

Kennedy Hits Back At Jap Leftists' Jabs At U.S.

TOKYO (UPI) — Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy's Irish temper flared in a heated discussion with leaders of the leftist Sohyo labor federation today and he accused them of using a double standard in judging the United States and Communist countries.

Iwai explained he was leaving for Europe Saturday. Kennedy urged him to come afterward. Iwai still did not reply directly and switched to another subject but Kennedy would not let him off the hook.

Americans are a "group of imperialists." "Is that the belief of Sohyo?" Kennedy said, raising his voice considerably and shaking his finger at Iwai.

on Tibet and Hungary do you consider Communist China and the Soviet Union imperialists?" "I would say there were some racial mistakes concerned," Iwai said.

County Can't Pay Sisk, State Rules

The Attorney General's office ruled today that the county has no authority to pay Orange County Health officer W. N. Sisk $100 per month supplementary pay for twice weekly visits here.

The arrangement between the two counties was that Dr. Sisk would visit here on Wednesdays and Fridays.

Longwood OKs Ordinance To Annex Area

The Longwood City Council, meeting in adjourned session Thursday night, routinely and quickly approved an annexation ordinance for bringing two blocks of Hwy. 17-92 property into the city and immediately plunged into its first discussion of the proposed dog ordinance.

Election on the annexation was set for March 20 and will be determined by a majority count of those casting votes.

The council spent nearly two hours reading and rehashing the proposed ordinance for the control of dogs in its effort to come up with a law that will have "some teeth in it" yet will not be so prohibitive in coats and licensing fees as to prevent the possession of an animal.

Provisions of the ordinance will require proof of inoculation against rabies before a dog can be registered and licensed by the city.

Call him "administrative assistant," "county coordinator" or by any other name (nice name, that is) the Board of County Commissioners has decided that they need, yes, NEED, professional help.

While it's asking too much to get another "Most Valuable Public Official" (Pete Knowles), it is possible to find a GOOD man with a background in education, training and practical experience in municipal or county administration.

The decision of the garden clubs to use their many talents in beautifying our city surely is surprising if one of the first tough assignments undertaken is that of sprucing up the grounds of a near neighbor of ours on W. First Street.

North Orlando Councilmen Dominic Terebo and Reginald Webster have picked up qualifying petitions to run for the posts they now hold through appointment.

Still in that section of our county, the new Chun King Rickshaw Inn makes a striking addition to the roadside at Fern Park.

Over 5.3 miles of county roads have been paved since October of last year, according to County Engineer Carlton Blise.

TWIRLING FANTASIES will delight the viewer Saturday at Fleming Gym at 8 p. m. when the Seminole High School A and B Corps Majorettes play hostesses to a bevy of pretty junior high and high school majorette corps from all over Central Florida.

Original One Ruled Out On Default

The Post Office Department will readvertise for bids on a new Sanford Post Office within the next 10 days, Congressman Syd. Herlong told the Herald today.

Herlong said that the low bidder on the project was ruled out because of a default and postal officials could not successfully negotiate with the second low bidder.

Two weeks ago, the low bidder, Brown, Mason and McHugh, Inc. of Jacksonville was given an ultimatum by the Post Office Department by Feb. 1 or the bid would be voided and the bond forfeited.

There was speculation that the post office would start negotiations with Helmeard Corp., the second low bidder. The Jacksonville firm had been awarded the low bid on the contract Aug. 28. As of today no work has started clearing the property located between Sanford and Palmelle Ave., west of the Civic Center.

The contract called for work to be started 30 days after the bid was awarded Aug. 28.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I recently married a 42-year-old man who acts like he's 90. Before we were married, all he did was brag about what terrific condition he was in. Now his excuse is that he led such an active life when he was single, it must have slowed him down. I am 33 and far from ready to sit and knit while he reads. His doctor says he's fit as a fiddle. I am seriously considering getting myself a boy friend. NOT KIDDING.

DEAR NOT: If your husband is "fit as a fiddle," you don't need a new beau. What you need is a little imagination. Take the lead and stir up some excitement.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl. My boy friend is the same age. His birthday is coming up soon and I want to give him a present. I don't get a regular allowance, but that all went for cosmetics and things like that. I asked my Dad if he would give me about $20 so I could buy my boy friend a sweater and all I got was a big lecture about how the kids of today don't know the value of a dollar. . . all that jazz. You'd think I had asked him for a million dollars. Can you put something in your column to let my father know that times have changed and that $20 is no big deal any more? BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: If $20 is "no big deal any more," why didn't you save it? At the present habituating rates, it shouldn't have taken you long—if you had really wanted to. Your father is right.

DEAR ABBY: Ross and I went together for two years. He is 29 and I am 24. I knew all along I wasn't in love with him, but I didn't want to hurt his feelings because he was so completely in love with me.

Finally, I couldn't put off his proposals any longer. I told him I just "didn't think I should see him any more." He cried like a baby, so I agreed to date him if he could be just "friends." He begs me to kiss him and I feel so sorry for him I give in, but I don't feel anything. Now he's talking marriage again. How can I untangle myself from him? He says rather than break up with me, I should continue to date him and we will be "just friends." Please help me! SOFT-HEARTED

DEAR SOFT-HEARTED: Don't kid yourself. He might be a "friend" to you, but you are more than a "friend" to him. He hopes to wear you down and get you to marry him after all. (This has been known to happen.) Break — and break clean. He'll live.

How is the world treating you? Unload your problems on Abby, care is no big deal any more? BUGGED

ROCK HUDSON and Doris Day in a scene from "Lover Come Back" now playing at the Ritz Theatre.

Comedy Film At Ritz

There's no doubt about it. For a champagne topper to "Pillow Talk" every movie ever must taste Universal's madcap mélange of merry-making and romance, "Lover Come Back," which opens Sunday at the Ritz Theatre, as the season's first new comedy smash.

Combining the talents of the same trio teamed in the earlier film—Rock Hudson, Doris Day and Tony Randall—the new vehicle races a-long at an even more laugh-provoking tempo.

Any lingering doubts about the comedic genius of the triumvirate of stars are forever put at rest with the black-buster assault on the public's funnybone made in every hilarious frame of the current production.

An eye-popping double-barreled surprise awaits happy viewers of the celluloid frolic—one in the high-joltage secret ingredient put into a concocted item described as "VIP," and another in the fade-out footage where social custom runs a nip-and-tuck race with the stork. The picture may in fact make "VIP" a new word in the national idiom.

Weekend Television

Table of TV listings for Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. Columns include Day, Time, Channel, and Program Name. Includes programs like 'Good Morning', 'Captain Kangaroo', 'The Dick Van Dyke Show', etc.

Highlights

7:30-8:30 p. m. NBC International Showtime. Host Don Ameche introduces another telecast, filmed at the Circus d'Hotel in Paris, France, and titled "Circus Thrills." Although this is the second show from the famed Parisian Circus, the acts are new and include Bratuchin's Cossack Horses, with a live-member family riding group; Carl Reino Anderson of Sweden who stands on a bicycle on a slack wire and is possibly the best in tonight's show; Susan Soren, a solo performer on the flying trapeze; and framed chimps, a very good troupe act and clown Laurie Lupino Lane and Truzzi.

TV Time Previews

8:00-9:00 p. m. CBS, Route 66. "How Much A Pound Is Albatross?" Tod and Bud (Martin Miller and George Mahar) have quite a time trying to take a wild filly in the person of Julie Newmar, who rides a motorbike like there is no tomorrow and, even when she lands in jail, doesn't want to leave because she likes it there. Miss Newmar is particularly good in what seems to start out as a mild story, but gets down to serious business in short order. Good action and excitement in the highway chase scenes.

9:10 p. m. ABC, 77 Sunset Strip. "The Brass Ring Caper," Gerald Lloyd Kookson III, better known as Kookie, is the star of tonight's show, winning his spurs as a full-fledged private-eye. Kookie gives a young hitchhiker a ride and later, when he hears the young man has been picked up on murder and robbery charges, he decides to investigate. The hitchhiker admits to the robbery, for which he says the victim's husband hired him, but he denies the murder. Edward Byrne, Roger Smith and Jacqueline Berger are starred with guest Robert Ivers.

9:30-10:30 p. m. NBC. Debutante '62. Cornelia Otis Skinner is hostess-narrator for this TV special that peaks into the institutions and the private lives revolving around the hallowed American custom of debutante balls.

South's four spade contract was a good one. At worst it would depend on guessing the queen of clubs and that is just what it finally did depend on.

West's queen of hearts was allowed to hold the first trick and be shifted to the ace and another trump.

South won and led the four of diamonds. Had West risen with the ace, school would have been out, but West played low and dummy's king won the trick.

South's next play was the king of hearts from dummy. East played the ace and South ruffed.

He ran off all his spades. Normally West would have had to discard down to the jack of hearts and ace of diamonds.

South would still have a club guess, but he would surely play East for the queen merely because East held three clubs and West only two.

However, West discarded most brilliantly. He hung on to the seven of hearts (not the nine) and let the deuce of clubs go on the last spade.

Now South decided that West had started with three clubs, not two, and that the queen of clubs was certain to drop. He played the ace and

We The Women

Women feel guilty if things are made too easy for them. That is why many of the cake mixes on the market have a woman add eggs to the mix—instead of just water. Beating the eggs and putting them into the mix gives a woman the feeling that she is doing something to the cake, herself.

Apparently we women haven't completely outgrown the on how hard we have to work. Great-grandma used to "work her fingers to the bone," "stand over a hot stove all day," and sigh sadly that "a woman's work is never done." Those old sayings gave great-grandma comfort—for they were reassuring to her ego.

So, apparently, every time a job is made too simple for a housewife she begins to feel that her value depends uneasy and guilty. It's silly that she should because for every job that is made easy for today's housewife she takes on another job.

Today's housewife doesn't work her fingers to the bone making quilts, canning, embroidering children's clothes—and all those things that great-grandma used to do.

But she fills her days just as completely with other jobs—chauffeuring, doing community work, sharing her husband's leisure time activities, "keeping up" with her husband intellectually.

So instead of feeling guilty when some routine job is made easier for her—she ought to tell herself, "without all the short cuts available to me I never could do all the things it is necessary for a housewife to do in today's world. I'm not being lazy when I take advantage of every timesaver available. It's the only way I can get done everything expected of me."

That's not rationalizing. For most housewives it is the plain, simple truth. The more housewives freed from the kitchen—the more is expected of them outside it. So why the guilty feelings?

Sandburg Takes Public

NEW YORK (UPI)—Carl Sandburg, the distinguished poet and Lincoln disciple, led up through a nourishing walk-past of "Lincoln's Prairie Years" Thursday night.

The "CDB Reports" program was filmed in the Illinois towns that Lincoln once knew. Howard K. Smith accompanied Sandburg and asked the questions that turned Sandburg loose.

We watched as Sandburg visited the Lincoln country of New Salem, Mt. Pulaski, Springfield and Galesburg. We listened as he spun his familiar stories about Lincoln's years as a frontier storekeeper, lawyer and legislator. The anecdotes and commentary were delivered with Sandburg's customary blend of reverence, seasoning and philosophical undercutting.

What we missed, however, was a more eloquent camera. Anchoring the lens to Sandburg made his words the dominant feature of a program that had other rich assets to offer. I felt that off-camera comments and more scanning of rooms, buildings and land would have made the half-hour more palpable experience.

Dear readers: The next time turn on my TV set, it will be a civilian. The column goes on, but this is the last one for me. No tears now. I want to remember you the way you were.

As I move on, and realizing that it is against the rules, I want to thank my boss, United Press International. They promised that I would be allowed to call my own shots and they stuck to their word. More than you'll ever know. In this respect, UPI was my sponsor, my producer, but not my director. With that kind of support, I find myself able to exclaim smiling and without a scratch. Stay tuned for my successor. The best is yet to be.

TROY DONAHUE and Connie Stevens in a scene from "Susan Slade Drive-In Bound" coming to the Movieland Drive-In Sunday.

Susan Slade Drive-In Bound

Troy Donahue and Connie Stevens top the cast of the Warner Bros. Technicolor romantic drama "Susan Slade," opening Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In Theater. Delmer Daves produced and directed the film from his own screenplay based on Doris Hume's best-selling novel. Dorothy McGuire, Lloyd Nolan, Brian Aherne and Nolan Williams are also starred.

The provocative account of a young girl's first encounter with love and the bizarre attempt of her parents to protect her from the consequences of the tragic affair marks a re-pairing of Donahue and Miss Stevens, who earlier this year scored in "Farrish."

The other feature on the program which will play through Tuesday is "Pose From Hell."

On Wednesday and Thursday, "Initiation General" and "The Wreck of the Mary Deare" will play.

On Friday and Saturday, "The Errand Boy," "Burn Yesterday" and "Gunman From Laredo" will play.

Bankers Down

In Wednesday night's City Basketball League, Florida State Bank downed the Marine Barracks, 61-27 with Brown leading the scoring for Florida State Bank with 16 points.

In the second game, VAHT defeated Wilson Maier in a double overtime, 67-60. Smith led the scoring for VAHT with 21 points. Jim Gracey also had 21 points for Maier.

 Fishermen probably have more fun than anybody and most of their enjoyment really seems to be derived from talking, not fishing. Believing in spreading the fun around, The Herald and Harry Robson of Robson's Sporting Goods have decided to sponsor "The Fishing Liars Contest of 1962," open to anybody whose conscience doesn't prohibit handling the truth a little loosely as long as no harm is done. The newspaper and Robson's will award prizes for the best (or most fantastic) fishing falsehood. There's only one rule. Stories must be signed by the writer and brought or mailed to "The Fishing Liars Contest of 1962" in care of The Sanford Herald or Robson's Sporting Goods. Each story will be printed in this column and will be eligible for the prizes, which will be announced later. The contest will end March 17. Since it takes one to know one, research is being done now to determine what local citizens might have the honor of being, by experience, most capable judges of the liar's contest. Who's first with a whopper?

A number of Sanford area boaters will be in Jacksonville this weekend for the final days of the big boat show there. At least one, D. H. MacGillis, who is an officer in the St. Johns River Marathon Assn., also will attend a planning session for the marathon scheduled May 7 this year. The association is trying to work out a way to rev up spectator interest in the long race and, since it will start and finish at Sanford, there should be strong support here of their efforts. Since the marathon will be held on Sunday this year, there ought to be a big turnout to watch the excitement of the start and finish. There's more to it than just the boats running, too. The association elects a queen and the day's program includes other items that are good fun for watchers as well as the racers. The Sanford Boat and Ski Club has done yeoman's work on this race for several years and can be credited partially with sustaining interest in it. With the right support of water sportsmen of all types, it could be one of the best boating events in the country.

Installer Rated Top Dog In SOKC Feature

C. H. Lovely's Installer, who has been a quiniela factor nine times in 11 tries, goes to the post at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club tonight as a 2 to 1 favorite on the morning line in the featured ninth race of an 11-race program. The 74-pound red fawn brindle pup, who graduated from the Maiden Class on Christmas night, will be shooting for her fifth victory. Out to upset the apple cart for the young star will be Cliff Orth, Faith Hope, Wonderon, Nite Magic, Rex Tray, Suzella and Cedar Cadet. Three-time winners in this contest are Faith Hope, Wonderon, Nite Magic, Suzella and Cedar Cadet. The spotlight this week centers on the running of the final of the Racing King Stakes on Saturday night. The all-star field of male greyhounds is composed of the first four to finish in two semi-finals Wednesday, except that Harold Express was disqualified from further competition for interference and Foxy Rifle was substituted. Aside from Foxy Rifle others seeking the king's crown will be Wade Tray, Fathom, Roger Phillips, Tuffy O'Leary, Upstager, Be Fawn and Blotched.

SHS Hosts 'Cudas

Game Time Set For 8

By Ronnie Broadway
 Coach Bud Laver's Sanford Seminoles host the New Smyrna Beach Barracudas tonight in Fleming Gym as the Seminoles will be looking for their tenth victory of the season. Game time will be 8 p.m. with Junior Varsity action getting underway at 6:30 p.m. Sanford has one win over the 'Cudas, 66-60 earlier in the season, but the 'Cudas have improved somewhat since. Laver expects a close contest once again with Dave MacGillis, Hutch Riser, Barry Brown, Bubba Davis, and Mike Woodruff leading the Seminoles into action. Donnie Hill and Jim Jenkins head up the New Smyrna lineup and they are both good men in the rebound department. Don McMurray, Ken Gustavson and Gene Williams will probably see a lot of action for the Seminoles.

Chamber As Modern As Tomorrow's Newspaper, Mills Tells Jaycees

"The chamber of commerce movement has its roots in antiquity but is as modern as tomorrow's newspaper," members of the Sanford Jaycees were told at the luncheon meeting, held Thursday at the Civic Center.

The speaker was William A. Mills, executive vice president of the N. Y. State Chamber of Commerce before his retirement and a veteran of 40 years experience in the National Trade Assn. director and one of two commercial organizations executives listed in Who's Who.

Mills placed special emphasis on the need to identify business interests with the public interest and said that unless objectives are related and identified as being in the public interest they will not succeed.

"Downtown business no longer exercises the gravity force it once did in attracting people to the central shopping area," Mills said.

"Most cities have tolerated complacency too long and the center of the city has lost much of its appeal," he added.

Mills noted that the downtown business area, which was once considered the place to bank, find professional services, recreation and shopping, now has found itself competing with neighborhood drive-in theaters, out-lying shopping centers, specialty shops, night-clubs and motels, outside the city limits.

This problem calls for business statesmanship within the merchant group and all others concerned with the problem of downtown deterioration, the speaker said, and included in this group, owners and investors in downtown real estate, financial interests, professional men and public officials.

"These persons should be aware," he said, "of the declining value of what is generally the highest rated taxable property in the city."

"Everyone seems to want new industries and the added business that expanded pay-rolls produce, and most chambers of commerce have this as one of their major objectives," Mills said.

"But you don't get new industries, by forming committees, printing attractive brochures, advertising in national publications or by huge billboards inviting industry to locate in your hometown."

"Today," he said, "industrial location is a very scientific procedure. It is the city with the best 'business climate' that will get the new plant."

"The city that has not examined its 'business climate,' the speaker pointed out, "is not taking full advantage of the growth potential that lies ahead for Florida."

The need for localized police action was stressed by W. W. Anderson, president of the North Orlando Civic Assn., at Tuesday's 8 p. m. meeting of the Village Council.

Anderson, who asked why the volunteer firemen could not be deputized as acting policemen, was advised by Mayor Frank Fasula that responsibility for their lives could not be put on the shoulders of the village. "Who would be responsible if these men shot someone or they got shot?" Fasula asked.

In other business the audience and council joined in a lengthy discussion on the question of preventing vandalism at the new recreation and play area with one resident reporting that two teenage boys not of the community were witnessed committing destructive acts to shelters at the shuffleboard court. The witness also reported that these boys had frightened a much smaller child by pinning it on top of the shelter and had been "exceedingly rude" to a woman when chastised for the act.

The mayor agreed to Anderson's request that specific rules be set for the play areas and that notices be sent to all residents. Fasula said that he had been advised that on Monday a small child was hurt at the playground and that there should have been no reason for the accident which resulted in the youth being hospitalized overnight. Blame was placed on the fact that older youngsters have been guilty of playing on the Toddlers' Playground although facilities for their age group have been provided.

The mayor advised that he would to his utmost in cooperating with parents to keep order at the recreation center.

Both Anderson and Fasula again pointed out that children caught misusing the area and equipment will be picked up and taken to their parents and that the parents will be held totally responsible for all damages.

Plans still are underway for building a swimming pool and clubhouse with work to begin this week on moving the structure to be used as a Civic Building to the recreation park, Fasula reported.

In answer to a question from Volunteer Fire Chief Bob Stephenson, Fasula advised that there will be land for a firehouse and discussed plans with the firemen for an early fund raising drive for the building.

Fasula said that voter registration was "pretty good" and reminded residents again to be sure and register in order that they may vote in the March 20 election for two council members.

Troop 497 Enjoys Visit To Scout House

By Shirley Wentworth

Girl Scout Troop 497 of Bear Lake enjoyed an overnight stay at the Girl Scout House on Cella Lane in Orlando last weekend.

The group arrived at the house at 4 p. m. on Friday afternoon and after getting settled, planned and cooked the evening meal.

Later in the evening the girls enjoyed skits, songs and games while working for their Personal Health Badges.

On Saturday morning, they cooked their own breakfast and conducted a flag ceremony. They also learned how to whip the end of a rope in connection with their Camp Craft Badges. At the close of the session a "Scout's Own" was conducted with "friendship" as the theme.

Poems and stories read during the inspirational period brought the outing to a close with the group returning home on Saturday afternoon.

Attending were Vicky and Pelly Brannon, Leslie Carmichael, Sandra Elliott, Jane Epinger, Candace Harrington, Cheryl Hall, Mary Kilger, Janice Piornek and Patty Stevenson.

Mrs. John Hall, leader of the troop, accompanied the girls on the trip for which Senior Scout Nancy Flahinger of Winter Park served as guide.

$1.7 Million Gems Recovered By FBI

POMPAÑO BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—The FBI said today it has recovered $1,750,000 worth of jewels stolen from a Pompano Beach shop and arrested three men and two women charged with the theft.

Miami FBI agent in charge Wesley G. Grapp said the recovery of the loot was one of the largest jewelry theft recoveries in history. Value of the stolen jewels previously had been reported at $500,000.

The FBI said it arrested Sunday at Miami Beach three men who allegedly robbed the Taylor jewelry store Saturday after tying up the manager and a porter.

Agents identified the men as Paul W. (Peanuts) Panczko, 38, of Chicago, Richard W. Kay, 38, of Three Oaks, Mich., and Edward H. Cook, 36, of Oak Lawn, Ill.

The two women arrested were previously identified by Pompano Beach authorities as Mary Blanton, 31, of Miami Beach, and Betty Jean Moody, 31, of Riverdale, Md. Officers said Miss Blanton had $1,000 in cash in her purse when arrested.

None of the accused robbers offered resistance, the FBI said, although they had five loaded revolvers in their possession.

Agents said they also picked up three walkie-talkie radios, a supply of ammunition for the revolvers and five sets of handcuffs.

Joseph Tarnove, the store manager, and porter Jessie Edwards identified the three men in a police lineup after the arrests. Tarnove later identified the stolen jewelry.

He explained that such a large amount of jewelry was stocked in the small store because it is the height of the tourist season.

In smuggling his pictures out, he told his colleagues on the 30th of November revolutionary movement in this country that they should be distributed to the world and he should identify, even if he became a "sacrifice."

Gonzalez insisted he be identified, Cuban exile friends said, because he wanted to lend maximum authenticity to the pictures, believed the first to be made of the lot of political prisoners under Castro's dictatorial regime.

The young rebel officer spent 13 months in Cabana dungeons to which he was sentenced for being too openly anti-Communist to suit armed forces commander Maj. Raul Castro.

Gonzalez took the pictures with a vest-pocket type camera secreted on his person. He had never before taken a picture. He took many more than the 10 capable of reproduction, but most were rejected because of his lack of knowledge of photography.

Gonzalez said his cellmates included three founders of Castro's original 26th of July movement, who not only participated in the unsuccessful 1953 attack on a Batista army post but in the original invasion from Mexico in 1952.

U. S. reporters who visited the Cabana fortress in the early days of the revolution confirmed the authenticity of the background in Gonzalez's pictures. The pictures were offered to support what Gonzalez described as "bestial treatment" of political prisoners.

Glenn, Missile Ready, But Is The Weather?

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. and his 93-foot space machine were all set today for his scheduled orbital flight around the world Wednesday but weathermen were worried about rough seas in the Atlantic recovery areas.

As the countdown for America's first attempt to put a man in orbit reached "minus 18 hours," forecasters at Miami reported "a couple of areas" in the Atlantic "that are very questionable."

The weather prospect for the Cape "looks pretty good," the Weather Bureau said. But however good the weather might be at the launch site, Glenn could be kept grounded if seas were too rough for safe landing in the Atlantic recovery areas.

The cape looks pretty good right now, but the mid-Atlantic is the problem," the Miami bureau said. "There are a couple of areas that are very questionable Sunday it was very rough but has subsided some."

"But even in the east Atlantic where there are some rough seas. A high pressure area north of the Azores is causing rough seas to the south."

If the seas subside and the weather is good, and Glenn and his spacecraft and rocket remain in top shape, the astronaut will be put into orbit some time between 7:30 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Man, Daughter Hurt In Crash

A 40-year-old Sanford man was killed today after a two-car collision at Ninth St. and Elm Ave. Friday night.

The man was identified as Noah Booth, 801 Palmetto Ave. He was believed to be suffering from internal injuries and severe cuts and bruises.

His daughter, Sharon Booth, 14, was also admitted in the hospital with minor injuries.

The driver of the other vehicle, Bernie Hughes, Avalon Apartments, was charged with reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident, police said.

Tax Loophole Plugging Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said today that Congress should plug tax loopholes on U. S. business investments abroad before enacting President Kennedy's foreign trade program.

Gore quoted a "very high official" in the Kennedy administration "as warning that powerful special interests were trying to protect tax loopholes with 'blackmail' aimed at the President's trade proposals. He did not elaborate.

U.S. Seeking Some Powers Answers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The big question the United States wants answered in its interrogation of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers is how his photo reconnaissance plane was able to be captured.

U. S. security agents will hold Powers incommunicado for a week to 10 days while they seek answers to these questions. Then presumably he will be allowed to tell his story to the public.

Powers was secluded today with members of his family at a hideaway as top-secret as the U2 spy flights he once made over the Soviet Union.

Powers, 32, freed by the Russians Saturday in exchange for master Soviet spy Rudolph Abel, was flown back to the United States first for a reunion with his wife and parents, and then for intensive government questioning.

Further official questioning of Powers already is in the wind. Three members of the Senate Armed Services Committee said today they will interview the committee would like to talk to Powers.

Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., said he would like to know what type of indoctrination he received to prepare for the possibility of being captured.

Low Bid Listed On Alix Plant

The Builders Realty Inc. of Orlando was the apparent low bidder on construction of the new Alix of Miami plant in Sanford.

Price of the low bid could not be made public until the bid is officially awarded Feb. 20. At that time, Alex Schneidman, president of the firm will be in Sanford and meet with officials of the Sanford-Seminole Development Co. on awarding the bid.

Construction of the facility is expected to get underway some 20 days after the bid is awarded.

The plant will be located on Hwy. 17-92, just south of the city limits.

Twenty bidders participated in the bid opening in Architect John Burton's office Friday afternoon.

Russia Ignored By Allied Planes

BERLIN (UPI)—Allied military and commercial planes flew the air corridors into West Berlin as usual today despite earlier Russian attempts to reserve parts of two of them for their own use.

Western officials said there was no doubt the Communists were trying to undercut the West's most important links with the isolated city. The Allies were determined not to retreat an inch.

Passengers aboard regular commercial flights over East Germany reported no unusual Russian activity in the corridors.

However, commercial planes usually fly higher than the altitudes the Russian had tried to restrict for their own flights.

SRD Reports Increases Up To 20 Percent

The State Road Department reported today a "booming" increase in traffic on all state roads through Seminole County.

SRD engineers reported that the biggest percentage increase in traffic was over SR 436 west of Hwy. 17-92 where traffic jumped 20 percent last year as compared to 1960.

In 1960 the average traffic count was 3,200 cars daily and in 1961 that figure jumped to 3,800 cars per day.

County Engineer Carlton Bliss, on learning of the SRD figures, reported that "something is going to have to be done to handle all this traffic immediately."

The contract on SR 436 is supposed to be let in the spring.

Other figures reveal a 10 percent increase in traffic over the Osteen Bridge 10 percent increase in traffic on Hwy. 17-92.

The study released by the SRD revealed that there is more than a five percent increase in cars going into the county than leaving the area.

Florida Warned On Storm Losses

ATLANTA (UPI)—Future hurricanes will take a "staggering" toll of damage in Florida coastal communities unless state and local interests take protective action, the South Atlantic Army Engineer Division reported Saturday.

The engineers, in a report to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors in Washington, said that federal participation in hurricane protection was warranted in only five areas—Miami, Fort Lauderdale, Tampa, Naples, and Charlotte Harbor.

The report said further study was necessary before the federal government should undertake any work even in those five areas.

The engineers studied 250 urban areas in Florida. But in all except the five, it found that providing such protection as seawalls, levees, and breakwaters was "generally unfeasible and in many areas impracticable."

Pryor At Home After Release

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—Frederic L. Pryor, who spent 5½ months in a Soviet jail in East Germany, settled down today to what he hoped would be the resumption of a "normal life."

Pryor was the United States "honorary" in the exchange of Francis Gary Powers for Rudolf I. Abel with the Soviet Union Saturday.

1865 Herald (N.Y.) Tells Of Lincoln's Assassination

By Dot Higginbotham

Today is the birthday of President Abraham Lincoln. The tragic and shocking assassination of the President is probably one of the blackest days in the history of the country.

Mrs. Edgar Brooks, who lives at 438 Summerlin Ave., has in her possession an original copy of the New York Herald, with its account of the assassination on April 15, 1865.

It was particularly interesting to note the composition of the front page story of this momentous occasion. No blazing banner headlines such as would be used today.

All the multiple decked headlines in the far left hand column, one line under the other in different sizes of type.

The stories begin in the second column and continue on across the page for three columns. The fifth and sixth columns are concerned with the War Between the States, at 1 a. m. and at 1:30 and 2 a. m.

The final dispatch at 9:30 a. m., April 15th stated: To Major Gen. Dix: The president died at 7:22 a. m. today.

It was signed by Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War. One interesting sentence was especially noteworthy because of its succinct brevity and terse commentary was as follows: "The parting of his family with the dying president is too sad for words."

And that was it, the reporter stopped right there.

This is undoubtedly a respectful and discreet manner in which to deal with the matter, but maddening to historians, who have chronicled the details of the life and death of Lincoln, perhaps more extensively than that of any other man in history.

Often overlooked in the tremendous historical significance of the president's death, is the fact that one of Booth's accomplices also stabbed Secretary Clarence Beward in his bed, twice in the face and once in the throat, and also stabbed his son Frederick who rushed to his side.

The report said that the man then rushed out of the house and jumped upon his horse, shouting "Sic Semper Tyrannus" (the motto of Virginia) as he galloped away.

(Both the secretary and his son recovered from their wounds.)

In the same edition of the newspaper, of which James Gordon Bennett was editor and proprietor, were accounts of Sherman's Army on the Move, The Fall of Richmond, and Details of the Surrender at Appomattox.

The reports said that Sherman told his men to be prepared to march, in a speech in Richmond after it fell. There were accounts of the noisy and frenzied celebrations of the Union soldiers in the streets and a facetious editorial about how glad the Rebel soldiers were to be able to take off their uniforms and return to their homes.

On the same page, was an earlier dispatch from Jefferson Davis's headquarters in which the Confederate leader exhorted his men to hold Virginia at all costs.

There is another article which advised Virginians that it was their duty to submit to the United States authorities.

There's no way of knowing how often the paper was published, but apparently reports of correspondents over a period of a week or two were all printed regardless of the chronological age of the events.

This paper is only one of hundreds of copies of newspapers dating from 1841 that Mrs. Brooks' late husband collected. The papers tell of many of the most important events from all over the world over the past 100 years and more.

Mr. Brooks had collected these copies from almost every country in the world, and put them into bound volumes. They are yellow with age and of incredibly delicate texture (so that it takes both hands to carefully turn the page) but fascinating to read.

A magnifying glass is needed though, for the print is small and difficult to read.

Break Into School

The Goldsboro Elementary School was entered some time Sunday night but apparently nothing was taken, police said. Entry was gained by breaking a window on the side of the building.

THIS OLD NEWSPAPER, PRINTED on April 15, 1865, carries the account of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln as he sat watching a play in the Ford Theatre. Mrs. Edgar Brooks of Summerlin Ave. has this and numerous other valuable old editions in her possession. (Herald Photo)
