Cuban City Proclaims Itself 'Socialistic'

MIAMI (UPI) — Radio Havana said today the city of Sagua de Tanamo has proclaimed itself Cuba's first "socialist municipality" in line with Premier Fidel Castro's declaration that his country is "socialist" — like its Communist allies.

It was not immediately certain what changes were being made in the government of Sagua. It is a remote community near the north coast of Oriente Province, 75 miles from Cuba's eastern tip.

The Castrolite radio responded with insults to Tuesday's U. S. statement comparing Castro to European dictators Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini and declaring that he has made Cuba a full-fledged member of the Communist bloc.

A Havana broadcast said state department spokesman Lincoln White, who made the statement, is a "cynical and shameless parrot."

"The people of Cuba have a government which suits them, no matter what this big parrot says," the broadcast said.

Castro himself said in a May Day speech the people like his government so much there is no call for elections.

The official radio reported the arrival in Havana of food shipments from the United States and Chile.

A broadcast said the U. S. freighter Joseph R. Parrot docked in the Cuban capital with a load of butter and "much other cargo." It reported also the arrival of a ship from Valparaiso carrying nearly 2,000 tons of seasoning and other cargo.

Radio Havana also repeated the charge that the United States is preparing to sound out other Latin American nations on the prospects for united action against Castrolite Cuba.

Attendance Heavy At 'Art Gallery'

A steady stream of lookers have flocked to view the interesting exhibits at the "Art Gallery" being presented by the elementary art teachers of the county.

On display are the choice works of the Seminole County school children ages six through 12 in grades one through six.

The materials that can be used to create pictures and figures, are all simple and easy to obtain, but show the creativity that is present in artistically minded children, many to a much greater degree than might be expected.

One interesting exhibit, is a base relief map of Seminole County, done in plaster. Green plaster shows the land, with blue for the lakes: Lake Monroe, Lake Harney, Puzzle Lake, Lake Mary etc.

A slow motion movie has been constructed by Sid Winkers room at Pinecrest, with pictures of circus animals on a continuous sheet viewed through a window cut in a gaily decorated box, with handles to turn the "film."

The "Dogwood Hotel" has a sign over the door, saying "No People Allowed" and is full of papier mache dogs, leaning out of all the windows. This is a production of Mrs. Colbert's room at Southside.

In another exhibition, a large drawing of a chicken is completely covered in real chicken-feathers and in another scene, drawings of people are clothed in dresses and suits made of real cloth.

Chances Brighten For Astronaut To Go Friday

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Officials said today chances are good that America's first astronaut will hop into space Friday morning.

Lt. Col. John Fowers, Information officer of the Mercury man-in-space project, said: "The weather man tells us that it looks like the weather will be clear enough for us to go."

Prime astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. and the Redstone rocket which will shove him and his mercury cabin into space also were ready.

Barring a weather change for the worse, the shot could come at 8 a. m. Friday. Shepard will be fired 115 miles up and 290 miles down the Atlantic missile range in a 15-minute ride marking America's first venture into space.

That forecast was for his jumping off place here. Weather in the planned target area 290 miles southeast of the Cape was somewhat more questionable.

Although squalls downrange remained a possibility, weather experts said the seas "should remain relatively calm." But Florida weather is tricky, and downrange it is even more so. The condition of skies late today and tonight should decide.

The man and his space machine are ready. Should officials of the $500 million Project Mercury program decide "go," tons of fuming liquid oxygen and denatured alcohol will be poured into the stomach of a modified Redstone rocket shortly after midnight.

If all goes well, Shepard will put on his silvery space suit, climb into a 1½ ton Mercury capsule atop the rocket and thunder into space for a 15-minute space flight 8½ hours later. Success would put America just a half-step behind Russia in the manned conquest of space.

Holzappel Gets Death Sentence
WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) — Floyd A. (Lucky) Holzappel was sentenced to death in the electric chair Wednesday for the Chillingworth murders.

Circuit Judge Russell O. Morrow told the balding, 38-year-old ex-convict he committed a crime which "not only shook the country and the state, but mankind everywhere."

Holzappel, who confessed he was hired by Joseph A. Peel, Jr., to kill circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth in 1955, covered his mouth with his left hand when Morrow passed sentence. He said nothing.

He and Negro Moonshiner George (Bobby) Lincoln, who was granted immunity for his testimony in Peel's trial, said they drowned Chillingworth and his wife at sea in June, 1955. Peel is under a life sentence for hiring the assassins.

Before sentence was passed, two Florida Sheriff's Bureau agents told the court Holzappel's confession had been "invaluable" in the prosecution of Peel, a former judge in West Palm Beach.

Sheriff's Bureau investigators, working with undercover agents who were friends of Holzappel, cracked the Chillingworth case last fall by recording Holzappel's account of the slayings in a motel at Melbourne, Fla.

Bryant Tells 'Sick' Counties: Get On Ball, Solve Own Woes

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Farris Bryant today turned thumbs down on recommendations that the state put up an additional $24 million to prevent a possible public school financial crisis in many counties.

Bryant said the counties got themselves into the dilemma by refusing to hike property values to bring in more tax money. They can bail themselves out, he said. He said he has made a thorough study of the state financial situation, and still is confident the Legislature can balance the budget without new taxes.

Bryant said the action of Comptroller Ray Green, who recently cut his estimate of anticipated tax revenue from $772 million to $750 million for the next two years, has not changed his stand. "I have made a thorough review and the situation is even better than I thought it would be," he contended.

Without any adjustments of tax inequities, Bryant said, the Legislature can easily finance within anticipated income all but $9.1 million of the spending program he recommended at the start of the session.

And with bills to eliminate inequities and tighten enforcement, now making their way through the Legislature, he said, the entire program can be financed.

Bryant said he does not feel there is any real crisis in the public school program which counties cannot avert by following the law and raising their property values.

School forces told an appropriations subcommittee Wednesday that even a reassessment would not raise enough money in some counties to qualify them for their full share of state funds under the minimum foundation program, but Bryant said today he has information that this is not true.

The problem has resulted from reassessments in some counties pushing up the total contributions to schools required of all counties. Bryant said every county knew this would happen and had ample time to do something about it.

"Those counties are just going to have to get on the ball," he said. If any county is forced to shut down their schools — and Bryant said this was not going to happen — "it would be their own fault and their own responsibility."

Bryant denied reports he has a secret agreement with legislators to call them back in special session to raise taxes this fall.

He reiterated, however, that he would not hesitate to call a special session if it appeared the vital interests of the state would otherwise be sacrificed. Pressure is continuing to mount on the legislators to find new sources of revenue.

Bryant Actively Fighting Move On Racing Veto

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Farris Bryant said today he is actively fighting attempts to override his veto of two harness racing bills.

Bryant said he called "two or three senators" to his office Wednesday to let them know he very much wanted his veto sustained on the bills to establish harness tracks in Broward and Seminole counties.

Sponsors of the bills have served notice they will attempt to pass the bills over his objections and have worked day and night since the veto Tuesday to corral the two-thirds vote necessary to override.

Bryant denied "rumors" he had told the sponsors of the Broward track before the session that he would not veto the bill if it passed the Legislature.

He said he was offered assistance in his campaign for governor if he'd promise not to veto the Broward track. "I refused and I did not get the assistance," he said.

House Committee Kills Beer Bill
TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The House Temperance Committee today killed a bill to ban sale of beer and wine in groceries and drug stores by a 6-2 vote, after learning it would also apply to fishing camps.

CASSELBERRY MAYOR Joseph I. Laird, seated, Mrs. Richard Joyce and Fire Chief Paul Bates look over a brand new map of the town which will be included in the new city directory to be compiled and published under sponsorship of The Casselberry Volunteer Fire Dept.

Guns Quiet In Laos

VIETIANE, Laos (UPI) — Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, the pro-Western military strongman of Laos, said today both sides have halted military action in this troubled Asian kingdom.

"Phoumi, deputy premier and defense minister in Prince Boun Oum's government, said that according to all information he could gather there has been no fighting since 6 p. m. Wednesday.

The announcement had been anticipated. After a week of ignoring truce appeals by the government, the rebels announced on Wednesday they had ordered their troops to cease fire at 8 a. m.

He made the announcement after flying Wednesday to Savannakhet, apparently to investigate reports the Communist - supported Pathet Lao rebels had attacked Muong Phaleng.

"From this trip and from word we hear from the other side's radio broadcasts, it appears that as of 8 p. m. Wednesday a cease-fire is being respected all over Laos," Phoumi said.

The announcement had been anticipated. After a week of ignoring truce appeals by the government, the rebels announced on Wednesday they had ordered their troops to cease fire at 8 a. m.

When the government was convinced the rebels meant it, Phoumi ordered his troops to cease fire at 8 p. m.

Because of communications difficulties in this jungle kingdom, it was possible there still would be minor clashes between the two sides until word could filter down to all the troops.

The cease-fire set the stage for the arrival of the International Control Commission on Indochina to verify the halt to military operations. The commission, composed of Canada, India and Poland, has been waiting in New Delhi for the fighting to stop.

There still was a great deal of confusion surrounding the next step toward solving the political future of Laos.

State Police Hunt Kidnap Victim

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (UPI) — Police in Georgia and Florida searched today for a 13-year-old baby-sitter, an apparent, kidnap victim, with little hope of finding her alive.

Any immediate clue to the girl's fate died Wednesday with her accused kidnaper, Charles Truitt, 27, of Jacksonville, Fla., who shot himself in the temple at police bloodhounds found his hiding place under a house.

"It's too bad death came to Truitt before we learned the whereabouts of the girl," said patrolman George Young.

Blood stains and a girl's underclothing were found on the seat of a car Truitt borrowed from a friend in Jacksonville to drive the girl to her home Tuesday night. She lived about five blocks away from the house in which she was baby-sitting in Jacksonville. The car was abandoned on a street in this Georgia coastal town 80 miles north of Jacksonville.

Police traced the Florida license plates to Jacksonville authorities who linked the car with Truitt's and the girl's disappearance.

Officers began a search here for Truitt and bloodhounds led them to a dwelling north of Brunswick where Truitt was hiding. Truitt, a jobless tugboat worker, shot himself when capture appeared imminent. He died on the way to a hospital without speaking.

The Sanford Junior High School Glee Club is planning the presentation of their annual Spring Frolic on May 11 at 8 p. m.

A wide variety of music, with songs both old and new will spark the program. Among the selections are "Greensleeves", "Whistle Your Blues Away" and "Ghost Riders."

(Ed. Note, Thanks to H. Ballard of the County Agent's Office, the Herald was furnished today with a copy of the Sanford Herald, Mar. 18, 1912. Here are some excerpts from the front page of that edition.)

"Several cinnamon bears were in the city and made much noise and several runaways. The bears were a trifle dirty."

"A campaign is on to eliminate mosquitoes in the area."

"An alarm of fire Wednesday night brought out the auto fire truck on the run and they tore up First St. in a way to frighten the oldest inhabitant. The alarm proved to be a small blaze on Sanford Ave. that was extinguished before the trucks arrived."

"From Developments here today it would seem that a bridge over the St. Johns River at East Coast Ferry, providing the citizens of Orange County a direct route to the coast is assured."

"Palmer and Seigh have such a good brand of clothing that a party or parties unknown broke the large plate glass window in their store on Tuesday night and extracted three suits of clothes, two shirts and a belt."

"Vegetables, especially celery are on the move and fine prices are being realized, one grower having shipped and received his pay for the crop off 10 acres, amounting to pay over $20,000."

"Tomorrow is your last call to pay your poll taxes in order to vote in the spring primaries. It is up to you now to pay your poll tax and see that your friends do the same thing."

Kennedy Drawing Final Line Of Red Expansion
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy appeared today to be drawing the final line against Communist expansion in Southeast Asia in South Viet Nam and Thailand.

Officials said this did not mean the United States had given up hope of saving Laos, where both sides have halted military action, but it does mean Kennedy is facing up to the possibility the Geneva conference scheduled for May 12 may lead to Communist domination of Laos.

These officials said the President, after a series of sessions with the National Security Council, has decided to double U. S. military aid to South Viet Nam.

He also was believed to have sent word to President Ngo Dinh Diem that the United States is prepared to order its armed forces into action if that finally becomes necessary.

Kennedy Orders Intelligence Check
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today formally ordered a full-scale review of this country's foreign intelligence effort.

The President's order, latest in a series of actions following the Cuban invasion fiasco, was a follow up of Wednesday's White House announcement that the President was reconstituting his board of consultants on foreign intelligence activities.

Today, the White House made public an executive order by Kennedy which reactivates the board "under broadened terms of reference" and appoints new members to it.

Overjoyed Ship Survivors In Port
TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Thirteen overjoyed survivors of the ill-fated sailing ship Albatross arrived today aboard the motor vessel that saved them from the fate of their shipmates.

The survivors of the square-rigged ship, a sailing ship school for society youths, included the skipper, Capt. Christopher B. Sheldon, 22, and 10 of his teenage sailor-students.

They had been aboard the 83-ton Albatross when it was struck by a violent storm Tuesday in the Gulf of Mexico. Before Sheldon's wife, Alice, 30; the cook, George Platnik, and four of the youths could get on deck from below the ship sank and carried six lives with it.

The survivors were picked up by the merchantman Grand Elk, of Dutch registry, and taken to Tampa.

Vigilante Training Begins

Training in the new ASJ Vigilante weapons system went to full swing Monday morning at Ramey Field.

Both officer and saluted maintenance personnel were present at the first classes. The training course is being given by North American Aviation instructors under the terms of the government contract that provided for the design, production and operation of this new mach two airborne weapon system.

Each and every system of the new aircraft have been installed in the training spaces of building No. 5 and things are now humming as electrical contracts click, hydraulic valves open and close and fuel is pumped from tank to tank as the systems are observed by the students.

Besides maintenance personnel, pilots and bombardiers will also be taking this instruction as they prepare to fly the first Vigilante to arrive here. These aircraft, called by Adm. Arleigh Burke, the Navy's top man, "the best aircraft of their type in the world," will begin arriving in North American Aviation Logistics Coordinator.

The flight and attack simulators are being airlifted into Ramey Field tomorrow in order to expedite the commencement of training in airborne procedures. The flight simulators are said to be so realistic that once the air crew is enclosed in these trainers they feel like they are actually in flight and experience many of the same sensations as they would traveling at twice the speed of sound.

President Kennedy's supporters hailed passage of the bill, which had been sidetracked earlier this year by the coalition, as a breakthrough for the entire administration program.

Legislators declined to write the tough coalition's obituary but noted that many southern congressmen who voted against the bill last March 24 supported it Wednesday.

Minimum Wage Bill Win Called Big Breakthrough

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Several legislators said today the comeback victory of the minimum wage bill might sound the death knell for the Republican - Democratic coalition that has frustrated House liberals for years.

The House passed by a 230-196 vote Wednesday a measure to extend wage-hour law coverage and increase minimum wage to $1.25 an hour.

$100 Million Gamble Pays Off In Titan Test

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI) — A $100 million gamble, literally poured down a hole, paid off handsomely today in speeding development of the intercontinental-range Titan missile.

One of the 98-foot-long weapons performed perfectly Wednesday on a 30-mile flight that began at the bottom of a bomb-proof underground silo 146 feet deep.

It was the first launching of a major liquid-fuel missile from a silo, although the Air Force—by its own count—already has spent somewhere around $100 million to get construction started on such underground shelters around the country.

"This was a highly significant launch," said Gen. Thomas S. Power, chief of the Strategic Air Command, who watched the 110-ton missile poke its nose through a ring of smoke and fire to begin its trip.

But that short flight confirmed for engineers that they had whipped sound waves, heat and vibration problems that could have battered the Titan to bits inside the silo if all were not right.

"In confirming the validity of the silo launch concept," Power said, "the shot marks a major advance in our intercontinental ballistic missile program."

"The Titan II missile that is being developed to operate in this mode will offer big dividends in payload, reaction time and added survivability."

IT'S TIME!

Yes, it's time that the science of air conditioning is explained to the public in clear, concise language so that the average mature person understands exactly what he is buying. In order to do this, Southern Air of Sanford will publish a series of articles dealing with the various phases of air conditioning. This article and those to follow will be based on facts from three sources, technological, medical and over twenty years of practical experience.

Your Dealer

Your equipment, regardless of type or brand, is no better than the people who install it. Recently we have had calls from folks in the Sanford area who had their equipment installed by companies 80 to 60 miles away. Now is it reasonable to believe that a company would send a service man and truck on a call requiring a 100-mile round trip, particularly if the call has to be made at night? From a pure dollar and cents point of view, you must realize that such a call is highly impractical.

Let us consider a unit still in warranty. Your warranty calls for free replacement of parts and you pay the labor. The only way a business which has a 60 to 100-mile round trip can possibly break even, is to run up the labor charge. This charge has to be far in excess of what your local dealer would charge. If the unit is out of warranty, then the practice is to keep labor charges down and up the price on parts.

Now consider the local dealer. He buys or leases in the Sanford area; employs local help, pays taxes, buys vehicles, groceries, clothing and the normal purchases in the Sanford area. He lives here, raises his children here and in part of the community. His success depends on his service, his technical know-how and his business ethics. We feel that in this area we can do a real fine job of installation and service. Therefore, it is not our practice to go cruising around in distant areas, doing spot jobs and neglecting the principles of good sound business.

Lake Monroe Jottings . . .

By MRS. H. L. JOHNSON
Well it's already Thursday again. Time sure is flying by. The days are getting longer but still all the work doesn't seem to get done around here. Funny part of it is that we are working harder too but our work is never done. Oh well, as the old saying goes another day is coming. * * * Dotty and Bill Hittell and kiddies motored to Jacksonville for the weekend to visit Bill's brother, Clarence, and family. * * * Mrs. H. W. Haid, ridge of Daytona, Mrs. G. M. Cochron of Valdosta, Ga., and Miss Mary Alice Cochron of Nacoochee, Ga., called at the home of the J. C. Sapps one day last week. * * * John and Myrtle Pickett and daughters of Jacksonville came down last Saturday and picked up Myrtle's sister Rena Hawkins and son, Sidney, and went on down to Punta Gorda and Ft. Myers where they visited another sister, Hazel Chambliss and the Jim Corbetts. They said they really had a wonderful weekend and I know they did. * * * Mary Rabun moved into her new home in Sanford. Her old home was taken in by the state. We also lost the Bobby Thompsons. They moved into town also. * * * Well the gladioli are blooming again on the Chapman farm. There are some beautiful colors in them. Next to a rose they are a favorite flower of mine. * * * Important meeting tonight of the Monroe Home Demonstration club at the home of Lucy Fitzgerald in Loch Arbor. He sure and attend all members if possible. There will be a nomination of officers for the coming year and the program will be on the Selection of Furniture. * * * Mrs. Clover Marrs continues to improve at Seminole Memorial Hospital but is still not allowed visitors. We are all thinking of you, Marrs, and are hoping you will soon be home again. * * * What a welcome rain we had. Everything is so dry. The orange groves are in dire need of a big rain. Those April showers forgot to shower to bring the May flowers. * * * Our sympathy goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Pant in the recent passing of Mr. Pant's mother in DeLand. * * * Had the pleasure of accompanying the Seminole High School Glee Club to Daytona for the state meeting. Anyone who enjoys music would enjoy this I am sure. * * * Mrs. Rose Poff is on the sick list. Hurry and get well Rose because by the looks of that pumpkin vine of yours you will be making pies shortly. Three of the pumpkins are almost ripe. I didn't think this was the time of year for pumpkins but they are sure there in Rose's yard. * * * There goes the Peterson home toward town. So that leaves another empty lot out here. The movers tore off the top story of the house in order to move it. * * * The school children were so disappointed Tuesday morning when they heard that the Astronaut trip had been postponed for a few days. They are anxious to prove to Russia they don't have a thing over there that we don't have over here. * * * Little Betty Hobby, daughter of Pauline and L. C. Hobby, is confined to her home because of strep throat. Get well Betty so you can go back to school. * * * Murdock Matheson is happy again as his doctor has told him his leg is well enough now to return to work. * * * The old Elpis home on the corner of Upsala and Vihlen roads, turned to the ground Friday night. No one was home at the time. Mr. Green, a Spar station dealer on French Ave. is the present owner. * * * The Monroes F-TO held its last meeting of the year Tuesday evening at the school with the installation of officers for the coming year. Plans were also made for the school picnic. No definite date has been set at the present time but will be announced later. * * * The Foster Allison family moved into their new home Saturday. Their old one was taken in by the state. There is only one more family to have to vacate and they will as soon as theirs is finished.

The picture we're getting from some people of the rising power of teenagers is a trifle frightening, if you believe it accurate.

We hear that they are just about dominating the market, setting the national tastes, and so on. Others say teenagers have pretty well succeeded in building a little society of their own, from which their elders are frozen out.

In other words, accounts like these suggest we're almost at the point indicated years ago by a British novelist who, when asked what he thought of American parents, replied: "Fine, fine. I think they obey their children very well."

It could just be, however, that some pretty sturdy bastions still remain to be taken.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Donnie's case is just one of 5,000,000 so be sure you learn how to help him. Since it is said we have use 25% of our brain power, the "flash card" method below can produce remarkable results with Donnie. And even your brilliant children often need such sugar-coated home tutoring, too!

CASE H - 476: Donnie B., aged 8 is a mentally retarded child. "Dr. Crane," his parents began, "Donnie has an I.Q. of 75, which they tell us is in the borderline between feeble-minded and dull normal."

"He can barely do the work of the 3rd grade pupils of his age and is in the 3rd grade."

"What advice can you give us parents of retarded children so we can do a better job of helping them?"

There are 5,000,000 retarded children, says the National Association for Retarded Children (260 Park Avenue, South, New York City.)

I.Q. (mental horsepower) is determined by dividing a child's mental age by his calendar age, and multiplying by 100.

Thus, Donnie's 8/75 equals 75, by that formula.

And we estimate a child's brain reaches its maturity at about the age of 16, so when Donnie is a grown man, he will have the mental capacity of a 12-year-old.

Since a child of 12 finished the 6th grade, Donnie will have the comprehension of such a youngster, even when he is a man.

But 6th graders can do a whiz at spelling, reading, typing, and many other traits "I.F."

And that big "I.F." means, I.F. they are taught properly and motivated with love, affection and proper rewards.

So your parents of retarded children must not expect the impossible but you should certainly try to get the maximum output from your youngster.

Some retarded children have an I. Q. of only 25, which means their adult mental age will be only 6 years, so you must not expect them to read and write, or solve simple mathematical problems.

Youngsters with an I. Q. of 60, will level off in adulthood at the mental age of an 8-year-old, or 3rd grader.

Use these facts to set your sights as to goals.

Donnie, however, should be able to finish the 6th grade, though he will be much older than such pupils when he can do so.

But his parents can give him the correct English of a college graduate if they will simply use proper language in front of him.

For correct language is imitative, like music, and can be acquired by people of very low I. Q. if you expose them to good grammar.

Donnie can also be aided greatly by the use of "flash cards."

Take his school reader. Let him point to the words he doesn't know.

Then get a home printing outfit and show him how to print one such word on each flash card.

After you have many of them printed, hold up two printed flash cards. Name each word. Show Donnie their major contrasts in contour, length, letters that dip below the line, as those with "g," such as "dog."

Then shuffle the two flash cards and expose them, one at a time. You will be surprised at how much Donnie will learn, especially if you keep this sugar-coated home tutoring as a game.

For variety, let Donnie use pantomime or "act out" the verbs, such as walk, jump, stand, sit, sleep, lie down, drink, etc.

Also, let his daddy compete, but dads should pull their punches so the child wins 3 times out of 4, for his morale's sake.

All parents, even of brilliant children, can profitably send for the booklet "How to Raise Your Child's School Marks," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

From Rome

Henry McLemore

ROME — "Give 'em what they want."
This is the answer of the British Travel and Holidays Association to those of its critics who say the Association is creating a phony image of England with its emphasis on thatched cottages, town criers, maypoles, ceremonial robes, family crests, and the like.

The Association has discovered, just as have its counterparts in other countries, that the old, the picturesque, and the traditional, are far and away the most enticing bait for tourists. If a pint of beer tastes better to a tourist in a pub named The Tipsey Swan, and if he would rather bed down for the night in The Cross and Garter Arms, then by all means see to it that such places are available and advertised.

That such attractions are exceptional and not typical, is beside the point. Bygones are more appealing to the foreign visitor than the current way of life, and if the whole approach smacks of fraudulency, then that's too bad.

I write about this because our own country, now that the government is about to enter the tourist business, may have to emphasize America's diminishing bygones to really pull the tourists from across the sea.

Peaceful Indians may have to be prodded off their backs and put on the warpath once again, log cabin settlements erected where split levels now stand, and quite a number of Chicagans asked to carry sawed-off shotguns and tommy guns to work.

From books, movies and television tourists will want to see Dodge City where strong men duel with six-shooters in the street under a blinding sun, and a Kentucky where coonskin caps, not felt hats, are worn, and the standard footwear is moccasins.

The South had better start planting more magnolias without delay, and throwing up crinolines and hoop skirt factories in a hurry. The tourist is going to want to see paddlewheelers on the Mississippi, not modern diesel barges; and showboats, gamblers and chanting roustabouts.

Everybody in New Orleans will have to carry a horn and blow blues music from dawn till midnight to make that city live up to a tourist's expectations, and Albuquerque would be wise to get the Indians away from their rug-making machines and onto horseback and into gaudy paint.

Covered wagons offer a far greater appeal to tourists than stream-lined cars, and Texas had better plan to have its open spaces criss-crossed with cattle drives.

Los Angeles would be smart to equip at least half of its citizens with dark glasses, and it would be smart, tourist wise, if everybody in the country went around sunbathing on a hamburger, breaking into rock 'n' roll now and then, and shouting, "We're the greatest!"

The crack transcontinental trains should arrange at least one "hold-up" somewhere between Chicago and the Far West, and every citizen of New York should plan to spend at least four nights in a night club during the height of the tourist season.

The true picture of a country is not what the tourist wants. He wants to see a country the way he thinks it is.

We Americans should not let the foreigner down.

Q—How did London's Piccadilly Street acquire its name?
A—Piccadilly is said to have derived its title from the pickadillo, or ruffs, fashionable at the time.

Peter Edson's Political Notebook

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The United Nations 15th General Assembly recently adjourned in New York established one record, anyway.

It was the longest session in the world organization's history— 10 weeks in 1960, seven in 1961. This does not mean that it accomplished the most. It failed to clean up many of the 85 items on its agenda, leaving them for the next session which meets in mid-September.

This past session emphasizes more than anything else just how the U.N. has changed in its short life. Afro-Asian nations now constitute a majority of the 99 members. There are 20 more new nations to be admitted in the next few years. The organization has become so big it is unwieldy, slow, ponderous.

Most of the new members are best classified as "states." They are in no sense unified by a national culture or purpose. They are in no sense democracies. Their leaders are inexperienced.

The underdeveloped countries have a kind of emotional self-interest reaction to all world problems. They cannot see where their interests are affected by the rise of a Castro in distant Cuba. The long-standing issue of Russian oppression in Hungary fails to excite or alarm the new members because what Europeans do to each other is of no concern to Afro-Asians.

They are equally mistrustful of the western European powers that were their former colonial masters. They regard the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as an alliance to protect colonial interests. The small states feel that the United Nations can protect them better than regional organizations.

But when the UN is unable to provide them with all the aid they need, or has difficulty in living up to its responsibilities in the Congo, the new nations lose confidence.

In spite of this, this recent general assembly became known as "The Africa Session." One-half the items on the agenda dealt with African problems—race relations in South Africa, its mandate over Southwest Africa, Ruanda,

Bombers Get Committee Okay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Armed Services Committee voted today to continue production of B2 and B5B bombers. It said missiles are not yet dominant in deterring war.

The committee was unanimous in its belief that this country needs the proper mix of missiles and bombers." Chairman Carl Vinson, (D-Ga.) said in announcing the action.

DESIGNER, BUILDER AND OWNERS OF THE NEW Medical Center building, are ready for the formal opening of the new facility, located on San Marcos Ave. in the vicinity of five other medical buildings. From left, LeRoy Robb, builder, manager of Carroll Daniel Construction Co., John Burton, architect; Dr. Vincent Roberts and Francis Roumillat, owners of the building.

THE NEW MEDICAL CENTER BUILDING, now open for business, has its own pharmacy, an extension of Roumillat's downtown drugstore, to serve the doctors in the building and the surrounding area, and for the convenience of patients.

Burton, Daniel Firms Complete Center

The new Medical Center, built by the Acoustical Engineering Company of Orlando, under the supervision of LeRoy Robb, contractor, was designed by the architectural firm of John Burton IV. There are 5,200 square feet of floor space in the new structure, 1,000 of which are used in the drug supply store and the remaining 4,200 in the offices of a doctor and a dentist who occupy the south end of the building. Built of concrete block, reinforced with structural steel from the Ajax Steel Co., the building has terrazzo floors and acoustical tile ceiling. The ceiling materials were supplied and installed was constructed by the Evans Roofing Co. of Sanford. The exterior grounds of the new center have been attractively landscaped by the Francis Pezold Landscaping Co. with tropical shrubs and palms to enhance the beauty of the architecture. On the green lawn fronting the entrance way, a curved masonry bench is placed, its top gay with colored tiles, set into the surface. Sidewalks make moving from one area to the other easy and the entire section is surrounded with a generous asphalt paved parking lot, the work of the Tucker and Duncan Paving Co. A raised planter defines the drive-in window area, with plants of tropical foliage to continue the general scheme of a cool and pleasant setting.

A BEAUTY SPOT IN THE new Medical Center pharmacy is this alcove, which is highlighted by a flowing four-tiered waterfall with waterlilies floating in the fountains and comfortable lounge chairs where customers may wait.

Chapel Circle To Honor Members

The Ladies Service Circle of the Altamonte Springs Chapel will be hosts at a reception honoring all new members of the Church Thursday.

The event will be held in the Educational Building of the Chapel beginning at 8 p. m.

Bear Lake Circle Schedules Meeting

The next meeting of the Bear Lake Garden Circle will be held at the home of Mrs. Richard Scott, 3521 Shirley Dr., at 8 p. m. on May 10.

Committees will be appointed at the business session of the newly organized group and the project for Christmas Tree Lane will be planned.

New Pharmacy Is Stylish, But Efficient

The brightly lighted interior of the New Medical Center Building pharmacy is crisply efficient, with orderly rows of drugs and medicines, but a lounge center waiting area has been provided for the convenience of customers while their prescriptions are being prepared.

Comfortable Danish modern-styled chairs, upholstered in tangerine leather, stand beside a convenient corner table, decorated with a blue vase of colorful flowers that accent the decorating scheme of blue and white, with accenting blue ceramic ash tray. In an alcove in the front section of the pharmacy, a beauty spot is provided for pleasant contemplation by the visitor. A four-tiered pool, with running water, trickling from one round ceramic pool to the next lowest level, has colorful water lilies floating in the water.

The corner is further enhanced by the potted plants surrounding the fountain and the tropical scene of ocean and palm trees in the painting hung on the wall above.

The pharmacy is strictly an apothecary shop, carrying medicine and drugs, but none of the cosmetics in a drugstore.

Tar Heel Cage Star Suspended

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (UPI)—Basketball star Doug Moe has been suspended indefinitely from the University of North Carolina for not reporting acceptance of a $75 gift from gambler Aaron Wagnan.

However, according to the ruling, Moe could be considered for readmission starting in the spring of 1962.

The suspension was ordered on Wednesday by University Chancellor William B. Aycock because of Moe's failure to report bribe offers in connection with the New York investigation of fixes in college basketball games.

Indonesia Not Satisfied Over Dutch Dispute

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) — Two sharply defined facts have emerged from the increasing clamor of the 11-year-old Dutch-Indonesia dispute over New Guinea.

One is that Indonesia will never be satisfied until it gains control of this final Dutch possession in the former Dutch East Indies.

The other is that Indonesia has little, if any, idea what to do with New Guinea if the Dutch relinquish control.

The so-called "liberation of West Irian" has become a key part of Indonesia's nationalism. It has long been an emotional whip in the hands of the nation's political leaders.

The Indonesian government never has announced a program to integrate the New Guinea inhabitants into the Indonesian culture and economy if this so-called "liberation" took place.

The issue also has been used to divert the Indonesian people's attention from internal problems.

The most significant point of all, perhaps, is that the prestige of Indonesia's ruling groups—especially President Sukarno—hangs on the successful "regaining" of New Guinea from the Dutch.

Indonesia's attempts to use a "brink of war" policy apparently have had little effect on the Hague government, although most observers— from both the East and West— agree there is growing danger of armed conflict.

Both nations have built up their armed forces in the Ceram Sea area, and Russia recently agreed to give Indonesia a massive grant of military arms to bring an end to "colonialism" in the East Indies.

What would Indonesia do if the Dutch turned over New Guinea?

Some persons predict another Congo, but that appears to be less than charitable. Still, the Sukarno government has announced no plans for this eventuality.

Western New Guinea has a population of about 700,000 persons scattered throughout the Dutch administered portion. Australia owns the southern part of a territory and administers the northeast as a trust. Headhunters and cannibals are still found in the interior regions of the island.

There are no railroads in the 300,000 square-mile territory. Roads are few. Swamps cover much of the tropical land. Money crops are scarce and there are small mineral deposits, mostly oil, nickel and chrome.

The natives for the most part are uneducated.

THE OFFICES OF A DOCTOR AND A DENTIST are behind the doors in the left of this scene, and the pharmacy is on the right, with its floor to ceiling glass walls.

The area between the offices and pharmacy is protected from the weather by an extensive overhang.

Pharmacy Offers Drive-In Window For Prescriptions

A drive-in prescription window is a feature of the new Medical Center Pharmacy. The window, which is really part of a door, opens into a covered driveway that will accommodate two cars at a time, making it convenient for ill or incapacitated people to receive prescriptions without leaving their cars.

It could also be a help to a mother with several small children or a baby in the car, so that she could remain in the car with them and not have to take them all in the pharmacy or leave them in the car alone.

The pharmacy also features a delivery service, with a special truck assigned exclusively to the business of delivering medicine to doctors and patients.

Heads Program
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—George W. Rulon of Indianapolis was named Wednesday, to succeed former major league pitcher Lou Brissie as director of the junior baseball program of the American Legion.

THE DRIVE-IN WINDOW, with covered approach is a new feature which adds to the convenience of the pharmacy at the Medical Center building, being opened today by Francis Roumillat and Dr. Vincent Roberts.

VIEWS OF THE INTERIOR of the medical offices in the Medical Center building, show the consultation office, treatment room and small laboratory and preparation rooms.

Odd Firefly
South America has a form of firefly, the fire beetle, which flashes a red light at the ends of its body and a green light along the sides.

Pharmacy Sixth Medical Building Near Hospital

There are now six buildings in the two blocks south of the Seminole Memorial Hospital, that comprise a concentration of medical and dental facilities and supplies from First Street to Fourth.

The new Medical Center, which houses the offices of Dr. Brooke Smith, M. D. and Dr. Ell White, D. D. and the Roumillat pharmacy is the newest building in the area.

The second newest building is the white concrete, trimmed with red brick, which is the new offices of Dr. Daniel Mathers, M. D. and Dr. C. L. Park Sr. and Dr. C. L. Park Jr. both M. D.s.

In the Faust building on the corner of Second and Mellonville is the Faust pharmacy and the offices of Dr. Edwin Epstein, M. D.

The green building next to it is occupied by two medical doctors, Dr. John Morgan and Dr. Vincent Roberts, and two dentists, Dr. A. W. Epps Jr. and Dr. A. W. Epps Sr. This is known as the Medical Arts building.

Just across the road is a sand colored building, the architecture of which is much like the rest of the area, are the offices of Dr. Robert M. Rosemond, M. D., and Dr. Leonard Munson, M. D.

Directly behind them to the south is the Simon Clinical Laboratories, where X-rays, blood work and other tests are performed by

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Simon. All of these facilities, housing nine doctors and three dentists, two pharmacies and a clinical laboratory are within sight of the hospital and the hospital is also planning an expansion, by building a new wing on the Mellonville Ave. side of the present structure.

Tunisian President Sees Top Military Review In Capital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy put on a spectacular military review on the floodlit White House grounds Wednesday night for Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba.

The colorful 27-minute drill was staged for Bourguiba after an elegant state dinner, the Kennedy's first for a visiting chief of state.

The marching on the lawn attracted the attention of downtown Washington and drew throngs of spectators to the White House terrace to share in the entertainment.

Kennedy and his honor guest sat on a balcony to watch crack drill routines by 400 uniformed men from the Army, Air Force, Marine Corps and Navy.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy sat on the balcony with Madame Bourguiba and a few other select guests.

The First Lady scored a big hit with the Tunisian president by being able to chat with him throughout the state dinner in French. He speaks only a few words of English.

At the end of the dinner, both Kennedy and Bourguiba rose to deliver toasts of admiration and friendship.

Teenagers Escape From Institutions

MARIANNA (UPI)—Law officers were on the lookout today for three young prisoners who escaped from Florida institutions Wednesday afternoon.

Arthur Lee Davis, 17, and John McHenry, 18, fled from the Apalachicola Correctional Institution near Chattahoochee.

Two other teenagers, Nelson Foot, 18, and David NeSmith, 16, escaped from the Boys Reform School here.

You Need Space Dictionary When Visiting Cape

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Down here in Birdland you're lost without a space dictionary.

No guidebook and you can survive. Even without a swimming suit life is still possible.

But unless you understand the language you either abort your trip out of sheer frustration—or scrub it until you get down pat such highly technical points as the definition of a gaggin' wagon.

A gaggin' wagon is a mobile restaurant for those who work on the cape.

Suppose you go to a restaurant in town. With all the people here for the man-in-space shot, service isn't exactly up to standards, velocitywise.

You get a menu and then hold. This means waiting until 80 or 100 other people are served.

What to eat? There's a lot of fish about, the cape being misallied-by-the-sea. But the talk is of birds not fish, and they're made of metal and stand on pads.

If you don't like birds you can always throw the chicken-switch which will eject the capsule you are sitting in so it can go to another restaurant. Chicken-switches are thrown only in desperation. That other restaurant is crowded too.

While holding it is best to complete R and D the menu. This means you Research the items and Develop your preference.

There is plenty of time to do this. At this point the countdown is underway for the waitress to arrive so your order can be blasted out to the kitchen.

As the minutes tick by, doubt develops. Is the Primary Mission a success?—will you ever eat?

Your attitude is bad. This is the position of the satellite (your stomach) in relation to the earth. Go to bed and forget about the hunger pangs? Or no-go and hope the waitress will make a re-entry from the kitchen and see you at the table, obviously suffering from lack of survivability?

You were laxed up with enthusiasm for lunch—and now a lox dump has set in. No fuel, no capability of going on.

At T-time, it now being four in the afternoon or three hours after you came in, the waitress arrives to launch your order.

It impacts—right on target. But by then the food is cold.

Snakes have been known to live without food for up to two years by absorbing the fat of their own bodies.

PLENTY OF PARKING SPACE at the new Medical Center Building is provided by the large paved parking lot on the east side of the building. The lot allows turning around room also for customers to make an easy exit on San Marcos Ave.

Eichmann Called 'Dog' At Trial By Army Man

JERUSALEM (UPI) — A witness quoted a sergeant in the German Army today as having said that Adolf Eichmann — "a dog called Eichmann"—was organizing the murder of Jews in Lithuania.

Abba Kerner looked straight at Eichmann as he said it. A murmur ran around the courtroom, and all eyes swung to the man in the glass box. There was nothing out of the ordinary to see. Eichmann's face did not change expression and he long since has lost interest in witnesses and what they say.

Kovner fought as a partisan against the Nazis around Vilna, he said, and made contact with Sgt. Anton Schmidt, an Austrian in the German Army. Schmidt helped the partisans whenever he could and one night he and Kovner met for a drink.

"Schmidt was nervous," Kovner said. "I asked for details about the Gestapo men. I wanted to know who all the killing depended on. Schmidt said to me: 'There is one man I remember. There is a dog called Eichmann and he is organizing all this. At that moment he sobered up and said 'I didn't tell you anything.' Schmidt later was arrested and executed by the Gestapo for his connection with the Jews."

Earlier, Frieda Maiz, a nurse, told how Harry Blumenfrucht, a Jewish resistance leader, so impressed the Nazis by the way he stood up under two weeks of torture that they gave him a private instead of a public hanging.

"The Nazis placed chips of wood under his fingernails and set fire to them," she said. "They kept him stretched out on an iron net for not one but for 48 hours and still he refused to talk. He kept calling out 'I will not talk. I am dead.' They sent for his mother and she pleaded with him 'Admit something, Harry, if only to shorten your torture. The Germans held him for two weeks, but he never said anything.'

"They must have admired the boy. Instead of hanging him publicly as they usually did with the Jews they took him out and handed him one morning before curfew."

Eichmann long since has lost interest in witnesses and what they say. He sits in his glass box like a man with a toothache waiting in a dentist's anteroom resigns himself to his fate. But when a document is presented to the court, he immediately perks up, gets out his red and blue pencils and begins making marks and shuffling papers.

Boy Collapses Hearing Roberts

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI) — A nine-year-old Negro boy stood at the crowded prayer meeting, a card clutched in his hand.

The card bore a printed form which asked evangelist Oral Roberts to pray to God to heal the applicant.

Young Elijah Mitchell didn't turn in his card. While standing in the crowded revival tent here Tuesday night he coughed, and collapsed.

The card said his ailment was heart trouble.

Elijah's mother, Ellen Mitchell, a part-time maid, took her son to the evangelist because "I was sure the Lord could help."

She learned of the boy's ailment two years ago when Elijah was in the first grade.

"He kept on going to school all the time," Mrs. Mitchell said. "But I used to let him stay home a lot when he said he didn't feel well."

Mrs. Mitchell, a widow since shortly before Elijah's birth, will see her only child buried this afternoon.

"There's only one way to look at it," she said. "When the Lord gets ready, you've gotta move."

Enterprise Youngster Feted At Party

Priscilla Sellers celebrated her birthday recently, with a party given by her mother, at their home on DeBary Ave., in Enterprise. Several playmates enjoyed the day with her. Refreshments were served on the lawn with ribbon streamers reaching from above the center of the table to each place.

The birthday cake was decorated with green coconut to represent the lawn and a ballerina dancer among the candles at the top of a pole. The streamers were fastened to the ballerina's hands. Ice cream, punch and minis were served with the cake, following an afternoon of games. The girls took turns leading "Siam," the Seller's Siamese cat, around the yard. He enjoys this as much as the children do. Assisting Mrs. Sellers with the party were Mrs. Bobby Hamilton, Mrs. Truman Jennings and Mrs. Marie Hampton.

Club Gives Party At Sarepta

Members of the American Home Department of the Sanford Woman's Club gave a party for the residents of the Sarepta Rest Home, last week.

They went to the home and served home made cookies and punch and also gave each one a container filled with candy.

Hostesses for the party were Mrs. John K. White, American Home chairman; Mrs. Carl Schilke, Mrs. Douglas Stenstrom, Mrs. William Stringfield, Mrs. George Wells and Mrs. W. L. Gramkow, president-elect of the club. The home is operated by Rev. and Mrs. K. V. Mykkamen and their daughter, Mrs. Taamar Braden.

It has been in operation for the past nine years and the name "Sarepta" comes from the Holy Book and can best be described as a place where God takes care of his people in a miraculous way.

America has been called the melting pot of the world and truly this can be said of the people who dwell in the Sarepta. There are Swedes, Finns, Germans, Americans, every religious denomination, the poor, the near-sighted, hard-of-hearing, lame, sitters, walkers, talkers, silent, bed-ridden, the happy, the sullen, childish, sweet—the list is endless. It was difficult to decide which enjoyed the afternoon the most, the residents or the club women.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I had an experience the other day which greatly disturbed me. While sitting in my car eating my lunch, a little girl (about 4 years old) came up to my car and asked me to take her for a ride. You can well imagine what tragedy could have resulted had she approached the wrong type of man. When will parents realize that they MUST train their children not to speak to strangers, and even to run away if approached? Many little ones would be alive today or spared a terrible experience had they been so trained.

GORDON Y.

DEAR GORDON: Most parents DO train their children never to talk to strangers, and certainly not to go for "rides" with them. But because some parents may need to be reminded again, I will print your very worthy letter. Thank you for writing.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my deceased mother-in-law. When my husband was in Germany for a year, he bought a complete dinner set. It cost almost $100. He gave it to his mother, not thinking of the sweetheart he would meet one day. Then he met me. I was invited to his home for dinner many times. His mother would never use that dinner set. I always thought she was saving it for me, because I mentioned how much I liked it. When I married, she still didn't give it to me. Now she is dead and the dinner set is in the home of my husband's sister. I don't know how she got it, but it is there. I think that since it was bought with my husband's money, I should have the set. How can I get it without appearing grasping?

NOT GRASPING

DEAR NOT: If you are "Not Grasping," I don't know how better to describe your attitude. Your husband bought this set for his mother. Had she wanted you to have it, she would have given it to you, or made provisions for your having it eventually. Quit coveting, and use your energies for more important things.

DEAR ABBY: I am an Alaskan girl who just read your book DEAR TEEN-AGER. Several of my friends have borrowed it and we have all enjoyed it very much. You have such a witty way of setting advice for "teens" on paper.

In your chapter "How Late is Late," I was glad you didn't say "be in before dark" because in ALASKA "dark" is 3 P. M. during the winter months and 3 A. M. in the summer.

Sincerely,
ALASKA LASS

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FOUR EYES": If your vision is as poor as you say it is, you'd better keep your glasses on when you kiss her. You might miss the mark.

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3865, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

We The Women:

By Ruth Millet

Somewhere I came across the startling bit of information that a system is being tried out experimentally that will allow a housewife to control her electric cooking equipment by telephone. I don't know just how this newest boon to womankind will work—but just thinking about it brings up a lot of interesting questions: Just how useful will it be if there's a teenager in the household? What housewife with a 16-year-old daughter could ever count on being able to get anything but a busy signal if she wanted to turn on the fire under the potatoes by telephone? And would it be possible to dial not only a wrong number but to turn on a wrong oven? What a mess that could make of some other woman's pot roast! And what happens when you are expecting guests for dinner and, every time you dial your number to tell the electric stove to start cooking, you get a busy signal because somebody (not you, of course) left the receiver off the hook? With all the working wives there are, won't the telephone lines be jammed around 5 o'clock as wives stop their filling and typing long enough to tell their electrical appliances to start cooking? But why cross bridges ahead of time? After all, this newest idea in remote control cookery is still in the experimental stage and may never get any further. So you can dream of the fun of being the first one in your bridge club to have the first direct line to the kitchen stove, and of watching the envy on the faces of all the other girls when you say airily, "Thank heaven, I'm dunny. Now I can go and telephone my electric kitchen!" For the man—some nonelectronic thoughts, in Ruth Millet's "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Jacoby On Bridge

By Oswald Jacoby

South has a normal one spade opening and West should pass in spite of his 13 high card points. North's raise to two spades is equally normal and South became declarer at that contract at both tables just as he would have in any home game. The hand looks routine enough. South has to lose two clubs and a diamond and if he plays the first spade from his own hand he will lose one spade trick also. That is just what one South player did and he wound up making nine tricks. The other South player decided that the match had been going badly for his side and that he should try an unusual but not really unsound play. South won the opening heart lead in dummy; led dummy's ten of spades and let it ride. This play gave West two spade tricks instead of one and South just made his contract. The one trick difference of 30 points was worth one IMP. Was there anything wrong with this last play? From the result standpoint it cost an IMP, but practically it was just about as good as the normal play. Put the king and jack of spades over in the East hand and this play would have gained an IMP.

A deer usually sheds its antlers every year.

TV Key Previews

Top television shows as previewed and selected by TV Key's staff of experts who attend rehearsals, watch screenings, and analyze scripts in New York and Hollywood:

Summer Sports Spectacular. — "Birth of a Ball Club." Baseball fans get some firsthand information on the birth pangs of the American League's new team, the Los Angeles Angels. During shots of its first big league game with the Orioles in Baltimore, via interviews with Gene Autry and other owners, plus commentary and films of its spring training operations in Palm Springs, Calif., such questions as collecting players, locating a ball park, and raising funds, get a thorough overhaul. 7:30 p. m. CBS.

My Three Sons. — "The Croaker." Pleasant and typical episode. This well done series, which has an uncanny knack for turning a minor incident into an amusing half hour, makes the most of a bullfrog tonight. The croaker's name is Malcolm, and Bill Frawley just manages to upstage it in a ten-minute scene. Incidentally, the series also deserves a pat on the back for its musical scoring. Ernie Ford. — Cute young Jeanie Sommers and Ernie spend time backstage picking out song hits tonight. They also sing together and Jeanie takes a couple on her own, in addition to the regular fare including Ernie's hymns and the opener, "Sugar-time." (color) 9:30 p. m. CBS.

The Untouchables. — "Stranglehold." Not for children. This rough and violent tale deals with a racketeer in control of New York's Fulton Fish Market, who does terrible things to men who oppose him and is then forced to turn on his own henchmen. Ricardo Montalban plays gangster Makouris with a flourish, and makes it very plain that he isn't Italian. 9:30 p. m. ABC.

Spahn Hurls Sparkler Again; 2-Hits 'Bums'

United Press International
Warren (No-hitter) Spahn, the 40-year-old miracle whip of Milwaukee, finally has convinced everyone — including the once skeptical but no longer Los Angeles Dodgers.

It used to bug Spahn that he never could seem to beat the Dodgers. It annoyed him that the fact was regularly bandied about in National League dugouts and it bothered him even more that the Braves would accommodate him by skip his turn each time they met Walt Alton's gang.

Perhaps as a reward for his no-hitter against the Giants last Friday, Spahn was allowed to start against the Dodgers in Milwaukee Wednesday night for the first time since June 5, 1956.

The hawk-nosed southpaw was not able to turn in another no-hitter, but he came close with a sparkling two-hit 4-1 victory that was the 25th of his major league career and left him only nine wins shy of Lefty Grove's 300-game total.

Spahn struck out nine and walked only two in bringing his season record to 3-1. "I think I had better stuff than last Friday," he said elatedly after the game.

The only two hits Spahn gave up were Jim Gilliam's bloop double to left center with two out in the third inning and Tom Davis' clean single with two out in the ninth.

Spahn, who has allowed a total of only four runs in his four starts so far this season, did his part with the bat, too, collecting a double and two singles in his first victory over the Dodgers since July 20, 1956. He now owns a 3-8 record against the Dodgers since the Braves came to Milwaukee in 1953 and a lifetime mark of 15-30 against them.

The Braves nicked loser Stan Williams for one run in the first inning and what proved to be the winning run in the second on Spahn's double and a single by Lee Mays. Eddie Mathews singled home two more runs in the seventh.

A SIZEABLE STRING from the Wekiva River was brought back to Camp Seminole by Wilbur Brewer, Highway Patrolman Jim Foster and Red Priest. They took a day off for an overnight camping trip on the river, with good results on bream and catfish in several apots.

Seminole End Regular Season With 6-6 Mark

The Sanford Seminoles have ended their regular season baseball play with a 6-6 record.

Hinson Hurls BRL No-Hitter

Kiwanians Hear 'Bleak' Picture Of Prison Life

"No matter how well run, no matter how clean, no matter how lenient the staff, a prison is still a terrible place."

These were the solemn words, of L. F. Chapman, a dignified, silver-haired man who was for 25 years the superintendent of the Florida Penitentiary.

Chapman spoke to the Kiwanis Club at the noon luncheon meeting Thursday and to guests of the club from the Seminole County Juvenile Council.

"One of the major problems facing the social order is, 'Why do men return to prison?' Chapman said. "And about 35 or 40 percent of them do return."

"They do not want to return, they do not intend to return and most do not plan to continue in crime," said Chapman. "Why then, do so many wind up right back where they came from?"

In answering his own question, Chapman listed a number of reasons that he felt were the cause of repeated prison sentences.

One reason given was that a man who spends time in prison loses so much that gives his life purpose and aim. Very often his wife divorces him, so he has no family to return to when he gets out, and none of the home ties and responsibilities that keep many a man on the straight and narrow path.

A prisoner loses his identity with his home town and very often finds that no one back there wants him, because they are ashamed of him and do not trust him as a second reason noted. A person needs an attachment to a place, should love his section of the country and be proud of it. But a prisoner loses that pride and attachment and becomes "just a drifter" unwanted, unloved and unimportant.

"It is difficult," said Chapman, "for a man to find a job, and if he does, he finds that he has forgotten how to work, because in prison, he is told what to do, how to do it, when to start and when to stop. He never makes a decision. He has no responsibilities and much of the work assigned to prisoners is unimportant, just something to keep them busy."

"Such a life, if continued for several years, makes a man of no value to himself or to the existing social order."

Another reason Chapman gave for the failure of prisoners to remain out of prison for long, is a plain lack of Christian charity on the part of the citizens, in the community and especially in the churches.

"Society does not forgive and forget," said Chapman and reminded his audience of Jesus Christ, who forgave the thief on the cross.

Chapman's reasons for saying that prison is a "terrible place" summed up, show that an ex-prisoner very often winds up back in prison because society does not want him, he has lost his family, his friends, his business, his working skills and even his church and so drifts back to "the only solid place left in his life-prisons."

16-Year-Old Accused Of Killing Two Girls

KADOKA, S. D. (UPI)—Sixteen-year-old James Scott Stephens was to go home today where he is accused of shooting and killing two neighbor girls during a walk in the woods.

Kadoka authorities were reported to have telephoned the youth's hand-written, signed confession to Michigan officials who were slated to arrive here this afternoon after a 1,200-mile trip by car. Stephens, a tall, freckle-faced Boy Scout, was seized Wednesday at an all night truck stop and admitted under questioning the slayings of Margaret Chambers, 12, and Carol Gee, 11, while on a flower-picking hike Saturday near their Holland, Mich., home.

Officials at Holland and Allegan, Mich., across the county line where the girls' bodies were found, withheld comment on the confession pending Stephens' return. However, a South Dakota investigator said Stephens maintained he shot the grade school girls accidentally.

"It was an accident—and the shootings just kept going," Stephens was quoted by Don Licht, special agent for the state Criminal Investigation Division.

Carol had been shot seven times and Margaret five.

North Orlando Annexes 48 Acres

By MONA GRINSTEAD
The North Orlando Village Council meeting Tuesday, annexed some 48 acres constituting all remaining unincorporated properties of the community.

the Village Charter which explained how the annexation was legally permissible by the council without petition requests from the residents involved.

annexation can be made by council vote. Mayor Frank Fasula pointed out the advantages of incorporation, explaining how all residents, as well as the village, would benefit from the action.

based on the number of residents and that the annexation would mean more money coming into the village in this manner.

W. W. Anderson, president of the Civic Assn., also informed those present that in order to vote in the first elections of the village, which will be held in March, 1962, voters must be residents of the incorporated area by September of this year.

at the meeting, however, the mayor said that most objections to incorporation had been against taxation. He said that as long as the present council is seated, there will be no taxation and that only after an election will it be possible for this to be changed.

A PROFIT OF $100 was added to funds for purchase of the Altamonte Springs Library Bldg. and grounds by Library Assn. members who sponsored a fashion show and coffee under direction of Mrs. Dixie Humes, chairman of the ways and means committee.

EDITORIAL COMMENT The Need Is There

A steering committee of the proposed new South Seminole Chamber of Commerce is hard at work conducting a survey on the need for a chamber in that area and how much support it might receive.

A chamber can be an instrumental part of any community but it needs more than money to carry on its program of boosting the area—it needs membership support and a working together of ideas and direction.

We urge all residents and merchants of the South Seminole area to get behind this new organization to make it a success.

Before any boy scout work can be organized in the area, he said, an institutional representative and three members to form a board of directors are needed.

Residents Complain About Water

MONA GRINSTEAD
North Orlando's Council, meeting Tuesday, heard complaints on the Village Water Dept. when a resident reported that he did not have sufficient pressure at his home during the afternoon hours to take a shower.

Mayor Frank Fasula said that the maintenance crew, answering a 9:30 a.m. call a short time ago, found that a valve had been turned off. This, he said, was a deliberate act and could not have been the work of a child.

The resident was advised that an investigation would be made. In other business, W. W. Anderson, president of the North Orlando Civic Assn., told the council that a neighboring nursery has offered to return, in plants and shrubs, to the North Orlando account, five per cent of all purchase made by local residents. Civic Assn. members will take care of planting the donations and the Garden Club will handle details of selections, records and other items.

Anderson also reported that The First Baptist Church of Orlando, sponsors of the local Chapel, wishes to buy or rent a home in the community to hold services. He made reports on all ball teams sponsored by the association and Bob Stephenson, chief of the Fire Dept. which also serves as a recreation department, reported on Little League activities. The age limit has been lowered to include all boys who are seven years old, he said noting that 68 youngsters reported for play during the first meeting.

SIGNING PROCLAMATION declaring National Home Demonstration Week, April 30 through May 6, is Sanford Mayor Joe Baker while Mrs. H. L. Johnson, County Council president and Miss Myrtle Wilson, county agent, look on approvingly. (Herald Photo)

Lormann Plans Request On Rail Ordinance In Town

Longwood Mayor A. R. Lormann said this morning that he will request the council at its 8 p. m. meeting in Town Hall today, to pass an ordinance which would regulate railroad traffic through the town.

A number of accidents have occurred at the crossings within the last few years, Lormann said, and he feels that some control of the speeding trains is necessary since the crossings are in such poor condition.

Longwood Sets Pre-School Event

Longwood Elementary's pre-school orientation and registration will be held at the school next Thursday.

All children who will be six years of age before January and who now reside or will reside in the attendance area of the school are asked to report with their parents at 9:30 a. m.

No child will be registered without a birth certificate or other legal proof of his birthday. The briefing of parents and a simple program for the children will be concluded at 11 a. m.

The county school nurse will meet with mothers who are interested in serving as clinic workers from 1 p. m. until 3 p. m. All mothers who are interested in the clinic program are urged to attend the meeting when the nurse will brief them on duties and explain the purpose of the clinic.

Son Of Sanford Family Back From SS Hope Duty

Dr. Walter Haynes, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Haynes of Sanford, is back at his Columbus, Ohio office after his tour aboard the American hospital ship, SS Hope, and in the jungles of Indonesia.

Dr. Haynes tour took him to some of the most primitive countries in the world, inhabited by headhunters and other wild native people. He left the U. S. in January and went to Makassar, in Southern Celebes, Ambon and Kupang on Timor.

Dr. Haynes is convinced that the ship and his mission are an aid to American diplomacy. "This shows to people on the personal level that we are human beings . . . that capitalism and the American people who are capitalists have a humanitarian side," Dr. Haynes is quoted as saying. Doctors who serve aboard the ship go as unpaid volunteers, and the ship and supplies are supported by voluntary contributions. In referring to the Indonesian people, Dr. Haynes said, "It is hard for them to realize that it is not the government but the American people who are doing this directly."

Primary mission of the Hope ship is as a teaching center, to help the local medical practitioners to observe new methods

First U.S. Astronaut Space Flight A 'Success'

'A Beautiful View'

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—Astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. flew jauntily into space aboard a Mercury capsule at 9:34 a. m. today and reported "everything okay" after a smooth landing at sea a few minutes later.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration jubilantly pronounced the flight "a success"

It was the first time an American had gone into space and it was the first time in history that anybody of any nationality had had brief control over the motions of a spacecraft.

A helicopter plucked the capsule from the Atlantic waters and placed it on the deck of the carrier USS Lake Champlain.

Shepard climbed from the capsule as soon as it was opened—then went back inside to get his helmet.

Shepard was plucked out of the water by helicopter at 9:56 a. m. and a few minutes later was put down on the deck of the Lake Champlain, main ship of the down-range recovery fleet.

Shepard was in constant radio communication with the Mercury control center here or with the recovery forces throughout his historic flight.

Alan Shepard

Hundreds lined First St. in downtown Sanford this morning watching to see Astronaut Alan Shepard's space rocket blasted from the pad at Cape Canaveral at 9:34 a. m.

Watchers could see the vapor trail passing in and out of the banks of clouds as the first American pioneered his way into outer space and back, safely, in full control of the capsule all the time.

Up and down the street, cries of "God Bless him!" and "There he goes!" could be heard, as every eye was glued to the sky and ears to portable radios.

His first reported words 200 seconds after liftoff, were "what a beautiful view." He could see the curving earth north to Cape Hatteras, N. C., he reported.

As he climbed out of the helicopter aboard the carrier, 30 minutes after he left the launching pad, the word from the recovery ship was that "he is under his own power and doing very well."

The space agency announced at 10:10 a. m.:

"A Project Mercury spacecraft carrying astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr., on the nation's first manned space flight landed in the Atlantic Ocean about 302 statute miles from here at 9:49 a. m.

"The craft reached an altitude of about 115 statute miles and a speed of approximately 5,100 miles an hour. The suborbital flight of the Mercury-Redstone 3 required 15 minutes. Preliminary data indicates the pilot performed satisfactorily during the flight."

Shepard had sweated out a wait of three hours and 27 minutes on his back in the capsule atop the Redstone before the launching.

Shot time had been planned for about 7 a. m. and the final countdown had started at midnight. But seven "holds" in a little more than 9½ hours delayed the launch.

The 37-year-old Navy commander had been sealed in the capsule since 6:07 a. m.

At the zero second, smoke belched from the rocket's big nose, and the space vehicle rose slowly, majestically into a bright blue sky. Even in the intense sunshine, the flame from the rocket's tail shone a bright orange.

Gradually the rocket gained speed, its engines still flaming. Then, as it hit the stratosphere a snow-white condensation trail streamed off behind. It passed quickly through the condensation zone, and high winds aloft spun the vapor trail into a cork-screw shape.

Seconds later the vehicle faded to a dot in the sky, then disappeared.

People on the beach cheered. Many remained, talking, long after the rocket had gone out of view.

The tough, 160-pound astronaut landed the space trail for America on a shock-absorbing contour couch in a cramped cabin smaller than a telephone booth.

He had been training for this day for more than two years. He had risen shortly after 2 a. m. after a 2½-hour nap.

About 200 persons were at the pad, looking at the white rocket, gleaming in the beams of four banks of searchlights.

Zoners Ask Joint City Meet To Avoid 'Break'

In an effort to avoid an open break with the City Commission, the Zoning and Planning Board Thursday authorized Chairman Clifford McKibbin to set up a joint meeting with both boards to "discuss the concepts of zoning."

Two weeks ago, the City Commission agreed to hold a public hearing May 8 on changing property at Elm Ave. at 26th St. from residential to commercial.

Although the zoning board had opposed the move, the city group said they saw no objections to the zoning change and called for the public hearing.

Zoning board member Robert Karns called for the joint meeting to discuss zoning and "see that we are agreed on the same thoughts about zoning or, 'the city commission might as well get a new zoning board."

In other business, the board set May 18 to meet with Police Chief Roy Williams to discuss one way streets in the downtown area for cross traffic flow.

Approved subdivision regulations as recommended by City Planner George Simons and gave its "unofficial" approval to Simons' supplementary plan for the city.

He said that the poor condition of crossings and the speed and length of trains passing through shows "that the company has utter disrespect for the town."

He called condition of rights of ways "disgraceful" and said that the council "owes it to the people to enforce a regulation with fines or jail sentences for violators."

"I'll see that it's enforced if you pass it," he assured.

Council, after considerable discussion, voted to refer to an ordinance drawn, but never passed, several years ago before turning the matter over to the attorney for further action.

Project Engineer Named For SR 427

The Altamonte Springs Town Council has appointed Maitland Engineer Henry Hammond Duval to work with County Engineer Carlton Elias on proposed road changes on SR 427 (Maitland Ave.) through the town limits.

Estimated cost on the project which would mean reclassifying the road is expected to be about $100,000.

At a joint meeting of the county commission and town council two weeks ago, a decision was reached to have two engineers come up with recommendations on road changes and present them to the State Road Department.

The commission has gone on record favoring the changes—only if the cost can be held to a minimum.

NAS Helicopters Hunt Missing Man

A 37 year old man, Lester John Lyon, who lived in Taft has been the subject of an intensive land, water and air search since his empty car was discovered at Rock Springs April 26.

Navy helicopters from the Sanford NAS and Air Force helicopters have combed the area adjacent to Rock Springs and divers have searched the waters and canyons without avail.

Lyon's brother, Lynn Lyons lives in Sanford, and asks that anyone having any possible knowledge of the whereabouts of the missing man, notify the Seminole County Sheriff's Dept.

"I'll see that it's enforced if you pass it," he assured.

Council, after considerable discussion, voted to refer to an ordinance drawn, but never passed, several years ago before turning the matter over to the attorney for further action.

Kennedy Prepared To Send U.S. Troops To Viet Nam If Necessary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today was believed prepared to send U. S. troops to South Viet Nam if necessary to save that country from Communist conquest.

Chairman William Fulbright (D-Ark.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said Thursday night, after conferring with the President, that he thought Kennedy would be willing to commit American forces to prevent the fall of the pro-Western government. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Thursday the President was increasing military aid to South Viet Nam. His statement came as American officials sought by diplomatic means to salvage something from the disaster in neighboring Laos.

Fulbright said he would approve sending U. S. troops to South Viet Nam on a temporary basis provided the free Vietnamese favored such action and were willing to fight.

The Senate leader's support was seen as significant since he had opposed sending U. S. troops into neighboring Laos when hopes for a cease-fire there seemed dim.

Fulbright stopped short of endorsing any long-term commitment of U. S. forces to South Viet Nam or Thailand. He said he would want assurance first that India and Japan would take a more active military role in the situation.

The senator said he and Kennedy did not discuss the Laotian crisis. Asked whether he was writing off Laos, Fulbright said he would not like to "say that too bluntly."

"They're still negotiating for a cease-fire, and they may be able to get a government that is neutral," he said.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today signed into law a bill to increase the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour and extend its coverage to 3.6 million additional workers.

The signing climaxed a major legislative victory for Kennedy who almost suffered defeat on the proposal in the House.

The law will mean pay increases for an estimated 2.5 million employees on Sept. 8 — the day after Labor Day. The minimum will go up to $1.13 at that time for workers already covered by the wage-hour law.

Congressional leaders and a large delegation of union officials, led by AFL-CIO President George Meany, witnessed the ceremony in the President's office.

"This doesn't finish the job, but it's a most important step forward," Kennedy said. "We can move from this improvement into greater gains in the months and years ahead."

The President used 20 pens to sign the bill and passed them around to the union and congressional leaders.

Jaycees Finishing Up Park Project

The Sanford-Seminole Jaycees are putting the finishing touches to their Crystal Lake Park project in preparation for Monday's grand opening.

City, County and Chamber of Commerce officials have been invited to meet with the Jaycees at the new recreation area for dedication ceremonies at 11 a. m. Monday.

During the past four months, groups of from five to fifteen Jaycees have put in six or seven hours each Saturday on the park building complete rest room facilities for men and women and several convenient picnic tables, completely sheltered from the weather.

A well has been dug to provide fresh water for drinking and for the restrooms and the entire area has been fenced and grass seed has been sown, to enhance the pleasant aspect of the picnic areas.

Lake Crystal is a sand-bottom, spring fed lake, with a gently sloping beach, located in the Lake Mary community.

Weekend Truce Called In Redistricting Fight

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A weekend truce has been called in the legislative fight to redistrict Florida for four new congressmen authorized by the 1960 census.

If anything, the lawmakers are farther from agreement now than they were when the Legislature convened. That fact emerged from a Senate Committee meeting Thursday.

Eight South Florida senators combined forces to oppose the committee's tentative plan to reshuffle the counties in their areas.

The group, led by freshman Sen. Ted David of Hollywood, produced its own plan for redistricting the 30 southernmost counties.

There isn't any agreement in North Florida either. A group of senators charged with dividing up 14 north and north-central counties into two congressional districts reported they had been unable to get together on a proposal so far.

Further complicating the picture was an entirely new redistricting plan offered by Sen. B. C. Pearce of Palatka.

Things got so muddled during the discussion that Pearce and Sen. Charley Johns of Starke threw up their hands and suggested the Legislature step aside and let the voters elect the four new congressmen in 1963 from the state at large.

The fight will be renewed Monday when the Senate committee is scheduled to come forth with a decision, if it can reach one.

Damage to the home was set at $100 and $800 to the car. Bremer told police his brakes failed when the accident occurred.

Lawmakers Near Hour Of Decision

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Florida's lawmakers rapidly approached today the hour of decision on whether to vote new taxes.

The Legislature was confronted on one hand by school teachers demanding more pay, and on the other by Gov. Farris Bryant sternly sticking to his campaign pledge that no new taxes are necessary.

Further complicating the Legislature's money problems was the plight of many counties which have failed to carry out their part in the state-ordered reassessment of property at near real cash value.

These counties were asking emergency financial relief from the state to meet their money commitments under the minimum foundation program to decide whether the state should come to the rescue of the delinquent counties.

The teacher pay raise question will headline the legislative proceedings early next week. Rep. William O'Neill of Marion County said Thursday night he would have his Public Schools Subcommittee open a public hearing on the question sometime between Monday and Wednesday.
