Half Retire At Age 62

By BRUCE BROOKS

(Editor's Note: This is the sixth of a series analyzing the changes currently being made by the Social Security and Medicare legislations.)

WASHINGTON — (NSA) — About half the Americans who now apply for retirement benefits under Social Security do so at age 62, three years short of the full retirement age.

Government analysis suggests that the reason so many people are choosing to retire at 62 is that they are unable to find employment opportunities. The analysis also indicates that the early retirement benefits are being used more heavily than in the past.

Rev. Wilkerson quit the pulpit ten years ago to do "something to help the world." He did not just preach it from the pulpit. When you tell a young teenage gangster that Jesus saves, according to Rev. Wilkerson, he will say that Jesus saves trading stamps. At first he said that he did not have answers but he dedicated his life to finding them.

Five professional nitpickers criticize the Javelin

"Javelin is a world apart from the other ponycars in styling, comfort, space and features... the car turned out covered as if it were dipped in mud... Heavy duty interior trimmings in larger than fit competitors, and three in the full width back seat is a reality... Performance of our test car was just short of surprising... Top level cars have horses equal to the optional front disc/over drum power units on the Javelin."

The March Of Dimes

We held the March of Dimes which started 40 years ago when a crippled American President asked the public to contribute to the fight against this disease by the American people. It was a simple thing to do. It was a simple thing to do. It was a simple thing to do.

James Marlow Says: It's Time Made For Mumbling

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is one of those mumbly times in American history, with only a few exceptions, both in politics and in the foreign arena.

It's a time made for mumbling. The early days of a presidential election year.

2. The candidates are just getting fitted for their track suits and haven't tried them on yet.

3. Congress is away and won't be back until next week.

4. And President Johnson, holed up in his Texas ranch, is working on the new budget and the programs he wants to hand Congress when it returns.

5. The negative kind—the desire of some of the top men around Johnson to quit. It is still not clear whether Johnson sees the end of the war.

6. The Johnson administration's reaction to this shift is wary. It is still mulling over the subtle art of "wait" or "hold" a situation which may puzzle historians of a more enlightened age.

7. They may properly wonder why the two opponents in a war costing thousands of lives couldn't manage to communicate with each other directly so there could be no hemming, hawing, wondering, or delay if they wanted to end it.

8. The first negative surprise came before Congress and Johnson left the city. This was the news, leaked out instead of being announced by the White House, that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara was leaving to become head of the World Bank, a job Johnson got for him.

9. McNamara reportedly wanted the job because he was tired after six years as defense chief. But there is still some question about his leaving. It is still not clear whether Johnson sees the end of the war.

10. Next, Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, is tired of his job and wants out. This news also was leaked. Last week Johnson announced Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, was leaving. Johnson is making him ambassador to Italy.

11. And last night Johnson announced Charles E. Schultz, director of the Budget Bureau, is leaving. He is also tired.

12. The trouble with many of the intellectuals you meet today who claim they enjoy reading "Moby Dick" is that they have such a hard time remembering the name of the whale in the book.

13. People who work from midnight until 8 a.m. enjoy more camaraderie and generally are happier at their jobs than those who work the conventional 9-to-5 daytime hours. The big reason is a feeling of greater freedom—there are fewer straw bosses looking over their shoulders as they go about their tasks.

14. This is Leap Year. And before it is over, a lot of guys will wish they had looked longer and leaped later—if at all.

Political Notebook: Inspiring Way Young Find Selves

By RAY GREENBERG
WATERGATE (AP)—When we were young, we were usually disappointed. We thought we were a young man and I had to go to school. We thought we were a young man and I had to go to school.

Jerry (this was not his name) was content and wild, to say the least. He wanted to go to school. He wanted to go to school. He wanted to go to school.

Bookkeeping OK, Says Duncan

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Former Sanford Police Justice Book Duncan, who was suspended for the way he kept his accounts, says his bookkeeping methods are perfectly acceptable.

The Seminole County Justice was removed from office by another committee member, Sen. Ray Knotts (D-Tampa).

Duncan was removed from office after he was given a choice of resigning or being suspended. He refused to quit.

Kirk has removed two other Seminole law officers in the last few months. Sheriff J. L. Hobbs resigned after being told he would be suspended if he didn't and Constable George Kelsey was suspended last week.

Kirk again refused to send a representative to present the case against Duncan. The governor claimed before that the committee should meet only then discuss it in his court.

Duncan claimed there was nothing unusual about his method of handling the cases or about his bookkeeping, said on the case.

Crane's Worry Clinic: Why Many Old Maids, Bachelors

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE 8-57; Jody R., aged 30, took nurse's training. This in school, she met a boy named Mark, who was working his way through college.

When Mark was graduated, they wanted to get married. But Jody's father objected that Mark would be unable to support a wife.

One reason why widows or widowers with one child often keep that grown offspring in a permanently unmarried state, is the inherent resentment at sharing the son or daughter with a younger mate.

For when a widow loses her mate she tends to regard her only son as a fusion of both son and father. "Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also," states the Bible.

And one's affection is "treasure" as a widow who invests double love on an only son, is quite naturally prone to feel double heartache at losing that boy to a younger female.

And the same goes for a widower with an only daughter who probably always gets any suitors she might attract, saying "I distinguish between developing a multitude of some kind and using it... I'd do it again, if I could."

It is a country caught between the hammer and the anvil, a country that would very much like to remain in the last haven of peace in Southeast Asia.

—Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia.
I distinguish between developing a multitude of some kind and using it... I'd do it again, if I could.

—Dr. Louis F. Fieser, leader of a team of chemists who invented napalm.

MD Patient, 11, Hosts Playmates
By JANE CASSELLBERRY
An international cadet tractor and a courageous spirit have been the key to happiness for an 11-year-old victim of muscular dystrophy, widening his horizons and making him the most popular kid in the neighborhood.

Jeff Gibbs is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gibbs of 1511 Carlisle Drive, Casselberry, and although he has been confined to a wheelchair since last April he is able to drive the small tractor about the yard and neighborhood.

The neighborhood children love to ride in the wagon hitched to Jeff's tractor and the more venturesome ones even try the fiberglas sled which his father had especially made to tow behind the tractor.

Jeff never meets a stranger and rides around the block becoming acquainted with all of the neighbors. Sometimes even leading his wagon with calyxes to distribute among his friends. His tractor is equipped with a horn so when he wants to tell his mother something or is in the mood to visit he stops out front and honks. He uses 10-12 gallons of gasoline a week.

He moved to Casselberry four years ago with his family and symptoms of the disease began showing up three years ago. The cause and cure of the disease is still unknown and it affects the muscles.

The South Seminole Jaycees put the Gibbs in touch with the Muscular Dystrophy Association last year and since then they have received assistance with the mounting medical bills. MDA also purchased the wheel chair for Jeff.

He attends South Seminole Elementary School where his classmates take turns giving him a helping hand. Of his 11th grade teacher, Mrs. Colleen Wiggins, Jeff's mother says...

"God must have put her on earth to help little boys like Jeff," Mrs. Wiggins also has another boy in her class with Muscular Dystrophy.

A well-adjusted boy, his other interests include music, art, and collecting matchbox models.

He has two pets, a collie named "Bandy" and a poodle puppy named "Holly," which he received as a Christmas present.

Christy Jay, Jeff's school principal, describes him as "a happy and friendly boy whom everyone loves because of his big smile and cheerfulness."

Looking Ahead, UCLA, Cougars Still One, Two

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There was a game of basket ball drama, but UCLA, Houston and North Carolina remain seated in the front row of the Associated Press' major college basketball rankings.

UCLA, 10-6, still leads the Top Ten poll, released Monday, with 280 points and 32 first place votes. Houston, 15-0, remains second with 251 points and the other first place vote, and North Carolina, 11-1, retains third with 241 points.

Tennessee moved from sixth to fifth, and Utah advanced from seventh to sixth. St. Bonaventure jumped from ninth to seventh, while New Mexico, 10th last week, moved to ninth. Columbia is the only newcomer to the Top Ten, taking over 10th place after trouncing two Ivy League opponents.

Lions Tune For Sebring

By LARRY NEELY Sports Staff

What started out as an easy victory turned into a fourth quarter battle as the Ovidio Lions upset their highly favored opponent the Ocala Cardinals.

The Cardinals had three men in double figures led by Robert Lilly with 28 points. Lilly mentored the Lions' defense with layups throughout the contest. John Whitehead was the number two scoring man for the Ovidio five with 11 points.

The Ovidio Lions had a slight edge in rebounding outpacing the Cardinals only rebounding effort with 14 of the boards. Joe McClellan and Roy Johnson each pulled off five rebounds. The rebounds were fairly even with the Cardinals with their leader being John McQuire, their 6'7" center.

Crooms Takes On Ocala Here

By L. R. STALLWORTH Sports Staff

The "rod five" continued to haunt the Crooms High Panthers as the varsity team lost a thriller to Ocala Howard High, 81-72, Monday night. The local quietest only triumph in five contests this season was gained during the only home game played to date.

The junior varsity Panther squad won its first victory of the campaign by turning back the charging Wildwinds, 63-57.

Senior varsity standout Terry Brinson and Greg Robinson scored 19 points each as the visitors scored their highest number of points in a game this season. Leon Flynn and Ron Howard shared 22 points.

The automatic stick shift is an option you pay a little more. But you do a little less.

After 25 years our humble little bug has gone automatic. Gone is the clutch. Gone is the wily white, it's gone, but I can't drive it.

Come to an area of Volkswagendom. Sniff. And in the place? A Volkswagen you can drive all over town without shifting.

Once on the highway do you shift. Once, (This is an economy move. Which, after all, is still the name of the game.)

But you do have a choice in the matter: you can drive it the easy way (described above), or you can start out in low and take it through the gears like a regular stick shift.

We The Women

I had lunch with two friends, a reporter and a pediatrician collaborating on a series of newspaper articles telling about addition among teenagers, and they told me some of the problems in their home community.

There are many cases in their small town, mostly among middle-class, middle-income families. Some drink cough syrup, the doctor said.

Some of the young people are glue sniffers, some smoke marijuana and are LSD trippers. Two are heroin "managers" and have spent time in a federal hospital for addicts.

The thing that had in common was that in every case the youngsters said their first experience with drugs had been something "fun." It is on their minds that they are in a feverish hospital for addicts.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorced woman in my late thirties. I am secretary to a very successful, prominent family man who has a very fine reputation. He is always telling everyone what a wonderful wife he has, but you should see this bird operate behind closed doors.

I do receive an excellent salary, with many fringe benefits, but it seems that being married goes with the job. He simply cannot keep his hands off me. I have threatened to walk out if he doesn't cut that stuff out. He promises he will, but the next day he is right back, locking the office door, and starting the whole thing over again.

I know you will say WALK OUT, but it's not that easy. I am the sole support of myself, two children, and an invalid mother. This job is five minutes from my home, no car, no bus, and as I have said, the pay is wonderful. Now what?

DEAR ABBY: I'm writing to you because I know that millions of mothers read your column faithfully, and some of them need to know what to do.

Why don't mothers teach their daughters how to do a washing? Today at the coin laundry I met a sweet, young girl. She asked me, a perfect stranger, to please help her with her laundry. She didn't have the slightest idea of how to do it. She didn't know which fabrics to wash together and she was even going to put bleach in her colored wash!

This girl was 21 and married. Her husband was a doctor. She said she had never even had to help with the laundry at home. Then she moaned, "Gee, I miss the maid!"

I am only 22 myself, but I sure felt like an experienced housekeeper today. I'm so glad my mother taught me how to wash.

P. K. CONFIDENTIAL TO D.D.: The principle is the same. A girl who has never done it would steal a chicken. And a man who would steal a chicken would steal a child. It took the father a full minute to realize that the "lady" was indeed his wife.

DEAR ABBY: I'm writing to you because I know that millions of mothers read your column faithfully, and some of them need to know what to do.

Why don't mothers teach their daughters how to do a washing?

Jacoby On Bridge

Some of the easiest hands to bid turn out to be the hardest to play. South has a very normal, sound no-trump opening. North counts his 22 high card points a couple of times to make sure that he really has them and jumps to the grand slam. Even if his partner has happened to open with only 16 points, the total will be 37 and there should be a good play for the grand slam.

The play and defense turn out to be difficult. Unfortunately for South the only four card suit in each hand is diamonds, and while he has 12 top tricks there is going to be a two-suspense ending. The queen of clubs in the cool of the evening.

South will start proceedings by running off four hearts with East and West will have to do some discarding. East will know that his partner does not hold a face card and that eventually South will have to locate that queen of clubs. East will also have to make the first discard.

West will know from the play to trick one that his partner holds that queen of clubs. All other high cards will be accounted for even if South runs with dummy's ace. West will have to discard his ace of spades and his king of hearts. West will want to discard to protect his partner's queen.

The stage is set. East should lead the king of hearts. West should lead the king of hearts. Eventually, South will come down to three clubs in each hand. West will drop the nine. Put that out of spades, when spades are led, South will know that last spade, but won't know which one. He will have to guess. We all see where the queen is. Will South?

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY:—When my nine-year-old daughter went to spend a week with her married sister, she made a list of all the items she wanted to take with her. She left room to check each item off as she packed. The list was long, but she could check each item when she was ready to come home. No belongings were left behind at either time—MRS. M. F. D.

A good idea for grownups, too—POLLY.

DEAR POLLY:—When our family sits outdoors we spray insecticide on the benches.

This keeps the flies and bugs away and we do not have to keep spraying as we eat.

DEAR POLLY:—Water that dripped from a glass made a stain on my marble-top table. I would appreciate a pointer on how to remove this stain.

MARIE:

DEAR POLLY:—I am almost 40. I would appreciate a pointer to Rachel's neasy closet problem as it sounds so complicated and still childish but it is the only thing that has bothered me for years.

Get a good supply of hangers.

The store was quick to improve the clothes and accessories for after-40 women. It used to be that to find a dress for "mama" to wear at a wedding in size 16-18, or more, could only be found in the basement dress shop. And horrors they were—grat, unattractive "mama" dresses.

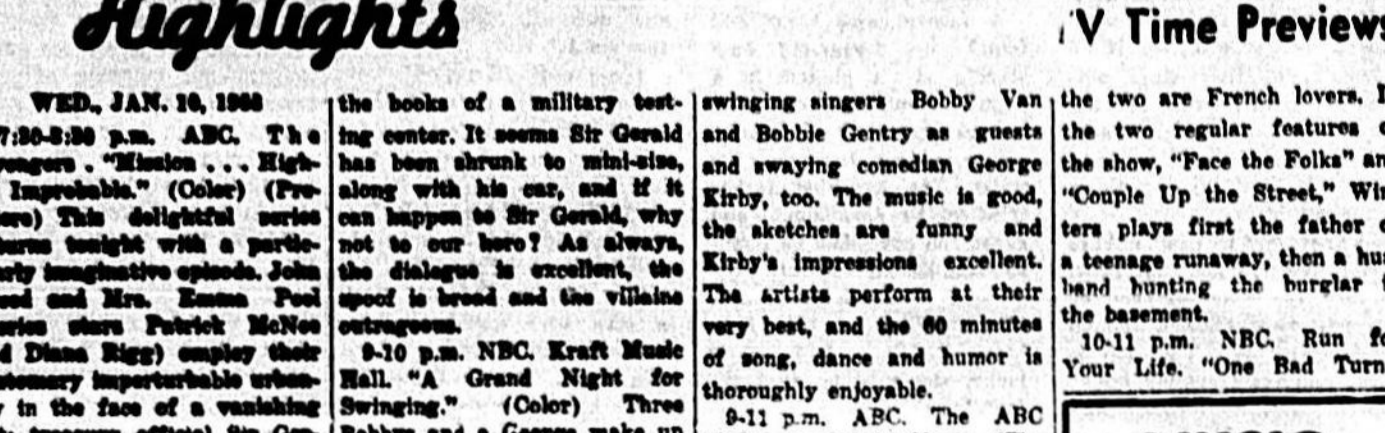

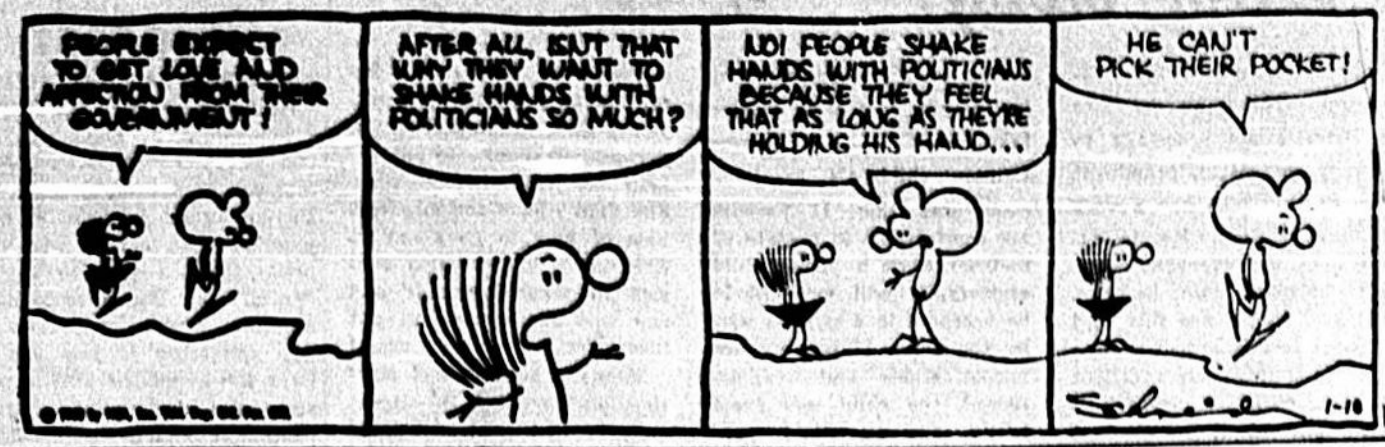

Now mature women wear what become them and they are beginning to take delight seriously, so their figures are better and they look more youthful. When you go back to work or get a new job after retirement from the old one, you must look smart and youthful. You must look your best to do your job and be accepted in the working world.

I am glad that the book "Back to Work, Ladies" has been written. It is needed. What one woman can do, you can do also.

So many of you write that you are lonely, you are unhappy after retirement. Of the surrounding area, the spotlight is turning on the need for mature women, get busy! Widows, Orphans Eligible

By BRUCE BROWBAT
WASHINGTON (REAP) —
Some five million survivors of deceased workers are drawing Social Security payments in this country.

The face value of the survivorship insurance program is said to range upwards of $750 million. About 85 per cent of mothers and children in the nation have protection under it.

There was a time when the whole government was working for dependent children but now out-and-out welfare program. But this has changed.

In mid-1949, only 18,000 orphans under 18 were drawing Social Security survivors' benefits. The total now is in the range of two million. Meanwhile, the number of orphans getting strictly welfare payments under the aid-dependent children program has been slashed in half. (For other reasons, this latter program has grown, now-all.)

Social Security officials stress that maintaining America's health in old age is not just a matter of retirement benefits but is, crucially, a question of survivors' insurance for widows. They can get little other help than that provided by Social Security.

If these women have worked, they and usually to have been "secondary earners" who have left the labor market at a fairly early stage.

Under the present law, widows who are not disabled can begin drawing Social Security survivors' benefits as early as age 60. But if they apply for this payment before age 62, their benefits are somewhat reduced.

At 62, the widow of a worker who was properly insured under Social Security is entitled to 82 and one-half per cent of her husband's primary benefit—that he would have received if he had lived to retire at age 65.

If she decides to start collecting at 60, she gets only 71 and one-half per cent of her late husband's primary benefit. If she chooses age 61, she gets 77 per cent.

Of course, if the widow has an unmarried child under 18 or a disabled child who qualifies for the disability before age 18, she can begin getting survivor's benefits even earlier than age 60.

Social Security has another name for these, however — mothers' benefits. They amount to 75 per cent of her deceased husband's primary benefit. And, unless she has in her care a disabled child who qualifies under the law, the mothers' benefits stop when her youngest child reaches 18.

Thereafter she cannot resume collecting Social Security checks until she herself becomes 60 — provided also that she is not married at the time.

A widow aged 60 or older does not lose all survivors' benefits if she remarries. But, again, her payments may drop. Ordinarily entitled to 82 and one-half per cent of her husband's basic benefit if she waits until she is 62 to collect, she will find this percentage cut to 80 if she is remarried.

On the other hand, if she remarries on the basis of her new husband's Social Security record, she will get the higher amount.

When a worker dies, his parents can also collect survivors' benefits. To qualify, a parent has to be at least 62 and must have received at least half of his financial support from the deceased worker. The payment to one such dependent parent is 82 and one-half per cent of the worker's primary benefit. If there are two surviving parents, each gets 75 per cent.

Occasionally, too, a widower qualifies, but he likewise must show that he depended on his late wife for at least half his financial support. The widower gets 82 and one-half per cent of her basic benefit.

Since retirement benefits all go up under the 1967 law, survivors' payments are correspondingly lifted to higher levels.

Stuff Peppers With Chicken, Cheese

By GAYNOR MADDOX
SEA Food Editor

Almost everyone likes stuffed peppers. This recipe uses leftover chicken, rice, Cheddar cheese and, for bright fresh flavor, frozen chopped chives.

CHICKEN, CHEESE AND CHIVE STUFFED PEPPERS
4 medium-sized green peppers
Boiling water
2 cups cooked rice
2 cups cooked diced chicken
1 cup grated Cheddar cheese
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
2 tablespoon frozen chopped chives

Slice tops from green peppers and remove seeds. (Save these tops and chop them into your next meal.) Drop peppers into boiling water, parboil 5 minutes. Combine remaining ingredients and spoon into a shallow casserole. Add 1/4-inch of water to casserole to keep peppers from sticking. Bake in a preheated oven at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes or until peppers are tender and easily pierced. Serve garnished with parsley. Six servings.

Stuff peppers with chicken, cheese, chives.

This is a good way to use roast beef leftover from the weekend.
Roast Beef Hash Chili Sauce
Sautéed Beef Bread Tray
Fruit and Cookies Beverage
ROAST BEEF HASH
2 cups ground (medium blade) leftover roast beef, packed down
1 cup mashed potatoes (from a package of instant dehydrated potatoes)
1/4 cup finely diced onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-1/2 teaspoon white pepper
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon butter
In a bowl thoroughly mix together all the ingredients except the butter. In an 8-inch skillet over moderate heat melt the butter; add the hash mixture and without stirring, brown on one side. Invert on a large plate, slip back into skillet and brown on other side. Cut into 4 wedgies; remove with a wide spatula. Serve with chili sauce.
Makes 4 servings. Recipe
Notes: In preparing the potatoes we used package directions, adding the amount of water,
salt and milk called for.
If a teflon-lined heavy skillet is used the hash will take about 15 minutes per side to brown.

LEMON PEAR SAUCE

1 tablespoon cornstarch
Pinch of salt
1 cup syrup from drained
canned pear halves
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 (or more) drained canned pear halves, diced
In a 1-quart saucepan thoroughly stir together the sugar, cornstarch and salt. Gradually stir in the pear syrup, keeping smooth. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened and clear. Off heat, stir in the lemon rind, lemon juice, butter and diced pears. Serve warm over cake.

AFTERNOON COFFEE
Filibert Crisps Coffee
FILIBERT CRISPS
1/2 cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg yolks
1/4 cups unsifted regular flour (sift to aerate before measuring)
1 egg white
1 tablespoon water
Filibert Mixture—see note
In a medium mixing bowl, cream the butter, sugar and vanilla; thoroughly beat in the egg yolks. Add flour; stir until blended. Cover tightly and chill.
Using about one teaspoon of mixture for each shape into half inch balls. Place balls, several inches apart, on well greased cookie sheets. Flatten a piece of damp clean white cloth over the flat bottom of a glass; use to flatten each ball of dough so that it is very thin and two inches in diameter. (Occasionally dip bottom of covered glass in cold water and dry on paper towel.)
Beat egg white with water until foamy. Brush over dough but not to edges. Sprinkle each cookie with about 1/2 teaspoon of the Filibert Mixture. Bake in a 375-degree oven until lightly browned—about 8 to 9 minutes.
With a wide spatula, remove to wire racks to cool. Makes 8 dozen.

Overall Economic Development Program OK'd

By JACK LARLEY
 The Overall Economic Development Program for the City of Sanford and North Seminole County was reviewed and voted upon by the Sanford-North Seminole County Development Committee last night at City Hall with Chairman Vincent Roberts presiding.

The committee, headed by Mayor Roberts, and including City Manager W. E. Knowles for his competence in compiling the 98 page report.

The adoption of the plan was the final step in forwarding the program to the Economic Development Administration (EDA) of the United States Department of Commerce for study and consideration of professional and financial assistance to the area. The deadline for filing is January 10, 1968.

Planned specifically for review in the next two weeks is the rehabilitation of substandard housing units and neighborhoods and to improve living conditions within the community.

Also the redevelopment of the Naval Air Station property as a major economic activity to offset the anticipated loss of jobs and dollars that will result in the closing of the base.

Attending the meeting were, in addition to Mayor Roberts, Harold Kaitner, W. E. Knowles, John Ritter, Andrew Carraway and Albert McMillan, all committeemen.

The comprehensive report began with a general description of the area, then followed by a breakdown on the population and labor force. Chapter three covered the industrial development with chapter four outlining the transportation and utility network. Chapter five explored the area's resources and facilities.

Chapter six reached the heart of the report and cited the dire need for a five point program for the City:

- (1) The establishment of neighborhood centers for communication and action with the people.
- (2) A code enforcement program to rejuvenate substandard and dilapidated buildings.
- (3) Expansion of municipal utilities including the need for a second sewer plant and requirements that the present primary treatment plant be redesigned for secondary type treatment.
- (4) A city wide drainage study and program.
- (5) A program of street construction in the blighted areas of the city.

For Seminole County the recommendations were for a utility plan for water and sewer service.

Next the major problem of the lack of trained labor stemming from the fact that the area has been predominantly agricultural and the labor force seasonal and unskilled.

Reviewed were the adequate industrial sites, utilities inadequacy for their development and the additional problem of access roads. City Manager Knowles pointed out the depressing lack of downtown Sanford, the lack of public facilities of the construction of east-west and north-south highways, particularly the so-called University Road, Lake Montee Causeway in addition to a thorough study of a local public bus system.

In the community's overall objectives for the future the committee's adoption of the plan covers the following:

- Development of the environment into suitable areas for living, working, playing and other appropriate human activities.
- Development of land, buildings and other improvements in accordance with suitable standards.
- Development of decent, safe and sanitary housing.
- Development of desirable economic activities and employment opportunities.
- Development of commercial and industrial centers to provide appropriate goods and services.
- Development of transportation and communication systems to facilitate the movement of people and goods, ideas and information.
- Development of governmental, educational, medical, cultural and recreational facilities.
- Development of an adequate tax base to support desirable public facilities and services.
- Conservation and preservation of soil, air, and water resources.
- Conservation and preservation of open spaces, scenic areas, vegetation and wildlife.

No Federal Aid For Bookertown Unless...

By DONNA ESTES
 No federal funds will be available, except on a loan basis in isolated instances, in the Bookertown area unless workable programs for the City of Sanford and Seminole County are certified, officials of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) told the executive committee of Seminole Community Action this morning.

Following a "curseory" inspection of the target area of Bookertown, A. D. Fielding, Federal Housing Administration director, Tampa, and R. C. Fisher, Victor R. Hollis Jr., Donald P. Fischer and W. P. Dugan, aides of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Tampa, met with the committee for nearly two hours.

"We would like to come into the area with low cost housing, but this can not be done until the area is certified as a 'decent, safe and sanitary' housing area," Fielding declared.

"Once the program is certified, we could come in within a matter of months. We could even come in with rent supplements in the right locations of up to 75 per cent being subsidized by the federal government."

Rev. Amos Jones, executive director of SCA, reported that while most of the housing in Bookertown can be renovated, "it would be ridiculous to attempt to repair many others."

He further pointed out that five of the residents in the target area can afford to finance improvements on their homes.

Three applications were listed by Jones from families in the area who can afford and are capable of paying payments required to rebuild their homes entirely.

The group hit a brick wall with the officials in discussing funds for water and sewerage facilities. It was pointed out that the cost of providing the facilities, but that a new police package automobile for the police department. Six other bids were submitted.

Expenditure of $654,000 was authorized to furnish two of the

Albany Housing 'Bright' For Navy

ALBANY, Ga. (Special) - Word has reached here that the Navy is planning to build a housing project in Albany, Georgia. Albany took care of a huge Air Force contingent without any problems, and it is believed Albany will take care of Navy housing equally as well.

Navy officials here are optimistic that so far most Navy families transferring from Sanford to Albany have been assigned to on-base Capehart housing.

There are approximately 900 personnel and 402 members of air groups. The remaining units will go to air group members when they are vacated between now and July 1 by wives of military men. Army, Navy and Marine Corps, who are now serving overseas.

WTRR Move Approved By FCC

Myron A. Beck, owner of radio station WTRR in Sanford, announced today that the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, D. C., has approved the radio station's application to relocate tower, transmitter and studios to Celery Avenue just east of the Sanford city limits.

Speaking of the move, station director William Beck told The Herald: "Our new studio facility has been designed by the station staff and engineering department to utilize the latest in broadcast equipment and technique. The plant will feature expanded news room facilities, increased operational space and the latest broadcast equipment."

"WTRR is happy to demonstrate our faith in the future of Sanford and Seminole County by this expansion. We feel the new facilities will enable our staff to provide additional service to area listeners."

Construction will begin immediately. Bloomer Construction Company will handle the project. WTRR's dial position of 1600, with a 500 watt signal, will remain the same. The move had been delayed until approval from the Federal Aviation Agency was granted for WTRR's 250-foot tower to be relocated on the new site.
