

DAVIS BITTER IN ATTACK ON ARMS MAKERS

U.S. Representative En Route To Geneva To Attend Conference, Assails Pro-fiteers

NEW YORK, May 19.—(A.P.)—Leaving behind him a statement bitter in tone against "those who profit from traffic in armaments," Norman Davis, United States Ambassador-at-large, started back to Europe today to attend the resuming International Disarmament Conference.

He said a crisis had been reached in the negotiations, and he added the comment that on the surface, prospects of agreement at an early date are not encouraging.

At Geneva the Council of the League of Nations today unanimously adopted a resolution authorizing its Chaco committee to consult arms exporting countries for an embargo on the shipment of arms and munitions to Bolivia and Paraguay.

Hope was raised here yesterday that Soviet Russia, once scornful of Geneva efforts for disarmament, would save the day for the wearied statesmen still striving at this international meeting place to reach an accord.

It was inspired by the unexpected arrival of Maxim Litvinoff, Russian commissar for foreign affairs, thought by many to be the result of alarm in Moscow over rumors that the world conference would be allowed to collapse.

Discussion in interested circles even swung to a possibility that the Soviet Union is considering advances to be admitted to membership in the League of Nations.

Litvinoff led his staff to his apartment in midtown Manhattan and he had a talk with Louis Barthou, French foreign minister yesterday afternoon, but refused to discuss the subject of his conversation.

Disarmament, however, is known to have been taken up. It was a far cry from the old days, when Russian statesmen openly pooh-poohed the chances of an agreement coming out of the Geneva negotiations.

Prior to Litvinoff's coming League circles gave indications of deep discouragement over the apparent impasse in moves toward an armistice. Now the comment has taken on a more optimistic tone.

An international pact of non-aggression as proposed by President Roosevelt was said in well-informed circles to be one of the suggestions Litvinoff planned to put forward.

Also in an attempt to keep the disarmament conference alive, he would urge concentration on the elaboration of a pact of mutual assistance and security to fortify the organization of peace.

An attempt would be made in such a pact to define aggressive nations.

On the question of League membership the opinion was rife that the British and French attitude toward admitting Russia may have encouraged her to express willingness to join.

Darrow NRA Report In Under Police Guard

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(A.P.)—A police guard was stationed yesterday around the printing division of the commercial department where the Darrow board on NRA and Hugh B. Johnson's answer were being prepared for publication.

This extraordinary precaution was taken to prevent smuggling of copies of the two documents which are to become public Monday.

Although many NRA confidential papers have become public in the past, no such strict measures have been taken previously to protect any of them.

The principal reason was understood to be that the reports are so highly confidential that their disclosure would be a serious blow to the White House because of their great bulk.

Pay Your Poll Tax

A last minute rush of citizens seeking to pay poll taxes which will make them qualified to vote in the June primaries was reported at the Court House offices of Jno. D. Jenkins this morning. Where it was said that from every indication, the office will be crowded until 9:00 o'clock tonight, closing time. During the 24 hour period that ended at 1:00 o'clock this afternoon, 253 tax receipts had been issued—106 for 1932 poll taxes and 148 for 1933 poll taxes. At 1:00 o'clock, 1426 receipts for 1933 had been issued, and 1592 receipts for 1932 had been issued. Positively no tax money will be accepted by Collector Jenkins after 9:00 o'clock tonight, he stated. Persons should call as early as possible before that hour, he added.

LABOR TROUBLES IN TWIN CITIES EASED BY TRUCE

New Strikes Develop In Cincinnati, Toledo Industrial Shops

The Associated Press Temporary truce today relieved the strain of strikes in several cities, but new labor troubles bubbled up in others.

Tentative agreements were reached to end a strike of truck drivers in Minneapolis and St. Paul where the movement of food, gasoline, and other necessities has been affected.

A tugger's strike at Buffalo was ended by arbitration of three wages and hours grievances.

New strikes arose in Toledo and Cincinnati.

At Toledo the Central Labor Union voted approval of plans for a general strike in sympathy of the walkout of 1900 automotive workers.

A two-hour general strike at Cincinnati May 22 was urged by a steel and metal workers union in protest against the failure of the formula insulation company to recognize a union of striking employees.

Shortage of food, gasoline and other necessities reared an acute stage in the Twin Cities. Friday night as 6200 striking truck drivers tightened their pocket lines.

Gasoline stations were stoned and their pumps wrecked, bakeries closed for want of deliveries, truck gardeners, grocers, and other shippers hampered by an almost complete halting of motor transport in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Scores of deputies were assigned to keep order, 84 persons were arrested, and an appeal was made to the postmaster general at Washington after the strikers stopped a truckload of gasoline destined for the Minneapolis postoffice. Hear deliveries stopped during the day and laundry and dry cleaning drivers announced they would join the walkout.

Vicious Alligator At Zoo Has Been Chained

His viciousness already having resulted in the death of six alligators penned at Sanford Municipal Zoo, "Old Black Joe," 160-year-old gator who is the "boss" of the pen, was removed into special quarters this morning, and chained to prevent further damage.

The reptile began to show signs of activity about 10 days ago. Usually he lies immovable all day long, occasionally sloughing off the sand bank into the pool where he is completely submerged except for his nostrils.

He became violent about a week ago, and his fierce attacks upon the smaller alligators have proven fatal in six cases. "Old Black Joe" has been in the zoo for the past six years. He is 11 feet long, having grown six feet during his local confinement.

1933 Tax Collections 26-Percent Of Total

Percentage of City of Sanford 1933 taxes collected through May 18 was reported at the City Hall today as being 26.23 percent of the entire assessment.

Total collections to May 18 was $58,873.92, leaving an uncollected balance of $187,246.91. The 1933 tax assessment is $246,120.83.

DRASTIC CRIME LAWS SIGNED BY ROOSEVELT

Acts Held As Renewed Challenge By U. S. To Lawless Groups Throughout Nation

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(A.P.)—A renewed federal effort to put down crime was inaugurated yesterday by President Roosevelt in signing six new laws which gave justice department officials new steel with which to combat criminals.

There will be no retreating, said the President.

"These laws are a renewed challenge on the part of the federal government to interstate crime," Attorney General Cummings, who watched the signing of the bills, said their enactment came at a crucial moment.

"Kidnapers, killers and racketeers are a serious menace to life and property as well as to the supremacy of the law," he said. The laws enacted yesterday would:

Make it a federal offense for a criminal to flee across state lines to escape prosecution for a felony or to keep from testifying in a criminal case.

Permit a jury to bring in the death verdict for kidnaping unless the victim were returned unharmed.

Make sending of ransom demands and kidnap threats across state lines a federal crime.

Make it a federal crime to kill or assault various federal officers while they are on duty.

Provide 10 years imprisonment for anyone meeting a federal patrol, aiding in an escape or smuggling arms, or other contraband into government penal institutions.

Impose 20 years imprisonment for robbery of a bank in any way nationally affiliated.

The text of the President's statement follows:

"These laws are a renewed challenge on the part of the federal government to interstate crime. They are also complementary to the broader program designed to curb the evil doers of whatever class.

"In enacting them, the Congress has provided additional equipment for the department of justice to aid local authorities.

"Lacking these new weapons the department attack has tracked down many major outlaws and its vigilance has spread fear to the underworld.

"With additional resources, I am confident that it will make still greater inroads upon organized crime.

"I regard this action as an event of the first importance. So far as the federal government is concerned, there will be no retreating.

"But there is one thing more, law enforcement and gangster extermination cannot be made completely effective so long as a substantial part of the public looks with tolerance upon known criminals, permits public officers to be corrupted or intimidated by them or applauds efforts to maintain crime.

"Federal men are constantly facing machine gun fire in the pursuit of gangsters. Law citizens, individually and as organized groups to recognize the facts and meet them with courage and determination.

"I stand squarely behind the efforts of the department of justice to bring to book every law breaker, big and little."

Claude Pepper Addresses Local Audience In Interest Of Candidacy For Senate

Claims qualifying him to serve as one of Florida's two senators in Washington, were outlined before an audience on a downtown street corner last night by Claude Pepper of Tallahassee, one of four persons opposing the incumbent Senator Park Trammell.

Introduced to the audience by Fred R. Wilson, local attorney, Mr. Pepper summed up his recent whirlwind tour over Florida and declared that sentiment favoring him is growing stronger each day. He told of having spoken before fully 2000 residents of Lake county in five meetings in that area Friday, and he said that he had been promised a majority in the first primary in Lake county.

At the outset, he stated his views in connection with citrus and vegetable freight rates from Florida. He advocated the abolishment of the present practice of regulation of freight rates by the Interstate Commerce Commission, and he claimed that Florida growers and shippers are being discriminated against under the "differential" system of rates.

In advocating federal relief for public schools, Mr. Pepper said that he would have the government appropriate the money only, having no control over its use.

U.S. PROGRAM TO AID SUFFERERS IN WEST PLANNED

South Dakotans Would Be Moved To Better Farms Under Plan

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(A.P.)—More money and food for the drought-stricken west removed to better farms of from 3000 to 4000 South Dakotans, were integral phases of the relief program that took definite shape here yesterday in a series of conferences.

Federal relief forces will head for the sun-baked areas of the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin next week to prevent undue suffering.

The emergency relief, farm and farm credit administration, and the surplus relief corporation joined hands with state and local officials in working out the relief program.

Harry I. Hopkins, relief director, said the program could be spread to any area as soon as a serious situation developed.

The program will proceed along these lines:

The emergency relief, farm and farm credit administration, will buy cattle in the dry areas and confine and pay for every one found with tuberculosis.

The relief administration will supply funds to buy food for farmers and to provide seed for orange crops. It also will supply funds for deepening wells and digging new ones.

The farm credit administration will relax its rules regarding loans already made or which can be made.

From 3000 to 4000 farm families may be moved in South Dakota from farms which have proved insufficient for a decent living to some of the 4000 farms now owned by the state.

Pasco Duncan Suffers Broken Leg On Road

Pasco Duncan, local painter, suffered a broken leg and other injuries when he was run over by an automobile near the Blue Bird highway at about 10:30 last night. He is confined in the Sanford hospital.

It was reported at the sheriff's office this morning that Mr. Duncan was injured by an automobile that was being driven to Sanford from a political rally at Altamonte Springs by Mrs. C. E. Rawson.

The sheriff's office reported that Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jackson were passengers in the automobile, and that Mr. Duncan was placed in the car and brought to the hospital, after which the party reported the accident at the County Jail.

G. O. P. LEADERS ASSAIL TARIFF BILL IN DEBATE

Democrats Seek Limit On Arguments With Hope Of Bringing Passage By Friday

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(A.P.)—Republicans denounced the Administration tariff bill with vigour on the Senate floor today while Senate Democrats began laying out their plan for a limitation of debate to bring passage by next Friday.

Senator Harrison (R., Miss.), in charge of the bill, said in an interview off the floor, the Democrats constituting 60 of the membership of 96 would lose three of four votes but would pick up a Republican independent for every Democrat who left the reservation.

One Republican after another took the floor yesterday to rail the measure everything from "blockade" to "damning and dictatorial" grant of power.

In the two days of debate, only one Democrat, Long of Louisiana, who admitted he was a protectionist and was willing to vote for tariffs on goods of other states, to get support for protection for his own had spoken against the bill which would authorize the President to negotiate tariff reduction agreements with other nations without consultation by the Senate.

While the Republican batting was in full swing Senator Johnson (R., Calif.) offered two amendments which the Democrats least expected would be obviously opposed.

They would prevent any tariff treaty from taking effect until it had been submitted to Congress and approved by law.

The other would exempt from the operation of the proposed law all agricultural and horticultural products except apples.

African Lioness Will Be In Zoo Tomorrow

"Queenie," a three-year-old African lioness who has been exhibited in a Tampa zoo for some weeks, will become a part of Sanford Municipal Zoo tomorrow, it was announced by James Moughlin, Superintendent of Parks.

"Queenie" was purchased last night, and she will be brought to Sanford late today on a St. Johns River Line Co. truck the use of which was donated by the town.

The lioness will be housed in the cage recently occupied by the Florida Hottentot baboon, which has been moved into a larger cage near the north entrance of the zoo.

Sharon To Preside Over Honor Court

County Judge J. C. Sharon will preside over the May Court of Honor which is to be held at the Chulohota school house on Monday night at 8:00 o'clock. It was announced today.

Boy Scout Commissioner H. S. Brown, III, of Orlando, also will be present to assist in awarding medals and other forms of recognition to over a dozen Scouts from the several troops in the county. The public is invited to attend the court.

Robles Girl Fails To Identify 2 Suspects

TUCSON, Ariz., May 19.—(A.P.)—Two unnamed suspects in the kidnaping of June Robles were questioned yesterday, despite failure of the six-year-old girl to identify either.

One of the men, taken into custody yesterday morning, had been sought since June was found last Monday, entombed in a sheet from a bar buried in the desert. Officers described him as the "most promising" suspect they had rounded up. The girl studied his face calmly, but was unable to recognize ever having seen him or heard his voice.

The other man, who had been questioned and released Thursday when June could not establish his identity, was brought in again for further examination.

BULGARIA COMES UNDER MILITARY DICTATORSHIP

Parliament Dissolved By Royal Decree As Cabinet Crisis Ends

SOFIA, Bulgaria, May 19.—(A.P.)—A coup d'etat today established a military dictatorship of Bulgaria as a climax to a cabinet crisis.

Shortly before dawn, troops rushed from the Sofia barracks, occupied all public buildings, and took up positions at all strategic points in the capital.

Simultaneously troops in provincial cities executed similar maneuvers.

Strong detachments of the police and soldiers patrolled the streets and kept the public order.

Members of the outgoing cabinet were arrested and kept under heavy military and police guard.

King Boris issued a royal decree dissolving parliament, and approved the nomination of Kimon Georgiev as premier. He likewise approved the new cabinet selected by the Premier.

There will be no parliament from now on, and even members of Bulgarian cabinet will be appointed from the capital.

Parachutist Raymond Dies In Fall At Tampa

TAMPA, May 19.—(A.P.)—Jack Raymond, parachute jumper, of Tampa was killed here yesterday afternoon in a fall of over 1200 feet when his parachute became entangled and failed to open. He fell at the municipal airport.

Raymond, formerly of Grand Rapids, Mich., leaped from a plane piloted by J. M. Stephenson. Striving to test a parachute he had just repaired, he apparently attempted a delayed jump and did not try to open the parachute until he had dropped 200 feet. Several witnesses saw the parachute open to the size of a barrel, but it opened no further.

FERA Will Take Steps To Finish School Work

JACKSONVILLE, May 19.—(A.P.)—The Florida Emergency Relief Administration has informed county boards of public instruction that school relief projects can be completed only if the boards furnish the killed labor necessary.

Statement of allotments, the administration said, had left only funds for relief.

But the funds were told, "If you will agree to furnish the skilled labor needed to complete these projects, we will endeavor to secure an appropriation to furnish the material which is lacking and will furnish the necessary unskilled or common labor."

Chicken Pilau To Be Served Cracker Day

It'll be chicken pilau instead of fried fish that will be served by members of the Elk Lodge Auxiliary in the Arcade Building next Saturday, noon, as one of the features of annual Cracker Day celebration, it was announced today.

After combing the area to find fishermen who would donate a sufficient quantity of fish for the luncheon, it was decided that it would be impossible to furnish enough to provide for the large number of persons expected to attend the day.

The committee in charge of this feature of the program is as follows: chicken pilau, Mrs. C. H. Moss, Mrs. Rex Packard, Mrs. F. C. Fullerton, Mrs. H. A. Howard, ice water, Mrs. Henry Thurston, tickets, Mrs. A. N. Pack, Miss Josephine Tarbell, Mrs. June Roumfield, table and chairs, Mrs. J. G. Leonard, Mrs. Rodney Ashdown, coffee, Mrs. Henry Thurston; pies and cakes, Mrs. Leonard; cole slaw, Mrs. M. D. Reel, Mrs. C. R. Keel; rolls, Mrs. Porter Lansing.

U. S. INDICTS DILLINGER ON NEW CHARGES

Desperado Held With 9 Others As Having Harbored Persons Sought By Police

MADISON, Wis., May 19.—(A.P.)—A Federal grand jury today indicted John Dillinger, Indiana desperado, and nine companions, four of whom are women, charging them with harboring and concealing persons sought by the department of justice.

Although accused of bank robberies, shootings, jail breaks, jail delivery, and other criminal acts, the only federal charge against Dillinger heretofore was a violation of the Tyler Act prohibiting transportation of stolen automobiles.

Balance Not Reached In Lumber Industry

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(A.P.)—Despite increased consumption of lumber during the first six months of operation of the lumber code, a report of the timber conservation board of the Department of Commerce said yesterday there was "no net national progress toward balancing production and consumption."

"Consumption has increased, particularly as compared with the low points of early 1933 but production has moved at a still faster pace," the report said, "partly in anticipation of a building recovery which has been disappointingly slow in materializing."

Kidnap Aide Will Be In Graduating Class

ATLANTA, May 19.—(A.P.)—Pryor Bowen, the young man who aided in the kidnaping of John R. Otley, Sr., prominent Atlanta banker, will graduate from Lavon high school, June 1.

Young Bowen, who served six months for his part in the kidnaping, promised to continue his school work if released. Len B. Guilbeau, his attorney, said yesterday that Bowen has maintained a high scholastic average and at the same time caught up with work he missed while serving his sentence.

Georgia Hosiery Mill Held ANRA Violator

GAINESVILLE, Ga., May 19.—(A.P.)—The Richmond Hosiery Mills of Rossville, Ga., yesterday was indicted by the federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy to violate the hosiery code and of an overt act to violate the National Recovery Act. Five officials of the mills also were named in the conspiracy indictment.

The Standard Production Company, of Rossville, also was named in the conspiracy indictment.

Lawrence Camp, United States attorney, said the government contended that the companies conspired to operate their mills in violation of the hosiery code and described the alleged overt act as a charge that the hosiery mill set up the Standard Production company which the government called a "dummy" corporation, with the purpose of leasing the mill to it to run the third shift.

JUNGLE WAR KNOWN RIO DE JANEIRO

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 19.—(A.P.)—The Peru-Brazil border conflict for the jungle border village of Letitia, which threatened at times to break into open war, ended today with the acceptance of a Brazilian formula. The formula, which ends a bitter 20-month old dispute, was drafted by Afonso de Melo, Foreign Minister of Brazil.

TWO MAGICS
 Have they the same enchantment, these children straying in streets where electric streetlights and scintillating neon flood blooms on the ashen air, as those other children crouch in trance under hedge grows where hawthorn thickens its snows;
 Or those others, who under a real moon and stars move to deeper wonder in themselves, who are still, who touch each other but gently, lest they break the magic that makes them one with it on the night-shadowy hill.
 —A. E.

The Blue Eagle was hatched to feed the poor but now seems to be feeding off of them.
 E. P. Morgan won nine blue ribbons at the Long Island Flower Show. He must have had a mortgage on some of the judges.

They presented thirteen American women to Queen Mary the other night, but so far haven't heard of her accepting any of them.

The new French budget calls for an army and navy expenditure of $492,000,000, the largest in six years. This item makes up more than a quarter of the total budget.

The new American embassy in Russia will cost $1,105,000, and will be constructed in the style of Jeffersonian architecture. We believe it was Thomas Jefferson, who besides being an architect was something of a statesman, and always said that the freedom of the individual should be held superior to the power of the state. It might have been more appropriate to have constructed our Russian embassy in the Gothic architecture of the absolute Louis's.

Uncle Sam is going to fix it up at the bank so that the John Smiths of the nation can have new roofs put on their houses if they need it. We don't know just what the details of this latest governmental lending agency are, but it seems fairly certain that if credit is made available to the average citizen for repairing his house, it will be used, for heaven knows, most of them need it. It will put a lot of men to work, too.

Fellow dropped into the office and offered us "something to fill up with." Yea, he was an old timer. Fifty years ago it was something of a problem for a country editor to dig up enough stories to fill the yearling columns of his newspaper, but nowadays, with the Associated Press gathering news from the far corners of the earth, and unrolled advertising schedules cutting pages down to a minimum, the real problem is in knowing what to leave out, not where to find something to fill up with.

Joseph Eastman says he is preparing the public mind for government ownership of railroads. Such socialistic suggestions may come as something of a shock to a lot of people of national ownership is in reality far cry from merely lending them money. However, people will probably get used to the idea and sooner or later the railroads will be bought out by the government and the government will be given a chance to show what it can do in the transportation business. If it doesn't do a lot better than private management, the taxpayers are going to have to be convinced to pay the enormous bills to pay for the government's mistakes in order to make up the difference between the railroad income and expense.

Soaking The Public
 Launched primarily as a specific for unemployment, promoted as a cure for the depression, conceived in the humanitarian spirit of the New Deal and dedicated to the proposition that every man has a right to an honest living, the NRA has finally degenerated into a money making proposition. In selling the Blue Eagle to the American public General Johnson, promised to put six million men back to work, by Labor Day. In signing the Recovery Act, President Roosevelt insisted that managements give "first consideration to the improvement of operating figures BY GREATLY INCREASED SALES. . . If we now inflate wages as fast and as far as we increase wages, the whole project will be set at naught."

The NRA did not put six million men back to work by Labor Day, nor has it done so yet, more than eight months after Labor Day. Shortening hours undoubtedly helped some workmen, but figures cannot be relied upon to show accurately the number because it is impossible to tell which ones were re-employed through the shortening of hours and which ones through the money which the government has been spending. Suffice it to say, however, that there are nearly as many unemployed today as there were when the NRA went into effect.

The reason is not hard to find. The President supplied the answer when the program was begun. We have inflated prices faster and farther than we have increased wages, and consequently the whole project has been set at naught. The managers of the automobile industry announced an increase of ten percent in the wages which they pay, and the next day the price of automobiles was boosted correspondingly. This not only offsets the advantage which their employees gained through higher wages, but it hurts the farmers and every other class which does not come under the NRA.

We find too that this policy is being carried out in other codes. The Federal Trade Commission testified before a Senate committee the other day to the effect that the oil code will cost the automobile owners of the country $160,000,000 a year in higher gasoline prices. In some of these codes we find that prices have been raised as much as one hundred percent. This is particularly true in the cleaning and dyeing industry where some small establishments have been compelled to raise their pressing prices from 35 cents to 75 cents.

That is bound to be one of the principal abuses when the government launches upon a policy of price fixing. Price fixing is designed to stabilize prices, to eliminate cut-throat competition. It is soon turned into an agency for raising prices, for gouging the public, for profiteering. The instinct of selfishness, to get all that can be got, is too deeply ingrained in too many people to safely permit the relaxation of anti-trust laws, to permit people to combine to soak the public, and then to expect them to soak the public fairly.

The inevitable consequence of such price agreements is to reduce production. They are, in short, combinations in restraint of trade. When you restrain trade, whether by raising prices and fixing them, or by any other method, you curtail production, reduce employment. It stands to reason that as many pants will not be pressed at 75 cents per pants as at 35 cents per pants. The fewer pants that are pressed, the smaller will be the number of people required to press them. Hence unemployment.

When the NRA embarked upon its policy of price fixing, it abandoned its original objective. When it attempts to dictate to thousands of business men the prices they may charge for their services, it has bitten off more than it can chew. There are agencies in Washington which are putting men back to work. There are agencies there which are successfully combating the depression. But the NRA can no longer be regarded as one of them.

Reading The Bible
 How is the Bible weathering the depression? At a time when everything that was in seen as wrong, and new ways are being sought to manage money, tariffs, business, and agriculture, one might logically suppose that so old a document as the Bible might also be giving way to something new. However, we are informed by the American Bible Society that 7,500,766 new Bibles found their way into the hands of the people during the year of 1933.

The reports of distribution in the United States showed not only a larger circulation than in 1932 but also an increase of more than 50% in the circulation of entire Bibles. More entire Bibles were distributed by the Society in Brazil and in the Caribbean Agency, and more than twice as many in the Upper Andes Agency than in 1932. In Japan the circulation was greater than in any year since the organization of the Agency in 1876, while in China, despite internal disorders, the various Scripture distribution agencies circulated more complete Bibles than in any year since the beginning of evangelical effort in that great missionary field.

WORLD RECOVERY VIA SILVER
 BY EDWARD H. COLLINS

On several occasions lately Mr. Walter Lippmann has broken a lance in the cause of silver. He has let it be known that he is opposed to the idea of a silver subsidy, per se, and that he did not wish to go as far as bimetalism; but up to yesterday he made no attempt to outline what he regarded as a "silver policy."

Writing in his column, "Today and Tomorrow," in yesterday's Herald-Tribune, Mr. Lippmann set forth his reasons for believing that something should be done about silver. His thesis is somewhat nebulous. For Mr. Lippmann, it appears to run somewhat like this: Low world prices are due to a world-wide struggle for, and hoarding of, gold. If prices are to be raised the world must rid itself of this gold complex and the way to bring that about is for the United States to make silver a "basic money," along with gold. Once the "monopoly" of gold is broken by letting gold go out for silver, Mr. Lippmann reasons, not only will gold be better distributed but demand for the metal will diminish and demand for commodities will increase, thus bringing about a rise in prices for the latter.

Mr. Lippmann, by virtue of his scholarship in many fields and by virtue of his delightful expository style, has won a deservedly wide following among intelligent readers, and the writer is glad to count himself among his many genuine admirers. But when Mr. Lippmann or anyone else lays down a thesis such as he has propounded on silver it becomes necessary to disagree with him and to disagree flatly.

To begin with, the Lippmann argument is based upon the thoroughly exploded theory of Professor Warren and Professor that commodities exchange for gold. Commodities do not exchange for gold. They exchange in this country, for example, for dollars, and in nine cases out of ten for credit dollars. There are plenty of these credit dollars available, but they are not being used. And why are they not being used? Because business will not borrow money, even at 1 percent if the future is so clouded and there is no certainty that it can earn, even that low rate on its investment.

In the second place, why talk of effecting a better world distribution of gold by the process of exchanging it for silver? If we wish to get rid of gold we can do it easily and simply by calling part of our $2,000,000,000 six percent fund to depress the dollar. But, supposing we did choose the silver method? How would this benefit the central and southeastern

European countries, for example, where gold is badly needed as a basis for the monetary systems? The only appreciable stocks of silver are held in India and China, and the former has for some time been a seller of gold on the world market, while the latter, being on a silver standard, has no earthly use for gold.

But one can press the point of redistribution further than this. What precisely would it avail, if it may be fairly asked, if we could effect a perfect redistribution of the metallic reserves of the world tomorrow unless, at the same time we removed the forces which have brought about the present maldistribution? What is needed is not an arbitrary redistribution of gold, but the opening of the world market so that goods in general—contrasted with silver—will move to the centers with superfluous gold stocks in return for that metal. This is the only sound and permanent way of redistributing gold.

In the third place, it seems to the present writer, little absurd for any one to protest in one breath he is opposed to bimetalism, and in the next breath that he favors making silver a "basic money" and part of the monetary reserves. Either silver is a commodity or it is part of our monetary standard. If it is a commodity, then to put it in the Treasury and call it part of the monetary reserves is to ignore the fundamental nature of a monetary reserve. Under such a procedure silver would have to be carried at a liability, instead of an asset. Whether we like it or not, there is no halfway station between commodity silver and monetary silver. And if silver is actually to be made part of the monetary base, then we must definitely accept either the bimetallic or the silver standard. It is impossible to have it both ways.

No, Mr. Lippmann's solution will not do. For his part, this writer has concluded that if there must be a silver policy it should be along the realistic lines laid down by Professor Neil Carver, of Lehigh University, one of the leading, if somewhat disillusioned, authorities on the subject. "I have a solution for the silver problem," writes Professor Carver in the current number of "The American Bankers' Association Journal." "I recommend that the government call a conference of the silver interest and offer complete surrender. Ask them what sum in cash they will take to withdraw from politics, and give it to them. Whatever they ask, the bargain will be cheap at the price."

 The Boy and Girl Scout Troops had charge of the program at the Parent-Teacher meeting Monday evening at the school house. An audience seeing the Star Spangled Banner Marion Borgard as Patrol Leader of the boys entered bearing the flag followed by the boys and girls, troops who gave the flag salute in unison. The Scouts were then repeated alternately showing how nearly the ideals of both organizations coincide.

The motto and slogan of both troops were given by the captain, Alberta Long as Patrol Leader of the girls conducted a demonstration of the work done by Girl Scouts. Five members of the troop showed how to tie the knots and told of the uses of each knot. Iris Sawyer told what a Girl Scout would do in a case of fire. This was in a form of a story that could actually happen in this rural community where the fire fighting equipment is very scarce and depends upon quick thinking and action. Vergie Reeves gave a demonstration of bandaging and first aid to an injured Girl Scout sister.

The Boy Scout troop gave a demonstration of signaling. Several messages were sent and received, Stanley Pulek went and Nolle Hickson received. The Scout Master and Scout Captain then entered the stage and told of the progress made by their respective troops. The Girl Scout troop has three second class girls at the present time and two are eligible for proficiency badges. The boy troop has, collectively, 124 merit badges. Two of the boys will be ready soon for their Eagle rank.

The program ended with the Scouts thanking the Parent-Teacher Association for sponsoring their trips and hoping to live so that the Association would have no regrets for their actions. After singing the National Anthem they left the stage. The business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. M. Long. Reports of the various committees were heard. Mrs. Wagner and Mrs. Wilson gave reports of the County Local meeting in Lake Mary and Mrs. Wilson, who was absent last month, gave her part of the State Convention report. Mrs. E. L. Dunn, county council president, then installed the new officers for the coming year: Mrs. M. Long, president; L. J. Hardy, secretary; Mrs. N. A. Cronwell, treasurer; Mrs. George Jacob, and Sisterhood, Mrs. James Wilson.

Last Friday afternoon the teachers and pupils of our school were joined by 100 members at a lovely and impressive Mother's Day program. A gift made by the pupils themselves and showing their appreciation of "The loveliest thing in the world—my Mother."

Celeryfeds To Open Season Against Vero Beach Team At Municipal Park Sunday

Opening game of the Central Florida Baseball League's 1934 season is scheduled to be played at Municipal Park tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock when Manager Ed Riva's Sanford Celeryfeds will attempt to hand Manager Jimmy Barrett's Vero Beach team its first beating of the year.

While these two teams are battling it out, the Kissimmee Kowboys, newcomers to the league will be at Cocoa, hopeful of being able to stop the Indians, league pennant winners in 1931 and 1933.

Manager Riva's hurling choice is Lefty Joe Sparkman, the White youngster who recently toiled for the Daytona Beach Islanders. Sparkman, according to Riva, is one of the better young prospects now in this section. He will get the benefit of plenty of coaching before the summer is over, according to Riva, although he may be recalled to Daytona Beach at any time.

Sparkman's slants will be handled by Bud Abbott, former DeLand and Daytona Beach catcher. Abbott is a capable catcher and batter. He possesses a strong arm, and he is said to be able to pick runners off second with the ease of a big league veteran.

Manager Riva's starting lineup has been selected from a list of 30 hopeful candidates for a place on the regular team. The lineup is purely an experimental one. Riva indicated that one player may lack in a quality that one of the non-starters may own. Riva said, adding that he had selected his starters because he believes they combine speed, punch, experience, and ability.

The infield will be composed of youngsters. Cecil Rines will start at first, Earl Evans at second, Wilson Smith at short, and Claude Kelly at third.

Other players who may be called upon during the afternoon are: Lee Mansfield and Roy Sutton, pitchers; O. P. Herndon, Jr., Roy Britt, Jack Russell, Lawrence Harrison, Emil Kasermap, Quill

Vero Beach: Hewitt, 2b; J. McCully, 2b; Deo Rymer, cf; H. McCully, cf; Goodrich, p; Dewey Rymer, cf; Dave Howard, lf; Talbert, rf; Harney Harris, lb.

As will be noted, the Vero Beach outfit includes several brothers. The Rymer boys and the McCully boys are brothers, Hal, who is also a member of the squad.

Vero Beach has always been considered as one of the stronger lower East Coast teams. It has been managed by Jimmy Barrett for several seasons, and most of the players are boys who have been playing together since high school days.

At Cocoa, a veteran squad will be in the field for the Indians, with their pitching choice in doubt. Clyde Wright of New Smyrna, or Link Sibley, the former Gator pitcher, are listed as likely starters.

The Kissimmee line-up is scheduled to be the same as that which started against Sanford last Thursday, with Larry Chubb of Winter Park, hurling.

Starting line-up at Cocoa:

Cocoa: Hopkins, ss; Harrell, 2b; Sibley, lf or p; Wright, p or lf; Edges, cf; Rubin, rf; Headley, 1b; Prine, 2b; Crum, cf.

Claiming that the government owes to its citizens, who have been active in its support during their younger days, old age pensions. Mr. Pepper said that he would press for old age pension legislation.

Mr. Pepper contends that help which is now being extended to 4,500,000 families on relief rolls, should not be cut off until all who need and desire work can be reclaimed by industry.

In this connection he pointed out that prosperity is restored through purchasing power only, and that a large percentage of consumers earn $1000 per year and less. He favors the allocation of a part of all relief funds for the hospitalization of those in need of such service.

In advocating ample and just compensation for all who received injury in war service, Mr. Pepper also favors immediate payment of the bonus to those who are in modest, or indigent circumstances. He said he wanted all of the bonus paid now in the event debtor nations pay their war debts.

Mr. Pepper also expressed opposition to any compromise of war debts, and he urged their collection at once, if possible.

The latter part of his address was an attack on the record of Senator Trammell, a record which he termed as "One of utter futility." During this attack he read an editorial which was reproduced in a Tampa paper, in which the statement was made that Senator Trammell "never opposed big business."

In conclusion, Mr. Pepper stated that he is 34 years of age and a native of Alabama. He has served one term as member of the house from Taylor county, and he is now a practicing lawyer in Tallahassee. He added that he had been a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee, the State Welfare Board and the State Board of Law Examiners, and that he is a Legionnaire.

FILM FLICKERS

By GLADYS M. WILLIAMS
At last the ideal family picture "Tarsan and His Mate" is the offering that opens at the Milane Theatre on Sunday and Monday,

May 20th and 21st, with an appeal for fathers, mothers, children and "oldsters" from eight to eighty.

Johnny Weissmuller as "Tarsan" and Maureen O'Sullivan as his mate are again united in a jungle love story based on the famous fiction character created by Edgar Rice Burroughs.

The new story continues the adventures of Tarsan when a safari of white men attempt to raid the "elephants' burial grounds" of millions of dollars worth of ivory, and incidentally to take Tarsan's mate back to civilization.

Literary Digest gives this picture a rating of AAAA (outstanding) and says "that the production is brilliant, the showmanship superb and the general effectiveness enormously impressive. Certainly the hordes of elephants answering the trumpet call of the great white boss of the jungle, the dozens of fiercely growling lions lured to the kill, and the innumerable and fighting for their human king, are spectacles which will thrill you through (General).

An adventurous tale with colorful romance comes to the screen of the Milane Tuesday and Wednesday, May 22nd and 23rd, with the first National picture "Mandalay," starring Kay Francis.

It is set in the picturesque background of the Orient. The theme concerns a beautiful Russian girl, an exile from her own country, who is sold into virtual slavery to a resort keeper by her own lover. Her escape on a boat to Mandalay and her pursuit entails some very thrilling action. Colorful scenes take place in the night clubs frequented by civil and army officers.

A strong cast supports Miss Francis and includes in it are Ricardo Cortez and Lyle Talbot. Presented on the same bill with "Mandalay" will be "Three On a Honeymoon," a comedy romance on board a trans-Atlantic liner, in a semi-oriental atmosphere of Algerian cafes and near desert hideaways. Sally Eilers, Zasu Pitts, Henrietta Crosman, Charles Starrett and Johnny Mack Brown and others complete the cast. (Adult).

For Thursday and Friday, May 24th and 25th, the local theatre has booked "Looking for Trouble" and "This Man is Mine." "Looking for Trouble" is a story about men known as "trouble shooters" who seek out and repair all kinds of "trouble" that can develop over miles of telephone wires. Spencer Tracy and Jack Oakie are starred as the "trouble-shooting" buddies while Constance Cummings and Arlene Judge play their respective telephone operator sweethearts. Wire-tapping, gangsters, high-voltage wires, buzzards and an earthquake supply exciting moments besides being a cracking good story the dialogue is right there. (General).

"This Man is Mine" is a marvellous drama of the more sophisticated type featuring Irene Dunne. The story is of a misadventure, mostly brownheaded wife of a temporarily philandering husband, whose past returns to cause him to wander from the path of matrimonial rectitude and makes the wife the brave victim of circumstances, who strives to retain her self respect and who finally wins back her husband and preserves the sanctity of her home. The cast includes Miss Dunne, Constance Cummings, Ralph Bellamy, Kay Johnson and Sidney Blackmer. (Adult).

"Eight Girls in a Boat," which comes to the Milane Theatre Saturday, May 26, is an enlightening drama of a girl's search for love. Christa Stern, beautiful and innocent, is isolated in an exclusive girls' school. Thick walls and stern rules bar out romance. But Christa, bolder than the others, breaks the rules. An inevitable tragedy results, which the girl tries to solve alone. It is only through the sympathy, and understanding of the others, however, that she finds the happiness for which she yearns. The major roles are filled by Dorothy Foy, Kay Johnson, Douglas Montgomery and Walter Connolly.

Chicago Fire Loss Set At 8 Millions; Only One Life Lost

Workers Dig Into Ruin Of City's Fiercest Blaze Since 1871; Business Has Resumed

CHICAGO, May 21.—(A.P.)—The charred body of a man was found in the ruins of Chicago's stockyards today as crews of workmen groped through the debris of Saturday's $8,000,000 fire preparing the way for rebuilders.

Through acres of hot ashes and into heaps of brick skeletons of old landmarks and twisted steel girders, explorers dug, hunting valuable documents and property that might have survived the conflagration, and hoping the loss of human life would not grow.

One other death was attributed indirectly to the disaster when a man dropped dead of excitement while the fire raged.

Farmers were operating today, and even banks that were reduced to ruins announced business as usual in temporary quarters.

Cattle, sheep, and hogs poured into the demolished yards today and were absorbed for the most part by packing houses.

An army of workmen yesterday began speedy reconstruction at the scene of Chicago's worst fire since the configuration of 1871.

City Fire Attorney Thomas J. Sheehan and others were carrying on investigations in efforts to determine the cause of the $10,000,000 blaze that swept through the Union stock yards and environs late Saturday and Saturday night, consuming more than a dozen main buildings and scores of small business houses and homes.

Sheehan said he was convinced from his preliminary investigation that the fire was accidental and not set.

"We investigated reports that there had been labor agitation in the yards but we were unable to find any evidence of any recent troubles. We did not find anything to lead us to believe the fire was not accidental, probably started from a carelessly tossed match or cigarette."

About 1500 persons received treatment for injuries suffered during the raging four and one-half hour fire. Some 400 required hospital treatment. Most of the injured were firemen.

More than 1000 men went to work cleaning up wreckage, and rebuilding stock yards yesterday. They worked by artificial light last night to rush construction so that business at the world's largest meat center could carry on almost as normal today.

The conflagration started according to latest belief in a cattle pen at Morgan Street and Exchange Avenue inside the yards late Saturday. Tender-dry pens and barns in the yards were rased rapidly and before firemen could control the blaze it had leaped across Halsted Street outside the yards—an avalanche of flames borne on a stiff wind.

Until midnight the skies flared red and even yesterday there were sporadic minor fires bursting out occasionally from smoldering ruins. Sixty-two engine companies still poured water on the ruins.

Large police details patrolled the desolated area to prevent looting but there was no indication it would be necessary to call out the police.

Winter Haven Man Is Killed In Auto Wreck

WINTER HAVEN, May 21.—(A.P.)—W. H. Prosser, 40, local automobile dealer, was killed in an automobile accident yesterday morning between Plant City and Lakeland when his car was sideswiped by another.

Both cars were wrecked as they overturned into a ditch. Prosser's car and a leg were broken. The car of the other car was unharmed.

Wilcox Will Speak Over Radio Tonight

Representative Mark Wilcox who came to Florida on Saturday for the express purpose of opening a short campaign for re-election to the House of Representatives, as well as assisting in the dedication of Daytona's new post office, will deliver an address over all Florida radio stations tonight at 8:30 o'clock. He will speak from his home in West Palm Beach from which he will direct his campaign in this District.

NEW THIRD PARTY OFFICIALS TALK CAMPAIGN PLANS

Another 'Progressive' Group Is Organized At Milwaukee Meet

MILWAUKEE, May 21.—(A.P.)—With the same speed with which their party was formed at a state-wide convention at Fond du Lac Saturday, leaders of Wisconsin's new progressive party yesterday were planning for the autumn Congressional and state campaign.

Only a few hours after the convention voted overwhelmingly to break from the ranks of the Republicans and name the new party "progressive," a state central committee was appointed and former Governor Philip F. LaFollette, son of "Fighting Bob" and brother of the senior Wisconsin senator, was named its head.

The new party is the second to be born in Wisconsin. Eighty years ago, at Ripon, members of an anti-slavery movement gathered at a school-house to form a political party and name it "Republican."

Six years later the Republican party which had developed from that nucleus elected Abraham Lincoln, Wisconsin's progressives hope they can do as well.

With an immediate goal of putting members of their party in Congressional seats and in state offices, the progressive committee is mustering forces to collect 50,000 signatures to place its name on the ballot. Ten thousand blank petitions were handed convention delegates.

Moving fast, the leaders planned a "young progressives" organization to carry on its work as the "young Democrats" are doing in that party's movements.

Later a second convention will meet to develop a platform.

Pope Pius Raps Nazi Paganism Movement

VATICAN CITY, May 21.—(A.P.)—Pope Pius XI speaking to 5,000 German pilgrims yesterday vigorously condemned what he termed a pagan movement in Germany.

The remarks were made in the course of a colorful ceremony which elevated a humble lay brother, who for 40 years had been doorman at a German Capuchin monastery, to sainthood. The canonization, took place at St. Peter's in the presence of 19 cardinals and a number of German bishops.

KILLED BY BLAST

ST. LOUIS, May 20.—(A.P.)—One man was killed and eight other persons were injured by an early morning explosion which demolished three residences and shattered windows for a radius of three blocks, in southwest St. Louis. The blast, believed to have been caused by gas, destroyed two small apartment buildings and a cottage.

TOMATO SHIPMENTS WANE

BRADENTON, May 21.—(A.P.)—Daily car shipments of the waning tomato season ranged last week from four to 23 cars, with shipments of fall and spring crops to date of 27 cars, as compared with 912 cars in the last previous season of 1931-1932.

SALE OF ARMS HELD AS BAR TO WORLD PEACE

Borah Demands Action On Embargo Bill As Means Of Curbing International Trade

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(A.P.)—Using the bloody war in the Grand Chaco as an object lesson, Senator Borah asserted last night that the manufacture and sale of war munitions was the world's greatest menace to peace and demanded action to curb international traffic in arms.

"The Chaco situation and the arms treaty call for immediate consideration," Borah said, when asked in an interview for his views on passage of the arms embargo treaty signed at Geneva in 1925, which President Roosevelt has requested the Senate to ratify. "They remind us again that the manufacture and sale of munitions is perhaps the world's greatest menace to peace."

The Idaho senator added, however, that even more drastic legislation was necessary to stop international conflicts.

"The arms treaty now before the Senate," he declared, "is of very little worth. Munitions manufacturers saw to it that it was of very little worth."

"I favor anything that gives promise of help toward peace, but we must remember that the Chaco is a mere spot on the earth's surface."

"The big problem now engaging our attention is that of the big nations who are building big navies and enlarging their armies and outmerging all civilization beneath the weight of armaments."

The armament manufacturers have their 30 to 50 percent profit while honest and decent business men are struggling with bankruptcies, and schools and colleges are closed for want of money. This is the real problem and perhaps the Chaco war may help us to grapple with it—and perhaps not."

Congress Ponders Act Which Asks For 10 Millions To Make Census Of Nation's Jobless

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(A.P.)—Administration plans to spend about $10,000,000 to find out how many Americans are unemployed on Nov. 12, 1934, and for a census of agriculture and livestock, are now before Congress.

The Lorier bill authorizing this broad survey of economic conditions and the agricultural industry has been favorably reported to the House by its Census Committee and is scheduled for action late this week.

The information is to be used in connection with the study of social legislation needs of the country projected by President Roosevelt.

BEER DRINKING MEMBERSHIP IN PICKING UP, TAX RETURNS REVEAL U. S. CHURCHES AT NEW HIGH MARK

April beer taxes returned the government $11,356,000, the highest figure since repeal. Distilled spirits paid only $6,813,000 the lowest.

For comparison, the March beer taxes were $11,375,000, February, $9,190,000, January, $10,220,000 and December, the first repeal month $12,867,000.

Collections in the production of distilled spirits showed this: March, $8,712,000, February, $7,708,000, January, $9,651,000 and December, $8,651,257. In December the tax rate was $1.10 a gallon. During January it went to $2.

The internal revenue bureau's figures showed on April taxes also showed a low for collections on rectified distilled spirits. April payments were $502,662 as compared with $615,797 in March, $597,768 in February, $1,095,000 in January and $1,257,000 in December. This tax rate is 30 cents a gallon.

The government's total liquor and beer tax returns in April were $22,721,000 compared with $28,320,000 in March. In 10 months of the fiscal year through April, beer and liquor paid the government $195,787,000.

The internal revenue bureau's figures for April came to $153,963,000 as compared with $390,352,000 in March and $29,062,000 in April, 1933.

Income taxes supplied most of the drop between March and April. First quarter payments on 1933 incomes were due in March and the government collected $228,525,011. April income payments shrank to $27,883,000 of the total as compared with the March output of $333,760 and collections of $28,000,000.

Georgia Nurse Freed Of Charges Of Murder

RATON, New Mexico, May 21.—(A.P.)—A district court jury today acquitted Miss Inez Callahan, former Augusta, Ga. veteran's hospital nurse of murder charges in the death here on Mar. 11 of Henry McWright, ex-service man.

The jury washed its decision one hour after it took the case Saturday night, but a sealed verdict was not opened until today.

Miss Callahan was alleged to have shot McWright as he lay asleep in a tourist cabin. She claimed McWright threatened her and that he was shot in a scuffle over the possession of a pistol. They came to this state, she said, so he could obtain a divorce and they planned to marry.

Postal Worker Loses Hand In Explosion

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(A.P.)—A bomb concealed in a package exploded in the dead letter office of the postoffice department today, shattering the hand of Myrtle Genny, a postal clerk who was examining it. The dead letter office is in the Washington city postoffice near the Union Station.

Genny opened the package and found what appeared to be a book. When he turned the cover the bomb exploded. The book had been hollowed out.

Postal inspectors immediately began an investigation. They would not disclose the name of the person to whom the package was addressed or how long it had been in the dead letter office. William Jackson, negro messenger also was slightly hurt.

RIOTS BREAK OUT A NEW IN MINNEAPOLIS

Striking Truckers Mix With Special Police When Attempt Made To Remove Produce

MINNEAPOLIS, May 21.—(A.P.)—Riots broke out again today in the market district, and eight policemen and ten strikers fell as 300 pickets and nearly 100 special policemen clashed over the removal of trucks.

One policeman is reported stabbed by a striker. Strikers were at the scene at dawn as several produce firms began moving out trucks loaded with vegetables, berries and other perishables. Police were already on hand.

A majority of the strikers were armed with bats and poles. Many carried rocks.

As two trucks started out, a mass of pickets stepped into an alleyway to block them.

Police clubs swung. Pickets suggested the fray.

Half a dozen policemen dropped to the pavement, and as many pickets, their heads streaming with blood.

Lioness Draws Large Throng To City Zoo

"Queenie" African lioness who is slightly more than three years old, was the center of attraction at Municipal Zoo yesterday afternoon where she went on display for the first time.

The lioness reached Sanford late Saturday from Tampa where she had been confined for some time. She is exhibited in the cage formerly occupied by "Jerry" the baboon, who is now located in a cage near the north entrance of the zoo.

A pair of Florida otters, brought out of the Everglades this week by Seminole Indians at the request of W. Stanley Hanson of Fort Myers, will be the next animals to be featured in the zoo. The otters are scheduled to arrive here next Saturday.

Jenkins Reports On Poll Tax Payments

County Tax Collector Jim B. Jenkins announced today that when the books were closed for the payment of poll taxes on Saturday night at 9:00 o'clock that he had issued 1649 receipts for 1933 taxes and 1680 receipts for 1932 taxes.

He added that there may be a few more receipts issued late today or tomorrow because some persons in the outlying districts had been reported as having mailed in their taxes. If the post-mark on these reported letters is dated before 9:00 o'clock Saturday, Mr. Jenkins said he would accept the money and issue a receipt.

Futch Will Speak On Cracker Day Program

State Senator M. G. Futch, president of the Florida Senate, will appear on the Cracker Day program next Saturday afternoon as a speaker in behalf of Claude B. Peep, candidate for the United States Senate now held by Park Trammell, it was announced today.

It also was stated that more than 20 of Central Florida's outstanding fiddlers will be in the city to compete for the championship title and the cash prize that go to the winning "fiddlers."

Darrow Report Cuts At Heart Of NRA In Vigorous Language

JOHNSON RALLIES TO DEFEND NRA AGAINST ATTACK

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(A.P.)—The report of the Darrow board, set up to review the application of codes to little business—with an eye toward the charges of monopoly fostered under NRA—last night recommended to President Roosevelt a return to the anti-trust laws, suspended to make way for trade associations under the National Recovery Act.

Today the report, excoriating the NRA, appeared likely to become the death knell of the board which drafted it.

There were definite signs that the Recovery review board headed by Clarence Darrow faced prompt abolition because of its conclusion set down in vigorous language, that the NRA is a friend of monopoly and a foe of small business.

The board, which had been asked by President Roosevelt to review the practices of the National Recovery Administration, stabled at the heart of the NRA principles of industrial codes by saying: "All competition is savage, wolfish and relentless, and can be nothing else. One may as well dream of making war lady-like as of making competition fair."

The socialistic alternative of government ownership was suggested by Darrow and one other board member, William Thompson, former Darrow law partner, in a supplemental report.

The report of the board, headed by the veteran attorney, Clarence Darrow, included among its observations the following:

That the "chisel" under NRA might sometimes be other than a public enemy.

That prices should be determined not by regulation or price fixing but by competition.

That there is no such thing as "fair competition," the fundamental theory of NRA, but that all competition is "savage, wolfish and relentless."

These statements were contained in the majority report, signed by five of the six members of the review board. John F. Sinclair, sixth member, dissented and filed his own report.

Darrow and William O. Thompson also prepared a supplementary report in which they said:

"The choice is between monopoly sustained by government, which is clearly the trend in the National Recovery Administration, and a planned economy, which demands socialized ownership and control."

"There is no hope for the small business man or for complete recovery in America in enforced restrictions upon production for the purpose of maintaining high prices. The hope for the American people, including the small business man, may not be over-whelmed by their own abundance, lies in the planned use of America's resources following socialization."

"To give the sanction of the government to sustain profits is not planned economy, but a regimented organization for exploitation."

The majority report said: "Price fixing by the industry and price regulation by the government would involve, in our judgment, practically the same difficulties. The problem of poling the industry to prevent that"

Fair Competition' Is Held An Illusory Phrase In Survey Asked By Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(A.P.)—President Roosevelt will permit the Darrow board investigating NRA monopolies to go out of existence upon completion of its present work, expected in a few days.
