Developer to help widen road

LAKE MARY — Because the new mall to be built in Sanford will significantly increase traffic on Rinehart Road in Lake Mary, mall developer Melvin Simon & Associates last night agreed, upon the city's request, to pay $500,000 for a portion of a widening project between County Road 46-A and Lake Mary Boulevard.

"Even though the mall is being built in Sanford, it's a development with regional impact. We felt it would have significant impact on Rinehart Road," Lake Mary City Manager John Litton said.

Although there are some small things to settle, the Indiana-based developers agreed to pay $500,000 when certain events occur.

If Lake Mary begins construction to widen Rinehart Road to four lanes, developers will pay upon its completion.

Or within 12 months of pulling building permits for buildings totalling 500,000 square feet or more, developers will pay

Amnesty Days planned

SANFORD — Seminole County wants your hazardous waste.

If you don't think you have any, consider this. Paint thinners, pesticides, batteries — both the car and the flashlight kind — glue, household cleansers and dozens of other things around the house often tossed into garbage cans can pollute drinking water supplies underneath garbage dumps.

To help residents dispose of the poisonous stuff, the county will hold a hazardous waste "Amnesty Day" Saturday, Feb. 9, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the Winn Dixie Plaza on U.S. Highway 17-92 near State Road 434 in Longwood. Collected materials will be properly discarded by GSX Corp. under a county contract.

At 9:30 a.m., the county Hazardous Materials Team will demonstrate the hazards of mixing common household materials and how to put out most household fires. The county agriculture department will offer a demonstration on composting lawn clippings and leaves and the county recycling office will distribute t-shirts, key chains, frisbees and yo-yos to attendees.

I-4 lanes close again tonight

LAKE MARY — The right lane of westbound traffic and the right lane of eastbound traffic at the Interstate-4 interchange in Lake Mary will be closed to traffic tonight beginning at 11 p.m. The lanes will open at 6 a.m. tomorrow.

Barrier walls are being placed at the interchange in preparation for construction to replace the Lake Mary Boulevard overpass.

County infant health rate highest in state

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Infant mortality dropped dramatically in Seminole County during the 1980s even as the number of births doubled, giving the county the highest ranking in the state for infant health.

County health officials attribute expanded public prenatal and postnatal services and the ability to serve many more mothers through increased appropriations.

"Every dollar spent in prenatal care results in benefits that can't be measured, such as a human life or the ability for a person to enjoy life," said Dr. Jorge Deju, director of the Seminole County Health and Human Services Department. "But in a purely monetary sense, there is a tremendous savings."

Local men plan attack

'Bomb' raids held to vent frustration

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The helicopters in this mission will be Hillers instead of Apaches.

The bombs to be dropped will be made of flour and sand, not explosives.

The target will only be an effigy of Saddam Hussein.

And it will all happen eight time zones away from Iraq.

Nonetheless, three Sanford men think their "Bomb Saddam" helicopter rides this weekend will be the perfect release for a community pent up with anxiety and frustration over the Persian Gulf war.

Brothers Ted and Ken Otto and their associate Larry Tague, who together run Aviation Training Associates at the Sanford airport, will offer a chance to drop flour bombs on a likeness of Saddam Hussein Saturday and Sunday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in a sandy field one mile west of County Road 415 on East State Road 46.

"We thought it would be good for people to vent their frustrations, instead of just waving flags," Tague said.

For every $25 ride, $5 will be donated to Sanford's Operation Desert Storm Support Group for families of troops in the Persian Gulf, Ted Otto said. About 110 people have sought support through the network of families since it formed earlier this month.

And if other such groups in the area need the money, Ted Otto said, "We'll take our show on the road."

The three men stuffed a flight suit used by World War II high-altitude pilots and gave it a mask for the appearance of Saddam Hussein. The dummy will be placed in a chair in a sandy field off SR 46, Ted Otto said, "to make it look like he's out in the middle of the desert."

Allies step up air campaign

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia — Allied warplanes roared into clear skies today, redoubling their drive to destroy Iraq's military machine. But the Baghdad government insisted it is winning the war.

"For the past seven days the Iraqis have proved that they are in control of the battle, firmly led by the son of Iraq and the Arab nation, God-supported Saddam Hussein," Baghdad radio said today. "The coming days will witness the defeat of the covetous invaders."

In Saudi Arabia, there was as much military traffic on the ground as in the skies. North-south and east-west highways were clogged with convoys of newly arrived U.S. forces and armor, some freshly painted in desert camouflage.

Dozens of fuel tank trucks headed north today to new desert fuel depots that will be needed to keep the helicopters flying and tanks moving.

U.S. Marines, meanwhile, were honing their amphibious assault skills for possible attacks on Iraq or Kuwait.

American military officials refused to specify how many Marines were involved in the exercises in the gulf region, but said it was the largest amphibious assault force assembled since the Korean War.

In the waters of the Persian Gulf, the allied fleet was more watchful than ever. On Thursday, two Iraqi Mirage F1s armed with Exocet anti-ship missiles were shot down by a Saudi F-15 as they swooped south along the Saudi coast. It was the war's first air-to-air kill by a Saudi pilot.

A Soviet report, meanwhile, said two top Iraqi commanders were executed by order of Saddam.

The Iraqi press attache in Moscow denied the report by the independent Soviet agency Interfax, which said the Iraqi president ordered the killings of the chiefs of the air force and anti-aircraft defenses.

In its report on the death sentence for the Iraqi commanders, Interfax cited sources in the Soviet Defense Ministry. The ministry, contacted by The Associated Press, denied the report.

However, diplomats in Baghdad have said some

Credit union insurance fund to dissolve

Associated Press

ORLANDO — A tarnished national image and industry pressure contributed to the downfall of a healthy self-insurance program backing $1.6 billion in Florida credit union deposits.

The Florida Credit Union Guaranty Corp. will dissolve after converting its 121 member credit unions to a federally backed program, executive vice president Richard Filip said Thursday.

"There's no problem now and probably wouldn't be a problem in the future," said Terry McElroy, spokesman for the state comptroller's office.

But under the new system, there will be "a better chance that people will do business with credit unions if they enjoy the same level of protection that banks have," he added.

About two-thirds of Florida's 360 credit unions already are federally insured.

Filip blamed bad publicity over the Rhode Island credit union crisis for the downfall of the $15 million letter to members along with an application to join the federally backed National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund.

The conversion process, expected to be complete by mid-March, will be coordinated with state banking regulators and the National Credit Union Administration, which offered reassurances about the strength of the credit unions and the safety of their insurance.

Events in Florida confirm the projections of some credit union industry officials who expect private insurance covering 1,462 credit unions in 20 states to become extinct soon.

"It would be my guess that by the end of the year, the majority of the private insurance cooperatives are going to be gone. They all recognize they're history," said Sheralyn Odom, executive director of the National Association of State Credit Union Supervisors.

Credit union regulators are scheduled to meet in Washington next week to decide if they will require all credit unions to obtain insurance from the national fund.

Iraqis held as POWs in Britain

LONDON — Thirty-three Iraqis who came to Britain to study have been turned over to the Defense Ministry and will be held as prisoners of war, police and immigration officials say. The Defense Ministry said Thursday the POWs will be confined to a special military camp set up at Salisbury Plain. Since September, the Home Office has taken action against 162 Iraqis, including the 33 handed over Thursday, and 12 other nationals. Of these, more than 70 have left or been deported and 56 are in custody. Those to be deported are divided according to their background and other factors, and those with military connections were transferred to the Defense Ministry, officials said on condition of anonymity. The rest are subject to restriction orders that require them to live at a specified address and report daily to police.

Italian politics in turmoil over war

ROME — Communists and pacifists are rallying around the pope, turning the Italian political world topsy-turvy. Pope John Paul II's stern warning in his Christmas message that war is an "adventure with no return" has become the rallying cry of opponents of the Persian Gulf war. Premier Giulio Andreotti's Christian Democrat Party, long close to the church, has backed Italy's participation in the allied force trying to drive Iraq from Kuwait. The Communists, opposed to a military role for Italy, now show up in St. Peter's Square when the pope makes his appeals.

senior Iraqi military officers have not been seen for some time. Sir David Craig, the British military chief of staff, was asked about the report. "I haven't actually seen the body strung up, so I can't myself confirm it," he said at a military briefing in London. "But we do have reports... that Saddam Hussein has taken very abrupt action against those commanders who have not found favor with him." An Iraqi resistance group said today that allied air raids have killed or wounded nearly 10,000 Iraqi troops, and that mutinies by some army units were likely.

The Kurdistan Democratic Party, a longtime opponent of Saddam's regime, said its sources in Iraq reported that military authorities were refusing to hand over the bodies of slain soldiers to their families for proper burial. Instead, it said, the dead were being buried in mass graves to minimize morale problems on the home front. Baghdad, meanwhile, was reported to be deserted, without electricity, communications or water and plagued by dwindling food supplies, according to refugees arriving in Jordan.

As many as three helicopters may be available for the "Bomb Saddam" missions, Tague said. One of them will seat three people, while the other two helicopters will seat only two, he said. Ted Otto said he hopes to have savings bonds available as prizes for bombers with the best aim. The men, who have given flour bomb rides at the Sanford airport before, had planned to hold the rides at Central Florida Regional Airport this weekend, Ted Otto said. Instead, the rides will be offered just down the road from the airport because airport officials weren't comfortable hosting an anti-Saddam event. "The airport is not a political arm," Steve Cooke, director of the Sanford airport, said. "It is a public facility." The show will go on, however, in spite of the change of venue. "With me as a veteran of the Vietnam era and Ken as a Vietnam pilot, we just wanted to get together to do something to make sure that what happened then doesn't happen again," Ted Otto said about the lack of support given to U.S. troops who fought in Vietnam. Ted Otto served four years in the Air Force during the Vietnam era. Ken Otto received a Distinguished Flying Cross for his tour of duty as a combat attack helicopter pilot in Vietnam. The idea is the brainchild of Tague, who has been giving helicopter rides regularly off East SR 46, he said. Tague's idea has been applauded by many of the associates' friends, Ted Otto said, so they expect a fair turnout. But, even if the crowds don't come, he said, they still will have fulfilled their mission. "If it's just three people, and they feel better for it, then that's fine," he said.

Networks explain war to children

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

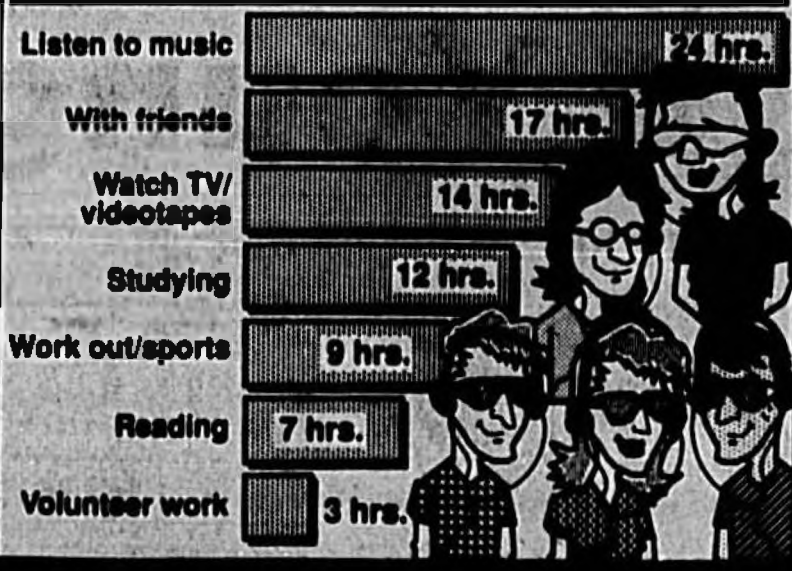

NEW YORK — Instead of watching cartoons this Saturday, kids can tune to ABC and NBC's "Today" show for an explanation of the Persian Gulf war. On ABC, Peter Jennings will anchor a 90-minute special, "War in the Gulf: Answering Children's Questions." "I think everybody in the country is aware that going to war has been hard on children and I think it has confused children," Jennings said Thursday. ABC's live show, with a studio audience of about 30 children, will be broadcast nationally starting at 10:30 a.m. EST. So will a special two-hour edition of "Today" that includes a segment on the war for children.

CBS said it has no plans for a similar special Saturday. PBS on Sunday sent its stations a 30-minute children's special, "Kids Ask About War," produced by public TV station KTCA in Minneapolis.

Saturday's ABC and NBC programs each will have an 800 telephone number for young viewers to call in with questions, network officials say. Kids dialing NBC will be able to talk to New York anchors Garrick Utley and Mary Alice Williams, and correspondents Arthur Kent, Martin Fletcher and Katie Couric in Saudi Arabia, Tel Aviv and Washington, respectively. Those calling ABC will be able to put questions to Jennings, ABC correspondents in the United

Florida show to help kids deal with war

By KEITH PHILLIPS

TALLAHASSEE — A live television show on Florida public television will help children and their families deal with the trauma of the Persian Gulf War, education leaders said. Gov. Lawton Chiles and a coalition of educators announced Thursday they are sponsoring a special statewide television special "War Hits Home: A Primer for Children and Families." The show will air on public television stations on Sunday, Feb. 10 at 6 p.m. Chiles said it is designed to help children and their parents talk about the military conflict. "There is no more important business in Florida than making our children feel safe and loved," Chiles said. "At this time of war there is an ongoing need to help children and families find a measure of peace and cope with the traumas," he said. Pat Tornillo, president of FEA United, said the program will help children deal with all issues of the conflict including the absence of family members and anti-war protests.

Ground war to place women closer to front

Associated Press

NORTHEASTERN SAUDI ARABIA — Women in the military are prohibited from taking part in combat, but distinctions are blurring between rear echelon and front lines in Saudi Arabia as U.S. forces move closer to the Kuwait border. Marine Pvt. Amy Deever finds what is supposed to be a hard and fast rule more than a little ironic. Thirty miles from the Kuwait border, Deever and 129 other women in her Marine support unit wear helmets and flak jackets. They carry rifles. At night they listen to the sound of allied bombing. "They said as long as we were up here and we were attacked we would have to fight, but otherwise we're not considered a combat unit," she reported. The huge logistics needs of the combat units have created forward-ranging supply bases and support units that are often staffed by women. "When you get up at night, you can see the lights and the flashes in the sky," said Deever, 20, whose job is to hook up field telephones. "It seems to be getting closer all the time." Doing the job at night, moving between positions, can be dangerous. So, Deever's supervisors prefer her to work at a switchboard. Despite the risk, she chafes at this treatment. "I just want to go out, just to learn my job better," she said. "I joined up for the adventure." Many women soldiers echo Deever's sentiments. While no count is made of U.S. women soldiers and Marines who may be close to the fighting, military authorities say women represent 6 percent of all U.S. troops in and around Saudi Arabia. "I don't think I have any more fears than the guys have," Jacqueline Bowling, a 29-year-old Marine from Nice, Calif.

said. "I think we have the same feelings." Not necessarily all the same feelings. Bowling's husband is a fellow Marine assigned to a nearby post. He was less than happy to learn his wife was assigned so close to the front. "I guess that's where the male ego kicks in," she said. Away from the border, women soldiers also face the risk of combat. Christian acknowledges she may be called on to take part in an armed defense of the air base.

Iraqi air force second rate, but still capable of damage

By RUTH SHAI
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — U.S. and European experts agree that Iraq's air force is no match for the allies, but they predict Iraqi pilots could inflict casualties through harassment and even suicide attacks. Iraq's air force laid low in the first week of the war, losing all 19 planes it sent to engage allied pilots, according to the Pentagon. Allied bombers destroyed another 23 Iraqi planes on the ground, but the rest of Iraq's estimated 700 combat planes were hidden in heavily fortified underground hangars, U.S. officials say. Officials were uncertain what damage had been inflicted to the underground shelters in the bombings, but said they decided to stop the heavy bombardments for the time being. "Rather than spend air power now trying to run the body count up on airplanes that are not bothering us at the moment, I'd rather use that air power in more efficient ways," Gen. Colin Powell, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said Wednesday. He said Iraq's air force "does represent a threat, but it's a threat we understand, we believe we are quite able to deal with." One intelligence source said Iraq President Saddam Hussein has decided to save his planes for now, "because he only has about 100 really good ones, and he knows what his pilots are worth." Saddam will use those planes to attack U.S. ground forces when they start fighting against the Iraqi troops dug in in Kuwait, said the source, who spoke on condition of anonymity. U.S. strategy is to bomb the troops in Kuwait and inflict maximum damage before risking ground troops who could be at a disadvantage against the heavily fortified Iraq. Saddam might also try to send his flyers to drop bombs — or possibly chemical or biological weapons — on Saudi Arabia or Israel, said the source.

ATM thefts lead to arrest

SANFORD — C.W. Phillips 18, 716 Oak Way, Sanford, was arrested Tuesday on charges of dealing in stolen property, grand theft, five counts of forgery of a credit card and five counts of offenses against a computer user, police reported.

According to a police report, Phillips allegedly made five cash advance withdrawals within a six-minute period Oct. 25, 1990 from the automatic teller machine (ATM) at the Publix at 3609 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford. He reportedly received $100 in each transaction.

The arrest report also noted that the owner of the card reported it stolen after receiving her monthly statement which included those withdrawals and other transactions in Sanford, Casselberry and Altamonte Springs.

Sanford police obtained the defendant's photo from the ATM security cameras and the victim identified Phillips as having visited her house on several occasions with friends of her son. Phillips turned himself in to sheriff's officials and is being held at the John Polk Correctional Facility.

Man turns self in at jail

Thomas David Strawn, 26, of 4987 Nolan Rd. in Sanford was being held without bond on charges of violation of parole on a previous battery charge.

Strawn turned himself in at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility on Wednesday and was arrested by Seminole County sheriff's officers.

Woman charged with theft

Maisy Ann Wood, 40, of 117 Butlerway St. in Sanford, was arrested on Wednesday on charges of retail theft.

Wood, the Sanford Police Department arrest report states, was caught leaving the Winn-Dixie supermarket at 3818

Orlando Dr. in Sanford with a 12-pack of beer for which she had not paid.

She was detained by the store's manager until police arrived to arrest her.

Wood was being held at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility in lieu of $100 bond.

Drug sale charged

Charles Bradshaw, 32, who lives on Sipes Avenue in Sanford, was arrested on Wednesday and charged with selling crack cocaine.

According to sheriff's office reports, as part of an operation to arrest street-level drug dealers, the Seminole County Sheriff's Office purchased crack cocaine from Bradshaw using serialized cash.

He was then arrested for selling crack cocaine.

He is being held at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility. No bond has been set.

Biotech wins one

America's nascent biotechnology industry won a small victory recently when the National Institutes of Health declared that milk and meat from cows treated with bovine growth hormone (BGH) are as safe as those from untreated cows.

The Food and Drug Administration had been urged earlier to halt sales of milk in which traces of the hormone were found. Safety concerns were raised by Consumers Union, best known as publisher of the respected Consumer Reports magazine but increasingly known for its crusading social agenda.

The FDA found BGH to be safe in 1985. Limited quantities of milk from experimental herds have been sold in commercial markets ever since. The hormone is currently being tested in more than 100 herds throughout the country, accounting for only about 1 percent of the nation's milk supply.

At least four major U.S. chemical and pharmaceutical companies have a tremendous stake in approval of BGH, which is projected to be a $1 billion-a-year global market.

In the minds of many within the biotech industry, BGH's success is critical to winning wide public acceptance of food products containing traces of bioengineered substances. If the FDA had bowed to Consumers Union's effort to ban BGH, it would have been a serious blow not only to the four BGH manufacturers, but also to the entire biotechnology industry.

Consumers Union bases its claims of safety risks with BGH on research produced by Monsanto Co. A Consumers Union biologist extrapolated from Monsanto's data that rats fed high concentrations of the hormone exhibited higher growth rates and that the same could happen in human beings, with possible harmful effects.

Consumers Union neglected to mention, however, that Monsanto's researchers noted that the amount of extra "growth factor" in the milk of cows treated with BGH was minute compared with the levels of growth factor found naturally in human blood.

This finding was bolstered by the NIH panel of medical and veterinary experts, who concluded "there is no data to suggest that (BGH) present in milk will survive digestion or produce unique... fragments that might have biological effects."

The weight of scientific and medical evidence indicates that BGH poses no danger to the nation's milk supply. The FDA should resist the efforts of Consumers Union to ban further use of the hormone.

Lujan's Yosemite bluster

Interior Secretary Manuel Lujan Jr. has launched an anti-Japanese trade against Matsushita Co., new owner of the company that runs the concessions in Yosemite National Park. In an attempt to pressure the conglomerate into donating the Yosemite assets to the U.S. government.

Quiet negotiations, initiated by the National Park Service, have been under way for a few weeks toward arranging for Matsushita to sell Yosemite Park & Curry Co. The company is a subsidiary of MCA Inc., recently purchased by Matsushita. The Park Service wants the Yosemite concessions, consisting of restaurants, stores and a hotel, to be sold at a discount to the National Park Foundation, a non-profit fund-raising organization.

But Lujan upped the negotiations by demanding outright donation of the concessions to the government and threatening to cancel the Curry company's contract with the Park Service.

While the donation of the Yosemite concessions would be nice, Lujan's caustic remarks aren't going to make it happen. More likely, his efforts to cancel the company's contract and his refusal to approve placing the Curry company in escrow until its sale will land the negotiations in court.

Sale of the Curry company to the National Park Foundation rather than a private company would ensure that all profits go back into our national parks or into the national treasury. Sale to the Yosemite Restoration Trust, a non-profit group also interested in buying the concessions, would be better. The Yosemite trust, which includes officials from the Sierra Club and the Wilderness Society, would spend all profits in the park.

Matsushita hasn't commented on selling the company to the park foundation, but negotiations only began in mid-December. The best solution would be donating the concessions to the Yosemite Restoration Trust. For Matsushita, that would be the public relations coup of the century.

SARAH OVERSTREET

Now is the time for public dissent

There is no longer the hope of averting war, only the hope that death and destruction will be minimal, that objectives most conducive to peace in the future will be accomplished quickly.

On the first day of America's newest war, I hosted a call-in program on a talk-radio station in southwest Missouri. Some of the callers' sentiments could have come from radio transmissions bouncing back into the atmosphere from across the decades:

"Those anti-war protesters are sending Hussein the message we aren't united — that we're weak."

"Why isn't the media reporting the positive things about this war, rather than how horrible it will be? We don't need to hear that."

Even the U.S. congressman from our district, Rep. Mel Hancock, a Republican, has publicly castigated anyone who doesn't agree with the president 100 percent, and most especially the media: "Their morbid obsession with the certain tragedy of war is designed to do nothing less than give aid and comfort to our enemies by unnerving the American people.... Like all other patriotic citizens, the news media should be uniting the country behind our president in defense of principle."

And for this conflict, the government has come out with unprecedented restrictions on the press, requiring, among other limitations, review of all news material by military authorities before it can be broadcast or published. Military escorts must be with reporters at all times. I am stunned by the government's restrictions and genuinely surprised at the amount of anti-any-kind-of-dissent sentiment. Reporters have never groused at restrictions designed at protecting the security of our armed forces. But these further restrictions aren't security; this is blanket censorship and manipulation of news gathering.

After years of reportage that should have made this clear, it appears that many of us still don't have any concept of how easy it would be for a Saddam Hussein to rise to power in the United States if the press did not exist to shine lights into the dark corners that his ilk would like to keep hidden.

The argument that any dissent weakens us may suffer from guilt by association. Since so much about our leadership and decisions in the Vietnam conflict was flawed, the dissent that led to the exposure of these flaws sometimes gets blamed for the weakness. This is simply not what happened. Vietnam was a classic case of stupid executive decisions, ill-fated military strategy and inadequate understanding of the Vietnamese people, their country and their history.

Where there are worthy goals and constructive action toward accomplishing those goals, their own strength and success can easily withstand opposing opinions. If Operation Desert Storm is effective, it will be because the strategy is sound and the goals are worthy and workable, not because no one uttered a discouraging word.

Operation Desert Storm is under way. Dissent will not deter it unless the operation and motives are defective.

If its strategies prove sound and its leaders effective, dissent will remain what it is: a valuable American freedom.

ROBERT WAGMAN

Feds ready for terrorism in U.S.

WASHINGTON — With the outbreak of war in the Persian Gulf, federal law enforcement agencies, led by the FBI, have begun "an unprecedented effort" to prevent terrorist activities in this country.

One government official who spoke on background, says that the United States has uncovered "at least five potential schemes" since early August "that could have resulted in a terrorist act." Reportedly, all these incidents involved foreign individuals in this country, none of whom were believed to be working for any organized group. The official declined to give any details beyond the fact that the individuals who were involved "are no longer in this country."

FBI Director William Sessions believes the terrorist threat is very real, but he believes the FBI is ready to respond. "Every precaution that we and other federal agencies can take is being taken to try to avoid any terrorist activities," said Sessions.

But he went on to caution that the FBI "has credible information" that there are individuals in this country who have both the capability and the will to commit terrorism. However, he added, "I believe we have the ability to minimize any threat."

Sessions underscored the idea that people should not disrupt their normal activities out of fear of terrorism. "People should be a little more cautious and a little more observant," said Sessions. "Our job will be made much less difficult if people are aware of what is going on around them and if they report anything unusual to the FBI or to their local police department."

According to FBI sources, the bureau's top priority is to locate thousands of individuals who have legally entered the United States on Iraqi and Kuwaiti passports since Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait. They are interested in people traveling on Kuwaiti passports because Iraq gained control of those passports on the day they invaded.

According to the Immigration and Naturalization Service, about 7,500 people have entered the United States on Kuwaiti passports since August, and almost unbelievably, another 4,000 have legally entered on Iraqi passports. Additionally, some 3,000 individuals who previously entered this country on Iraqi passports have overstayed their visas, and are now, technically, illegally in this country.

The FBI, aided by other federal law enforcement agencies, are attempting to locate every one of these aliens and to fingerprint, photograph and question them. Any that are found to be in violation of visa laws will be turned over to the INS for processing.

The numbers themselves do not particularly trouble U.S. officials.

The actual number of people in this country on Iraqi and Kuwaiti passports is about normal for this time of year. Many are believed to be Kuwaitis who were fleeing the invasion. Many traveling on Iraqi passports were students actually returning to U.S. campuses. Still others were joining family members in this country using visas that had been applied for long before the invasion.

But FBI sources confirm that "at least several hundred" are currently unaccounted for. They are not at addresses given as their destinations when they came through immigration checkpoints at airports or border crossings. This fact does not particularly panic officials, but an FBI spokesman admitted that "we are looking for all these individuals with some sense of urgency."

What officials are not talking very much about is the possible implementation of a contingency plan reportedly drawn up after the 1986 U.S. air raid on Libya. At that time some sort of Arab terrorist response was expected, so the plan drawn up by Justice and INS officials called for the revocation of visas of alien visitors to the United States based on nationality and country of origin. This would force all those with revoked visas to reapply for new visas, giving authorities an opportunity to closely question them.

It would also give officials the right to immediately deport any individual who is found holding an invalidated visa and who has not applied for a new one.

When the plan became public in 1987 it met with immediate criticism from civil rights advocates. It was disavowed by both the Justice Department and the INS.

However, sources here say some aspects of it, especially visa revocation based on some broad criteria, may be seriously considered if significant numbers of Iraqi passport holders are not located.

People should not disrupt their normal activities out of fear of terrorism.

Saddam abused during childhood

WASHINGTON — When U.S. bomber and fighter planes crossed the border into Iraq on Jan. 17, the United States declared war on an abused child.

Saddam Hussein's psyche was formed in an abusive childhood. The unique circumstances of his upbringing presaged that he was unlikely to surrender to anything less than a bullet in the head. At least that is what the latest secret Central Intelligence Agency psychological profiles say about Saddam.

The CIA profile and reports on the Iraqi leaders around Saddam predicted that the only way he would survive the scene was the same way he got there — by violence. One source who read the top-secret file on Saddam said that he was "moved" by it, in spite of what he knew about the horrors Saddam had unleashed on his own people and then on the world.

The source said the CIA psychological profile "actually is rather sympathetic to him, portraying him as a disadvantaged orphan child, raised by his mother's brother and becoming an assassin at an early age."

The CIA reached its conclusions by gathering intelligence on Saddam's childhood and then having it analyzed by CIA psychiatrists. Our source says that the report explains, "Saddam's psyche was shaped by his rejection by his natural father and mother. But the report admits that he is a triggerman who is very ruthless, willing to kill anyone and only likely to disappear from the scene if he is killed."

This source and others filled in the details of the CIA profile on Saddam.

He was born in 1935 in the village of Tikrit north of Baghdad. Most of his closest aides, those who joined him in his butcheries, were Tikritis too.

His mother, Subha, was a tyrant in her own right. She had three sons by a prior marriage before Saddam was born. Saddam's father, a farmer, left before Saddam was born. Saddam later put out the false story that his father had died.

Subha went looking for another husband and found Ibrahim Hassan, who was already married. He could have added Subha to his family as a second wife, but she wouldn't share him, so she forced him to divorce his first wife.

Hassan, according to the CIA profile, was an abusive stepfather. He regularly beat Saddam and, like Charles Dickens' "Fagin," made the boy steal for the family, and possibly ordered Saddam to commit his first murder. The village knew Saddam's stepfather as "Hassan the liar."

Neighbors and early childhood friends of Saddam's reported that Hassan would sometimes beat Saddam to wake him up, often shouting epithets such as "You son of a dog, I don't want you!" Saddam would steal sheep and chickens for Hassan, who would sell them.

At a young age, Saddam was put in a detention center for an unspecified period of time. At 11, he ran away from home and moved in with an uncle, Khairalla Tulfah, his mother's brother, who lived in a nearby village. According to a semi-official biography of Saddam, the uncle and other relatives "gave him a pistol and sent him off in a car to Tikrit" in his late teens to take care of himself.

Saddam found a political outlet for his dark side — the violent Baath Party. At the age of 24, he tried to assassinate Abdel Karim Kassem, the despotic ruler of Iraq. Kassem survived that attempt, but was assassinated by someone else four years later in 1963.

Saddam Hussein's psyche was formed in an abusive childhood.

Infant

Deju said care for a prematurely-born child can run from $200,000 to $400,000 compared to the county's $1.4 million spent during the last year in care for nearly a 1,000 expectant mothers and infants.

As a result of the improved care, 50 babies lives were saved in 1988, the report shows.

Deju said Seminole County leads the state in the number of prenatal physician visits during the first trimester of the pregnancy. Seminole County ties only with Okaloosa County in terms of the overall infant care received by mothers in large counties, which includes such factors as infant mortality and birth weight.

Between 1978 and 1988, infant mortality for Seminole County resident mothers dropped from 15.1 deaths per 1,000 births to seven deaths per 1,000 births. Statewide, the average dropped for the same period from 14 to 10.5 deaths per 1,000 births.

For all infant deliveries in the county, including mothers from other counties who gave birth here, the drop plummeted from 25.2 to 3.8 deaths per 1,000 births.

The number of neonatal — infants less than 28 days old — deaths dropped from 9.5 per 1,000 to 1.7 per 1,000 during the 1978 to 1988 decade.

The declining figures are even more dramatic considering the total number of births recorded in Seminole County in 1978 were 856, compared to 2,823 in 1990.

The number of mothers treated by the health department offers one clue to the success. In 1978, the health department assisted in 135 births. By 1990, the county assisted in 945 births.

Deju said in 1978, maternal care was not given specialized focus and did not have separate financing. Since then, revenues for services have increased and the amount of care given each mother and child increased.

"In 1978, we provided very little in terms of medication, sonograms, care of that sort," Deju said. "When the mother was ready to give birth, we sent her to one of the area hospitals and sometimes they would get referred to another hospital and she may not have the same doctor deliver the baby that had seen her before."

"Now, we order all kind of tests, blood tests, sonograms, whatever and assign her to one obstetrician who will follow her all the way through."

built between 1923 and the mid-1950s. Most of the old buildings were antiquated and, according to Poole, were "literally falling down on (us)."

While students have been attending classes in portable classrooms on the south side of the campus, a new school has begun to emerge from the rubble to the north.

At this time, only the cafeteria has been completed. The other buildings will be completed within the next year.

The construction time is longer than it might otherwise be as workers must demolish existing buildings and build new ones so as not to disrupt classes.

"They are pretty much on schedule," principal Eugene

Petty said.

The foundation for the administration building has been laid and blocks have begun to be put in place.

"We're just about ready to put in the cornerstone," Petty said.

When the cornerstone of the original building was lifted out of place a few months ago, a 1924 time capsule containing a letter from then-superintendent of schools T.W. Lawton and the Jan. 23, 1924 issue of the Sanford Herald was found.

Petty said the insight gained from that time capsule into what Seminole County was like in that era was important. He said he hopes that future generations will gain some knowledge about the current times if the time capsule is discovered at a later date.

Dispute

stitution of 25th Street in Sanford.

Although the landscapers, plumbers and other subcontractors were supposed to be paid by the general contractor for the job, Florida Concepts, a Clearwater financial institution construction company, a dispute over the quality of portions of the completed work led credit union directors to withhold 10 percent of Florida Concepts' unpaid balance of the $600,000 job.

The 10 percent was to be used by Florida Concepts to pay the final retainers to the subcontractors when their work had been accepted as complete and to pay Florida Concepts profit above expenses, said Florida Concepts president Jow Corbett.

"Some work done on the building was not satisfactory," said Joe Williams, chairman of the credit union directors. "We're trying to negotiate with Florida Concepts now."

Williams said the credit union has about 9,000 members primarily comprised of Seminole County teachers, Sanford city employees and Seminole County sheriff's employees.

Corbett said Thursday he had asked credit union officials to pay the subcontractors whose work was not in dispute.

"I'm not going to pay the subcontractors and run the risk of not getting paid myself," Corbett said. "I've been building banks and credit unions and savings and loans for 15 years and this is the first time this has ever happened."

Corbett said his attorney is "in discussions" with the project's roofer and may consider litigation if work cannot be resolved.

But while Corbett and credit union officials negotiated, subcontractors, even those whose work was not in dispute, went unpaid.

"I would have to say I got the runaround from both sides," said Bill Stekes, owner of Canterbury Cabinets, Sanford. "I would call here and was told they (Florida Concepts) would take care of it. I'd call over there and they say, 'No they weren't.' All I know this guy here was jacking us around."

Williams apologized for the inconvenience the workmen went through Thursday.

"It's not the position for the credit union to apologize to you, but I am sorry this happened to you all," Williams told the workmen.

The checks were issued the six subcontractors in return for releases, exempting the credit union from further billings by the subcontractors. Williams said another seven or eight subcontractors have not been fully paid. He said most of them will be paid when a review of their expenses and materials has been completed.

Mapplethorpe photos spark debate over FSU catalogue

By JACKIE MALLIFAX
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — The late Robert Mapplethorpe has provoked controversy again, in the form of a sit-in by Florida State University students who want to put one of his photographs in a course catalogue.

Eight students and a professor sat on chairs and on the floor in the office of Florida State President Bernard Sliger for about an hour Thursday. But the group left after agreeing to a meeting today with FSU vice president for student affairs Jon Dalton.

"Our sit-in was successful," Kelly Peters, director of the Center for Participant Education, said afterwards. Printing of the 66-page CPE course catalogue has been held up for over a week and a half by Dalton, according to Peters, a philosophy and literature student.

But later Thursday night, another student committee, chosen by Student Government President Trey Trevesa at Dalton's request, voted 5-1 to bar CPE from running the Mapplethorpe photo in the catalogue paid for by student activity fees.

The student committee also voted against publishing a painting by Gustav Courbet they considered controversial.

CPE is a student organization that has arranged free classes, lectures and films on a wide range of political and lifestyle topics for 20 years at FSU.

Mother: Suspect was abused child

Associated Press
SHREVEPORT, La. — Danny Rolling is remembered by acquaintances as a quick-tempered man who often dressed like a soldier and had a special rapport with children.
 His mother said her 36-year-old son — who has become a top suspect in the serial killings last August of five Gainesville students — was an abused child from the day he was born.
 Rolling has been held in the Marion County Jail since Sept. 7 on armed robbery charges unrelated to the killings.
 "Danny was an abused child from the day he was born," Claudia Rolling wrote in a letter to the judge who was to sentence

Rolling for armed robbery in Ocala four months after the shooting.
 "My husband was jealous of him. He never wanted me to hold him or show love in him. He was told from the time he could understand that he would be dead or in jail by the time he was 15."
 A former neighbor, Gary Flowers, 34, considered Rolling a loner who liked to jog, play the guitar and lift weights. Flowers lives near the West Canal Street home in Shreveport that Rolling shared with his parents until May 1990.
 "You might see him jog down the street dressed like Rambo," Flowers said. "He did all kinds of things you don't expect to see an adult do. He was so much on a kid's level. There's no doubt, he was strange."

Rolling allegedly shot his father in an argument in May 1990. He fled the house after the shooting and never came back, neighbors said.
 Shreveport police said they have a warrant accusing Rolling of attempted second-degree murder of his father, 58-year-old James Rolling, a retired Shreveport Police lieutenant.
 James Rollings spent a month recovering from the wounds to his stomach and face after his son shot him during a quarrel. He heard Thursday that his son had been identified as a suspect in the Gainesville murders.
 "He ain't killed," he told The Miami Herald for its Friday edition. "He may be disturbed, but he ain't guilty of that."

Rolling held in Ocala jail as suspect in UF killings

OCALA — A Shreveport, La. man held in a county jail since Sept. 7 on armed robbery charges is now considered a top suspect in the slayings of five college students in Gainesville last August, authorities said Thursday.
 The task force investigating the slayings has focused its attention on Danny Harold Rolling and is reportedly comparing physical samples taken from him with evidence found at the Gainesville murder scenes.
 Rolling, 36, is being held on $25,000 bond in the Marion County Jail in Ocala — about 30 miles south of Gainesville — on charges of armed robbery of a grocery store and eluding a police officer. Jail Sgt. Donna DiPesa said.
 Rolling also is wanted in Louisiana for the attempted second-degree murder of his father, 58-year-old James Rolling, a retired Shreveport Police lieutenant.
 "We do have a hold on him. When Florida authorities are through with him, we will attempt extradition to Shreveport."

La., on those charges," said Shreveport Police Cpl. Scooter Rushing.
 Rolling has not been charged in the Gainesville case.
 Rolling, who has been held in a cell by himself in a maximum security section of the jail for the past couple of months, was described by police officials as a 6-foot-2, 180-pound white male with hazel eyes, long, curly brown hair and a thin mustache.
 Gainesville Police Chief Wayland Clifton was in Marion County Thursday, said Kathy Hasbrouck of the Gainesville police, a statement later disputed by Marion County Sheriff spokesman Sgt. Robert Douglas.

Chiles loses court battle on PSC jobs

By BRENT KALLESTAD
Associated Press Writer
TALLAHASSEE — Gov. Lawton Chiles didn't have much to say about his first tango with the Florida Supreme Court, but in a few words it was clear he didn't much like the tune of their decision.
 In a decisive, unanimous decision, the court Thursday rejected Chiles' bid to win broader powers in appointing members to the Public Service Commission.
 "The people lost on this decision since it does not make government accountable to the people," Chiles said. "Under the current nominating process, no statewide elected official is held directly responsible for Public Service Commission appointments."
 Chiles and former Gov. Bob Martinez joined together last month in an effort to keep the nine-member PSC Nominating Council from appointing two new members, claiming it unconstitutional limited the appointment power of the governor.
 "We reject these contentions because we find that the Public Service Commission is an entity of the legislative branch and, as such, the Legislature has the authority to establish by law how legislative branch officials, including these Public Service Commission members, may be selected," the justices wrote.

Environmental land-purchase bonds on hold

Associated Press
TALLAHASSEE — Gov. Lawton Chiles has quietly put on hold the sale of bonds for the Preservation 2000 environmental land-buying program out of concern for the program's long-term financing.
 Chiles and the Cabinet this week accepted a request from the Department of General Services to withdraw a proposal to issue the bonds, which would raise $300 million this year to buy and preserve natural spaces.
 The program, one of former Gov. Bob Martinez's biggest accomplishments, would raise $3 billion over the next 10 years to purchase the land, if the Legislature continues funding.
 Rand Snell, Chiles' Cabinet aide, told the Florida Freedom Newspapers in a story published this week that Preservation 2000 is not in danger of folding.

JUCO BASKETBALL

SCC hosts a douce

SANFORD — The Seminole Community College Health and Physical Education Center will be the site of a Mid-Florida Conference men/women's basketball doubleheader with Santa Fe Community College of Gainesville Saturday evening.

The women are set to start at 5 p.m., with the men tipping off at 7:30 p.m.

This will be the first game in a week for Ileana Gallagher's ladies. They will be looking to break a two-game losing streak and win their first MFC game of the year. The women are 6-8 overall and 0-2 in the conference. The leaders for the Raiders have been sophomore's Tina Lester and Debbie Olsson and freshmen Pamela Williams and Teresa Martin.

The men will also be looking to get back on the winning track after dropping a 104-98 decision to Valencia Wednesday dropping their record to 12-9 and 2-3.

The men of Bill Payne have been getting very good play of late from freshmen Brian Nason and Leslie Cephus. The pair combined for 50 points and were the main players in an 18 point comeback effort against Valencia. Other's playing well have been Darnell Robinson, Denard Ford and Sanford's Robert Moore.

Southeast signups extended

OVIDO — The Southeast Seminole Babe Ruth baseball and ASA girls softball will continue to take registrations over the next two weeks. Boys and girls ages 5-15 may sign up on Saturday, Jan. 26 at either Oviedo or Lake Howell high schools between the hours of 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Registration will be in the gym.

On Saturday, Feb. 2 there will be a table set up at Oviedo from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Registration fee is $40 for the first child in a family, $35 for the second, $25 for the third and no charge for four or more.

Tryouts (to divide, not cut anybody) will take place in late February. Opening Day will be the third Saturday in March, allowing all players to finish their basketball season league games, playoff and All-Star games before concentrating on baseball or softball.

Any questions on either Babe Ruth or ASA, call Mickey Norton at 385-4040.

COLLEGE HOOPS

FSU loses at buzzer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Elliot Perry hit a 3-pointer from the baseline as time ran out Thursday to give Memphis State a 67-66 Metro Conference victory over Florida State.

Perry, who had a game-high 22 points, took a pass from John McLaughlin and streaked to the right corner, launching the shot from 25 feet with two seconds left.

Florida State (9-7, 3-3) led 66-64 after Douglas Edwards hit the front end of a two-shot foul shot. Edwards missed the second shot and Memphis State's Kelvin Allen grabbed the rebound with 15 seconds left. The Tigers (10-7, 3-2) called time out with eight seconds remaining to set up the final play.

Stetson wins

DELAND — Jim Horn and Bryant Conner scored 16 points each to lead Stetson to a 93-83 victory over Centenary Thursday, moving the Hatters into a three-way tie for first place in the Trans-America Conference.

Rob Wilkes and Lorenzo Williams each scored 13, and Derrall Dumas and Chris DeSiderio added 10 points apiece as Stetson (8-10, 3-1) moved into a tie with Texas-San Antonio and Georgia Southern in the conference.

Centenary (7-9, 2-2) got a game-high 24 points from Patrick Greer. Nate Taylor and John Buckwalter each added 13.

"Rocket" departs

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — Raghib "Rocket" Ismail, a breakout threat for three seasons at Notre Dame, broke clear from college football Thursday and dashed to the pros.

"I will be officially entering my name in the 1991 (NFL) draft," he said, ending weeks of speculation.

The decision represents an about-face for the junior from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., who had insisted that he would return for his senior season.

But the death of teammate Chris Zorich's mother hours after Notre Dame's Orange Bowl loss to Colorado on New Year's Day helped change Ismail's mind about turning pro.

"It's something that made me realize that things in life don't always happen the way you expect them to," he said. "I want to do something for my mother and my family."

SAC title up for grabs

Greyhounds, Patriots, Lions attempt to end Rams' reign

From staff reports

LAKE MARY — Who's in control here, anyway?

When the Seminole Athletic Conference wrestling tournament gets underway this evening at Lake Mary High School, the seven-year reign of the Lake Mary Rams will be under the combined attack of Lyman, Lake Brantley and Oviedo.

It's tough to tell just which team should be considered the favorite. Both Lake Brantley and Oviedo have defeated Lake Mary in dual meets this season (Lyman and Lake Mary wrestle next Wednesday).

Lyman won the team championship in its Christmas tournament while Lake Brantley finished second, Oviedo came in third and Lake Mary claimed fourth. Lyman and Lake Brantley each had seven wrestlers finish in the top four of their respective weight classes. Oviedo had five place winners while Lake Mary had eight, all coming in third or fourth.

According to first-year Lake Mary Coach Richard Batchelor, the individual seedings will be done at a coaches' meeting at 4 p.m.

Among the favorites to win individual conference titles are Lyman Christmas Tournament champions Nathan Prior (103), Jimmy Vela (145) and Kyle Larum (189) of Oviedo (103), Jason Truher (112) of Lake Brantley and Lyman's Richard Aikey (119), Willie Campos (125), Aaron Jordan (130) and Scott Chance (189).

Batchelor said that certain weight classes are impossible to handicap until the seed meeting and it's not known just which wrestlers will compete in which weight classes. For example, both Jordan and Lake Howell's Brendan Buckley could wrestle at 130 or 135. Lake Mary's Marcus Cobb and Seminole's Tommie Mathis will be at 130 while Oviedo's Mike Holland should be at 135.

One of the most competitive weight classes should be 145, where Vella is joined by Chyler Davis of Lake Brantley and Lake Mary's Kevin Millonig, who were second and third, respectively, behind Vella at the Christmas Tournament.

There's also the chance of a pair of personal duels being rejoined. At 152, Lake Brantley's Craig Streetman and Lake Mary's Chris Napoletano are 1-1 against each other this year. At 189, Chance and Tim Warren of Lake Brantley also are 1-1 against each other.

Lake Howell will be boosted by the presence of Ken Times, who joined the team after Christmas. He and Rob Stanton give the Silver Hawks flexibility at 220 and 275. Lake Mary's Damien Geffen was third at 220 in the Christmas Tournament.

Once all the championships have been decided, the SAC will be up against the Orange Belt Conference in the fourth annual Tournament of Champions on Saturday night.

Action begins at 6 p.m. this evening with the first and second rounds. On Saturday, the conference championship matches will be wrestled starting at 10 a.m. That will be followed by the wrestlebacks and consolation matches. At 6 p.m., the runners-up from the SAC and OBC will square off. At 8 p.m., the conference champions will tangle.

Batchelor said that admission will be $3 per person per session. Friday night's first and second rounds make up one session. The conference championship matches, wrestlebacks and consolations is another session. The Tournament of Champions (both rounds) makes up the final session.

Lake Howell rebounds to beat Rams

From staff reports

LAKE MARY — Josh Kohn scored 13 second quarter points as Lake Howell recovered from 18 point deficit en route to a 92-82 Seminole Athletic Conference Triumph over Lake Mark Thursday night.

The Silver Hawks finally tied the game in the third quarter as Kohn hit four free throws after a technical was called on the Rams' Jason Hamelin. From that point Lake Howell took control of the game and took its second win of the season over Lake Mary.

"It was a great game," said Silver Hawks coach Steve Kohn. "Of course I'm talking from the standpoint of the winning coach. But anytime the fans get to see this many points scored in a high school game it's a great game."

"It was still a two point game

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Despite spending all year among the Class 3A top 10 and a 12-1 record going into Thursday's game at Lake Brantley, the Seminole High School girls' basketball team hasn't been the juggernaut most fans have expected it to be.

Faced with having to blend senior players with young talent, Seminole Coach John McNamara has been working feverishly to try to find the right combination. Over the final 16 minutes of the Seminoles' game with the Patriots, it appeared McNamara may have found what he's looking for.

Trailing 30-26 at halftime, Seminole outscored Lake Brantley 34-15 during the second half to claim a

Tie between Rams, Hawks finalizes district seedings

By PHIL SMITH
Herald Correspondent

LAKE MARY — Joy Gorman and Jenny Bauer each scored a goal for their respective teams as the Lake Mary Rams and the Lake Howell Silver Hawks played to a 1-1 tie Thursday evening in girls soccer action at Lake Mary High School.

Lake Mary, now 10-5-7 overall and 6-2-3 in the Seminole Athletic Conference, needed a win plus a victory Saturday against Seminole to earn the No. 2 seed in next week's 4A-District 3 tournament. Lake Howell, 14-8-4 overall and 6-4-2 in the SAC, needed a win and a Lake Mary loss Saturday to earn the No. 3 seed.

However, the tie gives Lyman the second seed and drops the Rams to No. 3, meaning Lake Mary must play the DeLand on Monday evening in the first round of the district tournament. The Silver Hawks, now the No. 4 seed, will play Oviedo on Monday in the other first round match.

Midway into the first half Thursday night, Lake Mary's April Goss made a throw-in to Dana Hoover in the Silver Hawk penalty box. Hoover then passed to Gorman at the right edge of the box, where she rocketed a shot into the back of the net, giving the Rams a 1-0 lead.

Lake Howell tied the score with only two minutes remaining in the first half. Bauer took a shot from 25 yards away that caught the Lake Mary defense unaware and sent the game into halftime tied at 1-1.

"We had some chances early and couldn't finish them off," said Lake Mary Coach Bill Eisack. "Then they got a goal that put them right back in the game."

The Silver Hawks had a golden opportunity to go on top midway into the second half when they were awarded a penalty kick. But Ram goalkeeper Jen Preston made the save after the shot was mis-hit.

Cory Tanzer (No. 17, right) and the Lake Mary Rams needed to win their last two regular season games to get a first-round bye in next week's district tournament. Instead, the Rams tied Lake Howell and will must play Monday.

Lake Mary's best chance to take the lead came only five minutes later. Hoover made a pass to Shawn Thomas in the box where Thomas took a looping shot that hit the top of the crossbar and bounced over.

"The girls played a superb game. Both teams played very hard," said Lake Howell Coach Gerhard Tauscher. "It was everything you would expect from a Seminole Conference game."

Patriots blank Seminoles

SANFORD - You take your victories wherever you can find them.

On Thursday night, the Seminole High School girls' soccer team celebrated a victory of sorts for them, holding the defending Class 4A state champion Lake Brantley Patriots to just four goals in a 4-0 loss.

More importantly to Seminole Coach Buzo Reno and her team, they gave up two goals early, then shut out the Patriots for the next 58 minutes. A late letdown led to the final two Lake Brantley scores.

Auxilians give over 25,000 hours

Installation, awards spark annual meet

The HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital Auxiliary installed the 1991-92 officers and presented awards at the annual luncheon this month.

Officers installed are: Miriam Askew, president; Elsie Query, president-elect; Jane Back, vice president; Edith Avenel, treasurer; Lucille Young, recording secretary; and Dorothy Gatchel, corresponding secretary.

The 118 active members of the auxiliary contributed 25,645 volunteer hours during 1990. Larry Kent, chairman of the Board of Trustees of CFRH, praised the auxilians, not only for their generous gift of time, but also for their caring, as well.

There were 18 auxilians who contributed over 500 hours each in 1990. Five of them, Miriam Askew, Adith Avenel, Marietta Bragg, Elsie Query and Grace Smith, contributed over 1,000 hours each. Smith has the greatest number of cumulative hours: 21,145 hours during her more than 20 years as a volunteer.

A major function of the auxiliary is to provide scholarships to CFRH employees. Last year, the auxiliary awarded $11,691 in scholarships, according to Susan Prather, a hospital spokeswoman.

The auxiliary also provides service in 10 areas to the hospital: information desk, gift shop, sunshine cart, emergency room, recovery room, short stay surgery, surgical waiting room, library cart, trolley and cholesterol screenings.

The auxiliary needs volunteers, according to Prather. Those interested in becoming a CFRH auxilian may call 321-4500, ext. 653, for more information.

Pet breeding law horrifies reader

DEAR ABBY: I just read that the San Mateo County (Calif.) Board of Supervisors passed the nation's first law requiring the owners of dogs and cats to buy a breeding license, or get their pets sterilized.

The article stated that the Humane Society said it was "fed up" with putting to death more than 10,000 unwanted dogs and cats each year. In order to coerce the voters, they published photographs of trash barrels filled with dead cats they had picked up throughout the Bay area.

The society then held a public pet execution at the press conference, injecting five cats and three dogs with poison from a bottle marked "Fatal Plus" as the camera whirled and reporters jotted notes.

Abby, now anyone in San Mateo County owning a cat or dog that has not been spayed or neutered must produce a "breeding license" or face a fine of $500!

Does this sound "humane" to you? Please state your opinion.

BOREDOM IN REDWOOD CITY
DEAR HORRIFIED: Bow-wow and mee-ow! It's high time someone spoke for the voiceless. Although its approach was somewhat extreme, the Humane Society of San Mateo County rates applause and high marks from this animal lover.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday, I answered the telephone and patiently listened to a gentleman with a very nice voice trying to sell me a $39.95 book of coupons from the "local merchants." He said if I purchased a book of these coupons, I would be helping a child in his fight against leukemia.

I explained that we were on a very tight budget and I couldn't afford $39.95, but could I send a smaller donation to help the child? At first there was a stony silence, then bang went the receiver. Abby, that man had actually hung up on me!

I realize that most of these telephone solicitors are just doing their jobs, but I would think they would appreciate being told before they give their entire pitch that the party on the other end of the telephone is not interested.

Speaking for myself, as a matter of policy, I never buy anything on the telephone. I would never be rude, but I hate to take up their time when I know I'm not going to buy anything.

DENNISON, OHIO, HOUSEWIFE

DEAR HOUSEWIFE: I can't speak for all telephone solicitors, but if I were one, I would not want to waste my time giving my entire pitch to someone who, as a matter of policy, never buys anything on the telephone. A courteous, "I'm sorry, sir..." etc., as soon as one recognizes the caller as a telephone solicitor, would be my recommendation.

Who Holds The Key?

An old rusted one from long ago might reveal antique treasures packed into a worn trunk in the attic. A tiny intricate one can hold the written secrets of a young girl's heart. A shiny new one will bring that new car to life for the first time.

Keys may be related to wealth, security, and peace of mind. We carry them close to us, on our person or in another place of safekeeping. We are careful concerning those who hold the keys to the things most precious to us.

What is the most important aspect of our existence? Trust in God. Let Him hold the key to your heart. It is safe with Him.

A haven from the streets

By KELLEY MITCHELL
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — "Anyone with a desire to get their life together is welcome," according to Rev. Randall Hall-Walker, pastor of Freedom Assembly of God, 1515 W. 5th St., Sanford.

After 10 months of crusades, fundraisers and hard work, the congregation of Freedom Assembly will open Alternative Lifestyle, a residential housing facility, at 2 p.m. Sunday at the house, with Mayor Bettye Smith as speaker.

The facility, located at 1117 Hickory Ave., Sanford, will house 11 "students" who wish to turn their lives around and are in need of a haven from the streets, according to Rev. Hall-Walker.

Alternative Lifestyle supplies three meals, classes on personal development and the Book John, a work detail from 1-5 p.m. and a bed at night.

"Businesses are encouraged to contact me to set up days, times and activities needed to be done," Rev. Hall-Walker said. "The community is also welcome to sit in on morning or evening prayer meetings. Various pastors will volunteer to rotate the morning meeting and our resident men's supervisor, Roy Morris, will hold evening service.

"We already have our first student," said Rev. Hall-Walker. Leslie Butler became a resident of the facility two weeks ago. He and Roy Morris work hard during the day to help prepare the house for other students to move in.

The house was donated to the church by Stenstrom Stump Construction & Development Corp., 2559 Park Dr., Sanford, and after hours of work the home is almost ready. "The members of the congregation have worked very hard to make this possible," according to the Pastor Hall-Walker. Marvin Evans painted, Rodney Brown did the electrical work, Willie Whetstone worked on the plumbing and Charles E. Neal repaired the roof.

Donations from the congregation, community and local businesses have helped immensely, but more is needed. The home is in need of a hot water tank, refrigerator, freezer, kitchen utensils, pots and pans, bedding and curtains to name a few. Mattresses have been donated by the Salvation Army but even more are needed.

For further information and to make donations, contact Rev. Randall Hall-Walker at 323-1010.

Rev. Randall Hall-Walker expresses his excitement and appreciation to Leslie Butler and Roy Morris.

We live in the 'best of times, the worst of times'

By REV. JAMES E. ULMER

This week was the time to celebrate the birthday of a great American, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. He lived in the "best of times and the worst of times." The war in the Middle East is a reminder to all of us that every generation must face their own unique set of problems. People of faith and goodwill can join together in saving this earth of ours. We too shall overcome someday if we are willing to be faithful to those principles which promote love, justice, freedom and peace.

We can pray and work for peace while remaining strong enough to defend freedom. The United Nations has demonstrated through the recent resolution condemning aggression in the Middle East that nations can pool their resources to wage war and seek peace.

This year the world is celebrating the twentieth anniversary of Earth Day. Loyd Bridges ended an interview on television by reminding his hostess that Earth Day was soon to be celebrated. Then he signed off with a comment: "Our earth needs some saving." No doubt all of us agree. A recent poll conducted by the Public Broadcasting System reveals that over 70% of the people asked feel that protection of the environment is one of the most crucial issues facing America. This should remind all of us that we should face up to the fact that we have not been faithful in our responsibility of caring for the earth. Our planet is a gift from God, the Creator. Our earth indeed needs saving and this includes the people of the earth. They need to be saved from sin in any form.

Reading the Bible will help us understand that God created the earth. God gave people freedom to choose good or evil. The choice we make in life will determine the future of this good earth of ours. Let us join with others in saving the Earth. God will give us the wisdom to do this if we have the will.

Winter Springs church to embark on spiritual adventure of discipline

WINTER SPRINGS — In a culture and society where discipline of any type is a rare commodity, members of Winter Springs Community Church, 219 Wade St., will be committing themselves to a series of disciplines during the upcoming Lenten season, according to a press release.

Led by Pastor Phil Walck, the spiritual adventure is entitled "50 Days to Welcome Christ to Our Church." The adventure is sponsored by the national radio broadcast "Chapel of the Air" and will run from Feb. 10 to March 31 (Easter Sunday).

Participants in the program will commit themselves to follow five basic disciplines of the Christian faith for the entire 50 days. Since it takes 50 days to form a habit, the program is designed to give participants an opportunity to make progress in their Christian life and measure their spiritual growth.

Each year the national broadcast sponsors a different spiritual adventure, but each adventure maintains the same ultimate goal: helping people experience accelerated spiritual growth through a time of intense Bible study, prayer and outreach.

Adventure participants at Winter Springs Community Church will receive a personal journal, which contains Scripture readings, weekly assignments and a place to record daily progress. This year's adventure lists five disciplines:

- "Prepare Your Heart for Meaningful Worship."
- "Respond as Christ Speaks Powerfully through His Written Word."
- "Reverse a Self-Destructive Pattern."
- "Encourage Others through Seven Secret Acts of Christian Love."
- "Gain Freedom from What Others Think."

Those interested in joining the group of adventurers from Winter Springs Community Church should contact Phil Walck at 699-1757.

Social disability needs professional attention

MEDICINE
PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is there such a thing as social disability? Our 14-year-old grandson simply has no friends. He doesn't even make an effort. His parents divorced when he was 2. Please help.

DEAR READER: A preliminary study from the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey revealed that people on high-fat diets have proportionately more fatty substances in their saliva than do people on low-fat diets. Because salivary fat-content is associated with dental cavities, the researchers concluded that high-fat diets may predispose to tooth decay. These results have yet to be corroborated by other studies. (C) 1990 Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR READER: Social disability certainly does exist; some people are natural "loners" and have difficulty making (and keeping) friends.

Since most teen-agers yearn for and need the acceptance of friends and companions, I suspect your grandson feels he is missing some important human interaction. Yet, he may be too emotionally drained to make the effort — and too petrified about failure.

I'm concerned that his fear of risk-taking could develop into depression or severe loneliness. Also, his psychological discomfort makes him an ideal candidate for future substance abuse. Mind-altering drugs, such as alcohol and narcotics, often dull the pain, thereby providing a "reason" for addiction or anti-social behavior.

I think your grandson would benefit from counseling. A psychologist, social worker or member of the clergy could help him. Or he might find support and direction in a peer-counseling group. In any case, I believe he needs professional attention. Ask your doctor to refer you to appropriate resources in your community.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've heard of recent studies linking high-fat diets to an increase in dental cavities. Do you have additional information and an opinion on this?

ding that South needed to ruff diamonds in dummy. So he returned a heart at trick two. That was right, but there was more to the defense. Declarer won the jack in dummy and led a diamond. East played low — an absolutely necessary play. South inserted the jack, and West won the king and continued trumps. Declarer could now ruff only one diamond and later had to lose two more diamond tricks to go down one. If East had won the ace of diamonds when declarer, in dummy, first led the suit, declarer would ruff a diamond in dummy and later force out the king with the queen or jack to lose only two tricks in the suit and make his contract. Answer to Previous Puzzle

WIN AT

By James Jacoby

Picking the right defense is like choosing an entree from a menu — just as it's hard to determine what delicacy will best satisfy the taste buds, it is also difficult to figure out what strategy will work best. These are some of the choices on your bridge menu: (1) Take your tricks as quickly as possible. This is usually right when declarer has plenty of tricks to make his contract if he ever gets on lead. (2) Lead winning tricks in your own suit, forcing declarer to ruff and shorten his own trump suit to his detriment. (3) Lead trumps so that declarer is unable to make the tricks he needs by ruffing in dummy. Today's defense shows East making two right decisions. When East won the ace of clubs, he rightly judged from the bid-

YOUR BIRTHDAY

You have established a relationship in which real values have yet to be tapped. In the year ahead, this significant association will be a major contributor to your success.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Double-check your sources today regarding information that directly affects your self-interests. If you act on faulty data, it could put you behind the eight ball. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail #2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you haven't met anyone interesting lately, this could all change today. There is a possibility you may encounter an individual who is both charismatic and mysterious.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This is a good day to link up socially with an influential career contact you've recently made. Mutual benefits may be exchanged once you get to know one another better.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're presently in a good learning cycle; you should be able to effectively evaluate information, both intuitively and logically. This will give you a broader grasp of what you study.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're a good salesperson today, but you could also be very easy to sell. In fact, a smooth talker's pitch could be of more interest to you than the merchandise being peddled.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's important to weigh your alternatives before making a decision today. But, you might be inclined to overanalyze things and end up too indecisive.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Practice sensible health habits today, but don't overexaggerate tiny, aches and pains, using them as excuses to get others to assume your responsibilities.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Innocent flirtation on your behalf today could be misinterpreted and taken seriously by the target of your attention. If you turn on the wrong person, you might have a tough time turning this individual off.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Unless you are determined today, your good intentions might remain unfulfilled. If you start something, have the resolve to see it through to completion.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't be embarrassed to ask a lot of questions today, especially if you have an assignment pertaining to something about which you're unfamiliar. Pride precedes a fall.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You are likely to be extremely imaginative today regarding ways to make or save money. Try to put this gift to good use in both areas.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Charm, consideration and compassion are attributes that can contribute to your success today. Try to give these three C's a vigorous workout. (C) 1991, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.
