Thanksgiving Day Just A Day For GIs

By Jane Casselberry

When you sit down Thursday in the warmth and comfort of your family circle to a sumptuous Thanksgiving dinner say a prayer for SP/4 Royal McHenery and the thousands of other young Americans who are serving their country in an alien land.

In writing from Viet Nam to his new pen pal, Dick Strickler, student at South Seminole Junior High School, McHenery said, "I sure hope you and your family have a very happy Thanksgiving and please eat a drumstick for me, for that is my favorite part of the turkey."

The young Miami GI, who has served in Viet Nam for 15 months, has been twice wounded and decorated with the Bronze Star with a V for Valor and a Purple Heart, knows for what he is fighting.

"All of us GIs over here in Viet Nam really appreciate your support and your letters of concern for us. You are the kind of people who could raise our morale and keep up fighting for we know that at least our morale and keep us fighting realize what we are fighting for. We are fighting for the most loved and cherished thing in the world, and that is freedom of home, country, religion, speech, and many, many more," he writes.

Answers are still coming in reply to the letters written by the students at the South Seminole school last year to "Any GI" in Viet Nam.

Ronnie Ballentine received a letter recently from 19-yearold Pfc. Charles Carrolle, of California, who is working under the chief surgeon with the First Infantry Division.

He describes his work as "not as glorious as fighting, but it sure is safer." He considers it just as important to help heal the wounded as it is to fight the Viet Cong, however.

Maybe you should add to your list of things for which you are thankful, the fact that there are still, in this age of protest and draft card burning, young men who consider your freedom worth bleeding and dying for.

Husband Seeks Two Divorces

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Henry DeLaughter simultaneously filed divorce suits against Mary Hall DeLaughter of Madison, Fla., and Ethel Cooper DeLaughter of Hollywood.

The suit against Mary Hall DeLaughter charged her with desertion. It alleged she refused to accompany him to Miami in 1944 after marrying him in 1939.

The second suit said he and Ethel separated in 1962 after he learned that her past had failed to follow through and no final decree was recorded for his first marriage.

GI Bequeaths Vast Amounts To War Buddies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A young, wealthy GI killed in Viet Nam left p. o of his $100,000 plus inheritance to two fellow soldiers because he felt they needed it.

Edward M. McIlvain Jr., 21, an Army Special Forces trooper, left $15,000 each to two buddies who had served with him at Ft. Bragg, N.C.

McIlvain, member of a socially prominent family, was killed by shrapnel while riding in a Jeep in Viet Nam last Oct. 18.

"We don't know anything about his two soldier friends," George M. Cheston, the dead GI's stepfather, said after the bequests were made public Tuesday.

The two soldiers are Francis Roger Murray and Ban K. Roberts, both now in Viet Nam.

In an April 6 codicil to his will, McIlvain said he wanted the soldiers to get the money if he died "on or before July 6, 1967."

McIlvain's wish became known when his will was filed for probate in Norristown, Pa. Officials of a Philadelphia bank said McIlvain's estate could be worth more than $100,000. They said the two GIs have been told of the bequests.

McIlvan lived in Wynnewood, Pa., a fashionable Philadelphia suburb.

The youth enlisted in October 1964 and went to Viet Nam last April.

U. S. Fliers Step Up Attacks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. fliers stepped up their attacks in North and South Viet Nam while on the ground the fighting lapsed today into small scattered clashes.

B52 bombers pounded Communist positions in support of the American forces pressing Operation Attleboro in Tay Ninh Province and those in Operation Paul Revere in the central highlands.

The weather improved over North Viet Nam Tuesday for the first time in nearly two weeks, and U.S. pilots flew 59 bombing missions, an increase over recent days but still far below the average 150 missions of ideal flying days.

One American plane was reported shot down, a two-man Air Force F4C Phantom jet. Both fliers were listed as missing. It was the 427th plane reported lost over North Viet Nam and the first since Nov. 11.

On another front, the U.S. mission announced a new, major effort to spur the pacification program, the civilian-directed campaign to win the allegiance of South Viet Nam's masses to the Saigon government. Deputy U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter, 52, was named to head the new attempt to make the flagging program succeed.

As the ground fighting subsided, the 350,000 American troops in Viet Nam and the 60,000 men offshore on 7th Fleet ships looked forward to the traditional turkey-and-trimmings. Thanksgiving dinner Thursday.

In another development, U.S. sources disclosed that desertions from South Viet Nam's regular army have dropped sharply since stiff new penalties were ordered last April. These sources reported 4,000 Vietnamese desertions in September compared with 7,500 last March.

In the scattered ground action, U.S. Marines supported by air strikes, artillery, naval gunfire and tanks reported killing 26 Viet Cong in clashes Tuesday near Da Nang and Chu Lai.

The Marines said they trapped one band of 25 Viet Cong on a small peninsula 13 miles southwest of Chu Lai and drove them to the sea. The Leathernecks called in artillery barrages and air strikes which killed 15 of the Viet Cong. The Marines killed the other 10 in ground fighting.

The Marines reported only light casualties.

Students 'Kidnap' Actress

LONDON (AP) — A burly youth barged on to the stage of London's Phoenix Theater during final curtain calls Tuesday night, threw actress Juliet Mills over his shoulder and exited with his pretty burden kicking and struggling.

The audience half filling the 2,338-seat house gasped. The theater manager called the police.

Wearing an Edwardian gown and elaborate blonde wig for the leading role in Oscar Wilde's comedy "Lady Windermere's Fan," Miss Mills was carried to a waiting car and driven away.

Detectives found the 26-year-old actress, daughter of movie star John Mills, drinking in a pub with her kidnapers. They said they were students trying to raise money for charity.

Miss Mills' husband, American songwriter Russell Alquist, arrived with a ransom of $28.

A police spokesman said: "We will take no action unless a formal complaint is made by Miss Mills."

Police, Deputies Keep Vigil Here To Curb Road Slaughter

Sanford police and Seminole County deputies kept their fingers crossed this morning with no Thanksgiving Day accidents reported as of 8 a.m.

The count of highway accidents for the four day period started at midnight and will end at midnight Sunday covering some 96 hours.

Police reported some minor accidents earlier Wednesday evening but there were no serious mishaps, although one Sanford boy was hurt in a scooter mishap.

First reports around the nation reported 30 deaths as of 9 a.m.

The National Safety Council, which does not make advance estimates of traffic deaths for the Thanksgiving period, has reported that in the first nine months this year 38,190 persons lost their lives in motor vehicle accidents. That was 10 per cent higher than the corresponding period last year and an average of more than 4,200 a month.

For comparative purposes on the final toll, the Associated Press made a survey of highway deaths in a non-holiday period of corresponding length, from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 9 to midnight Sunday, Nov. 13.

The total was 646, including 81 victims under the age of 18.

The four day Thanksgiving observance last year was marked by a record high traffic death toll of 615.

Fisherman Drowns In Lake Jessup

Two Orlando fishermen went out in a boat from Black Hammock, on the south side of Lake Jessup, this morning . . . but only one returned.

Jessie James Clark Jr., 24, of 2314 West Jackson Street, Orlando, told The Herald shortly before 10 a.m. that he and Ulysses Nelson, about 40, of Lake Sunset Drive, Orlando, were fishing.

He said the wind began whipping the water into their boat and before they could bail out the craft it was swamped and overturned.

He held onto the overturned boat but "I saw Ulysses go under."

Clark said he and Nelson had worked together at the telephone company in Orlando.

Sheriff J. L. Hobby dispatched his department's rescue crew to Black Hammock shortly before press time this morning.

In Circuit Court

Jury Here Finds 'Preacher' Guilty

Verdict of guilty was returned by Circuit Court jury Wednesday in the case of C. E. Williams, also known as "Preacher Joe" and "Doctor" Williams.

Williams, of Sanford, was charged with grand larceny by John Everette, 74, of Bartow.

Everette told the jury Williams fleeced him out of $700 which he gave him under the impression that Williams could "make it grow."

Everette testified Williams told him he needed to go into the woods with the money and pray over it for three days and three nights.

Later, Everette said Williams gave him the title to a 1960 Ford registered in his name and the name of Nellie Taylor, reported to be Williams' common-law wife, with the assurance that if he did not return the money in ten days, Everette could keep the car. However, the title was ruled worthless, since it was never legally processed.

After the jury found Williams guilty as charged, Attorney Wallace Hall requested a presentence investigation which was denied by Circuit Court Judge Volie Williams, Jr. on the basis of Williams' past record from the Federal Bureau of Investigation in a five page report.

Judge Williams sentenced the convicted man to six months to five years in the state correctional institution and recommended him to custody.

Members of the jury were Gerald Schiefen, Robert Parker, Wendell French, William E. Holloway, Clarence Buyer and James Bendenbaugh.

Living Costs Continue To Go Up And Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whatever Americans have to be thankful for today, it's high cost of living isn't at the top of the list—including the price of the Thanksgiving turkey.

New government figures show living costs up 3.7 per cent in the past year, the worst siege of price hikes since the first year of the Korean war in 1951.

Topless Go-Go-Gone In Seminole County

By FRED VAN PELT

Dear Boss:

It was fun while it lasted . . . only it didn't last long enough.

I mean, about the topless go-go girls invading Casselberry.

The girls, nude from the waist up, had fun "bouncing" around that Casselberry night spot on Monday and Tuesday evenings, for the benefit of the paying pop-eyed customers.

The girls weren't much worried about being arrested either . . . on any kind of a charge . . . because only a month ago some topless go-go girls were arrested in Pinellas County, only to be let go scot-free when the officials found they had not violated any existing laws on the books.

But I guess Police Chief Ken Triplett, at Casselberry, didn't like the publicity his fair city was getting, or maybe he was looking after the morals of the night spot's habitues . . . anyhow, he says he had a "little talk" with the manager of the night spot, who decided he didn't need nudity to drum up business.

So, Boss, our topless go-go girls have "covered" and "bounced" right out of Seminole County, almost as quickly as they "uncovered" and "bounced" in.

County Closed Up Tight --Except Hearts And Mouths

Thanksgiving Day in Seminole County arrived today with its own mixture of tradition and timeliness. There were prayers and family reunions.

About the only things open here were hearts and mouths.

Otherwise, things were closed tight.

Hearts were opened in the traditional blessing for a nation's abundance while the mouths . . . were open to partake of that abundance at the Thanksgiving table.

Public and private buildings were closed to give employes a holiday.

Downtown Sanford was deserted as a reporter strolled there at 8 am.

The Sanford Post Office was closed all day in observance of Thanksgiving. The freight station of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad was closed as were most stores to give employees a day of rest before the long hours of Christmas season moves into full swing.

Many restaurants were open in anticipation of booming business for families who took the easy way and planned to dine out.

Across the nation there were the usual parades with Christmas buying themes, too. In New York, Macey's added Superman and Noah's Ark to its lists of giant balloons and floats.

In Hollywood, a motorcade with radio, television and movie personalities welcomed the holiday season. Philadelphia had its Gimbel's parade.

Religious services featured exchanges between different churches. Ministers in Kansas City swapped churches to deliver sermons and Episcopalians, Baptists, Methodists and Unitarian-Universalists attended an ecumenical service in Boston.

Traditional dinners for the homeless were on the Salvation Army schedule in Manhattan, San Francisco and other cities. Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston had 2,000 elderly people as his guests for a big meal.

Football played a big part in the day for sports fans with three pro games and one college contest on national television.

...And In Viet Nam

'It Was Just Another Day'

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An Air Force captain in Viet Nam put it this way: "It doesn't really seem like Thanksgiving. With the weather and being away from the family, just like any other day."

Richard Decker, 34, of Austin, Tex., was on duty as usual at the busy Da Nang Air Base today and that was the way this Thanksgiving in Viet Nam looked to him.

There were missions to be flown and ground actions to be carried out. Despite the day marked on the calendar, the war went on.

The day's most spectacular incident occured early, when the Viet Cong ambushed an American convoy near the mountain resort of Dalat and killed 20 persons, including three U.S. servicemen and one American civilian.

In general, however, the ground war was in a lull and there were some holiday touches for the more than 360,000 Americans now serving here.

A turkey-and-trimmings dinner was served to all troops who could be reached with the special menu. In some cases, this meant parachute drops or helicopter shuttles to isolated units in the jungles and mountains.

At Phu Lai, about 13 miles north of Saigon, a special award ceremony was held with high officers from both the Vietnamese and U.S. Armies on hand. A firefight broke out only 1,500 meters from the perimeter of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division elements based there. Artillery rounds whistled over the parade ground.

From the field with U.S. Marines in the northernmost part of the country, AP Correspondent Bob M. Gassaway reported that 25 tons of turkey and 10 tons of ham were being served to the Leathernecks.

In a holiday message, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of all American forces in Viet Nam, said the "significance of our Thanksgiving Day can be found in Viet Nam."

"As we offer prayers in gratitude for our freedom," Westmoreland said, "this oppressed nation seeks to preserve its own freedom. Let us rededicate ourselves to preserve not only that which we consider to be our heritage, but that which we — ever conscious of our duty — must pass on to the generations succeeding us."

We Count Our Blessings 'Thanksgiving' In Seminole County

By DOTTIE AUSTIN

Seminole Countians this Thanksgiving Day count their blessings with mixed feelings.

Many are thankful for "good health" but some who had illness in the family are thankful "it's not worse."

Parents and wives who have sons or husband in the Viet Nam war are somewhat dubious about blessings but thankful that "he is safe, so far," or in some cases, where a man is wounded, "thankful that he is still alive" or in cases where a man has given his life, "thankful that we had him for the years that were given us."

Around Sanford and Seminole County government officials are "thankful for the progress we are making and hopeful it will not be impeded by inter-sectional ill feelings and quarreling."

School officials express thankfulness that "we have been able to do as much as we have with what we have. There is much room for improvement, but we have been able to make much progress, "such as our new junior college."

Lake Mary residents are thankful for a new postoffice, success in getting the I-4 interchange and the proximity of Seminole Junior College.

Law enforcement officials while worried about many problems are "thankful that by and large, the youth of our county are fine youngsters, on their way to becoming good citizens. We don't have many of the serious problems here that are found in other areas of the country."

Ministers and church officials are "thankful that God continues to bless our nation, with abundance of good things and gives us strength to face whatever trials come to us."

Many of the poor of the county are grateful for the generosity of student clubs, civic groups, churches and other citizens who have shared their blessings in order that many are feasting today, where circumstances would have otherwise made this impossible.

Throughout Seminole County much good continues to flow, the county continues to grow in population, prosperity and business.

Employment is at a peak, with Florida State Employment Service reporting fewer persons out of work at this time and jobs going begging.

Throughout the county, as thousands of families in thousands of homes sit down to groaning tables, laden with bountiful array of food, most will be thankful that they were born, or live, in America, of all nations, most blessed.

War Continues On Thanksgiving

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong ambushers destroyed a mixed civilian-military American road convoy in a bloody Thanksgiving Day attack, but elsewhere the war was quiet and virtually all of the more than 400,000 American ground and sea forces in the Viet Nam theater participated in a traditional turkey dinner.

Three U.S. servicemen and an American civilian employe of Page Communications Engineers Inc., a Washington-based firm, were reported among the 20 persons killed in the morning ambush near the mountain resort of Dalat.

Seven other victims — a Canadian, four Koreans, one Filipino and one Vietnamese — also were reported to be employes of Page. The other nine killed were Vietnamese.

U.S. headquarters announced, meanwhile, that casualty tolls for American troops dropped during the past week ending Saturday, as did those of the enemy, but Vietnamese losses were slightly higher.

U.S. headquarters said 100 Americans were killed and 749 wounded in the seven-day reporting period ending Nov. 19. No Americans were listed as missing or captured. Last week 126 Americans were reported killed and 810 wounded, with none missing or captured.

The figures reflected a slackening in the pace of the ground war.

There was a partial Thanksgiving Day respite for bomb-battered North Viet Nam, but not a planned one.

Heavy weather moved across the Communist north, obscuring targets and U.S. Air Force and Navy fighter bombers launched only 68 strike and armed reconnaissance missions.

U.S. spokesman said today that nine civilian American employes of the Page firm were killed in the ambush on Highway 1 southeast of Dalat.

The spokesmen reported that the ambush erupted when a water truck took a direct hit from a Communist Claymore mine, sending it sprawling across the highway and blocking the other vehicles.

Ten other persons on the convoy, including six Americans, were wounded, U.S. spokesmen said.

A Page company spokesman, John H. Foresman, said however, that eight Page personnel were killed in the ambush and only one was an American.

The convoy had been taking the same road at the same hour to a construction site 20 miles from Dalat every morning since January.

Seventh Fleet destroyers continued pounding the coast of North Viet Nam, concentrating on enemy cargo barges and Communist craft moored along the shore. Navy spokesmen said 60 enemy barges were destroyed by the 5-inch shells from the destroyers Warrington and Mullarty.

In South Viet Nam Air Force planes struck Communist caves 55 miles northwest of Saigon Wednesday, killing 30 Viet Cong and sealing 15 caves.

Vietnamese regional forces launched the most successful operation in months in Go Cong Province south of Saigon Wednesday. Vietnamese spokesmen reported 48 Viet Cong killed. Vietnamese casualties were termed light.

B52 bombers struck twice at targets in South Viet Nam, hitting a suspected Viet Cong supply base in Binh Dinh Province Wednesday afternoon and bombing a storage area in Kontum Province this morning.

In Saigon, the U.S. Command also announced today that the total strength of U.S. military forces in Viet Nam reached 360,000 for the week ending last Saturday.

This was an increase of 2,000 over the previous reporting period, but was a drop from the average weekly increase of 4,000 or 5,000 men for the past several weeks.

The estimate of enemy strength in South Viet Nam remained the same at 277,000, the spokesman said.

In Washington, Pentagon sources reported that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's projection of lower military manpower needs in 1967 indicated the Viet Nam buildup has lost some of its open-end characteristics. The sources estimated, however, that the United States may still have as many as 500,000 men in Viet Nam next year.

"CHRISTMAS is almost here," says this pretty Salvation Army lass, Capt. Sharon Owens, as she readies the traditional kettles for street donations to provide a "Merry Christmas" to the poor.

Legislative Mill Grinds Very Small

WASHINGTON (AP) — With all the talk about the "Great Society," one might think Congress did nothing but work on President Johnson's legislative program.

Nothing, as a final tabulation of the 89th Congress' activities shows, could be further from the truth.

Where, for example, do the bills proclaiming Youth Temperance Week (fourth week in April), International Literacy Day (Sept. 8) and Gas Industry Week (June 13-19) fit into the "Great Society?"

And should Johnson get credit for enactment of the bills naming the Bert Dosh Lock and the Florida Barge Canal and the Fritz Garland Lanham Building in Fort Worth?

Or how about the bill entitling Illinois to representation on the Lewis and Clark Trail Commission? And the one authorizing the mint to strike 150,000 medals to commemorate the 100th anniversary of Scranton, Pa.?

The fact is, that although the "Great Society" bills number about 40, there were 22,493 bills introduced during the 89th Congress and 810 of them wound up in the law books.

Like the mills of the gods, the legislative mill can grind exceeding small. Thanks to the 89th Congress, there are new public laws proclaiming Sir Winston Churchill Day, National Ski Week and American History Month.

Indeed, when one looks at the record of the 89th Congress, it's a wonder it ever got around to the "Great Society" at all.

Main Seattle Blacked Out

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Stores closed, city and county employes went home early and traffic was snarled Wednesday evening when a section of Seattle's downtown business area was blacked out by a power failure.

A series of underground electrical fires put the first lights out about 3:20 p.m. Within a few minutes power was out from 1st Avenue to the waterfront, from Stewart Street 14 blocks south to Jackson Street and on stretches of 3rd and 6th Avenues.

The 80-block area contains mainly department stores and office and business buildings, including the King County Courthouse and other city and county offices.

It was more than six hours before 60 to 70 Seattle City Light crewmen were able to replace burned underground wiring and restore power.

Police rushed to intersections in the area where traffic signals were out. A police helicopter directed police units to congested areas.

D.D. Denise, City Light's director of operations, said cause of the fire may never be determined.

"In most of these types of fires," he said, "it is impossible to tell what the cause was because the evidence goes up in smoke."

'Road To The Moon' May Be Rocky

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Praises have been sung and awards bestowed for America's Project Gemini.

But from President Johnson came words of caution that the road to the moon may not be as smooth.

Johnson and the top National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said at separate Gemini awards ceremonies Wednesday that the complexity of the nation's next step in space — to the moon - should not be overlooked.

Stumbling blocks already have delayed the first U.S. three-man flight in the new Apollo spaceship, a craft that some day will fly men to the moon.

Gemini 12 cleared up one of the major questions about space travel — how to overcome the fatigue problem spacewalkers encountered.

Aldrin told a news conference that with proper equipment, like waist straps and foot restraints as he used during a walk last two hours and nine minutes, a man could work outside with no fear of fatigue, so long as he was well trained.

He said of his Gemini 12 stroll. "Things went quite a bit smoother that I had actually thought it would."

By sending 20 men into orbit within 20 months, Gemini showed that a pilot could live and work in orbit for up to 14 days, long enough to get him to the moon ad back, and could fly where he wanted to go by jockeying his spaceship through the skies.

The maiden three-man Apollo voyage, to last up to 14 days in earth orbit, originally was planned for December, but now will not begin until February or March.

"If we are to meet the goals that have been set for us, we cannot falter in the months ahead."

Aldrin told a news conference that with proper equipment, like waist straps and foot restraints al space officials. Johnson praised Gemini, but added that "the months ahead will not be easy as we reach toward the moon."

A few hours later, James E. Webb, NASA director, told a Gemini awards gathering at the Manned Spacecraft Center:

"Perhaps, as the President did, I should add a word of caution. We are currently operating on a success schedule. Things have been going extremely well.

"However, we are already beginning to encounter development problems that will cause delays in Apollo. There has been some slippage in our success plan.

Laser Light Beam Softens Granite, Stone

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Powerful laser light beams that can soften granite or marble in seconds are envisioned as an aid in digging subway and highway tunnels without ripping up the ground above.

Two sophomores at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Robert A. Gladstone, 19, of Newton, and Anthony Kettaneh, 20, of Brookline, have attracted attention from the Department of Commerce with their demonstrations of a laser's rock-shattering potential.

Movies they ran Wednesday at a news conference showed granite and marble turn white-hot within seconds after exposure to a 1½-inch infrared laser light beam. Sticks of marble an inch square became so brittle that they could be broken like chuna.

Larger blocks of marble crumbled away easily under prodding by a screwdriver in the spot where they laser struck, and fine cracks were visible throughout the material.

Because the laser reduces hard rock to the consistency of sandstone or other soft rocks, MIT scientists say lasers may make tunneling machines more effective.

Possible adaptation of lasers to the machines is being studied by the MIT civil engineering department as part of a contract from the Commerce Department to seek new methods of underground tunneling for possible intercity transportation systems.

The word laser is derived from light amplification by stimulated emission of radiation.

The poinsettia, popular Christmas flower, was named after Dr. Joel Poinsett.

Area Deaths

MRS. ALICE M. RHINEHART

Mrs. Alice Margaret Rhinehart, 70, of 5400 Cub Lake Drive, Lockhart, died Wednesday.

Born in Hewlett, N. Y., she moved to this area eight years ago from Inwood, N. Y. She was a Methodist.

Survivors are one daughter, Mrs. Alice Denis of Long Island, N. Y.; four sons, James Rufter of Lockhart, and John, Francis, and Harry Rafter, all of Long Island; a brother, Arthur Ferell of Long Island; 15 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral and burial arrangements are under direction of Cox-Parker Funeral Home, Winter Park.

School System Blamed For Dropouts

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A $50,000 grant was used by two researchers to find out why high school dropouts drop out. At least one teacher says his personal experience could have lead to the same conclusion.

School systems — not the youngsters who quit — are to blame for the dropout problem, said the researchers' report.

"Most of us could have written that report without spending $50,000 to get it done," said Dr. Charles Eastwood, a teacher at Ann Arbor High School.

His school and four others in southeastern Michigan were studied for three years by Dr. Robert Vinter and Dr. Rosemary Sarri, University of Michigan professors who received a federal grant.

The findings are typical of American high schools, said the researchers.

Doctors Sued Because Of Abnormal Child

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The New Jersey Supreme Court is considering an appeal by the parents of a blind, deaf, retarded child who claim their 7-year-old son had the right not to be born.

The parents, on behalf of the child, brought a suit against two Jersey City doctors who they allege were negligent in not advising that the mother's German measles could be harmful to the child.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Gleitman of North Arlington charged the doctors with "lulling them into a false sense of security and precluding them from seeking independent advice or arranging of a therapeutic abortion."

A lower court threw out the suit on the grounds that an abortion would have been illegal. The Gleitmans appealed the case to the State Supreme Court Tuesday and it was taken under study.

New Jersey law allows therapeutic abortions only when the "health and welfare' of the mother is threatened.

Mrs. Gleitman said she contracted German measles during the first months of her pregnancy and was not warned of the danger.

The doctors, Robert Cosgrove Jr. and Jerome Dolan, testified that they told her there was a 20 per cent chance of deformity. They said advising an abortion would have been unjustifiable because of the chance of normality.

Service Officer Honored By Legion

Old Glory American Legion Post 183 and its Auxiliary Unit of Altamonte Springs held a special "Bill Chambers Night" observance in honor of the post service officer, William Chambers, following meetings of both organizations Monday night at the post home on Prairie Lake.

Chambers, who has served in the capacity of service officer for many years, was commended for "outstanding service to the post, auxiliary and the community." He was presented with a life membership in the Legion and a plaque from the auxiliary.

Making the presentation on behalf of the post was Commander Frank Steudle and on behalf of the auxiliary, Mrs. Mollie Steudle, unit president. Mrs. Sally Faulhaber was in charge of the social hour following the program.

During the auxiliary meeting, it was announced the Old Glory Community Blood Bank will hold "Donor Day," 4-7 p. m., Tuesday at the Legion Home. Anyone wishing to donate blood will be welcome.

Mrs. Steudle reported the annual mid-winter conference will be Dec. 10-11 at the Cherry Plaza Hotel, Orlando, with Unit 19 of Orlando as hostess. Mrs. Steudle and Mrs. Grace Ambacher are delegates to the conference.

National Banks Ask Tax Exemption

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — A suit claiming exemption from all state and local taxes except those on real estate was filed in U.S. District Court here yesterday by two national banks.

The suit, filed by the First National Bank of Homestead and the Okaloosa National Bank of Niceville, also asked refunds on all such taxes collected from national banks over the last three years.

The Banks asked U.S. District Court Judge G. Harold Carswell for a "judgment declaring that national banks as instrumentalities of the federal government are immune from all forms of state and local taxes which do not comply . . . "with the federal banking act."

The suit also contended that state comptroller Fred Dickinson has no legal authority to examine a national bank's records for tax purposes and asked the court to restrain the comptroller's examiners.

Meanwhile, in a separate federal court suit involving state power over national banks, Judge Carswell yesterday allowed three state banks to intervene in a suit filed by the First National Bank of Plant City.

The federal judge gave Attorney William R. Smith of Tampa until next Wednesday to file amended briefs to permit intervention on behalf of the Hillsborough Bank of Plant City, the People's Bank of Lakeland and the First Ruskin Bank.

The National Bank filed the original suit against Dickinson, challenging his attempt to enforce provisions of a state branch banking law. A temporary injunction has been issued against the comptroller pending outcome of the case.

Dickinson has filed a counterclaim seeking an injunction against the bank, contending the alleged activities put state banks at a competitive disadvantage.

'Run Around' Laid To PSC By Seminole

Clarification of position and intent concerning regulating public utilities in Seminole County will be sought from the Public Service Commission by County Attorney Harold Johnson according to instructions given at the meeting of the County Commission.

The instructions were given following report from the attorney that telephone conversations with counsel of the PSC implied that the PSC believed regulating the utilities in Seminole County would have "far reaching effects." The counsel of PSC further implied that legal action may have to be taken by the commission before it will take any action to regulate locally."

The PSC apparently contends its powers were pre-empted by local permissive legislation despite the fact the local legislation was never implemented. An attorney general opinion received by the board concurs in the understanding that the County Commission does not have authority to regulate the utilities, that this authority properly belongs to PSC.

Commissioner W. Lawrence Swofford stated that "45,000 people in the county are buying water from public utilities in Seminole County and at least 25,000 of these are buying service outside municipalities. These people are getting poor service in many instances and have no one to appeal to," Swofford remarked.

Commission Chairman John Alexander declared, "The PSC has been giving us the run around for at least two years. They don't care to do any regulating in this county."

Walt Disney Back On Job

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Movie maker Walt Disney is expected by his doctors to return to a full work schedule in four to six weeks after surgery that removed part of his left lung.

Disney, 64, entered St. Joseph Hospital recently for treatment of an old polo injury, his studio said, and an examination disclosed a lesion on the left lung.

He was back in his office Tuesday on a limited schedule after being released Monday from the hospital, a spokesman said.

Conference

Mrs. Merle Ellis of Casselberry, president of Women In Construction Orlando-Winter Park, attended a three day conference for presidents of the National Association of Women in Construction, Region Three, in West Palm Beach last weekend. The local organization is conducting its annual candy sale. Proceeds of this project will be used to help a needy family at Christmas time.

One day a stranger walked up to a Salvation Army Captain and his wife, who were holding an open-air meeting, and asked if he could join them in song. He did. His name? Carmo.

Plane Stranded In Sky Saved By Mystery Pilot

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Student pilot Harris Gordon, 24, and a female passenger got lost Tuesday night "somewhere over Pennsylvania, New Jersey or New York."

His compass failed, radar in two cities could not locate him, the airport was blinking its lights. But Gordon — who only had five hours of night flying and 95 hours of day flying — was still lost.

Out of the night a DC9 jet airliner, unidentified, "sidled" up to the little Cessna single-engine craft and the pilot radioed: "Follow me."

Moments later, the jet pilot guided Gordon and Lois Gilby, 22, both of Monticello, N.Y., to a safe landing at Allentown.

Gordon, a student at the Monticello Flight School, and Miss Gilby, who had never flown before, traveled to Lancaster, Pa., to pick up one of the school's airplanes and fly it back to Monticello. They took off from Lancaster at 9:25 p.m. Tuesday.

A few minutes out of Lancaster, Gordon noticed one of his fuel gauges read empty. This did not concern him to much, he said. What did concern him was sudden realization that his compass wasn't working.

"I realized I was lost somewhere over Pennsylvania, New York or New Jersey."

He radioed Tannersville, Pa., for a fix, but when they gave direction he was unable to comply because of the faulty compass. He radioed Poughkeepsie, N.Y. The same problem applied.

Several airports were unable to locate Gordon's plane and Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton Airport runway lights blinked off and on to help him. He still was lost.

A tower man at Willow Grove Naval Air Station, near Philadelphia, radioed Gordon: "What would you like?"

"I would like an airport," came the reply.

Willow Grove took a fix on the airplane and advised Gordon to fly either to Newark, N.J., or Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton.

"I can't," Gordon explained citing the reluctant compass.

At this point the friendly jet arrived. The jet pilot put his flaps down and flew slowly toward Allentown, with the Cessna behind.

"Look to 10 o'clock. You'll see the airport," the jet pilot instructed Gordon.

"Follow me," the pilot said again.

When they were over the airport the jet pilot noted, "There it is," and roared away.

Gordon landed safely.

Gordon, a funeral director, said the jet pilot never identified himself.

"He didn't even tell me what airline he was from, nor where he was going."

Gordon said he couldn't tell whether any passengers were aboard the jet.

Beauty Briefs

It is really quite chic to be hypo-allergic. Breaking out pegs you as highly sensitive, probably inwardly as well as outwardly.

Nor is it the inconvenience it used to be since numerous cosmetic houses are making shampoos, hairsprays, moisturizers, suntan lotion, bath oils, eye make-up — just about anything you need to be beautiful, made with products scientifically tested to react to your sensitivity.

You know what happens to your hair when you expose it to air high in humidity. It falls limp and shapeless. A peripatetic woman, Frances P. Sobol, thought about this, too, and also wondered if make up formulas reacted in high humidity any differently than in low humidity.

The result was a line of climate formulated preparations. For low humidity areas is a skin lotion, a moisturizer and a body balm, all created to, in different ways, replenish the lubricants which the body loses in this climate.

For the high humidity area is still another group—a liquid cleanser, a skin toner and moisturizer, designed to cleanse, refine pores, tighten the skin.

For the traveler likely to be in both high and low humidity climates on her trip, there is a kit containing the works.

Bridal Fete Honors Miss Williams

Mrs. James Drum and her daughter, Miss Sharon Drum, who is at home on winter vacation from Jackson Hospital School of Nursing, Miami, were hostesses at their DeCottes Avenue home Tuesday night to a miscellaneous bridal shower complimenting Miss Sylvia Williams, bride-elect of James Rolland Morris.

A bridal motif was used in the home decor and refreshments with the bride-elect's chosen color of apricot predominating in the color scheme.

The hostesses presented as gift mementos to the guests, miniature rice bags created from apricot net. Miss Williams received a permanent corsage, tied with apricot ribbons, which was made by Mrs. Drum.

Bridal games were played and the guest of honor, attired in a smart winter white suit with touches of blue trim, excitedly opened her lovely gifts.

Centering the beautifully appointed table was a clever arrangement fashioned from wire to form a modified cage. A miniature bride and groom and sprayed pine cones were designed to form love birds nestled in the cage on a glittered styro foam base.

The guests were served delightful refreshments of luscious lemon cake, pound cake, toasted nuts, assorted mints, coffee and sparkling orange sherbet punch.

Invited guests included Mrs. R. W. Williams, mother of the bride-elect; Mrs. R. W. Morris, mother of the bridegroom-to-be; and the Mmes. Robert Carr, George Chapman, Ted Williams, James Warner, James Williams, Laurin Baxter, Fred Pariani, J. L. Burney, W. H. Stewart and Dan Batten.

Also the Misses Muriel Hearn, Miriam Hearn and Sharon Pariani.

Homemaker's Corner

By MRS. H. L. JOHNSON

For those who did not get to attend the second annual gas cooking school, you missed a treat. To all who were there Sol Weill again was very good. Have you ever thought it strange that the most famous cooks in the world are men? That's true. Women are certainly wonderful in their household tasks but there is something about the men that is just a little bit better in the cooking field. I wonder if we could find out why.

Here are the recipes that were used at the cooking school.

STANDING RIB ROAST
8 lb. rib roast

Put in baking pan bone side up. Do not salt nor pepper roast. He did not tell us the oven degree but I think it should be set at 300-325 degrees because he said to bake it for 1½ hours before turning it over and bake 1½ hours longer or it might take a little longer than this since it is an 8 pound roast. Then the seasoning can be added.

The roast was garnished with parsley and carrot curls which made it most attractive. He stressed also not to put any water in the pan. Oregano and Accent could be added to seasonings.

Next was an 8 pound Pork Loin Roast. The oven was set at 250 degrees and the roast was baked for four hours. Seasoning was done the same as the above one.

Number 3 was the Nomel Cake. (Lemon spelled backwards).

Into a large bowl place:
1 pkg. yellow cake mix (He used Duncan Hines)
1 pkg. Lemon Jello
4 eggs
⅔ cup cooking oil
⅔ cup water

Beat all together for three minutes. Instead of electric beater he used a small tablespoon. He explained that it would not tire your arm using a small one. Pour mixture into a greased and floured tube pan. Bake at 325 degrees for 50-60 minutes. In his words, it is a quickie and practically throws together, but turns out perfect. Try it.

SAUSAGE CORN PONE PIE

Mix and melt 1 tbsp. butter and ¼ cup brown sugar in a skillet that can be put in the oven.

In bowl place 1 egg, beaten with 1½ cups milk and in another bowl ½ box corn bread mix. Add above milk mixture. Have already fried 4 sausage cakes. Place these in the frypan. Around these place slices of pineapple to form a pattern design. Pour the batter over this and place lid on. Bake in 250 degree oven for 25 minutes.

The next one was by request. It was for the "Paint Can" Vegetables. Take any 4 quart saucepan (a clean paint can will do) and measure into it 1 cup water. (The recipe in the book says 2 cups but he used just 1). Take three frozen, canned or leftover vegetables and wrap them separately in aluminum foil. Place in the pan and cover with a lid. Turn burner on full until water boils then turn down to a full simmer position for about 15 minutes. When you unwrap these you will find that they have maintained their natural color, shape and size and still have the full vitamins content. (He used broccoli, cauliflower and corn.)

FRUIT TURNOVERS OR INDIVIDUAL PIZZAS
canned biscuits
cream cheese
fruit preserves
pizza sauce

Place biscuits between two sheets of waxed paper and roll out flat. Place desired filling on them and fold crosswise; press edges. Bake in 400 degree oven for 12 minutes. You can use any filling you wish.

DELUXE HAMBURGERS
(Made 7 balls)
1 lb. hamburger
½ cup rye bread diced
1 small onion, diced
1 egg
2 tbsps. green pepper diced

Mix all ingredients together. Season with salt and pepper. Form into small balls. Place in a pan that has been greased with 1 cup melted butter. Put lid on pan and place on top of burner. Cook slowly until done.

The next one can be done several different ways. But he used beef liver and asparagus.

In the bottom of a broiler pan place asparagus tips. On top broiler pan place slices of beef liver. Sprinkle on onion salt. Brush with melted butter. Place in oven on broil. Turn liver with a pair of tongs and brush again with butter. When done place around liver slices cooked sliced potatoes, if you wish. Brush them with butter and garnish with paprika. For variations use any kind of meat you wish. For mine (since my family does not like liver) I placed in the bottom of the pan whole cooked potatoes (small size) and green beans. On top pan I used pork chops. The juice from the meat is what makes the dish very delicious. And season according to your taste. Try it.

Maybe you would like to try Sol's Ovenless Baked Potatoes. Take an old tomato can for 1 or 2 small potatoes; a 2-pound coffee can for 3 potatoes. Crumble a piece of foil about 12 inches by 20 inches and place it in the bottom of the can. Place the potatoes on top of the foil. Cover the can with another piece of foil, stretching it down over the sides of the can. Place can on simmer burner. Allow to "bake" for about 1 hour. For 5 or 6 potatoes use a heavy 10 or 12 inch skillet instead of a can.

COLD GREASE FRENCH FRIED POTATOES

Into a 2 quart saucepan place either a pound of Crisco or a pint of cooking oil. Put potato slices into the COLD shortening. (Note: Make sure potatoes are dry.) Place lid on saucepan. Place on burner turned on full. Keep full for 10 minutes. Check color. If done to your liking drain potatoes on paper towels. Salt and serve. (He used this recipe last year and they turned out beautifully. It was amazing how beautifully they did turn out by using the cold grease.)

Going away? Stand your potted plants on bricks covered with water in the bathtub. The bricks absorb moisture. By so doing, they will help keep the plants moist.

Fashionettes

Without a report from "Gentlemen's Quarterly," we'd never know this: in medieval times, the wearing of fur was largely restricted to the male. A man's social importance or office often was designated by the fur he was permitted to wear. Judges, for example, wore ermine. In this century, fur coats mainly are a woman's wrap, but males are taking bold steps. First they put fur linings in coats. And now, for daring males, Gentlemen's Quarterly shows a double-breasted coat of silver hair seal; a brown pony skin coat; a leather-piped coat that looks like astrakhan but actually is an orlon adaptation.

Body Blooms With GENII

Everyone knows that once you are past the age of 25, skin cells usually begin to shrink due to their reduced ability to obtain and hold water. Because of this loss the skin naturally dries and falls in, thus the lines and later the wrinkles.

In this day and age even nature's mistakes can be corrected and scientists are constantly seeking to keep us looking forever young.

Genii Cosmetics, Inc., has developed a new formula that is, in effect, a non-surgical "body-lift." Its name . . . Genii Hand and Body Moist.

The vital ingredient in this nongreasy, lightly scented emulsion is "vita-lite," a cellular expansion factor. It is said to be the only natural substance that has the ability to:

1) Almost instantly penetrate the skin.

2) Pull effective life giving quantities of water to the cells.

3) Hold this water at cell level.

Once in the skin "vita-lite" rejuvenates parched cells to relieve skin dryness from within, plumping them to their normal healthy size, thusly lifting the body cells from beneath causing the surface to be firm, smoother and younger looking.

For an emergency ice pack, fill a plastic bag with cubes, wrap in aluminum foil, then wrap again with paper towels or napkins.

With the use of Genii Hand and Body Moist a marked change is noticed in just a few days, in most cases. The same treatment can be given the face and throat by using Genii Lotion and Genii Ever-Moist; both being a little more concentrated, since these areas are more exposed and weathered.

All Genii products are designed to help you look younger.

Recent guests at the home of my sweet "ole" pal, Mrs. Emma Youts, were her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Knop from Morton Grove, Ill. Seminole Raiders Grab College Cage Opener

Wallops Lake Sumter, 74-51

The Seminole Junior College 'Raiders' basketball team won its' opening tilt at Lake Sumter Junior College Wednesday night by the convincing count of 74 to 51.

Led by the steady shotting of 6' 5" Fred Milton, graduate of Orlando's Colonial High, and the high rebounding of both Earl Stokes and Steve Groover who had eight each, the Raiders trailed in the contest only once with the score fixed at 12-7.

Milton dropped 11 buckets and added three free throws for a night's total of 25, high for the team.

This is the third straight defeat for the Lake Sumter team and is the lowest they've been held in scoring by any opponent this season.

The raiders played against a zone defense and at times moved on a man-to-man pattern.

The half-time score had the Seminole Junior College ahead 40-24 and they scored an additional 34 points in the second half to Lake Sumter's 27.

Agee Named Top AL Rookie

CHICAGO (AP) — Outfielder Tommie Agee, the brightest spot in the 1966 Chicago White Sox baseball picture, says he is honored and humbled for being named American League rookie of the year and hopes he can perform as well in 1967.

Agee, 24, captured 16 of 20 votes by the selection committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America to win rookie honors Wednesday, narrowly since Tony Oliva of the Minnesota Twins polled 19 of the 20 in 1964.

Brown, Colts Slug It Out In NFL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's a strange Thanksgiving Day for the Green Bay Packers and the Cleveland Browns and Dallas Cowboys have a few adjustments to make, too. Only the Detroit Lions are in the same old rut.

The Packers, who normally play the Lions on the holiday, have relinquished that task this year and instead are sitting home watching Detroit tangle with the San Francisco 49ers.

And instead of their usual Thanksgiving menu of turkey and television, the Browns and Cowboys slug it out in the Cotton Bowl starting at 6 p.m. EST in a crucial Eastern Conference NFL game.

In the AFL, the lone action was between the Eastern Division-leading Buffalo Bills and the Oakland Raiders, second in the Western Division.

The Cowboys are tied with St. Louis for the Eastern Conference lead, just a half-game ahead of the Browns. Cleveland victory would put the Browns ahead of the Cowboys and if the Cardinals are upset by Pittsburgh Sunday, Cleveland would lead the conference.

The last time the Browns and Cowboys met, five weeks ago in Cleveland, the Browns raced off to a 30-7 lead and coasted to a 20-21 victory. Dallas quarterback Don Meredith was harassed all day by the Cleveland defense and had four passes intercepted, three by Ross Fichtner.

Cleveland has beaten Dallas seven times in a row and 11 of the last 12 times the clubs have met. Leroy Kelly of the Browns is the league's leading rusher, will be out to edge closer to the 1,000 yards gained mark. He's just 179 yards away.

Mets Release Ralph Terry

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ralph Terry, a World Series pitching star for the New York Yankees in 1962, was given his unconditional release Wednesday by the New York Mets. But the Mets said he will be given another chance to make the club in spring training should he fail to catch on with another team.

The 30-year-old righthander was one of three players the Mets dropped from their roster Wednesday as the club opened spots on their roster for possible draft choices in next week's annual baseball draft at Columbus, Ohio.

Vandy Coach To Resign

NASHVILE, Tenn. (AP) — The Nashville Tennessean said Tuesday night the resignation of Vanderbilt football Cach Jack Green is believed imminent."

Tennessean Writer John Bibb wrote in a story for Wednesday's editions

"Jack has never had a contract with Vanderbilt and sources close to the university's administration insist the school does not intend to ask Green for his resignation.

"Nevertheless, rumors persist in many qualified circles that Jack's game Saturday will be the last he'll coach at Vanderbilt."

Battle For Georgia Honors Saturday

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Georgia's burly Bulldogs, already assured of at least a tie for the Southeastern Conference crown, go after the state championship against their old rivals from Georgia Tech.

More than 45,000 fans of the two teams are expected to pack into the stadium which is built to seat 43,500, and a thousand more will battle for room on a nearby bridge, surrounding buildings and railroad tracks.

Victory in the feud during lean years has turned many a dismal season into success, but both Georgia and Georgia Tech already have established themselves as top teams this year.

The explosive Yellow Jackets haven't lost a game and are ranked fifth nationally, two notches higher than Georgia, whose nine - game record is marred only by a 7-8 loss to Miami.

Both teams are bowl bound, with Tech headed for the Orange Bowl and Georgia in the Cotton Bowl.

Georgia won all six SEC games this year to nail down at least a tie for the crown, but victory over the Yellow Jackets means just as much to the Bulldogs.

Coach Vince Dooley, 34-year-old mastermind in his third season at Georgia, has never lost to Tech, and a third straight defeat would be particularly galling to Bobby Dodd, coach of the Yellow Jackets for 22 years.

Georgia rates as a slim favorite, but Dooley contends the Bulldogs will have to play better than they have this year to beat Tech.

"You can't go unbeaten and untied unless you are a great team," Dooley says in praising Tech's offense and defense. "Georgia Tech could have lost to Clemson or to Auburn or to Virginia, but it kept its composition and drove for the winning points.

"That's the mark of a great team."

Dodd is just as worried about Georgia, which lacks the offensive punch Tech carries but has a stronger defense, anchored by All-American tackle George Patton and his sophomore colleague, Bill Stanfill.

"I think its almost an even game," says Dodd. "In Athens, they should be slight favorites, but really Athens isn't a bad place to visit."

Tech is counting on veteran quarterback Kim King to lead the attack. King, a junior lefty who is a strong runner and a deadly passer, has been out three weeks with a wrist injury.

The Yellow Jackets also have the Souths leading runner in junior halfback Lenny Snow, who has scored 12 touchdowns and gained 684 yards this fall.

Georgia has a handful of top backs, including fullbacks Ronnie Jenkins and Brad Johnson, quarterback Kirby Moore and fleet Kent Lawrence, a 9.5 sprinter who plays halfback.

The football rivalry between the two state institutions started in 1893, and has been almost a tossup. Georgia has won 28 games, and Tech has won 27, with 5 ties.

The game closes out the regular 1966 campaign for both teams, although both will have to start bowl preparations next month.

It's Gators, Miami In Saturday Tilt

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—The resurgent Miami Hurricanes meet the Florida Gators and Heisman Trophy winner Steve Spurrier Saturday in a battle between bowl teams.

The 2 p.m. game at Florida Field has all the elements for a thriller and a crowd of more than 58,000 is expected.

A Florida win would give the ninth-ranked Gators their best season record in history, 9-1, with only loss to seventh-ranked Georgia.

In many respects, the situation is strikingly similar to that last year when the two teams met in the season's last game. Florida had a 7-2 record and was on the way to the Sugar Bowl, but lost to Miami 16-13 to end its regular season on a dismal note.

This year the Gators are Orange Bowl - bound, and the Hurricanes have a chance to do it to them again.

There's no doubt about Miami having what it takes to do the job. The Hurricanes are big and rough and have polished off such powers as Southern California and Georgia. They have a fine running attack led by fullback Doug McGee, a human battering ram who wears a specially-padded helmet for his head-long charges.

Miami quarterback Bill Miller had trouble with interceptions in the first half of the season, giving up the ball 10 times in the first three games. But he seems to have settled down and looked good against Pittsburgh and Iowa.

Florida had been made a slim favorite, however, on the strength of Spurrier's golden arm. The Gator sharpshooter leads the nation in passing accuracy with 153 completions in 242 attempts for a .632 mark.

Atlanta Bids For Super Bowl

ATLANTA (AP) — Atlanta has joined several other major league cities in bidding for the Jan. 8 Super Bowl game between the champions of the League and American Fotball League.

John McHale, president of the Atlanta Braves, delivered the pitch for Atlanta Wednesday in a telegram to NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

What Army, Navy Game Dull?

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — If Army and Navy come up with a dull uninaginative football game Saturday, don't blame the coaches — blame the quarterbacks.

In a football rarity, both rival coaches in the traditional service battle at Philadelphia Stadium have agreed to leave conduct of the game on the field to their signalcallers.

They insist they won't follow the normal procedure of calling the shots from the bench by messenger.

"We have left signalcalling to the quarterback all season," said Army's young coach, Tom Cahill. "My figuring is that if you haven't trained your man to run the game by this time, it is too late.

"Of course, we'll talk strategy and discuss plays with our quarterback on the sidelines when the defense is in motion. But on the field, the plays will be left up to Steve Lindell and Jim O'Toole."

Without confering with Cahill, Navy's Coach Bill Elias said in Annapolis that it was his intention to do the same with his junior quarterback, John Cartwright.

"On the field, John will be boss," Elias said.

Both Elias and the Army coach, Paul Dietzel, were sharply criticized for their conservative tactics last year when the two teams played to a 7-7 tie. Cartwright himself got into the act by publicly grumbling that he wished he had been able to call plays instead of having them sent in on a wristlet every formation by the coach.

Elias explained that he followed this procedure because both he and Cartwright were new and pressure of the game was heavy.

"It's different now," says the Navy coach.

Elias, referring to Dietzel's conservative tactics, said, "We played against a man who scored early and then put his offense to bed."

Cahill, who was brought up from the freshman job to take over the varsity when Dietzel left West Point for a lucrative South Carolina contract said he and his Cadets were not discouraged by the odds favoring Navy by three points despite Army's superior 7-2 record over Navy's 4-5.

You Don't Replace Sandy Fast — Alston

DARRTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Manager Walt Alston said Wednesday that even though "you don't replace a Koufax," his Los Angeles Dodgers should do all right next year.

"Sandy was the greatest pitcher I ever had and probably the best I've ever seen," Alston said in an interview at his south western Ohio Home.

"He may have been the greatest of all time. I can't comment about those great pitcher before my time.

SOS

Spolski on Sports

Since this is Thanksgiving Day and coincidentally, the start of the duck hunting season, and I have so much to be grateful for (like goofing-off today trying to nail a mallard out in Lake Jessup), permit me to offer this tie-in story from the current issue of Sports Illustrated.

According to John McKay of USC, the reason Alabama does so well in football is that Bear Bryant has his players believing there's no way they can lose. "Bryant exudes confidence," says McKay.

"We went duck hunting last year when I was down in Alabama for a coaching clinic, and Bear says, "I'm the greatest shot in the world."

Well, we're sitting in the blind and one lone duck flies overhead. Bryant aims and fires, and the duck keeps right on flying.

"John," says Bryant, "you're witnessing a miracle. There flies a dead duck."

Now I just won't stoop to something like that. When I miss and that isn't very often (I guess all duck hunters lie like this) I blame it on a car honking its horn and passing by and scaring the duck.

COME ON, JOHN! A CAR PASSING IN THE MIDDLE OF A BIG LAKE?!?!?!?

Just goes to prove . . . not only am I a poor shot but a poor liar, too!

* * * * * *

WE NEED SOME SORT OF CONTROLS

Let's tax the ole noodle this Thanksgiving Day! Do you remember back some 15-20 years ago when the fight game did have some respectable matches instead of the comedies they're now feeding us?

Used to be a regular routine to watch the Gillette Fights on the "tube" every Friday night.

And then something happened to the fight game. They lost control of the "hole" situation and ultimately produced actors instead of boxers and sluggers.

The same thing just might happen to football, if we're not careful about it.

A. M. Coleman, commissioner of the Southeastern Conference, has some pretty good ideas about the NFL/AFL merger. There's no doubt that the merger was a good idea, but how about controlling it?

They're exempt under the anti-trust rules and can do just about anything they'd like to . . . like scheduling games on TV on Friday as a good example.

The Congressman who voted for this plan said, "The high schools would be given the same protection the colleges are now receiving."

What protection ??????

If they'd like to put some teeth into this legislation they should say, Fridays are for high schools; Saturdays will feature college play, and the pros can romp on Sundays' screen.

* * * * * *

I'M GUILTY? HOW ABOUT YOU?

With all of the clamor we created about seeing the Irish-Spartan game on TV, we really hurt a lot of people without thinking about it.

Sorta ties right in with what we were saying up above . . . you know—controls.

NCAA had the right idea in the first place about the game.

Did you see where the Wisconsin-Minnesota game was off by 14,000. And this doesn't include all of the other games around the country which suffered in attendance as well.

Now we can just imagine what happens to the high school games if they fed us a steady diet of armchair football on TV on Friday nights, too!

* * * * * *

SORTA MAKES YOU ILL

The Atlanta Braves "kicked him when he was down" by not offering disposed manager Bobby Bragan a cut of their fifth place share of the world series.

I don't particularly share any love for the "brash brat," but he was their leader for 1966. He did help during that time to keep the Braves in contention for at least that fifth place finish.

Somehow this makes Bragan stand a little taller than those spiteful Braves. Don't you agree?

* * * * * *

SPORTS SIFTINS . . . It's surprising the number of fans who've written in to drop off their selections for the Outstanding Lineman and Back of the Year. Some of these players must surely have big fan clubs . . . Next week we'll have the complete Sanford Herald All Seminole County football team for your pleasure. The coaches and our sports department are making these selections . . . Two weeks from now, a special release on the All Seminole County bowling teams, too . . . Sorta surprised at the "Ole Timers" not coming forth with their selections for All Seminole County Bowling Team. Seemed like Whigham had all kinds of time to spot his receivers, too . . . Special congratulations to Sanford's football fans—there were more from Sanford at the game than Winter Park and Orlando, which are much closer to it. Yep, Florida, when the Fighting Seminoles performed so well, huh? . . . I can't figure it out. Here we have professional football at its very best in the form of the Orlando Panthers, and they still don't come out to watch 'em play. There's a heck of a lot more room to accommodate more than the 8,000 who've been showing up to watch. As a matter of fact, I would guess that this is just about the "break even" point . . . Look for fast, exciting basketball from the Seminole Junior College team, coached by Joe Sterling. They've got the height and speed . . . Talking about dollars and cents (and don't we always these days?), Jack Ledoux of the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club visited Aquaduct, the New York track, for a demonstration of automatic calculating equipment. Up there, the DAILY handle of bets is $6 million. Can you fathom that? That's pretty hard for this little country boy to imagine . . . Almost as difficult as believing that Florida will beat Miami . . . or Georgia Tech losing to Georgia . . . or Army bowing to the Middies. I just can't imagine any of that kind of talk. Why didja have to bring up the subject in the first place, Jack?

* * * * * *

I'M JUST WONDERING

Now that Spurrier has received the honor he so richly deserves, the Heisman Player of the Year, do you think he'll ask for more than a million to sign with the pros????

And to think that the Colts signed Johnny Unitas for only 90 cents. That's right, a long distance call inviting him to try out for the team and he was signed. No bonus, no contract, nothing more than the chance to become the greatest pro quarterback of all time.

GOAL LINE — HERE I COME . . . DeLand's Rick Rawlins (No. 71) gives chase to Seminole's Frank Whigham, right (No. 10) but to no avail. Add six points to the Sanford score.

Simon The Big Story - - - As Hornets Dump Lyman

Dan Simon was the big story in Longwood, scoring four touchdowns, and rushing for 131 yards to pace Bishop Moore to a 33-13 victory over the host Lyman Greyhounds. It was the season's finale for both schools.

The 220 fullback's performance, along with that of a hard-hitting Hornet defense helped hand coach Dick Copeland's Hounds their sixth setback of the campaign against four victories. Lyman, out-manned and out-weighed, was unable to put the pieces together on offense and was held to 58 yards rushing and 82 yards passing.

Fullback Paul Lambert, however, came through with enough yardage to put him on top of the Orange Belt Conference rushing statistics. The Hound captain, still hobbled by injuries which sidelined him earlier, gained 70 yards in 13 carries. This brought his season total to 914 yards, 39 more than Larry Graham of Lakeview.

Lyman drew first blood in the hard fought battle when Bobby Eldridge, who played an outstanding game, returned a punt 88 yards for a score early in the first quarter. The conversion attempt by Bruce Stuart was unsuccessful.

A recovered fumble by Jim Lorch at the Lyman 49 early in the second period set up by the Hornets first TD. Simon went in to pay-dirt from one yard out and added the PAT on a run to give Bishop Moore a 7-6 margin.

The Greyhounds came back to take the lead before halftime, following an exchange of interceptions by Eldridge and Bishop Moore's Mike Chernega, the Hounds struck for six points. Linebacker Tom Fletter, recovering a fumble by Chernega, on the Hornet 19 rumbled in for the solo score. Stuart split the uprights for the PAT to give Lyman a 13-7 bulge before intermission.

Bishop Moore came roaring back in the second half marching 66 yards for a TD following the opening kick-off. Simon carried for 39 yards in the drive, including the final three feet for the touchdown.

The Hounds fumbled the ensuing kick and Gill Ott recovered for the Hornets at the Lyman 11. Three plays later Simon went in for the score from the six.

Jay Patton, who plays both offensive and defensive tackle for Oviedo will be one of the strong pokes on the line. Patton has shown himself to be a fine lineman this year by plugging holes on offense and doing an excellent job tackling for Oviedo. Patton leads the Lion defense in fumble recoveries, with five.

Steve Bratton also has shown himself as a fine defensive player in the middleguard slot. Bratton has broken up many a key play so far this year.

The Lions offense has rushed for an average of 250 yards per game while Oviedo has allowed their opponents to average only a little over 100 yards.

Oviedo's quarterback Bob Fugate has proven to be a capable passer for the Lions with a completion record of 45 per cent. The Lions have two fine pass receivers, Juan Adriatico and Don Boyd, for Fugate to work with. Simon Harper has been extremely effective from the backfield on short passes.

Game time tonight is 8 p.m. at John Courier Field.

Oviedo Hosts Ocoee Tonight

The Oviedo Lions host the Ocoee Cardinals tonight for their last grid game of the season. The Lions will be seeking their fifth win of the season while Ocoee will be after their third.

The Lions will be depending on their backfield trio of Hank Tulp, Simon Harper and Randy Janson to maintain their offensive game. Both Harper and Janson have rushed for over 100 yards rushing per game. Janson, the Lions sophomore fullback, is their third strongest runner with an average of 40 yards in the four games he has played.

Ocoee also will be depending greatly on their ground game. The Cardinals have two fine backs, Jim Breland and Mike Johnson, who seem to be able to run everywhere and are especially effective on running plays up the middle.

Neither the Lions nor the Cardinals have superior passing attacks but their passing has been sufficient to balance their offensive attacks.

In previous games this season, Oviedo's defense has played a significant part. None of the offenses the Lions have run up against has been too tough for them to handle. The Lions defense has made six pass interceptions and recovered eight fumbles. If the Lions can maintain this kind of tough defense they should be able to contain the Ocoee squad.

Sanford Gains 6th Win

The Sanford Seminoles squeaked by the DeLand Bulldogs 7-6 at the Tribe's home field Wednesday night and also pushed their season record to a respectable 6-4 mark.

The DeLand Bulldogs out-passed and out-ran their rivals from Sanford in the 40th meeting of the two schools. However, when the yardage counted at the two-and-one-half yard line for an extra point attempt, the Seminole defense stiffened and prevented a tie score. The over-all record for the long-running rivalry is now 23-12-3, a favor of Seminole High.

Slippery fingered receivers hampered the much-respected Seminole passing game. However, sophomore running back Bill Bracken, one of the top ground gainers in the past few games, came through with 53 yards in eight carries to lead the Seminole running attack.

It was senior quarterback Frank Whigham's presence which has meant so much to the Seminoles this year, that did the trick for Sanford. The Seminole signal-caller took all the home team's scoring honors as his nine-yard romp into the end zone and subsequent kick of the PAT gave Sanford the victory margin.

The first period started out with DeLand taking over possession of the pigskin on its own 23 and driving it to the Seminole nine-yard line. DeLand backs Roger Keefer, Gus Bell and Stanley Jenkins moved the ball down to the nine yard line of Seminole before alert Sanford defensive halfback, Al Peeples, latched onto a Bell fumble and saved the Seminoles' scalp.

Late in the second chapter of the predominantly ground game, Seminole took over possession of the oval on its own 27. The big play in the drive came from Sophomore Bracken on a 40-yard jaunt off left tackle. Whigham then masterfully guided the Sanford team to the nine-yard line. After two incomplete

They Were Tough—Metts

"I knew that they'd be good, but I didn't think that they'd be that tough. Those two tackles Rawlins and Anderson, as big as they are and as fast as they are, well, they sure can make it tough on your passing game," said Head Coach Buck Metts following their 7-6 win over DeLand.

"I feel that the turning point in the game was when we recovered their fumble, 'cause they were really marching down that field up to that point and probably would have scored."

"And then when our boys put up that goal line stand and stopped them from scoring the PAT, it was the actual difference between a five and five passes, the powerful-running quarterback took the ball for a nine-yard scoring trip to give the Seminoles a 6-0 lead. Whigham's point-after kick was true and the Tribe got its winning margin, 7-0.

However, DeLand came back in the opening drive of the second half, held the ball for 10 minutes 17 seconds in the third period; and ran 25 consecutive plays which covered 78 yards for a comeback score. Roger Keefer, Gus Bell, and Stanley Jenkins did most of the land-grabbing on the ground for the 'Dogs. Jerry Fowler threw three key passes to Bell for a total of 30 yards to keep the drive going.

Fowler, with a second down and the goal only inches away drove the ball home and gave the Bulldogs their only score of the evening.

In what has to be termed as the evening's most outstanding defensive play by Seminole, Roger Keefer was repelled from the end zone on a try for the PAT on the ground. The Seminole defenders who stopped the bruising DeLand back were: Buddy Stumpf, Mike Long, Barney Headrick and Al Peeples.

The rest of the game was played on even terms by both teams and only one more scoring threat materialized in the contest.

Fred Weber, who gained 45 yards in the contest in eight carries, along with Buddy Stumpf moved the ball down inside the DeLand 30, where a big 12-yard run by Whigham and several shorter ones by Weber saved the game and ran the clock.

Gifts Of Living Plants Add Christmas Cheer

Gifts of living plants add to the Christmas cheer of any household.

The traditional holiday favorite, of course, is the stately, luxurious poinsettia. Pairs of these lovely plants, with red and white flowers, make a happy holiday combination. Kept out of drafts, in temperatures between 60 and 75 degrees, and given filtered sunlight, they will bloom throughout the holidays. It's important too, that the plants be in red clay pots that will drain off excess moisture from over-watering.

Another plant rapidly growing in popularity for Christmas giving is the Norfolk Island Pine. This symmetrical pine has a dignity uncommon to pines and does well as a house plant attaining a height of about three feet. It is unique in that it is the only pine that will do well indoors if given partial sunlight, a cool location and moderately watered.

If you choose to give a live Christmas tree such as spruce, pine or hemlock, the little tree should be balled and burlaped. In addition, you can help these trees survive the hot, dry air of today's homes if you keep your selection down to the size that will fit in a large 14 or 16-inch clay pot. With a half-inch of pebbles in a matching red clay saucer, you can water the pubble layer through the holidays and be sure that the plant will remain relatively cool and have adequate moisture.

Podocarpus is another plant worth consideration as a Christmas gift. It's a yew-like evergreen shrub that grows slowly, but can grow to five feet or higher.

Such foliage plants as the "Star of Bethlehem" hanging vine; the lush, green Jade or Prayer plant (Maranta) and syngonium (green gold) are always-welcomed holiday additions to any house plant collection.

Other popular plant gifts plentiful at holiday time include the Christmas cactus, the Christmas begonia, Jerusalem cherry combination plants, specially grown for the season, peperomias and succulents.

A number of year-round flowering plants can supplement your traditional gifts of poinsettias. Most popular favorites include clay-potted chrysanthemums, miniature roses, azaleas, African violets or perhaps a lovely cyclamen or anthurium plant.

Old Glory Sets Blood Donor Day

By MARYANN MILES

Old Glory Blood Bank will have Donors Day from 4 until 7 p.m. Tuesday at the American Legion Home on Prairie Lake in Fern Park.

It is stated by Mrs. Lillian Severs, president, that all participating organizations must have five donors present since a total of 35 persons is needed in order for the blood mobile unit to make the trip.

Those having standing blood accounts are invited to donate at this time and credit will be given their organizations, Mrs. Severs said.

Donors must be in good health and be between 21 and 59 years old. Married persons serving in the armed forces may give at 18 years but civilians 18 to 21, must have permission from a parent or guardian. Forms provided by the blood bank for such cases will be available Tuesday.

Mrs. Severs advises those planning to give blood to refrain from eating fatty foods prior to the drawing but stresses they should not go without eating for long periods of time before donating.

"Those endearing young charms . . ." Charms are an easy way to give your gift that "personal touch" this Christmas. There are charms to signify everyone's special interests — a favorite sport, a skill.

Press Appreciation Day was observed at the Annual Thanksgiving Luncheon of World War I Veterans, Barracks 2898 of Altamonte Springs, and its Auxiliary Unit, at the Altamonte Springs Community House.

Citations were awarded to Julia Bartos, The Sanford Herald; Betty French, Orlando Sentinel-Star and Barbara Pryor, Winter Park Sun Herald, for meritorious service given in behalf of the organization through publicity.

Presentations were made by Raymond Gamble, commander, Department of Florida, who commended the editors and reporters for their "zealous efforts in bringing about larger membership and a lively organization."

Honored press guests were Walter A. Gielow, editor-publisher of The Sanford Herald, and Mrs. Gielow; Marion Harman, head of the Sentinel-Star Sanford Bureau, and Reuben Killebrew, city editor of the Sun Herald.

Citations also were presented to Ciell Rice, junior vice commander and publicity chairman, for his "active interest and cooperation with the press" and Ralph Peter, chaplain, for his "continuous guidance since the barracks has been organized which has been instrumental in its growth."

Visiting officers who also were honored guests included Gamble, Mrs. Hollie Nalan, seventh district president; V. John Harris, past national quartermaster; Mrs. Grace Harris, past district president who, with her husband, organized the Altamonte barracks and unit; Mrs. Lillian Stewart, past district president, and Buddy Nalan, quartermaster of the Winter Garden barracks.

In business of the meeting, officers elected were Roger Miller, commander; Rice, senior vice commander; LeRoy Stover, junior vice commander; Peter, chaplain; William Milligan, quartermaster; Ben Evans, judge advocate, and George Miller, trustee.

For the auxiliary are Merriam Engle, president; Esther Wynkoop, vice president; Eva Keller, treasurer; Grace Lash, conductress; Mary Holloway, guard; Connie Baumgartner, trustees, and Florence Stover, chaplain.

The barracks voted to donate ten turkeys to Thanksgiving baskets distributed by the Altamonte Springs Community Chapel. A committee, headed by Jefferson Hodges, will be given $50 for baskets to be distributed to the needy at Christmas.

Joe Keller, service officer, was authorized to contact the manager of Highland Memorial Gardens in Forest City to make arrangements to attend Memorial Services at the cemetery in the future.

Sympathy was expressed to Mrs. Keller on the loss of her brother.

New members accepted by committee are J. Harvey Coulter, president; John Bethea, first vice president; David Beane, second vice president; Gene Rucker, secretary and Chuck Hunter, treasurer. Nominations from the floor will be acceptable at the Dec. 12 meeting.

Traffic Safety Is Stressed By Prosecutor

By MARYANN MILES

Measures to "do something about the number of traffic fatalities in the county" were stressed by County Prosecutor Kenneth McIntosh for members of the Forest City Community Association at their November meeting.

Stating "one of three will be involved in a major accident," McIntosh reported more than 22 persons in the county have been killed since January and that more children are killed before they are 14 years old through auto accidents than by by any disease.

Factors involved are the drivers, the automobile, the highway, the pedestrian . . . causes are drinking alcoholic beverages, while driving, following another car too closely, speeding, driving on the wrong side of the road and failure of the driver to have the car under control, he said.

A car going 70 miles per hour would take the length of two football fields to come to a stop, he pointed out.

Help can be given by the public through talks at groups meetings, by getting physical examinations regularly, having periodical examination for drivers license and by becoming a "defensive driver. . . . leave 10 minutes earlier for work," the speaker advised in his brief but to the point address.

In business of the meeting, it was reported a profit of $54.95 was realized from the recent fish fry. Treasury now has on hand a total of $588.38, Al Kreenter, treasurer, stated. A sum of $150 has been paid for uniforms for Little League, which is sponsored by the association. A turkey shoot has been sponsored recently and an auction is scheduled Dec. 10, with Mrs. Ernestine Forward, chairman. All donations except clothing will be welcome.

Officers recommended for the coming year by the nominating committee are J. Harvey Coulter, president; John Bethea, first vice president; David Beane, second vice president; Gene Rucker, secretary and Chuck Hunter, treasurer. Nominations from the floor will be acceptable at the Dec. 12 meeting.

Banker To Be C Of C Guest

Wills and Trusts will be the subject of the talk given by Herbert Holm of the Commercial Bank at Winter Park at the meeting of the Longwood area Chamber of Commerce scheduled for 8 p.m., Monday, at the Civic League Building on Church Street.

Linton L. Cox, president, will conduct the business meeting immediately preceding the program. Interested residents of the community are invited to attend.

The Reasons Are Timeless

Thanksgiving, to coin a phrase, ain't what it used to be.

The Pilgrims stalked and shot their own turkeys. Today, the center of attraction on the groaning board is prekilled, preplucked and prestuffed, if not pre-cooked. It may even come in a homogenized loaf which, like a record of excerpts from musical masterpieces, has "all the hard parts taken out."

A century ago on Thanksgiving, we are told, the custom was to make an excusion into the country to visit one's grandparents. Today, grandma's house is as likely as not a high-rise apartment building and the children ride an elevator, not a horse-drawn carriage, to get there.

Half a century ago, the only holiday entertainment was what a family could provide for itself in the form of conversation and games and looking at pictures through the stereopticon. Today, television mass feeds our minds just as the modern food processing industry mass feeds our stomachs.

No, Thanksgiving isn't what it used to be. It hasn't been for a long time and it never will be again.

Yet it isn't Thanksgiving that has changed. America has changed, and is changing, but the reasons each generation continues to celebrate this festival are timeless and enduring.

Thanksgiving is, as it always was even before it became an official holiday, the one day in the year when Americans across the land pause from their daily work to gather within the bosom of their own families simply to give thanks.

To give thanks for many things. For big things—like a country that is free and prosperous and is still pursuing that great experiment called democracy. For little things — like a home, a full table, healthy kids and the wherewithal to maintain them.

And because we give special thanks on this day, we are perhaps more aware than on any other day that there are many, even in our own country, who have much less reason to be grateful. Our hearts go out to them, and like the Pilgrims who invited the Indians to the first Thanksgiving, we would share our happiness with them if we could.

America is changing, more rapidly with every year. If our ancestors from any previous period could come back to see what America is like in 1966, they might feel they had arrived on another planet.

But one thing would tell them they were at home. That one thing is the living spirit of Thanksgiving.

PHUOC BINH, Viet Nam (NEA)—Ten combat Vietnamese police armed with automatic weapons and grenades took me to Son Long, a hamlet of 44 houses which had been under Viet Cong attack for some months.

Not far away is a group of hamlets abandoned for fear of the Viet Cong. The people left so recently that their fields were still in good repair and their crops lush and green. Viet Cong had moved in and were preparing to harvest the crops as they ripened.

Hamlets three miles away are under firm Viet Cong control. Son Long has not been abandoned. Though it has been attacked time and again, it has not been overrun. It seemed important to find out why.

Truong Van Thuong, aged 60, is a member of the hamlet's ruling council. He knew now that if we run again, they will only follow us again and so we will have to fight someplace. Where can we go to escape them?

"I was a young man in Cambodia when the Communists came there many years ago. They gave us propaganda. led by a private first class of the regional forces.

Five days ago, as of this writing, a company of Viet Cong well-equipped provincial forces attacked Son Long. Estimates of the VC strength ran from 60 to 90 men. After several hours of fighting, the VC withdrew, leaving three dead. The militia lost two killed and one captured.

This was a remarkable battle. By all the rules of warfare, a small group composed of middle-aged and old men, mostly untrained, should have been swamped by the Viet Cong company. Yet the militia held.

Hamlet chief Nguyen Van Huong said they had been run out of one hamlet, a place named Bu Xai. They had all moved here together.

"We are going to stay and fight," he said. "We know now that if we run again, they will only follow us again and so we will have to fight someplace. Where can we go to escape them?

"I was a young man in Cambodia when the Communists came there many years ago. They gave us propaganda. When the people did not go along, they began killing.

"We have all been through the same experience. We know what the Communists are like."

The private who leads the militia wears a cross around his neck. He said 42 of the 44 families are strongly religious. There is a small home-built church in the hamlet. A priest visits once a week.

The people of Son Long are closely united. They have a faith to live by. They've experienced communism. They have an able leader in the hamlet chief.

So a handful of men could beat off more than twice their number of VC troops.

The local American adviser told me later. "That is a remarkable hamlet in lots of ways. The people don't ail and wait for help. They've built things for themselves. Recently, they've dug three ponds for growing fish on their own. They want to expand their farms and are working on plans."

If every hamlet of South Viet Nam had these things, there would be no Viet Cong problem.

There are hamlets like Son Long through South Viet Nam. Wherever they are, the Viet Cong have a difficult time.

All that I visited had three things in common. A strong religious faith; a good, strong hamlet leader and were sturdy and independent in their outlook; they had seen communism first hand and it repelled them.

These are things that come from within. They cannot be created from without. But the United States can stand back of such hamlets and such men when times are hard. If we do this well, the Viet Cong will be defeated.

Lyle Wilson Says:

13-Year-Olds Draft Bait?

The chilling word as we now hear it is that today's 13-year-olds can expect to be drafted in 1971 for the war in Southeast Asia which might be won in five more years, maybe, or could continue for 20.

Today's youngest teen-agers will be 18 and draft bait in five years.

Twenty years! That would be 1986. Male children still unborn could be marked for that war and perhaps for death in the Asian jungle.

This is in contrast to Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's campaign cheerer-upper spoken just before this month's congressional election. McNamara said he planned a reduced Viet Nam build-up in 1967; that draft calls would be cut back during the next four months if present trends continue. If McNamara is right and a favorable trend rapidly expands, the chilling word is wrong and that would be a blessing to all.

Some of the cheerer-upper shine came off the secretary's optimism after the votes were counted about two weeks ago. The Pentagon was engaged on Nov. 9 in a customary ploy. It was explaining McNamara's optimistic pre-election statement pledging a slowdown in the rate of troop deployment.

About 200,000 men were shipped into South Viet Nam in 1966. As of McNamara's slowdown statement, U. S. troop strength there was about 385,000. The Pentagon explanation was that McNamara's slowdown did not rule out a troop strength of as many as 500,000 for end of 1967—an increase of about 120,000.

Memory threw a shadow of further doubt around optimism based on the secretary's statement. Memory recalled that Gen. William C. Westmoreland had told President Johnson in South Viet Nam some weeks ago that he needed more troops, and that LBJ said they would be sent.

Good memory caused Charles Corddry, national defense expert of UPI, Washington, D. C., to paw through his files for an article by Seymour J. Dietchman, newly designated director of Pentagon guerilla war research. Before taking that assignment, Dietchman wrote last May in the Washington Post, that for the United States to win the war in South Viet Nam in as few as five years would require troop strength of "anything from a half-million to two-million" U. S. men.

Dietchman is a staff member of Institute for Defense Analysis (IDA).

On that scale he estimated that Americans killed in action would equal the toll in Korea, which was 33,629 service dead. He wrote that the war could last for 20 years with casualties still on the Korean scale if the war continued to be fought at the levels prevailing when he wrote the article last spring.

About 266,000 U.S. troops were in South Viet Nam last spring. Casualty figures had begun to rise, establishing records from week to week.

In the third week of May, 1966, week about the article of last May, and the author said he had no reason now to alter his conclusions.

Richard M. Nixon said on Nov. 5: "I believe current Johnson policies resign us to a war that could last five years and produce more casualties than Korea." Many persons read this statement as mere campaign oratory. So did many regard McNamara's optimistic Nov. 6 cheerer-upper.

Guerrilla expert Dietchman is not in politics. There is a grim

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Joel's daughter is horrified by his sexual deviation. But Joel is simply a victim of erotic malnutrition! His city brothers would avoid his arrest and fine by patronizing a burlesque show or musical comedy. So learn to use a little common sense and quit being unduly shocked by such symptoms of erotic starvation.

CASE A-588: Joel X., aged 49, has been arrested.

"Dr. Crane," his married daughter confessed, "I am so ashamed that I can hardly talk about it.

"For my father lives in a small town. Mother died three years ago.

"But we didn't know that my father has been peeking into the windows in the neighborhood to watch young women disrobe at night.

"One of the young husbands caught him, and threatened to have him arrested, but let him go on my father's promise not to do it again.

"But he failed to keep his promise, so now he is in jail.

"What could ever have made him do such a thing? Is he losing his mind?"

If a person were starving for dinner table food, would it be so ab-normal if he pressed his face against the front window of a bakery or grocery store?

If he showed such hunger for gastric viands, he would not be arrested.

But the erotic hunger is likewise a powerful force in mankind.

When unsatisfied, it leads to all sorts of deviations, of which this "Peeping Tom" behavior is typical.

One of the chief differences between Joel and the middle-aged businessmen of the large cities, is the fact that Joel peeped into windows, for free!

The business men simply pay a couple of bucks and sit down front at a burlesque show!

If they are more cultured males and have their wives along, they shift to a higher

Did you ever hear of women showing great interest in starting an all-feminine Nudist Camp? Why don't they?

Because the Nudism Cult is chiefly a rationalized attempt by men to cover up their "Peeping Tom" desires under the disguised "health" argument.

Medically, nudism is actually NOT healthful but is harmful, as tomorrow's case will explain more fully.

But it is true that total nudism is not as sexually titillating as semi-nudism.

The burlesque girls thus gain their greatest applause in the act of disrobing; not when they are entirely naked!

In Joel's case, a second marriage to an interested wife would have solved his problem.

Peeping Toms are simply erotically starving. Feed their romantic hunger legitimately and they stop such bizarre symptoms of erotic malnutrition!

So send for the 200-point "Tests For Happy Husbands and Wives," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20c. Get married and live normally!

Americans Will Be More Stuffed Than The Turkey

On Christmas Day, many Americans will push away from the dinner table feeling more stuffed than the turkey they just ate.

And no wonder!

Resolve dissolves and common sense evaporates under the Yuletide onslaught of turkeys and hams, mashed potatoes and candied yams, rolls and butter, gravies and sauces, cookies, candies, cakes and pies.

Countless diets are wrecked by holiday fare: at one sitting, a hearty eater can put away 2,000 or more calories, the calorie requirement for a whole day. And that doesn't include second helpings. Indulgence takes its toll in extra pounds, blooming waistlines and creeping regret.

As you sit lazy and heavy in an armchair listening to the cacophony of indigestion, think of the ways you could have had your cake and a diet, too.

—You could have passed over the fudge brownies and settled for an apple or a handful of carrots or celery sticks when [illegible] tree.

—You knew dinner was going to be big, so why the big breakfast? For instance you could have had eggnog—only 225 calories, and quite in the holiday spirit.

—Had you watched all those calories before dinner, you could have asked for a second helping of turkey or ham and taken a bigger than usual slab of pie or cake without a nagging conscience.

—Instead of gobbling up Christmas cookies and leftovers for a late dimner, you could have munched on cookies to satisfy your hunger and spare the calories.

Holiday diets don't have to be a gastronomical bore. Diet-wise food and drink can balance those big, calorie-crammed meals and make the season one you won't remember for its extra pounds and indigestion.

FIRST THANKSGIVING was depicted in the Lake Mary School cafeteria in this exhibit arranged by lunchroom workers. A Pilgrim woman seems to be offering some of the bountiful food to the Indian. The huge pumpkin was contributed by Ray Rose, head custodian. Mrs. Muriel Gardiener, supervisor, was assisted on creation of the exhibit by Peggy Galloway, Barbara Hickson, Betty Cunningham, Marilyn Elliott, Hope Hastings and Jo Rupert. (Herald Photo)

Catholic Party

The Catholic Women's Club of All Souls Church, Sanford, will have its Christmas party Dec. 5 in the church social hall. Mrs. Marie Rotas is chairman in charge of planning the event.

The gift plant in your home should have as much light as is possible, preferably a sunny window. It should be kept away from drafts and heating elements. The plant likes a 65 to 70 degree day temperature and 55 to 60 degrees at night.

Household Hints For Christmas

Happiness to the homemaker: In December is children with clean feet, guests with steady hands, sleeping dogs and cats, and a total absence of dirt and spots.

But the household that achieves this kind of happiness is likely to be without fun and warmth. So, be of good cheer, and prepare for what will be the inevitable holiday haunts of grubby hands and spills.

These suggestions for dealing with the trauma of open houses, big dinners, dirty feet, and eager hands come from the country's largest professional cleaning organization, ServiceMaster:

Do— plan to have carpets and upholstered furniture cleaned prior to the holidays. It's much easier to care for clean home furnishings than to try and remove spots from soiled pieces.

Don't— cover your chairs with plastic unless you expect to have a particularly unruly group of youngsters in the house, armed with catsup, and coke. Plastic covers are not only uncomfortable, but hold the moisture and have a tendency to mar certain fabrics if left on for extended periods of time.

Unusual accidents such as candle drippings may be loosened from sofa or carpet by holding a warm iron near the spot. Follow up by sprinkling a solvent-type cleaner on the area, blot and dry.

Do—try the tactic of a broad hint in a husbandly ear to eliminate all of your holiday housekeeping problems, and perhaps a generous Santa will slip a special present into your stocking — in the form of a professional cleaning for rugs furniture and walls.

Do investigate the new professional process which "check-stains" upholstered pieces. Applied right in the home, this process puts an invisible coating on delicate fabrics and protects them against any waterborne spots and spills.

Do— protect all wooden surfaces by treating them to a fine, natural furniture polish. Remember, a furniture polish that requires no rubbing is probably not worth its salt in creating a luster or in protecting fine wood finishes.

Don't— panic if a guest or a member of the family spills something or tracks in dirt. But do have on hand the proper equipment to care for the spot immediately. Many spots, if left alone for 12 or 24 hours are almost impossible to remove.

Do— study up on what kind of action to take for various kinds of accidents. For instance, [illegible] different approach than fruit stains. You'll probably want to investigate the "first aid kit" for spots that contain solutions to take care of 55 minor household disasters, from gum under foot to pet problems.

Do— remember that staying calm is important. Your own prompt action is the best spot prevention of all. Don't let a friendly guest take a rag and mop up the mess. Blot, don't rub, and always scrape the excess toward the center to keep from spreading the stain. Continue the blot-spot treatment until the mark disappears. Afterward brush up the carpet nap.

Esther Class Plans Holiday Dinner Party

A covered dish dinner and Christmas party will be held Dec. 5 by the Esther Sunday School Class of Central Baptist Church, Sanford, with members of the Dorcas Class invited to attend. Gifts will be exchanged as is customary with the class.

Plans for the event were made at the November business and social meeting of Esther Class at the home of Mrs. G. H. High, W. First St.

Meeting was opened with devotions given by Mrs. R. D. Bass and prayer by Mrs. A. B. Maddox. Mrs. J. Q. Galloway, class president, conducted the business session. Reports were heard from class officers and Mrs. J. H. Oaks was elected as substitute teacher for the class.

Concluding prayer was offered by Mrs. Galloway.

The hostess and Mrs. S. J. Benton served refreshments to Mrs. Clara Swaggrty, Mrs. J. H. Wetson, Mrs. A. B. Maddox, Mrs. Galloway, Mrs. Oaks, and Mrs. Bass.

For thousands of years alcoholic beverages were known as "water of life."

Gift Wrapping Is A Pleasure

Part of the pleasure of shopping for Christmas gift-wrappings this season will be the opportunity to turn left over scraps of wrapping paper into handsome, original Christmas decorations for the home. Nothing more need be invested than a few minutes of spare time and some inexpensive, easily available materials.

Inspired by the richness and beauty of this year's collection of gift papers and ribbons, one leading manufacturer has designed more than thirty different Christmas decorating projects to be made at home.

Instructions and materials needed are given below:

"PLEATED TREE"

Materials
1 package gift wrap white glue
1" red Christmas ball

Instructions
Cut 20" semi-circle of gift wrap. Make fan pleats radiating from center. While still folded, cut rounded edge at an angle to form bottom points. Glue the two straight edges together. Top tree with ball.

"PINK PIGGY"

Materials
1 roll gift wrap
6" foam ball
4- 1-oz. paper cups for feet
1 larger cup for nose
2 black beads for eyes
6" pine cleaner
rubber cement

Instructions
1. To construct body shape, cut 4 flat surfaces on one side of 6" plastic foam ball in appropriate leg positions. Pin one 1-oz. cup to each flat surface. Pin one larger cup at end of foam ball to make nose. Cover end of nose with a 2-layer circle of pink gift wrap, gluing overlap to sides of nose.
2. To make fringe for body, cut several 2½" wide strips of pink gift wrap of varying lengths. Fold each strip in half lengthwise. Snip strips every ¼", cutting from folded edge in and allowing at least ½" at bottom for gluing. (Several strips can be placed together and folded and fringed at one time). To fluff fringe, turn strip wrong side out. Wrap fluffed fringe around Piggy, beginning at bottom of legs, with fringed edge at bottom, and working in towards body. Pin at various points to secure. Overlap as you proceed to give a full effect.
3. Add two ears cut from fuschia gift wrap (each ear is 4 layers thick.) Gather ear shapes at one end for three dimensional effect, and pin in place at gathered end.

Toys Should Be Correct For Tots

For parents, grandparents, [illegible] ta Claus for pre-school youngsters, the selection of toys for Christmas is often a confusing and frustrating experience.

Solving the "toy dilemma," not just at Christmas, but all year round, is simplified when parents realize that a preschooler's toys are his tools for learning and discovering, not just idle amusements. To aid parents—and other family Santas—in making the right decisions in this important area, research suggests several guides to toy selection.

Toys should be correct for the child's particular stage of development. They should match his state of physical and mental growth—not just his calendar age. Toys should challenge—but not frustrate—his growing skills.

The pre-school child's toy should be well-constructed, and wooden toys should be close-grained, with rounded corners and sanded surfaces to prevent splinters. All removable parts should be oversized—too large to be swallowed. Make certain that paint on the toys is non-toxic, safe for the youngster who "tastes" everything. Youngsters give toys a rough workout, so playtools should be sturdy enough to withstand pre-school energy.

Research consultants suggest this list of DON'TS if you're shopping for Christmas toys for preschoolers:

DON'T run out to the toy stores in search of the "latest gimmicks." They usually hold only fleeting interest for the child, and then wind up broken or on his toy shelf — permanently.

DON'T buy toys just because they are "perfect miniatures" of the adult world. Remember that young children love to use their imagination with a toy and bring it into their world of make-believe.

DON'T buy electrical toys for young preschoolers. He prefers to "make the toy work" by himself—and it's safer, too.

EIGHTH Grade students at Forest Lake Seventh-Day Adventist Church School, and their families, enjoyed covered dish dinner. Planning committee and hostesses shown serving Wilbur Rilean, teacher, were (from left) Mrs. Jack Musselwhite, Mrs. Betty Brannon and Mrs. Rill Iles.

Golf Accessories Right For HIM

A dozen favorite golf balls, a pair of golf gloves, a golf cart if the giver is in a generous mood, or perhaps a golf bag is guaranteed to bring warm thanks on Christmas morning.

It's best to stay away from golf clubs, unless they can be exchanged, because they're as personal as a custom tailored suit.

And if you're thinking about a golf bag select one that suits the clubs it will carry as well as the person who will carry it.

There is as much variety and style today in golf bags as there is in golf clothes, says Milton Goldberg, a California manufacturer, whose golf bags are used on the world's most famous courses as well as on pitch-and-putt greens.

The choice of bags, says this expert, ranges from the shapes of the tops and bottoms, to their colors, their weights and their materials.

Some golfers prefer what is known as a Keystone shaped top, others an oval or rectangular top. Bottoms are round and oval. Be sure, says the manufacturer, that the bag is well balanced and will stand without toppling. This makes for easier carrying, less possible club-damage and longer wear.

'Little Gifts' For Ladies Difficult To Choose

The "little gifts" for the ladies on your list are often the most difficult to choose. There are gifts for neighbors, office friends and teachers. Then there are tuck-ins for grab bags, Christmas stockings and gift boxes. So if your imagination and budget are beginning to run dry a good solution is to select a favorite toiletry and add a custom touch for a double-duty gift. Here are a few suggestions to start you on your way:

FOR A NICE NEIGHBOR. Dishwashing, diapers and detergents may mean that hands need help for the holidays. Pretty-up a pair of household gloves with a big red rose and glitter-ing braid and stuff each glove with hand cream. There are several creamy hand savers from which to choose—extra dry skin cream, medicated cream, and anti-detergent cream.

FOR A NEW MOTHER. Say a special Christmas hello with two new medicated products for baby that will please mother, too. Medicated baby oil and baby lotion both protect baby's skin from irritation, help heal diaper rash fast. Wrap them as snowmen in white tissue paper, add shiny paper top hats, ribbon "mufflers," ink-drawn faces and tiny sprays of greenery. Both oil and lotions come in two convenient sizes.

FOR A FELLOW WORKER. Choose a cheery coffee mug or pretty pencil holder and fill it with personal sizes of handy beauty products. For instance, Pacquin extra dry skin cream in jar or tube is helpful to have at the office and is pin-money priced. Another welcome tuck-in is a crystal cream cuticle remover for professional manicures and pedicures.

FOR TEACHER. Design an attractive winter bouquet in a desk vase or pottery apple, using greens, candy canes and a luxurious bath oil and lotion. Sweetly scented, the bath oil smooths skin, prevents mid-winter dryness. Its companion, is a hand and body lotion.

FOR A GIRL ON THE GO. Travelers are always pleased with "unbreakables" that pack with ease. Fill a gay cosmetic case or doll's miniature suitcase with Pacquin toiletries packaged in leakproof plastic tubes. Extra dry skin cream for hand, leg, and elbow care travels beautifully in Christmas parcels, too.

See what we mean? Imagination and good taste can make your "little gifts" appreciated for many months to come!

Magic Wizardry In Santa's Bag

Would you believe Bond, Batman, Plazer and Gators for Christmas?

Yes, transistorized laser beams, air and land races, animal cut-ups and magic wizardry come in Santa's pack this year.

According to the manufacturer, the new toys range in appeal for boys and girls in the pre-school through teen-age levels. Highlights include: five new James Bond 007 toys being added to the Bond Shooting Attache Case, so popular last year . . . Batman bop bag . . . Race Trap, an action-packed game offering a new fun-approach to skills and reflexes . . . Mr. Gator, who "snaps out" of paper a variety of familiar shapes which kids can use to create delightful designs.

LEE C. RANKIN, Boyd, 41-year-old Floridian, is the first United States Secretary of Transportation. As such, he becomes the 12th member of the presidential cabinet.

Small Fry, With Help, Can Make Yule Presents

From the time they make their first mud pie and present it lovingly to mommy, youngsters delight in making gifts for members of their family. Christmas is the ideal time to encourage this young creativity. Here are some ideas that the whole family can enjoy making from their elders, will love to make, and that the family will love to receive.

The gifts are based on soft, colorful socks made with a carefree acrylic fiber—fashion right knee socks for young ladies of all ages, and comfortable, good-looking sport and dress socks for men and boys. Another present is included in all these gift ideas. For example, the gift of a magazine subscription joins forces with a pair of brown men's socks to become a delightful little dachshund.

A rolled-up copy of the magazine is the body of the dog. One sock is rolled inside the magazine, and the other covers it. The head, ears and tail are cut from felt and basted or taped on; features are done with buttons or embroidery.

A little elephant is made from a pair of men's grey sport socks and a gift tin of tobacco, candy, or nuts. To make him, insert a pipe cleaner into the foot of one sock and roll the sock, starting from the toe, for about five inches. Then, bind with matching thread to form the elephant's trunk. Stuff the remainder of the foot with the candy, nuts or tobacco. Using the remaining sock, cut cones to make the elephant's head. Stick on button eyes and grey felt cut in the shape of ears. Slip the foot of the sock over the tobacco can, and tape the cuff to the underside of the can.

For the distaff side of the household is a delightful Santa made of red knee socks. He bring's season's greetings in the form of a can of hair spray. One of the socks covers the other as well as the can; the toe part becomes Santa's stocking cap. Features and hatband are cut from felt, and Santa is completed with a yarn tassel.

These gifts have all the makings of the most successful Christmas presents: wonderfully wearable socks of Orealan acrylic fiber, the extra surprise gift tucked inside, and the pleasure a youngster derives from putting his time and effort into the Christmas gift for someone he loves.

Jewelry Cherished As Treasures

Sad-faced Santas who are lost in a winter worryland of gift-giving bewilderment are advised by the Jewelry Industry Council to see the spectacular selection of unusual gifts at the jeweler's. Young or old, no one can resist the sense of sentimental sophisticated-special thoughtfulness which is part of a gift of jewelry. Your presents of jewerly will be cherished as personal treasures long after Christmas is but a shining memory.

As sure to be received with pride as it is proudly given is personal jewelry. Fashionably feminine, masterfully masculine, terrifically teenage or enchantingly child-like — a cornucopia of jewelry for the individual awaits your selection of just the right presents to delight each person.

For any finger in your circle, a ring is a precious present of love and prestige. Monogramming is universally popular, and you can please all tastes with identification bracelets or initialed cufflinks, charms and pendants, to suggest just a few. You can adorn a fair lady of age with beloved gifts of earrings, necklaces, bracelets and pins. And you'll add shine to your knight's armor with tie tacs, tie bars, cufflinks and belt buckles.

A fine, distinctively designed watch is perennial in appeal to people of all ages. This year the variety of watch and watchband styles is especially attractively making it easy for you to put the right watch on the right wrist. For minutes, hours, days and years to come, a watch will remind its recipient of your thoughtfulness with its decorative utility.

Personal accessories for pocket or desk make merry smiles a certainty on Christmas morning. You can choose from such gladgifts as pen and pencil sets, money clips, key chains and cases, wallets, writing cases, make-up cases, cigarette cases and lighters. With such a gala assortment, you can't fail to find a welcome present for even the most difficult to please person —and you can personalize such gifts with monograms.

Everyone's holiday will be enhanced by the cherished feeling that accompanies a gift of silver. You can give gleaming silver trays in such merry modes as baby rattles, picture frames, scissors, dresser sets, brushes and even thimbles.

Gifts for the home are an enchanting way to make the whole household happy this Christmas. You'll please with beautiful practicality if you give vases, coasters, ash trays, bowls and trays of silver holloware. A gracious gift for your favorite hostess is sterling silver flatware. And a present of fine crystal or china will keep the season's spirit sparkling for a long, long time to come.

Smart Santas like you will find that no gift says how much you care as beautifully as the lasting, loving and loved gift of jewerly.

Melodic Touch To Yule Gifts

For those of you who like to add a melodic touch to the Yule holidays, try gift wrapping to the tune of Christmas. In fact, Christmas gift packages, you can "compose" right from the pages of a holiday songbook.

Your whole family—even Dad, will want to join in the fun of holiday wrapping when you create gift packages around a special theme chosen for the whole family.

For the theme of Christmas melodies, try making a frosty Christmas tree package with the musical background of "O Christmas Tree" ("O Tannenbaum"). The icy fir needles are made of gift ribbon that's been slit and crisscrossed, then placed in descending layers on the package.

An angel fashioned of gift papers and ribbons was inspired by the favorite carol, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing."

By DOTTIE AUSTIN

If present trends, advertisements and layaways are any indication, this year's Christmas scene should be one of the most glittering and colorful in history.

Seminole County homes, always colorful enough with the gay reds and greens of the Yule season will be even more colorful as hundreds of families flip the switch on their new color television sets.

According to all estimates the glamour of color television has cast its alluring glow over many Christmas shoppers resulting in a "family type gift" that will be enjoyed by young and old (as well as many of the neighbors, no doubt.)

Women's clothing, especially for evening or "dress up" occasions is shown in every kind of fabric that glitters, glows, shines and sparkles.

Jewel encrusted sweaters and gowns, even purses and gloves are very popular gifts for wives and sweethearts. Shop windows gleam with dresses, suits, even pants and slack suits in gold and silver material or fabric interlaced with gold and silver threads. Lush, plush, rich velvets are also very popular and robes and hostess gowns sweep the floor this year.

Women's fashions are widely known, will do way for ultra-sheer "see-through" lingerie to high-necked, long-sleeved, floor-length creations that hide everything but the face and hands.

One of the most popular outfits for teenage girls and young women is the British-styled pants and coat suits, many with matching caps and even hand bags to match.

Boots are "in" for everyone—both male and female—and especially for teenagers. In many cases, not just "a pair" of boots, but a whole wardrobe in various fabrics, heights and heels.

Leather, both imitation and real furs, such as tigers and leopard and zebra are seen in coats, handbags, shoes, suits, coats and even nightgowns.

Perfumed cosmetics for men are more than ever in demand, with new brands and exotically brutal names appearing every day.

The British influence is widely seen and felt and one of the newest trends is wildly colored "African prints."

Transistorized music machines, such as record players, radios, television sets, can be taken anywhere and tape playing stereo machines for automobiles are popular gifts with men and teenage boys.

Guitars, organs, drums and all the accompanying instrumental of the "rock" sound are in demand by youngsters from the early teens and up while war games, guns, tanks, flame throwers, space gear and equipment are popular with the preteens and sandbox set.

Huge, larger than life sized dolls that walk and talk will be hard for Santa to stuff in his sleigh, along with the doll and child sized furniture, cooking sets, toys dishes and musical rocking chairs so dear to the hearts of little girls.

Another popular gift for women involves wigs—of all kinds, including fall wigs, switches, long, long "falls" of synthetic hair that cascades to the waist or hips of "in" teenage girls.

Everyone wants a wig—for what women has not found herself with a last minute invitation and her "hair in a mess!"

Ordinary, classic styled watches are "old hat" and the newest thing is a "wardrobe" of several inexpensive watches with high-styled straps in many colors and fabrics.

With the economy of the country at its highest peak, Christmas Club Savings reportedly highest in history and "buy now no payments until February" advertised everywhere, it looks like Santa may have to hitch up a few pack mules to jog along behind his sleigh.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

HAPPY THANKSGIVING! May I share with you my favorite "blessing" to be offered before mealtime? I think it is especially appropriate before the Thanksgiving meal:

O, heavenly, Father,
We thank Thee for food and remember the hungry,
We thank Thee for health
and remember the sick,
We thank Thee for friends and remember the friendless.
We thank Thee for freedom and remember the enslaved.
Mry these remembrances still us to service
That Thy gifts to us may be used for others,
Amen.

Faithfully,
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am looking for a beautiful, rich, nice sincere single woman between 25 and 45 who would like to settle down with a plain, honest, not-too-bad-looking man 32 years of age. (That's ME!) She could be a widow, divorcee, or bachelor girl. I have been married and divorced once. No children, but I like them. I also like pets. I am an auctioneer by trade, and if I say so myself, I am good. I am a high school graduate and have nothing against Democrats altho I am a registered Republican. I would even consider a movie star. (I mention this because when a pal of mine was in service, he got very chummy with one on a USO tour, and she said they were the loneliest women in the world.) How are my chances?

SLIM

DEAR SLIM: Slim!

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been with the same company almost 17 years. Joe loves his work, and it has been good to us, but we have had to move six times and I am sick of it. I admit Joe has been promoted with each move, but, as I see it, there is more to life than money and advancement. I want roots! My husband can't see it that way.

The company wants us to move again. This time with more money and an executive title in the sales organization. I say that unless the company can positively guarantee us that this will be our last move, we should stay where we are. Am I wrong?

WANTS ROOTS

DEAR BOOTS: When a man's moving up and ahead in his work, root for him. And when age finally roots both of you, be satisfied.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DOTTY: Tell your husband that you want a clothes dryer for Christmas. Clotheslines are for the birds.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Jacoby On Bridge

Jacoby and Son

Here is another hand from Fred Karpin's book, "Psychological Strategy in Bridge," which shows the preemptive jump overcall at work successfully.

West takes advantage of his nonvulnerable status and bids three clubs over South's spade opening.

North's hand isn't really worth a three spade call but he is to strong to pass and does bid three spades.

When this hand was actually played Al Roth, one of the greatest players of all time, was East. He protected his partner's weak jump overcall by a jump of his own. He bid five clubs. He didn't expect that Edith Kemp who sat West would make five clubs but he hoped to get his opponents to three spades and saw no reason to give up a vulnerable game to set nonvulnerable opponents.

Roth could have added insult to injury by bidding five spades but Roth was not going to fall into a possible trap. The game was match point duplicate and Roth expected a very good score for plus 100. He did not want to risk a bad score in the event that South would turn out to be void of clubs.

This illustrates an important principle of duplicate bidding. When you know the hand belongs to your opponents and you push them up one higher than normal there is no reason to make a close double. If you set them undoubled you get a good score.

Polly's Pointers

By Polly Cramer

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY—I would like to bake my Christmas cookies early but do not know how to store them so they will keep for Christmas. I have never done this before and am stumped, so I would appreciate some Pointers.—CONNIE

DEAR CONNIE—Why don't you use a large tin can with a tight-fitting lid? A potato chip can would be fine for a large quantity and waxed paper could be used between the layers. Some of my "baking" friends freeze theirs, but do be careful that you make a type that freezes well. A previous Pointer for putting an aluminum tea ball with damp cotton inside (cotton must be kept damp) is the best thing I have ever tried for keeping soft cookies that should stay that way. This also worked well with mincemeat cake that might grow hard.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—The following list was posted on our bulletin board for Thanksgiving week: "1—Entertain baby while I stuff the turkey—10 cents. 2—See that wastebaskets are emptied for the week—10 cents. 3—Be my errand girl on Thursday while I make Thanksgiving dinner—20 cents. 4—Help me with the dishes Monday, Wednesday and Friday—10 cents. 5—Help me with the dishes Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday—10 cents. 6—Pick up the baby's toys at bedtime—10 cents. Please initial only three items; place a check mark when work is finished and I will pay off on Sunday morning."

We have four children, 10, 8, 5 and 1-year-old. I will change this list each week until Christmas. This not only helps me with my work but enables the children to start a Christmas fund for themselves. I gave each one an empty baby food jar and in these they will save the money made to use for gifts they wish to buy for the family. Since the two older girls are in school and their leisure is limited they are happy to help. This list is really for them.

The children are wonderful helpers throughout the year and do have regular jobs, such as making their beds and keeping their rooms picked up but they are not paid for these. As there are so many extra things to be done during the holiday season, we are all much happier working together for these big days. If I win a dollar it will pay some of the dinner for the Christmas funds.—JEAN

Beauty after Forty

by Edyth Thornton McLeod

The older woman, the after-40 women, are needed today as never before. I am always on the lookout for fields and careers on which my after-40 women can embark.

A friend of mine, a remarkable after-40 career woman, talked to me recently about her work in the Division of Health and Hospitals of Catholic Charities. Diocese of Brooklyn, N. Y.

She told me that in talking with Sister Thomas Francis, Administrator of the famous St. John's Queens Hospital in Elmhurst, L. I., she found that there are many opportunities for nurses' aides, both in the hospital and for the care of those at home who are in need of help. Today, even the after-40 woman can fill these jobs; so many of them have had long experience in the home, raising children, attending to their many needs and watching over them in illness. Now, perhaps with the family married off and away, in retirement or just hoping for something to do, the after-40 woman can serve.

As the crisis for nurses becomes more and more widespread with the advent of Medicare and Medicaid, the call has gone out for older women who can serve in many capacities in the hospital and in the home. Also, there can be financial reward for those who have need of it, particularly women who are living on small budgets. And serving and helping those in need has great spritual compensations. It gives meaning to life, and since many of my readers write that they are lonely, I recommend the findings of Sister Thomas Francis, who suggests nursing as a career. She knows whereof she speaks.

She told my friend that there is a growing need for licensed practical nurses and she mentioned that the age limit for this type of nursing is 50. If a career of practical nursing interests you and you have the background for it, visit your local hospital or talk to your personal physician about it.

The St. John's Queens is one of the five hospitals in the $66 million Catholic Medical Center of Brooklyn and Queens which is planned as an outstanding model of its kind for the rest of the country. It is sponsored by Catholic Charities of Brooklyn. The Sister and my career-after-40 friend are deep in the heart of this great project. The need is not only there, however, but throughout the country. You can help in your own community, as many similar hospital projects are being created.

Tom Turkey Is A Walrus In Alaska

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Only in Alaska could a turkey become a walrus.

That happens today when Turkey Tom, all 28 gobbling pounds of him, is inducted into the Order of the Alaska Walrus.

It started when some soldiers at Ft. Wainwright discovered there wasn't a live turkey north of the Alaska mountain range. They had one flown in by jet Tuesday night and it was greeted by the mayor and all sorts of dignitaries.

Tom eventually will become a resident of a zoo at next summer's centennial site here.

The turkey's escort on his round of festivities is Pfc. Noel Bird.

"QUICK ONE"

When a tavern customer asked for a "quick one" in colonial times, he was served a Callogrus, which was cold rum mixed with beer.

Horoscope Forecast

FRIDAY, NOV. 25, 1966

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Fixed changes that are taking place require a very down-to-earth and practical approach if anything near the big potentials of material benefits are to be gained. Look into every item of expense and see where you can cut out what is no longer of use to you. Accounting fine.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Monetary matters that are also connected with those of your associates need some fast untangling, so get at it early in A.M. Show you have good practical sense and you get the admiration of financial expert.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Before going after certain aims, be sure you get the OK of associates who have very firm ideas, opinions. They steer you in the right direction. Impress others with that particular charm you have.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have to carry through with some brilliant plan you have thought about for some time if you are to change conditions for the better around you. Attend to that health problem right now. Save yourself big bills later.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you carry through with what pals and associates expect of you, as well as mate, your future can be brighter and happier. Steer clear of an argument two friends are having. Be neutral, stay friendly.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Real understanding between yourself and your associates and family can be established provided you state your aims, ideas, clearly. Be charming with those who are applying some pressure. Then all eases up.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Use those fine ideas that occur to you wisely right away or you lose out on present fine aspects. Get out to new sites with associates and make big headway. Combine efforts intelligently.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take inventory of your assets and then get together with experts and figure out a way to become more affluent. It is easy to cut down on expenses, also. Get rid of whatever is obsolete and replace with the new.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) An honest approach with all associates is best, whether these be of a personal or business nature. Be cooperative and they do what you like. Make practical arrangements if you really want to progress.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have practical system now to do your work better and keep surroundings more in order, plus having more harmonious relations with all about. Give an ear to the ideas of co-workers, partners, also.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Follow through on that idea to please one whom you admire very much. Don't waste any time. Evening can be most pleasant in the company of congenials who have a sense of humor, are cheerful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Instead of reaching a stalemate with kin over some issue, consider their side of the matter and you reach perfect understanding. Then you can go about your business in a satisfactory manner. Don't forget to pick up some small gift or other that pleases.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Stop procrastinating with those excellent plans you have in the business world, and put them into operation wisely. Call on key people and make satisfactory arrangements. Don't neglect good friends in the evening.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those unusual persons who, one moment, is down-to-earth and independent, and a snob the next. Very few people will ever quite get your progeny's number, as it were. A good education is necessary, and your child will get it, whether you can afford it or not. Whatever has to do with foreign governments, securities, etc., is fine here, and much success comes early. Give sports.

We The Women:

By Muriel Lawrence

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I've been much helped by what you once wrote about parents' inability to give perfect justice to children. Our two boys, aged 6 and 9, fight a lot and where their fighting used to make me very nervous, what you said has helped me ignore it. But last week the older boy threw a stone at his brother which cut his forehead. My husband thinks he should have been punished for this, though the younger boy had been pestering him by running away with some tools he was using . . .

Answer: My goodness, the fact that we can't hope to give perfect justice to children doesn't absolve us from delivering the imperfect kind.

It doesn't absolve us from the obligation to note, for example, that cutting a brother's forehead with a thrown stone is a more serious offense than running away with tools. One is assault on flesh-and-blood, the other assault on unfeeling property.

I agree with your husband that your older son merited punishment for his action. I think the younger one rated it, too.

So, to me, the appropriate discipline would have been to say, "For throwing a stone at Buddy you will remain in your room for three hours. And you, Buddy, will go to yours for an hour for taking what didn't belong to you."

It doesn't absolve us from God knows, this may be imperfect justice we are delivering to our fighting children. But at least it is law enforcement, which is all that we can expect of our selves.

But that IS required of us, perfectly or imperfectly just.

And parents who cannot condescend to enforce those laws which society has established to secure us against assault on our bodies and property are pretty fancy people. Instead of using the fact that we can't hope to make the perfect judgments between squabbling kids to ignore the kids law-breaking, they'd do well to recognize their fear of offending the kids.

Are you afraid of being accused of favoritism by your children?

10 a.m.-12 noon. NBC. Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade. (Color) The 40th annual marching of this traditional event is covered in all its glory by the faithful NBC cameras, who catch every nuance of change and drama, including the addition of two new balloons: Smokey the Bear (58 feet tall) and Superman (65 feet tall). Fifteen award-winning marching bands will move down the parade route, including a 32-member contingent from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who will perform their famed musical ride. The Radio City Music Hall will send a group of its rockettes, ballerinas and choral singers to perform exclusively for NBC in New York's Herald Square, in front of Macy's, with a 35-foot float with a revolving carousel on top. Lorne Greene and Betty White are hosts and commentators.

10 a.m.-12 noon. CBS. Thanksgiving Parade Jubilee. (Color) Three parades are featured on CBS's telecast: the R. H. Macy's Parade in New York, the J. L. Hudson Parade in Detroit, and Eaton's Santa Claus Parade in Toronto. Arthur Godfrey and Bess Myerson are co-hosts in New York; Mike Douglas and Marilyn van Derbur are hosts for the Detroit telecast, which will include some shots of Joseph Cotton with a donkey on a float; and Bob Denver and Jim Backus are co-hosts for the Canadian telecast which features 28 floats and 14 marching bands.

6 p.m. CBS. National Football League Game. (Color) Dallas Cowboys play the Cleveland Browns at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, with Frank Gifleber, Jack Buck and Pat Summerall reporting.

7:30-8:30 p.m. NBC. Special. Fantasy Hour: "The Ballad of Smokey the Bear." (Color) A distinctive, amusing animated musical that may well become a Thanksgiving tradition. The true story of the bear that became the symbol of the U. S. Forest Service's fire prevention campaign is expanded, set to music and brought to life by a company of superb figures — real, tactile figures—who are made to move by the "animagic" process. The music is by Johnny Marks, composer of "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer," and the children should find the songs hummable. The voice of big bear is charmingly portrayed by James Cagney, an exceedingly rare visitor to TV, who is himself a quiet but ardent conservationist. Don't let the kiddies miss this one.

7:30-8 p.m. ABC. Batman. "Marsha, Scheme of Diamonds." (Color) Desire is still in flame in this second episode. desire of diamonds and desire for Batman on the part of Marsha (guest willainess Carolyn Jones). Miss Jones is convincingly sexy and evil as the dark enchantress when she borrows a leaf from all-girl lore and turns her prince (Batman) into a toad—and Robin as well??

Trek. "The Menagerie." (Conclusion) (Color) By far the best story so far concludes tonight with Spock behaving in an increasingly un-Venutian manner. As the Enterprise continues to zone in on Talos IV, the forbidden planet, Spock's courtmartial for mutiny continues and he forces the court to watch a reenactment of Captain Pike's former [illegible]. It's a weird, strange show, with Jeff Hunter doing an excellent job as the radiated and now completely helpless Captain Pike, who functions like a Binary computer with yes and no electrical replies. The sequences of Jeff Hunter as Pike 13 years ago, looking like himself, are part of the original pilot for this series in which Hunter was to be the star, Susan Oliver plays Vina, and please be warned that some of the punishment scenes are a bit much for the kiddies to take.

9-11 p.m. CBS. The CBS Thursday Night Movies. "Jason and the Argonauts." (1963) (Color) If a surfeit of turkey has not yet put you to sleep, this little offering should either hold you fascinated or knock you out altogether. Todd Armstrong stars as Jason, the legitimate prince of Thessaly who sailed the Aegean in his ship the Argo, in pursuit of the Golden Fleece. The visual effects are not bad, such as a fairly outlandish Cyclops, but the acting is appalling. The cast includes Nancy Kovack, Gary Raymond and Laurence Naismith, with all too little of Niall MacGinnis as Zeus.

10-11 p.m. NBC. The Dean Martin Show. (Color) Dino's guests are Mike Fave, Phil Harris, Jan Murray and Eddie Albert, who brings along some real cows to give Dean a lesson in milking to music. Albert and Phil do two separate song-and-dance numbers, and Jan Murray talks about his acting experience. There's a lot of singing of all kinds, but do you believe Eddie Albert can really milk a cow?

Answers For Veterans

By HERB JOHNSON

Q. What kind of priority is used for admittance to VA hospitals? I have been waiting six months for a much needed operation. What gives? W. I. R.

A. Medical emergency cases come first. Next comes service connected cases, followed by non-service connected ailments. If bed is not available at the time you apply you are placed on a waiting list and admitted according to the above priority.

Q. How can I find out who is listed as my beneficiary on my NSLI (GI) insurance? I have had lots of changes since WWII and I can't remember just who was listed. B. C. N.

A. You can find out by writing the Veterans Administration Center, P.O. Box 7787, Phila., Pa. 19101. Be sure to include your policy number. However, the best method is to make out a new beneficiary form at the service office near you and send it in. That way you know who it is, and you will have it up to date. As soon as it is postmarked it is effective in case something should happen to you.

Q. How can I qualify for non-service connected pension? N. S. M.

A. Have 90 days of wartime service and be permanently and totally disabled. If age 65 or over, you would only have to have a disability of 10 per cent to qualify, plus the service requirements above.

Q. I applied for pension several years ago. At that time I was told my income was too high to qualify. Since my income is now reduced can I apply again? T. R. B.

A. You do not need to go through the whole bit again. All that is needed is an income statement from you and ask to be reconsidered for pension.

Q. I have adopted two minor children that are the natural children of a deceased veteran. Someone told me that even though I adopted these children they would still be entitled to benefits from VA. Is this true? P. O. P.

A. Yes.

Please address questions to County Service Officer, Room 105, Court House, Sanford, Florida 32771.

Gospel Sing Slated Friday

Post - Thanksgiving treat scheduled for Seminole County and area residents is the annual Sanford firemen's benefit All Night Gospel Sing Friday at the Civic Center.

Although billed as an "all-night" sing the show actually runs from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Featured among the many quartettes which will join the sing are Les Beasley and the Florida Boys from Pensacola and the Palmetto State Quartette from Greenville, S. C.

Fire Chief George M. Harriett said today "the all-night gospel sing is good entertainment for the entire family."

"This is our one annual fund-raising benefit and we invite all who like good singing to join us," the Chief concluded.

Children's Pet Club Organized

"A full house" for the first meeting of the children's pet club, 'Our Dumb Friends League'," was reported today by Mrs. Edna Burns, originator of the organization.

Mrs. Burns welcomed the children to her home at 207 Cellon Drive, Sunland and one child, Steven Martin, was chosen to light a candle to mark the opening of the club.

Object of the club and a talk on pets and their needs was given by Mrs. Burns. A drawing and painting competition was arranged and plans are being made for a visit to the Seminole County Humane Society animal shelter on Hwy. 17-92 and a trip to the Sanford zoo.

Next meeting is set for Nov. 28 at 6 p.m.

Amelia Bloomer's publication, the Lily, started in 1849, was the first to be published by and for women.

AROUND THE CLOCK

BY LARRY VERSHEL

We better write an obituary for Seminole Community Action . . . No money from the federal government . . . No more funds to operate after next week . . . No money for the rent and administrative salaries . . . Instead of all those calls to Atlanta maybe they better call Lyndon.

A man lay in agony early this morning on Summerlin Ave. after a car accident . . . Two broken legs . . . Williams Ambulance called at 5:21 . . . called at 5:23 . . . called at 5:28 . . . called at 5:29 . . . no ambulance . . . Law Enforcement officers finally got Gramkow and he was there in a matter of minutes.

Maybe the county should get into the ambulance business?

It's too bad there was no flag to honor at the Seminole game Wednesday night.

Absentee ballots for the Dec. 6 city election now available.

What's the sense of having a county Planning and Zoning Board if the County Commission overrides their votes on important issues . . . Take the recent case where planners unanimously turned down request to rezone property on SR 436 and Pearl Ave. for commercial . . . Planners quoted zoning scriptures but, County still still said okay . . . Maybe we should throw away the zoning regulations?

DIRKSEN . . . HUMPHREY . . . MANSFIELD

The two top Democratic and Republican leaders and the vice president of the United States gathered at the Sanford Naval Air Station this morning.

Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Sen. Mike Mansfield (D. Montana) arrived in the vice president's plane, Air Force II, to pick up Sen. Everett Dirksen, (R. Illinois) senate minority leader.

The three were on their way to The Little White House in Johnson City, Tex., reportedly to talk with President Lyndon B. Johnson concerning budget matters.

Sen. Kirksen, walking with crutches since his hip injury, has been spending a few days at his DeBary home. He was accompanied to the NAS airstrip by Mrs. Dirksen who did not plan to go to Texas.

However, Mrs. Humphrey and Mrs. Mansfield were aboard the plane with their husbands and will visit with Mrs. Johnson in Texas. The three ladies chatted together as they waited for Vice President Humphrey to place a long distance call.

Both Humphrey and Mansfield said this was their first visit to Sanford, but "this is beautiful country down here."

Sen. Dirksen declared he was going to get them both "back down for some fishing." Dirksen said he hoped to get back to DeBary around Dec. 12 to stay until the first of the year.

Aftermath Of An Election

State Demos In 'Debt'...GOP $$$ Good

The local Republican campaign committee for Gov.-elect Claude Kirk are boasting of "the best financed campaign in Republican history in the county."

Sources say a surplus in funds was contributed, but exact total will not be available until A. Edwin Shinholser, finance man for the campaign, returns to the area early next week.

The finance picture, however, is not quite as good with the local Robert King High Democratic committee, where officials say the "total amount in the red will not be known until bills arrive the first of December."

Sources say the deficit will be between $10 and $30.

Kirk carried the county by nearly 2 to 1.

MIAMI (AP)—Miami Mayor Robert King High says his unsuccessful quest of the governor's office has left the Florida Democratic party $35,000 in debt.

"The bills are still coming in. I am responsible," the Miami Herald quoted him as saying today.

The shock of defeat past, the personable redhaired Miamian can now talk of his campaign and the night he learned he had lost.

High made an emotion-charged concession speech and later took his family to a retreat in the North Carolina mountains.

Driving northward two days after the election he said he met a woman in Jacksonville who said:

"I didn't vote for you. I voted for Claude Kirk. But I heard your concession speech and I think I made a mistake."

High said he felt the concession speech was the first time he really was able to get his message across to the people of Florida of his feelings for the state.

He also said he felt the deck would have been stacked against any Democratic opponent, but said he doesn't think the defeat marked the end of his political career.

Meanwhile, he said the party's debts could be more than $35,000 when all the bills are in.

"I hope it isn't as high as $35,000. . . . If that's what it is. . . . It will be raised. It's my responsibility."

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, expressing alarm over recent Republican gains, has called for a summit meeting of Democratic party chairmen from throughout the nation.

Chairman Pat Thomas called for the session in a letter, made public today, to John M. Bailey, chairman of the National Democratic Committee.

Thomas said that one of the main topics of such a meeting would include "an evaluation by the entire group of political attitudes of the voters in each state."

Thomas said that Republicans made what he termed sweeping gains in some areas and "simply rode into office in the backwash of the voter rebellion against the incumbent party."

A Republican candidate, Claude Kirk, was elected governor in Florida, and 36 GOP nominees were elected to the Florida Legislature—a record number.

Thanksgiving 'Slaughter' At 200

An elderly man, Garfield Harris, was admitted to Seminole Memorial Hospital this morning with compound fractures of both legs after being struck by a car driven by William Pickren of Geneva.

Harris's condition is listed as serious.

The accident occurred on SR 46 at 4:45 a.m. when Harris was walking east on the paved portion of the highway and was struck and knocked 80 feet by the Pickren vehicle.

Harris has been charged with improper walking on the highway by F.H.P. Trooper Jerry Hawthorne, who investigated the accident.

Dragging of Lake Jesup began at dawn today for the body of Ulysses Nelson, 46, of Orlando, who drowned in a boating accident Thursday.

A companion, Willie Lee Clark, also of Orlando, swam about a mile to shore. Authorities said the pair fell out of the boat.

Florida accidents claimed at least 11 persons, including four members of a Miami family during the Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

The three-car Miami wreck also left two members of the family in critical condition. Killed were Arthur La Hay, 38, his two children, 6-months-old Allen and 8-year-old Kevin, and the dead man's brother, Willard La Hay, 52, all of Miami. Critically injured were Arthur La Hay's wife, 33-year-old Joan, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Lena Frederick, 78, of Jacksonville.

The nation's death toll in traffic accidents edged toward the 200 mark today in the early part of the extended Thanksgiving weekend. But the total appeared near the normal figure for a non holiday weekend.

The count of highway fatalities, which started at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday, was 194, including 38 youths under the age of 18.

The tabulation ends at midnight Sunday, covering a period of 102 hours.

During a recent noon holiday four-day period, an Associated Press survey, made for comparative purposes, showed a total of 546 traffic deaths.

However, the National Safety Council did not make an advance estimate of highway deaths for the long weekend.

The council said it considers the Thanksgiving period as basically a home holiday which does not involve as much driving as other major holidays.

Traffic deaths hit a record high of 615 during the Thanksgiving weekend last year. Since the AP started tabulating highway deaths for the holiday eight years ago the lowest total was 442 in 1960.

Deaths in traffic accidents in the first nine months this year totaled 38,100, a 10 per cent increase over the corresponding period in 1965. The National Safety Council has said that last year's record toll of 49,000 deaths may be surpassed this year.

Promise 'Fair' Skies For End Of Fair

Weatherman has promised fair skies and pleasant weather for the last two days of the Seminole County Fair which ends Saturday night.

Director Joel Field said today the was the "largest we have ever had."

"There were well over 5,000 persons started coming at noon to enjoy the Legion Auxiliary's turkey dinner and so many stayed over we got the midway opened up about 1 p.m. instead of at 4 p.m. as usual," Field said.

More than $600 in prizes will be distributed to ribbon winners in the exhibit section. Exhibitors may begin picking up their exhibits after 10 p.m. Saturday and afternoon on Sunday, Field said.

Winner of the Kiwanis 4-H trophy was the Junior Leaders group which presented an outstanding exhibit on the "horrors of accidental poisoning."
