

Labor Leaders Fear Attack On Powell May Hurt

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — AFL-CIO officials voiced concern today that a surprise attack on Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N. Y.) may backfire and hamper organized labor's political and legislative activities.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said Monday it would be "terrible" if the Negro congressman were elevated to chairman of the House Labor Committee.

Meany accused Powell of using his public position to foment racial strife.

Powell's qualifications were not on the agenda of the AFL-CIO Executive Council but quickly became a leading topic of conversation among labor leaders here for a winter meeting.

Some officials agreed with Meany's charge that Powell has a poor attendance record, but they privately said they wished he had been more diplomatic when he spoke to reporters.

Federation officials said they believed the outspoken critic might make it tougher to get backing of Negro workers for labor-endorsed candidates in the fall elections.

They cited an immediate challenge to Meany by A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and the only Negro vice president of the AFL-CIO.

Randolph defended Powell's voting record on labor and civil rights and declared the Harlem Democrat would be a "distinct improvement" over retiring Chairman Graham Barden (D-N. C.).

Powell, No. 3 Democrat on the House Labor Committee, is in line to succeed Barden at the next session if he is re-elected.

He then would be in a crucial spot to influence or block the passage of legislation affecting labor unions and possibly launch investigations into their affairs. Meany's attack appeared certain to make it tougher to get labor-supported bills through the House.

"This is what causes us sleepless nights," said one of the AFL-CIO political experts.

Arbitrators

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Mediation and Conciliation Service appointed a roster of arbitrators to assist in voluntary settlement of labor disputes. The initial roster of 20 arbitrators will be used by management and labor from which to select the arbitrators they want.

New Western TV Drama Ends Up A Carbon Copy Of Wagon Train

By FRED DANEG
NEW YORK (UPI) — The dust that covers TV's newest western, Overland Trail, probably comes from the antiquing process.

In the era of so-called adult westerns, this full-hour NBC-TV series premiered Sunday night with an episode presumably aimed at the kiddy car set. The climactic scene has a lot of Indians biting the dust. And, as a switch, one Indian even bit the mud. He was done in during a prolonged underwater bath.

This unevenly edited hour is almost a carbon copy — or is it a carbine copy? — of Wagon Train. It stars Bill "Butch" Bendis as a soft-hearted, playful-but-tough stage coach line operator. His "Robert Horton" is a cheap named Doug McClure and one of the guest stars was Lynn Bari, who had very little to do. All were handed ordinary "head-em-off-at-the-pass" type dialogue and plot, which made it a juiceless hour.

Attempts at humor were merely time-consuming. Bill Bendis deserves better material than this. In 22 days, TV has offered three plays by Tony Webster. There was "Call Me Back," starring Art Carney, "The Greatest Man Alive," starring Ed Wynn and Bert Lahr, and Sunday night's "After Hours," starring Chris Plummer and Sally Ann Howes.

All three plays involved marriages that didn't or, in Webster's view, couldn't work out.

"After Hours," a sophisticated comedy on NBC-TV's Sunday Showcase, was the most successful effort of the three since it adequately achieved its modest goal. It entertained. Webster laid out some obvious anti-psychiatry stunts on that old leather couch and also took some B-B shots at commercialized Christmas, political neutrality, theater crowds, drawing room and waiting room conduct.

His story took Miss Howes away from a stuffy, over-analyzed finance and, through a case of aggravated mistaken identity, put her into the matrimonial clutches of Plummer, a lonely, scheming bachelor.

Probers Charge Bridges Too Low

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House investigator charged today that thousands of bridges built under the interstate highway program are too low to permit passage of the Atlas intercontinental missile and other important weapons.

Rep. Jim Wright (D-Tex.) made the statement as a House Public Works subcommittee opened hearings on the highway program by calling D. Ken Chacey, assistant chief of Army transportation.

Subcommittee members said they wanted to question Chacey on why the Defense Department waited for more than two years to establish its minimum requirements for the highways.

Chairman John A. Blatnik (R-Minn.) said that a larger number of over passes were constructed with a 14 to 15-foot clearance before the Defense Department decided it needed a 16-foot minimum.

Revenue Offices Busy With Queries

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "I don't know what form to use."

"Can you deduct eyeglasses?" Listen to the taxpayers — the trim blonde with a Swedish accent, the young auto mechanic wearing heavy black boots — as they tell why they have come to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) for help in filling out their tax returns.

About 500 of them showed up Monday at the IRS office here, a heavier than normal turnout. Most were working people clutching W-2 forms, telling how much they earned last year.

IRS officials in Dallas described the parade of puzzled taxpayers there as "extremely large."

The San Francisco IRS office received 13,432 phone inquiries last month. The Kansas City, Kan., office said it had been bombarded by a "heavy" number of tax questions. The Kansas City, Mo., office has received more than 200 queries a day since it opened early last month.

Why do they come and phone? "I couldn't figure out my own tax and I couldn't find anybody around who could. I can't afford to pay anybody to," Kenneth E. Fleet, 22, a garage mechanic, told the IRS here.

The 7,000 Treasury agents assigned to the taxpayer-assistance program politely decline to fill out the tax forms for people. They explain what questions mean and how to read the tax tables. But except for the information the taxpayers must fill out their own forms.

"We're trying to teach them the self-help program. That's why we don't do it for them," an agent explained.

The revenue service believes a drop in the number of persons seeking assistance shows that its taxpayer education program is working. In 1956 about 11,700,000 people visited or phoned for aid. By 1959 the number was down to 10,100,100.

Despite the service's efforts, however, loads of people just will not fill out their returns, even the short forms, unaided.

"They're looking for a free ride. They're too lazy to read the instructions," commented one weary agent.

Queen's Decision Draws Criticism

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth's sentimental decision to teach her husband's adopted German surname to that of the House of Windsor was openly criticized in the British press today.

In a front-page editorial, the Daily Mirror said the Queen's announcement, on the eve of her third child's birth, to perpetuate Prince Philip's adopted surname of Mountbatten "will not be applauded by the British people."

The Queen announced from Buckingham Palace Monday night that all her descendants who will not be either a royal prince or princess will bear the name Mountbatten-Windsor.

Missile Force Takes To Rails

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — The Strategic Air Command, global bombing force and operator of 16,000-mile-an-hour ballistic missiles, is going to take to the railroads.

The Air Force unveiled long-range plans today for equipping SAC with fleets of trains to roam the United States with crews of airmen and numbers of Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles ready for instant firing. This is one of the variety of steps the nation will take to keep its retaliatory forces in motion and immune from a surprise knockout blow.

The Air Force previously had indicated the Minutemen could be mounted on railroad tracks. But it had not until today spelled out details of its scheme for developing specialized trains of perhaps a dozen cars that would travel the nation's roadbeds, innocuous looking but lethally armed.

In 1959, stock dividends accounted for 4.7 per cent of all personal income in the U. S. Today, it's 3.5 per cent.

Voters League Organized

More than 300 residents jammed the courtroom in the courthouse last night as the Voters League of District 5, organized under the direction of Chairman Don Fletcher, held its first meeting.

Fletcher told the group that its main purpose is to get out the vote for the coming Democratic primary and to keep the voters aware of how the local government is operated.

Only one resident attempted to inject a verbal blast at a particular politician and Fletcher promptly told him to take a seat and not try to turn the meeting into a witch hunt.

First Zoning Hearing Held For District 5

The new county comprehensive zoning plan was explained to 30 residents of District 5 last night and about 90 percent of them reacted favorably to the plan.

Only one or two objections were raised by residents who thought their property deserved classification and wanted added protection to keep their areas residential.

Zoning Board Chairman John Burton and County Zoning Director Robert Brown went over every detail of the plan, using survey maps to explain the different classifications in the plan, from agricultural to heavy industry.

Brown said that the zoning board believes comprehensive zoning would be a boon to the county.

Brown emphasized that nothing is final under comprehensive zoning. He said that any area or even the smallest parcel of land can be changed if the zoning board feels the area is developing.

One resident asked the zoning board if there is any way to assure owners that their land won't be turned into a light industry or multiple dwelling district whenever the board decided on a change.

Brown stressed that the main purpose of the regulation is to safeguard the better pieces of property in the county and not harm them.

The next zoning hearing will be for District 1 and will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the courthouse.

Condemnation Funds

Funds for the condemned area, owned by the Sanford Ave. building probably will be turned over to Circuit Court this week, County Atty. Mack Cleveland Jr. said today.

Judge Volle Williams Jr. last week said that more than $24,000 should be placed in the court registry. Money from this fund will pay for land condemned on Sanford Ave.

The money to be paid to Circuit Court by Seminole County is part of a $1 million county bond issue. Property owners who go to court to contest the amount they are offered for their land will have a jury trial June 13.

Once the record is in the court registry, contractors can start work on the widening and persons who accept the SRD appraisal of their property can draw the money allotted them.

Commission Hopes To Change Statute

The County Commissioners will try to change an "antiquated" Florida statute that is creating a problem for the tax assessor.

Tax Assessor Richard McCanna, at an earlier meeting, had asked the board for $15,000 more money to carry out his office work during 1960.

Under a Florida statute, the money must be used only for repair work and map making.

McCanna informed the board yesterday that only $3,000 would be used for the reurvey in preparation for the 1960 tax roll, with the rest of the money paid to his employees for commissions.

McCanna told the board that he has to certify to the state auditing department that the money is used for the repair work only.

Attorney Mack Cleveland Jr. said that, under the antique statute, money cannot be used for any other purposes.

After McCanna told the board he needs the money to operate his office, Commissioner Vernon Duan said "we must go to the highest authority in the state if necessary to change this provision."

There has to be an exception to the statute, Duan said. He said he will meet with officials of the auditing department and state comptroller's office.

Ike Arrives At Cape For Missile Tour

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — President Eisenhower arrived here today for his first look at this nation's jumping-off spot for outer space.

The President, accompanied by Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr., and a group of aides, arrived in the presidential jet plane for a quick tour of the big Air Force missile test center. There were no missile launchings scheduled during his three-to-four hour visit.

His plane landed on an airstrip on the sandy wastes of Cape Canaveral itself, about 15 miles from the regular landing spot at Patrick Air Force Base, the nerve center of the long, thin island where most of America's military and space rockets are tested.

The President could not hope to see much except missiles standing in their gantry cranes. But he and his party were scheduled for a long briefing from which reporters were excluded.

Greet Shot Poops

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — America's missile test center had one brilliant success and one puzzling failure to present to President Eisenhower today on his first visit to Cape Canaveral.

Missiles, slated over the President's visit, had hoped to wrap up two successful shots of the nation's biggest space rocket boosters on the eve of his arrival.

A "hot rod" version of the Air Force Thor missile performed perfectly on a 1,700-mile test flight. But Tuesday night the reliable Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile failed after a string of 17 straight successes.

No Re-enlisting 'Jazz' For Elvis 'The Pelvis'

GRAFENWOHRN, Germany (UPI) — Acting Sgt. Elvis Presley smiled today because it's almost over for him.

"I'm glad it's over," the rock 'n' roll singer said of his two-year Army career.

Presley won't return to the U. S. for his discharge until next month. But he wears the draftee's "short-timer" label as happily as his chevrons.

"I didn't get a re-enlistment talk," Presley said. "I think they know better than that."

Possibly the Army was as pleased as its soon-to-be-lost jeep driver. His two-year hitch went almost without a hitch. But, said Elvis, there was a constant pressure on both the Army and me, although nobody in the Army gave me a hard time.

Oviedo Girl Found Dead, Body Knifed

The stabbed body of a 16-year-old Negro girl was found in Oviedo early today.

Deputy R. W. Alford and Constable George Kelsey found the body of Altames Perkins in a marshy area just off SR 426, about a half mile north of the center of Oviedo.

A butcher knife was found lying on the body which had been stabbed several times.

Clothes believed worn by the suspected killer were found by deputies R. F. Grant and Alford and a search was begun for the suspect not yet identified.

Grant said the girl was killed shortly after 8 a. m. Monday. Officers began a search for the girl at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday, when her mother, Leola Perkins, Franklin St., Oviedo, reported to a deputy that Altames was missing.

At 10 p. m. Tuesday an Oviedo Negro received a phone call from St. Petersburg and the caller asked if the body of the missing girl had been found. He told the Oviedo Negro that the body could be found behind a certain house in Oviedo.

Alford and Kelsey began a search of the area with a group of Oviedo citizens and found the girl's stabbed body.

Justice of the Peace Hugh Duncan ordered a coroner's investigation. Named to the jury to probe the death were Glenn Lee, Willie R. Hobbs, W. R. Hamlet and T. L. Lange Jr.

New Playground In City Finished

The Sanford Recreation Department has completed construction of another neighborhood playground under its long-range neighborhood parks development program.

Edward Perry, director of recreation and parks, announced that the most recent playground developed in Lake Gorm Park in the Wynwood section.

Playground equipment including swings, merry-go-round, see-saw, castle climber and a sand box have been installed and are ready in use.

Picnic tables and flowering shrubbery have been placed throughout the park which surrounds a small lake. Additional picnic facilities are to be added with several sand-box pits to be built.

Another area constructed by the city prior to the establishment of the Recreation and Parks Department in the Goldsboro recreation area which has playground equipment, lighted softball, basketball, tennis and multiple use areas. Goldsboro also has a swimming pool.

Future plans call for development of other areas in the city so every child will be within walking distance of a play area.

New Political Row Seen Over Leaks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An angry new political controversy over alleged Democratic "leaks" of the nation's defense secrets raged today in the great debate over whether U. S. defenses are adequate.

Implied targets of the GOP "leak" complaints were Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson and Stuart Symington. Democratic presidential aspirants and members of the Senate Space and Preparedness committees now investigating the administration's military policies.

Gators' Charm Fails To Aid Expansion Of Everglades Park

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The intelligent alligators in the Florida Everglades left a lasting impression on Rep. Michael J. Kirwan (D-Ohio).

Kirwan, during recent questioning of National Park Director Conrad L. Wirth before a House appropriations subcommittee, complained that he had a lot of respect for the alligators.

"One of the best things I saw down there was an alligator about 6 or 8 feet long," said Kirwan, subcommittee chairman. "The alligators have a lot of intelligence."

"All we did was clap our hands and he swam 30 feet to come over and see what we wanted."

But Kirwan wasn't quite as enthusiastic about the proposed purchase of 30,000 acres to expand the Everglades National Park. He said he felt 20,000 acres at $15 per acre was a lot of land to buy, even as swimming space for intelligent alligators.

"We have a lot of land down there," Kirwan told Wirth. "Nobody else is going to buy the land you want to buy."

"You do not have to be afraid the price is going up because you can buy it any time you wish and they will be happy to sell it to you."

Wirth didn't agree. He said that would be true "if you didn't own the Florida." He indicated that prices in the Everglades might go up some day.

Massive Storm Triggers Hail, Snow In Midwest

United Press International
A massive storm system that triggered hurricanes, force winds and giant dust clouds in the South, battered the Midwest today with hail, sleet and foot-deep snows. The Weather Bureau warned this morning of severe thunderstorms and a possible isolated tornado in an area covering parts of northern Alabama and east-central Mississippi. Huge snow drifts and freezing rain snarled ground transportation and made a shambles of airline schedules, stranding countless travelers. Some snow removal crews, unable to make any headway against the destructive storm, just gave up and waited for it to die down.

Forecasters said the storm should leave the Midwest today and race toward New England.

Winds battered the California and Oregon coasts for two days and nearly sank the world's largest wine tanker.

The 21,000-ton tanker, Angulo Peiri, wallowed helplessly three miles off San Francisco. One anchor kept the ship from being pounded to pieces in the surf.

Forty-foot waves pounded the Pacific Coast Tuesday. Beach homes were smashed, fishing boats thrown onto rocks and buildings tossed across scenic coastal highways.

A giant low pressure area, no intense that it pushed barometers to their lowest levels in history, spawned a storm that swept the Southwest with snow, dust and tornado winds.

Swirling dust clouds over a 300-mile swath of Texas were so thick they blotted out the sun. Wind-driven prairie tumbleweed piled up to nearly roof-top level in Amarillo, Tex.

Winds of 80 miles an hour blew Peggy Burns, 8, to her death beneath the wheels of a school bus near Cleburne, Tex. A Texas pilot was killed when he became hopelessly lost during the blinding dust storm and flew his plane into a mountainside.

Winds of nearly 100 miles an hour accompanied record low barometric readings in Oklahoma. The lowest readings since weather records began in the 1880s also were reported in Colorado, Texas and Kansas.

San case. One of them is this: Did Bang-Jensen actually have contact with three Russian Communists in the UN who wished to leave the Soviet Union and to enjoy political asylum in the U.S.?

Out of that question arises another: Did Allen W. Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency, ever give Bang-Jensen a proper opportunity to talk about the three Russians and to attempt to arrange for their political asylum in this country?

CIA said Dulles gave Bang-Jensen ample and proper opportunity. Others say Dulles did not do so. Bill others say Bang-Jensen had substantial information about Communist espionage and that he had no chance to tell Dulles about that, either.

Little bits and pieces of the Bang-Jensen story seem to add up to something grave and mysterious. Richard Mills of the Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. News wrote recently that in a telephone conversation last year, Bang-Jensen told him a major scandal was being covered up in the UN. That would be interesting ghost talk.

He refused to comply with the order to submit the names was incriminating. No doubt about that. On a charge of gross misconduct, he was fired. A question arises, however: Why, considering the circumstances of his being in the UN files did the UN demand the names?

Another question: Was Bang-Jensen justified in believing that the names in UN files would not be passed against a link to Communist activities?

There are many other questions in connection with the Bang-Jen-

case.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — First Bang-Jensen was a Danish diplomat who was fired from his UN job who is now dead and whose ghost tends to walk.

Bang-Jensen's ghost is going to walk right onto the floor of the U. S. Senate. If Bang-Jensen's ghost is able to talk as well as walk, the Senate will have an unusually interesting hour.

This Dane was fired by the UN after he refused to surrender for deposit in UN files the names of Hungarian refugees who told him details of Communist espionage during the 1956 Hungarian rebellion.

Bang-Jensen questioned the Hungarians as a UN official in behalf of the UN. They stated that their relatives in Hungary would suffer if their names became known to Communists there.

Another question: Was Bang-Jensen justified in believing that the names in UN files would not be passed against a link to Communist activities?

There are many other questions in connection with the Bang-Jen-

case.

Sweetheart Queen for 1960 for Skala City

Two Sanford girls will be vying for honors with other girls from Central Florida. The local girls are Gayle Woodard and Loretta Ford.

The skating performance will begin at 7 p. m. and end at 10 p. m. The sweetheart queen will be crowned during the evening's entertainment.

John Boniface, Chester Oxford and C. S. Winn of Sanford were among insurance agents who were guests at a Life Insurance Co. of Georgia meeting and luncheon at Tampa which was held by the division office for outstanding agents in their districts during 1959.

San case. One of them is this: Did Bang-Jensen actually have contact with three Russian Communists in the UN who wished to leave the Soviet Union and to enjoy political asylum in the U.S.?

Out of that question arises another: Did Allen W. Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency, ever give Bang-Jensen a proper opportunity to talk about the three Russians and to attempt to arrange for their political asylum in this country?

CIA said Dulles gave Bang-Jensen ample and proper opportunity. Others say Dulles did not do so. Bill others say Bang-Jensen had substantial information about Communist espionage and that he had no chance to tell Dulles about that, either.

Little bits and pieces of the Bang-Jensen story seem to add up to something grave and mysterious. Richard Mills of the Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. News wrote recently that in a telephone conversation last year, Bang-Jensen told him a major scandal was being covered up in the UN. That would be interesting ghost talk.

He refused to comply with the order to submit the names was incriminating. No doubt about that. On a charge of gross misconduct, he was fired. A question arises, however: Why, considering the circumstances of his being in the UN files did the UN demand the names?

Another question: Was Bang-Jensen justified in believing that the names in UN files would not be passed against a link to Communist activities?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — First Bang-Jensen was a Danish diplomat who was fired from his UN job who is now dead and whose ghost tends to walk.

Bang-Jensen's ghost is going to walk right onto the floor of the U. S. Senate. If Bang-Jensen's ghost is able to talk as well as walk, the Senate will have an unusually interesting hour.

This Dane was fired by the UN after he refused to surrender for deposit in UN files the names of Hungarian refugees who told him details of Communist espionage during the 1956 Hungarian rebellion.

Bang-Jensen questioned the Hungarians as a UN official in behalf of the UN. They stated that their relatives in Hungary would suffer if their names became known to Communists there.

Pilot Club Here Signs Incorporation Articles

Articles of incorporation were signed and executed last night at a meeting of the Sanford Pilot Club.

Members of the club, a chapter of which was established here in 1940, also named a nominating committee to select officer candidates for the 1960-61 term which begins in June. Elected to the committee were Mrs. Sidney Fowler, Mrs. B. E. Chapman and Mrs. John Lambertson. Named as alternates were Mrs. Sue S. Stevenson and Mrs. Esther Rive.

New officers will be elected at the March meeting. Mrs. E. M. Ball is current president.

Mrs. P. J. Westgate, a teacher in the Seminole County school system, was welcomed into the club as a new member. Miss Lucy Nowlin also conducted initiation services for four recent new members.

Members were advised that the management of the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club had sent the club a check for $100 to be used for the Pilot's various civic activities. And a letter was received from the Heart Association acknowledging the $50 given by the club in memory of Mrs. Gladys Starling Hall who died recently.

The annual "Boys' Night" for members and guests of the Seminole Assn. for Retarded Children will be observed with a dinner and program Feb. 28. Miss Lucy Nowlin is acting as program chairman.

Prior to the meeting members gathered at the home of Mrs. E. Ives, III, counselor for the Family Counseling Service, for refreshments. The Family Counseling Service is one of the projects sponsored by the Pilot Club.

Arts and crafts are as inseparable as Siamese twins, bonded by certain instinctive feelings in all men. Paul Bissell, Sanford artist and craftsman, told a meeting of the Sanford Art Assn.

Bissell, past director of the visual information section of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, said that since the necessities of survival—food and shelter—have been achieved in a developing society, the decoration of the utilitarian possessions begins.

As these decorative-skills progress, he noted, they then develop something that can be classed as art.

Bissell, speaking on the subject of "Arts in Crafts," traced the interrelation of arts and crafts through the ages from Egyptian, the Greek, and the Middle Ages.

He cited the various interdependencies of the great artists upon the artisans and craftsmen of their era. All the great edifices of each of these civilizations were joint efforts on the part of the artists, who were the great architects of their day and their partners, the artisans and craftsmen who were responsible for the decorations, the frescos, the stain glass windows and the decorative sculpture, which adorned and enhanced the whole composition.

With industrialization, the trades, crafts and artiana guilds were largely overcome by machinery, he pointed out, but added that in the late 1800's there was a revival of handicrafts as a renaissance of the art of the craftsman. Today these old skills only exist in the hobbyists, he said.

Today, even the pure artist, Bissell observed, uses machine tools to help accomplish his sculpture or other artistic endeavor.

In a discussion period following Bissell's talk there was general agreement on the desirability of including crafts as part of the art association's activities, but action was postponed until the next business meeting.

LOOKING TO FUTURE IN AIR—A B-52H missile bomber (top) zooms on eight turbofan jet engines in a peek at the future by way of an artist's drawing. The Boeing craft, under construction for the Air Force for use by the Strategic Air Command, is scheduled for delivery in early 1961. Hound Dog missiles carried by the B-52H give the plane striking power at three targets thousands of miles apart. At bottom, another drawing depicts a Lockheed-designed airliner of the future as it cruises at 70,000 feet. The liner, capable of traveling 2,000 m.p.h., could be developed at a cost of $160,000,000 to go into service within 10 years.

Caw, Yo All

STARKVILLE, Miss. (UPI) — Yankee crows apparently "don't caw with a drawl." That was the only explanation Mississippi State University entomologist D. E. Ferguson could give Thursday after Mississippi crows failed to respond when he played recorded calls of New York crows.

Citizens of Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Finland and Iceland can now travel to one another's countries without passports.

Visual Learning

NEW YORK (UPI) — About 85 per cent of "learning" is visual—through the eyes. Yet studies show that a large percentage of the 27 million youngsters now attending school have faulty vision. One survey placed the figure at one out of four children.

Lost: $500 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The most widespread quackery in the U. S. today is in the field of nutrition," says Wallace F. Janssen of the Food and Drug Administration. He reports that by this form of bilking the public wastes more than $300 million a year.

Labor Council Adopts Policy To Aid Disputes

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Leading members of the AFL-CIO Executive Council today adopted a go-slow approach on devising new ways to settle inter-union disputes.

This development apparently killed off chances for a quick solution to the internal wrangling that has troubled the labor movement for many years.

Consideration of possible peace plans was a major issue facing the council during its winter meeting opening today.

Opposition of Federation President George Meany to hasty action on this matter appeared sure to delay a final decision.

Machinists Union President Al J. Hayes came up with a formula to stop bickering among unions by letting a neutral umpire decide such disputes. But the Hayes plan seemed headed for lengthy discussions this week in meetings of the five-man committee on disputes.

Election-year politics, the state of the economy and labor-backed legislation before Congress were other issues before the 28-member council.

By 1970, it is expected that Americans will own one trillion dollars in life insurance.

Nothing Costly About Humphrey's Presidential Drive Headquarters

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — I trust I won't be accused of partisanship if I say that Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, one of our presidential candidates, seems to be running a clean campaign.

At any rate, some of his campaign literature is kept in a bathtub.

I made this discovery on a recent visit to the Roosevelt Hotel suite where the "Humphrey for President Committee" has its headquarters. I also noted that the senator has a mimeograph machine in the kitchen.

As far as I know, no other presidential candidate can make that statement.

Humphrey has billed himself as the candidate of the "plain people." In political parlance, this usually means that the candidate is short of campaign funds.

So you can understand why the Humphrey headquarters, on the day that I went calling, was seething with indignation over a pamphlet distributed by the Republican National Committee. The GOP document pictured the Minnesota senator as conducting his campaign for the Democratic nomination from a "swank suite" with a staff of 40 workers.

"Actually we have 11 paid employees," said William L. Sturdevant, a Humphrey press aide. "And as for being swank, you look around for yourself how swank it is."

I wouldn't want to get involved in any inter-party dispute over swankness, but I could see his point. There is no doubt that the Humphrey organization is a bit cramped for space, as witness the use of the bathtub as a storage bin.

The headquarters occupies seven rooms in the southwest corner of the seventh floor of the Roosevelt, a medium-sized hotel located several furlongs from the city's main drag.

Mrs. Lillian Vickery Honored At Open House Birthday Tea

Mrs. Verne C. Messenger entertained with open house from 3 to 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon at her home on Elliot Ave., honoring her mother, Mrs. Lillian Vickery, on her 75th birthday anniversary. The party was a complete surprise to the honoree.

A spring theme predominated in the decorations in Mrs. Messenger's home. A lovely arrangement of mixed flowers centered the large dining table upon which gifts were placed, and later opened by the guest of honor. A driftwood arrangement with yellow roses was placed on a chest of drawers at the living room entrance.

The dining room table, covered with an Irish linen lace cloth, held a silver service and a beautifully decorated birthday cake, balanced by white tapers in silver candle holders. Crystal and silver trays held the tiny sandwiches, individual cakes and salads.

Mrs. Volie A. Williams poured coffee during the afternoon and guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. R. F. Cooper. Others assisting Mrs. Messenger in entertaining were Mrs. George A. Stone, Mrs. Sue Stevenson and Miss Elsie Farley.

The guest list included members of Mrs. Vickery's Sunday School class, the T. E. L. Class of the First Baptist Church, and very close friends. Approximately 50 guests called during the appointed hours.

New officers gave a lovely courtesy honoring the worthy matron on her birthday and presented her a gift. Past matrons also gave a Valentine courtesy, and presented her a gift.

Mr. and Mrs. John Carver were hosts for the evening. The chapter room was decorated with a tall basket of triple fireball poinsettias, white sprayed magnolia leaves and a bowl of sweet peas. Pine boughs, buds and colorful leaves adorned the dining room. Valentine cake and coffee were served to members and guests.

From Pierre Balmain comes this white straw sailor with a tall crown offset by a gently rolled brim piped in navy. A SIX-POUND SON was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walling of Leesburg—proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Leffler of Sanford.

JOYCE AND GERALD COVINGTON attended the Pops Concert of the Florida Symphony orchestra in Orlando Sunday. They said it was a "wooden" performance and are looking forward to the next one on March 13.

MRS. ELIZABETH SCINOCCA entertained with a dinner Friday night and it was a "three-in-one affair". It served as a farewell courtesy for Jane and Kelly Cardiff and daughter, Judy, who have been visiting here from Duluth, Minn.—a welcome to weekenders, Phil Mark, also from Minnesota,—and as a "send-off" for Lois (Mrs. Jeno) Paulucci who flew to Dallas Sunday to meet her husband and to continue on with him to Los Angeles and Las Vegas in celebration of their wedding anniversary.

The Paulucci children, Mickey, 11 and Cindy, 4, were present at the dinner and since they will miss their parent's celebration, a large red and white heart-shaped cake was served to commemorate the occasion. The hostess also served spaghetti and chicken, Italian style,—and had phoned her mother in Miami for the chicken recipe. It's a family secret but garlic, rosemary and wine are among the ingredients to make it an extra special party treat!

JIM AND BEA LEE, more Minnesotans, entertained with cocktails at their home Saturday night before taking their guests to the Mayfair Inn for dinner. In the party group were Mr. and Mrs. Lou Trepanier, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williams, Mrs. John McGraw, Joe Trepanier, Phil Mark, Mrs. Jeno Paulucci and Mrs. Elizabeth Scinocca.

Nikita Must Prove 'Talents' On Asian Tour

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev left Moscow today for a three-week goodwill mission to Southeast Asia that may prove as tough a test of his personal diplomacy as his American tour.

The trip will take him to India, Burma, Indonesia and Afghanistan. All, with the exception of Afghanistan, have been embroiled recently with Russia's major ally, Communist China.

His departure came amid reports in local diplomatic circles that Khrushchev recently flew to Peking secretly to discuss the situation with Chinese Communist leaders.

Accompanying Khrushchev were many of the Kremlin experts he took with him on his tour of the United States last fall. Mrs. Khrushchev, who also made the U.S. trip, stayed home this time. She was reported not feeling her best.

Khrushchev's first stop on the tour is New Delhi. He is due there Thursday to begin a five day visit which will include talks with Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru. If Communist China is their most important ally, Soviet leaders tend to regard India as the most important neutral nation in the East-West tug-of-war.

The Red China-India border dispute set a delicate diplomatic stage for Khrushchev. Communist Chinese encroachments on Indian territory have alienated virtually all political and public factions in India.

Nehru has insisted that the dispute be settled in direct talks with the Peking regime after Chinese Red troops have been pulled out of territory India claims. It is doubtful that Nehru would relish the idea of a third party, such as Khrushchev, mediating the dispute.

Common Errors That Are Costly

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Many people pay more income tax than they have to because they:

- File separate returns for husband and wife when a joint return would reduce their tax bill.
- Claim the standard 10 per cent deduction when an itemized list of deductible expenses would exceed 10 per cent of adjusted gross income.
- Fail to claim all allowable deductions when drawing up an itemized list.
- Don't deduct sick pay when they miss work because of sickness or injury.
- Fail to claim all eligible dependents.

A team of 83 missionaries from all parts of the country will be answering questions, giving children's object lessons, and bringing messages in these informal services. Everyone is invited to come.

The Lutheran Church of the Redeemer of Sanford will be joining with St. Luke's Lutheran Church of Slavia and other churches in Central Florida for a mass "Open House Rally" Sunday, Feb. 14.

Woman Dresses Before Dying

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—Miss Loretta Murray, 61, always was a neat person. She died that way—her paper neatly folded beside her and dressed in a fresh negligee and spotless sweater.

Miss Murray was found Tuesday sitting in her armchair in a pose of death she must have suffered to arrange.

Police said she was badly burned. They found burned clothing in her apartment and believed Miss Murray had caught fire, stripped off the burning garments and then carefully dressed again.

State Tries To Break Down Finch's Story

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The prosecution climaxes its cross-examination of Dr. R. Bernard Finch today when it tries to break down his story that he accidentally shot his wife in the back in a struggle over the death gun.

The crew-cut surgeon will wind up one week on the witness stand after prosecutor Fred N. Whitehall tried to prove the "improbable odds" of Finch's tale that the gun went off as he threw it away.

Finch, 62, and his red-haired mistress, Carol Tregott, 23, are charged with murdering Mrs. Barbara Jean Finch, 38, at her West Covina, Calif., home last July 18.

The state, which contends Finch killed his wife to prevent her from getting $100,000 in community property in a divorce settlement, sought to show Tuesday that the doctor was having a tough time paying his bills.

Whitehall brought out that Finch allotted $2,000 monthly to cover general expenses, including the following items:

- $200 for child support and house payments to his first wife, 685 for a maid, $260 for a new Chrysler, $171 for a new Cadillac, $200 for general household expenses, $171 for mortgage payments on his home and at least $60 for a slip in which to dock his boat.

—Also country club and tennis club dues, legal fees and expenses for trips to play in tennis tournaments.

The doctor, who estimated his net yearly income at between $20,000 and $25,000, testified he borrowed $2,000 a few months before Barbara's death "after my wife had crossed my funds" — but, he added, he continued to take trips to Las Vegas even though each jaunt cost him more than $100.

Whitehall asked: "At the time the divorce papers were served on you (May 21, 1959), didn't you know that in cases of adultery or cruelty, a court could award all of the community property to the innocent spouse?"

"No," said Finch. "You realized, in effect, she was asking for all the community property."

"Well, isn't that sort of routine? I didn't know people divorced seven or eight corporations. I thought they just divorced people. I was kind of confused by it all."

Earlier, Finch had brought a gasp from the courtroom spectators when he said he didn't think it was adultery "if a wife gives a husband permission" to see another woman.

The doctor had maintained that he and his wife agreed to allow each other to go their separate sexual ways in November, 1958, after she turned cool towards him following the birth of their son, Raymond.

He says they agreed to put up the front of a "happily married couple" until the financial credit for his new hospital was on solid footing.

U. S. Officials Keep Wary Eye On Cuban Meet

WASHINGTON (UPI)—American officials disclosed today they are keeping a wary eye on preparations for a Communist-blessed propaganda blowout in Cuba which they expect to erupt in a torrent of anti-U.S. abuse.

The object of their attention is the proposed July meeting in Havana of a "Latin American Youth Congress." The "congress" was spawned by the Communist World Federation of Democratic Youth. Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime is reported to have embraced it with promises of financial support.

Intelligence sources said the Communist-dominated preparatory committee for the meeting is setting up a program which includes the following: Position toward dictators and "formal democracy"; limitations on national sovereignty; militarism; disarmament and economic developments.

These subjects all appear to U. S. officials to be the usual innocuous Communist cover designations for blasts against "Yankee imperialism" and charges that the West wants war as opposed to Russia's professed desire for "peaceful coexistence."

U. S. officials are certain that if this ideological fish-bro takes place as planned, it will provide a spate of hate propaganda against Uncle Sam, right at his very doorstep.

The Cuban Catholic Students' Movement has plans to sabotage the Red-tinted rally, if possible, according to U. S. intelligence sources. The Catholic group will offer an anti-totalitarian resolution, which the Communists cannot accept, and then do a spectacular walk-out.

Numerous representatives of non-Communist Latin American youth organizations, who were lured to a preparatory meeting in Santiago, Chile, last November, have since announced they will boycott the conference because it will be completely Communist-controlled.

U. S. sources said Castro's brother, Raul, has promised conference organizers that the Cuban government will put up money for the meeting if the congress is "properly oriented."

The congress is being advertised as a meeting of Latin American youth. But U. S. officials suspect some of the leading figures from the Red bloc in Europe and a few Chinese Communists to be on hand to show their Western Hemisphere buddies just how such an affair should be handled.

Seminole Cagers Wallop Lakeview Five, 88-51

Jim Gracey Paces Win

The Sanford Seminoles continue to run through all opponents as they wallop Lakeview, 88-51 here last night.

With four Sanford players hitting for double figures, the locals had an easy time with the Blue Devils as they rolled up 57 points in the second quarter and were never headed after that.

Pacing the Seminoles attack was Jim Gracey with 24 points followed by Ray Landquist who dunked in 17, George Perides and Terry Christensen both scored 14 points each.

The Seminoles didn't waste any time in the game as they rolled up 19 points in the first quarter while Lakeview scored 14.

It was in the second period however, that the Seminoles blew the game wide open. The Sanford cagers, shooting with brilliant accuracy, dunked in 37 points while leading Lakeview to nine.

The next game for the Seminoles will be against Lyman on the road Friday night.

In a squad action, Sanford won 88-51.

Rickey Rules Out Use Of Stadium

NEW YORK (UPI) — Branch Rickey made it clear today that the Continental League wants absolutely no part of Yankee Stadium.

Rebelling out any possibility that the New York team in the Continental League might share occupancy of the Yankee Stadium with the Yankees, the 70-year-old Rickey said his league did not wish to become "part of something unwanted."

Rickey is hopeful that the New York team in the Continental League will play its home games in a proposed new ball park in Flushing Meadow, which would seat 30,000 fans.

Yankee Stadium entered the picture when the Yankees suggested Monday that New York City should lease or buy their ball park instead of investing "several million dollars" in the proposed Flushing Meadow stadium.

Former Champ Fights Tonight

BOSTON (UPI) — Young Denny Sawyer of Portland, Ore., meets former champion Tony DeMarco of Boston tonight in a 10-round heavyweight bout at The Garden.

Sawyer, a 30-year-old who has fought only once during his brief but sparkling pro career, probably will go into the ring as a 10-8 favorite to whip the one-time champ.

Bid For Olympics

OTTAWA (UPI) — A request to hold the 1968 Winter Olympics in Calgary is under consideration by the federal government, Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton said Tuesday.

Bout Set

NEW YORK (UPI) — Doug Jones of New York and Leroy Green of Kansas City, Kan., have agreed for a 10-round bout at the Academy of Music next Monday night. Jones has won all of his 15 matches, seven of them by knockout. Green's record consists of 14 victories, 9 losses and 2 draws.

New Gator Head

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Henry Kramer has been named to succeed John Piombo as president of the Gator Bowl Assn. Vice presidents elected included J. J. Daniel, Charles Campbell, Joe Sykes, C. Lamar Dean and Conrad Gault.

Covington Covers Sports

By JERRY COVINGTON

When the Washington Senators open their training camp in Orlando Feb. 25 most of the attention from the brass will be centered upon several young pitchers.

As everyone well knows, the severe lack of pitching depth, along with spotty infield strength has been the Nats' big problem for many years, but these youngsters are giving Cal Griffith and Cookie Lavagetto plenty to cheer about.

Out of the 19 pitchers who have been summoned to spring training four of the youngsters are left handers — another thing that has been shy in the lineup. The Nats have signed Bob Swift, a former major league catcher, to work with the youngsters and he will be getting a hand from Del Wilber and Clyde McCullough, also former big timers, behind the plate.

The youngsters who will get most of the attention are Ralph Lumentl, Jim Katt, Jack Kralick and Tom McAvoy, all left-handers, and Don Lee, Fred Bruckbauer and Del Norbert, who throws from the right side.

Lumentl is from Charlotte of the Sally League where he had a 12-5 record. He has been very wild, but it looks as though he is over this and is ready for the big time.

Bruckbauer, who was signed for $30,000 off the campus of the University of Minnesota at the same time as Sanford's Jake Jacobs, is the one most highly touted by the big brass. He broke into pro ball in the Three I League last season in great fashion with an impressive 12-5 record and was voted as the league's pitcher of the year.

The spring roster of the Nats lists Bob Allison, rookie of the year in the AL, Jim Lamon, Faye Thorneberry, Lenny Green, Dan Dobbek, and Jacobs. At present Dobbek is highly rated to step into a regular spot in the outfield and, if he is able to make it, Allison probably will move to left, with Lamon in right.

Actually, the Nats haven't had an opportunity to see Jacobs work, with the exception of Sherry Robertson, who was in Sanford on several occasions, and they will be giving him plenty of observation when the spring season starts. Although he still needs that thing called experience, he does have all of the qualifications to make a big leaguer and, even if he is down in the minor leagues for another season or two of training, he should make it some day.

Olympic Stars Battle Elements

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (UPI) — Olympic athletes, chafing under the restrictions imposed by inclement weather, moved out to the training slopes and rinks today determined to get at least an exercise — if not full-scale practice.

Despite an all-day snow Tuesday, many of the skiers and skaters got outdoors for some limbering work and they planned to do it again today.

Snowfall which started at noon

Monday, when a rain which threatened to wash out the winter Olympic Games turned to snow, reached a depth of 30 inches early today, and the forecast was for a total of 36 inches before the storm abated. At times it was a full-fledged blizzard with high winds and zero visibility, and then it would slacken to a gentle fall. But the snow never stopped.

Satisfactory practice was impossible. The ski-jump was closed completely and so was the slalom ski course. Downhill and slalom skiers from several nations put on skis and went through the lightest of training on Popoos Peak.

"It wasn't much use to start training because the heavy snowfall put the trails in bad shape, but we just had to get the kinks out of our muscles and get some exercise," said Austrian ace Karl Schranz, one of the favorites for an Alpine gold medal.

The outdoor speed-skating rink was opened to practice late Tuesday. However, the ice was in poor condition and most skaters who tried it quit in disgust.

"It's snow ice and it's dirty," said Bill Carow of the U.S. team. "You skate around it just once and the edge is gone from your skates."

Hodges Vows To Make Bat Work Match Glove As He Inks Contract

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gil Hodges vowed to make his bat work match that of his glove during the 1968 season as he joined the world's champion Los Angeles Dodgers' fold by sending in his signed contract.

Ranked as one of the all-time great fielders of the National League at first base, Hodges set a goal of 30 homers and 100 runs batted in for this season.

Hodges accepted an estimated $25,000 which sources close to the club reported was about what the 35-year-old veteran received last season. This marks Hodges' 14th full season with the club.

Although his fielding won him the Rawlings Gold Glove last season for the third straight year, Hodges hit .378 despite a good start. A mid-season ankle injury sidelined him for a month when he was starting to hit well.

Elsewhere, pitcher Jerry Casale and outfielder Gene Stephens signed their contracts with the Red Sox. Casale had a 13-8 record last season and Stephens batted .278 in 22 games.

Catchers Del Crandall and Stan Lopata agreed to terms with the Braves. Lopata was cut loose by Milwaukee at the end of the 1966 season but has been re-hired again.

The San Francisco Giants announced the signing of infielders Andre Rodgers, Jose Pagan and Benny Valenzuela, outfielder Felipe Alou and pitcher Ed Fisher, and the Baltimore Orioles reached agreement with pitchers Gordon Jones, Bob Mabe and Wes Stock.

Pitchers Tom Cheney, Ronnie Blackburn, Ed Baute, Larry Fera and Earl Francis agreed to terms with Pittsburgh, and outfielder Russ Snyder and pitcher Evans Killeen okayed terms with Kansas City.

Trotters To Tour

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Harlem Globetrotters are planning a complete tour of Africa this year.

"We've touched North Africa on each of our past 10 summer tours but we've never gone into South Africa," said Owner-Coach Abe Saperstein, who announced the Globetrotters will appear in Senegal, the Republic of Congo and the Belgian Congo among other African areas where basketball is a novelty.

Burnett Tops Mather Keglars

In the big "Match of the Week" in the Sanford City Bowling league last Wednesday evening, Burnett Painters once more defeated their "cousins" league leading Mather of Sanford. However, this time it was not the hoped-for whitewash that occurred the last time these two teams met, but a two-one victory. Larry Pivec was the big gun for the Painters, with a 548 series, while John Uhr led for the Mather team with a 538 total.

In other games, Harry's Liquors remained in a tie with Burnett's for second place as they also took two games from Gene's Seminoles Cleaners and Laundry. George Kenis was the big gun with 509 for the winners, while Bob Borsdorf led the losers with 515. New York Life Insurance, led by Captain "Doc" Ring's 300-335 swept the match with Celery City Printing Company.

"Split-shrinkers" for the evening found the five-and-dime popular, with Daddy Proctor and Frank Huhn being the lucky ones. Also, Bill Hartwick and Dick Kierichy arded got the 5-7, while Ron Perry picked the 4-7.

South's Top Greyhounds To Run At Sanford-Orlando Club Tonight

Sixteen of the South's top greyhounds will be scampering tonight in a twin-bill of Grade-A contests at Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

The pair of features will highlight a swift 10-race program starting at 8:10.

The 10th event, one of the Grade-A races, will span the three-eighths-mile distance. Popular little Cri Tears is favored to cop honors in the long one. The Keith Dillon product will have the seven-box for the unusual event. She is rated a 5-to-1 choice by morning line odds.

The 56-pound red fawn miss is fresh from an eye-catching triumph over Sarabond and Mitra's Tie.

Another top-flight stepper in the grueling race is Rocky MacGinty, rated a 3-to-1 shot by early odds. This big red brindle gent, owned by Arthur Bower, beat Wayne Roberts in his last race while flying over the distance in 31.19 seconds.

Wayne Roberts sports one of the best records at the local club, having won five times and placed three times in nine trips to the starting gate. The husky gent, owned by Carl O. Tracy, is favored to capture the ninth race laurels, the other half of the double-headed feature.

Wayne Roberts will march from the seven-box, and he's figured a 2-to-1 favorite. Rocky MacDuff and Trip Latch are among other stars in the ninth race.

Mixed Foursomes Match Play Opens

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — The team of Barbara McIntire and Bob Cochran, the medal winners in the National Mixed Foursomes golf tournament with a sixing 68, meet Don O'Brien and Mrs. Boyd Somerville in the opening round of match play today.

Miss McIntire, current National Amateur fillist from Lake Park, Fla., and Cochran, of St. Louis, played Sawies golf Tuesday. Six birdies and 12 pars. Mrs. Somerville, of Toronto, Canada, and O'Brien, Richmond, Va., qualified with a 78.

Oakland Coach Without Players

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Eddie Erdelatz, a fine coach without a single player, launched the pressure-packed battle today of digging up a team for Oakland's entry in the new American Football League.

The former Navy mentor was named to the head coach's job Tuesday four days after the University of California had skipped him and filled his own vacancy with Marvin Levy, a comparative unknown.

"I have to form a staff of four assistants and then we'll go after the players," Erdelatz said.

Erdelatz appeared to be as vague as anyone else over the complexities of building up a roster. While other members of the league have made their draft choices and are waving contracts, Oakland is starting from scratch.

Hockey Board Gets Hot Potato

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — The National Hockey League's board of governors were given a real "hot potato" to handle today when they convened for their annual mid-season meeting.

The Detroit Red Wings announced Tuesday night that defenseman Red Kelly had ended his five-day retirement and agreed to being traded to the Toronto Maple Leafs for defenseman Marc Reame.

However, league President Clarence Campbell maintained Kelly was "not eligible to be traded" because he had announced his retirement last week after refusing to report to the New York Rangers.

Kelly and Bill McNeill both were dealt to the Rangers for Bill Gadsby and Eddie Shack but the deal was cancelled when Kelly and McNeill both suddenly "retired."

Wilt Smashes Two NBA Marks

By United Press International

Wilt Chamberlain doesn't believe in breaking National Basketball Association records one at a time.

The fabulous Philadelphia rookie cracked two league standards Tuesday night when he established a new single season scoring record and rebound mark while the Warriors were being trimmed, 128-113, by the Detroit Pistons.

Navy Aid Named

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — Hugh McWilliams has been named an assistant football coach at the Naval Academy. It was announced today. McWilliams, like Navy Head Coach Wayne Hardin, is a graduate of College of the Pacific. He was head coach at Palo Alto (Calif.) High school for seven years, where his teams lost only 18 of 96 games.

TV Bout Tonight May Be Tuneup For Title Scrap

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Top-ranked welterweight Luis Rodriguez faces hard-punching Carl Hubbard in a nationally-televised 10-round bout tonight which Rodriguez hopes will be a tuneup fight for a meeting with champion Don Jordan.

The 22-year-old Rodriguez, from Camaguey, Cuba, has not impressed his critics in compiling his 10-2 victory string. He is accused of having no punch. His boxing skill and poor defense.

Bomb Damages Student's Home In Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI)—A dynamite bomb Tuesday night blew a hole in the home of one of five Negro students attending Central High School and police asked the FBI early today to help investigate. The blast ripped a three-foot hole in the foundation of the brick home of Carlotta Walls, 16. It shattered windows in the immediate neighborhood, was felt over a five block area and was heard more than two miles away. No one was injured by the blast.

Neighbors reported seeing two men prowling the darkened Negro residential area shortly before the explosion, and immediately after it.

"It was probably set," Police Lt. Carl Jackson said. "I imagine the bomb had a fuse on it. It looks like it had one about five inches long. The result of the explosion went through the front room, around into the kitchen and blew out the kitchen window."

"If that window had not given it would have blown the hell out of things."

It was just a few days ago that Carlotta said things were settling down to normal at Central.

"Things are much better this year," she said. "Nothing at all happening. The students are studying and paying attention in class and not bothering us at all."

Carlotta, her mother and two other children were in bed on the far side of the house when the bomb exploded. They were not injured.

Mrs. Daley Bates, Little Rock Negro leader and president of the Arkansas National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said Carlotta told her she had just left the front room when the bomb went off.

"It sure wasn't a firecracker," Mrs. Bates said.

Police Chief Gene Smith ordered five men to stay at the house as guards during the night. He decided to say whether he planned to put guards at the homes of the four other Negro students attending Central and the three Negro students enrolled at Hall High School.

In Washington, the FBI said it was sending a laboratory expert to Little Rock at the request of local officials, and was offering Little Rock police the facilities of its crime lab and identification division in Washington.

It was the latest incident of violence that stretches back to 1957 when nine Negro students were turned back from Central High School by Arkansas National Guardsmen by order of Gov. Orval Faubus. Carlotta was one of them. She is a senior this year.

Tax Forms Come In Three Sizes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Taxpayers can file their returns on one of three forms. Here's how to tell which one to use: 1960, short form — If your income (or combined income in a joint return) was less than $10,000 in 1959 and included not more than $300 in dividends, interest or wages that were not subject to withholding. No itemized deductions.

1960W, middle form — Unlimited salary, not more than $300 of dividends and interest, no other income. Taxpayer may take standard deduction or itemized deductions.

1960L, long form — All taxpayers who do not file on other forms must use this one. Required for reporting rent, capital gains or losses, retirement income. Either standard or itemized deductions may be taken.

Soviets Believed To Be Unhappy Over Demands For Rocket Weapons

LONDON (UPI)—Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express today blamed Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's cabinet for what it called Queen Elizabeth's "and blunder" — introduction of the new royal surname of Mountbatten-Windsor. "Plainly the cabinet members have misjudged the mood of the public," the Express said. "They have underestimated the people's attachment to the British name of Windsor." The Queen decreed Monday night that all her descendants other than royal princes and princesses should carry the surname Mountbatten-Windsor. This was in honor of Prince Philip, whose adopted surname of Mountbatten is the Anglicized form of the German Battenberg. The Daily Herald today became the first newspaper to accept the new surname. "Why all the fuss?" it asked. "If this is the Queen's harmless and sentimental wish, why should anyone care to interfere with it?"

'Dog Robbing' Is Ancient Custom That Goes Back To Hannibal's Time

By DECK WEST WASHINGTON (UPI)—I think it's high time somebody said a few words in defense of "dog robbing." It's not that I quarrel with those congressmen who think the armed forces have abused the practice. Goodness knows, if something can be abused the armed forces will find a way to do it. What I mean is, I think it should be understood that dog robbing is an ancient and honorable profession. It is to this broader point that I address myself. Who, for instance, kept Hannibal's Howdah tidy while the elephants were crossing the Alps? A dog robber. And who applied that polish that was under the dust that was on the boots that Gen. Custer died in? A dog robber. In fact, I suppose that a dog robber has figured in every major military engagement since the walls fell at Jericho. Even in that case, a dog robber may have abused the trumpet, or held the music, or something. Gunga Din, of whom Kipling sang, was a dog robber. Webster has honored the dog robber with a place in his dictionary. You can find the entry on page 785 of the new international edition between "dog ribs" and "dog rose." A dog robber is defined as "an officer's servant or personal attendant." (A dog ribs, incidentally, is a weed and a dog rose is a flower. But that is another story.) The use of enlisted men as dog robbers came under congressional scrutiny last year because of complaints that some of our warriors were being assigned as baby sitters and housekeepers. Last week, a House subcommittee renewed the inquiry by making public an Air Force manual which set forth detailed instructions on the proper use of lace table-cloths, wineglasses and other accoutrements of the spartan military life. To live up to this manual, a dog robber would have to be a chemist, an engineer and a disciple of Oscar of the Waldorf. I was amazed to learn K had become such a fine art. I knew several dog robbers during my Army days and, frankly, they seemed like pretty ordinary. They also were, by and large, a contented and even envied lot. Being assigned to the general's quarters excused them from such soldierly assignments as kitchen police, latrine duty and riding the company street of cigaret butts. This always looked to me like a rather good way to fight a war.

Vandalism Problem Can Be Prevented

Several reports have been made here recently that juveniles have carelessly destroyed property, including windows, public phone booth equipment and even forests.

This is not only a police matter, but one for the whole community.

The Memphis Commercial Appeal points out in an editorial that the scope of vandalism is dangerous and costly. It said:

"Perhaps there is no more nearly inexcusable offense against society than that of vandalism. The term applies rather widely and loosely these days, but in general it indicates the destruction of property belonging to others, or damage done to it, without any need and for the perverted pleasure of persons essentially deficient mentally and morally."

"There is no telling just what vandalism costs in this country, but the price is high. The Long Island Rail Road in New York City, for example, estimates the toll of vandalism to its properties at $150,000 a year. The biggest item on this list is one of $80,000 for windows broken by rock-throwing youngsters."

"The railroad has a force of 50 special officers who do nothing except look for vandals and is making special efforts to develop the closest possible co-operation with law enforcement agencies generally. By and large, we expect, the laws against vandalism need tightening up and more active backing from the general public."

Our citizens ought to look into vandalism cases close to home and help prevent them, through that time-honored, but lately neglected, ritual of not sparing the rod.

WORRY CLINIC by Dr. G. W. Crane

CASE D-483: Harry B., aged 20, belongs to a sect which advocates faith healing.

"Dr. Crane, you have told us that vegetables and athletics don't give us immunity to mosquitoes or germs.

"But don't you think the mind helps us avoid disease? Couldn't that young woman have escaped malaria if she hadn't been afraid of it, even though she had never been vaccinated?"

Cats catch distemper but they aren't afraid of it, are they? They don't even know there is such a thing as distemper.

Dogs and parakeets and other pets likewise catch many diseases, caused by the very same germs that afflict mankind.

Thus, we humans can get rabies from dogs and tularemia from rabbits who have those ailments.

Yet those animals didn't "fear" rabies or tularemia in advance, so why think lack of fear will prevent infection?

Yesterday I described the young wife who caught malaria. Yet she had no fear whatever of the disease or she would have been vaccinated.

Fear or lack of fear cuts no ice as regards whether mosquitoes will bite your skin or TB or diphtheria will withhold germs from "bliss" you internally.

Your mental outlook and courage are effective in handling dogs or horses, which have minds and can react to your timidity.

Dogs and horses thus apparently "fear" whether you are afraid of them and if you are, they take advantage.

But dogs and horses have brains. Germs do not. So your courage does not drive disease germs away from you or curb their ability to infect you.

Your optimistic outlook and a courageous attitude will promote better health by letting you sleep more soundly.

If you are a "fraidy cat and sure you will die, that very fear may kill your appetite so you fail to eat properly. It may also rob you of necessary sleep via insomnia.

It can even inhibit the proper secretion of your ductless glands and produce spastic colitis, peptic ulcer, plus attacks of angina pectoris.

But always remember the simple fact that courageous folks who have no peptic ulcer or spastic colitis or insomnia will still be bitten just as readily by mosquitoes and flies, bedbugs and wood ticks.

And vividly keep in mind the fact that disease germs are comparable to those outside bugs except the germs attack you from inside.

You can, moreover, raise your blood pressure excessively just by fear and thus predispose your brain to a stroke of apoplexy.

An Army Colonel once consulted with me concerning his fear of malaria in military uniform. He had no terror of doctors, until they were in military garb.

For example, his blood pressure had been tested at 135. That was by a civilian doctor.

Then he underwent a routine military check-up and his blood pressure registered 219, just one week after the former test.

The military physician sensed that the Colonel had a complex, so told him to relax and come back in a week or so for a second test.

Meanwhile, the Colonel was tested by two other civilian medical men who got him at 136 and 138. But when the Army medic checked him a second time, it was 222.

Such fear-inspired rise in blood pressure often explains why people may suffer strokes.

HERO SHORTAGE

ASSIGNMENT WASHINGTON by Ed Koterba

WASHINGTON — Our presidential politicians have taken themselves so seriously lately that it may be time to get a leveling factor into the campaign.

What we need is a third party. The Humor Party. Our only hope is Hope.

If Bob Hope took on that job, he could fire his gag men. All he'd need is the script the Democrats and Republicans have been using on each other.

After watching the ski-nose funnyman at work at the National Press Club proving grounds, I'm convinced he'd find enough laughs on those politicians to take him to Nov. 8. And maybe even to the White House.

The way things are going, our serious candidates may destroy themselves lunging at each other. Hope would have them laughing at each other — and save the serious thinking for the problems of the world.

Hope is best in the art of patting the politician on the back while deftly kicking him down the stairs — and making the guy like it.

He did it before the Press Club mob. "Of all the Republican candidates," he said, "I like Nixon best." The man in the fifth row smiled.

Then Hope said: "What a convention that will be — instant candidates." The man in the fifth row roared. He was Richard Nixon.

New Ballot Box Promises Speedier Election Returns

TULSA Okla. (UPI)—Automation has come to the ballot box.

A voting machine using IBM-type punch cards and furnished by precinct-by-precinct tally untouched by human hands has been unveiled in Tulsa by a firm which has made a name for itself as a manufacturer of oilfield equipment.

The machine—which weighs only about 100 pounds and is about as big as a salesman's sample case—was developed within the past year as an answer to Tulsa County's vote-tallying problems. But it probably will be put on the national market soon.

"We count our ballots as they did when George Washington was president," said Joe Hull, project manager for the machine. "It's time we went modern."

The new device was developed by Selscor Manufacturing Inc., a subsidiary of the Seismograph Service Corp.

To vote on the new Selscor machine, a voter must:

1. Place a punch card (ballot) in the machine.
2. Push slide handles opposite the names of the candidates desired.
3. Push a handle which sets in motion machinery to "read" the voter's selections and punch corresponding holes in the ballot card.

The card (ballot) is thrust into a locked ballot box. At the end of the day, the locked box is removed and—still locked—taken to the courthouse or tabulation center.

There, standard IBM machines count the precinct's totals. Such IBM centers are available in nearly all cities and can be hired for the evening.

WASHINGTON CALLING by Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — In the cluttered political picture one old familiar element is missing. That is the con skin cap of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

In '32 and again in '36 Kefauver was campaigning all over the country with the relentless handshaking technique of a candidate for sheriff. Missing the presidential nomination — in the light of subsequent events it hardly seemed that — of second place with Adlai Stevenson, but this year Kefauver must run for re-election to the Senate, with signs that he will have a tough fight.

One reason is that he has earned the enmity of powerful business interests through the investigations of his Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee. They can be counted on to contribute generously to the formidable opponent, Circuit Judge Andrew T. (Tip) Taylor, who has just filed for the August 3 primary in Tennessee.

In the investigation now in progress Kefauver and his committee are getting down to the roots of an issue that hits home to most people far more than a lot of what passes for campaign debate. This is the high cost of drugs essential to the well-being and even the survival of millions of Americans.

The investigation thus far has shown the tremendous price mark-ups — in one instance 10,000 percent — for tranquilizers and the cortisone derivatives that ease the condition of arthritic sufferers. There was testimony that mental patients released from institutions as a result of the new tranquilizer therapy cannot afford to go on paying for the medication and so they are confined again in mental hospitals.

One of the startling revelations was that drugs prescribed by doctors Kefauver and his committee are sold in France, Germany and other countries for a fraction of what they cost in this country. These are identical drugs manufactured under license in the United States.

The big pharmaceutical houses entered strong protest. Their spokesmen claimed that the difference resulted from the high cost of research, promotion and selling which they said the committee had not taken into account. But the committee came up with a study showing that for the 20 major companies research on drugs accounted on the average for only 6.4 percent of the total sales revenue. Net profit after taxes averaged 13.1 percent and 24 percent went into selling.

In the rate of return on investment after taxes the drug industry outranks all others, according to a study of the Federal Trade Commission. The figure given by the commission is 21.4 percent compared with 12.4 for steel and 15.3 for autos.

Easier to understand than the statistics are the letters which have come in to the committee from all over the country. Many of them are from older people living on small pensions. One arthritic sufferer wrote that she had to pay nearly 30 cents a piece for a cortisone derivative pill she was required to take three times a day. On a pension of little more than $60 a month, she found that if she paid for her medicine she was unable to eat for the last few days of the month.

One of the most forthright witnesses was Henry H. Hoyt, president of Carter Products, one of the larger companies showing a net profit on sales in 1958 of 20.4 percent. Hoyt put frankly on the record the cost of making and selling Milltown, a widely used tranquilizer. His company gets from the wholesaler 5.1 cents for a tablet costing seven-tenths of a cent to manufacture. With selling, taxes, research, etc., the total cost is 3.9 cents leaving a profit of 1.2 on each pill sold.

A little later the investigation will go into the cost of antibiotics. These are among the most costly of all medicines, as millions of sufferers in the current flu epidemic are discovering.

Kefauver has gone from oil to steel to autos to bread in an effort to show how "administered" prices force competition out of large areas of the free enterprise system. He is keeping a watch on steel prices today following the recent wage retilement, with the promise that if they go up, whether before or after the November election, he will call the steel masters back to the witness stand. A strong believer in competition, Kefauver opposes any form of price control.

Many Americans may be puzzled by or indifferent to the space race and confused by talk of missile and/or deterrent gaps. But they know what hits them when they pay 50 cents or a dollar per pill for medicine prescribed by the doctor.

Quotable Quotes

NEW YORK — Former French Foreign Legionnaire Habib Riad Haws, 28, convicted of murder, vainly asking the judge to ignore his lawyer's mercy plea:

"A life sentence is not merciful. I'd rather die."

WASHINGTON — Garage mechanic Kenneth E. Fleet, 22, explaining why he joined a stream of puzzled taxpayers filing into the Internal Revenue Service office to ask for help in filling out his return:

"I couldn't figure out my own tax and I couldn't find anybody who could. I can't afford to pay anybody to."

TUCSON, Ariz. — Chief Judge Richard N. Chambers of the 9th Circuit Court of Appeals, rejecting convict-author Caryl Chessman's latest bid to escape execution in California:

"Chessman cannot get away, cannot shake the simple, vulgar, violent story of what he did. In his trying to shake the transcript, I'm convinced the story will always be the same."

Happiness Through Health (By DR. F. LEO KERWIN)

Keeping Fit!

Chiropractic adjustment will release the vital nerve forces that are required to keep your resistance up to par. You have within you all the resisting power you need.

That power is of no service to you so long as it does not reach every part of your body.

As long as there is nerve impingement the flow of vital forces to the various organs will be interrupted. Chiropractic is a natural method by which to keep strong and healthy. Thousands of individuals have been restored to a robust health and vigorous activity by the application of its principles, achievement in restoring sick people to health merits your consideration, investigation and trial.

Every man, woman and child should realize the tremendous health value that occurs by keeping the spine in normal condition. Disease is lack or excess of function in any part of the body. All function is controlled by mental impulses from the brain.

Therefore, the cause of disease must be interferences with the line of communication between the brain and the diseased part. It necessarily follows that the only permanent way to do away with the disease is to adjust its cause and thus restore the communication. Chiropractors do this by adjusting the vertebral misplacements that cause the obstruction.

One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of scientific Chiropractic, written by Dr. F. Leo Kerwin whose office is located at 301 S. French Ave. and his telephone number is FAirfax 2-7442.

Television Night Reruns Now Appearing In Daytime Slots

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—Old nighttime TV shows never die. They just seem to fade into the daytime schedules.

Monday, NBC-TV began substituting second-hand Loretta Young episodes — old Young, we call these reruns — and repeats of "Yancy Derringer" for "The House on High Street" and "Split Personality." "The House on High Street" was of surprisingly high quality for daytime while "Split Personality" offered us the dubious advantage of watching brand new mediocrity in place of old mediocrity.

There is a tendency to regard the slag heap of daytime TV as a shocking commentary on the TV industry and an insult to the housewife's intelligence.

I disagree. I believe those who must watch daytime TV, regardless of their reasons, are rather enjoying what they see and are not feeling insulted. The simple fact is that, compared to night audiences, daytime audiences are small. There must be some time-killing hours on TV and, in general, I take that to be the function of the daytime schedule.

After all, not every motion picture means something. Yes, even TV columnists sometimes turn out copy that doesn't make a literary anthology. Why waste time shouting for higher quality daytime programming when the networks are having trouble enough upgrading their nighttime rosters?

Me? I've made my adjustment to this fact of life. I give the networks their daytime hours for cutting corners and saving dough with reruns. In return for this tolerance, I can expect them to continue improving their nighttime schedules. Improvement of nighttime TV ultimately will improve daytime TV because of the traffic pattern on repeats that has emerged. By and large, that's how it works out.

Open up those cans of laughter, boys, the comedy shows are coming back.

The authoritative trade publication, Television Digest, tells us that 71 hopeful comedy series now are in preparation out of approximately 200 half-hour pilot films being made in Hollywood for possible use next season. There are only 25 new westerns and three private eye series on the list.

The emphasis for 1960-61 is on comedy, action and adventure. Even Jim Arness, the Matt Dillon of "Gunsmoke," is choosing a comedy format for his production company's initial pilot film.

The Channel Swim: "The Barbarians," a full-hour weekly series set in the Roman Empire era, is being produced by NBC-TV for next fall's night schedule. Jack Palance will star in the series, which is based on a Van Wyck Brooks' best-selling novel.

A half-hour weekly series called "The Great Barnum," based on the life of showman Phineas T. Barnum, is planned for next fall by ABC-TV. The Ringling Brothers Circus will float through the CBS-TV air on Friday, May 23 in a one-hour videotaped special emceed by Bert Parks. ABC-TV's Maverick now is filming the first of next season's episodes in Hollywood, having completed the current schedule of 26 Walt Disney Presents, now a Friday night feature on ABC-TV, moves into the Sunday evening network schedule in the fall.

St. Pete Police Nab Oviedo Murder Suspect

St. Petersburg police arrested today the man suspected of murdering an Oviedo Negro girl Monday.

Aaron Anderson, a 42-year-old Negro, is being held in St. Petersburg on an aggravated assault charge. St. Petersburg police still have to determine whether they will hold Anderson on the aggravated assault charge before turning him over to Sheriff Hobby's office. Sheriff's offices, the FBI and Highway Patrol Offices over Florida were notified that Anderson was wanted for murder, Sheriff Hobby's office reported today.

Anderson is suspected of murdering 18-year-old Alames Perkins whose body was found just off SR 406 in north Oviedo yesterday. The girl, daughter of Leola Perkins of Franklin St., Oviedo, was found stabbed with a butcher knife, found lying on the body. The girl was found by Deputy R. W. Alford and Oviedo Constable George Kelley.

The clue to the location of the body came through a phone call to another Oviedo Negro. The caller, from St. Petersburg asked if the missing girl had been found yet and told the location of her body.

Anderson who boarded with the murdered girl's mother, was a farm worker here about a year.

St. Petersburg police were told by a Negro woman, that Anderson also stabbed her last night when she refused to help him. Capt. Walter Tipton of St. Petersburg said that the woman, Eliza Dale, said Anderson admitted raping and killing the girl.

Peace Justice Hugh Duncan of Seminole County was expecting an autopsy report this morning, telling the cause of death and whether rape had also been committed.

A coroner's inquest is set for 8 p. m. Monday in the courthouse. State's Attorney Tom Waddell and Assistant State's Attorney Anthony Hoseman Jr. of Titusville will question witnesses to legally determine the cause of death.

Anti-Payola Law Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Communications Commission today proposed legislation which would make "payola" and deceptive broadcasting practices, such as rigged quiz shows, criminal offenses.

The FCC proposal was announced shortly after President Eisenhower, at his news conference, condemned "payola" as an abuse of public morality.

"Payola," currently the topic of a congressional investigation, is a term for side payments to broadcasters for plugging phonograph records or other sponsored products.

The FCC proposals would amend laws to provide fines up to $5,000 or one year in prison or both for persons engaging in "payola" and deceptive broadcasting practices.

The recommendations were a follow-up of Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers' report to the President on recently disclosed evils in the broadcast industry.

The commission said the abuses had led to "widespread disillusionment on the part of the viewing public." It said that at present "the commission has no jurisdiction over the employes of a broadcast station with respect to this type of activity, nor does it appear that such jurisdiction is warranted."

Bringing law makes it a crime for a radio or TV station to plug records or other products without identifying the sponsor.

The FCC's proposed legislation would extend the law to cover disc jockey and advertisers or record distributors making under-cover payments.

The developments came amid hints by House investigators that they were more than ready to take the eye in a fun-filled Miami Beach convention at which record companies coughed up at least $117,000 to make disc jockeys "rich and happy."

Fire Ant Treatment Aired To Kiwanians

Seminole County still has about 2,500 acres to be treated against fire ants.

Charles Youtsey of the State Plant Board told Sanford Kiwanians Wednesday that 2,548 acres have already been treated in the county. The ants here are found chiefly in the southwest part of the county around Forest City and Longwood.

The ants are found in 23 spots in the county, Youtsey said. Youtsey and George Desin of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture have been fighting the ants with heptachlor, a chemical which kills the insects on contact.

Youtsey and Desin found the ants in October of last year. They came upon a large mound near Sanlando. Imported fire ants first appeared in Seminole County in Longwood, eight years ago.

The two agriculturalists showed a film about the harm caused by fire ants and how the insects breed. Fire ants damage crops not only from their stings, but from their clogging up farm and construction machinery. They are found in fields, golf courses and cemeteries.

Who's Speeding?

LAWTNEY (UPI) — Florida is apparently traffic trap free.

The Peninsula Motor Club said the one here had been eliminated and that the American Automobile Assn. would resume routing tourists through this small Bradford County community on U. S. 301.

Club President Marvin L. Holloway said that with the elimination of the Lawtney trap, Florida is apparently free of such revenue-producing devices in its small towns on strategic highways.

The club charged that last year 40 per cent of Lawtney's revenue came from traffic fines but that only one of the fines was paid by a Bradford County resident.

The two agriculturalists showed

MIAMI (UPI) — Dade County officers today arrested Edwin Batillo, 37, only 26 minutes after he had taken a month-old baby from his carriage outside a supermarket.

Officers quoted her as saying she took Kathy Arnelle because the infant "looked neglected."

The child's mother, Alice Arnelle, had left Kathy outside while she shopped.

Bystanders saw a woman lift the child from the carriage and drive away in a late-model auto. They furnished police with the car's description and license number, a city-wide radio alert was broadcast, and two patrolmen stopped the woman several blocks away.

The baby was returned to its mother unhurt. Police withheld filing charges pending a conference with the state attorney.

MIAMI (UPI) — Most of the students in one of Florida State University's normally all-male Air Force ROTC classes took a back seat to the department's one girl student last semester.

Jean Drawdy, a dark-haired major in food and nutrition, gained an A in the course, placing her in the upper 10 per cent of the class among 450 men.

She is the only girl in the history of the organization to enroll in an ROTC course. And she says she plans to take other military courses before she graduates in 1961.

City Manager W. E. Knowles has told the zoning and planning board that since the present zoning ordinance was drawn up in 1944 most of its regulations are obsolete in some way. The amendments suggested by Knowles included:

Set up an area for duplexes only and get a definition of a duplex. Change the coding of Sanford districts to a simpler form and revise the area requirements for Negro dwellings.

Knowles also said that industrial sites are threatened with elimination when people build houses on sites zoned for industry. Home owners object to industry after they have built on an industrial site, Knowles said.

The city manager advised that people building in a commercial zone should realize that this will devalue their property.

MIAMI (UPI) — Three persons escaped serious injury Wednesday when a helicopter crash-landed on an island near downtown Miami.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Kull of Arlington, Va., and Edward Hoffman, 33, the pilot, were only shaken up in the mishap. The Kulls were here on a combined business-pleasure trip and had decided to take the aerial tour on the spur of the moment.

Hoffman said the crash-landing was caused by failure of the helicopter's centrifugal clutch which provides driving power. The helicopter's tail and cockpit bubble were ripped off in the crash.

The dead victims were Gerald Wirtel, 59, Chicago, and John Carjka Jr., Lorain, Ohio. The injured were relatives of the victims.
