Sanford Woman Accuses Migrant Clinic Of Age Bias

By Tom Giordano

Herald Staff Writer

A 52-year-old Sanford woman has filed an age discrimination complaint against the board of directors of the Central Florida Migrant and Community Health Center, Inc., for being passed over in her bid to become the clinic's new director.

Mrs. Ouida T. Stacey, 700 Magnolia Ave., has filed her complaint with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission's (EEOC) Tampa office alleging the board of directors declined her application because of her age; in fact did not review her application until she complained; and did not interview her for the position, but offered to interview her in August, a few weeks after the board had already hired the present director.

The board is denying Mrs. Stacey's complaint of age discrimination.

Mrs. Stacey is further alleging that the board of directors improperly failed to follow its own guidelines as published in an Evening Herald ad when seeking the new director. She said the directors advertised a salary in the mid-20's, but agreed to hire the new director, Susan Moore, at $30,800, in late July.

Additionally, Mrs. Stacey claims the board of directors should have, according to its own employee handbook, considered her application first, since it is, she said she thought, policy to promote from within when possible.

"I don't know if it will be an issue, but in addition to my age discrimination allegation, I'm pointing out to the directors that Ms. Moore isn't even a citizen of the United States."

Ms. Moore, a Canadian, said today that has no bearing on her applying for the director's position at the clinic, and pointed out she has worked for the past five years in Florida in the community health care field and the question of citizenship has never been raised. Ms. Moore, who has a degree in business administration and says she's a registered nurse, added, "The issue as I understand it is not aimed at my qualifications, but goes to the board of directors and Mrs. Stacey's claim that the board acted negligently in handling her application. I am a permanent resident and have a visa to work, which I'm sure is adequate for my taking this position. And, this issue has nothing to do with it, but I plan soon on applying for citizenship. I love this country and I want to be able to vote here."

In her complaint to EEOC regarding the age discrimination allegation, Mrs. Stacey states: "I am 52 years old, within the protected age group of 40-65; selectee (Ms. Moore) is 33...the clinic's agent and interim director, Medical Director Dr. Milton Alvarez, made a statement before witness, Louise T. Crawford, that although he was not on the 'Search Committee' he had told them that he preferred to work with a woman director and 'he would pick the younger one.'..."

Mrs. Stacey also says in her complaint that a board member told her her resume was never pulled out of the file for review "because I had put $30,000 on my

Annexation Cities Wrestle Enclaves Dilemma; Homeowners 'Want To Be Left Alone'

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Speakers before a special state advisory committee on annexation meeting in Sanford Wednesday were evenly divided on expanding the power of cities to annex.

Representatives from homeowners' groups in unincorporated areas of several counties in Central Florida let the committee know they do not want annexed to any city. Nor are they seeking city services. "We want to be left alone," they said.

At the same time, city representatives from across Central Florida recommended less stringent rules governing annexation. Easier annexation would help cities avoid the dilemma of whether or not to provide service within unincorporated pockets totally surrounded by city territory.

Current state law permits cities to annex lands on petition of the property owners or after voter approval in both city territory and the area to be annexed.

Sanford City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles told the committee Sanford has doubled in size in the last couple decades through annexations initiated by property owners solely on the basis of services provided, water and sewer in particular. He said Sanford has not consciously annexed land to increase its tax base over those years.

And because the city's elected officials have not wanted to annex properties against the owners' will, enclaves have resulted. He said there are currently 12 enclaves within the city limits of Sanford encompassing 117 acres.

Some of those enclaves are as much as one-half mile within the city. "The enclaves rely on the close existence of city services as free riders," Knowles said. But he said Sanford will not provide public safety services, police and fire protection, outside the city unless a life is in danger. "We could not, have not and will not run public safety into the enclaves," Knowles said, adding that the city has watched buildings in county territory burn down.

Kissimmee City Manager Sam Ackley, a former Sanford assistant city manager, testified about the need of his city in largely rural Osceola County to have some say in the planning of unincorporated fringe areas around that municipality.

"Where you have a large urban area, you have another city, whether you call it that or not," Ackley said, adding that urban areas in counties where municipal services are not provided may ultimately seek annexation to a city. "We (cities) should have some say in those areas," Ackley said.

...cities need some say in county territories.

Chairman Sandra Glenn in separate presentations at different times during the day-long hearing at the Sanford Civic Center agreed on only a few points:

- The need for the Legislature to define in law the word enclave.
- The fact that cities and counties exist to provide service.

Then, there was a parting of the ways.

On the enclave issue, Knowles told the Advisory Council on Intergovernmental Relations, composed of legislators, city and county officials and other advisors, that the lack of a definition in the law has caused two lawsuits in Seminole County.

With no definition of the term in state law, Seminole County officials have generally contended that an enclave is an unincorporated area partially surrounded by city territory. Seminole city officials, meanwhile, have chosen the dictionary definition that an enclave is county territory totally surrounded by municipal property. The word is important because it is forbidden under state law for a city to annex property crating an enclave.

Seminole County has taken the cities of Casselberry and Lake Mary to court challenging the annexations of Deer Run and Heathrow, respectively, and won their cases each time.

Zoo Ready To Host Young Siamang Pair

The Central Florida Zoo is eagerly awaiting the arrival of pair of young Siamangs, possibly in October. Natives of Sumatra, the Siamangs are the largest members of the Gibbon family.

Officials of the zoo, near Sanford, were told they had been selected over six other zoos under consideration throughout the United States to receive a young pair of Siamangs on breeding loan from the Riverbanks Zoo in Columbia, S.C.

"We had to go head-to-head to get this very popular pair of primates in here," said Al Rozon, the zoo's executive director. "And numerous telephone calls by both Ed Posey, our general curator, and myself fortunately convinced the director of Riverbanks Zoo that we were the best choice for exhibiting the rare pair of primates."

Rozon admitted that the zoo's low, swampy location is not the best environment for the species, which in nature lives in higher elevations, but said this was outweighed by the zoo's excellent reputation for caring for its animals. Rozon has in the past sought to relocate the zoo calling the present site unhealthy for some animals.

"This will be a great addition to our exhibits and we anticipate the arrival of this pair some time during October when we deliver an infant howler monkey to Riverbanks Zoo. It is out of a pair of parents, which are owned by them presently on exhibit here," said Rozon.

The six other zoos included some of the most prestigious in the country, able to afford to keep and exhibit large menageries," Rozon said. "I think it is a distinct credit to our fine staff and organization that our work was significant to the extent within the zoological community to have been selected. I take it as a form of a compliment and I have assured our colleagues at Riverbanks that these beautiful wild creatures will be well cared for and receive our very best efforts and that the entire Central Florida community will benefit from their popular exhibition here."

Central Florida Zoo's male Siamang in happier days before his mate died.

Central Florida Zoo officials are still trying to purchase a female Siamang being displayed with the zoo's solo male Siamang being exhibited just inside the zoo's entrance. The zoo's female Siamang purchased by members of the Seminole Rotary Club South in 1976 died of pneumonia and cardiac arrest about a year ago. While at the zoo she produced three offspring.

Delivery of the new pair from Riverbanks Zoo will be delayed until a quarantine cage can be constructed for the present male. The exhibit area currently occupied by him will be spruced up for the arrival of his new tenants, Rozon said.

"We plan to exhibit both pairs at each end of the zoo and they can call and vocalize loudly to one another in the way that has delighted our visitors in the past." —Jane Casselberry

Sanford Loses Employee To Amtrak; Adds Woman To Parks Maintenance

The city of Sanford has lost its first employee to Amtrak's Auto Train slated to begin its new service, Oct. 30, and has added a woman to its maintenance staff in the parks department.

In addition, two women have been promoted — one to the position of housing and zoning inspector and a second to customer service supervisor for the utility department.

Francie Wynalda, the city's personnel officer, said today that Cliff Small, who has been the city's refuse superintendent for the past two years, has resigned to accept a job with Amtrak Auto Train.

Prior to working for the city, Small was employed by the old Auto-Train Corp. His city salary was $17,902 annually.

The vacant position is posted at city hall to give current employees first opportunity to apply for the job before it is publicly advertised. Ms. Wynalda said.

Meanwhile, Sandra Jackson, 27, has been hired as a parks maintenance employee and seems to be enjoying her $9,205 annually salaried job, Ms. Wynalda said.

Mrs. Jackson, married and the mother of two children, is the only woman working in parks maintenance. She is extremely well qualified for the position, Ms. Wynalda said.

She has some college training in parks technology from Lake City Community College and has parks maintenance and equipment operation experience in Wisconsin.

Her duties include landscaping in the parks and around city buildings, operating a tractor with mower, and working sprinkler-irrigation systems.

Bette Sonnenberg, who has been customer service supervisor for two years, was promoted to housing and zoning inspector, to become the second woman to hold the position in the city. Mrs. Sonnenberg's salary is $13,556 a year.

Former housing and zoning inspector Leah Rogers, who worked for the city for 2 1/2 years, gave up the job to join her parents in Greece, where she plans to work in international business.

And Vickie Siegel, customer service representative for the past two years, has moved up to customer service supervisor at a salary of $11,987.

The city currently has 273 employees including 266 men and 47 women. — Donna Estes

Wells Free Of EDB In County ...So Far

Six drinking water wells in Seminole County have been tested and found not to be contaminated by the pesticide EDB, but eight more wells will be tested next week. Persons who have questions about their wells may call a new "hot-line" phone number for information.

The toll-free number is 1-800-342-3557.

Staff of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services will furnish information on the contamination problem.

One of the wells tested in Seminole serves Wilson Elementary School in Paola. The water was found to be safe, said Russell Miller, director of the environmental health section of the Seminole County Health Unit, a division of the state department of Health and Rehabilitative Services.

The pesticide ethylene dibromide (EDB), which is suspected of causing cancer, has been found in wells in six Florida counties.

"We found no EDB (in Seminole)," Miller said Tuesday. "The water is safe for drinking as far as chemical pollution is concerned."

Wilson said another well was at a private residence near the school.

He said all of the other four wells were located at private residences, including three in the Chuluota area and one residence on west 25th Street near Oaklawn Memorial Park cemetery in the Sanford area.

Miller said water samples were taken from wells in areas where the Florida department of agriculture reported that EDB had been applied to citrus groves to kill insects.

He said the samples were sent to a state laboratory in Jacksonville for analysis.

Dr. Stephen King, state public health officer, said people whose drinking water has been found contaminated by EDB should switch to alternative water sources, especially if they have young children.

"The EDB levels we have found in drinking water are known to significantly increase the probability of cancer," he said. "In the case of adults, development of cancer may require a number of years of exposure. However, this period may be much shorter for fetuses and our young children."

Used for decades to control nematodes attacking citrus and other crops, EDB has thus far been found in wells in areas of Orange, Lake, Polk, Marion, Jackson and Highlands counties. —Charles Cobb

Chase Fleeing Teen Eludes Cars, Copter, But Not Magnum

By Charles Cobb
Herald Staff Writer

A helicopter, a police dog and a small army of lawmen chased down an 18-year-old man driving a stolen car today and arrested him near the Seminole Community College campus.

John Spolski of the Seminole County sheriff's department gave this account of the incident:

A Maitland police officer spotted a car that had been reported stolen in Colorado driving down a street in Maitland at about 9:30 a.m. today.

The officer began chasing the car and after "zig zagging" through the Maitland area the car entered Interstate 4 and traveled north into Seminole County with Maitland police cars and a helicopter from the Orange County sheriff's department in pursuit.

The car exited onto Lake Mary Boulevard and units from the Longwood, Lake Mary and Sanford police departments and the Seminole County sheriff's department joined the chase.

The car drove onto a dirt road, known as Hospital Road and also as Power Line Road, and stopped. The driver got out and ran into a wooded area.

A K-9 dog from the Lake Mary police department was called in and the German shepherd flushed the man out of the woods and officers arrested him at about 10:30 a.m. Lake Mary police Lt. Samuel Belfiore and Police Chief Harry S. Benson brought the police dog Magnum to the scene and the dog "picked up the scent and took off like a bullet," said Benson.

When Magnum approached the suspect, who was hiding in some underbrush about 75 yards away, the man started to run, but quickly stopped, put his hands up and surrendered to officers, Benson said.

Kevin J. Prejean was charged with attempting to flee and elude a police officer and was booked into the Seminole County jail.

Spolski said Prejean is also wanted by Colorado authorities on charges of car theft and breaking and entering.

Officers relax moments after suspect was captured near SCC campus after leading lawmen on wild chase.

IN BRIEF

Democrats Balk At War Powers Compromise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats on a key House panel have voted to cut off funds for the Marines in Lebanon Dec. 1, threatening the fragile compromise between their own leaders and President Reagan to allow the troops to stay there 18 more months.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee today may approve and send to the full House the compromise resolution worked out earlier between the president, House Democratic leaders and Senate Republican leaders.

But in a surprise move late Wednesday, the Democratic-led House Appropriations Committee balked at the compromise and voted 20-16, mostly along party lines, to cut off funds for the Marines if Reagan does not invoke the War Powers Resolution by Dec. 1.

Chemotherapy Begins

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Doctors began court-ordered chemotherapy on Pamela Hamilton while she slept early today to spare the 12-year-old "anxiety" over violation of her religious beliefs.

But Pamela's doctor indicated the treatment may come too late. He said that during the two-month legal battle over whether the state could force the treatment on the girl, her chances of survival had slipped from even to 25 percent or less.

Doctors were given the authority to start the treatments Wednesday after two court rulings brushed aside the family's arguments that only God can heal Pamela's cancer and that she has a First Amendment right to refuse treatment on religious grounds.

AT&T Plans Rate Cut

NEW YORK (UPI) — American Telephone & Telegraph Co. plans to ask the government next month for permission to slash its rates on interstate long-distance calls by 10 to 15 percent beginning Jan. 1.

AT&T says the proposed rate reduction will amount to $1.75 billion a year, making it the largest rate cut in Bell System history.

An AT&T spokesman said Wednesday the projected 10 to 15 percent reduction in average long-distance charges is in line with what the company had previously estimated the rate reductions would amount to when it divests its 22 local operating companies on Jan. 1.

Despite Threats

Woman To Continue Mobile Home Fight

By Micheal Beha
Herald Staff Writer

An Osceola Road resident has vowed to continue her fight against illegally parked mobile homes in the area despite threats to her health and property.

"I've been told that for every dollar I cost them (the offending mobile home owners), it'll cost me a thousand," said Geri Small.

Mrs. Small's fight against illegal mobile homes began with a battle to prevent her next-door neighbor from placing a trailer on his property. She lost the first round of that contest earlier this week when the Seminole County Board of Adjustment gave the neighbor, William Lundy, permission to park a mobile home on his lot.

Mrs. Small said she will appeal the decision to county commissioners. She contends the trailer should not be allowed in a neighborhood made up of conventional houses. She said the mobile home will devalue her property and other houses in the area.

But Mrs. Small said it would be easier to accept a mobile home next door if county officials would make some effort to remove illegally parked mobile homes and clear up county code violations at existing mobile homes in the area.

"They're flaunting the law," she said, adding that "the county knows about it

Mobile homes like this, complete with outside toilets, are the focus of a county investigation.

but they won't do anything."

Mrs. Small has taken county land management officials on a tour of the area, showing them a group of 13 mobile homes and travel trailers she claims are parked illegally along the riverbank. Some of the trailers have privvies located less than 75 feet from the St. Johns River.

County officials have also been informed of other mobile homes which she says are in violation of county codes. There are several clusters of three, four and five mobile homes parked on one lot some, Mrs. Small claims, with 55-gallon drums buried in the ground serving as septic tanks.

County Land Management Manager Herb Hardin says his department is investigating Mrs. Small's charges. But he added that the investigation will take time.

Mrs. Small said she first became aware of the violations while she was knocking on doors doing a postal survey in the area. "I went to places I didn't know existed," she said.

Her work to get mail service in the area was successful; rural delivery from the Oviedo Post Office is scheduled to begin in November. "We're getting mail service, we're upgrading our community out here. Now we need to get rid of the illegal mobile homes," she said.

The illegal mobile homes and other violations are no secret, she said. Mrs. Small claims most of the residents in the area are aware they exist but are either afraid to say anything or have a "live-and-let-live" attitude.

Mrs. Small said she's not alone in her stance. She said many people in the community support her position but cannot get involved publicly because of family or business relationships.

Mrs. Small and her husband Bill have no such ties in the area. They bought their house 4 1/2 years ago and completely rebuilt it. "We used to have a beautiful home in Oviedo but Bill had always wanted to live on the river. So, we found this place, bought it and spent every penny we had fixing it up. Now they want to allow mobile homes next door to us."

Animal Cruelty Charges Filed Against Kennel Owner

The owner of an Oviedo area kennel faces a maximum sentence of nine years in prison and a $9,000 fine if she is convicted of animal cruelty charges that have been filed against her.

One count was filed against Laurtan Spankie, owner of Snow Hill Kennels and Plant Farm, for each of the nine animals seized at the kennel on Aug. 25. If convicted, Mrs. Spankie could receive a maximum penalty of one year in prison and a $1,000 fine for each of the counts filed Monday.

Officials of the Seminole County Humane Society, Seminole County Animal Control and the sheriff's department obtained a search warrant and seized eight dogs and a kitten at the kennel, on County Road 426 northeast of Oviedo. The animals were all judged to be in need of medical care.

Animal Control officials revoked Mrs. Spankie's license, prohibiting her from boarding animals commercially. She has appealed the revocation.

Two of the dogs seized, both Doberman pinschers, died later after being placed under the care of a Casselberry veterinarian.

The other seven animals are being kept at the Humane Society in Sanford.

County Judge Alan A. Dickey has not ruled on a request by the Humane Society that it be given permanent custody of the remaining seven animals.

The Seminole County Commission is considering proposed revisions in the county's animal control ordinance to ensure situations like the Snow Hill problem don't happen again.

The revised ordinance would allow inspectors to check animals' condition, medical records and feeding records.

ASSAULT

A 23-year-old Sanford man was being held in the Seminole County jail today in lieu of $1,000 bond after he allegedly charged a police officer with a large butcher knife.

The officer was answering a report of a disturbance at the home of Joel Harry Buenzie, 605 Magnolia Ave., at 10:12 p.m. Sunday.

The officer said that as he entered the home, Buenzie charged him with the knife in his hand and refused to put the knife down. The officer said Buenzie finally dropped the knife and was arrested and charged with aggravated assault.

...Annexation

Among the reasons for the lawsuit were a county contention that enclaves were created by the annexations. Although the court ruled in favor of the county each time, the court did not list the creation of enclaves as the basis for ruling in the county's favor and did not define the word in the resulting opinions.

State Rep. Tom C. Brown, D-Orange City, said it should be a simple matter for the Seminole County legislative delegation to have a special legislative act adopted including those enclaves within the Sanford city limits. He asked Knowles if he has asked the local delegation to submit a special act for approval of the Legislature.

When Brown persisted after Knowles said he has worked through the Florida League of Cities for legislation to help all the cities with a similar problem in the state, Knowles asked facetiously if Brown or the Volusia County Legislative delegation would like to sponsor such legislation for Sanford.

"Only if Sanford becomes part of my district," Brown replied.

During the afternoon session when Mrs. Glenn appeared, Brown asked her if she would support local legislation to allow Sanford to annex the 12 enclaves, she responded with a firm, "No, sir."

Pointing to her past service as an Altamonte Springs city commissioner, she said she is aware of the problems cities face with annexations, but she added that cities created the enclaves in past annexations. "I think a selling job needs to be done," she said so that the property owners in the enclaves will be willing to be annexed by the cities.

She said she personally wouldn't mind state law being adopted that would permit cities to annex property with approval of less than 100 percent of the property owners.

Mrs. Glenn said she could favor new law requiring that two-thirds of the property owners owning two-thirds of the property petition before annexation could be accomplished as long as the planned use of the property in the city remains what it has been designated in the county.

She also said she would like to see a provision included in state law to require all property owners within 300 feet of the property, whether they be residents of the city or the unincorporated area, be notified of an impending annexation. And, the county commission should be notified of all impending annexations, she said.

Brown said, however, requiring cities to notify unincorporated area property owners and the county of impending annexations "would be an exercise with words" because neither could do anything about it even if they were notified.

Mrs. Glenn said, however, that "bad vibes" are the result when property owners who have annexed their land to a city come back and ask the county commission for a waiver of the two year period before zoning can be changed if the county has not been notified in advance of the annexation.

"I get the feeling that that they have tried to put something over on me," she said.

Mrs. Glenn said Seminole is an urban county with 52 percent of the population living in unincorporated areas and 48 percent in municipalities. But she contended many county residents living in unincorporated areas believe they reside within a city until it comes time for services. She said people generally do not care whether they live in a city or the unincorporated areas as long as they receive service when they need it.

The committee was appointed by the Legislature to study annexation and other matters concerning growth management. The committee after it concludes public hearings later this month is to prepare a report of recommendations on changes in state law to be considered by the Legislature in 1984.

U.S. Warships Shell Lebanese Rebels Again

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — American warships shelled rebel forces in the mountains overlooking Beirut today, retaliating for another artillery barrage near the U.S. ambassador's residence and a Druze Moslem clash with government troops.

It was the fifth U.S. naval bombardment in three days amid mounting concern in Washington over the growing American military role in Lebanon. No U.S. casualties were reported.

The U.S. shelling coincided with a fresh assault by anti-government forces on the Shouf mountain town of Souk el Gharb, considered a key to the Lebanese army's successful defense of the capital 5 miles northwest of the village.

Rebels Take Key Town

United Press International

Nicaragua claimed its troops killed 11 rebels in repulsing an attack by anti-Sandinista forces on a government garrison. In El Salvador, rebels reoccupied a town believed a key to a clandestine arms route from Nicaragua.

Salvadoran military sources reported renewed combat around Jucuaran, a town of 3,000 some 70 miles southeast of San Salvador near the Pacific Ocean.

Hundreds of guerrillas and government soldiers fought there last week with military officials claiming their forces retook the town, but the sources said army units had abandoned Jucuaran to rebels again.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Mass Murder Suspect Facing Still More Charges

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Henry Lee Lucas, the drifter who claims to have killed 156 people in 16 states, is facing possible first-degree murder charges in at least three Jacksonville area slayings.

Assistant State Attorney Skip Booth Wednesday said the sheriff's office had presented to the State Attorney's Office as many as three death cases against Lucas, who currently is being held in Texas on five murder charges there.

Booth said the State Attorney's Office will decide if there is sufficient evidence to ask a county grand jury to indict Lucas.

Jaffe To Get New Hearing

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Parole and Probation Commission has scheduled a new parole hearing for Oct. 5 for controversial Canadian land developer Sidney Jaffe.

Jaffe, who was abducted near his Toronto condominium two years ago and returned to Florida to stand trial on land sales charges, is currently serving time at Avon Park Correctional Institution.

He was sentenced to 35 years in prison after being convicted of 28 separate violations of Florida's Uniform Land Sales Practice act and one count of failing to appear for trial.

Reagan: 'U.S. Won't Be Going To War'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan says he does not envision the United States going to war despite its escalating military involvement in trouble spots in the Middle East and Central America.

Reagan attributed the escalation of the American show of force around the world to its responsibilities as a peacemaker "when freedom is on the line."

The president made the remarks at a White House luncheon meeting with broadcasters where he was questioned about the administration's policies in Lebanon and Central America.

"I don't see the necessity for the United States going to war in any place where we are," he said.

"As I once said in a press conference here and some of the regular members of the White House press corps tried to hang me out to dry on it... there are some things in which a president should never say never."

"But," he added, "there is nothing in our plans that envisions a war for the United States. Our job is trying to prevent war wherever it may come in the world. This is the reason for our military buildup and our disarmament talks, more than any administration has ever had going at one time in our history."

When asked what would happen if the USS carrier Eisenhower came under attack, he said that offshore U.S. naval forces have the same right to defend themselves as the 1,200 Marines in Lebanon, but added, "So far we see no indication of anything of the kind there."

"You can't rule out anything when we have to deal with the kind of people we have to deal with in that episode, but I would think they would do thinking two or three times more before they would attempt anything of that kind," he added.

Watt Sticks Foot In Mouth...Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Secretary James Watt says his latest controversial comment — that he has an advisory group made up of "a black, a woman, two Jews and a cripple" — was "unfortunate." His critics go a little further.

Rep. Tony Coelho, D-Calif., wrote a letter to President Reagan urging him to rebuke Watt, saying his remark "only reinforces the widely held belief that your administration is insensitive toward minority groups, women and others."

Watt, who made the remark to a business group Wednesday, later said he had apologized to Richard Gordon, a member of a special commission on coal leasing practices who has a paralyzed right arm.

Gordon, a professor at Penn State, said he was disturbed by Watt's remarks. He said Watt told him the comment was a "jocular characterization."

Julia Walsh, the woman on the five-member study panel, said, "I resent it being implied that I am the token woman." Watt, who has called himself the administration's "lightning rod," frequently has been the focus of controversy for strongly expressing his political and religious beliefs.

James Watt

...a black, a woman, two Jews and a cripple'

One brouhaha came when he suggested the Beach Boys and other rock 'n' roll bands drew the "wrong element" to Fourth of July festivities on the Washington Mall, and suggested singer Wayne

Newton perform instead. The White House awarded him a plaster foot with a bullet hole in it for that flap, suggesting he had "shot himself in the foot" with the comment.

One congressman lumped Watt with Earl Butz, Richard Nixon's agriculture secretary who resigned after telling a racist, off-color joke.

Watt's comments came during a half-hour, off-the-cuff address attacking Congress, the press and liberal Democrats, sparked by a Senate vote Tuesday putting a moratorium on federal coal leasing pending a review of the program.

The controversial secretary's breakfast audience, trade association executives at the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, laughed when he told them the review panel has "three Democrats, two Republicans — every kind of mix you can have."

"I have a black, a woman, two Jews and a cripple. And we have talent," Watt said.

Watt issued a statement later Wednesday saying his "choice of words about the coal leasing commission today was unfortunate."

"I have apologized to the one member of the commission who is handicapped. I remain very proud of the commission, which is made up of highly talented people."

Soviet Admits Pilot Error In Downing Jet

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UPI) — A Soviet official said Russian pilots, reacting in a "trigger-happy" manner, mistakenly shot down a South Korean jumbo jet with 269 people aboard even if they did believe it was on a spying mission as Moscow claims.

"Of course it was a mistake in the sense that the pilots took this plane for a reconnaissance plane," Viktor Linnyk, a political consultant in the Soviet government, said in a BBC television interview. "They never thought it was a civilian plane."

Linnyk maintained the Soviets "never" would have shot down a civilian airliner even though it might be spying.

Moscow claimed the Korean Air Lines Boeing 747 was gathering intelligence data for the United States when a Soviet jet shot it down over the Sea of Japan Sept. 1. The American and South Korean governments denied the charge.

Linnyk, an official in Moscow's Department of International Affairs, also cast doubt on the official Soviet line that KAL Flight 007 was spying, but he later retracted the remark.

"I totally do believe it was a spy plane... but had we known it had civilians on it the decision would have been different, that's the thing," Linnyk told ITN, Britain's commercial television network.

Moscow charged Monday that the airliner was part of an elaborate U.S. surveillance operation involving satellites and ground stations spying on Soviet Far Eastern air defenses.

County Officials Looking For Toll Roads Consultant

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Three Orlando consulting engineering firms are scheduled to make presentations to the Seminole County Expressway Authority Monday in hopes of winning a contract to identify potential toll roads in the county.

Former Seminole County Administrator Roger Neiswender is the Orlando office manager of Post, Buckley, Schuh, and Jernigan which has worked for the county's Environmental Services Department and developed a proposed Orlando bypass system for the Orange-Ocoola Expressway Authority.

The other firms which will make presentations are Greiner Engineering Sciences Inc. and Howard Needles Tammen and Bergendoff Inc.

The expressway authority will recommend one of the three firms to Seminole County commissioners for formal approval. But the commission should go along with the expressway authority's recommendations since the five county commissioners are also on the seven-member expressway authority.

In addition to studying sites for possible toll roads through the county, the consultant will also study the county's highway needs and develop a computer program to coordinate road construction with new growth.

Commissioners will pay for the studies from a state loan to the expressway authority and from county gas tax proceeds.

The expressway authority meeting will be held at 4 p.m. Monday in the Agricultural Center at the county's Five Points complex.

Sky High Union Wages

Chrysler Corporation's new wage agreement with the United Auto Workers may have been necessary for the company.

It plans to introduce new models in January, and understandably fears interruption of production. The settlement, however, is bad news for the American auto industry as a whole and puts into question its future.

Under the agreement, Chrysler workers will enjoy a pay and benefit package totaling $26 an hour. That amounts to more than $54,000 a year.

Something is very wrong when production workers are paid much more than skilled professionals with both undergraduate and graduate degrees.

Aside from the basic distortion of wages in the auto industry, there is the fact that wages in the Japanese auto industry are half what they are in the United States.

And it is the Japanese automakers that are taking sales from the American manufacturers.

In the midst of the recession, imports accounted for 27 percent of automobile sales in the United States. Eighty percent of the imports were Japanese.

American automakers have sent almost $80 billion to retool their plants. They have achieved a remarkable degree of modernization in a few years.

The modernization will be for naught, however, if wages and benefits continue to escalate, thereby widening the $1,200 to $2,000 cost advantage currently enjoyed by the Japanese.

Overtime, escalating wages may destroy the competitiveness of American auto manufacturers, and the industry may wither away.

The leadership of the United Auto Workers should understand this fact of economic life.

It is a prisoner of its own militant rhetoric, however. The UAW already is aiming at another round of wage hikes in mid-1984.

Actually, what is needed for the industry to survive is a round of givebacks to make the industry more competitive and, thereby, give the workers real job security.

The auto industry may be destined to be the victim of monopoly unionism, as the steel industry is in danger of becoming.

In a free economy, automakers should be able to hire people at a wage the companies can afford to pay.

The unions, however, have a strangle hold on the workforce. They have the idea that they own the jobs in auto and steel plants and other unionized factories. Any manufacturer in these heavy industries who set out to hire non-union workers at competitive wages would be faced with union violence on a large scale.

Years ago, Congress should have applied anti-trust laws to labor unions, thereby denying them the right to engage in restraint of trade.

One-sided anti-trust laws, applicable only to business, means that unions are the last monopoly in the United States.

They are exercising their monopoly powers at the expense of the well-being of the workers and the health of America's basic industries.

The United States will pay dearly for the abuse of union power.

Taxing Situation

If there's one thing certain, it's that Americans don't like to pay taxes. And there are some taxes they dislike paying even more than other taxes.

This was brought out by a Gallup poll commissioned by a federal-state panel, the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations. It showed that the income tax, considered by most economists as the most progressive form of taxation, is viewed by the public as the least fair tax it pays.

What sort of tax, then, do Americans prefer? This is assuming, of course, their grudging acceptance of the tax burden.

Well, according to the poll, a majority of Americans would prefer a new national sales tax over higher income taxes if soaring budget deficits force the government to find new sources of revenue.

Asked what would be the best way to raise federal taxes, 52 percent of those polled chose a new national sales tax on all purchases except food. Only 24 percent preferred higher income taxes, and another 24 percent said they didn't know.

Where the pollsters really missed the boat was in not asking Americans whether they favored cutting government spending instead of raising taxes. It's a safe bet that the answer to that question would be a resounding YES.

BERRY'S WORLD

"If you don't stonewall it, you might disappear like that South Korean airliner!"

By Charles Cobb

The tragic abduction and murder of a clerk at an Orlando convenience store last week has focused attention on the dangers convenience store employees face.

With more than 36,000 shops in the United States, the convenience store business prides itself on 24-hour access to everything from children's cough syrup to cigarettes and alcohol.

Given the basic characteristics of the business — open all night with only one or two sales clerks, and with ready access to quick getaway routes — the industry has become a ready target for armed robbers.

Leading the way against robberies is the biggest convenience store chain in the country, the Southland Corp. of Dallas which operates 7,000 7-Eleven stores.

The new techniques being used by Southland are inexpensive and sound surprisingly simple. Southland knows that robbers look for an obscure or hidden sales counter where they can make a quick, inconspicuous heist.

To solve that problem, the number of advertising signs in store windows was reduced, giving a clear view of front sales counters from the parking lot.

Robbers are also attracted to unkempt, poorly-lighted stores with inattentive clerks. Therefore lighting was improved both inside and outside the stores.

Training employees to pay sharper attention to loiterers and keeping less cash on hand and advertising the fact are still other tactics used.

And, Southland advises its employees: If a robbery occurs in spite of the precautions, don't fight or argue with the holdup man. Don't try to hide any money. Cooperate and try not to get hurt. No one can measure the cost of violence and the value of a life.

A Book Worth Reading

To understand American politics, it is necessary to understand the inside workings of the Congress and the ways in which the legislative process is influenced.

The election of representatives and senators is only the initial phase of the political process. Unless members of Congress organize and channel their energies, they won't be effective.

Liberal Democrats were the first to understand this. In the 1950s, they formed the Democratic Study Group, which became very important in imposing a liberal shape on legislation. Fourteen years later, in 1973, the Republicans followed suit with the establishment of the Republican Study Group, which organized research in such a way as to promote conservative goals in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Dr. Edwin J. Feulner, Jr., president of the Heritage Foundation, has written the story of the Republican Study Committee's 10-year struggle in a new book entitled Conservatives Stalk the House issued by Green Hill Publishers. For years, Dr. Feulner was executive director of the Republican Study Committee. He is an authority on the legislative process and played a key role in bringing a conservative minority into a position of decisive political influence. The Heritage Foundation, under Dr. Feulner's direction, has been a chief source of ideas for the Reagan administration.

Not everyone is interested in political strategy and tactics. The outcome of legislative battles, however, has a direct impact on the lives of the American people. If citizens are alarmed at trends in their country, the only way they can alter those trends is by electing a new set of representatives in Washington.

To make these representatives a cohesive, effective force requires legislative professionals, skilled students of the legislative process who know how to work with writers and academics in order to get sound ideas across to the public. This means that organizations such as the Democratic Study Group and the Republican Study Committee are here to stay. The individual representative can't hope to influence the shape of legislation without cooperation from like-minded legislators and their aides and a backup staff of professionals who can research and articulate the issues.

If anything, the political process will become more complex in the year ahead. Specialized organizations, whether liberal, conservative or radical, have a developing capacity to apply pressure on legislators and to create events which are the stuff of life for the major media. Moreover, the organizations within Congress have to work closely with a vast array of supporting private public policy organizations.

For anyone who has a serious interest in the way legislation is developed and affected in the congress, this is an important and even essential book. Aside from being excellent political history, it sheds light on the needs of the future. For the conservatives to whom this book is primarily addressed, Dr. Feulner offers a reminder that "the need for an ideological cutting edge will be magnified."

Mrs. Marcos Ordered Aquino Murder?

WASHINGTON — While world attention has been focused on the downing of Flight 007 and the fighting in Lebanon, someone has been getting away with murder in the Philippines.

Secret intelligence reports don't say who assassinated Filipino dissident Benigno Aquino in Manila last month. But they suggest cautiously that he may have been murdered on the orders of First Lady Imelda Marcos, without her husband's knowledge.

Here's the background: According to the intelligence reports, President Ferdinand Marcos has a serious kidney ailment that could cause him to relinquish the dictatorial power he has held for nearly 20 years. Aware of this, Aquino felt the time had come for him to leave his sanctuary in the United States and return to the Philippines.

It's no secret that Marcos would like to see his wife succeed him. Though he used to deny this, pointing out she wasn't even a member of the Cabinet Executive Committee, he appointed her to that committee last year.

Marcos also sponsored the rise of her

JEFFREY HART

Reagan's Response

President Reagan is being praised by liberals for the "moderation" of his response to the plane massacre, but he is being excoriated by hard-liners for what they see as a weak and inadequate response. Now I yield to no one in my loathing for the regime in the Kremlin, and it is my judgment that Reagan has hit a political home run.

For day after day following the murder, the Soviets have been left twisting slowly in the wind. They are absolutely naked. They committed the murder and then lied about it, and when confronted about it in Madrid by Secretary of State George Shultz, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko dropped the mask of geniality and showed the harsh face of brutal totalitarianism.

Yes, he said in effect to Shultz, the Soviets had shot the airliner down because it had violated Soviet airspace. Shultz drew the correct conclusion: They would do it again, and they are utterly unapologetic and unrepentant.

There it stands, the ghastly truth of the Soviet regime.

Reagan's political instinct was correct. He chose not to distract attention from that now naked truth.

New York's governor Mario Cuomo professed himself surprised that Reagan had not canceled the grain deal with the Soviets, or done something about the coming Olympics. Others have suggested different kinds of sanctions.

But we have been down the road of the grain embargo before, and have been humiliated. Opposition to gas pipeline technology splits us from the NATO countries, and, on balance, weakens us strategically as opposed to the Soviets.

President Carter's move against the Moscow Olympics, precipitated by the Afghan invasion, was timely and effective, because the Olympics should never have been scheduled for Moscow in the first place. The big Soviet Olympic media extravaganza was aborted, and all those little stuffed Olympic bears went at cut rate (the little bears had been manufactured by slave labor).

But Los Angeles is not Moscow, and there would be no point in trying to exclude the Soviets from the competition. Many of their athletes, like their writers, artists and musicians, do not like the Soviet regime any more than we do. I would bet, if there are any takers, that there will be Soviet defections at the Los Angeles games.

Reagan has played this crisis with a cool hand. Politics is not to be confused with self-expression. It consists of an equation of power, and the great politicians are those capable of reading that equation. In politics, as Jack Kennedy once put it, the great maxim is "Don't get mad, get even."

If Reagan had, for example, canceled the Olympics, or canceled the grain deal, or broken diplomatic relations with the Soviets, attention would have shifted from the murder of the passengers to the wisdom of the sanctions. But that has not happened, and Reagan has reaped substantial political benefits.

At a single stroke, the Soviets have flung away virtually everything that their diplomacy and propaganda have labored to create for the past several years.

Whatever is left of the disarmament movement in this country and in Europe is probably permanently discredited. The Korean 747, after all, was "disarmed," and has been turned into a giant metaphor. Do you want to turn your country, it is now proper to ask the peace movement, into a Korean 747?

What the Soviets most wanted to avoid, the deployment of the Pershing II intermediate range missile in Europe, has been made much more likely.

Reagan's increases in military spending, and his policy of resisting communism in Central America, have been strengthened in Congress and with public opinion.

By his restrained reaction to an outrageous provocation, Reagan has de-fused the notion that he is a warmonger or has a hair-trigger reaction to crisis.

The Democratic contenders for the presidency have been politically weakened. Their promises to call Andropov on the phone the day after the election now sound ludicrous. The Democratic liberals now look like people who would buy a used car from Andropov.

The Soviets served up a fat political pitch to Reagan, and he hit it out of the park.

Alaskan Forest Monopoly

YAKUTAT, Alaska (NEA) — The federal government estimates that it has been bilked out of $63.9 million to $81.5 million because of illegal practices on the part of two large timber companies operating in the country's largest national forest.

But the agency which is convinced it has been defrauded, the Agriculture Department's Forest Service, persists in continuing the arrangement which has allowed the two corporations to long dominate timber production in the 15.9 million-acre Tongass National Forest.

Stretching south from here for almost 450 miles along southeastern Alaska's "panhandle," the Tongass is a magnificent wilderness mosaic, encompassing not only vast stands of Sitka spruce and western hemlock but also wild rivers, fjords, glaciers and alpine peaks.

In an attempt to broaden the region's economic base beyond the fishing industry, the Forest Service decided in the 1950s to offer an extraordinary inducement to the two firms to gain their commitment to invest millions of dollars in commercial timber operations.

Although most leases granted by the Forest Service for timber rights in national forests extend for only three to five years, the Alaska Lumber & Pulp Co. and the Ketchikan Pulp Co., a subsidiary of Louisiana-Pacific Corp., were granted 50-year leases which give them exclusive rights to more than two-thirds of all Tongass timber. The leases don't expire until early next century.

There is substantial evidence, however, that the firms have abused their special status. In 1975, a small timber firm filed a civil suit alleging that the two Forest Service contract holders had been engaging in monopolistic, anti-competitive practices dating back to the 1950s.

Following a lengthy trial in U.S. District Court in Seattle, a federal judge ruled in 1981 that the two companies had engaged in illegal, collusive activities "to restrict and eliminate competition in all phases of the timber industry in southeast Alaska... and to attain and exercise monopoly power, i.e. the power to set prices and exclude competition."

That decision was upheld earlier this year by the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit. At least four additional civil suits are pending against the two timber companies.

At the request of the Agriculture Department, the Justice Department investigated allegations of illegal activities in the Tongass as early as 1968. In the mid-1970s, a federal grand jury conducted a two-year criminal probe but issued no indictments.

In recent years, the Agriculture Department has initiated a spate of investigations, all of which have produced evidence damaging to the two firms.

One review, completed in late 1981, concludes that "widespread collusion in the bidding practices in the timber industry in the Tongass National Forest was and still is being practiced as of this date."

That review cites fraudulent pricing agreements, excessive charges, possible destruction of incriminating documents, collusive bidding practices, submission of false statements and a variety of other unlawful business practices.

closest military ally, Gen. Fabian Ver, who is now chief of staff of the Philippines armed forces, with 250,000 troops under his command. Ver also directs the Philippines intelligence services and presidential security.

Aquino made no secret of his hope to forestall a transfer of power to Imelda and the establishment of a Marcos dynasty. His return to the Philippines, therefore, was the greatest threat to Imelda's ambitions.

Sources with access to intelligence reports from the Philippines believe Imelda and Ver may have arranged Aquino's assassination to eliminate their most charismatic rival. One responsible administration source discussed this possibility at length with my associate Dale Van Atta, who has also seen highly sensitive CIA and Defense Intelligence Agency reports on the subject.

As the man in charge of presidential security, Gen. Ver had been keeping track of Aquino throughout his exile in the United States. Ver and Imelda also stacked the Philippines Embassy in Washington, as a secret DIA report explained:

"The new (military) attache team was selected by Benjamin Romualdez, ambassador-designate and brother of First Lady Imelda Marcos, and confirmed by Armed Forces Chief of Staff Gen. Fabian Ver," the report states.

The DIA report continues: "The new team is also expected to monitor Philippine dissident activity in the U.S. The attaches will undoubtedly report on, and possibly operate against, anti-Marcos Philippine activists in the U.S."

Their top target in this country was Aquino. The intelligence reports view Imelda Marcos' meetings with Aquino with some cynicism, particularly her warning to him last May that he might be assassinated if he returned to the Philippines.

"Mrs. Marcos can be expected to become one of many candidates to succeed her husband, and her maneuvering will add greatly to the political turmoil and instability that will follow his departure," a CIA profile noted, adding that "in the political confusion, she might succeed."

Imelda's biggest hurdle, the CIA figures, is the Philippine military brass, whose loyalty to her husband is personal and does not extend to her. That, presumably, is where Gen. Ver comes in.

Imelda, whom the CIA calls "the steel butterfly," has chosen her military allies well. Commanders of most military units in the Manila area — crucial to any seizure of power — are like Gen. Ver, natives of Ilocos Norte province in northwestern Luzon. This is also Marcos' hometown.

In fact, Imelda's power play has reached such a point that supporters of her chief rival, Defense Minister Juan Ponce Enrile, are quoted in a highly classified CIA cable as saying: "We must keep our heads down and our mouths shut. Unless we do, we will not survive.... (We must) smile and do what is necessary to stay alive."

The CIA's conclusion: "In a real power struggle... Ver and his proteges," along with Imelda, may well win.

...Clinic Hit With Discrimination Suit

application under 'salary desired.' Yet, they hired Ms. Moore for more money than that."

Mrs. Crawford, formerly EEOC officer for Seminole Community Action, confirmed today that she filed the age discrimination charges on Mrs. Stacey's behalf. Mrs. Stacey said she asked Mrs. Crawford to represent her because of her previous experience in such matters.

Mrs. Crawford asserted that the Central Florida Migrant and Community Health Center's board of directors by failing to hire Mrs. Stacey as executive director "blatantly practiced age discrimination."

"I don't understand how any board could have been that insensitive," Mrs. Crawford said, adding that Mrs. Stacey has been working at the clinic as a nurse-practitioner for 5½ years.

"She has all kinds of business administration background and is not only knowledgeable of the migrant community she is working with, coming from a farming background herself, she also knows the medical population, the political structure and the political power bases," she said.

Mrs. Crawford charged that the clinic board of directors did not post the job at the center to determine whether someone capable could be hired from within.

Even though Mrs. Stacey applied for the job, Mrs. Crawford said the board didn't choose to look at her resume in her personnel file.

"This is a clear case of discrimination," Mrs. Crawford said.

"Mrs. Stacey is asking that she be considered for the job. She has not been given an equal opportunity," she said. "I think she has an excellent chance."

The charges have been filed against the entire board of directors, Mrs. Crawford said.

Members of the board include: Mrs. Adeline Tinsley, Oviedo, chairman; James Tesar, executive director of Central Florida Regional Hospital; Pat Southward, Lake Mary; Dr. Louis Perez, Sanford; Cay Westerfield, Oviedo; Teri Burratti, Sanford; Ora Lee Walker, Berthenia Bobb, Dottie Campbell, Dr. Earl Cherry, Othel Duvall and Thelma Mike, Sanford.

Mrs. Tinsley denied today that any age discrimination was practiced by the board. "The charges are not true," she said declining further comment.

Mrs. Southward who was a member of the "search committee" with Tesar, Mrs. Tinsley and Mrs. Westerfield, called the charges "unfounded and ridiculous."

"Matters of salary are negotiable," Mrs. Southward said of the charge that the board advertised one salary and agreed to pay a higher one.

"Mrs. Moore had experience in an identical job in Pasco County, a good track record there and was highly recommended by the political and medical communities in Dade County," Mrs. Southward said. "She also had good references from the Atlanta regional office of U.S. Health and Human Services which provides the funding for the local clinic."

"I'm sorry that Mrs. Stacey has chosen to pursue this because the clinic will have to expend limited financial resources for a defense which will divert those resources from its primary mission of providing patient care. I feel it will be an expensive waste of time for the clinic and will ultimately harm the patients," Mrs. Southward said.

According to the EEOC's Tampa office, Mrs. Stacey has until Oct. 7 to pursue the matter with them.

"I certainly intend to do so," said Mrs. Stacey.

Attaining Status

Mary Ellen Buehring, second from right, Certified Legal Assistant, is one of five CLA's in the nation to have successfully completed the first "Specialty CLA Certification" examination in Estate Planning, Probate and Taxation. She attained CLA status in 1976 when she completed the first CLA examination given by The National Association of Legal Assistants (NALA). Employed by the law firm of Winderweede, Haines, Ward & Woodman, P.A. of Winter Park,

Virus May Cause Hardening Of Arteries

HOUSTON (UPI) — Baylor College of Medicine researchers say a herpes-type virus may be the cause for hardening of the arteries — a major cause of heart attacks.

In an article in the British medical journal, Lancet, Drs. Joseph Melnick, Michael DeBakey and four other Baylor researchers say they found evidence of cytomegalovirus in the walls of atherosclerotic arteries.

Melnick and DeBakey wrote the tentative finding may encourage greater efforts to develop a vaccine against cytomegalovirus and provide researchers a lead to the cause of the blood vessel disease.

They based their findings on study of 11 coronary bypass surgery patients. The researchers also found CMV in apparently healthy arteries of atherosclerosis patients, but said that may only mean the disease was not yet visible.

The arterial tissue studied came from patients undergoing coronary bypass surgery. The tissue was grown in a laboratory and combined with CMV antibodies labeled with fluorescent dye to make them visible under the microscope.

Atherosclerosis results when cells multiply too quickly, accumulate and form blockages, called lesions, in arteries. The researchers said cytomegalovirus is a "transforming" virus, or one that causes cells to multiply.

"We may have found the place in the body where CMV lives in its latent state," said Melnick, chairman of virology and epidemiology at Baylor. "CMV may actually initiate lesions early in life."

Melnick said CMV might enter cells and maintain cell multiplication years before atherosclerosis can be diagnosed.

CMV is a member of the herpes family and causes serious infections in newborns. Those whose immune systems are depressed, such as organ transplant and cancer patients, may also develop CMV infections.

At least 80 percent of adults have been infected by CMV, but most do not experience illness, the researchers said.

Melnick said the only way to prove cytomegalovirus causes atherosclerosis is to "remove CMV from the human environment" and see if the incidence of atherosclerosis declines.

DeBakey, chancellor and chairman of surgery at Baylor, said finding a possible relationship between CMV and atherosclerosis is a positive step.

"This finding would help explain one of the unknowns about heart disease," DeBakey said. "There is evidence that smoking, obesity, lack of exercise and a high fat diet are risk factors for heart disease."

"But we don't know why some people who don't have these risk factors still get atherosclerosis. This study provides at least preliminary evidence that infection by cytomegalovirus may be a primary cause of the disease."

Melnick also is optimistic if CMV is finally proven to be a cause of hardening of the arteries.

"Perhaps more people will be stimulated to work on or to fund the development of a vaccine for CMV," Melnick said.

Epitome Of Timidity Picks Howell, Rams

WARNING: The Surgeon General has determined that portions of this column may be hazardous to your health.

Yes, that's true. If you take this column to your bookie, you might wind up with a few broken bones in the near future. It would be a lot easier, and less carcinogenic than a cigarette, to just cut the column out (after you've read it, of course), roll it up and smoke it. Don't worry, they tried it on some laboratory rats and, the last time I checked, they were still hanging in there.

After two weeks, this prophet of pigskin is about as cold as a recent day at Lake Mary High. I am quickly changing from the Forefather of Fearless to the Epitome of Timidity. My two week total is 10-9-1, although I did manage to outpick the elder statesman of the Evening Herald's soothsaying duo last week.

Well, before I use up the whole Thesaurus (I knew I guy who thought a Thesaurus was a dinosaur) I'd better get into this week's games.

LAKE HOWELL AT SEMINOLE

One of two key inter-county matchups and the Five Star Conference opener for Jerry Posey's Seminoles, who snapped a 12-game losing streak with a 7-0 victory over Southwest Miami last week. Lake Howell nudged conference foe Spruce Creek, 17-14, last week. Seminole has the winning feeling, and they don't want to let go of it. Lake Howell has it, too, but the Hawks have the edge in experience. Lake Howell by 8

LAKE MARY AT LAKE BRANTLEY

Lake Brantley's Patriots were one of my preseason favorites in the conference. But, it seems the Patriots' offense is beginning to look like last year's, and that means trouble. If Lake Mary can move the ball on the Lake Brantley defense like it did against DeLand last week, the Rams will be in good position to pull off what may be considered an upset. Lake Mary by 2

COLONIAL AT LYMAN

Colonial has the most potent passing attack in the Central Florida area. If Lyman's defense is caught off guard, the Grenadiers could run away with an easy victory. Colonial doesn't have the best of defenses, however, and that will make it a close game. Colonial by 7

OVEIDO AT ST. CLOUD

No relief is in sight for the inexperienced Oviedo Lions. Oviedo blew a 17-0 lead against Eustis last week and wound up losing, 37-17. St. Cloud has a better defense than Eustis so Oviedo's young offensive line has its work cut out. Although St. Cloud went from 3A to 2A this year, the Bulldogs are still 3A calibre. St. Cloud by 10

NORTH ALABAMA AT UCF

North Alabama has 30 letterman back from last year's team which posted a 7-3 record. UCF has been hard to predict the past couple of weeks, and I don't think the Knights are entirely recovered from a 54-28 shelling they received last week at Southeastern Louisiana. North Alabama by 17

FLORIDA AT MISSISSIPPI STATE

The Gators had a tough time against unheralded Indiana State last week while Mississippi State hammered the Navy. State is always tough at home and the Gators always have trouble in Mississippi. In a slight upset — State by 3

NOTRE DAME AT MIAMI

Tonight's nationally televised game promises to be a good one. The Irish were upset by Michigan State last week while the Hurricanes smothered Purdue, 35-0. Notre Dame never seems to play well against Miami and the Irish won't have much luck tonight either. Miami by 13

NEBRASKA AT UCLA

The Cornhuskers should have saved some of those 84 points for UCLA. The Bruins are one of the best upset teams in college football and they will continue that tradition against Nebraska. UCLA by 8

BENGALS AT BUCS

What do you call two Buccaneer quarterbacks in a hot tub? Soup. The two fragile QBs, Jerry Golsteyn and Jack Thompson, aren't having the time of their lives in Tampa. This is a battle between a team suffering from drug problems (Cincinnati) and another suffering from Doug problems (Tampa Bay). The Bengals are without star full back Pete Johnson, he was caught doing the "Devil's Dandruff," and you know who the Bucs are without. Some Bucs might have to sneak into the Bengals locker room when this one's over. Bengals by 7

CHIEFS AT DOLPHINS

Kansas City is a year or two away from Super Bowl potential. The Chiefs will experience a lot of pain and suffering along the way. Dolphins by 13

Jiunto, Ray Splash Tribe Past Evans

Stacy Jiunto and Dana Ray recorded two first places each and swam a leg on a winning relay to lead the Seminole High girls swim team to a 98-39 dual meet victory over Orlando Evans Wednesday in the Tribe's season opener at the Sanford Bath & Tennis Club. The boys team dropped a 77-59 decision to Evans despite a pair of first places by Chuck Burgess.

Jiunto, a junior in her first year with the Lady Seminoles, cruised to a first place in the 200 freestyle with a time of 2:31.3 and she also won the 500 freestyle with a time of 6:35.5. Ray, also a junior, churned to a first place in the 50 freestyle with a time of 29.3 and a first place in the 100 backstroke at 1:16.2. Jiunto and Ray teamed up with Shawna Cole and Allison McCall to win the 200 medley relay with a time of 2:21.5.

"It was a great team effort on the part of both the boys and girls," Seminole coach Donald Knight said. "It was an excellent showing and I'm very pleased with the results of the first meet."

Seminole's next meet is next Thursday against Spruce Creek at the Sanford Bath & Tennis Club.

The Lady Seminoles dominated Evans, taking eight first places, including both relays and the diving, and six second places. Senior Patty Ellmore compiled 21.60 points to win the diving competition while teammate Liz Prior came in second. Other first places for the Lady Tribe included McCall in the 100 breaststroke with a clocking of 1:30.1 and the 400 freestyle relay team of Tracey Reed, Suzy Porter, Lisa Cooper and Chris Sparrow who turned in a time of 5:10.7.

Second places included, Porter in the 200 freestyle, Cole in the 200 intermediate and 100 fly, Kristy Keeling in the 100 freestyle and Cooper in the 100 backstroke.

The boys managed only half as many first place finishes (four) as the girls. Burgess posted a pair of first places as he sailed to a 1:52.4 in the 200 freestyle and came back to win the 500 freestyle at 5:01.6. Burgess teamed up with Andy Ellmore, Tim Dycus and Brian Sparrow for a first place in the 400 free relay at 4:46.6. Ellmore took first in the diving competition with 24.15 points while teammate Sparrow was second in diving.

Other second place finishes for the Seminoles included, Mike Horner in the 100 freestyle, Dycus in the 100 breaststroke and the 400 free relay team of Michael Butt, Stuart Thornton, Horner and Chris Megill.

"The boys team should be at full strength as soon as a few more become eligible," Knight said.

Lake Mary Washes Up New Smyrna

In other action Wednesday, the Lake Mary girls picked up their first win of the season after three setbacks while the boys ran their record to 3-1 with a pair of victories at New Smyrna Beach.

Patty Ellmore (left) won the diving competition as the Lady Seminoles whipped Evans Wednesday while Bryan Sparrow helped the 400 free relay to a first place for the boys.

Prep Swimming

The girls breezed, 86-59, as Amy Maher captured the 200 free (2:11.43) and the 100 free (1:00.95) along with a leg in the record-setting 400 free relay team (4:18.27). She was assisted by Teresa Prince, Kelly McKeel and Sheri Clayton. The old mark was 4:29.61.

Clayton also established a new standard in the 200 intermediate while finishing second with a time of 2:24.81 to eclipse the old mark of 2:34.0. Clayton also won the 100 fly (1:06.39). McKeel turned in a first place performance in the 500 free (6:21.5).

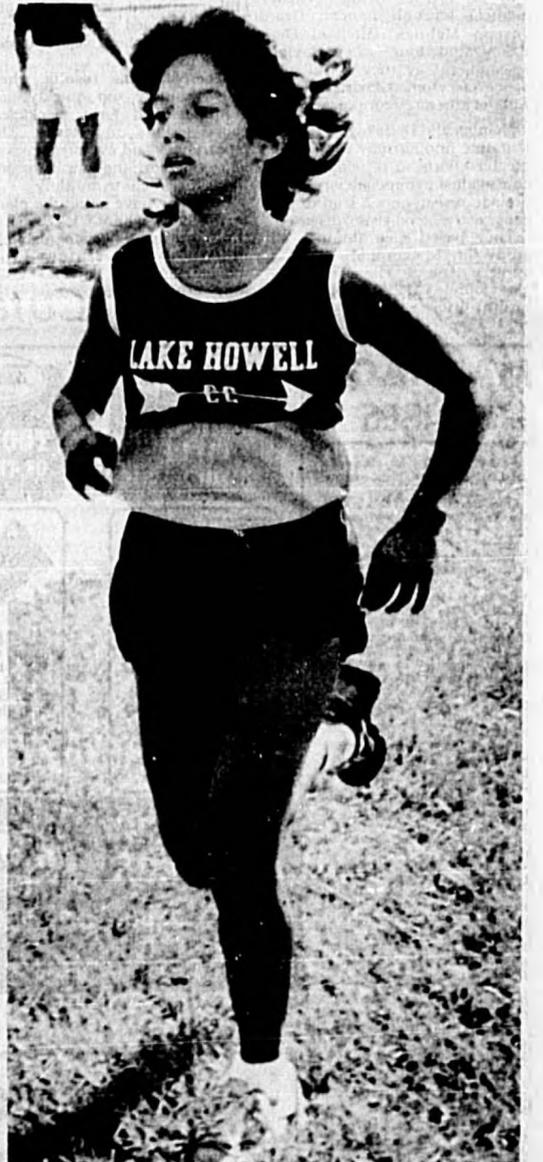

The boys, meanwhile, had an easier time than the girls. Richard Kurtz, Brian Cook, Scott Wise and Todd Stebbins each took two individuals events to pace the 108-54 rout.

Kurtz took the 200 free (2:12.58) and the 100 free (57.5) while Cook won the 50 free (26.2) and the 100 breast

(1:13.4). Wise set a new record in the 100 intermediate (2:12.76 as opposed to 2:15.37) and asp wpm the 100 back (1:02.26). Stebbins captured the 500 free (5:38.85) and the 100 fly (1:00.33). Lake Mary's Mike Mantovani was second in diving with 87 points.

The Rams' 400 free relay team of Trey Seibold, Scott Bowers, Wise and Kurtz snapped the team record of 3:55.15 with a clocking of 3:52.23. The quartet of Kyle Kilger, Cook, Stebbins and Seibold won the 200 medley relay with a time of 1:55.62.

The Ram boys swam without standout Tim Orange who was ill. Lake Mary travels to Trinity Prep next Wednesday for a 4 p.m. meet. "Our times didn't really improve Wednesday, but it was a good victory to get," said Lake Mary coach Walt Morgan. "We still have a lot of work to do to get ready for Trinity."

Double Trouble Twins

Lake Howell's Fonseca twins — Martha (left) and Mary — have been double trouble for cross country opponents this fall. Coach Tom Hammontree's Silver Hawks have won two meets already and have their sights set on the 10th Annual Patriot Invitational Saturday at Seminole Community College. The 14-year-old Foncescas are usually in the top 10 along with teammates Angle Smith, Lisa Samockl and Lyn Lucas to give the Hawks an unbeatable top five. The Patriot meet will have five of the top 10 female performers in the state competing. The junior varsity girls race begins at 9:30 a.m., followed by the varsity girls (10 a.m.), varsity boys (10:30 a.m.) and JV boys (11 a.m.).

Reds' Comeback Gives Torre 'Splitting' Headache; Expos, Phillies Rained Out

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Atlanta Braves still technically control their own destiny but they are letting games slip away in their fight to overtake Los Angeles in the National League West.

The Braves, seeking to build some momentum for the big three-game weekend series with the Dodgers, overpowered Cincinnati 9-1 in the first game of a doubleheader Wednesday night but let the Reds come from behind and take the nightcap, 4-3.

The split, coupled with Los Angeles' 2-1 victory over Houston, left the Braves 4 games behind — but only 3 back in the loss column. So they could still get even in that all-important category with a sweep of the Dodgers.

The Braves, 82-68, have 12 games to play while Los Angeles, 87-65, has 10 left.

Manager Joe Torre said the loss in the second game, which came after Atlanta blew a 3-1 lead, hurt worse because "it's getting to where we're running out of games and it looked like we finally were putting something together."

"If we could have put two wins back-to-back it would have helped our momentum," said Torre. "But we're just going to have to come back at them tomorrow and hope we can buzzsaw through the weekend."

The Braves had a golden chance to win the nightcap, even after allowing Cincinnati to tie 3-3 on Dann Bilardello's two-run single in the eighth. The Braves had runners on first and third with nobody out in the bottom of the eighth when Torre ordered a suicide squeeze.

Rafael Ramirez bunted the ball into the air and homeplate umpire Dutch Rennert ruled Reds' first baseman Dan Driessen made a diving catch. Driessen then threw to third for the double play.

"It was right in front of me," said Torre, who argued vehemently with Rennert. "I would just swear he trapped it. But my decision isn't the one that counts."

"I was the only one really close to the play," said Ramirez. "He caught it on the short hop. But it was a close play."

N.L. Baseball

Driessen admitted "it was very close," but said he thought he had made the catch.

"When you dive straight on like that, it's hard to tell sometimes," he said. "But I felt when the ball hit my glove that I had caught it."

The Reds scored the winning run off reliever Steve Bedrosian, 9-9, in the ninth on Gary Redus' double, two walks (one intentional) and a one-out sacrifice fly to deep left by Ron Oester.

Tom Hume, 3-5, pitched the final two innings to gain the victory.

"It was a strange game and I was just wishing we would come out on the better end of a strange game for a change," said Torre. "Right now, we're three games out on the loss side and we have three games left with the Dodgers. It's just our task to come in here and win tomorrow."

The Braves jumped all over Reds' pitching in the opener as Chris Chambliss belted two home runs and Dale Murphy had a three-run blast, his 35th of the season. Craig McMurtry, 14-9, went the distance tossing a five-hitter.

The Braves face the Reds against tonight with Ken Dayley, 4-6, opposing Cincinnati's Jeff Russell, 3-3, while the Dodgers are idle and flying here for the weekend series.

"That's going to be the key, the Dodger series," said veteran pitcher Phil Niekro. "We could have put a hell of a lot more pressure on the Dodgers if we had won two, but we just didn't do it. It's going to make it tougher for us."

MONTREAL (UPI) — Montreal manager Bill Virdon says one thing is certain to happen when the first-place Philadelphia Phillies meet the second-place Expos in a double-header today.

"Someone's streak is going to end," said Virdon after a single game Wednesday was postponed by heavy rain — causing the double-header to be scheduled for 5:05 p.m. EDT Thursday.

Philadelphia has a five-game winning streak, while the Expos are riding a string of four victories going into the two-game series.

While the double bill appears to favor the Phillies, who would maintain a two-game lead in the National League East over Montreal with a split, Virdon said the cancellation was best for both teams under the conditions.

"I think both clubs would rather not fight the wet grounds, so it's probably better for both clubs," said Virdon.

However, history says double-headers are usually split and Phillie manager Paul Owens was clearly boosting that percentage when he switched his pitching rotation for the double header.

Charlie Hudson (7-7) was originally to meet Montreal's Charlie Lea (15-9) in the Wednesday game and ace John Denny (16-6) would match up with Expos number one starter Steve Rogers (17-10).

Bowa Drops Pirates; Hoyt Captures 22nd

United Press International
 Another loss at Wrigley Field knocked the daylights out of Pittsburgh's chances in the National League East.

Larry Bowa's infield triple single capped a two-run seventh inning Wednesday that lifted the Chicago Cubs to a 7-6 victory over the fumbling Pirates.

The loss was Pittsburgh's 10th straight at Wrigley Field over two seasons and its eighth straight this year. The decision left the Bucs 2 1/2 games behind first-place Philadelphia in the Eastern Division.

"I can't explain it. If I knew why, I'd do something about it," said Pittsburgh manager Chuck Tanner, whose team last won in Chicago July 1, 1982. "One loss doesn't knock us out of the race. I'd rather lose and still be in the pennant race than win and be out of it."

The Cubs trailed 6-5 when Mel Hall led off the seventh by being hit by a pitch from Cecilio Guante, 2-5. Joe Carter ran for Hall and went to second on Ron Cey's single. Kent Tekulve relieved and Keith Moreland's sacrifice advanced both runners. Jody Davis' sacrifice fly to right scored Carter and after pinch hitter Jay Johnstone was intentionally walked, Bowa beat out a grounder to short, scoring Cey.

"I was lucky," Bowa said. "I knew with the grass I had a chance."
 Ferguson Jenkins, 6-9, who had given up a two-run double to Richie Hebner in the seventh, earned his 284th career victory in a rare relief stint while Lee Smith blanked the Pirates over the last two innings for his 28th save.

"I started out as a reliever with Philadelphia. I used to like to come out and pitch in long relief," said Jenkins, whose relief win was his first since June 26, 1978, when he was with Boston. "I think I had a couple of relief wins that year."

The Pirates, who committed four errors, had closed to within 5-4 in the sixth on Hebner's solo home run.

Dodgers 2, Astros 1
 At Los Angeles, Bill Russell doubled home Steve Sax from second base in the seventh inning, snapping a 1-1 tie. Fernando Valenzuela, 14-10, tossed a six-hitter and snapped a four-game losing streak in going the distance for the ninth time. The triumph, coupled with

A.L./N.L. Baseball

Atlanta's double-header split with Cincinnati, increased the Dodgers' lead in the West to four games.

Cardinals 9, Mets 3
 At St. Louis, John Stuper, 11-10, pitched a five-hitter and broke an 0-for-35 hitting slump with two singles and two RBI to break the Cardinals' seven-game losing streak. Stuper, who had not had a hit since May 30, put the Cardinals ahead 2-1 with an RBI single in the fifth inning off Mike Torrez, 9-17.

Giants 5, Padres 4
 At San Francisco, Dave Bergman slugged a two-run homer with two out in the ninth to lift the Giants. With two out and none on in the ninth, Chili Davis singled off Floyd Chiffer, who was replaced by left-hander Gary Lucas, 5-8. Bergman then hit his sixth home run, Gary Lavelle, 7-4, was the winner.

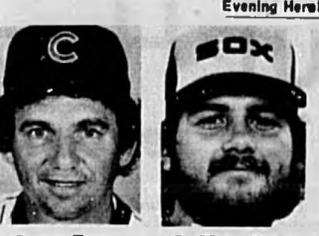

Orioles 6-7, Tigers 0-3
 The Baltimore Orioles find more ways to beat you than a gambling casino. The Orioles reduced their magic number for clinching the American League East title to three Wednesday night by sweeping a double-header from the Detroit Tigers, 6-0 and 7-3.

Baltimore won the first game rather methodically, scoring a 6-0 triumph behind the five-hit, 12-strikeout performance of Mike Boddicker. But it looked as if the Tigers were going to salvage the nightcap when they took a 3-1 lead into the ninth.

When they appear to be beaten, however, is precisely when the Orioles are at their best. Before the Detroit relievers could get three outs in the ninth inning, the Orioles had scored six runs and emerged with the victory.

"When you got the opportunity, you deliver. That's what they do," Detroit manager Sparky Anderson said. "They've got some people that produce. Give them all the credit."

"We haven't done it every time but we've done it a few times," said Baltimore manager Joe Altobelli after watching his club post their 36th victory this season after the sixth inning. "The feeling on our bench is good. But you can't do it from a bench. You have to do it from home plate."

Cubs Name Finks As New President

CHICAGO (UPI) — Veteran football general manager Jim Finks will begin his rookie year in baseball president of the Chicago Cubs.

Cub owners announced at a news conference Wednesday that Finks, who resigned as the general manager for the Chicago Bears Aug. 24, would become the Cubs' president.

"There will be some transition from football to baseball," Finks said. "But, I feel very comfortable right now in this job."

Finks predicted few major changes with the club and said he would have a solid working relationship with Cubs' general manager Dallas Green.

Finks left the Bears after nearly a decade with the NFL club. He said he had considered several football jobs with other NFL clubs and with other teams in other leagues, but when his friend and Cubs' board chairman Andy McKenna of him the job with the Cubs, he took it.

Finks, 56, who has no previous baseball experience, will serve as both president and chief operating officer of the team and will work for the club's owners, the Chicago Tribune Co., without a contract.

"Comfortable" was the word used by both Finks and Green to describe their future working relationship. Finks, known as a tough negotiator with the Bears, said all contracts would be handled by Green, who has three years remaining on his contract with the Cubs.

"Mr. Green will be negotiating baseball contracts. I've been in his role (as a general manager) for 27 years so I know something about what he has to do," he said. "However, I know that things can't be done by committee."

The actual chain of command was left vague by Finks but a statement by Stanton R. Cook, president and chief executive officer of the Tribune Co., left little doubt that Finks will be responsible only to McKenna and Cook.

"Jim Finks will assume full responsibility for the Cubs' organization," Cook said, "and this appointment completes the organizational structure we had planned two years ago."

Green, who brought several Phillies with him when he came from Philadelphia after the 1981 season, praised the hiring of Finks and predicted he would get along with the new Cub president.

"I think it will be a super working relationship," Green predicted. "He's a quality guy, although there are days I'd rather have Jim be a left-handed pitcher."

Green had promised to bring a "new tradition" to the pennant-starved Cubs but in his two years with the team, the club will likely finish fifth two straight seasons.

McKenna said he believes Green has done an excellent job and has not, despite published reports to the contrary, gone against the business or budgetary wishes of the Tribune Co. in signing free agents.

Australia Cuts Lead

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — Australia II crewmembers are in a "do-or-die" blitz to stave off elimination in the battle for the America's Cup while the anxious defenders struggled to repair Liberty's broken mast for today's crucial match.

Aussie skipper John Bertrand sailed the wing-keeled yacht to a 1:47 victory in the defender's favored heavy air Wednesday to cut the Americans' lead to 3-2.

Defending champion Dennis Conner, who outsailed Australia II in the first two races when equipment problems crippled her performance, watched Australia II roar by while he was shackled with a damaged mast.

Liberty, the 25th protector of sailing's most prized trophy, was 3-2 in the best-of-seven series and only one win away from preserving the longest winning streak in sports' history — the 132 years Americans have kept the cup.

The wing-keeled yacht became the first foreign boat to win a second race against the defender in 49 years.

Seminole JVs Tip Trinity; Lyman Falls To Winter Park

Cindy Hogan, Melissa Moak and Vicki "Spuffy" Pakovic led the way Wednesday as the Seminole High junior varsity volleyball team wiped out Trinity Prep 15-10, 15-5 for its second victory in three meets.

Hogan served eight points in the first match while Moak hit six winners in game two for the sweep. Pakovic had a "kill" in game two. "We played six different girls in each win," said coach Nancy VanWormer. "Everybody contributed."

Seminole JVs play at Trinity Prep Monday at 3:30 p.m.

In other action Wednesday, Lyman's varsity dropped a 15-13, 15-3 match to Winter Park. Lyman is 1-4.

The Lady Greyhounds fell behind, 10-1, in the game one but rallied behind the serving of Reagan Stump and Tina Warden to pull even at 13-13. "Then, we just couldn't get those last two points," said first-year coach Annette Griffin. "The second game we just went to sleep."

Uncle Nick's, DeLuxe Win

Uncle Nick's Oyster Bar and the DeLuxe Bar remained on a collision course in the Sanford Men's Softball Fall League as each picked up victories Wednesday night at Pinehurst.

Uncle Nick's, 2-0, crushed the Pookie Bears, 14-2, as Don Hibbard and Tom Szabo combined for a six-hitter and Don Causeaux clobbered two homers and drove in six runs.

A seven-run, third inning highlighted by Causeaux's three-run blast turned the tide. Mike Laubert had three hits while Joe Ervin, Wayne Russell, Don McDonald, David Lively and Dean Cannon had two hits each.

Don Marple and Mark Smith drove in runs for the Bears while Scott Milson had two singles and losing pitcher Gary Snell had a single and a triple.

DeLuxe, 2-0, had an easy time with Session Time, posting an 11-2. Freddie Washington belted a three-run homer and "Steady Eddie" Jackson added a two-run clout to lead DeLuxe. Sam Raines, Levi Raines, Lee Banks and Jackson had two hits apiece. "Slim" Washington picked up the win.

Brian Hanrahan and Russell Holloman had back-to-back doubles for Session's second run. Hanrahan had two of the five Session hits. Wayne Crocker was the losing hurler.

Vaccine To Prevent Chickenpox May Be Available Soon...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Doctors say a still-experimental chickenpox vaccine was 100 percent effective in preventing the common childhood disease in healthy children for eight months in its first large American trial.

"The vaccine was well tolerated by the children and well accepted by their parents," reported Dr. Robert Weibel, of Children's Hospital in Philadelphia and Merck Sharp & Dohme, which produces the vaccine.

Chickenpox, caused by the varicella zoster virus and characterized by a rash and fever, is the last remaining major childhood disease for which there has been no vaccine.

About 3 million cases occur annually in the United States, usually in the winter and spring.

The vaccine is not yet available for general use and another Merck researcher said that two more years of tests are planned to determine the persistence of immunization and the long-term safety of the live virus vaccine.

Two other researchers, however, recommended the use of the vaccine now in protecting children with leukemia from chickenpox. Although the disease generally is mild in healthy youngsters, it can produce severe and sometimes-fatal complications in children whose immune systems are weakened by anticancer drugs.

Scientists said there are about two chickenpox-related deaths in 100,000 cases among normal children, but chickenpox-linked death rates range between 7 percent and 14 percent for youngsters getting anti-cancer drugs.

Chickenpox also has high complication rates for newborns and adults.

The new live virus vaccine was developed at Osaka

University in Japan in 1974. Tests began in the United States five years later and results of those studies were reported for the first time this week at a conference sponsored by the Food and Drug Administration and the National Institutes of Health.

Weibel said the large scale, controlled study in normal children was carried out in suburban Philadelphia. He said 491 youngsters received the vaccine and 465 received a dummy injection. The children in both groups had at least one sibling at home who was not immunized. Neither the parents nor the doctors knew which child received the vaccine until after the test was completed.

Thirty-eight of the children receiving the dummy injection developed chickenpox between February 1982 and last June. None of the immunized group developed the disease.

Dr. Anne Gershon of New York University reported the results of tests of the vaccine at 30 American and Canadian centers in 191 children with leukemia. She said 40 percent of the children still getting chemotherapy developed a mild rash but there were no serious side effects.

Twenty-two of the children later were exposed to the virus in other children and four developed mild cases of chicken pox, but none of the cases was serious and none of the children developed complications.

"In our hands, at least, the vaccine has been tremendously successful," she said.

Dr. Phillip Brunell of the University of Texas Health Sciences Center at San Antonio reported similar findings from up to four years of study of the vaccine in children with leukemia.

...Gotten Your Flu Shot Yet? You Should, Health Experts Say

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With the flu season fast approaching, leaders in the health care field warned that flu and pneumonia claim thousands of lives a year and said anyone at risk for the diseases should get a vaccination.

Even though people over 50 are prime targets for the two diseases, a coalition of doctors and health care advocates said, only 15 percent to 20 percent have been immunized against flu and less than 10 percent against pneumonia.

"It is essential that we alert Americans to the vital need for ...

preventive medicine and that we begin right now by informing the public about the continual year-to-year threat of influenza and pneumonia," said Dr. Richard J. Duma, president of the National Foundation for Infectious Diseases.

The coalition said pneumonia is the fifth leading cause of death in the United States, killing about 54,000 people annually despite advances in antibiotic treatment.

Influenza, which strikes primarily in winter, was a factor in 150,000 deaths from 1968 to 1980.

The national Centers for Disease

Besides the elderly, those at risk ... include people with chronic heart, lung and kidney diseases, diabetes, sickle cell anemia, those who have had their spleens removed, those convalescing from severe diseases and those 50 or older.

Control in Atlanta said 60,000 to 70,000 people died in the 1980-81 winter season of flu or pneumonia complications.

Besides the elderly, those at risk for pneumonia include people with chronic heart, lung and kidney diseases, diabetes, sickle cell anemia, those who have had their spleens removed, those convalescing from severe diseases and those 50 or older.

Flu-related deaths occur primarily among chronically ill adults, people over 65 and children.

Duma said vaccines are available to help prevent flu, and the Food and Drug Administration earlier this year licensed a vaccine to provide immunity against the 23 strains of bacteria found in about 90 percent of pneumonia cases.

The two vaccines can be administered simultaneously, he said.

Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., and former Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph Califano joined the foundation and medical authorities to call for more emphasis on preventive care in the nation's health system.

Among those joining the foundation were the American Lung Association, American Heart Association, American Academy of Family Physicians, National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute, the March of Dimes and the American Public Health Association.

Mothers Who Smoke May Stunt Growth Of Children's Lungs

BOSTON (UPI) — In another indication the cigarette smoke of others may be hazardous to the health, doctors reported today that children who grow up around smoking mothers may suffer stunted lung development.

A study in the New England Journal of Medicine of more than 1,100 Boston children found those with smoking mothers had impaired lung development — and by the time they stop growing, lung functions would average about 4 to 5 percent less than what they otherwise would have been.

"This doesn't mean the children are sick — it's just their lung development on average was impaired from what the maximum potential would have been," said Dr. Ira Tager of the Channing Laboratory of Brigham and Women's Hospital.

"From this study there is reason to tell mothers of younger children, at the least, to minimize smoking around them," he said.

Tager said the researchers have yet to analyze their data to determine if the children of smoking mothers go on to have poorer health as a result. But he warned smoking by the mother "may be important" in determining if children develop breathing problems later in life.

Previous studies have found such children suffer greater numbers of respiratory infections early in life and doctors think that up to 20 percent of infant respiratory infections may be associated with parental smoking.

Several studies have also found indirect exposure to cigarette smoke in the workplace or at home affects adults as well.

Tager said it was not known if the impaired lung development in the children was the result of maternal smoking while they were in the womb or as infants or was the result of cumulative exposure.

Eighty percent of the mothers smoked while carrying their infants. Only a small amount later quit so doctors couldn't determine if quitting led to an improvement in the child's later lung development.

In the six-year study, doctors annually measured children ranging in age from 5 to 19 to test their lung functions.

They found over five years the children of smoking mothers had a growth rate in lung function on average only 93 percent of what would have been expected.

"Over the course of their growing, we would project that on average they would have about a 4 to 5 percent impairment of their maximum potential," Tager said.

He cautioned that results of a similar study in a warmer climate where children spend more time outside may be different because then they "would be outside more in the fresh air."

He also said the study found no link between smoking by the father and a child's lung development.

"That could be because the father isn't around as much or because some of the impaired lung development might be associated with smoking in pregnancy," he said.

Doctors Often Mistreat Patients For Tetanus

BOSTON (UPI) — Nearly a quarter of the 10 million patients who come to hospital emergency rooms each year with cuts and wounds are given improper preventative treatment for tetanus, researchers report.

A study in the New England Journal of Medicine found 23 percent of emergency room patients were either given inadequate amounts of anti-tetanus drugs, leaving them open to the often deadly "lockjaw," or too much medication that could result in adverse reactions.

The study of 620 patients in six hospital emergency rooms found 17 percent were given an overdose of anti-tetanus drugs and 6 percent were not given adequate drug coverage to protect them from the disease.

The study did not follow up to see if any subsequently developed tetanus or adverse reactions from unneeded shots.

"An estimated 10 million cuts and wounds are treated each year in hospital emergency rooms," said Donald Brand of the Yale University School of Medicine.

"So tetanus shots are something that emergency room doctors administer very frequently. Nonetheless, we've found to a high degree they did not give proper treatment," he said.

Brand said he thought doctors erred because they may not be familiar with the criteria for administering tetanus shots.

"They may not even realize they are making the errors," he said, and they may just "err on the side of caution. You don't want to risk someone getting tetanus when it's a 100 percent preventable disease."

Hitching

Old-West Ceremony Joins Pair

By Doris Dietrich
PEOPLE Editor

Just call it a "hitching." Wedding invitations come in all shapes and sizes to fit the whims of the betrothed. Some are sweet and sentimental. Some stick to the traditional. Others are original.

Take the marriage of Nancy L. Diamond and James A. Engebretsen, for instance.

Bulletins (the "Wanted" type) were sent out beckoning citizens to witness the hitching of the couple (a one-day only exhibit) at 5 p.m., under the direction of High Sheriff John E. Polk at Beck's Ranch, Osteen. "Public dinner to follow," the bulletin promised.

About 200 guests arrived at the friendly, unspoiled spread of Charlie and Inez Beck, attired in their Sunday best western attire. Some took the hog trails and others took the cow trails to the sprawling ranch where a large tent was spread. There were haywagons, horses, bales of hay and a pig or two - maybe more.

Duane Harrell (chief deputy, Seminole County Sheriff's Department) started the hitching rite by ringing a large ("a - pealing") bell to alert the bridegroom and his crew: J.J. Smith and Charlie Beck Jr., best men; and Johnny Carver, groomsman.

The bride and her attendants fair were summoned to the old oak tree by the blast of - not the rousing notes of Mendelssohn's immortal wedding march - but Beck's shotgun.

Attending the bride were Sue McComb, matron of honor; Tiffany Austin and Debbie Caruthers, bridesmaids; and Brenda Beck, flower girl. They all wore jeans and Western shirts.

The bride and bridegroom exchanged their vows under an arch (provided and decorated by Mother Nature) garbed identically in designer jeans, rose-colored western shirts patterned with a blue check, two-tone western boots and leather chaps. The bride carried a bouquet of multi-colored wildflowers.

"Do you take this cowgirl...?" Sheriff Polk inquired of the bridegroom.

Yes.

"Do you take this cowboy...?" the sheriff interrogated the bride.

Yes.

They were duly hitched from this day forward.

Following the ceremony, a hoedown reception was held on the premises when a mess of hearty food, including three barbecued hogs, watermelon,

Mr. and Mrs. James Engebretsen

corn on the cob, baked beans, potato salad and a variety of other foods (enough for a log rolling) was served.

After the feed and fun, the newlyweds departed on horses into the sunset to begin their wedding trip - camping at Withlacoochee State Forest.

The couple are making their home at the Rockin' E Farms, Beardall Avenue, Sanford.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Rita Krantz, Miami. She is employed as a dispatcher by the Seminole County Sheriff's Department where she has worked for 10 years.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Martha Engebretsen of Oviedo, has been employed by the Seminole County Sheriff's Department for nine years where he is a ranch and grove deputy.

Ideal Couple In Public Not So Happy In Private

DEAR ABBY: This is the second marriage for both of us, and I haven't the courage to face my family and friends and admit that it was a mistake. I feel like I'm just a cook, housekeeper and sex partner whenever my husband is in the mood. I am starved for some real affection. All he wants is a five-minute sex affair with no hugging, kissing or sweet words. When we first met he was very passionate, and insisted on going all the way on our second date. I should have known he wasn't a real lover - that all he wanted was sex.

I am 74 and he is 80, and we've been married for five years. I had been a widow for three years, and he had recently lost his wife before he gave me the grand rush.

I don't need his money and he doesn't need mine - our lawyers drew up a prenuptial agreement. We appear to be an ideal couple. If we were to divorce, our children would be shocked and our pastor would be surprised. Don't recommend a marriage counselor, Abby. This man would never listen to anybody. I just know that I would be so much happier if I didn't have to keep putting on a front. What should I do?

Dear Abby

and are you not a newspaper columnist?"

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ON THE FENCE IN WAUKEGAN:" A woman who marries a widower who says, "Remember - my children come first," should expect the worst. And she's rarely disappointed.

For Abby's updated, revised and expanded booklet, "How to Be Popular" - for people of all ages - send $2, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (37 cents) envelope to Abby, Popularity, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

MADE A MISTAKE

DEAR MADE: "All the world's a stage," and this is no dress rehearsal, so don't worry about what your friends, family or pastor will say. Tell your husband where he has disappointed you. If he wants a chance to win you by changing his ways, give him a limited probation period. And if he doesn't shape up - ship him out. Life is too short.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to correct "Old Retired Banker From Dallas," who objected to the phrase "safety deposit box" on the grounds that nouns don't modify nouns. In countless phrases such as "alarm clock," "mountain goat," "baseball bat" and "weather report," nouns do act as modifiers. Imagine saying "alarming clock," "mountainous goat," "baseballish bat" or "weathery report."

If our retired banker insists on saying "safe deposit box," let him also shave with a "safe razor," fasten diapers with "safe pins" and wear a "safe belt" aboard an airliner.

Furthermore, if "safety" cannot modify "deposit," how can "deposit" (also a noun) modify "box?" Should we call it a "safe depositing box?" He may if he chooses, but he will not be speaking English.

LAURENCE SHATKIN, PRINCETON, N.J.

DEAR LAURENCE: Hooray for our side! As Waldo Cohen from Oak Ridge, Tenn., pointed out: "The English language is replete with nouns serving as adjectives. Is not 'Old Retired Banker' a letter writer,

Zoo Needs Docents For Free Training

For the past several years the Central Florida Zoo has been training volunteers (docents) who teach zoo visitors, particularly Central Florida schoolchildren, about the fascinating world of wild animals. These docents donate their time escorting schoolchildren on tours through the zoo and assist with the zoo's active Outreach Program throughout the Central Florida community.

Docents also handle many of the zoo's smaller animals so that visitors may have a "close encounter of the feathered or furry kind."

The zoo's Education Department is currently recruiting new volunteers. A training class will begin on Saturday, Oct. 8. This class will meet at the zoo seven consecutive Saturdays between 9:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. There is no charge for these classes, however, prospective volunteers must be at least 16 years old.

The Central Florida Zoo is located on U.S. Highway 17-92, northwest of Sanford near Lake Monroe at the I-4 and 17-92 interchange (Exit 52). For more information about the docent program, contact the zoo's Education Department, (305) 323-0181 or (305) 323-4450.

To become a community recognized docent at the zoo, each volunteer must complete a 35-hour training course. The length of this course is considered the optimum time required for trainees to learn about the zoo animals, be taught a mini-zoology course, learn and practice giving tours and successfully complete several examinations.

Prospective trainees do not have to be professional educators or zoologists to qualify. This course is open to anyone who has a love of animals and enjoys working with children.

The paid Education Staff at the Central Florida Zoo is not of sufficient size to reach and teach the numbers of children visiting the Zoo, according to Thomas Williams, education curator. This is one reason why the Docent Program was started, he says. Trained, knowledgeable, dedicated volunteers teach many more children than could be taught by the staff. In 1983 to date, in excess of 14,000 persons have had direct contact with the Zoo's Education Program.

The Education Department was established at the zoo four years ago, based on the belief that the future hope for the world's wild animals rests with educating today's youth. Concentration has been on youth education, stressing accurate facts about animals, the importance of conservation, and about preservation of the world's rapidly vanishing animal population.

Hospital Causes Extreme Anxiety

DEAR DR. LAMB - I hope you can help me or tell me how to solve this problem. Whenever I go to a hospital I begin to hyperventilate. I don't understand why. It goes on for days until I am out of the hospital. I have tried to tell myself that there's nothing to worry about. I've tried breathing into a paper bag. But nothing seems to help. DEAR READER - Over-breathing (which some people mistakenly think means they are short of breath), skipped heartbeats, headaches, trembling, shaking, muscle pains, digestive complaints, fainting and many more really uncomfortable things happen to people as a result of anxiety. That doesn't mean anxiety is always the cause of these disorders. Sometimes it takes a physician's skills to determine whether a person has anxiety or an ulcer. At least you know what you are doing even though you may not understand why. Anxiety is a first cousin of fear. Obviously the hospital environment is a threat to you but your response is out of proportion to the threat. In addition to such obvious and direct causes of anxiety a person can be anxious because of basic psychological factors which he may or may not be aware of or understand. Regardless of the cause of anxiety, the mechanisms that produce symptoms are rather well known. The release of adrenaline, your flight or fight hormone, is often a major factor. For individuals who have anxiety to a temporary situation that really is not threatening, becoming familiar with the supposed threat often makes it less of a problem. And these very temporary situations are a good indication for temporary use of tranquilizers. If your problem was frequent enough and severe enough I would recommend professional counseling to see why you overreact. You'll have a better understanding of anxiety and how to cope with it after you read The Health Letter 19-8, That Anxious Feeling, which I am sending you. DEAR DR. LAMB - My daughter who has smoked for 10 years would like to quit completely, but she is afraid of gaining a lot of weight if she does. Can you give her some information on how to successfully get off cigarettes without gaining unwanted weight? DEAR READER - Studies show that of people who quit smoking about a third gain weight, a third lose weight and a third have no change in weight. Part of what a person can expect depends entirely upon whether he eats in response to stopping smoking. My best advice is to make a diet plan in advance and to stick to it during the first several weeks when you are establishing new habits without smoking. Along with the diet whenever you feel the urge to smoke or eat, drink a glass of water instead. And if possible when the urge strikes, go for a walk. The exercise will help use calories, prevent unwanted weight gain and decreases many people's desire for a cigarette. It also gets you away from the kitchen.

Seminole County Football Watch for it in the Herald

Follow Your Favorite Team This Season

Football action heats up in Seminole County this week when two cross town rivalries highlight the action Friday. Seminole, fired up after winning its first game in two years last week, hosts preseason Five Star Conference favorite Lake Howell. The Silver Hawks are 2-0 and coming from a victory last week over Spruce Creek. Lake Mary's Rams, who already have as many wins as they had all last year after whipping DeLand, travel to Altamonte Springs for a meeting with the Lake Brantley Patriots. The Patriots are steaming after an upset loss to Lyman last Saturday and would like nothing better than to take it out on the Rams, who have several players who attended Lake Brantley when they were freshmen. Lyman, meanwhile, will entertain Colonial in its final nonconference tuneup before returning to Five Star action. Oviedo goes to St. Cloud in search of its first win after two losses. Catch all the football action from the Evening Herald's crack writing team of Sports Editor Sam Cook (Seminole-Lake Howell), Sports Writer Chris Flister (Lake Mary-Lake Brantley) and Sports Writer Lee Lerner (Lyman-Colonial).

Justice Department May Review Loans To Reagan Aide Edwin Meese

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House committee chairman wants the Justice Department to review a report by government auditors that raises questions about presidential counselor Edwin Meese's handling of $60,000 in loans arranged by a presidential appointee.

A General Accounting Office report questioned whether Meese complied with the government ethics act because of his "failure to identify the actual lenders rather than the trustee" for the loans.

The GAO found deputy White House chief of staff Michael Deaver properly reported his receipt of a $58,000 loan from the same man, San Francisco accountant John McKean, whom Deaver and Meese arranged to have appointed to the Postal Board of Governors.

Meese told The Washington Post Wednesday the report showed there was "no wrongdoing" and the loan and $20,000 in interest were paid within the last month, after he took out an $80,000 bank loan.

"The important thing is that the loan has been paid back, as was intended," Meese told the Post. "That was always the case."

Rep. William Ford, D-Mich., chairman of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, sent the GAO report to Attorney General William French Smith, White House counselor Fred Fielding, and several congressional officials, asking them "to review the areas that warrant their attention."

Ford requested the audit following published reports McKean got the $10,000-a-year job as a governor on the Post Office Board at the urging of Deaver and Meese.

Fielding has determined a technical error concerning the loans was made on Meese's Financial Disclosure Report by "failing to indicate that Mr. McKean is the creditor in his capacity as trustee," and that Meese intends to amend the forms, the report said.

But it added: "Even with the technical correction contemplated, a question remains whether Mr. Meese's failure to identify the actual lenders rather than the trustee meets the requirement" of the Ethics in Government Act.

Deaver, Meese and McKean all have said the nomination was never discussed in connection with the loans, it said.

On March 8, 1982 the Senate confirmed President Reagan's nomination of McKean for a term ending in 1986. McKean later told Deaver and Meese he wanted a nine-year term, and it was confirmed on Feb. 24.

The loans began when McKean wrote Meese a check for $40,000 on June 17, 1981 after Meese told him earlier he was having "cash flow" problems due to college tuition for his children and his inability to sell his home in La Mesa, Calif. A $20,000 loan was made at Meese's request on Dec. 28, 1981, the report said.

The report also said McKean did not mention the loan relationship in a confidential statement on his business dealings he delivered to the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee in the fall of 1981.

Dioxin Exposure Not So Serious

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UPI) — A doctor who has been studying the health effects of dioxin for more than 30 years says the chemical byproduct doesn't cause anything in humans more serious than acne.

Dr. Raymond A. Suskind of the University of Cincinnati said a 34-year-old study on people exposed to dioxin over a long period of time has found no increase in major birth defects or liver cancer.

Suskind said the ongoing study of 121 individuals exposed to dioxin in 1949 during an explosion in a Monsanto Plant in Nitro, W.Va. has not found an increase in the risk of developing any health disorders, except a skin disorder called chloracne.

"While the group was small, we did not find liver disease as a cause of death," Suskind told the Governor's Task Force on Dioxin. "There also appeared to be no differences in miscarriages, still births or birth defects."

Suskind said there was no evidence of association between occupational exposure to dioxins and death or a rare form of tumor called soft tissue sarcoma.

A dioxin is any family of compounds known chemically as dibenzo-p-dioxins. They are unwanted byproducts of commercial chemical manufacturing processes, most often found in the making of pesticides, herbicides and wood preservatives.

Suskind, considered a pioneer in the study of dioxin exposure on humans, admitted the test group was too small to substantiate the findings.

Suskind's research began immediately after the explosion in March 1949. Initially, his research only included the four workers that had the most acute symptoms from dioxin exposure, but it grew to 36 people by 1953 and presently includes 121 people, he said.

Suskind said the exposed workers suffered from headaches, melanos, muscular aches, nervousness, enlarged livers and chloracne. His research showed all of the symptoms subsided within six months, except for the chloracne, which many people are still suffering.
