A3D, non-stop from the California coast to Jacksonville, without refueling, points up the importance of the Sanford Naval Air Station, and its readiness for the defense of the United States around the clock, in all weather, or at any location.

Captain J. T. Blackburn, Commanding Officer of Heavy Attack Wing One, stationed at the local Navy base, piloting an A3D, left the California coast at 11:04 a.m. last Monday flying at 38,000 feet and made a low pass at Oklahoma City for timing purposes, during the Oklahoma City Air Show, at 1:37 p.m.

Guards Escort Negroes

STURGIS, Ky. (AP)—An angry, yelling mob of 400-500 persons swung fists here today as National Guard troops escorted nine Negro youths into the previously all-white Sturgis High School.

The armed troops got the youths through the yelling, fist-swinging crowd after a five-minute struggle. Five unidentified men were seized by the troops, who moved into this western Kentucky town of 5,000 last night. The seized men were quickly removed from the scene by State Police.

The troops, after taking the Negro youths into the school approximately a half hour before classes were to open, fixed bayonets and drove the crowd away from the school building.

As the Negro youths left their homes about a mile from this mining and farming town's only high school, crowds began to gather along the way engaging in name-calling as the youths walked down the street.

By the time they had reached the school's vicinity, the crowd had reached nearly 600.

When several in the crowd tried to grab the youths, National Guardsmen stepped in. Fists began to fly but the troops pushed their way through and after driving the crowd back across the street remained with fixed bayonets around the school.

Many white children remained outside the school.

Maj. Gen. J. B. Williams, commanding officer of about 210 members of the 240th Tank Battalion which was ordered to this small community along with four tanks, said:

"I have issued orders to keep the street clear and traffic moving. All children who want to enter the school will be admitted."

The crowd remained milling around the school approximately 45 minutes after the Negro youths had entered. They continued heckling the troops.

Gen. Williams said last night after the troops' arrival that the Guardsmen would remain as long as necessary and were well-prepared for any eventuality."

Later, a sixth unidentified man was arrested when he assaulted State Police Det. Leroy Poole.

Tanks moved up into the street directly in front of the school building.

A solid line of Guardsmen was strung along the block from one end to the other as school buses began to arrive with white children.

As the children alighted from the buses, the crowd began to chant. The crowd kept up the chant as the assembly bell sounded inside the school.

A few minutes later, some children began to leave the school. Many girls were crying. As they reached the outside the crowd cheered.

One mother ran to a window and shouted for her children to leave. Some children inside the school yelled in reply:

"We're not coming out. The law is the law."

Other parents entered the school and returned to the outside with their children.

Plans were adopted for Sept. 30 when the minister expects to be in attendance at the annual International Convention of Disciples of Christ, Des Moines, Ia. A goal of $220.00 for missionary causes in Unified Promotion was adopted. The sum is to come from the church budget and be sent in by June 30.

Committees planning the observance of the congregation's 31st anniversary and home coming on Sept. 23 were commended for their work. The program committee composed of W. H. Young, Mrs. O. T. Pearson and Mrs. H. K. Ring has secured State Secretary Lawrence S. Ashley, Ocala, a guest speaker for the afternoon program. Lester Tharp and Misses Flo Bishop and Nancy Hicks have sent out invitations to all present and former members. An offering for the education building will be taken at the anniversary. The adopted goal for the day's offering is $2500.00. This week the offering committee, Geo. Walter Morgan, chairman, is mailing an appeal for the offering. A sketch of the highlights in the history of the church is in preparation, and will be put in a souvenir booklet. The board has ordered the publication of 300 copies of the booklet. A committee headed by Mrs. James L. Horton, Sr., is gathering names for the offering.

Orlando Woman Drowns As Car Goes Into Lake Monroe

MRS. VARSENIG KAZARIAN, 79, was pulled from this automobile and was dead on arrival at Seminole Memorial Hospital. The Chevrolet sedan skidded out of control for approximately 700 feet before toppling over the seawall on 17-92 just north of Sanford. (Staff Photo)

Driver Is In State Of Shock

An Orlando woman was dead on arrival at the Seminole Memorial Hospital following an accident this morning shortly after 11 o'clock when a car, driven by her husband, went out of control and toppled over the sea wall about 1 1/2 miles north of Sanford on highway 17-92.

Mrs. Varsenig Kazarian, 79, apparently died of drowning as the automobile sank in shallow water of Lake Monroe, according to coroner W. Hugh Duncan who said that a coroners jury would not be called because of eye witnesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Williams, on their honeymoon from Cairo, Ill. were traveling north and met the Kazarian automobile as it swerved out of control and went into the water.

Williams, attempting to keep the automobile which landed on its side, from toppling over, received a bruised knee as he scaled the concrete bulkhead.

According to the reports of eye witnesses and the investigation of Florida Highway Patrolman Carl Williams, the Kazarian automobile was traveling south driven by Mardiros Kazarian, husband of the drowned woman, whose address was given as 915 Euclid Ave., Orlando, went out of control for about 700 feet before crashing into the water.

The car, according to reports, was traveling at an apparent high rate of speed as it swerved off the highway to the right, back onto the highway and then skidded to the left of the pavement, back to the right again, and finally made a sharp swerve to the left, plowed up dirt across the shoulder of the road and then went over the side of the concrete seawall.

It is reported that Mr. and Mrs. Kazarian are the parents of Harry and Carl Kazarian, operators of the Orange Pharmacy in Orlando.

Mardiros Kazarian, the driver, was reported not to be injured but was in a state of shock. Apparently, on the driver's side of the car, Kazarian was not submerged in the water as was Mrs. Kazarian, and was pulled from the car uninjured. Mrs. Kazarian, it is reported, received a bruise on her left shoulder but received no other injuries from the impact of the car as it fell over into the water.

At the scene, assisting in the investigation of the accident, was Capt. Arnold Williams of the Sanford Police Department.

No other car was involved in the accident, said Patrolman Carl Williams, who also reported that the Kazarian automobile went out of control on a straight stretch of highway.

Church Board OK's Decree Opposing Pari-Mutuel Betting

The official board of the First Christian Church Tuesday authorized the drafting of a resolution expressing opposition to the proposed expansion of gambling in the county by the introduction of pari-mutuel betting on harness and horse races. A vote on the issue was deferred Tuesday, to be held in connection with the November election.

Plans were adopted for Sept. 30 when the minister expects to be in attendance at the annual International Convention of Disciples of Christ, Des Moines, Ia. A goal of $220.00 for missionary causes in Unified Promotion was adopted. The sum is to come from the church budget and be sent in by June 30.

SHS Team Tearing Up Practice Field

A green but apparently willing Seminole squad of football aspirants are tearing up the practice field at the local high school with an apparent determination to make a record for themselves in their opening season in the Orange Belt conference.

Midway through the third week of practice the Seminole High school griders are grinding away at fundamentals under the patient coaching who are trying to shape a squad of inexperienced men into a working machine that can come off winner in its first game of the season. That date with Cocoa on Sept. 21 is far too close, according to the mentors.

Yesterday was the third day that the gridmen had worn pads and despite their lack of polish, there were many of them that showed a willingness to play a "rock 'em and sock 'em" game and thus show their coaches that they deserved to be in the starting lineup when the season opens.

The greenward at the high school is dotted with some 65 hopefuls, each determined to make good. There are 26 of these lads that are in the A squad under the guidance of Head Coach Bud Fleming and his assistants, Bud Lyle and Dave Laude.

According to these sweating craftsmen, the places on the team are wide open right now. "Every man with whom we are now working has a chance to get the call when we go against Cocoa," Fleming said. "We know we don't have much experience in the roster, so we are looking for the fellow that can show us that he really likes an show us that he really likes to play this game."

Taking stock of the boys whose suits were turning dark with sweat, Fleming and Lyle agreed that the squad was lighter than last year's edition of the Seminoles, adding that they didn't have what would be called a "big" man. There was some hope that speed would develop as some of the team got used to carrying the weight of the uniforms and got into better condition.

Carried over from the 1955 eleven, Brantley Schirard gets many nods of approval from Lyle and Laude, who are working with the lumen, as he cracks in on defense. Bud and Dave also say that they see some real potential in a pair of tackles, Meredith Scott and Charles Pense. In the style of play used by the Seminoles these two spots are key positions and the mentors are anxiously scanning the available material for boys who can "do a man's work."

Auto Smashes Into Post Office Wall

An automobile, apparently out of control, smashed into the side wall of the Sanford Post office this morning shortly before 8:30.

Taking down the parking sign in the Post Office parking area near the corner of First and Palmetto Ave., the automobile caused minor damage to the building and to the car.

A water faucet on the outside of the building was smashed and the bumper of the car dented.

Drive of the automobile was W. W. Star, 79-year-old Orlando businessman who maintains an office in Sanford at 1200 Elm Ave.

Investigation for the Sanford Police Department was made by Captain Arnold Williams.

Planet Mars To Be In View Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Tonight at midnight EST, thousands of telescopes will be trained on the red planet Mars, which gets more "neighborly" than it has been for 32 years.

The intriguing planet, only half as big as the earth, wheels into view astronomically only 33,163,000 miles away—the closest since 1924.

Mars rises in the Southeast and sets in the Southwest. It will be closest around midnight but will be visible all of the evening hours.

The planet shines red because more than half its surface seemingly is covered with orange-red desert, low mountains, and barren landscape swept by hot winds.

The controversial "canals" will come in for close attention. Some claim to have seen such waterways, but others note that photographs fail to show them clearly if at all.

Scientists say that if "beings" do exist on Mars they'll have to be different from us, because the planet's atmosphere is said to be almost devoid of oxygen and more dependent on nitrogen.
