Ex-Cincinnati Reds Pitcher Up To Bat As Golden Age Games Honorary Chairman

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Retired Major League Baseball player Jack Billingham, 42, of Winter Park, will be the honorary chairman of the 11th annual Golden Age Games. Billingham pitched in three World Series for the Cincinnati Reds.

His selection was announced by Jack Horner, president of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, which co-sponsors the Games.

Billingham, who is a lot shyer about speaking in public than he was at pitching to the opposing batters before roaring crowds of fans, will be on hand to open the Games Monday at the 9 a.m. ceremonies at Sanford City Hall.

The event for men and women 55 and older will continue through Saturday, Nov. 9. Applications and schedules may be picked up at the chamber office at 400 E. First St.

"I was working at my dad's filling station in Winter Park when this guy drives up for a fill up and asked me if I'd like to play for the Dodgers," Billingham said.

He was later traded in an expansion draft to Montreal, but never played because he was traded to the Houston Astros during spring training. He pitched three years for the Astros before being traded to Cincinnati's Big Red Machine in 1972. It was there that he really made a

Water Rate Hikes Readied; No Building Code Reprieves

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Preliminary approval has been granted the considerable water and sewer rate increases the city commission has proposed to assist the financing of Sanford's wastewater management program. The commissioners also agreed at last night's meeting to look into the possibility of alleviating the measure's impact, after several residents described the difficulties they would have paying the higher rates.

In other business, the commission backed off on a plan to give extensions for owners of multiple dwellings and converted older homes to meet building codes.

The commission agreed that the owners of older multiple-dwellings will have to adhere to the letter of the law by bringing their structures up to compliance with the city's building code requirements.

The increased safety measures, which include the installation of fire walls and additional lighting, were adopted by the city commission two years ago.

Now, with the Oct. 24 compliance deadline past, owners who have not already met these standards will have to undertake "forthwith compliance," the city commission said.

Citizens who spoke up at the meeting complained that the regulations should be strictly enforced. At last week's work session the commission had discussed the possibility of hearing waiver and extension requests on a case by case basis rather than have violations automatically go to the code enforcement board.

The city code enforcement board can level a $250 fine for each day the owners are not in compliance, according to William Colbert, city attorney. If owners remained in violation for an extended period and after due process had been granted, the city could assess the fine total against the property and ultimately become its owner, Colbert said.

The water rate increases, which range from 55 to 98 percent for residents and 40 to 300 percent for commercial users, could be implemented as soon as Dec. 1, according to City Manager Frank Faison. Faison said anything less than the revenues generated by these rates would provide insufficient funds for the city to float the $25-million bond it has deemed necessary to cover wastewater management program costs.

Faison said the new rates, in combination with the increased fees for builders to hook into the Sanford system, will "show our ability to pay back the bond," which he said is necessary prior to its issuance.

Commissioner David Farr offered the motion for preliminary approval of the increase, but after its passage also proposed the commission "spend the next two weeks trying to see if there is any possible way to soften the blow."

The "blow" alluded to by Farr will, according to those attending the meeting, have a severe impact on their livelihoods. George Vogel, who said he was attending as representative of the city's coin laundries owners told the commissioners "at least one or two" of these businesses would be forced to close under the proposed rate structure. He also said laundry users could expect hikes in washing machine fees.

Suzanne Evans, manager of the Georgia Arms subsidized apartments, said paying the increase "will have to come from our operating expenses." Her apartment residents would be affected by this, she said, because "we'll have to cut corners in other ways."

Rena Genies, co-owner of the Franklin Arms Apartments, said "it will be very, very difficult to handle the increase." She said because of leases, "we can't raise rents to cover the additional expense," and added that "all of Sanford's small businesses will be hurt."

D. Hunter, owner of the Hunter Ice Company said because "water is the only thing we use," his business would be radically affected by the increase "and we don't think it's fair."

No DUI

'He Did Not Look Drunk'

Deane Jordan

An Orlando man will not be prosecuted in Seminole Circuit Court for DUI manslaughter because, while the State Attorney's office could probably prove the man had been drinking, it was doubtful there was enough evidence to prove the man was drunk at the time of the accident, a necessary element for conviction, said the prosecutor on the case.

Instead of prosecution, Burl Owens, 29, of 6117 Oak Crest Circle, has pleaded no contest to a lesser charge of driving while intoxicated with accident, a first-degree misdemeanor punishable by a year in the county jail. The maximum sentence for driving under the

Communist Aid In Kidnapping 'Encouraging'

From Staff And Wire Reports

New Tribes Mission foreign secretary H. Mel Wyma said today from the organization's Sanford headquarters he is "encouraged" by efforts the Colombian Communist Party is taking to free the three New Tribes missionaries held hostage by leftist rebels since Oct. 5.

Communist Party leader Alberto Rojas Puyo Monday asked the Colombian Revolutionary Armed Forces, FARC, to release Steve Estelle, 34, Tim Cain, 34, and his wife, Bunny, 33. The three were kidnapped along with Paul Dye, 45, who escaped four days later.

"As a militant revolutionary, I make an urgent call to the members of the first front of the FARC that ... they free (the hostages) without demanding ransom," Rojas Puyo said.

According to Wyma, a meeting to specifically address the hostages' release has been scheduled today by Colombia's "peace committee," which he said is made up of representatives of the Colombian government and rebel groups.

"If FARC representatives are not among those attending the meeting, the message will be gotten to them," Wyma said. "We're taking every avenue we can to get our people out safely."

Four guerrillas armed with machine guns seized the four Oct. 5 at a landing strip in eastern Colombia's Morichal-Viejo. Estelle and Dye flew into the region to pick up the Cains, who were ill and planning to seek treatment in the United States. Wyma said all four of those involved had been at Sanford headquarters prior to their joining the approximately 85 New Tribes missionaries currently serving in Colombia. Wyma said Monday New Tribes will not pay the rebels demand of $130,000 in ransom for the release of Bunny Cain. The demand was sent to New Tribes' Colombian headquarters on Oct. 13 and also stated the FARC was unwilling to negotiate for the release of Cain and Estelle, Wyma said.

There has been no word on the fate of the three hostages, he added.

"We hope they're hanging in there," Wyma said. "We have nothing to go on as far as whether they are alive. We're just hoping to hear that they're free."

Wyma said the New Tribes has 1,900 missionaries working throughout the world and follows a doctrine similar to the Baptist faith.

The FARC was one of four rebel groups to sign a cease-fire with the government in May 1984. Under the agreement, the rebels pledged not to resort to kidnapping, extortion or other guerrilla tactics.

It's His Day

Lake Mary High School Senior Christopher Jones shakes hands with Longwood City attorney Gerald Korman after it was proclaimed Christopher Jones day in the city Monday. Jones, who plays the baritone horn for Lake Mary High School Band, is one of two musicians selected from the state to play in McDonald's All-American High School Band in Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade and others. The 17-year-old son of Larry and Alice Jones, Longwood, Christopher has an identical twin, David, who plays the trumpet with the Lake Mary Band.

School Board Divided On Doctors' AIDS Advice

By Jim Bearis
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County school board members are divided on what the board's policy should be on students or teachers with AIDS, following release of a Florida Medical Association position paper which indicated those afflicted with AIDS should be kept out of the classroom.

School Board member William Kroll said he thinks action should first come from the state.

"If anything is to take place with an AIDS policy in the school system," Kroll said, "it should come from the Department of Education in Tallahassee and be supplemented by the local school boards, rather than have individual boards make that decision."

Kroll said he knew nothing of the medical association's position paper. He said he favored a "wait and see" attitude.

"I can't see making policy about something before it becomes a problem," he said. But board member Joseph Williams, Jr., said, "I would not like to wait until something happens and then have to react to it."

Earlier this school year, Dade County public school officials decided to segregate three young girls with AIDS, Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, rather than permit them to learn in a classroom with other children.

"We felt we could not jeopardize the health of other students," said Sonny Gross, Dade County superintendent for student support programs. "The community was pretty loud and clear — 'If you put them in school, we'll take our children out.'"

In Pinellas County school and health officials said AIDS should be handled like any other contagious disease and that they would follow state recommendations as well as new federal guidelines.

On Aug. 30 the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta issued guidelines on how to deal with AIDS in the school system. The CDC message was underscored by the following statement: "Based on current evidence, casual person-to-person contact, as would occur amongst school children, appears to pose no risk."

Seminole County Superintendent of Schools Bob Hughes does not think AIDS is a problem in this area, at the present time, and won't comment on the possibility of a school policy on AIDS until it needs to be addressed as a problem in the school system.

"We plan to deal with problems of communicable diseases by processing them through normal channels," Hughes said. Although there have been no confirmed AIDS cases in the school system, Hughes said he is concerned about the possibility.

"AIDS is a mind boggling problem for a large school system such as ours," he said.

"We feel there are adequate policies already in place and we would like to handle each case on an individual basis," Hughes said. "Our health coordinator, Marion Snell would assume the responsibility of supervising a physical exam."

AIDS is a disease that attacks the immune system. It is usually fatal. "We really don't have a policy concerning AIDS in schools," Mrs.

Task Force On AIDS Begins Work

TAMPA (UPI) — A task force of medical experts, facing a rapid increase in the number of cases of acquired immune deficiency syndrome in Florida, is working to draft recommendations to help Gov. Bob Graham formulate a state policy in handling the crisis.

The nine-member panel met for the first time Sunday and has 60 days in which to come up with its recommendations to the governor, who will use them as the basis for drafting a state AIDS policy to present to the 1986 Legislature.

The experts agreed Sunday

Hospitalized Soviet Seaman Questioned On Defection

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A Soviet sailor who hurled himself into the Mississippi River last week, apparently trying to defect, was taken ashore for medical attention by U.S. officials after showing "signs of illness" during interviews aboard a Coast Guard cutter.

State Department spokeswoman Anita Stockman issued a statement Monday night saying Soviet representatives had accompanied Miroslav Medvid to an undisclosed medical facility where he is resting.

"Soviet seaman Medvid was interviewed by representatives of the State Department and the Immigration and Naturalization Service aboard the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Salvia the evening of Oct. 28," Stockman said. "After demonstrating signs of illness, Medvid has been removed to a nearby U.S. government facility to recover."

U.S. officials earlier announced they had removed Medvid from the M.V. Marshal Konyev to determine if he wanted to stay in this nation or return to his native country.

Grand Jury Foreman Ousted

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The foreman of the county grand jury was removed during a squabble with the district attorney over whether to re-open the investigation into the death of Marilyn Monroe, whose demise 23 years ago was twice ruled a suicide.

Foreman Sam Cordova said his removal Monday was "a cross power play ... over his call for a special prosecutor to look into Monroe's death, and added, "I'm scared for myself and my family."

District Attorney Ira Reiner said Cordova had agreed last week to be removed and a Monday news conference calling for another probe into Monroe's death was the "swan song" of a foreman whose colleagues had asked for his ouster.

Reiner said Cordova was removed by Superior Court Judge Robert Devich at the request of other jurors because of abuses of the position of foreman, including making personal statements about the Monroe case on behalf of the entire grand jury.

Gun Control Hearings Begin

NEW YORK (UPI) — Changing the federal gun control law could make it easier for the "John Hinkleys of this world" to act out their distorted visions, the wife of former White House press secretary James Brady says.

Sarah Brady, whose husband was shot in the head by Hinckley during the March 1981 assassination attempt on President Reagan, testified Monday before the House Judiciary Committee, headed by Rep. Bill Hughes, D-N.J.

Proposed legislation would make the first major changes in federal gun laws since 1968 and would allow a buyer from one state to travel to another state to buy a gun from a dealer as long as the sale did not violate the laws of either state. No waiting or "cooling off" period would apply.

International Shuttle Crew Set For Challenger Shot Tomorrow

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Engineers worked through the night readying the shuttle Challenger for blastoff Wednesday with a record international crew of eight on a historic Spacelab science mission chartered by West Germany.

The 22nd shuttle voyage represents an increasing European presence in manned space activities and is seen as a major step toward European participation in NASA's planned space station in the 1990s.

Challenger's precisely timed countdown began on time yesterday and, if all goes well, the spaceship will thunder aloft on its ninth flight at noon Wednesday.

Acceptable weather is expected at launch time but there is a chance for rain and thundershowers in the area. Landing is scheduled for Nov. 6 at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

Eight Injured By Juan's Twisters

PENSACOLA (UPI) — At least eight people were injured in three northwest Florida counties when a rash of tornadoes triggered by Hurricane Juan blew away roofs and walls and scattered vehicles.

Witnesses reported four tornadoes Monday in the Wedgewood community six miles north of Pensacola. Two more tornadoes were reported later in Okaloosa and Walton counties.

The National Weather Service said at least three tornadoes struck Walton, Okaloosa and Escambia counties. The weather service said it was possible more than one hit Escambia's Wedgewood area, where three people were injured and 40 homes and businesses damaged or destroyed.

Okaloosa County civil defense spokesman Joe Hunt estimated the twister caused $450,000 in damages to homes and $400,000 in damages to the motels. He said parked cars were scattered and two United Parcel Service trucks were overturned on U.S. 98.

Hurricane Juan Soaks Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Hurricane Juan crashed ashore in Louisiana today for the second straight day, battering the flat bayou country with 85-mph winds and torrential rainfall. The Coast Guard returned to offshore oil fields to look for workers stranded by the storm's run through the gulf.

At least three people have been killed by Juan and three are missing.

Juan, the third hurricane to hit the state this year, came in south of Baton Rouge and New Orleans. Officials in Louisiana's Jefferson Parish were appealing on New Orleans radio stations for volunteers to help sandbag the levees that contain the powerful Mississippi River and various bayous.

Coast Guard rescuers resumed searching the Gulf of Mexico at daybreak today after plucking more than 150 oil rig workers and sailors Monday from violent seas churned by the storm, which caught many offshore interests by surprise.

Parts of the Louisiana coast were awash with tides 5 to 8 feet above normal, and tides 3 to 5 feet higher than usual were pounding the Alabama and Mississippi coastline. Southeastern Louisiana University in Hammond and the University of New Orleans were closed for the day.

At least three people have been killed and three are missing in Louisiana from the storm, and thousands have been forced to evacuate.

At 7 a.m. EST, the storm's center was near latitude 29.5 north and longitude 91 west, or about 60 miles southwest of New Orleans.

National Weather Service trackers said Juan, bearing slightly more to the northeast, was moving sluggishly at between 5 and 10 mph. Movement for the next few hours likely would be erratic, the service said.

Hurricane warnings were flying from east of Port Arthur, Texas, to Mobile, Ala. Gale warnings were posted from the Port Arthur area southwest to Brownsville, Texas, as well as from east of Mobile to Apalachicola, Fla.

Maximum sustained winds remained near 85 mph, mainly over the water in squalls south of the storm's eye.

Juan first hit the mainland south of Lake Charles Monday morning but then its steering currents weakened and it drifted west, parallel with the coast,

Israel Seeks Peace Talks

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israel's parliament gave Prime Minister Shimon Peres an overwhelming vote of confidence Monday, approving by 68-10 an endorsement of his U.N. proposal for peace talks with Jordan and an end to a state of war.

Peres came under fire from right-wing Cabinet ministers over his speech to the United Nations last week, in which he called for peace talks with Jordan by year's end and a lifting of a state of war that has existed between the two nations since Israel was formed in 1948.

The Knesset voted 68 to 10 with 10 abstentions to approve his peace initiative.

All of the ministers of the right-wing Likud bloc, who are members of the national unity government together with Peres' Labor Party, voted in favor of Peres' initiative. They had earlier criticized the idea.

"I stand by every word I said at the United Nations," Peres told the Knesset, Israel's parliament, before the vote.

The no-confidence vote was forced by the ultra-nationalist Tehiya Party, which has just five deputies in the 120-member Israeli parliament and opposes giving up any Israeli-occupied Arab territory in return for peace. Israel seized the West Bank, the Gaza Strip and the Golan Heights in the 1967 Arab-Israeli war and annexed the Golan Heights in 1981.

Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir, who heads the Likud bloc, had urged the Likud to endorse Peres' speech, although it lacked "precisely what we would have said."

"We have no reason to bring down the government because of this statement," he told a party caucus. The Likud bloc and its rival, the Labor alignment, came together in a coalition government after 1984 elections resulted in a parliamentary stalemate.

Peres' U.N. speech was interpreted as suggesting the Soviet Union, as a permanent member of the Security Council, be included in an international conference on Middle East peace — a key demand of Arab countries.

But in his Knesset address Monday, Peres appeared to close the door on Soviet participation.

He said any such international forum could not include nations that did not maintain diplomatic relations with Israel, which would rule out the Soviet Union.

He also said, "Peace talks can only include delegates who support peace and peace talks without preconditions. This automatically rules out ... the PLO." Peres did not explicitly exclude the Palestine Liberation Organization in his U.N. speech.

"The international forum under discussion can be limited, for example, to a Jordanian-Israeli or Jordanian-Palestinian-Israeli meeting without the PLO, with the participation of the United States," Peres said.

"I call on King Hussein that we continue to work together in order not to miss the opportunity that has been created," Peres said.

"I call on the Palestinians not to be led astray by the glitter of terrorism, and to seize the chance for a fair and realistic solution."

JAL In Shake-Up, Top Executives Out

TOKYO (UPI) — Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone confirmed Monday he has ordered a shakeup of Japan Air Lines' top management, saying bad management-labor relations contributed to aviation history's worst single-plane disaster in August.

A Boeing 747 jumbo jet on a domestic flight with 524 passengers and crew aboard slammed into the side of a mountain north of Tokyo Aug. 12, killing all but four people.

"Bad relations between the management and labor have caused the morale of employees to decline, and this was partly responsible for the crash," Nakasone told reporters.

"By taking into account problems facing JAL and bereaved families of the victims, I thought it would be better to implement a full-scale reshuffling," he said.

Nakasone met with Transport Minister Tokuo Yamashita on Sunday but details of that discussion have not been disclosed.

Government sources said the reshuffle — which will involve replacing JAL's two top executives — is expected to be approved at a Cabinet session today at the earliest with the change taking place in December.

Susumu Yamaji, a JAL adviser, has been picked as the company's new president to succeed Yasumoto Takagi, the sources said.

After the disaster, Takagi said he would step down.

Yamaji, 60 joined JAL as an adviser in June after serving as administrative vice minister of the Management and Coordination Agency under Nakasone's direct command.

Yamaji — who told reporters Sunday he had not been informed of his choice — said his first major task as new JAL executive will be to settle compensation payments to the relatives of the victims.

The decision to change the airline's management team came several days after JAL sponsored memorial services for the victims in Tokyo and Osaka. Airline officials joined thousands of bereaved families and relatives in paying tribute to the victims last week.

The planes manufacturer, the Boeing Co. in Seattle, has admitted making faulty repairs on the plane and has offered to share equally in the compensation payments, although the amount of payments has not been made known.

The management reshuffle is designed to pave the way for JAL's smooth transition to a totally private company.

JAL is 39.9 percent owned by the government and allowed to operate regular service overseas as Japan's only national flag carrier.

Jarvik-7 Recipient Gets Human Heart

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A man who lived five days with a Jarvik-7 artificial heart received a human heart Monday in a 3 1/2-hour transplant operation that left his family "relieved and encouraged."

In Hershey, Pa., meanwhile, Penn State artificial heart recipient Anthony Mandia was upgraded from critical to serious. Doctors said they located a donor heart for him but were unsure, pending further tests, whether it has the correct blood type.

In San Francisco, Richard Dallara had his first solid food, three days after being hooked to two Thoratec external artificial heart pumps.

Thomas Gaidosh, 47, was in critical condition following the transplant operation that began at 2:15 a.m., said a spokesman for Pittsburgh's Presbyterian-University Hospital. Critical condition is standard following heart implant surgery.

Hospital officials would not say where the donor heart was found for Gaidosh, a married father of two who lives in Sutersville, a Pittsburgh suburb.

"At this time, we are relieved and encouraged by what we are seeing and by the doctors' reports," said a statement issued by Gaidosh's family. "However, we realize there is a long road ahead, but we are very optimistic."

Gaidosh, who suffered from idiopathic cardiomyopathy, a heart muscle disease, had been a heart transplant candidate for a month.

He became the world's seventh Jarvik-7 recipient last Thursday, when doctors implanted the device to keep him alive until a suitable human heart was found.

Mandia, 44, of Philadelphia, became the first recipient of the Penn State heart in a life-saving Oct. 18 operation in Hershey, Pa. The heart is intended to keep Mandia alive until a donor heart is found for transplant.

Hershey Medical Center spokesman Dr. John Burnside, said Mandia's condition was upgraded Monday from critical and stable to serious and stable. Being fed intravenously, Mandia's only complaint was of hunger.

In a videotaped interview with hospital staffers, Mandia said, "I'd like to eat and get stronger, get a new heart and get out."

In San Francisco, Dallara, 33, ate oatmeal and grapefruit for breakfast, his first solid food since being connected to the pumps late Friday. A breathing tube was removed Sunday, allowing him to speak and take solid food.

Four Year Sentence In Lake Mary Burglary

A Longwood man who pleaded guilty to burglary and grand theft received a four year sentence Friday. He was one of five defendants whose cases were heard recently.

After the prison time, Matthew Howell Napier, 20, of 328 Ruth Blvd., must serve two years of community control, a form of in-house arrest.

Napier was sentenced by Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi. Napier pleaded guilty to the charges earlier this month.

Napier was arrested April 3 by Lake Mary Police after he and two juveniles fled a burglarized home at 299 Bradmoor Ave. The incident occurred about 4:30 a.m. and the trio was arrested at 11 a.m. Disposition of charges against the 12- and 15-year-old with Napier are not available because of their age. They were identified by witnesses who saw the burglars flee, a police report said.

After Napier was jailed, he was also charged with an April 2 burglary at 219 Teakwood Crossing, Lake Mary.

Napier and his young cohorts were reportedly looking for weapons.

At the time of Napier's arrest, he had served 6 months of 3 year's probation for a late 1983 burglary. Napier was arrested in that case when he went to the sheriff's department in an unrelated stolen car case and the deputy recognized the wallet Napier was using as stolen. Salfi was the judge in that case as well.

In other court action: —Marianna S. Huggins, 31, of 1290 Oklahoma St., Oviedo, arrested June 29 after tussling with a sheriff's deputy after a domestic dispute. According to a sheriff's report, Mrs. Huggins yanked the keys from her husband's car while they were driving and subsequently kicked deputy Janice Walthers when she was being arrested. Mrs. Huggins pleaded guilty to disorderly intoxication and battery. She could receive up to a year in the county jail when sentenced Dec. 6 by Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor.

—Mario Larue Jones, 18, of 317 Teakwood Lane, Altamonte Springs, arrested Feb. 12 on charge of dealing in stolen property — a $15 radar detector — was sentenced by Salfi to 10 months in the county jail and given credit for 69 days already served.

—Robert Russell Olin, 53, of Orlando, arrested March 22 on charges of forgery, uttering a forged instrument and dealing in stolen property. Olin's arrest followed his presentation of a stolen credit card at a Longwood store to buy some items. He was sentenced by Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Leffler to 4 years in prison with credit for 127 days served. He was also placed on 5 years probation and ordered to pay $1,146.75 restitution.

—Glen Alan Stoner, 28, of 312 Graham Circle, Oviedo, arrested April 16 after reportedly punching a deputy who was trying to arrest him in connection with possession of cocaine, marijuana and drug paraphernalia. He was sentenced by Leffler to a year in the county jail.

Walker Gets Life; Son Faces 25 Years

BALTIMORE (UPI) — John Walker, mastermind of one of the most damaging spy rings since the beginning of the Cold War, will get life in prison as part of a deal with the government Monday that gave his son a lighter sentence for his role in spying for the Soviets.

The elder Walker, a retired naval communications expert, pleaded guilty to three counts of espionage, including a new indictment that accused him of 20 covert acts of spying between 1968 and 1985. Walker's son, Michael, quietly pleaded guilty to five similar counts.

In return for a 25-year sentence for Michael Walker, the father and son agreed to cooperate fully with the government — including testifying against Jerry Whitworth, another former Navy man, at his spy trial in California.

John Walker's lawyer, public defender Fred Bennett, said the Soviet spy accepted a life term so his son can someday be free.

"John Walker loves his son very much," Bennett said. "He is more concerned for his son's future than for his own."

John Walker will be eligible for parole in 10 years, but Bennett acknowledged that he probably would spend the rest of his life behind bars. But, Bennett said, "Michael will be out of jail before his 40th birthday." Actually Michael is eligible for parole in eight years.

Under the agreement, approved by Judge Alexander Harvey II, the Walkers also will reveal complete details of their spying efforts to help the government assess how damaging the secrets the Russians received were to America's naval operations, particularly its submarine network.

Although Harvey approved the deal, he will not sentence the Walkers until they cooperate with government inquiries into John Walker's activities. Bennett said sentencing could be conducted in four to six months.

The fourth member of the spy ring, John Walker's brother, Arthur, 50, also a retired Navy officer, was convicted in August of stealing secret documents from his employer, a Virginia defense contractor. He is awaiting sentencing.

Investigators say John Walker and the ring members obtained information from the world's largest Naval base in Norfolk, Va., and Navy installations on the West Coast where Whitworth lives. They also say John Walker went as far as Vienna and Hong Kong to meet Soviet contacts.

Officials have characterized the ring as the most damaging to U.S. security in 30 years.

John Walker, 48, pleaded guilty to three counts of espionage and will receive two life terms plus 10 years to run concurrently. He faced more than $500,000 in fines, but will pay only $100 in court costs. The government dropped a pending income tax evasion case.

Michael Walker, 22, who also faced life in jail, pleaded guilty to five counts of espionage and will receive 25 years plus four 10 year terms, also concurrently. He faced fines of $1 million. A possible court marshal was dropped against Michael, a sailor on the aircraft carrier Nimitz.

The senior Walker smiled broadly as he stood before Harvey and said "yes," when asked if he understood the charge.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Michael Schatzow said the government accepted the guilty pleas because it needed to know "what was broken and what must be fixed" as a result of the stream of secrets Walker provided the Soviets.

"The only thing we had to offer Mr. Walker was something for his son," Schatzow said.

The plea agreement referred repeatedly to Aleksey Tkachenko, a vice consul at the Soviet Embassy in Washington, who was identified as Walker's primary contact. The indictment said Walker and the Soviet official met between 1968 and this year so Walker could pass information.

In accepting the plea agreement, Harvey said there were "exceptional circumstances in this case" and added: "The significant aspect of this agreement is the full and frank cooperation that the defendant, John Walker, has agreed to extend to the government."

John Walker was impassive, answering Harvey in a quiet, polite voice.

Michael Walker, with his hair cut sailor short, appeared a bit nervous but also answered questions politely, responding "yes, sir," or "no, sir."

When Harvey asked John Walker if he had been under any pressure to sign the agreement, he responded "not at all."

Michael Walker's wife, Rachel, sat two rows behind him and appeared near tears as the agreement was read. He never turned to look at her.

The beginning of the end for John Walker, who began a career as a private detective in Norfolk after retiring from the Navy in 1976, apparently was rooted in a family quarrel.

Walker's former wife, Barbara, was angered when daughter Laura said her husband was threatening to turn in the accused mastermind if Laura Walker sued for custody of their young son.

Schatzow gave a step-by-step recitation of how John Walker entered the espionage business to prop up a failing bar he owned in South Carolina. He told the court how in 1968 Barbara Walker searched her husband's desk and found $2,000 in cash, along with photographs and maps that indicated he was involved in espionage.

No Sweat For Koch

New York's Mayoral Race Dull

By Mark Mooney

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mayor Edward Koch has run a quiet race for re-election and has not had to work up much of a sweat since his victory in the Democratic primary.

New Yorkers go to the polls on Nov. 5, but Koch's landslide victory in the September primary over his main challenger, City Council President Carol Bellamy, was tantamount to re-election in the overwhelmingly Democratic city.

Bellamy remains on the ballot as the Liberal Party candidate, but has ended her spirited drive following her defeat in the primary.

Almost all of the record $6 million Koch has spent in his bid for a third term was spent during the primary.

In addition to Bellamy, Koch faces a challenge from Republican candidate Diane McGrath, restaurant owner and political neophyte Gilbert DiLucia, Right to Life candidate Lew Levin, New Alliance Party candidate Lenora Fulani, Spartacist Party candidate Marjorie Stamberg, Jarvis Tyler of the People Before Profits Party, and Andrea Gonzalez of the Socialist Workers Party.

The Republicans nominated Koch in the last mayoral election.

McGrath, who is a member of the Crime Victims Compensation Board, has held a series of minor posts in the campaigns of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, Sen. Alfonse D'Amato and in her husband Jack McGrath's failed attempt to win a seat on the City Council in 1969.

The Republican candidate has called for a height requirement among city police officers, ridiculing the use of women police officers "whose nightstick is dragging on the ground," and called for combatting AIDS by closing gay bathhouses and mandating medical tests for prostitutes.

The ho-hum election will also put a new figure in the office of

Italian Leaders Meet To Rebuild Coalition

ROME (UPI) — Prime Minister-designate Bettino Craxi met Monday with Defense Minister Giovanni Spadolini and other leaders of his former coalition in a bid to resolve the government crisis triggered by the Achille Lauro hijacking.

Craxi, who is trying to reassemble the government that collapsed Oct. 17, met for 90 minutes with Spadolini, who pulled his Republican Party out of the five-party ruling coalition to protest Craxi's handling of the Achille Lauro affair.

Spadolini refused to say whether he thought the encounter would result in a quick resolution of the crisis.

"I don't make predictions," he told reporters. "We are in a phase of more closely examining the political points that the Republicans raised and without this clarification, clearly, the solution of a five-party coalition would not be possible."

But the leader of Italy's Christian Democrats, the country's most powerful political party, met with Craxi for 80 minutes and indicated to reporters some progress had been made.

"To define the problem is to half solve it," De Mita said when asked if he thought there was a chance of finding a quick solution to the crisis.

The Republicans have been arguing over three major issues since Spadolini quit the government to protest Craxi's failure to consult him during the hijacking crisis.

The Republicans want Craxi, a Socialist, to promise to consult them in the future, to formally declare its position against international terrorism and re-define its foreign policy in the Middle East.

Spadolini also wants Craxi and Christian Democrat Foreign Minister Giulio Andreotti to formally declare a position against international terrorism.

No Summit Conditions Set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan refuses to set pre-conditions for the November summit, but he must make key decisions on arms control before his first meeting with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev, a spokesman says.

Some of Reagan's foreign policy aides, including national security adviser Robert McFarlane, have suggested linking arms control to Soviet concessions in other areas, including regional conflicts fueled by the Soviets.

But White House press secretary Larry Speakes told reporters Reagan will go to the summit without "pre-conditions."

The president is dispatching Secretary of State George Shultz to Moscow this weekend to meet with Gorbachev and Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze to set an agenda for the Nov. 19-20 summit in Geneva, Switzerland.

Sources said a "statement of principle" could emerge from the secretary of state's meeting with Kremlin leaders.

Escalating pre-summit public relations, Reagan is expected to have a sit-down interview with reporters from the Soviet news agency Tass and the Communist Party newspaper Pravda, sources said.

Although the White House said final agreement was not in hand, sources said the interview — one in a series Reagan will conduct with U.S. and foreign reporters before the summit — could come as early as Thursday.

Aides indicated Reagan expects to stop in Brussels to brief NATO allies en route back to Washington and may deliver an address to a joint session of Congress at the end of the summit.

Speakes said Lord Carrington, NATO secretary-general, is polling members to take Reagan up on his offer to brief allied leaders on the results of the summit meeting and on East-West relations.

He also said Reagan would speak to a joint session of Congress if he receives an invitation, which is likely.

Reagan has ruled out any news conference but he expects to deliver a nationally televised speech a week or 10 days before the summit.

Royal Ball Not For All

PALM BEACH (UPI) — A royal ball featuring Prince Charles and Princess Diana is clearly not for all — even in posh Palm Beach.

Millionaires are turning up their noses at the Nov. 12 extravaganza's price of admission — $10,000 for a pair of tickets and $50,000 for the good tables.

"Ten thousand dollars! What are they going to serve, duck stuffed with gold?" asked Paul Ilynsky, son of Russia's grand duke.

"I haven't heard of a soul, not a soul, who is going. It's very curious," said Jan Terrana, a columnist for the Palm Beach

Social Pictorial.

Gregg Dodge, wife of the late auto mogul Horace Dodge, says her social calendar is booked. "That's the day I have my legs waxed," she said.

The bash is intended to raise $2 million for the Armand Hammer United World College of the American West, a nonprofit international school in New Mexico. The ball was arranged by Hammer, 87, chairman of Occidental Petroleum, who persuaded the Prince and Princess of Wales to attend.

"I think they'll have to paper the room," one Palm Beach hostess said Sunday. On the charity scene, papering means filling a room with nonpaying guests — the ultimate disgrace.

The visit will be the royal couple's first trip together to the United States. After three days in Washington, they will arrive at the Palm Beach International Airport on the day of the party.

The couple will be whisked to the Palm Beach Polo and Country Club, where Charles will play. The last time he played at the club, in 1979, he suffered a heart stroke.

Following the United World College ball, Charles and Diana will spend the night in a villa, then return to London.

It's A Whale Of A Tale ...

There once was a humpback whale that got tired of the same old thing year after year. Up the Pacific Coast, down the Pacific Coast. Same scenery, same salt water and same mushy plankton — morning, noon and night.

There was a fog-shrouded inlet he wanted to explore. It always had looked intriguing. Somebody had built a great bridge over the entrance — sort of like the McDonald's arches. Maybe there was something tasty in there — oysters, for instance. Maybe there was something worth seeing.

Thus began the adventure of Hoagy the Humpback Whale. One day he just did it. He veered off his usual course and plunged into San Francisco Bay. Cruising slowly northeastward, Hoagy took in the sights — Coit Tower on the right, Angel Island on the left — and soon he had passed through San Pablo Bay, Carquinez Straits and Suisun Bay.

Things got weirder by the moment. First the water lost its salt taste. Then the bottom of the bay rose up to meet him and he was stuck on a sandbank for a time. Boatloads of humans tried to block his progress, lure him from his course by sticking devices in the water and making killer-whale noises. No chance. This was one determined whale.

Hoagy had caught the real spirit of adventure. He was a long way from the sea, but there was plenty yet to explore. A long narrow ship canal, a myriad of sloughs and marshes.

Why does a whale want to stick his nose into strange waters dotted with houseboats and swimming with striped bass?

Well, this may sound fluky, but some places must be explored just because they're there.

Some said he was confused. Perhaps not.

Here's Lookin' At Ya

There's this guy, see, who wrote this play about me, Rick Blaine, and that lousy gin joint I had in Casablanca during the war. I mean the big war, pal, not that pipsqueak brawl they had in Vietnam or wherever it was.

This guy called his play "Everybody Comes to Rick's," which ain't the title it wound up in the film they made out of it, showing me and this piano player I had, Sam — Sam was a super piano player and a sweet guy, but there was only one song he could play real well — and Victor Laszlo and my troubles with Ingrid ... er, Ina Lund. Dames. Stay away from dames. They're murder.

Anyhow, this guy Murray Burnett wrote this play back in 1940 and sold it to Warner Bros. for a lousy $20,000. That was big dough back then, but as time goes by, money shrinks. So Murray's real mad, see. Says he still owns the characters — not just me, but even guys like Major Strasser. I plugged that dirty rat. Served him good. Maybe you remember in the movie.

So Murray's two mouthpieces brought his case in a New York court, but I can't see that the poor Joe had a chance. I mean, a deal's a deal, right? But I feel sorry for the guy. After all, without him, I'd be a nobody.

So, Murray can come down to my place anytime he wants and have drinks on the house. I'll put on my old white dinner jacket, pour us each two fingers of smooth scotch neat, raise the glass and say again, on behalf of all of us who still care: "Here's lookin' at ya, Murray."

How About Starting A No Fee Supermarket?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — I have here an invitation to join the "Citizens Legal Foundation," a group promoting "a national network of no fee legal offices."

The organization's motto is: "Justice should not be based on what you can afford!" To that, I can only add: "Amen!"

The only problem is, it may not go far enough. In my opinion, neither should health be based on what you can afford.

If the foundation is successful in opening no fee legal offices, I trust it, or a similarly motivated organization, will move on to establish a national network of no fee medical clinics.

After all, citizens shouldn't have to join a health spa to stay in good physical condition. Or how about a no fee supermarket?

According to some of its literature, the legal foundation "firmly believes that citizens have an inalienable right to civil justice."

Yes, and I am equally firm in the belief that citizens also have an inalienable right to eat.

As I understand it, the foundation has no illusions about lining up no fee lawyers to staff the no fee legal centers. Lawyers, as you may know, seldom work merely for the experience, however socially conscious they may be.

Ergo, the foundation promises that the "socially conscious legal staffs and attorneys" it employs will be "well compensated for their services and dedication."

The ultimate goal is "about 200 self-supporting offices serving the mainstream of the American public at no charge."

As to how the foundation intends to make a legal office "self-supporting" without charging any fees was not spelled out. Presumably, that is where your contributions come in.

The foundation has embarked on a $20 million fund-raising campaign to obtain cash for a pilot program in the San Francisco Bay area.

As I indicated earlier, I am all for free legal services, as I am in favor of free medical care, insurance, rent, food, etc. Nevertheless, a couple of questions arise:

Why should such a program be limited to necessities, such as food, clothing and shelter, not to mention justice and health? Do not citizens have an inalienable right to have a little fun now and then?

I am therefore thinking about organizing a Citizens Amusement Foundation. Its aim will be to establish a nationwide system of no charge rock concerts that indigent citizens can attend.

There also will be a nationwide system of bars and taverns in which free beer, wine, highballs and cocktails are served.

But groups trying to reduce the number of drunken drivers on the road have nothing to fear. The Citizens Slumber Foundation can handle that matter.

The latter group will raise funds to rent hotel rooms where citizens who have had a few free drinks too many can go to sleep it off, rather than get behind the wheel of an automobile.

If the plan works, it can be expanded into other fields later. Would you believe, for example, a Citizens Free Lunch Foundation? I wouldn't either.

SCIENCE WORLD Malady No One Speaks Of

By Jan Ziegler
UPI Science Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the United States, it's a nasty topic. No one likes to talk about it. Most of the time, it goes away quickly without causing any easily apparent harm.

Yet scientists believe the organisms that cause diarrhea may be an important element in development of serious conditions such as allergy, malnutrition, certain forms of arthritis, potentially lethal infections and tumors.

"We feel strongly that diarrheal disease in some persons may contribute significantly to the overall mortality rate in the United States," said Douglas L. Archer, deputy director of food and cosmetic microbiology at the Food and Drug Administration's Center for Food Safety and Applied Nutrition.

Archer and colleagues have estimated that 68.7 million to 275 million cases of diarrhea occur each year. Of these, 3.7 million incidences involve children in day-care centers.

Some are serious, associated with contagious disease, such as typhoid fever, and are reported to medical authorities. Many go unrecorded because they are mild, because the public considers the ailment to be a "self-limiting, unpleasant nuisance," because tests to determine the cause might not be done or because samples from the contaminated food that caused the outbreak were not available.

The cost to the economy from lost work time and other effects probably exceeds $10 billion annually, specialists estimate.

Most cases are caused by bacteria, viruses or parasites transmitted in food and water or from person to person. Many could be prevented simply by washing one's hands after using the bathroom or changing diapers.

"I think soap and water is a very good cure for the problem," Archer said at a recent FDA seminar.

The purpose of diarrhea is to purge the gastrointestinal tract of a possibly harmful substance, but it may strip the intestine of coatings that prevent the entry of disease-causing organisms, Archer said.

Diarrhea can interfere with the intestine's ability to absorb nutrients, contributing to malnutrition. The loss of even a single nutrient may harm the host's immune system, setting up a vicious cycle of diarrhea, malnutrition and infection, Archer said.

Mengele's Son Cashing In On Father

By Jack Anderson
And
Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — While Dr. Josef Mengele was sending pregnant women to gas chambers at Auschwitz during World War II, he conceived a son of his own, who is alive and well and living in West Germany. This is the story of Rolf Mengele, the only child of the Nazi "Angel of Death," whose remains were exhumed in Brazil this year.

In magazine articles and public appearances, Rolf Mengele has tried to put distance between himself and his notorious father. He says he has nothing in common with the cold-blooded quack who decreed death for hundreds of thousands of innocents and a living hell of laboratory experimentation for uncounted others. He has even said he wished he had had a different father.

Yet the son shielded his father from justice for more than 20 years, knowing his whereabouts in South

No Grass Roots Bargain

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (NEA) — The scene is repeated thousands of times every election year: A shopping mall customer is approached by an earnest solicitor seeking signatures to qualify a citizen initiative for a statewide vote.

The solicitor explains that citizen action is needed to reform the welfare system, restrain government spending or achieve some other noble goal that the state legislature is unwilling to act upon.

In theory, those encounters represent the highest form of grass-roots democracy in action. In practice, however, they are part of an expensive, sophisticated process that seeks to manipulate, rather than to respond to, voter sentiment.

There are occasional instances of well-intentioned citizens gathering endorsements for ballot propositions but, in most cases, that task — like virtually all aspects of politics — has been thoroughly commercialized.

The companies that have transformed petition circulating into a big business here in California also have been engaged in qualifying initiatives for the ballot in Florida, Texas, Arizona, Oregon, Montana and other states.

Two California firms specialize in signature gathering — American Petition Consultants here in San Diego and the F.G. Kimball Co. in the Los Angeles suburb of Westlake Village. The sponsor of a ballot initiative typically pays them $300,000 to $500,000 for their services.

"Give them enough money and they will get enough signatures from enough registered voters to put anybody's initiative on the ballot," says the California Journal.

Both companies maintain a network of coordinators — including students, homemakers and small-business operators — that can be quickly activated. The coordinators, in turn, hire petition circulators (usually through classified ads) and give them an intensive training course that includes a sales pitch the solicitors must memorize and use without deviation.

Payments to the solicitors usually range from 20 cents to 40 cents per name, depending upon whether the issue is popular or controversial, the amount of time remaining before the filing deadline and the extent of competition from other petitions.

In California, for an initiative intended as a statute to get on the ballot, 5 percent of all voters who participated in the last gubernatorial election must sign the petition.

VIEWPOINT

Pot War Strides

By Patricia Walsh

SANTA MARTA, Colombia (UPI) — Colombian police helicopters spraying marijuana fields with herbicides have nearly eliminated this year's crop of "Santa Marta Gold," but while officials claim a victory in their war on drugs, there are indications that marijuana's loss will be cocaine's gain.

Jon Thomas, a U.S. assistant secretary of state for international narcotic matters, said in Colombia recently that authorities there, backed by U.S. money and equipment, had eliminated "as much as 90 percent" of this year's marijuana crop in traditional growing areas.

"It is a dramatic success story," he said.

Just earlier this year a state department report maintained that "Colombia is the principal supplier of marijuana to the United States, accounting for 59 percent of the estimated U.S. supply in 1983."

As a result of the spraying, Thomas said the amount of Colombian marijuana consumed in the United States "could drop down to 15, 20 or 25 percent."

Countries like Mexico and Jamaica, meanwhile, have increased production. Between 10 and 25 percent of the marijuana smoked in the United States is grown domestically.

Marijuana had been the life-line of many poor migrant farmers in Colombia.

Traffickeers used to give the seeds to "campesinos" who, for six-months' work, received about 500,000 pesos ($3,125) for their harvest. Police say that amounts to about five times the profit of other crops in a country where the minimum monthly wage is $84.

Officials say many of the campesinos now have left the marijuana areas and returned to cultivating coffee, corn, yuca (manioc root) and plantain (a large banana).

Nevertheless, Colombian marijuana still reaches the United States. Just a few weeks ago 100 tons of Colombian-grown weed was seized in a barge off the Virginia coast. Officials speculate, however, that the shipment had been in storage for up to a year.

Although the Colombian marijuana crop has been seriously depleted, authorities acknowledge they have a long way to go before all narcotics are eliminated.

A police official flying a helicopter over marijuana territory in northern Colombia said it is a matter of one thing at a time.

"We have eliminated the methaqualone (sedatives known as quaaludes) trade," he said. "Now we're eliminating the marijuana. It gives us more time to fight cocaine."

The helicopter landed on a grass-covered mountain top wedged in a 9-mile-long canyon.

"This area is called 'the reserve' because of all the marijuana that used to be grown here," the policeman said.

Now only a few new fields can be seen from the air, and a U.S. official promised, "They'll be back to spray later."

Other plots boasted only dry, brown stalks of marijuana plants killed by aerial spraying of the herbicide glyphosate — a chemical that also is being used on marijuana fields planted on federal land in the United States.

American exile and corresponding with him regularly. And he withheld from authorities the report of his father's death for six years while an international search was going on.

Our associate Lucette Lagnado recently discovered another contradiction in Rolf Mengele. Though he bemoans the worldwide attention that has been turned on him since the discovery of his father's remains, and claims that he has suffered for the sins of his father, Rolf is perfectly willing to make a buck from the notoriety that attached to the Mengele name. In fact, he insists on it.

Our associate learned this the hard way after she received an unexpected trans-Atlantic phone call from Mengele not long ago. She had requested an interview months earlier and been rejected.

But now Mengele had called out of the blue and asked if she were still interested. She said yes, and they agreed that she would fly to Germany.

Mengele called a second time to confirm the arrangement — and to bring up the delicate subject of "remuneration." Our associate said she had no money to pay him. We do not practice "checkbook journalism," Mengele was non-committal, and the subject was left up in the air.

When our associate arrived at the door of Mengele's law office at the appointed time, she was met, not by him, but by a burly go-between named Peter Strober. After a brief interrogation into her background and intentions, our associate was told bluntly that there were "practical matters" that had to be settled before the interview could take place.

The price was $1,000, up front. Our associate said she didn't have it. Strober seemed upset. He took her to lunch, called Mengele and reported back: no money, no interview.

Mengele himself called her later at her hotel. Gone was the warmth and charm of the earlier conversations. He was cold, snappish, adamant: no free interview. After 15 minutes of fruitless negotiating, Mengele announced that his time was valuable and hung up.

Others have had similar experiences. Mengele reportedly demanded $500,000 for the movie rights to his father's story, but the deal fell through after Jewish groups protested to the would-be producer.

Rolf Mengele's dreams of getting rich on his father's shame are now more modest: peddling his father's diaries, notebooks and letters for whatever the market will bring. The banality of evil, it seems, lasts beyond the grave. Josef Mengele's legacy is a souvenir stand.

Footnote: Our associate is currently working, with co-author Sheila Dekel, on a biography of Josef Mengele.

Sanford Woman Attacked As She Packed

A Sanford woman was packing to leave her boyfriend when he allegedly hit her in the head with a jackhammer after allegedly threatening to kill her with a knife. She received about 25 stitches to close two wounds in her forehead and face.

The man accused in the attack was being held in lieu of $5,000, charged with aggravated battery.

Seminole County sheriff's deputy Janice Walthera reported meeting the woman, Annie Lee Morris of 2469 Sipes Ave., at Seminole County Fire Station 41, on State Road 46, east of Sanford at about midnight Saturday.

Ms. Morris reportedly said the injuries she was being treated for had been inflicted during a dispute with her boyfriend, a Seminole County sheriff's report said. She was later transported to the Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford.

Joseph Latson Doughty, 53, of the address above, was arrested at his home at 12:11 a.m. Sunday.

BATTERED CYCLIST

A 41-year-old Sanford man who allegedly forced a motorcyclist into a ditch along side U.S. Highway 17-92 in Longwood, and then allegedly punched the cyclist in the face with his fist five times has been charged with aggravated battery.

Longwood police reported arresting the man at 10:20 a.m. Sunday, following the altercation with the unidentified motorcyclist which reportedly began as both drove along U.S. Highway 17-92.

The cause of the dispute was not reported by police.

Nicholas Richard Moru of 2539 Georgia Ave., has been charged in the case and was being held in lieu of $8,000 bond.

ROADSIDE ROBBERY

A Sanford man who stopped to help what he believed was a disabled motorist ended up being beaten and robbed of about $1,000 in jewelry on State Road 419, near Tusawilla Road in Winter Springs at about 9:30 p.m. Friday.

Daryl Patrick Morella, 28, of 1820 Park Ave. #1, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies he was pushing the "disabled" car of one of the suspects who had flagged him down, when a second suspect came up from behind put an unknown object to his head and demanded his valuables, a sheriff's report said.

Morella told deputies he resisted, but was overpowered and awoke on the roadside to see the suspects drive away. He said he doesn't want to press charges, the report said.

FRIENDLY THEFT

A 30-year-old Sanford man has been charged with auto theft after allegedly taking a friend's car without permission. He was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Doris Hamlin of 1717 Park Ave. #7, Sanford, reported to police her car was stolen at about 2:30 a.m. Sunday, and police charged one of her friends in connection with the alleged theft after he reportedly returned the vehicle at about 7:45 a.m. and reportedly said he had driven it to breakfast, a police report said.

Ms. Hamlin wanted to press charges, so Kevin Dale Cook of 117 Laurel Ave. was arrested, the report said.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Robert Steven Gallener, 30, of 1707 N. U.S. Highway 17-92 #3, Longwood, was arrested at 2:35 a.m. Sunday after his vehicle was involved in an accident on U.S. Highway 17-92.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Hans George Wysocki, 50, of 170 E. Third Court, Chuluota, gave sheriff's deputies the name of a suspect who may have stolen about $1,000 worth of jewelry from his home on Saturday or Sunday.

Ana L. Velez, 24, of Orlando, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies her purse containing a gold chain with a total value of about $500 was stolen from her car while parked at Lake Tusawilla Park, Winter Springs, around 3 p.m. Sunday.

A $200 lawnmower was stolen from the car, port of Willard Phillips, 62, of 616 E. Alpine St., Altamonte Springs, on Sunday, a sheriff's report said.

Potted plants, nine with a total value of about $150, were stolen from a porch at Jordan Baptist Church, 920 Upsala Road, Sanford, on Saturday or Sunday, a sheriff's report said.

Raymond F. Simmons, 30, of 85 San Jose, Winter Park, reported to sheriff's deputies his 1964 Honda motorcycle worth $2,900 was stolen from his home on Saturday or Sunday.

Two large tool boxes and their contents with a total value of about $10,500 were stolen from the truck of Calvin L. Jones, 35, of 258 Clearview Road, Chula Vista, while the vehicle was parked at his home Saturday or Sunday.

A $1,000 outboard motor and a $90 trolling motor were stolen from a boat in a fenced compound at Killarney Boat Center, 750 U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood, on Friday or Saturday, according to a report filed with sheriff's deputies by salesman Herb Jay Rabinowitz, 40, of Altamonte Springs.

Kelly Ann Craven, 23, of 3606 Palm Ave., Apopka, reported to sheriff's deputies her purse containing a $600 gold chain was stolen from her home Friday or Saturday. The purse was valued at $100.

An 18-horsepower outboard motor was taken from a locked garage at the 814 Locust Avenue home of Grant Edge, 70, between Sept. 12 and 23, he told Sanford police. Edge said the garage's sliding door was still locked when he discovered the motor, which he valued at $500, had been taken.

A Sanford woman reported her pocket book had been taken on Thursday, while she was fishing at Lake Mary, in front of City Hall, Mattie Peck, 67, of 504 East 4th Street, told police three men stopped to watch her at 2:30 p.m., and after they were gone, so was her purse. The bag contained her keys and identification papers, Ms. Peck said.

Attempted Murder Suspect Released Without Bond

A Sanford man was in stable condition today, recovering from gunshot wounds to the abdomen and shoulder. His wife, accused of shooting him during a family dispute, has been charged with aggravated battery and attempted murder and has been released without posting bond.

Mary W. Steele, 54, of 1828 Knox Ave., is accused of shooting her husband, Will E. Steele, 56, as he reportedly cursed and shook Mrs. Steele's 18-year-old daughter, Aileen Patterson, during an argument over Ms. Patterson's dating Leroy Young, 18, of 1831 Lincoln Ave., Sanford, according to Seminole County sheriff's reports.

The shooting occurred at about 1:50 a.m. Sunday at the Steeles' home and Mrs. Steele was arrested at 4:15 a.m. Sunday following questioning at the Seminole County Sheriff's Department, according to sheriff's investigator Terry Huffman.

Steele, who was struck by at least two bullets when Mrs. Steele allegedly fired three shots at him from a .38-caliber handgun, Huffman said, was transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford, where he remained Monday in stable condition.

Seminole County sheriff's deputy Darren Tjomstol, the first officer on the scene, reported Mrs. Steele allegedly said that prior to the shooting she and her husband had been sitting in the kitchen of their home and he was armed with a rifle awaiting the arrival of Ms. Patterson who was out on a date with Young. When the couple arrived at about 1:20 a.m., Mrs. Steele reportedly said she persuaded her husband to surrender the rifle, and when he went outside to confront her daughter, his stepdaughter, Mrs. Steele hid the rifle in a closet and armed herself with her pistol. Tjomstol's report said.

The dispute between Steele and Ms. Patterson reportedly continued after they entered Ms. Patterson's bedroom at the home and Steele was reportedly cursing her and when he began to shake her Mrs. Steele allegedly fired three shots at her husband, Huffman reported.

Tjomstol reported when he arrived on the scene he found Mrs. Steele sitting at a kitchen table where he recovered a gun believed to have been used in the shooting. Seminole County Fire Department rescue workers were on the scene treating Steele who was transported to the hospital by ambulance. Tjomstol reported.

At the time of the shooting Steele was not armed and apparently wasn't threatening Ms. Patterson with bodily harm, Huffman said. Mrs. Steele's bond was initially set at $10,000, but after a first appearance in court Sunday afternoon she was released without posting bond, according to jail officials.

Guru Arrested in N.C.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — Federal authorities arrested Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh and several of his followers for immigration violations Monday when his private jets stopped to refuel on a flight from his Oregon commune to Bermuda.

Authorities had tracked the jets with radar as they flew from Oregon and surprised the guru and his entourage when they landed to refuel in Charlotte.

Chief U.S. Deputy Marshal Raymond Abrams said Rajneesh, 53, and nine followers would be arraigned before U.S. Magistrate Barbara Delaney. He said Rajneesh will be charged with violations of U.S. immigration laws.

"We arrested all the people on the planes for the U.S. attorney," Abrams said. "They had two planes chartered to go to Bermuda from here."

Documents filed in federal court in Portland, Ore., said an investigation of Rajneesh's activities involved "suspected patterns of marriage fraud among Rajneeshes, as well as allegations that individual marriages have been entered into for the purpose of securing immigration benefits or evading immigration laws."

Rajneesh was charged with conspiracy to commit immigration fraud in a sealed grand jury indictment handed up Wednesday in Portland, according to reports.

The arrests come less than two months after a split in the sect's leadership. The guru accused his former assistant Ma Prem Sheela of stealing money and plotting murders.

U.S. marshal's office investigator Frank Herrin said the 13 were arrested as the Learjets landed, including four pilots. Herrin said the pilots were questioned and released.

Special Agent Lawrence A. Ladage of the U.S. Customs Service in Portland said, "We arrested everybody on them (the jets). We had warrants for some and we charged others with aiding and abetting unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. There were two people waiting for the planes at the airport and we put them in cuffs, too."

Herrin said there was no problem in identifying Rajneesh. "He was wearing a cap like a toboggan and a bluish-gray robe like a cape with stars down each side. Most of them tended to have on a lavender color pretty much matched up."

Friend Begins Newman Fund To Help Karren

Kind words, sympathy and encouragement have been strong moral supports for Lyman High School volleyball coach Karren Newman the past two weeks as she battles a tragic accident which paralyzed her from the chest down.

Unfortunately, when someone encounters an accident of this severity, words cannot do enough. After Cindy Bottom provided all the moral support she could, she still felt the need to do something more.

Miss Bottom, a good friend and former roommate of Karren's while both were working in the Miami area, said the Karren Newman Fund will be started to help with the costs of Karren's rehabilitation program. She said Lyman and Lake Mary high schools were working together on the project.

Contributions can be mailed to the Karren Newman Fund, Sun Bank, P.O. Box 1858, Attention: Barbara Brown, Sanford, 32772-1858.

Karren's mother, Estelle Smith of Sanford, said Monday that Karren was progressing beautifully with her other injuries (jammed finger and laceration on the head) but she did not have any feeling below the chest area.

"It's a very difficult time psychologically for her," Mrs. Smith said. "We're just taking it one day at a time."

Mrs. Smith said the support Karren and her family had received had been heartwarming. "We didn't realize how many friends we had," she said. "They've been so wonderful."

Miss Newman, who was involved in a two-car crash on Oct. 12 which severely injured her spinal cord, was moved to the Spinal Injury Care Unit of the Humana Lucerne Hospital in Orlando last week.

Miss Newman graduated from Seminole High School in 1966 where she was an accomplished all-around athlete before girls' sports became an extra-curricular activity. She attended Flagler College in St. Augustine where she excelled in softball, volleyball, tennis and badminton.

After graduation, Miss Newman coached and taught in the Miami area for nine years before coming to Lyman. She was at Lyman two years before she attended Florida State where she received her doctorate degree. She returned to Lyman this year.

During this time, Miss Newman played softball with the Miami Dots and Satellite Comets where she earned All-America honors as a shortstop for five years.

Steve Stark, a senior defensive back on the Lake Brantley High football team, and Manda Davis, a freshman member of the Brantley swim team, have been honored as Red Lobster's Athletes of the Month. Bob Peterson, Brantley athletic director, said last week.

Stark is the Patriots' interception leader while Davis was third in the state in the butterfly and seventh in the breast stroke at the Gator Invitational. She broke two records in the process.

Peterson also announced the National Interscholastic Swimming Coaches Association of American has voted unanimously to upgrade the status of Henrik Jangvall from Honorable Mention All-America to Full All-America in the 200 freestyle.

Jangvall was an All-America as a 500 freestyler, too, last year. John Webb, NISCAA national awards chairman, informed Peterson of the upgrading.

The Fourth Annual Sanford Recreation Department & Optimist Club of Sanford Junior Tennis Tournament will be held Nov. 23-24. Entry fee is $10.

There are three divisions (16 and under, 14 and under and 12 and under) for boys and girls.

Awards will be given to champions and runners-up in both championship and consolation brackets. Call Sanford Recreation Department Superintendent Jeff Monson at 322-3161, ext. 261 for information. Nov. 20 is the deadline.

Lady Seminoles End Losing Streak, Trip Lake Brantley

By Chris Pieter
Herald Sports Writer

Seminole High's volleyball team hit rock bottom Thursday with a loss to Lake Mary. Its fourth loss in a row. With the defeat, the Lady Seminoles fell into last place in the Seminole Athletic Conference with just two matches left in the regular season.

Friday afternoon, the Tribe had a big powwow and put everything on the table in an attempt to solve its problem. And, the girls decided that the season that started out so promising is not over yet. Not by a far.

Monday night, the Lady Nokes put together their best team effort in a long while as they fought off a scrappy Lake Brantley team, 15-11, 11-15, 15-11 in SAC action at Seminole High.

Seminole improved to 6-7 overall and 3-7 in the conference with the win. The Tribe ends the regular season Thursday at home against DeLand in a non-conference game that counts in the district seeding. Lake Brantley now stands at 2-12 overall and 2-7 in the SAC. The Lady Patriots, now in last place in the conference, end the regular season Thursday against league-leading Lyman.

"Attitude was our biggest problem," Seminole junior Sheri Peterson said. "We got it straightened out Friday and everything is going good now. We just want to play as a team and encourage each other."

Seminole had it together right from the start Monday as they zipped out to a 7-0 lead with Peterson serving two points and Liz Long five. The Lady Seminoles went on to take a 13-4 lead with strong play by Jackie Farr, Peterson and Long leading the way.

Lake Brantley then came storming back behind the fine all-around play of Dawn Gebhart and Toni Amicon. Amicon served three points, one ace, to pull the Lady Patriots within 13-9 and setter Viola Rodriguez then served a pair of points to make it 13-11.

Volleyball

Seminole made it 14-11 on Jackie Farr's serve with a hit by Aretha Riggins providing the point. Riggins nailed a spike into the floor to return the serve to the Tribe and Catherine "Kitty" Anderson served out the first game.

The Lady Seminoles took the early lead in game two as Peterson and Long served three points each, both with one ace, for a 6-2 lead.

Brantley then went on a 7-1 scoring binge to take a 9-7 lead with Gebhart's two serves breaking a 7-7 tie. The game stayed close until, with the score 11-11, Brantley reeled off three points for a 14-11 lead. After trading serves for a while, Gebhart came on to serve the last point of the second game to force a third game.

It was Lake Brantley that took command early in the deciding game as it jumped out to a 7-0 lead. Gigi Griffin served three of the points, one ace, while Amicon and Shelly Wittig also fired in aces.

Seminole bounced back with seven straight points of its own with Anderson serving three and Peterson and Cindy Hogan two each. Brantley came back to take a 9-7 lead on Griffin's serve but Farr came on to serve three points, the last an ace, for a 10-9 Seminole lead.

Amicon then got two serves in for an 11-10 Brantley lead. Each team had a missed serve before Seminole got it back and Peterson went on to serve five straight as Seminole won the third game, 15-11, and the match.

"Sheri (Peterson) played a good all around match," Seminole coach Beth Corso said. "She played much better than she did Thursday."

"The team meeting Friday helped bring us together," added Corso. "We had to dig down deep tonight and show what

Rams Turn Attention To District 5A-4 Race

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Lake Mary's Rams took over sole possession of first place in the Seminole Athletic Conference with Friday's win over Oviedo, but they won't have time to savor their one-game edge over Lyman with two games to play.

The Rams (4-2 overall, 1-1 district, 3-0 SAC) must turn their attention to the District 5A-4 race this week. They trail Mainland by one-half game and they have a chance to turn the tables on the Bucs who they encounter Thursday night at Daytona Beach's Welch Memorial Stadium.

All district and conference teams play each other once. That's five district games for the SAC and 5A-5 and just four district encounters for 4A-5 and 5A-4. Not much margin for error. A 3-1 or 4-1 record will win the league.

Mainland, which has Lyman and Spruce Creek while losing to DeLand, is 4-3 overall. A victory by the Rams Thursday would level the Bucs off at 2-2. The

Football

Rams would be 2-1 with Lyman to play the last game of the season (Nov. 22).

That would put Lake Mary in good shape. A victory over Lyman would clinch the title and a spot in the playoffs. The other factor besides the Greyhounds is Spruce Creek.

The Creek surprised Lake Mary two weeks ago. The loser of the Creek-Lyman game is out of it but the winner is in pretty good shape, especially if Spruce Creek wins. The Hawks are just 1-4 overall but a win over Lyman, a Lake Mary win over Mainland, and a win by the Hawks over DeLand on Nov. 15 would give them the district title.

The only thing which could hurt the Hawks would be a win by Mainland since the Bucs edged Spruce Creek earlier this year. Getting Mainland out of the picture, though, would open the door for Creek to determine its fate. Wins over Lyman and

Allen's Prime-Time 'Abandon' Routs Chargers

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Marcus Allen ran with abandon. Abandon was the only thing that came close to him.

"It's an attitude," Allen said after he scored three touchdowns and gained 111 yards to help the Los Angeles Raiders maintain their Monday night mastery with a 34-21 rout of the San Diego Chargers.

"We want to win. You just can't play with a lackadaisical approach to the game."

Allen had TD runs of 3, 1 and 4 yards as the 6-2 Raiders moved into a tie for first place in the AFC West with Denver. The fourth-year running back went over the 100-yard rushing mark for the third time this season and 10th in his career.

Los Angeles, which prides itself on Monday night success, improved its prime time television mark to 23-3-1.

"It's always nice to win on Monday night," said Los Angeles coach Tom Flores, whose team has won five straight games this season. "I don't really want to know the reason why because I'm afraid I'd do something to mess it up."

The Chargers, who received two touchdowns from Gary Anderson and another late in the game on a Dan Fouts to Jesse Bendross 1-yard completion, remained in last place in the division with a 3-5 record. Their top-ranked offense proved inconsistent against a Raider defense that produced six sacks against Fouts.

"Our field position really hurt us, it put the defense in a bad position early," said San Diego coach Don Coryell. "The Raiders have a great defense, the best we played against. They played better than we had hoped."

Los Angeles dominated from the start, taking a 10-0 lead in the first period on Chris Bahr's 20-yard field goal and a 13-yard surprise TD run from semimimage by rookie wide receiver Jesse Hester.

Anderson's 52-yard touchdown catch from Fouts brought the Chargers within 10-7 early in the second period, but Allen added touchdown runs of 3 yards and 1 yard before halftime.

The Chargers closed to 24-14 when Anderson scored from the 4 in the third quarter, but Allen upped the Raiders lead with his 4-yard run 4:24 before the end of the period.

Bahr's 35-yard field goal early in the fourth quarter ended the Raiders' scoring.

Los Angeles quarterback Marc Wilson was 15-of-31 for 258 yards and two interceptions. Todd Christensen caught 7 passes for 134 yards for the Raiders.

Fouts was 23-of-50 for 315 yards with 2 TDs and no interceptions.

The Raiders took a 3-0 lead midway through the first period. Then, following a short punt by San Diego rookie Ralf Mojslejenko two minutes later, they scored when Wilson faked a handoff to Allen, then gave the ball to Hester, who sprinted around right end and into the end zone for a 10-0 Los Angeles lead.

The Chargers moved to 10-7 on the first play of the second quarter when Anderson got behind linebacker Jeff Barnes and caught Fouts' 52-yard TD pass.

Los Angeles took advantage of another short punt by Mojslejenko for a TD five minutes later. Allen dove in from the 3 to restore the Raiders' 10-point lead.

Another Wilson-to-Christensen pass play enabled Los Angeles to go up 24-7 with 4:06 left in the second period. The two teamed for a 48-yard gain to the San Diego 5. Allen carried three times, the last a 1-yard plunge for the score.

Allen fumbled on the Raiders' opening possession of the second half and San Diego linebacker Mike Green recovered on the Los Angeles 34. Anderson scored his second TD when he rambled left from 4 yards out.

K.C. Holds Royal Parade

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — More than a quarter-million people — many missing work or school — poured onto downtown streets Monday for a two-hour parade saluting the World Series champion Kansas City Royals.

The parade, which was marred by five minor fires, began downtown and ended at Liberty Memorial, where an estimated 250,000 people participated in a pep rally. Tens of thousands of others gathered along the parade route. Police reported only a handful of arrests.

As Royals players, owners and team officials rode in antique or classic cars, marching bands blared and ticker tape — some 20 tons of it, provided by the city — flew. Many players signed autographs and shook hands with fans as the parade moved onward.

Arches of helium-filled royal blue and white balloons marked 12 intersections along the parade route, with flying Royals flags at various other locations.

The Royals beat the St. Louis Cardinals 11-0 Sunday night to capture the World Series four games to three.

Two of the fires involved cars carrying manager Dick Howser and outfielder Willie Wilson. They and their families jumped from the vehicles and escaped injury.

One of the fires involved a motorcycle in the police escort and the two others were confined to the ground between parade vehicles. There were no injuries reported.

All of the blazes apparently stemmed from the mass of paper being thrown onto cars and the streets, police said.

Each fire interrupted the procession at different points, and the final blaze forced a final turn of the route to be changed — excluding a section of fans who had waited for almost two hours to see the parade.

A number of children and teachers were forced to walk back to their midtown school because the school buses — apparently stuck in a traffic jam — did not return to pick them up.

The rally included brief speeches from players in which they thanked fans. Muriel Kauffman, wife of Royals co-owner Ewing Kauffman, also spoke.

"Last night was a dream come true," said Mrs. Kauffman. "I'm sorry he's (Ewing) not here today, but he's suffering with the flu. He said to tell you that you are not only the best fans in Kansas City, but the best fans in the nation."

The crowd favorite seemed to be Bret Saberhagen, the Series' Most Valuable Player. The 21-year-old pitcher, grinning and wearing a paper gold crown, threw bags of confetti to the crowd.

After expressing appreciation to the fans, Brett thanked Howser "for his own style of managing" and his mother, "who has been here for about two weeks."

"We waited a long time," White told the pep rally. "The city deserved it, the fans deserved it, the team deserved it, and last night we got it."

The girls of Brown's Gymnastics traveled to Daytona Beach this past weekend and, although they may not have had much fun in the sun, they tore up the mats at the Class IV Qualifying Meet.

Brown's gymnasts were especially impressive in the 9-11 age group as they took six of the top 10 places in the all-around competition out of a field of 152 competitors. Nine girls in the 9-11 division qualified for the state meet while two more qualified in the 12-14 age group. Also, a pair of young ladies qualified for sectionals in the 7-8 age group. Sectionals is as far as the younger group can go.

Gymnasts who have yet to qualify for state have one more chance in the Class IV Sectional Meet Nov. 16-17 at All American Gymnastics in Jacksonville.

Leading the Brown's Gymnastics charge in the 9-11 age group this past weekend was Sally Naylor who was second in the all-around competition with a score of 33.65. A score of 30 is needed to qualify for state.

Naylor took fifth place on the uneven parallel bars (8.50), sixth on the vault (8.25) and seventh on the balance beam (8.35).

Also qualifying in the 9-11 age group were Pam Davis (33.45), Jennifer Shoemaker (33.35), Steffanie Schrader (33.10), Elan Holtzclaw (32.75), Mandy Hall (32.45), Laura Biles (31.25), Heather Mellin (31.15) and Ashley Baker (30.35).

Schrader's all-around score was led by a first place in the vault (9.00). Davis was third in the all-around competition while Shoemaker was fourth, Schrader fifth, Holtzclaw seventh and Hall ninth.

In the 12-14 age group, Mary Kay Habel had a spectacular meet as she won the all-around with a state-qualifying score of 33.35. Habel was second on the vault (8.45), second on the bars (8.30), second on the beam (8.20) and seventh on floor exercise (8.40).

Also qualifying for state was Tonya Burroughs with a score of 30.40. Erin McFadin, who qualified for state in an earlier meet, placed fourth in the all-around with a score of 32.40.

The 7-8 year olds who qualified for the section meet are Tiffany Mellick-Dunn and Cristina Dominguez. Mellick-Dunn was fourth in the all-around (31.25) led by a second place on the vault (8.45). Dominguez took 10th in the all-around at 28.20.

Those who qualified for sectionals in the 9-11 age group are Melissa Perham (29.80), Melissa Shelley (29.50), Lyn Kennedy (29.40), Lindsey Seyler (29.35) and Laura Giuffrida (29.15). Qualifying in the 12-14 division are Karl Ryan (29.20) and Amy Swain (27.85).

Trinity Finishes 5th At Woodson
Paced by sophomore sensation Rachael Weightman, the Trinity Prep placed fifth overall in the Woodson Invitational swim meet in Fort Lauderdale this past weekend.

Trinity Prep finished third in boys and seventh in girls. Weightman, despite being less than 100 percent due to illness, finished first in the 200 free, 1:53.0 and second in the 100 free, 53.0.

Other top finishers included Chris Donahue (500 free second and 100 fly sixth), Brian Donahue (100 back second and 100 fly fifth), and the All-America consideration 400 free relay team of Robbie McMichael, Robert Penn and both Donahues. It finished second in 3:19.

Bowden Suspends AWOL Frosh
TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Florida State freshman nose tackle Chris Miller, who has missed the last four days of practice and has not contacted the Seminoles coaching staff for a week, has been suspended for the remainder of the season, Coach Bobby Bowden announced Monday.

Miller, a 6-1, 280-pounder from Tallahassee's Leon High School, had not played in any of FSU's games this season and was a red-shirt candidate.

Nov. 8, New Smyrna, which has already beaten Titusville, finishes up with Seminole Nov. 15, which is the Tribe's homecoming.

In the District 5A-5, meanwhile, Apopka has already taken care of its prime competition and can move closer to the title this Friday at home against Lake Brantley. The Blue Darters, who moved up to second in the Florida Sports Writers Association Prep Football Poll, have beaten Winter Park and Evans, the two second-place teams en route to a 3-0 record.

Lake Howell and West Orange are both 1-2 and out of it. Brantley, 0-6 overall, is 0-3. Apopka closes with West Orange Nov. 15. Winter Park and Evans battle on Nov. 15. The loser is eliminated.

Getting back to the SAC race, Lake Mary is 3-0 while Lyman is 2-1. Seminole is 2-2. Lake Howell is 1-1 while Oviedo is 1-2 and Lake Brantley is 0-3. Lyman needs to beat Lake Howell Nov. 8. Lake Mary needs a win over Lake Brantley Nov. 8 to clinch a tie.

A Lyman win over Lake Howell and a Lyman victory over Lake Mary Nov. 22 would give the Greyhounds the championship. If Lake Mary splits while the Greyhounds lose one, Lake Mary is the champion.

Seminole High coach Dave Mosure announced three winners for his Optimist Club Players of the Week. Guard Carl Tipton graded out at 90 percent on his blocking to join defenders Dexter Franklin and Brian Brinson for Wednesday's noon luncheon at Western Sizzlin in Sanford. Franklin had 13 tackles and eight assists while Brinson had 14 solos and six assists.

Seminole's teamwork was much better Monday than it had been the past two weeks.

"If we play together and are at our best we can play with anyone," Peterson said.

Seminole proved that by taking a game from Lyman earlier in the year. Now the Lady Seminoles are looking to put it all together for the upcoming district tournament.

BRANTLEY JV TRIUMPHS
Lake Brantley's junior varsity, fighting for a spot in the Seminole Athletic Conference JV Championship, rallied after losing the first game to claim a 12-15, 15-9, 15-11 victory over Seminole in Monday's JV match at Seminole High.

Lake Brantley improved to 7-2 with the win and has one more match left. The JV Lady Patriots are hoping for a spot in Friday's JV title game. Lake Mary and Oviedo are also in the running.

The deciding game Monday was back and forth until Seminole's Michelle Denmark served four points for a 10-7 lead. Brantley came back to tie it at 10-10 as Karen Hamlett served three points, one an ace.

The Lady Patriots got the serve back and took a 13-10 lead on Mary Ann Rodriguez's serve. The Seminoles pulled within 13-11 but Gina Quirin's hit kept the Tribe from pulling closer.

Quinn later came back to serve the 14th point which was provided by Hamlett's spike. Quinn then served a sinking liner that looked like a winner by Seminole's Christina Eckstein dug it out, returned it and gave the serve back to Seminole.

The Lady Tribe couldn't score though and Tina Graue went on to serve the final point of the match.

LYMAN CAN CLINCH
Lyman's Lady Greyhounds can clinch the Seminole Athletic Conference title tonight with a win over Lake Howell. Lyman, 16-3 overall, stands at 8-0 in the SAC while Oviedo is 6-2, both with two matches remaining.

Tonight's match will also be the first played in Lyman's recently renovated gymnasium which will be the site of the 4A-9 District Tournament.

In one other conference match tonight, Lake Mary's Lady Rams entertain Oviedo. Lake Mary is coming off a big win over Seminole and has won three of its last five matches. Oviedo, which has already won the Orange Belt Conference title, comes in with a record of 15-3 overall with two of those losses at the hands of Lyman.

nals 11-0 Sunday night to capture the World Series four games to three.

Two of the fires involved cars carrying manager Dick Howser and outfielder Willie Wilson. They and their families jumped from the vehicles and escaped injury.

One of the fires involved a motorcycle in the police escort and the two others were confined to the ground between parade vehicles. There were no injuries reported.

All of the blazes apparently stemmed from the mass of paper being thrown onto cars and the streets, police said.

Each fire interrupted the procession at different points, and the final blaze forced a final turn of the route to be changed — excluding a section of fans who had waited for almost two hours to see the parade.

A number of children and teachers were forced to walk back to their midtown school because the school buses — apparently stuck in a traffic jam — did not return to pick them up.

The rally included brief speeches from players in which they thanked fans. Muriel Kauffman, wife of Royals co-owner Ewing Kauffman, also spoke.

"Last night was a dream come true," said Mrs. Kauffman. "I'm sorry he's (Ewing) not here today, but he's suffering with the flu. He said to tell you that you are not only the best fans in Kansas City, but the best fans in the nation."

The crowd favorite seemed to be Bret Saberhagen, the Series' Most Valuable

Willie Wilson Dick Howser

Player. The 21-year-old pitcher, grinning and wearing a paper gold crown, threw bags of confetti to the crowd.

After expressing appreciation to the fans, Brett thanked Howser "for his own style of managing" and his mother, "who has been here for about two weeks."

"We waited a long time," White told the pep rally. "The city deserved it, the fans deserved it, the team deserved it, and last night we got it."

Causeaux Powers Sessions Past Cardinal

Sessions Well Drilling pounded out 15 hits and scored 15 runs over the first two innings Monday en route to a 22-2 thrashing of Cardinal Industries in Sanford Men's Fall Softball League play at Pinehurst Field.

Sessions ran its record 12-2 and remains tied for first place with the Tim Raines Connection. The Connection edged Brown Boveri Electric, 9-6, Monday. In Monday's other game, Geyser Systems downed Thorne Land Clearing, 12-9.

In a seven-run first inning for Sessions, Don Causeaux belted a solo homer, Peter Harrison clubbed a run-scoring triple, Albert Key and Tim Roger smacked RBI singles and Tommy Gracy drove in a run with a single.

Causeaux came back to clobber a two-run homer in an eight-run second frame. Willie Harrison added a solo shot. Pete Harrison cracked his second RBI triple of the game and Ray

Softball

Bowling added an RBI double.

Key hit a two-run homer and Bowling a solo shot in the fourth inning to put the finishing touches on.

In its win over Brown Boveri, the Connection had to come up with three runs in the fifth to pull off the win. The big hits in the inning included Rodney Turner's RBI double and run-scoring singles by Lloyd Wall and Fred Washington.

Tony Little had two hits and drove in three of the six runs for Brown Boveri.

Ted Miller cracked three doubles and drove in three runs and Mike Timmons and Ray Mack smacked solo homers as Geyser Systems outlasted Thorne Land Clearing.

Soviets Okay Sakharov's Wife To Leave Russia For Treatment

MOSCOW (UPI) — Yelena Bonner, wife of dissident Soviet physicist Andrei Sakharov, has been granted permission to leave the Soviet Union for medical treatment and will fly from the country soon, a journalist close to Soviet officials said today.

Viktor Louis, a Moscow journalist often used by the Soviet government to feed material to the Western press, said Soviet officials in the city of Gorky have agreed to Bonner's request to leave the country for medical treatment.

"She got a visa a few days ago," Louis said. "The visa is for medical treatment. It could be anywhere, Israel, London, New York."

Louis said the visa was probably for a stay abroad of two or three months but he would not speculate on the chances that the human rights activist would not return to her internal exile in the Soviet Union.

Sakharov, one of the team of Soviet scientists who developed the Soviet hydrogen bomb and the winner of the 1975 Nobel Peace Prize, has gone on hunger strikes to back his wife's demand for permission to go abroad.

Spy Case Causes Row In Britain

LONDON (UPI) — The government braced for a row in Parliament today amid allegations eight servicemen acquitted in Britain's longest and costliest spy trial had been brutally interrogated and brainwashed.

A jury Monday cleared two remaining Royal Air Force signallers accused of betraying secrets "by the bagful" to the Soviets in a trial centering on prosecution charges they took part in homosexual orgies and were blackmailed.

The case against the signallers and telegraphists rested solely on confessions the defense said were untrue and obtained under duress.

The 119-day trial ended without convictions against any of the eight original defendants who allegedly passed on secrets from a British listening post in Cyprus that eavesdrops on sensitive Middle East radio traffic.

Nato Fears Suicide Attacks

BRUSSELS (UPI) — NATO defense ministers gathering for a two-day meeting to discuss the alliance's nuclear readiness faced concern today that nuclear storage sites may be vulnerable to suicide terrorist attacks, diplomats said.

"There is serious concern about the physical security of our storage sites," a diplomat said Monday.

"New possibilities of attack have arisen in the past couple of years, for example suicide car attacks," he said. "We must ensure 100 percent security at all our sites."

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger was to open the meeting of defense ministers today. NATO officials said Weinberger would report on the status of both Western and Soviet nuclear forces.

However, according to Park Avenue homeowner Richard Hathaway, "we're all in the same boat, if residents have to pay, then everyone should."

Also regarding the wastewater management program, the commission decided to hold off acceptance of an $8-million credit line proposal from Sun Bank for the purchase of the 2667-acre Lake Mary waste disposal site. Because of the substantial amount of the line, and resultant interest to be paid by the city, Commissioner John Mercer proposed that the city's financial advisor contact additional banks in an effort to obtain the best rate for the line.

Snell said. She said the school system would have to get an overall picture of the problem from area professionals, especially from Dr. Jorge Deju, the county's medical director. Then they would confer with the child's private physician.

"We don't know what this kind of situation could involve yet. We (school board) would have to deal with each child on an individual basis," she added.

The Florida Medical Association's position also calls for individual assessment.

Its statement reads, in part: "The complexity of the clinical status of these children, including an assessment of the emotional impact of the disease on the child, requires an individual decision for each child regarding his/her involvement in the educational system."

But FMA President Dr. Luis Perez said due to the health and emotional impact of AIDS, "the infected child should be kept out (of school) or kept separate."

Seminole County's school children are the most important elements of any change in policy, Mrs. Snell said. "The health of the county's 40,000 school children is what is most important to us, the health of those children is our biggest concern," she said.

The Center for Disease Control in Atlanta has reported 204 cases of AIDS involving children under the age of 13. Most, the center reports, are believed to have contacted the disease through blood transfusions or from AIDS-infected mothers at birth.

School board Assistant Chairman Jean Bryant said she could not make any comments about the medical association paper until she had read it herself. But she said, "I could see (having) the examination but I don't feel this sort of thing should be done on an individual basis. I would have to speak to Mr. Hughes about it. The board hasn't discussed what the policy for this is going to be."

Board member Pat Telson expressed concern over the possibility of illness or infection for the child with AIDS. "My understanding is that children with AIDS can really get sick if they come into contact with someone with another type of virus such as a cold. I think someone should look into the legal aspects of this and whether or not these children (AIDS children) have more right to be there than do other children," Mrs. Telson said.

She said more information should be presented to school board members by experts in the field and that she wanted to call a school board session to discuss a coherent plan of action.

"This thing (AIDS) is scary to me," she said. "It's scary to everybody. I don't know what to think about it."

Board member Williams said he talked with Hughes about AIDS in the classroom and echoed Hughes' statements about treating children with AIDS as "we would any other communicable disease."

Williams said, "I have looked at the problems Orange County has had with this and it is my belief that we need to stop this thing cold if it ever comes our way. We need a real 'sure down' AIDS policy that makes it clear what has to be done."

He said there are several phases of the AIDS disease and some stages show no outward signs of infection before the disease becomes "a real problem." He said his experience on a local Health and Rehabilitative Services committee had taught him enough about AIDS to be afraid of its consequences in the public sector.

"I would say we (Seminole County) have been pretty fortunate we haven't had one (AIDS-infected child) yet," he said.

School board Chairman Nancy Warren was unavailable for comment.

A symposium on AIDS Monday and today in Orlando, sponsored jointly by the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services and the Florida Medical Association, is expected to set a policy for dealing with AIDS.

FMA President Perez, a Sanford physician, said the medical association is "prepared to endorse the most 'politically safe' policy statement" that can be arrived at during the joint gathering.

Tamara Wilson, HRS spokeswoman in Tallahassee, said the two day conference was designed to draw public health officials from all over the state including "policy making folks" from all levels of Florida government with the intent of coming away with a clear-cut policy for dealing with AIDS victims, of all ages and backgrounds, in the public sector.

influence manslaughter is 15 years.

Owens was charged with the run-down death April 7 of Albert Sanders Jr., 58, of 2501 Frog Alley, Midway. According to a Florida Highway Patrol report Sanders was crossing the west-bound lane of State Road 46 east of Sanford when he was struck by a westbound vehicle around 7:45 p.m. Owens was arrested immediately after the incident. Sanders died about an hour after the accident at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford.

"I made a difficult and reluctant professional judgment," said Steve Plotnick, prosecutor on the case.

Plotnick said while there was evidence to show Owens was under the influence at the time of the incident, the state is required to prove, when pressing

Owens' blood alcohol readings — 0.14 and 0.18 percent — indicated he was legally under the influence at the time of the incident. In Florida, a blood alcohol level of 0.1 is driving under the influence. The victim had a blood alcohol level of .28, almost three times the legal requirement of being under the influence.

"I considered myself fortunate. I had no injuries and was no longer at the top of my ability. I played longer than I thought I would. I have no regrets."

He said he did a lot of traveling during his baseball career, but actually saw little of the country outside of hotel rooms, baseball fields, and downtowns. "The flew us in and put us on the bus and took us to the hotel. They didn't want us out sightseeing, we had to rest up for the game," he said. So the first thing he did on getting his pink slip from Boston was to take his family on a two-month trip out west in a DUI manslaughter charge, that a person was intoxicated, or drunk, at the time of the incident. That proof has to be more than blood alcohol tests for manslaughter, he said.

"The witnesses said he (Owens) did not look drunk," Plotnick said, the same observation made about Owens by one of the operators of a video recorder at the Seminole County jail where all persons arrested on a DUI or related charge are video taped. Owens did not have any prior alcohol related arrest. Plotnick said, and there were indications that the victim could have walked into Owens path. "It could have been a legitimate accident," Plotnick said. Plotnick said he was concerned that if he went to trial trying to prove DUI manslaughter either the judge would acquit Owens because of lack of evidence or the jury would come back not guilty.

However, since the case was a serious one, Plotnick said he got the most he was sure he could out of the incident — "making sure Owens got something" — and that was the plea to DWI with an accident.

Plotnick said the investigating trooper agreed with the decision to take a plea from Owens rather than chance no punishment at all by going to trial.

name for himself. He played with the Reds in the 1972 series losing to Oakland and was the winning pitcher in 1975 against Boston and 1976 against the New York Yankees.

He played with the Detroit Tigers in 1978 to 1979 and started in 1980 only to be traded to Boston. Billingham retired from the major leagues that same year when he was released by the Boston Red Sox.

"I was 37 years old and my pitching was going down hill," he said. "I considered myself fortunate. I had no injuries and was no longer at the top of my ability. I played longer than I thought I would. I have no regrets."

He said he did a lot of traveling during his baseball career, but actually saw little of the country outside of hotel rooms, baseball fields, and downtowns. "The flew us in and put us on the bus and took us to the hotel. They didn't want us out sightseeing, we had to rest up for the game," he said. So the first thing he did on getting his pink slip from Boston was to take his family on a two-month trip out west in a motor home.

Billingham and his wife of 21 years, Jolene, have a son, John, 19, who is a student at Valencia Community College, and a daughter, Jennifer, 16, a high school student.

Billingham said his son played a little baseball, but the fact that he was compared to his dad made it difficult for the boy, who turned to BMX racing. Now surfing and skateboarding are his favorite recreational activities. Jennifer played softball and volleyball in junior high school, Billingham said. He owns a sporting goods store in Butler Plaza, Casselberry. He is scheduled to play in the reunion game in Orlando this weekend with the baseball old-timers. He has also played in the Sanford Old Timers game.

"I played in the old-timers game in Oakland last summer, and it was the last time I picked up a baseball," he said. "When you play in one of these games you don't try to strike them out, you just try to get it across the plate so they can hit it," he explained.

He said he doesn't get asked for his autograph much any more except for baseball card collectors, who send them for him to sign.

that with no cure and no vaccine expected for at least two years, the best move right now is to educate the public.

They said education not only will make it clear what must be done to help citizens understand how to avoid catching AIDS, but will be aimed at reducing a growing hysteria that has led to proposals such as quarantining AIDS patients.

"The task of trying to separate out fact from fiction for the public really can't be delayed any longer," said Dr. James Howell, head of the state Department of Health.

The panel decided that in addition to outlining what public education is needed, it also will detail ways to ensure that AIDS patients receive at least a minimum level of housing, medical care and social services, and will investigate the types of research state universities should conduct to help solve AIDS problems specific to Florida.

The group also will give the governor an estimate on how much money the state should spend in carrying out the policies.

The number of AIDS cases in Florida has gone over the 1,000 mark in a four-year period and Dr. Margaret Fischl, a task force member who has worked with nearly 500 AIDS patients in Miami, predicted at the present transmission rate. "We're going to see another 1,000 cases in the next year."

Fischl, director of AIDS clinical research at the University of Miami Medical School and Jackson Memorial Hospital, said for each AIDS patient, there are three individuals with AIDS-related illness that may later lead to AIDS.

She said even more bothersome is that the most contagious group may be individuals infected by the AIDS virus but showing no symptoms. The federal Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta has estimated nearly 1 million American may fall within that category.

Fischl said unless a cure is found, those Americans may be infectious for life, and said waiting for a vaccine to protect the population from them would be ridiculous.

"Even if something came out tomorrow, it would take two to five years of testing and research to become available to the general public," she said.

Howell said he sees no vaccine on the imminent horizon and no "magic bullet" to therapy for those already infected.

"So we're going to be asking the public to make behavioral adjustments in the meantime," he said. "We are not going to stop this in its tracks. Our goal instead will be to reduce the spread of the disease."

Meanwhile in Washington, the Defense Department, reversing its interpretation of guidelines governing AIDS tests for military personnel, refuses to rule out the discharge of individuals who acknowledge drug use and homosexuality.

In fact, members of the armed forces can incriminate themselves by disclosing drug use or homosexuality during an interview with a physician who is testing them for exposure to the deadly virus, Pentagon officials said Monday.

When the guidelines were issued Friday, Pentagon spokesman Lt. Col. Pete Wyro said individuals who tell doctors voluntarily they are gay or use drugs cannot be dismissed from the service automatically.

Wyro also had said that such information given voluntarily would remain confidential.

The Pentagon's general counsel, Chapman Cox, acknowledged Monday that there cannot be automatic dismissal. But he said the volunteered information can be used as evidence in proceedings leading to an honorable discharge or dismissal for a physical disability.

In such dismissals, the former service members are eligible to receive medical care by the Veterans Administration.

"The basic concept is that no adverse action can be taken against an individual who voluntarily discloses drug usage or consensual sexual activity," Cox said in a telephone interview. The key word, he said, was "adverse."

"Adverse," he said, refers to proceedings leading to a bad conduct discharge or any other kind of disciplinary or criminal action, Cox said.

"I admit I was wrong on Friday," Wyro said.

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fla. Tuesday, Oct. 29, 1985-18

Rocky-Van Winkle Nuptials Spoken

Marilyn Irene Rocky of Sanford, and Benny R. Van Winkle of Ft. Pierce, were married Sept. 21, at 2:30 p.m., at the First United Methodist Church of Sanford. The Rev. George A. Bule III, church pastor, performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Stanley Rocky, 204 Larkwood Drive, Sanford. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Geneva Agoranos, 203 Larkwood Drive, Sanford, and Benson R. Van Winkle, Starr, S.C.

Given in marriage by her mother and father, the bride posed for her vows a satin gown, fashioned along a modified Victorian silhouette, lavishly embellished with Venise lace, Chantilly-type lace and schiffli embroidery. The lace-trimmed skirt gently flowed into a semi-cathedral train bordered with delicate satin bows. The bride's headpiece was an open lattice picture hat. The wide brim was edged in taffeta and the crown was accented with Venise lace and pearls enhanced with a gentle illusion pouf that extended into a tiered fingertip veil.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of three white Cymbidium orchids surrounded by bridal pink tea roses accented with lengths of English ivy, sprays of ming fern and baby's breath.

Frances Hope Ford attended

Mr. and Mrs. Benny R. Van Winkle

the bride as matron of honor. She wore a wispy burgundy gown, A-line styled, with a fitted bodice and ruffled off-the-shoulder neckline. Her flowers, an European-style silk bouquet, featured burgundy asters and white stephanotis showered with long streamers to accent her gown and matching headpiece.

Donnie Clark served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Lonnie Staggs and Pat Rocky.

The reception was held in Buccaneer Lounge of the Cavalier Motor Inn. Reception assistants were Mrs. Katie Corley, Mrs. Marcella Seckinger, Mrs. June Miller and Mrs. Ann Ryan. The bride was assisted by Mrs. Betty Giles.

The bride and bridegroom were escorted from the wedding and reception in a Rolls Royce by chauffeur John Kader and doorman Bob Battern.

Following a honeymoon cruise to the Bahamas, the newlyweds are making their home in Vero Beach where the bride is secretary-bookkeeper for an accountant and the bridegroom is employed as an electrician by Florida Power & Light Co.

Organ Donor's Gift Comes With No Strings Attached

DEAR ABBY: When my driver's license was due for renewal this month, I decided that at age 70, it was time to do my bit for humanity and have "Organ Donor" stamped on my new license. When I told some friends what I had done, I was informed that at my demise it would be very costly to my heirs, as my estate would be charged for removing my organs and also for the cost of the transplants!

This is something I had not considered. Since you have access to information from the top sources, it would be a service to those who are considering donating our organs after death to have the facts. Thanks from ...

MARGATE, FLA.

DEAR MARGATE: I called the Living Bank, a national organ donor registry and placement service located in Houston, Texas.

Herma Breeden, referral coordinator, said: "Here we go again. Some people will believe whatever they hear, no matter how unreliable the source. As plainly as I can state it, there is no charge to the donor or the donor's family for organ donations. The donor hospital (where the donor died) bills the transplant facility that comes to recover the donated organs. The transplant facility that receives the donated organs pays the costs of organ donation, not the family of the donor.

"However, the next of kin will receive a bill from the hospital for the care the patient received when the hospital was trying to save his life. This bill is the same they would have received if the patient had lived or had not been a donor. You still have to pay for the care you receive when you are still alive in the hospital but not for the donation of the organs after you are declared dead.

"Some hospitals have not participated in the transplant program and do not know the proper procedures. The transplant facility instructs the donor facility to send the charges to it. If the donor hospital has sent any charges for donation to a family, they are in error, and the family should refuse to pay any bill for donation of the organs. The hospital should send the bill directly to the transplant facility, and the hospital will be reimbursed.

"The donor's family should never be charged for the compassionate gesture of donating a better life to others. It is the policy of all transplant programs to pay for any additional costs entailed by the donation of organs."

The Office Source Offers Computers, Office Supplies

The Office Source at 111 Magnolia Avenue next to the Magnolia Mall, offers a full line of computer and office supplies as well as selling computers, printers CP/M and IBM compatibles. They also offer full maintenance service on all equipment they sell and repair on some other brands as well.

Owners Linda Johnston and Donna Konya bought the business, known as First Sanford Computer Store on August 1 of this year. Linda had worked at the store since it opened in May 1984. The former owner Gene Singletary, retired to write computer science textbooks.

"We are appreciative of the local businesses that have allowed us to quote our prices and given us the chance to hold their costs down," said Linda.

"It's exciting to be part of Sanford's growth, especially in the downtown area."

Linda's participation in the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce and the Downtown Business Association has shown her what a cohesive business community Sanford has. "Our welcome here has been great and as we expand into the other side of our store we will be able to carry in stock an even wider variety of supplies," she said.

They are called The Office Source because we have over 600 sources from which we buy our products. We continually canvas those sources for their best pricing and pass it on to our customers.

Their main concern is providing total support to the office environment. We offer a unique pricing structure in that everyone receives discounted prices even if they do not buy in quantity. They want to help the small office as well as the larger complex of offices. Minimum orders are not required in order to get free delivery and discount pricing.

Among the computer supplies offered are diskettes, hard disks, multi-function boards, printer ribbons, print wheels, computer furniture, paper, labels, etc. Fax machine supplies, data processing supplies, copy machine paper and toners are some of the full catalog of office supplies available from The Office Source.

There are several large software houses that they get their supplies from. They have consultants that work with them in case you need custom programming done or instruction on how to use package software.

Paul Kribe is in charge of sales and Carl Shackford, sales and repairs.

Companies that do business with the government will be interested to know that since The Office Source is owned by women it qualifies as a minority supplier.

The new phone number for the business is 365-8111. Office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday, 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m., Friday, and 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday. Special appointments are available.

Writers Challenge INS Ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A group of prominent literary figures filed suit Monday against the U.S. government on behalf of an American writer who is being denied reinstatement of her permanent U.S. residency because of her politics.

country," the INS said. The immigration service also concluded that "her associations with and her activities and writings in support of the communist-dominated governments of Cuba, North Vietnam and Nicaragua and her advocacy and support of revolutionary activity in Mexico, as well as her affiliation with and participation in Communist Party activities, warrant the denial of her application."

Pope Denounces Anti-Semitism

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John Paul II, marking the 20th anniversary of the Roman Catholic Church's historic reconciliation with Judaism, said Monday anti-Semitism must be eradicated.

to Jews "has been for us a source of hope," but noted that "lapses from time to time into the old and repudiated language by some Catholic authorities" have occurred.

Iraq Bombs Deep In Iran

Iraq said its warplanes bombed a string of economic targets deep inside Iran and the Persian Gulf Monday in an offensive aimed at stopping the oil revenues that fund Tehran's war effort in the 5-year-old conflict.

The operations, if confirmed by independent sources, could be fresh blows to the Iranians who have maintained that Iraq's intensive air raids have failed to disrupt Iranian oil exports that finance Tehran's war effort.

Body Maintains Thyroid Balance

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT - I have a low-thyroid condition and am taking one-quarter grain of thyroid daily. It hasn't helped my annoying and embarrassing problem, which is profuse sweating even during non-physical activities. I am a male, age 23, 5 feet 10, weigh 165 and have had this condition for as long as I can remember. Is this a nervous or physical condition, and where can I seek treatment?

DEAR READER - Before tackling your perspiration problem, let me sidetrack a moment about your thyroid gland.

I'll bet your doctor was very surprised to discover your "low" thyroid. Increased sweating is usually a sign of an overactive thyroid gland, so I'm sure he was uncertain what to do about the low values. I hope your thyroid exam included blood tests, because actual measurement of thyroid hormone is much easier and more accurate than the older, indirect tests, like the basal metabolic rate.

I think you should know that one-quarter grain of hormone is a tiny dose which is unlikely to make much of a difference to your health, unless your thyroid gland was completely inactive - an unlikely possibility.

Normal thyroid tissue makes the equivalent of three grains of hormone a day. If you take a grain in pill form, the normal feedback mechanism tells the gland to cut back production by one grain. If you take two grains, the gland cuts back to one, and so forth. Your one-quarter grain is going to do little more than reduce your own output by a corresponding amount; you will still maintain the three-grain total although part of it now comes from your pharmacist. In order for you truly to build up your level of thyroid hormone, you would have to take two to four grains. Therefore, don't expect your new medicine to affect your symptoms. Ask your doctor about this.

Increased sweating is usually a disorder that appears in childhood. It is called hyperhidrosis. It is often made worse by tension and emotional strain. There is no way you can physically arrest your sweat pattern. Sometimes counseling helps people to adapt more satisfactorily to overperspiring. Underarm sweating can be controlled by the use of an-tiperspirants. You can certainly request a consultation with an endocrinologist, but I suspect he will simply reassure you that your perspiration problem is normal for you and that medicine and local treatment will, in the long run, be unsatisfactory solutions.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Your partner has made a pre-emptive bid of four clubs over your left-hand opponent's opening bid. Next player passes and you help the pre-empt along by bidding five clubs. That is doubled by North, but South, vulnerable, bids five hearts. Usually you have done well to get your opponents to the five-level in a major. Sometimes you beat them. If they are going to make five hearts, it can easily be right for your side to save at six clubs. The problem is: Could you be pushing them into a slam that they can make?

That was the dilemma confronting Dick Yarrington of Seattle in a regional tournament in Eugene, Oregon, last August.

Compounding his difficulty was the stature of the opposing partnership - Grant Baze and Fred Hamilton, both top professionals on the bridge tour.

Yarrington finally decided he had a good chance to beat six hearts by leading diamonds and catching partner with a singleton. He therefore did bid six clubs. North-South dutifully went on to six hearts, and the diamond lead resulted in a one-trick set when Yarrington continued the suit after winning the heart ace.

That was the first deal of the open pairs, and Baze-Hamilton got a bottom score. Let me quickly add that they won the event anyway.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY
OCTOBER 30, 1985

Your most outstanding qualities of character will be enhanced in the year ahead. Destiny may call upon you to play a leading role in an important enterprise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Valued relationships must be dealt with in a tolerant and understanding manner today. Be sensitive to the needs of others so that you don't evoke their ill will. Major changes are ahead for Scorpios in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Do not leave important tasks until the last minute today because you are not apt to perform at your highest level of competency if you feel pressured.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You'll feel more at ease today in social situations where you can let your hair down and relax rather than at stuffed-shirt gatherings where you must adhere to protocol.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Sanctuary and peace of mind can be found in your domestic environment today. Leave the pressures of the outside world at your doorstep, where they belong.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It's imperative today to keep an open mind. Having preconceived ideas or making impulsive judgments could work to your detriment.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Rather than letting old obligations prey upon your thoughts today, start taking positive measures to eliminate them. Be a victor, not a victim.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your associates might not be as enterprising or adventurous as you today, so try not to let their bleak outlooks halt your momentum. Press on.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Guard against tendencies today to create complications where none should exist. Think ahead and plan all of your moves wisely.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If possible today, beg off from social involvements where you might run into people you dislike. Don't let others spoil what should be a fun day for you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Unless you are properly motivated today, you're apt to be slow getting out of the starting blocks. Much that could be accomplished might not be attempted.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your self-confidence may be at a low ebb today unless you're challenged. Only if this occurs will you become assertive and commanding.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Someone who you know from experience is a poor financial risk might feel you out for a loan today. Be helpful, but offer assistance other than money.
