

BONUS BILL COMES UP THURSDAY IN HOUSE FAILED IN SUSPENSION

G. O. P. Leaders Were Balked on Rules by Speaker Gillett PUT THROUGH NOW

IS SLOGAN OF LEADERS BUT PRESIDENT HARDING WILL HAVE NOTHING TO DO WITH IT.

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 21.—The bonus bill will be taken up by the house Thursday under suspension of the rules under a plan agreed upon today at a conference between Speaker Gillett and Chairman Campbell of the rules committee. The speaker agreed to entertain the motion to suspend the rules. Campbell said he would call a meeting of his committee tomorrow morning at which he will ask committee members to report rule designating Thursday as suspension day with proviso for four hours debate on bill shall be provided.

Under this provision two-thirds majority would be necessary to pass the bill. No amendments would be permitted nor would it be possible to make a motion to recommit measure to ways and means committee.

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 21.—Speaker Gillett is expected to give a final decision today whether he would entertain a motion to bring up the bonus bill in the House this week under suspension of rules.

Republican leaders still intend to handle it that way if possible in order to shut off a motion to recommit the bill as well as all amendments.

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 21.—Balked in their desire to get the measure up yesterday under a suspension of the rules, republican house leaders in charge of the compromise soldiers' bonus bill, still were determined last night to put the measure through this week. Their expressed intention was to call it up Thursday, under a suspension of the rules, if possible; otherwise under a special rule which probably would shut out amendments.

Before the house met yesterday, the whole situation was laid before the President at the White House by a committee of house leaders, but the executive declined to make any recommendation.

Speaker Gillett made known to those in charge of the bonus legislation his decision not to entertain a motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill.

This necessitated further conferences among the leaders, who refused to abandon their plan to call up the bill with the rules suspended so as to cut off a motion to recommit the bill as well as all amendments. The whole question of procedure was discussed at a conference after the House had adjourned after a fifty minutes' session. Present at this conference were members of the ways and means committee and the party steering committee, as well as other leaders.

No final decision on procedure was reached, but there was at least a tacit agreement that the bill would come up Thursday.

Representative Mondell issued this statement when the conference broke up:

"Tomorrow we shall reach a decision, possibly by noon, as to when and how the measure will be brought up for consideration. There will be no party conference."

Speaker Gillett said "things are unsettled as they were," adding that he had not stated that he would recognize any one to present a special rule to take the bill up under a suspension of the rules.

"The only thing certain is that the bill will come up Thursday," he said.

SIMULTANEOUS EFFORT THROUGHOUT THE SOUTH BY THE METHODISTS

NASHVILLE, Tenn., (Special).—March 21.—A simultaneous effort throughout Southern Methodist territory, on March 20, to be known as "World Sunday," will, it is said, fall the attention of delinquent subscribers to the Centenary of Missions movement of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to a shortage in collections on behalf of that movement.

It is expected that on "World Sunday" pastors of the 18,000 church congregations in Southern Methodism will revive the Centenary theme and portray the disastrous results to the big missionary program, launched three years ago if the deficit is not made good. Cash payments on overdue Centenary subscriptions will be solicited on "World Sunday" and during the following week a church-wide canvass will be made to secure the payment of arrearages.

The original drive for the Centenary fund taken three years ago was for $35,000,000, to be paid through a period of five years. It is announced that only forty per cent of the amount due has been paid to date, whereas sixty per cent is now due. It is to meet this shortage that Methodists throughout the South are seeking to arouse the mind of the church along Centenary lines.

State Prohibition Officers Will Be Taken to the East Coast

VIGOROUS CAMP'GN WILL BE WAGED AGAINST BOOTLEGGERS AND THEIR FRIENDS ALL OVER STATE

(By The Associated Press) MIAMI, March 21.—Wide open conditions in Miami and vicinity far as enforcement of prohibition is concerned will result in shifting of the state enforcement officers according headquarters of Colonel Nutt. Just who will be involved in the shifts was not revealed, but data compiled for forwarding at Tampa where Allen, state enforcement commissioner for Florida, who will be expected to make the suggested changes.

MIAMI, March 21.—Forty special government agents, eight flying squadrons of five men acting under the personal direction of Colonel L. G. Nutt, head of the narcotic division of the internal revenue department, launched yesterday a nation-wide liquor clean-up, with Miami as the starting point. The raiders worked fast covering territory of twenty square miles and at night fall had seized liquor in twenty-five places and expected to visit a score more before they quit for the day.

About twenty arrests were made during the day. The prisoners were hauled before United States Commissioner, J. M. Graham, who fixed bond for their hearings, generally at $200.

The raids were the culmination of a sweeping ten days investigation during which time a mass of evidence was compiled by the forty investigators. Colonel Nutt declared last night that sensational revelations would be made later, involving prominent bankers, whom he charged with financing the bootleg industry here on a wide scale.

Colonel Nutt yesterday made a 700 word report on his activities here to Federal prohibition Commissioner Haynes at Washington. He declared that the openness with which transactions in liquor were carried on here had startled him. His agents were directed to bootleggers with the same frankness that a policeman would direct a stranger and had purchased liquor in various places even winning it off on punchboards. In instances he said, bootleggers gave banker as reference. "In two cases," he declared, "after negotiations were closed leading bankers held the purchase price in trust and signed contracts to that effect."

Touching on smuggling operations he declared that it was minor matter for the many boats operating off the coast to bring in liquor from the Bahamas or to meet schooners off the keys and to make purchases. Bootleggers brazenly delivered it to any place desired, once it reached Miami, and even loading it into freight cars and concealingly buying vegetables to camouflage it with.

SUGAR KING STATES PRICE OF SUGAR IS GOING TO DROP AGAIN

NEW YORK, March 21.—C. A. Sprockels, president of the Federal Sugar Refining Company, who has just returned from Europe, last night predicted an early drop in sugar prices.

The recent price advance in raw sugar he said, stimulated further sugar production in Europe with the result that prices in America will decrease with falling off of the European demand.

"I look at the recent advance as a 'flash in the pan,'" said Mr. Sprockels. All the European countries will be self supporting as regards sugar within a few months and the demand for export sugar from the western hemisphere will decrease."

TALLAHASSEE, March 21.—The state Pardon Board acted favorably on eighteen applications for clemency submitted to it at a meeting recently. One hundred and three applications were considered altogether.

EXPLOSION OF BIG GAS TANK NEAR MEMPHIS

(By The Associated Press) MEMPHIS, March 20.—Hollywood, a Memphis suburb, was rocked late Saturday by the explosion of two tanks of gasoline at the plant of a Royal Refining Company. A number of employees are reported to have sustained minor injuries or burns, but no fatalities occurred, as almost all the employees of the plant had left the grounds before the explosion occurred.

The principal explosion occurred when the fire reached a 32,000-gallon gasoline tank which had been partially emptied, and which company officials say did not contain more than 10,000 gallons. It let go with a roar which could be heard several miles. The big tank collapsed a few moments later. The blaznign oil spread in all directions, but only a few sheds and small buildings were destroyed, the main part of the plant being saved.

OBENCHAIN JURY DISAGREED LAST NIGHT NEW TRIAL IS SET

(By The Associated Press) LOS ANGELES, March 20.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Madelynn Obenchain, charged with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, reported to Judge Sidney N. Reeve, at 7:49 o'clock last night that it was unable to reach an agreement, and was discharged.

Most of the jurors after they were discharged were reluctant to talk with newspapermen. One threw a reporter out of the way when he sought information as to whether the majority favored acquittal or conviction.

"I guess I've got some rights as a citizen," the juror shouted.

Another juror said that nine favored conviction, and that the division had been on that basis from the first ballot.

The jurors were hopelessly divided according to their reports to Judge Reeve.

Each was asked separately whether there was a chance of agreement. Each replied there was "none."

The foreman stated that the Judge the division was nine to three, but as the law requires, did not say whether the majority favored conviction or acquittal.

Judge Reeve reset the case for next Tuesday, March 21, when he said he would set the day for the new trial.

Mrs. Obenchain was in the court when the jury reported. She looked pale and worried.

The foreman in a statement to Judge Reeve, confirmed that the decision had been nine to three from the beginning.

The "Watch on the Rhine" is over for the United States.

Some of the boys will hate to leave their favorite Gorman brewery and the wine of the Rhineland.

Georgia is having her troubles with fire and flood this winter. It seems like something has gone awry in the good old state just north of us and the wrath of God is directed against them.

The young son of Dodge, the automobile manufacturer, is going the pace that kills in Detroit and is in jail one minute and receiving a legacy of one and one-half millions the next. Much money has spoiled many a "mamma's darling."

"Crooks Can't Be Traced by Their Income Taxes," says a headline in the papers probably means that there is no way to make crooks pay their income tax. Just another instance of where the wicked fleeth and the poor and honest man pays the bills. It almost makes a man feel like being crooked and get the money.

The people of Alabama will organize to assist Henry Ford to obtain Muscle Shoals. Those folks who live in Alabama and know the situation want Henry Ford and we will back their judgment. Therefore our determination is stronger than ever to see that Henry gets the falls—Muscle Shoals, we mean. Whenever "big business" wants anything in this country it is suspicious on the face of it. The only exception to the rule is Henry Ford and he does not know anything about corporation methods. We are for Henry, first, last and all the time.

The prohibition raiders in Miami say the bankers are aiding the bootleggers down there. This is rather a broad and open question. If a man wants to deposit money in a bank we doubt if the banker asks him where he made his money or how he received it. The bootleggers could use the banks without the banks being any part of the bootleggers league. We have no doubt but what there is money in every bank in the state that was made from selling whiskey but how are you going to detect it and how can a bank stop a man from depositing money in the bank? Is there any law that says a man must get his bank deposit money honestly or that it must not be bootleg or any other stipulation?

Whatever other states are suffering from business depression the last issue of the Florida Developer would not indicate that Florida would have any chance of entering that class. Every part of the state reports progress. A company capitalized at half a million is going to enter the silk industry at St. Augustine; the potato crop of Hastings will bring millions into the state; Fort Myers will build an eight-story hotel; Broward county carries a bond issue for two-thirds of a million for building roads by ten to one; an English colony is developing Everglades land; Winter Haven has organized a company for handling its fruit by the Brogdex method; a creamery will be established at Palm Beach; a big real estate deal of six hundred thousand acres has been made in Leo county; Jacksonville will stage a state pageant; for the first time in four years the shell fish commission fund has had a surplus that has been paid to the general revenue fund; crop conditions over the whole state are good and much building is being done; and an agricultural engineer from California declares that Florida has greater natural advantages than his own state. Boosting is the spirit of the Florida newspapers.

If the Ku Klux Klan follows out the teachings of the order as laid down by the national lecturer here the other night they will never go wrong. There is much work for them to do here and everywhere and their work is finding out who is selling booze, who is running the gambling halls, who is disobeying the law in the high places as well as the low and see that the officers do their duty. There is much for them to do right here in Sanford and we opine that they will do it.

Hanford MacNider, head of the American Legion, voiced our sentiments regarding the bonus bill when he said the ex-service men did not want pensions. Again we reiterate that the ex-service men would be pleased if the government would arrange with the banks to let them have a loan on which they could start business. To our mind every ex-service man in the United States is entitled to a loan of $500 at the bank and that is small enough and that loan should be backed by the government. The service man nine times out of ten will be able to make the money back and pay off the loan and the soldier boy will be helped and the government will not be hurt. However, you can watch the press and see who is against the bonus bill and why?

There is always a reason for people going out of town to trade and the merchants of any town won't have a difficult time in finding out the reason. Read what the town in Kansas did toward keeping the money at home. The article is published on this page today and was taken from the Reporter-Star. It means something. There is no use of beating about the bush on this and other questions. Either we have the goods or we have not. Either we are going to have a big city here or we will have a country village and if there is anyone here holding back the town let them be shown up. A large per cent of the money made here leaves here for outside investments, for goods and for everything. Look into it, you Chamber of Commerce, Women's Club and every other club in the city.

A Missouri Editor has suggested a new way to pay the bonus—he gets the idea from the recent action of the senate in voting Henry Ford's seat to Newberry. He says it should be easy; if a seat in the senate is worth $200,000, why not sell them all to the highest bidders and use the money to pay the soldiers? And then there is the supreme court—the big predatory interests should be willing to pay a million dollars a-piece for five or six of the jobs, and a few millions for the presidency—last time it cost the republican party almost nine millions to pick that plum. And then there is the control of the house—the tariff beneficiaries and the fellows who have to pay the big surtaxes might use a lot of the jobs at $100,000 each. Even Horrick's seat might get a bid.

PROPERLY PLACING THE BURDEN.

A recent decision of the Alabama supreme court says that a county is not obliged to fence in a stock-law district in order to prevent trespass by range cattle, but that "the burden of keeping such cattle off the closed range is upon the owners of cattle."

Something like that question recently arose on the Florida east coast in a county where local stock-laws were enacted by the last legislature. The courts have not passed in finality on the issue raised in this state, but it would appear that common sense direct attention to the principle laid down by the Alabama court.

Cattle and other range animals are permitted to roam at large and at will in Florida. If they wander into a town or corn field the presumption is that the town or corn field owner had not sufficient fence to protect them against the incursion of the cattle. This is an extremely unjust position for a state to assume in the light of its knowledge that the average range land for pasturage purposes is worth about a dollar an acre, while the value of cultivated farm, truck lands and citrus groves in Florida runs all the way from three hundred to three thousand dollars per acre, per crop produced.

Under the present state laws a vast area is kept cultivated because thousands of small farmers and homesteaders are not financially able to fence their holdings; and unless they are fenced it is worse than useless to attempt improvement of any kind.

Whatever advance toward agricultural freedom for Florida the state may have made prior to 1921, the legislature of that year not only halted but actually drove back to the picket lines. The Jacksonville Times-Union declares "The last legislature of Florida was a reactionary body. It is the plain duty of the people of Florida to see that no more ignorant, reactionary, mere politicians are sent to next year's sessions, nor any subsequent sessions of the legislature. The people have suffered enough at the hands of such persons."

UNCLE HANK

There's many a gal who ought to wear beauty spots on her galoshes.

What has been done in Alabama is needed to be done in Florida; and unless the "ignorant reactionaries" get control again, it is beyond belief that Florida's next legislature will not at least make a good start for the assistance of the agriculturist and the horticulturist, which means, assisting the live stock man also.

Commenting on the decision of the Alabama court, the Mobile Register said the suggestion: "There now remains a needed further decision to place the burden of protection upon the owners of range cattle, whether within a stock-law district or not."

If the legislature of Florida would take that suggestion to itself, also, it would be but a short while before the open range of Florida would automatically abolish itself; for the cost of "protection" would far out count in the end the cost of fencing, and the better grades of cattle would soon be recognized as more profitable under fence than the scrub cows now raised on the open range.—Tampa Tribune.

This sounds more real and not like the statements of some of the state papers that stockmen should be made to fence their cattle at once and take the chances of the stock dying as they are apt to do when they are fenced without the proper grasses and feeds being planted at least a year or more beforehand. It is the opinion of the Herald, and we live in a stock country as well as a farming country, that the stockmen of Florida are anxious to do the right thing in the way of local option fences and also dipping the cattle if the dipping can be done by the cattlemen according to the methods that their experience has proved is the best. In other words the cattlemen of Florida are law abiding citizens and want to do what is right but they have been misunderstood and told to do as the theorist said or suffer the consequences. They think and they have every reason to believe, that there are thousands of acres of land in the state of Florida at the present time that are not fit for anything except the grazing lands. There are no farms or orange groves in these lands and will not be for many years to come. There is no reason in the world why the cattle should not roam free and undisturbed on these lands. Where the farmers and grove owners have come in and taken up lands the cattle should be removed. Local option should apply in every county in the state before the no fence law is demanded and until all the lands of the state are taken up by farms the cattle should remain. The dipping is recognized by the cattlemen of Florida as being all right only they do not want to be made to dip their cattle every fourteen days in the hot summer time when driving the cattle to the dipping vats will kill them and did kill them. They want to dip them according to the conditions in Florida that are vastly different from other parts of the country. In fact if the cattlemen of Florida are not half way they will be found on the side of law and order and trying to do their part toward building up the state. That they have been misunderstood in the past goes without saying and that those who know but little about raising cattle have tried to foist laws upon them that would drive them out of business is a well known fact. The time is coming when all cattle in Florida will be under fence but it is a long way off at present and the solution of the affair at this time is for the cattlemen and the farmers to get together and frame a local option bill that will cover the present difficulties of the situation and then work hand in hand in the future for the gradual fencing of the cattle under thousands of acres of lands that will grow grass and feed to keep the cattle from starving to death after they are finally fenced. Florida cattle cannot be fenced wholly within the confines of a certain area at this time and those that have tried it in this part of the state have made a grievous failure of it. These are facts founded upon the experience of the cattlemen themselves and those who tried out the plan of fencing Florida cattle before they planted the right kind of grasses and feeds and studied the situation from all angles.

Let us give the cattlemen their dues and investigate the cattle situation, thoroughly before we condemn them for things that they may have or may not have done.

The editor of the Herald has studied the question of the open range, the fencing of cattle, dipping and all that has been advocated during the past fifteen years in this part of the state and believe that local option is the only solution at this time. This was our platform when a candidate for the legislature several years ago and we still stand on that platform although not a candidate and never expect to be. The Sanford section where farms and groves abound is practically local option by mutual agreement and not by law although a law of this kind would be the right procedure.

CITIZENS REGISTER NOW FOR THE JUNE PRIMARY

One must register if one is to vote in the June primary.

The books are now open but according to reports from the several registration places so far only a small number of persons have qualified as voters.

For the convenience of the general public the registration books are being kept in several different sections of the city. Later they will be carried to the court house and it will be a matter of pushing along with a crowd and waiting one's turn to register.

The great trouble with our country today is that many persons do not take a proper interest in public affairs. Many worthwhile citizens fail to register and when they register they fail to vote. They are often "too busy" to attend to a matter of vital importance.

It's a fact that cannot be disputed that the professional politician sees to it that every person whose vote he can control is registered and that he or she votes on election day.

If there is no professional politician to round up the men or women who will vote their own convictions. There is no one to see that the man who is too busy to exercise his right to vote registers in time to be eligible on election day.

But the vote of a "controlled man" is worth as much as the vote of any other citizen.

Therefore it behooves those persons who have been passing lightly over the duty as a citizen to register and then vote.

As long as every citizen votes who is entitled to do so there is no danger of the majority electing the wrong man or men.

The man who fails to register or to vote cannot blame anyone but himself if he feels after election that the wrong men were put into office. He has fallen down in his duty as a citizen and as long as he looks on voting lightly, just so long will he continue to be a negative factor in the government he helps support.

The good women who are now eligible to vote should take as great an interest in governmental affairs as the men and they should register as soon as possible.—Jacksonville Metropolis.

THE BUY-AT-HOME PLAN.

A little city in Kansas that had been struggling along for a number of years in a precarious way suddenly had an awakening. A chamber of commerce that had existed in name only, was organized with one of the best business men of the city as president and he put the members at work investigating. This was the means of the city discovering itself.

This little city was in the midst of a rich farming country and had once been a flourishing trading center. But business generally was at low ebb of late years. The business men who reorganized the chamber of commerce know what was the matter with the city and he took the right means to correct the evils. There had been a woeful lack of co-operation among the business men. Instead of co-operating they were given to "knifing" each other.

This new president of the chamber of commerce gave them the first lesson in co-operation in sending out business men as committees of investigation. In their discussions of the situation with the various business men, they each discovered for themselves the lack of co-operation. So when these committees came together to report, every committee reported a lack of co-operation among business men. They had found that one business man had been knocking another to an extent that they had no faith in each other nor the public in any of them. As a consequence, trade had been going to other towns and mail order houses were reaping a rich harvest.

As a result of that investigation the business men of that community got together in a co-operative spirit and investigated every business in the city and if they found one that was overcharging or giving poor service, they prevailed upon him to change his methods. They thoroughly reorganized business and then they went to advertising. They gave publicity to their prices. Soon the people of that city who had been going to a larger city not far away to do the major portion of their trading, discovered that they could save money and time by buying at home. Farmers who had been sending their money to mail order houses, not only compared prices but quality of goods and they cast their mail order catalogs aside and began buying at home. Even the housewives of the city caught the spirit of co-operation for the home-town and started a movement to popularize the home brand of flour, for the city had a large flouring mill. Baking clubs were organized, and it was agreed to use none but the home flour and they made the happy discovery that there was no better brand of flour and they also discovered that they could save money and have better bread by doing their own baking.

The demonstrating department of the county agent's office co-operated in the popularizing of home baking, and this big flouring mill had a home market it never had before. Even the grocers and provision men agreed not to ship anything in the way of fruits and vegetables that could be bought at home. This built up a friendly relationship between farmers and business men and after one year this quiet little city had been transformed into one of the busiest, happiest trading centers in the state.

The Kansas experiment is worth trying in any community. A lack of co-operation among business men works great harm to them individually and collectively. Nothing can hurt more than for one business interest to knock another; it breeds suspicion and finally contempt. The spirit of good will and co-operation builds confidence and respect in the breasts of the public.—Reporter-Star.

"THE TRUTH ABOUT FLORIDA."

For many years we have been hearing the refrain that our Florida sand was worthless for agricultural purposes. The song was first sung by the old "crackers" who came into the land after the Indians were driven out, and it is evident that they believed it themselves, for very few of them ever put it to the test. Life was too easy in those early days, when the forests were filled with game and the lakes and rivers swarmed with fish, for the inhabitants to waste any time in the plebeian pursuits of agriculture, on a soil that was of doubtful value at the best. They were poor enough, measured by dollar values, but they were rich in things to eat and drink, and they needed little to wear, so why worry in the effort to produce crops from the sandy soil to bring in money for which they had little use. They drifted along from year's end to year's end, exemplifying in their daily life the supreme virtue of contentment.

But gradually stories of Florida's wonderful climate began to seep through the land, and strangers from the lands of winter began coming here. The first who came from the black soil states, looked over the omnipresent sand, elevated their noses in the air, and vowed they would not give one acre in "Illinois" or "Ioway" for the whole of "Florida," so the superstition persisted until some individual, more venturesome than the average man, entrusted a few seeds to the ground and was surprised was a crop. After that the progress of Florida as an agricultural state was rapid. Numerous experiments were made and it was discovered that an immense variety of crops could be raised here with success. All that was needed was the "know how" as to soil and climate, and the rest was easy.

No one who attended the various fairs held throughout the state this winter, can longer doubt the capacity of Florida in the line of intensive agriculture. Such displays of fruits and vegetables were never surpassed in any northern states. The live stock exhibits would have been creditable in the strictly live stock states.

If you want figures substantiating the above assertions they can easily be produced in great abundance and variety. For instance, Plant City, which is the shipping point for one section of the state where strawberries are grown as a commercial proposition, began shipping a little before Christmas, and at last accounts had sent out nearly $800,000 worth. Only a few days since there was shipped more than 50,000 quarts at 30 to 40 cents per quart. Good enough for one day's business at near the season's close. Hastings grows Irish potatoes, and the present season's crop, it is estimated, will swell the grower's bank accounts by about $4,000,000. They are planted in January, and harvested in May and the ground left in fine condition for two or three more staple crops during the season. Then there is Florida's special crop of citrus fruits, which bring to the lucky growers something like $520,000,000 this season. What northern state which has been considered a strictly agricultural state can match this record? We have said nothing of the long list of vegetables which are shipped from the state, and help make up the aggregate of 50,000 carloads yearly, produced in Florida sand. The statements made above are facts which can be easily verified. They are not the vain boasts of enthusiastic and not too scrupulous real estate agents bent on selling land. But they show something of what can be done with Florida sand, backed up by Florida sunshine, and Florida rains.—Tampa Times.

THE FORD PROPOSITION

Henry Ford's proposition to take over the Muscle Shoals plant and operate it with a view to public service is arousing opposition from big interests. Mr. Ford's plans are so different from the plans of big business that his operation of the great power plant at Muscle Shoals would be likely to draw attention to the difference between work done for the public and work done for purely private ends.

The one real objection to the Ford proposition is the length of the franchise. But this can be cured by a provision permitting the government to take over the plant at any time on terms that are equitable. Mr. Ford would be the last man to object to a provision which would protect the government against future contingencies. He cannot be expected to be alive when the franchise ends and no one knows who will fall heir to his power when he dies. A simple clause, a few words long, permitting the government to protect the people by taking over the plant whenever such a policy seems wise would remove the one objection which can be raised against the proposition in its present form.—W. J. Bryan.

Largest Potato Shipping Season Florida Ever Had is Prospect

Preparations are now under way for what promises to be the largest potato shipping season Florida has ever had. The acreage planted to new potatoes in Florida this year is estimated by the United States Department of Agriculture at 24,800 acres. This is an increase of 49.8 per cent. over the 1921 acreage of 16,600 acres.

As heretofore a field station of the United States Department of Agriculture will be maintained at Hastings for the purpose of keeping the growers and shippers informed of daily market conditions and prices in the large consuming markets to which Florida potatoes are shipped. Daily advices regarding shipments to market from other producing sections will also be available. This information will enable the distributors to regulate shipments so that the demand in the various markets can be properly met.

Florida produces the first new potatoes to appear on Eastern markets. There is practically no competition and the crop is readily disposed of. Last year 1945 carloads were marketed. The quantity would have been much larger had not excessively dry weather affected the yield. In 1920 more than 3,845 carloads were marketed. New York is the largest single market and received 615 carloads last year. Philadelphia received 250 cars; Chicago 141 cars; Pittsburg, 105 cars, Cincinnati 100 cars; Baltimore 61 cars. Primary destinations of the entire crop numbered more than 65 cities.

Florida new potatoes brings high prices as compared with old stock production cost and heavy losses resulting from excessively rainy and dry weather. The hazard of weather damage is ever present and necessitates the planting of considerably more potatoes than are marketed.

Last year, the general average production for the season was only about 30 barrels per acre on account of the unusually dry weather. Also prices of labor and fertilizer were high at planting time; freight rates were high, acreage had been reduced and there was a large supply of old stock on the markets. In 1920 a heavy rainfall continuing for twelve hours on May 18 caused an estimated damage to the crop of approximately $1,000,000 in the Hastings section alone. There has also been a sixteen-inch rain in February just after a large portion of the crop had been planted, and about two-thirds of the entire acreage in the Hastings district had to be replanted.

Hastings located on the Florida East Coast Railway, 56 miles south of Jacksonville, and 10 miles east of Palatka, is the center of activity, and practically the entire crop is marketed by distributors located at that point. The larger portion of the crop is marketed by distributors on a five per cent commission. The distributors have selling contracts with the growers in consideration of advances made for seed and fertilizer during the growing season.

The spaulding rose is the only variety grown in the Hastings section. Farther south Irish cobbles are produced. On the West Coast some bliss triumphs and Irish Cobbles are grown. The double-head barrel is the standard container. When barrels cannot be obtained sacks containing 150 pounds net are used, although these containers are not suitable for stock that is not fully matured and firm. Crates of various sizes are also used to a limited extent.

ANDREWS' OPINION APPLIES ONLY TO GEORGE ATZ CASE

Local Judge Upholds Seizure of Liquor Without Search Warrant in One Instance Because of Peculiar Facts.

Judge Charles O. Andrews, in discussing yesterday, his opinion which upheld the decision of the county court of Lake county in the case of George Atz, who was convicted on a charge of having illegal possession of liquor, declared that his ruling applied only to "the facts in this case" and not in a general way to the application of the law governing seizure of liquor under a search warrant.

In substance the opinion held as follows: " * * * (1) did not disclose a violation of the constitutional rights of Atz, the evidence showing that the place where the liquor was seized was not the private residence, nor place of business, nor a taking from the person, nor was the liquor described classed as property in this state; nor was there a seizure except by consent of Atz.

"(2) The opinion further holds that the courts of this state have never adhered to the rule that a person on trial could wait till the taking of testimony at the trial before objecting to the evidence as being inadmissible because procured by the state in an unauthorized way, for example, by an unlawful search and seizure. The facts in this case did not fall within section 22 of the declaration of rights of our constitution securing to the rights of the people 'in their person, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable seizures and searches.'

The above provision of the constitution has been amply provided for by statute and any unlawful search of property or persons, or seizure without lawful warrant will not be approved, but condemned, if brought properly to attention by legal proceedings in the seventeenth judicial circuit.—Orlando Sentinel.

POST OFFICE BILL PASSES THE SENATE

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 21.—The postoffice appropriation bill, carrying $623,773,000, was passed late yesterday by the Senate after a heated fight. The measure carries $63,300,000 more than was passed by the House, $50,000,000 of the increase going for federal highway aid.

The bill also carries provisions for restoring to service the New York pneumatic mail tubes and for continuing the New York to San Francisco air mail service. The vote on the tubes amendment was 36 to 19 and came after a bitter attack had been made on the proposition by several Democrats. The $50,000,000 was accepted by the Senate without debate and without a roll call.

A fight centering around postoffice appointments, originating early in the discussion of the bill, resulted just before adjournment of the Senate in the introduction by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, of a resolution calling on the President to supply the Senate with the number of executive orders he has issued removing postoffices from civil service classification. The resolution went over under the rules.

The fight which culminated in the Harrison resolution was precipitated by an amendment increasing the number of postal inspectors, a move which Mr. Harrison charged was to make more places for Republicans. The debate quickly entered the subject of postmaster appointments and the President was charged with having removed the Marlon, Ohio, office from civil service by executive order so that he could appoint the postmaster in his home town.

POTATO SHIPPING BEGINS; MARKETS BEGINNING TO OPEN

Shipping of spring potatoes out of the Hastings section began yesterday when about sixty barrels went forward from Federal Point. They were consigned by R. G. Gray, Mr. Hubbard and Mr. Atkinson. The price received for these will not be known until returns are received from the brokers. It is expected, however, that the price will open up as high as $12 as Bermudas are selling now for $16 in some markets. A carload from West Palm Beach yesterday were sold for $10 f. o. b. Palm Beach.

Hastings is beginning to take on a bustling air which always precedes the opening of the potato season. State Organizer J. Reed Curry, of the Florida Citrus Exchange, arrived in Palatka yesterday, accompanied by Samuel George, former manager of the office at Hastings, and R. J. Kepler. Mr. Curry said that the offices at Hastings will be opened Monday and will be under the direct management of the Volusia County Citrus exchange, of which R. J. Kepler is manager. He will be in full charge at Hastings.

"Our operations at Hastings and in the potato belt last year seems to have given very satisfactory returns to the growers and we have numerous letters and inquiries as to whether our office would be opened this season," said Mr. Curry. "There has already been large acreages signed up with our office and by such substantial growers in your community as H. O. Hamm and Thos. M. Waldron, men who have always profited by using the exchange. The deal will be a big one this year and there is a greater need for proper distribution, the secret of getting profits for the growers, and we think the exchange has the facilities for bringing that success to the growers"—Palatka News.

English Star Was Nurse in World War

Mary Forbes, who has a prominent role in John M. Stahl's "The Child Thou Gavest Me," a First National attraction, which will be shown at the Star Theatre Wednesday, is one of England's stage stars who gave up fame and a career to enter the world war as a nurse. Her services of three years covered work at the front and in the hospitals of Paris and London.

ENGLISH STAR WAS NURSE IN WORLD WAR

While at the front she was made a captive in one of the Germans' raids, but was fortunate in getting an early exchange list. Upon her discharge she was decorated for loyal and valiant service.

Prior to entering the war, Miss Forbes had her own company at the Ambassador Theatre in London, where she combined the role of star with the duties of producer and stage manager. She makes her American debut in "The Child Thou Gavest Me."

WOODS WILL GIVE TIME TO FLORIDA AUTO ASSOCIATION

Florida Journalist to Devote Time to Reorganization of Association Without Salary.

Hon. Clarence E. Woods, well-known Florida Journalist and publisher, has accepted a position as secretary of the Florida Automobile Association, it was announced yesterday by M. M. Smith, president of the organization.

"Mr. Woods has agreed to devote his time to the work of re-organizing the association," Mr. Smith said, "and is serving without any salary. I cannot say how much we appreciate this generous offer, but I am sure that the association will be greatly benefitted and will be of more usefulness to the state than it has been before."

Mr. Woods came to Florida in 1912 and has been editor of several Florida newspapers, including the Eustis Lake Region, which he published for six years. Prior to that time he was editor of several newspapers in Kentucky and founded the Lebanon, Ky., Enterprise. He was formerly mayor of Richmond, Ky., and during the war was inspector of explosives for Florida. Mr. Woods was for sixteen years, editor of the Delta, the national publication for Sigma Nu fraternity.

The new secretary is well known in all sections of the state and President Smith and other officers of the association predict that a complete and effective re-organization will be accomplished under his direction.—Orlando Sentinel.

WHEATLEY ACQUITTED IN CRIMINAL COURT

Winter Garden Doctor and Bekemeyer Both Found "Not Guilty."

Dr. C. I. Wheatley, a Winter Garden physician, was acquitted yesterday in criminal court of a charge of manslaughter in connection with the finding of the body of an infant in the woods near Winter Garden several weeks ago. Henry S. Bekemeyer, of Winter Garden, charged with being an accessory, was also found not guilty.

Testimony introduced at the trial tended to show that the operation said to have been performed by Dr. Wheatley was not illegal under the circumstances, and statements to this effect were substantiated by the principal witnesses for the prosecution. It was further proved that the infant was still born.

County Solicitor Murphy was assisted by W. L. Tilden in the prosecution, the defense being represented by C. P. Dickinson.—Orlando Sentinel.

FLORIDA O. K. FOR FOOD CROPS OF ALL KINDS

STATE IS SELF-SUPPORTING AND CAN SUPPLY OTHER STATES

(By The Associated Press) GAINESVILLE, March 20.—Florida apparently will have enough this summer and fall to feed itself and supply a generous portion of food to those parts of the country which are not self supporting...

"The state as a whole has had favorable weather for early crops and planting. Rain is needed in some sections of Central and South Florida.

"General planting of corn is in progress. Stand and condition of early plantings throughout the Southern part of the state are good.

"Oats are making good growth and furnishing excellent grazing.

"Planting of rice is underway. There will be a big increase in acreage in some sections.

"Cotton planting is well advanced. All indications point to a considerable increase in the acreage of Sea Island cotton over last year.

"Condition of Irish potatoes continues excellent. More sweet potatoes have been bedded out than usual.

"Farmers are getting in early peas, sorghum and other crops for green forage. Pasture continues to improve and is generally good.

"Transplanting of tobacco to the field has started.

"Increase of the peanut acreage is indicated by early plantings."

SENATOR FLETCHER URGES REDUCTION IN FREIGHT RATES

Referring to the letters, petitions and resolutions filed by you with the Commission, urging reductions in freight rates on agricultural products from Florida:

reasonable, or otherwise in violation of the Interstate Commerce Act.

Under date of December 11, 1922, the Commission began a general investigation, docket 13293, for the purpose of determining whether, and to what extent, if any, further general reductions in the rates, fares and charges of carriers by railroad applicable in interstate or foreign commerce law can lawfully be required by order or orders of the Commission under Section 1 or other provisions of the Interstate Commerce Act...

In this connection, I might add that during the course of the hearings in this investigation considerable testimony was offered setting forth in detail the general conditions with which the fruit and vegetable shippers of Florida are now confronted. Mr. F. C. W. Kramer, Jr., testified at length on behalf of the cabbage growers of Florida, and Mr. I. T. Williams and Mr. D. Dow offered testimony on behalf of the fruit and vegetable shippers of Florida.

Very truly yours, G. B. MCGINTY, Secretary.

PLANT CITY GREAT STRAWBERRY CENTER SHIPS 106 CARS

(By The Associated Press) PLANT CITY, March 20.—Plant City has shipped twenty-nine percent of its strawberry crop this season by freight and the freight movement alone thus far has totalled 106 cars. Total shipments of berries up to the first of the week, both by freight and express amounted to 1,596,397 quarts, which netted the growers $537,694.85 gross. Fourteen solid cars of berries represented shipments last week.

The citrus fruit movements from here this season amounted to 715 cars, 666 of them in solid car shipments and the balance in small lot shipments by express. In addition to large quantities of small lot shipments by express, vegetables forwarded, principally cabbage, have amounted to 34 cars thus far.

WHY PRESERVE EGGS?

Below Dr. N. W. Sanborn, poultry specialist of the University of Florida answers the question "Why preserve eggs?"

"Because fresh eggs are most plentiful in the spring and early summer.

"Because eggs are cheapest in the spring and early summer.

"Because eggs are most expensive in fall and winter.

"Because you will be able to use the cheaper preserved eggs more freely in fall and winter.

"Because you can sell your fresh eggs when they are highest in price and use preserved eggs in the dull seasons.

"Because it means a saving of money."

Do you know how to preserve eggs by the water glass method? If not, write to the College of Agriculture, Gainesville, or call upon your county or home demonstration agent.

PLANT SNAP BEANS IN MARCH

If your garden has a light, well-drained fertile soil, snap beans should do well in it. They require only sixty days from the time of planting to bear fruit. They are legumes and will add much nitrogen to the soil.

Plant snap beans in rows or hills, says W. L. Floyd, professor of horticulture, University of Florida. Cultivate frequently and shallowly, but do not cultivate when the leaves are wet. If the plants turn yellow, apply a small amount of nitrate of soda. Some of the favorite varieties are Refugee, Stringless and Red and Black Valentines.

SULPHUR WILL KILL RED SPIDERS ON CROPS

(By The Associated Press) GAINESVILLE, March 21.—Sulphur is the most formidable weapon with which to meet the red spiders now reported as on the war path in various parts of the state with nefarious designs on peas, strawberries, phor plants, according to Professor J. R. Watson, of the Florida Experiment Station.

Infested plants become gray and dried up in appearance, according to Professor Watson, and finally turn yellow and die. Strawberries turn brown and remain small and hard. If examined closely infested plants, particularly the under sides of the leaves, are found covered with a web of fine silk under which the minute yellowish mites can be seen with the naked eye. Under a good lens one can readily discern the eight-legged adults which are from red to green in color, the bright red eggs, and the white skins which were cast off when the spiders molted.

Free sulphur is one of the best remedies for the pests which although slower in action than some of its compounds, has longer staying qualities. Either the free sulphur or its compounds should be applied dry or in the form of a spray, Professor Watson says.

Three parts of sulphur to one of hydrated lime makes a good composition, according to the professor, and the lime may be had by adding four gallons of water to 100 pounds of quick lime. Best effects are attained by applying the dust in the early morning or at night, as it sticks to the plant better.

HAREQUIN BUG IS NAME APPLIED TO NEW POST

(By The Associated Press) GAINESVILLE, March 20.—Farmers who have been at a loss for a name to apply to the little red, yellow and black bug that dots on such vegetables as cabbage, collards, lettuce and so forth may call it the Harlequin cabbage bug, on authority of Professor J. R. Watson, of the Florida Experiment Station, who has prepared a list of five directions to be followed to prevent its seasonal incursions into the vegetable fields.

They are mean little animals, Prof. Watson says, and any effective insecticide is too effective for the welfare of the vegetable.

His list of precautions follow:

- 1.—Clean up all old plants about the garden or field as soon as the crop has been removed. Burn the plants and bugs. 2.—Clean up weeds and rubbish near the cabbage field or garden; burn all such rubbish in fall or early winter. 3.—Trap crops of mustard and other related plants, planted in spring, to be destroyed by praying, will get the bugs not destroyed in the fall the trap crops, spray with kerosene emulsion, 15 to 20 per cent strength or burn with hand torches.

4.—If any bugs miss the above treatment and get on the main crop, it will pay to hand pick them at first appearance. Pick and drop into a can of kerosene, and burn.

5.—If bugs are missed by any or all of the above methods, they will lay many eggs in masses which are readily found. Gather and crush the eggs.

H. C. L. IS SLOW IN DESCENDING REPORTS SHOW

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The high cost of living is coming down very slowly. The retail cost of food was three tenths of one percent lower in February than it was in January, according to figures made public by the Department of Labor.

While the retail figures were reaching this point, wholesale prices showed a "distinct upward trend," according to the department's announcement which showed that there was a gain of two percent, over the level of January. The increase was most pronounced among farm products and foodstuffs.

Some of the more pronounced decreases in retail food prices in February were evaporated milk, fresh milk, oleomargarine, strictly fresh eggs, bread and some canned foods.

Sixteen articles increased in price during the month, the most important being onions, ham, oranges, lamb, flour, lard and sugar. During the month from January 15 to February 15, the average sum expenditure for food decreased in twenty-eight cities, as follows:

- Kansas City, 4 percent; Scranton, Pa., 2 percent; Chicago, Columbus, Dallas, Houston, New Haven, New Orleans, Norfolk, Peoria, Pittsburgh, Portland, Maine; Providence, Rochester, Savannah and Springfield, Ills., one percent.

In Atlanta, Birmingham, Boston, Bridgeport, Cincinnati, Jacksonville, Louisville, Mobile and New York, there was a decrease of less than five tenths of one percent.

In twenty-two cities there were the following increases:

- Seattle, three percent; Memphis, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Salt Lake City, two percent; Baltimore, Buffalo, Butte, Denver, Indianapolis, Los Angeles, Milwaukee, Omaha, Portland Ore., St. Louis, Washington, D. C., one percent.

In Cleveland, Detroit, Newark, Philadelphia, Richmond and San Francisco, there was an increase of less than five tenths of one percent.

SUCCESSFUL WAS REVIVAL IN EVERY WAY

METHODIST CHURCH CLOSED TWO WEEKS' REVIVAL WITH WONDERFUL RESULTS

It was anticipated that the closing day of the revival services at the Methodist church would be a great day,—the operation of the spirit throughout the meeting justified that belief but the wonderful results of the closing service challenged the faith of even those who projected the movement. Sunday night's service witnessed a veritable Pentecost of the spirit's power to save souls. At the close of his sermon, when Dr. Walker invited all those to come forward who desired to unite with the church they came in numbers; and not alone. Many came bringing sheaves with them. One man, converted but three days previous, was seen to leave his place at the altar twice and thread his way through the crowded aisles seeking the lost. Twice he returned to the altar, neither time empty handed. The working of the Spirit was wonderful. When the invitation was finally closed the altar was crowded two deep—forty-five persons were gathered there ready to take the vows of the church.

Dr. Phillips, who has worked in the church and Sunday school for a period covering nearly two score years and who is both accurate in his observations and conservative in his estimates in speaking of the results of the revival said: "I consider the meeting just closed the greatest, in depth and scope of spiritual movement and in the influence of God's power in the community—both within the church and out of it—that I have seen in Sanford in my forty years' residence here."

It is to be noted also, that it was a "quiet movement, without undue excitement," wholly lacking the whoop-ia methods employed by many modern evangelists, showing a real depth of feeling which will be of lasting benefit to the individual and to the community.

Seventy people joined the Methodist church Sunday. Sixty of this number on profession of faith.

A few who prefer immersion as a mode of baptism will be immersed in the Wekiwa river next Sunday.

The packing plant at Chipley which has been closed down for a short time has re-opened on a much more extensive basis.
