President Nixon And Press Conferences

Editorial Comment

Well-prepared, his hands were steady and obviously ready for the most open press conference of his career since he took office. Nixon has provided a further clue to his thinking.

For the news that 400 journalists crowding the White House, this was an event which was theirs to witness by the necessity of their job.

Yet what came across the television screens, what was printed in the more enduring type of newspapers, in the substance of these "press conferences," was a far cry from what the man who sits in the White House was doing.

For about a half-hour, an alternating order and a continuous flow of questions were asked on issues which ranged from the most critical challenges to peace and war to the quite intriguing query about the lack of more women in his top administrative positions.

The words were not only spoken but were heard in a way that would be a boon to those who could not come to the White House itself.

These were, to be sure, a remarkable part of government. But they are also limited and should be used to pay for those services which are being expanded and becoming more expensive every year.

The workshops which these men and women engaged in the service are attending here a goal which is not very dramatic but is very important. For the success of Nixon is not dependent, but on the success in which they are selected, the skill in which the machinery is directed and performed makes every tax dollar more useful as the cost of collecting is diminished.

Transparency of the new officers of the association by Secretary of State Dean Rusk is also a plus for the country, but it is the transparency which leads to his experience anywhere.

We are especially happy to see that our country's tax collector, Troy Bay, Jr., can enjoy this gathering. It is strictly in keeping with his record of official efficiency and vigor in helping civic activities that he has volunteered in offering our visitors to show them the benefits in coming to Sanford.

All we can add is: All of you come again! Our city is even more delightful when you see as individuals and families and have time to explore all of our attractions on land and water!

most philosophic manner in which Mr. Nixon admitted.

We are especially attracted by the wording of his definition of himself as "not a self-writer, but one who sees the whole world" and intends to keep this balance.

Our comment is not an attempt to report what the conference produced in terms of news or analysis. These are the province of our news pages and our group of columnists who deal daily with such events.

But our search goes on to find the "new Nixon" which was up and down by his professionally run campaign which brought nomination and a victory of less than the ideal sought.

And he is suffering. Sometimes there are references to a political past which Mr. Nixon wants to suppress and a mission of Alaska which must be kept quiet, but quite out of harmony with the climate of the conference conversation.

But his quiet walk to the unadorned slightly raised platform, through the wall-to-wall of journalists, his quick sitting of the conference in motion with a clear statement of an upcoming trip to Europe, and his prompt answer to such provocative questions as dealing with the oil slick devastation of the Gulf of Mexico and linking it with the controversial Secretary of the Interior which were such as to reveal a Nixon far removed from the one which was only too evident in the professional press.

Once more the President emphasized the "openness" of his administration and again and again referred to "take a new look" and "new evaluations" and "needs updating" to let the American people know that he is aware of the need for Democratic to Republican control of the executive.

But that this political gesture is to give a service to all facets of his administration.

But that there is a political move of major proportions implicit in the switch of parties with the aid of the White House now is obvious as the change of personnel with moving vans all over Washington an outflowed result.

Underlying this is a complex fact: the Congress is still Democratic. Presidential purposes, presidential policies, presidential moves must be sifted through Congressional debate.

For performance and not plans, as has been pointed out in a very heavy volume since the Nixon inauguration, is the need of 1968. Thus while we can and do appreciate the manner in which President Nixon has boldly and confidently stepped into a new field to the old problems, there is the practical necessity of awaiting results.

Welcome Guests!

Sanford is delighted to be the host city for the gathering of members and their staffs of the Association of County Tax Collectors.

This is especially true on two general counts. First because it gives us the opportunity for close liaison from all parts of the state in order to see that the tax laws being enforced are absolutely accurate.

Second because it gives Sanford an opportunity to join with Duval County in rendering all of the official houses to a group of people whose occupation has not always been appreciated.

These men, to be sure, are a commendable part of government. But they are also limited and should be used to pay for those services which are being expanded and becoming more expensive every year.

The workshops which these men and women engaged in the service are attending here a goal which is not very dramatic but is very important. ### Nixon: Cool Or Crumbly?

By BRUCE WENDRAT

NWA Washington

Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NWA) —

President Nixon first weeks in office have led some of his confidential critics among the veteran Nixon-watchers to own his published sense of optimism or "crumbly" in the usually unpredictable world in which he moves.

Specifically, they have been amused at his scheduling of long Saturday sessions of the National Security Council to discuss Vietnam and the Middle East.

They suggest that if a crisis had developed over these areas before the NEC meetings, Nixon would have had to ask the dispirited to postpone them.

It is all in good form, of course, and is essentially foolish, since the watchers in question understand fully that the President reads or hears of the daily cables from abroad and would surely consider his top foreign affairs specialists quickly to deal with trouble.

The real point of mentioning this fun-making is that it is reflective of attitudes long held toward Nixon, not only by close observers but by a fairly wide range of Americans, to the effect that he does not know enough when things are most and crumbly but crumbly in a crunch.

This is not the place to review the supposed supporting evidence for these attitudes. It is a moment to suggest that the evidence may at least be conflicting, and to raise the question that those who expect Richard Nixon to walk to the head of his first crisis may be surprised and in some cases even disappointed.

Some men in the President's circle are saying that he views administration in government, with seeming stress on the external of logical, symmetrical structure, as if he were a tool for performance.

If these ideas are to be believed, those in the White House entourage who survive power will do so by performing to Nixon's satisfaction—especially under pressure—and not by evading and fortifying some last little anti-corporate.

By the same token, if it is suggested, he demands no less of himself and actually invites the hand test of his skills. Far from being most comforted by the orderly routine his critics say he loves, aides will argue, he is often bored by it. Says one:

"He lacks on his schedule."

This contrasting portrait of Nixon in a crunch is of a man who, at least within the tight circle of his most trusted associates, exhibits a quick, strong sense of command.

He is said to begin by making sure he grasps the real nature and ramifications of the critical matter under discussion. Then he plunges with obvious reliance into a round of questioning.

To his inquiries he wants only brief, judgmental responses, supported by a sentence or two. The respondent who launches his own windy discussion of alternatives will be considered to have cut off the man who starts over ground already familiar to the President may not get to finish his sentence. The man who

The Old Clubhouse Gets Face-Lifting

January was a month of beginnings for the Sanford Woman's Club as the American Home Department's project, the refurbishing of the clubhouse, got under way with a meeting with county extension home economics agent Miss Louise Long, who presented a film and demonstration on curtain-making.

The educational program on the cutting and construction of draperies and curtains was the first of two presented by Miss Long for the benefit of members who plan to sew draperies for the ladies lounge and balcony.

The ladies lounge will get a completely new look; besides making the curtains, members plan to re-finish the furniture there and have the cushions recovered.

There is also a telephone for the use of the members — the first telephone installed in the clubhouse's history.

Mrs. Gerald Greene and Mrs. Donald Flamm are in charge of the new tablecloths being cut and hemmed by members. So far, 22 bridge table cloths and two large cloths for the head tables have been made.

The exterior of the clubhouse has not been neglected, either. The department is especially proud of the new solid hardwood front doors with their antique Spanish hardware and walnut-brown finish.

Outdoor lighting was put in recently, and plans for landscaping are being made by Mrs. Warren Knowles.

Mrs. Kenneth Wing is chairman of the American Home Department.

HELLO THERE — Mrs. Kenneth Wing tried out the new telephone, the first one installed in the club's history.

TOUCH-UP — Mrs. Lou Temple watched as painter Luther Taskers put the finishing touches on the new front doors of the clubhouse.

SEW A FINE SEAM — Mrs. Don Flamm and Mrs. Harold Hartsock check their hemming techniques with Mrs. Gerald Greene, chairman of the tablecloth committee of the American Home Department. The new tablecloths are the Department's own project.

COFFEE BREAK — When friends gather for a work session, coffee and doughnuts must always be handy. Mrs. J. J. Slezkowsky, president of the Sanford Woman's Club, serves Mrs. William Kirchoff as Mrs. Roger Berry and Mrs. Lou Temple wait their turns.

Liz Is Back After A Bout With Flu

By LIZ MATHIEUX

Here I am, back again after a bout with the flu. We've all had it, but everybody's all right now, thank goodness.

Mrs. Winchel promises to show a few slides and pictures of their trips in the very near future.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Putnam were Mrs. Walter Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hanz, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fickenger. After a brief stay with the Putnams these friends journeyed to Lake Worth where they shall remain for a while.

It certainly was grand to see Mr. and Mrs. Meade Basser home for awhile. The Bassets have a winter home on Back Lakes. Basser is retired from the Federal Land Bank in Columbia, S.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Elsworth Stockwell of St. Johns, Mich. were guests of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. J. Lawrence Ward.

Am I ever happy to tell you that our globe-trotting "Yankee" friends, the C. W. Win-chells, are back home for awhile and while here will occupy the Ernest Ward "Log Cabin" on Back Lake.

Mrs. Winchel promises to show a few slides and pictures of their trips in the very near future.

I am truly delighted to tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Johny Toole have decided to share some of their time with their many Geneva friends and have moved "into the middle of an orange grove over in Chuladea. I saw Mrs. Helen" and "Mr. Johnkers" at church Sunday all smiles, so I gather that the feeling is mutual—happy to be back among those who love them!

Mrs. Helen Alderman is improving and recuperating from recent surgery at the Riverside Hospital in Jacksonville. She is now at the home of her daughter, Miss Helen Larue Alderman, Apt. 312, 3946 St. Johns Avenue, Jacksonville, Fla. 32203. I bet "Miss Helen" would love a get-well card from her many friends.

Second Honeymoon, Anniversaries For Scotts And Colliers

By GAY BRUMLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scott are planning the most fabulous "second honeymoon" imaginable. This coming Thursday they will leave for the City of the South, Atlanta, where they plan to take in a couple of shows and openings and visit close friends.

After a whirlwind few days in Atlanta, they will journey on to Hendersonville, N.C. to visit Frank's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. "Mutt" Johnson, formerly of Sanford, who now reside in that lovely town in the foothills of the Smokes.

Frank has more relatives in Haneyville, Ala., so after a brief stay in North Carolina he will travel on to visit this part of his family.

This is really a big month for the Scott-Collier union. Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Scott, Scott Avenue, Sanford, parents of the aforementioned Frank, celebrated their 21st wedding anniversary on Feb. 4, and Ellen's parents (ah, Mrs. F. D. Scott, Jr.) will be celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary on Feb. 19. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collier live at 2001 East 2nd St. here in Sanford.

Speaking of trips: Mr. and Mrs. Barney Detrick of Dayton, Ohio, who are presently the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson of Sanford, are spending their two-month vacation in a fun way.

The Detricks have bought a camper, and are "camping" (if you can call it that—an almost luxurious) their way to the Keys and back.

En route back to Ohio, the Detricks (Barney and Kathy) will stop by Jacksonville to visit their daughter, son-in-law, and their two grandchil-

"I am the resurrection and the life: he who believes in me, even if he die, shall live; and whoever believes in me shall never die."

A NEW LOOK

People who read please are not to find this world empty without them. What appears to be only a line without their "eyes" springs into sharp focus, and they're put there on.

If only there were places we could not quickly when we need to get ourselves, our prayers, our services and our fellowmen into proper perspective: that that kind of love has got to be shared.

We all have moments when we seem to be groping and nothing comes clear. We wonder where we are going and, perhaps, why. We have such moments whether or not we go to church on Sundays—for the Church does teach us of God's word, it does teach us the meaning of Faith, it does show us His in His proper light.

Try going to church. If you do, you may find your "inner vision" getting a good deal sharper.

Traffic Paralyzed in Eastern States

NEW YORK (AP) — New York was crippled and cut off from its suburbs this morning in the wake of a storm that dumped 15 inches of snow, piled into drifts whipped by high winds.

The New York and American stock exchanges closed.

The Long Island Rail Road shot down, cutting off 90,000 commuters. The Penn Central and New Haven railroads drastically cut schedules, and buses were mired in huge traffic jams caused by stalled and deserted vehicles.

The State Thruway was closed from Albany to New York City — 148 miles—for the first time in its history, and more than 1,000 cars were stranded on the Tappan Zee Bridge, a thruway span across the Hudson River at Tarrytown. The passengers took shelter locally.

Subways were running near normal at public and parochial schools and colleges were closed, as were all branches of the public library.

International, La Guardia and Newark airports were closed. More than 6,000 persons were stranded at Kennedy, where food supplies were being rapidly exhausted. Buses to the airport were blocked by stalled vehicles. One jetliner with 20 passengers was snowbound on a runway for nine hours Sunday before pilots could free it.

Thirteen of New York City's 18 inches fell Sunday, a record for a single day.

Winds gusting to more than 40 miles per hour and temperatures in the sixties complicated the snow removal problem, as city officials declared a "snow emergency" and urged motorists to stay at home.

New York escaped the brunt of the storm and airliners were diverted from Kennedy to Montreal and Niagara Falls.

Northern New Jersey was equally crippled, but three commuter train lines into New York City were reported in operation. The Erie Lackawanna Railroad said its electric-powered trains were operating normally, but diesel service was subject to delays.

Public schools in seven Northern New Jersey counties were closed, and many other areas reported partial closings.

The New Jersey Turnpike was shut from Newark to Atlantic City and other highways were plagued by deserted autos.

Arteries leading to New York City were jammed and moving slowly.

The state legislatures in Trenton, N.J., and Albany, N.Y., canceled today's session.

Connecticut commuters had it no better, as sections of the turnpike were closed and many secondary roads were impassable. A stalled train on the New Haven Railroad further delayed the irregular schedule.

A Canadian in northeastern Connecticut, reported 35 inches of snow.

The storm center moved into the Atlantic Ocean off Nantucket on Mass., at 3:30 a.m. The Weather Bureau said it originated off the Virginia Capes Saturday night, and dumped five inches of snow in portions of Virginia and Maryland.

The near-blizzard moved from the metropolitan area into New England, dumping 16 inches of snow at Seaside, R.I., near Providence, Massachusetts, Maine and southern New Hampshire and Vermont also bore the brunt of the storm.

Power failures, caused by lines collapsing under the weight of ice and snow, occurred sporadically, chiefly in Westchester County, directly north of New York City.

Some School Kids Hungry

By BILL SCOTT

Out of a total of 9,747 daily meals served to students at Seminole County Schools during last December 818 were sold to needy students free of cost and an additional 912 were sold to students at reduced prices to enable county children to have at least one good meal five days a week.

This information from Pauline Warfel, county school lunch supervisor, says that the county school lunch program is a policy, and it is a policy that is being carried out. It is a policy that covers all details, and the county school lunch program is being carried out as a policy that covers all details.

The state survey reported 98 children had nothing to eat for lunch.

Of the total of 1,520,936 attending public schools the day the survey was taken, another 233,382 were reported as hungry for lunch.

Mrs. Thelma Flanagan, state director of food services, reported that 200,000 of these could not afford to buy a hot lunch.

She further revealed the number of children receiving free or reduced cost lunches has increased from 88,664 in 1967 to 118,000 in 1968.

Seminole County schools served a total of 146,236 meals during December last month for which figures are completed, and most of the 918 free and 912 reduced price lunches were served in Orlando.

U. S. Cracks Down On Credit Gouging

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board has issued sweeping regulations requiring businesses to disclose the total interest and service costs charged to customers buying on credit.

The regulations, which go into effect July 1, are designed to prevent gouging on credit purchases by requiring the seller to put in writing exactly how much interest and other charges the customer will have to pay over the cost of the item.

Released in final form Sunday, the regulations were an assignment given the Federal Reserve by Congress last year when it enacted a Consumer Credit Protection Act.

Congress divided enforcement responsibilities among nine federal agencies, with the Federal Trade Commission carrying the heaviest load.

Between now and July 1 the enforcement agencies will attempt to contact all banks, department stores, credit unions, motels, credit card plans and other businesses that offer credit to spell out their new duties.

FEA Fires Constans

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Phil Constans, who led Florida's teachers in the nation's first statewide teacher walkout last year, was fired today by the Florida Education Association.

Constans had been executive secretary of the teachers organization since August 1967. FEA President Jane Arnold said he had been relieved of his duties immediately although the dismissal is not effective until March 10.

"It is with sincere regret that the board has felt the necessity to take such drastic action because we have a number of other professionals who possess the same capabilities and talents of this fine individual," Miss Arnold said.

She said the FEA board felt that "conditions now call for leadership and direction, which we feel Dr. Constans has not provided."

Other sources said Constans' dismissal was the result of pressure from teachers who refused to come before the city administration from Campbell College, Buies Creek, N.C.

Congressman Bill Chappell will spend Wednesday morning visiting in Sanford.

Executive committee of Seminole County Adcom met Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the county health department on French Avenue.

Oh yea, and speaking of go-togethers, the teachers society, Delta Kappa Gamma, with almost 100 attending, met at the Civic Center, as in the hall of picturesque Holiday Inn and enjoyed the lakeland beauty. That was on Saturday.

Zoo Site Proffered

DR. PHIL CONSTANS

Sanford City Commission has scheduled a long agenda for tonight and among the items to come before the city fathers is an offer from James Lee to sell city the 25 acres of land for use as a zoo.

Other items to draw commission interest are expected to include:

Request of skid mounted office buildings at the Sanford Junior College; consider the utilization of county assessment rolls and county tax collection functions by city; consideration of the just-released Booker Report of the use of the former Navy base; request for a study of Article VIII, Section 1 of the State Constitution, which deals with providing city services outside of city limits; discuss drainage report for Georgetown and a request for hangar space use at the air base.

Eastern Jetliner Hijacked To Cuba

MIAMI (AP)—A San Juan to Miami jetliner with 100 people on board was hijacked to Cuba today after the pilot declared: "We've got a man in the back with a gun on a stewardess."

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration said the terse message was received at the Miami Air Traffic Control Center.

The Eastin Air Lines DC8 stretched jet was the 13th airliner since the fire of the year, and the sixth Eastern craft to be piloted.

The plane, EAL flight 559, left Puerto Rico at 8:30 a.m. EST, and was about 350 miles northwest of San Juan when it changed course toward Havana.

"We've notified Havana she's coming," said the FAA official.

Man Hurt; Woman Held

Seminole County Deputy Sheriff J. J. Kras charged a Longwood woman with displaying a dangerous weapon after a man was slightly wounded with a .22 caliber weapon at a Mobile Manor home.

Mildred Bellamy, 111 Alma Avenue, was charged after John J. Ferguson, 45, Mobile Manor, was admitted to Seminole Memorial Hospital with a bullet wound in the head caused by the handgun, which was being held by the Bellamy woman.

Ferguson suffered a slight skull fracture. Mrs. Bellamy was placed on $100 bond at county jail.

Collection Bags On Sale

Starting tomorrow the City of Altamonte Springs will furnish residents with 12 gallon capacity plastic bags to assist in the collection of loose leaves and grass clippings.

Superintendent of public works Don Bundy has arranged for the bags to be sold at City Hall on Longwood road.

He warns that no more loose trash will be picked up by the collection crews.
