

New Method of Surgery Proves to Be Beneficial

Famous Editor's Life Saved When New Technique Applied

EDWARD W. BLAKESLEE, NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP)—A new technique of surgery, a new expedition through the arteries, probably has saved the life of Smith Reavis, distinguished editor and writer of the Associated Press. He is the man who inspired the Kellogg-Briand pact outlawing war.

Reavis' life was threatened last Saturday by a blood clot, or "aneurysm," which had formed in the abdomen.

The clot lay at the point where the large artery descending from the lungs to supply blood to the legs forks like an inverted capital letter Y to form two branches, one down each leg. A clot here is fatal, causing gangrene, unless quickly removed.

Consistently, surgeons have saved life in clots in various parts of the body by going directly in from the nearest point where to open the artery and lift out the obstruction.

But there is a new method, originated in Vienna, said to have been tried more than 100 times as three times in this country. It is fishing with a wire, which enters some place else in the body and probes to the clot.

No instruments for such an operation were available at the Kellogg-Briand pact hospital here when Reavis entered. The position of the clot was determined clearly by the pulse, which was beating above the saddle, and absent below.

It's time to wear a straw hat, and this delectable pillbox in spongy pink with a wide crushed black moire ribbon and a turn-of-the-century bow is one of the smartest of the new straw bonnets. Wear it with your black afternoon dress on which you've recently put new pink lingerie collar and cuffs.

In the emergency, the doctors fashioned their own instrument. They took a medium flexible metal wire and with pliers twisted one end in the form of a corkscrew.

After an anesthetic, they made an incision in the patient's leg, into the femoral artery, one of the branches coming down from the saddle where the obstruction lay. They hid out the distance on the wire with mathematical accuracy, a distance which was to be a life line for Reavis.

They knew to a fraction of an inch the distance from the point of entry, up the artery to the saddle, for it is the same in 999 persons out of 1000. They chose the regular distance for Reavis.

The wire was thrust slowly up the artery until it reached the measured distance. The measurements indicate, and the superior sense of touch in surgeons' fingers indicated that the corkscrow tip was in contact with the thrombus.

The latter is of gummy consistency. By sense of touch on the lower end of the wire and by measurements again, the surgeons made counted turns of the wire until the homemade corkscrow should be firmly set in the clot.

Then they pulled it out, slowly and gently. All of it came out together.

Reavis is still not out of danger, but this is from complications before the operation, and not from the clot.

He is internationally recognized as the man who inspired the Kellogg-Briand pact outlawing war, through a news story he wrote when he was head of the desk in the Paris bureau of the Associated Press. For the last several years he has been an Associated Press financial writer.

Trade Program Continuation Seen In Vote

Opponents Concede Hull's House Victory Foreshadows Renewal Of Policy

Senate Leaders To Seek Amendment

Solons Would Require Ratification By Majority Vote

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Senate opponents conceded today that the triumph of Secretary Hull's trade agreements program in the House last night fore-shadowed a continuation of the policy in some form.

They served notice, however, that they would make a vigorous effort to attach restrictive amendments to the extension of the bill which the House approved, 218 to 168.

The House vote, which gave the administration a victory in the first legislative test of the session, shifted the battle over trade agreements to the Senate side of capital.

Senate opponents of the measure to extend the agreements program three more years after expiration June 15, said they would line up behind these proposals if an amendment requiring that the program be renewed by a two-thirds majority of the Senate before they could become effective.

They also proposed to set up a congressional "review" committee to study the program and report back to Congress.

Opponents of the measure also proposed to amend the bill to require that the program be renewed by a two-thirds majority of the Senate before they could become effective.

Cold Weather Is Predicted For Florida

Temperatures Below Zero Accompany Snow Storm Moving Across Mid-West

LAKELAND, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Mild temperatures tonight will be followed by colder weather tomorrow and near freezing temperatures in extreme north Florida Monday morning, the Federal-State Forecasting Service said today.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—(AP)—A snowstorm which left a one to eight inch deposit over most of the Middle West moved eastward today, trailed by extreme cold weather ranging down to 25 degrees below zero at Aberdeen, S. D.

Forecasters Gordon E. Dunn said the cold front passed Chicago this morning and that of the snow-laden storm moved east, diminishing in intensity, the clearing weather coming down from the northwest would send the mercury tumbling this afternoon.

Snow impeded highway traffic over a wide area.

Milwaukee had eight inches of snow and the mercury stood at 18 above. The streets of Omaha, Neb., were sheets of ice. Minneapolis has four inches of snow and Chicago had three.

Welles To Confer With Der Fuehrer On European Visit

BERLIN, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler will receive United States Under-Secretary of State Welles when he arrives in Berlin, possibly next Tuesday or Wednesday, on his fact-finding tour of European capitals as President Roosevelt's personal emissary.

Welles' tentative program here, as disclosed today, calls for a meeting first with Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop. The conference with the Fuehrer will follow immediately.

United States Charge D'Affaires Kirk conferred yesterday with Baron Von Weizsaecker, German under-secretary of state, apparently to arrange details of Welles' visit.

Both Von Ribbentrop and Von Weizsaecker have kept in direct contact with Dr. Hans H. Dieckhoff, who still holds the title of German ambassador to the United States despite his absence from Washington since late in 1938.

Dieckhoff was ordered home on Nov. 18, 1938, to explain American views on the Nazi anti-Jewish campaign, two days after Hugh R. Wilson, American ambassador to Berlin, was summoned to Washington "to report."

Welles is understood to have been represented favorably to official Berlin by Dieckhoff.

Fred L. Harrison announced today that he will be a candidate for the Board of County Commissioners from District Two, subject to the vote of the electors of Seminole County in the Democratic primaries in May.

A resident of the county for the past 15 years, Mr. Harrison, for eight years, was assistant superintendent and representative of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. in this district and for the past seven years he has been receiving clerk and plant superintendent for the Florida Pre-cooling Company.

He is a Master Mason, honorary member of the Order of Eastern Star, and a member of the First Baptist Church.

"I believe that my experience in the past qualifies me for the office I am seeking," Mr. Harrison said.

"I am in favor of improving the roads and drainage systems of the county with WPA assistance and will also cooperate with all officials in efforts to induce the State Road Department to take over certain roads in Seminole County—long since promised. Bill Amendment Improves Finns' Chances For Loan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Finland's chances for an additional $20,000,000 loan for non-military purposes advanced a step yesterday when the House Banking Committee recommended a $100,000,000 increase in the Export-Import Bank's lending cap.

Although refusing to eliminate the restrictions on use of the funds for military equipment, the committee adopted an amendment to the Senate-approved bill to exempt commercial aircraft from that ban.

It also wrote in a provision which would deny loans to any country in default on its war payments to the United States. Representative Harry (D-N. Y.) sponsor of that provision, asserted the restriction would not affect Finland. The committee's final vote on the bill was 19 to 5.

The bill did not specify any country to which loans could be made but Jesse Jones, Federal loan administrator, had told the committee the intention was to lend Finland $20,000,000 in addition to the $100,000,000 that country previously borrowed. Jones said loans of $10,000,000 each also would be made to Sweden and Norway.

Loans would be made, he said, to Latin American countries but the bill stipulated that no country could get more than $20,000,000 from the new capital.

The committee rejected several proposals to relax restrictions on loans. It also defeated an attempt of Representative Summers (D-Ill.) to cut the amount of the capital increase to $50,000,000.

Prime Minister Specifies Freedom For Poles And Czechs

The huge Russian military machine battered to within seven and half miles of the strategic Viipuri today, Finnish reports indicated for the first time, and in pressing to widen its wedge despite heavy losses.

Meanwhile world attention was centered on the speech which Adolf Hitler will broadcast from Berlin tonight at 8:00 P. M. (2:10 P. M. EST) on the 20th anniversary of his proclamation of the 25-point Nazi Party program.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain outlined Britain's war aims specifically in a speech at Birmingham, England, specifying them as: "First, the independence of the Poles and Czechs must be secured; secondly, we must have some tangible evidence that will satisfy us that any pledges or assurances given will be fulfilled."

British press dispatches told of the sinking of four more German submarines. The Admiralty declined to confirm this, but announced the sinking of the trawler Benavolo with the loss of 10 men.

French military advice tended to support the reports of the submarine sinkings, however, disclosing that two German subs (Continued on Page Three).

Floridians Oppose Hull's Trade Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Overwhelming Southern support for the reciprocal trade program was broken last night by Florida's House delegation, which voted solidly against the Administration resolution to continue it.

There were four opposition votes from Florida. The fifth, Representative Caldwell (D Fla.) was paired against it.

Floridians contend the Cuban agreement has seriously hurt the peninsula's farmers.

A "Smart" Politician

The Tampa Tribune does not believe the story currently being told about Jerry Carter, candidate for U. S. Senate...

The evening paper infers editorially that Mr. Jerry Carter, a candidate for U. S. Senator, pompously unfolded a $5 bill as the collection plate was passed at the January Townsend confab here...

Finally, as the plate passed Mr. Carter's lap, he waved his palm over it. But, in a checkup of the plate's contents, the Reporter-Star flatly and frankly charges it contained no $5 bill or any other kind of bill.

The Herald has no way of knowing whether this story as told by the Sentinel is true or not. Neither is it sure whether the Tribune's conclusion that "Jerry is too smart a politician" is correct...

It seems that he used to be Hotel Commissioner before he got to be Railroad Commissioner. He was appointed to his first job during the Catta' administration...

But it also seems that in the course of his duties as Hotel Commissioner, the hotels and restaurants were placed under obligations to Jerry...

Now, so the story goes, Jerry used to get the hotels to present him with a bill, then he would wave his magic wand, the clerk would mark the bill paid, and Jerry would put the receipted bill in his pocket...

But it may be "Jerry was too smart a politician" to do a thing like that. We were just wondering. Maybe the Tribune knows.

The Pass Of Civilization

Former War Minister Hore-Belisha's epigram on Finland yesterday that "She is holding the pass of civilization" recalls another great moment in world history...

Xerxes I had inherited from his father Darius the largest and richest empire the world up to that time had ever seen. Though Persia extended from the Hellespont to the Ganges in India...

Greece, even then, 480 B. C. was a comparatively free country and the nearest thing the world had ever seen to a democracy. It was composed of a number of independent states of which Sparta and Attica were the most notable...

But there were able leaders and brave men to follow them. Leonidas, king of Sparta, got together a band of only 300 Spartans, and armed only with swords and spears, marched over the mountains to the narrow pass of Thermopylae...

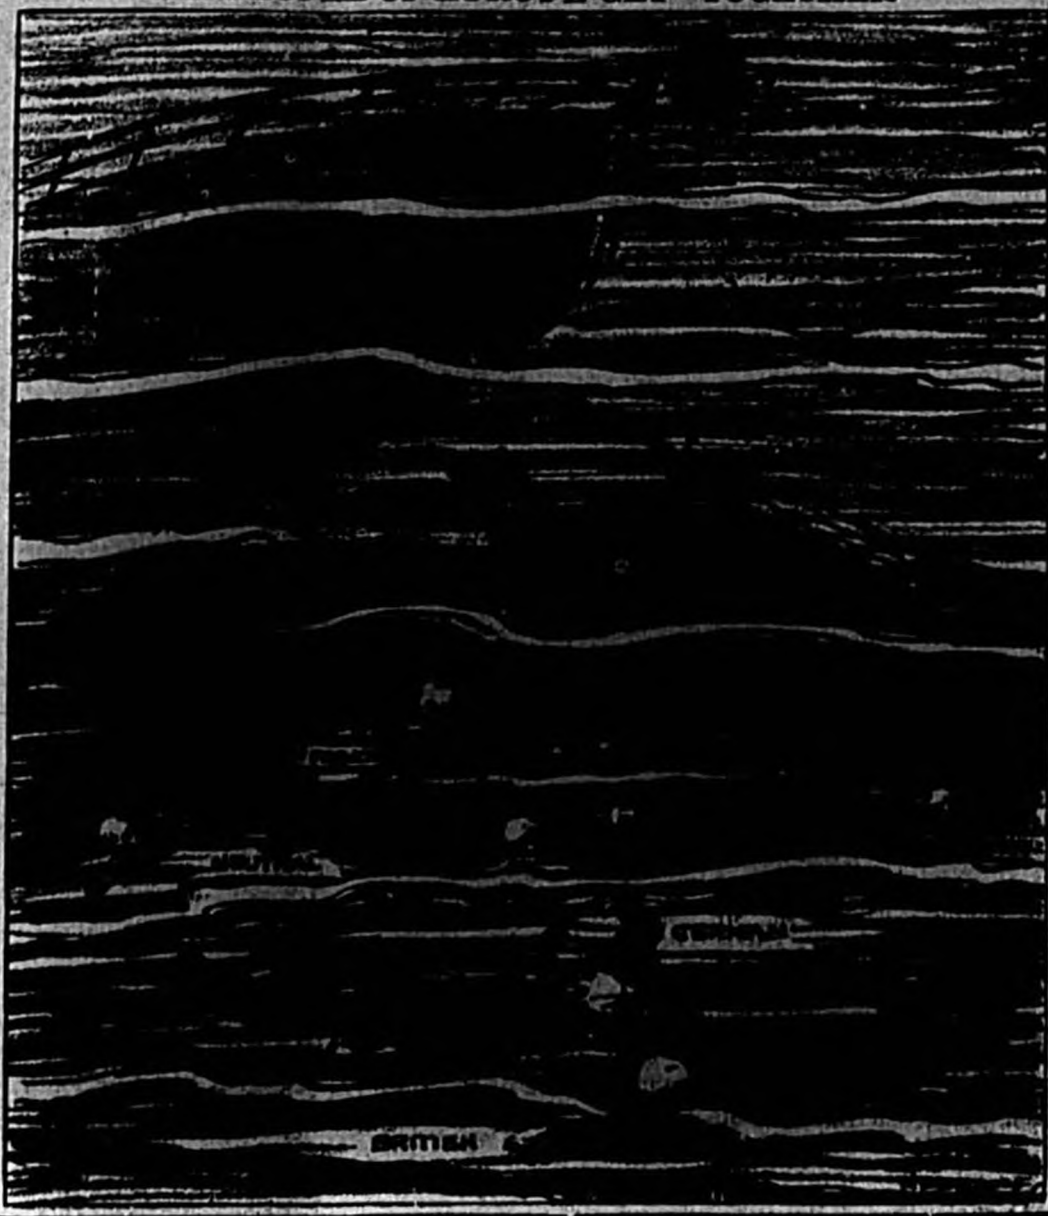

Nevertheless, Leonidas and his brave little band remained at their post at Thermopylae, 300 men blocking the path of hundreds of thousands...

Toward the end of the second day Leonidas was betrayed by another Greek who tipped the Persians off to a secret path over the mountains which brought Persian soldiers to the rear of the Spartan band...

The time they were delayed by Leonidas gave other Greeks a chance to get organized and provided Athens with an opportunity to put her fleet in order...

In this connection it is interesting to note that the "Age of Pericles," the most brilliant period in Greek history which saw the complete democratization of the Athenian constitution, immediately followed this defeat of Oriental despotism.

Finns Fight To Save Viipuri From Invaders

marines were destroyed yesterday in the North Sea. Presumably they were among those mentioned in the British dispatches.

The British Air Ministry announced that British planes flew over Prague last night—the second successive night that the Royal Air Force fliers had penetrated deep into Germany.

The German high command, on the other hand, said that Nazi planes had penetrated deep into France.

Russia's Red Army failed to capture Finland's second city, Viipuri, for its own 22nd birthday present Friday, but was reported within 10 or 12 miles of its objective—at a cost of nearly 2,000 men killed in one day's fierce fighting.

The Finnish communiqué said the Russians had penetrated to the vicinity of Naxel Lake, roughly four miles northwest of Kammara railway station where the Finns began Thursday.

The Finns said the Russians had the Karelian isthmus fight, about 2,000 men, in one area, and 800 men in another.

While the Finns stoutly resisted incessant Russian pressure on their Mannerheim Line, Britain's ousted War Minister, Leslie Hore-Bellah, in a vigorous speech to his parliamentary constituents at Davenport, England, called on England and France to make "real war" on Russia—on land, air and sea.

Hore-Bellah, who left the British Cabinet last Jan. 5, declared Finland "is holding the pass of civilization."

He said Russia wins the war in the north, he went on, she will not be satisfied with her spoils in Finland—she will force advantages for Germany in Scandinavia, where the British and Germany are hungry for food, iron ore, timber and other supplies.

"Well-planned, adequate, decisive action" in Finland, Hore-Bellah argued, would prevent this—give new strength to the Allies' economic arm and "curtail the duration of the war."

Mrs. O. K. Goff is visiting for the weekend in Jacksonville with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Goff.

Progressive Club Would Induce New Firms To County

political aspirations whatsoever. The purpose of the club, he stated at last night's meeting, is to arouse the citizens of this county from their easy chairs and make them realize the advantages of all getting together and working together for the development of Sanford and Seminole County.

"You may ask why we don't take this to the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce which receives from $4,000 to $6,000 a year from City and County taxes and $3 a year dues from its membership. There are 10 reasons why the Chamber of Commerce should not be asked to do this work," he said.

The speaker cited two of the reasons. He said that when the members of the Chamber of Commerce pay their annual dues they adopt the attitude, "now it's my turn" and recline in their easy chairs until the dues again come due. He pointed out that the newly formed club are something that every person in the county should lend his support to and not leave it to the work of a single man in the Chamber of Commerce.

Some of the industries which he said were "responsive" in the letters written them, and might be induced to locate in Sanford or Seminole County were a hosiery mill, a cotton mill, plant for making crystallized citrus candy, tung oil plant, ice cream powder factory and canned beef factory.

Mr. Dupree also cited the advantages of writing letters to thousands of tourists who are known to visit Florida annually and suggesting that they and their friends stop in Sanford on their next visit to Florida.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mr. Dupree announced that the next meeting of the group will be held on Tuesday night, Mar. 5, in the Court House and he urged every person present at last night's meeting to return and bring several friends.

E. F. Householder in a brief address stated that the "progressive" trait by the word "progressive" in the club's name. He pointed out that there are no "big" or "little" men in Seminole County or elsewhere under the democratic form of government and that among all the residents of the county to stop so the mothers can nurse their respective CHILDREN, Fed and speckled with CHICKEN FOX.

AT THE CHURCHES

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST

Worship Service 11:00 A. M. Sunday School 9:45 A. M. Wednesday Evening Service 7:30 P. M. Leading Room Hours 2:00 to 5:00 o'clock on Tuesdays and Fridays.

"MIND" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, February 24. The Golden Text is: "Great is our Lord, and of great power; his understanding is infinite." (Psalm 147:5)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "My son, do not despise the Lord's commandments with thee, so that thou incline thine ear unto wisdom, and apply thine heart to understanding. Then shall thou understand the knowledge of God. For the Lord giveth wisdom; out of his mouth cometh knowledge and understanding." (Prov. 1:7, 8, 9)

The following message from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "That one is limited by the sense of individuality when we admit to ourselves that we are finite, is a place in this infinity for evil is filled with God." (Science and Health, p. 462:2-4)

Response to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men—Romans 12:17. He who sows to secure the harvest, his own—Galatians 6:7. He who sows to himself will reap to himself. Sow to the Holy Spirit, and you will reap the fruit of life—Galatians 5:22-23.

How good and pleasant a thing it is to have peace and unity in the family. We appreciate the splendid attendance of recent Sundays on all of the services, and we give you a sincere invitation to come along with us, if you have not planned to worship elsewhere.

Household Hints

Here is a very snappy canape: Spread toast rounds with chopped hard-cooked eggs mixed with anchovies and moistened slightly with a little lemon juice. Sprinkle lightly with paprika and heat until browned on the top. Serve immediately.

Soaking clothes to be laundered overnight saves energy and the clothing because you don't have to rub the most hard. Cover the clothes with warm soapy water and cover the tub with a lid or paper to keep in the steam. Next morning, drain and rinse. The clothes then put through the regular laundry process.

Unusual Animals Will Be Exhibited Here Next Week

Largest Living Horse, Biggest Steer Are Among Live Cargo

When the Mammoth Exposition Train pulls onto the tracks at First Street next Thursday to begin 2 days of showings aboard its special railway cars, Sanford persons will have the opportunity of seeing one of the most unusual shows ever to visit the city. Bearing a live cargo of strange animals and exotic furniture from many parts of the world, the big exhibition will be open to the public from noon until 11:00 P. M. daily while here.

One of the features will be a free menagerie, located on the car outside the train, in an open air steel car. Here one may see the smallest adult elephant on earth, the world's largest living cow, a huge creature standing nearly 6 feet from horn tip to the ground, and weighing 2,000 pounds, shown together with a buffalo, western plains buffalo, karakul sheep, Texas longhorns, and other animal specimens, exhibited free to the public.

In the main exhibition, aboard the special railway cars, will be many unusual animal and human specimens, including the largest living horse, standing 19 1/2 feet tall, and said to weigh 2,000 pounds. Shown also will be a synthetic unker, the largest cow in the world, the largest horse, a Turkish skin, a human baby, an imported British Highland steer, boasting a record of 5 feet, 11 inches, and a living steer, said to weigh 2,000 pounds, together with a number of other unusual live specimens.

There will be the London show in which they trained a bear to perform many stunts, with the aid of a man who trained the bear.

Swank Night Spot in Miami Hit By New Style Attack

MIAMI, Feb. 14.—(AP)—The attorney general's office, aided by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, struck at Miami gambling yesterday with new-style injunction actions aimed at top swank night clubs.

The legal proceedings, naming the Brook club and the Sunny Isles Club, followed a three-week warning to the Dade county sheriff, state attorney and county solicitor to halt gambling operations in the area or the state officers would act.

Attorney General Gibbs personally signed the applications for injunction. Names of three federal agents appeared on the affidavits.

The injunctions, which Assistant Attorney General Trust and his staff will seek to make permanent, not only ban gambling, but also place named but anonymous defendants to contempt proceedings if they can open up elsewhere.

Similar actions by Trust, Ellis and federal agents, earlier this month, resulted in 10 injunctions closing as many Broward county night spots.

One of the defendants named in the Sunny Isles action was Col. Joseph Stabin, active in the social life of the winter colony. Named with him were Sol Goldstein, Charles Heyward and Fred Auerbach.

Named in the Brook club action were Lou Meyer, William Maher, Joseph H. Boyd and Harry McLean.

HOLDING FLOWER HOLDERS

The reduction was made possible through special authority from the Interstate Commerce Commission in order that the railroads might meet truck competition for the season, while meeting the decision of the commission relative to an increase in standard weights of commodities, now pending, Mr. Watten said.

Under the new rates, it is estimated that a standard crate of celery has been increased from 30 to 35 pounds but through the rate reduction, which becomes effective on Mar. 26, the cost of transporting a crate of celery to New York City will be 21 cents in lieu of 24 cents per hundred pounds under the present schedule.
