Sonja Henie Stars At Ritz Sunday In Gay Musical Film

Beautiful Swedish Ice Skater Plays With Power In 'Thin Ice'

A gay and magnificent musical film in shimmering delight from the alpine slopes, "Thin Ice," is a dazzling beauty, and burning with riotous fun. The young romance brings Sonja Henie and Tyrone Power to the Ritz in the Twentieth Century-Fox picture, "Thin Ice," which opens Sunday and Monday at the Ritz Theater.

Tripping all her triumphs of the ice in a million, Miss Henie is more radiant and exciting than ever as she displays new beauty, new daring and new breath-taking stunts.

A delightful romance of mirror-like beauty affording many hilarious funny situations, "Thin Ice" concerns the romance of a beautiful skating star who falls in love with a man she believes to be a reporter, but who, in reality, is a Prince.

When she comes to a hamlet in the Swiss Alps to accept a position as a skating instructor at a magnificent hotel, Prince Ruman also arrives with Alan Hale and Maurice Cass, each leading a rival contingent, to make a neutrality pact. He feigns interest in the hope that the contest between him and Alan Hale will lead to a quicker sign of the pact.

Having escaped through the back door of the hotel, Tyrone Power is a reporter. Then he goes to the aid of Miss Henie. Their first meeting is only casual, but when they see Sonja entering a royal car that night with George Zivert, whom they believe to be the Prince, the news quickly spreads that she is being carried by Tyrone.

The agents of the two foreign countries also believe the rumor and attempt to win Sonja to their side, and through her to get Tyrone. She refuses, but when one of them dangles a huge offer before her near-dowry uncle, Raymond Walburn, he accepts.

In the meantime, the romance continues to grow, with Sonja still unimpaired of the rumor circulating through the village. The agents discover they have been tricked by Walburn and through sympathy for each other, become fast friends. With these matters complicating the situation, the arrival of the Prime Minister (Sig Ruman) opens the way to a happy conclusion.

NEW MIRACLES OF GRACE

Sonja Henie displays new miracles of grace as she skates and skis to the tuneful melodies of Pollack and Mitchell, and Gordon and Revel in the Twentieth Century-Fox musical sensation, "Thin Ice," in which Tyrone Power is co-starred.

the dazzling wonderlands of the Swiss Alps, intersperse the romantic story. In these numbers, Miss Henie executes many skating routines more difficult than any ever before attempted on ice. Weeks of intensive practice were necessary in order to perfectly execute the routines.

Arthur Treacher, Raymond Walburn and Joan Davis head the important supporting cast, which also includes Sig Ruman, Alan Hale, Leah Ray, Melville Cooper, Maurice Cass, and George Zivert.

Luise Rainer can bring tears to her eyes at will. She does it in "Big City," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production which co-stars her with Spencer Tracy at the Ritz theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

Luise Rainer And Spencer Tracy Co-Star In "Big City"

The stars of "The Good Earth" and "Captains Courageous," respectively, are united in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Big City," which shows Wednesday and Thursday at the Ritz Theater with Luise Rainer and Spencer Tracy co-starred for the first time.

The new picture, presenting a cross-section of American metropolitan life, with Tracy as a New York City garbage driver who becomes involved in a war between rival taxicab companies, and Miss Rainer as his immigrant wife whom he barely saves from deportation, is from the pen of Norman Krasna the brilliant young playwright whose "Fury" was considered one of the outstanding photoplays of last year.

The production was filmed under the direction of Frank Borzage whose directorial successes date back to "Humoresque" and include such memorable hits as "Seventh Heaven," "A Farewell to Arms" and the recent "History Is Made at Night."

The veteran character actor, Charley Grapewin, heads the supporting cast of "Big City" and other well-known names in prominent roles include Janet Beecher, Eddie Quillan, Victor Varconi, Oscar O'Shea, Helen Troy, William Demarest, John Arledge, Irving Bacon, Glenn Williams and Regis Toomey.

Also of interest is the appearance in a realistic free-for-all street battle sequence of the sports world as Jack Dempsey, James J. Jeffries, Jimmy McLarnin, Maxie Rosenbloom, Jim Thorpe, Frank Wykoff, Jackie Fields, Man Mountain Dean, Bull Montana and other athletes. One of the picture's scenes is laid in Jack Dempsey's Restaurant, the famous gathering place of sports celebrities having been copied to the last detail.

In "Big City" Luise Rainer once again demonstrates her brilliant flair for versatility in acting. A far cry from her roles in "The Good Earth" and "The Girl from Zig-zag" and the direct opposite of her recent portrayal of the Countess in "The Emperor's Candlesticks," her new role places her as a simple New England girl who has left her fatherland to come to America, the "land of hope,"

AT RITZ WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

MUSIC IN "WISH" LOVELY LADY

Music is again an important part of a Bobby Ereen vehicle, and here we have Basil Rathbone and Bobby in a scene from "Make a Wish," RKO production at the Ritz Wednesday and Thursday, in which the young tenor is singing a number written by Rathbone.

"Danger-Love At Work" Comes To Ritz On Tuesday

Ann Sothern, Edward Horton, Jack Haley, Mary Boland Star

New ways of loving and new ways of laughing in the new kind of laugh-hit that is the funniest "comedian picture" of the year will bring a liberal education in hilarity to the screen of the Ritz theatre when "Danger-Love At Work" plays Tuesday. Ann Sothern, Jack Haley, Mary Boland and Edward Everett Horton are starred in the daffiest comedy ever produced by the Twentieth Century Fox merry-makers.

In or out of bedlam no one has ever seen the like of the frantic romances and haywire hilarity of this outstanding comedy. In nutshell (a very fitting phrase, in the way) this new kind of rickshaking tale is a simple story (simply devastating) of Girl meets Boy, Boy meets Family, Boy loses Mind! The Girl is Ann Sothern, the daffiest debutant who ever came out-of a trance! The Boy is Jack Haley, the most bewildered Romeo who ever faced a shotgun! The Family is altogether pillaged, with a cuckoo for their crest and a strait-jacket their coat-of-arms! The Mind—well, nobody does, it's all grand!

Delicious and delicious, but, oh, so darned romantic, the screen story by James Edward Grant and Ben Markson depicts the post-war Jack Haley to the bawdy Southern plantation of the most pillaged family in Dixie, a happy household run by Mary Boland, a hard-brained dowager who wouldn't recognize an inhibition if she had one. The principal target of her nuptial-making shotgun is Edward Horton, a brain specialist in search of a brain.

Guinn (Big Boy) Williams was received to drink the quart of milk for a scene in "Big City."

Florida Move To Oust Black Is Defeated

New Justice Delivers First Decision In Case Involving Federal Trade Board

Encyclopedia Called Free, Only $69.50 To Keep Up To Date

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Three Florida oil companies lost in the Supreme Court today in their effort to obtain a reconsideration of its recent action on the ground that Justice Hugo L. Black was ineligible to sit on the bench.

The Court gave no explanation of its refusal to grant a reconsideration. That was in line with the regular procedure in such an action. The announcement was made after Black had read an opinion which he had written, dissented to another, and voted against the government in a third case.

The Florida firms sought a reconsideration of the court's refusal on Oct. 18 to interfere with attempts by the Security Commission to subpoena telegrams sent and received by the companies.

Not only was the constitutionality of Black's appointment attacked but the petition contended the court's action on the litigation (Continued on Page Three)

France Is Alarmed By Nazi Warships In Italian Waters

PARIS, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Arrival of five German warships in the Italian Bay of Gaeta for combined maneuvers with the Italian fleet convinced French naval authorities last night that the Italo-German-Japanese pact against communism, signed Saturday in Rome, has secret military clauses.

The combined maneuvers, coming less than 24 hours after signing of the "anti-Com" alliance, was authoritatively described in Paris as "more than a mere coincidence" and a grave menace to French and British colonial communications through the Mediterranean.

The French press reported last night that, during Saturday's conversations in Rome, it was decided to make Berlin the capital of the anti-communist front and establish permanent headquarters there for combined consultations of the naval and military general staffs of Germany, Italy and Japan.

The military and naval authorities, it was said, would constantly be alert to meet "any serious world conflict."

Theoretically the three fleets would be unified only in a common effort to crush the spread of communism but French defense authorities feared that the "communist menace" might open the door to various other consultations—Spain, for instance—and constitute a constant threat to European and world security.

The five German warships arriving at the fortified Italian seaport of Gaeta, 40 miles northwest of Naples, were the "pocket battleship" Deutschland and the destroyers Falke, Koonen, More and Grey. They had been reviewed by Premier Mussolini when he arrived in his latest target port with Italian warships.

With lips pursed and eyes downcast Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn is shown leaving an elevator for her jail cell a few minutes after hearing a Cincinnati jury find her guilty of murder in the death of Jacob Wagner. Reds Emphasize Progress In Education And Science

By RICHARD G. MABBOCK
MOSCOW, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Russia's educational, cultural and scientific progress from that of a backward nation of illiterates to that of a country pioneering in flights over the North Pole is being emphasized in the celebration of the Soviet Union's 20th birthday, November 7.

Soviet leaders constantly remind the masses how much better off they are materially and mentally than under the czar. Foreign observers agree that the material and mental lot of the masses has risen from what, before the war, was almost zero.

Visitors who were in Russia several years ago report that the Russian, while far from being well-dressed, now is better clothed. Food now appears sufficient, if not overplentiful. It no longer is rationed.

The average wage of industrial workers has been announced as 2.70 rubles a year, or about $46 a month at the official exchange rate. With a suit costing 300 to 400 rubles, shoes 150 rubles and butter about 8 rubles a pound, it takes most of the Soviet wage to live.

But the Soviet citizen is able to go to the theater and the movies, he has cheap books; he enjoys amusement parks, rest homes and free education.

President Mikhail I. Kalinin recently wrote: "It is true that we have some 'wickedness' who compare dwelling and food conditions of our workers with those, let us say, of American workers. They scream that the American worker consumes more meat and has a better apartment."

"I believe the skilled worker in America eats more chocolate than the Russian worker. One should not take into consideration chocolate bars alone, but also the material and cultural services enjoyed by workers in the Soviet Union; for instance, rest homes, sanatoriums, kindergartens, nurseries and holidays" (Continued on Page Four)

Insurgents Report Gains On Aragon Front

HENDAYE, Nov. 8.—(AP)—Insurgent communists reported today that Generalissimo Francisco Franco's forces had maneuvered into several new positions in the Sabinaugo sector of the Aragon front.

The operation was said to have strengthened the insurgent lines in the northern area southwest of Jaca near French border. Government sources acknowledged that a series of "minor" engagements compelled the Catalan militiamen to withdraw but asserted that the insurgent advance was limited to less than a mile.

Post Office Is Set For Work In Jobless Census

Unemployed Requested To Sign Cards Return To Mails

Plans are being carried to completion for the first national unemployment census to be conducted through the United States mail, local Postmaster R. J. Holly announced today.

Some time next week cards to be used for the census will be delivered to every dwelling or mailbox in Sanford and Seminole County, Mr. Holly stated, adding that most of them will be thrown away since the Federal Government is not interested in those having jobs.

Persons who are out of work or who have only part time employment are requested to fill out the card and drop them in the mails or return them to the carriers. No postage will be required for the cards.

The census was approved at the last session of Congress and through it the President and Congress hope to ascertain as nearly as possible the exact number of unemployed persons in Sanford and Seminole County as well as throughout the Nation, Mr. Holly said.

In conclusion the local Postmaster stated that the following are the persons who should register: Those who have worked for pay, who are able to work and still want work; those who formerly had their own business, farm or professional practice, and no longer work at it, who are able to work and want work; those now looking for their first jobs; those now working part time at regular jobs, who are able to do more work and want more work; those employed part time on irregular work, who want more work and are able to do (Continued on Page Four)

NANKING, Nov. 8.—(AP)—More than 200 passengers were killed or injured today, Chinese Ministry of Railways said, when six Japanese planes destroyed seven coaches of the southbound Tsinan-Pukow Express train at Sishipo Station about 150 miles northwest of Nanking. The ministry declared the train carried no troops.

The Chinese declared tonight they had launched a counter-offensive to isolate the Japanese force south of Shanghai, estimated at 25,000 men, from its landing base on the sea coast.

Severe fighting broke out both south and west of Shanghai, in Chekiang province to the south the Chinese declared they had repulsed a surprise Japanese thrust toward Shanghai from the Hangchow Bay area.

The Japanese reported advances south of Bochow Creek on the western edge of Shanghai's international settlement. Chinese reinforcements were rushed to Shanghai, a vital point in the Chinese defense against which one of the 200 Japanese columns was striking from the south.

was "invalid, ineffectual, null and void" because the new justice "could not sit in judgment" as an unbiased, unprejudiced, fair, and impartial judge.

Justice Black today delivered his first Supreme Court decision sustaining the Federal Trade Commission's contention that two firms had engaged in unfair methods of competition in marketing their product in interstate commerce.

The Court's newest justice read the opinion in a firm and steady voice glancing about the courtroom several times. No dissent to the decision was announced.

The Commission had contended that the companies had told prospective customers they had been selected to receive free encyclopedias and would have to pay only $69.50 for loose leaf material to keep it up to date.

"These representations are false and misleading," the Commission said, "the price of $69.50 is in fact the regular price of the encyclopedia plus the loose-leaf service."

contractors and with the length of time taken between commissioning and finally joining the fleet as active units.

"One heavy cruiser and nine 10,000-ton light cruisers are under construction. Several improvements in armament of the Wichita have delayed its completion date. All of the program has been delayed by strikes, late delivery of materials, insufficient drafting force, and necessary changes during construction.

"The delivery of the aircraft carrier Yorktown is delayed due to defective reduction gears, which must be replaced before that ship will be ready to join the fleet as an active unit. The Enterprise (aircraft carrier) should be delivered before the end of the fiscal year 1938. The keel of the Wasp (aircraft carrier) was laid April 1, 1936, but it is too early to predict a date of completion on that ship."

"Fifty-three destroyers have been under construction. Of these the Drayton and Lamson have joined the fleet. Twenty-three of these vessels have been delayed in joining the fleet by strikes, late delivery of material, and necessary changes during construction.

"The Walsh-Healey Act, which is representative of the New Deal's labor policies, slowed up procurement of material for naval construction by imposing new contractual stipulations.

In view of the menacing world political situation, this legislative action may be the focal point for bitter congressional debate on the wages and hours bill.

Soviets Emphasize Science, Education

Thirty million children are going to school in Russia, where there were only 7,500,000 before the revolution. Illiteracy has been reduced from 87 percent to 10 percent. The young Russians have 92,000 playgrounds, where they had only 125 under the czar.

Until Soviet Russia's struggling industrial development catches up with the needs of the 170,000,000 inhabitants, there is unlikely to be any unemployment. New areas have been settled and are being developed, notably the great region above the Arctic circle.

A drive is noticeable to develop new political leaders in the younger generations. Managers of factories and other industrial leaders likewise are being recruited among the younger workers, who have shown outstanding ability.

One reason for the reliance on youth is its loyalty to the communist regime as headed by Joseph Stalin, since the new generation was born and educated to it. It is perhaps significant that fathers, mothers and grandfathers have been asked to tell their children about the terror of the past, the forced labor which bent backs in capitalist factories and fields for fat owners and landlords, the mockery of the people by the czar's dogs—the police.

Although the dread political police watches over the loyalty of the Soviet citizen, the purge appears to have affected the ordinary Russian little, except to make him shirk dangerous responsibility, keep his mouth shut tighter so far as politics is concerned and avoid contact with foreigners, lest he be suspected of treating with spies.

What the Russian talks about in the one room assigned his family in the overcrowded cities is thus denied foreign ears. In the streets, where the great majority of Russians seem to pass most of their leisure time, the talk on any political or international question adheres strictly to the formulas of the official press.

"Free love" in the Soviet Union once was an object of criticism in the outside world. Relations between the young of the sexes appear free and easy enough now. But family life has become more stabilized, vital statistics indicate, by the abolition of legal abortions, and encouragement of child-rearing and discouragement of divorce by making it more costly.

Soviet Russia, like other countries of Europe, is intent on rearing a lot of healthy young men for the next war. It is said that one out of every three women in Moscow is an expectant mother. That is an exaggeration; statistics indicate only one in seven.

The year-old constitution, with its provision for direct, secret elections, indicates the Soviet leaders consider the revolution over and the people ready for the ballot. Whether the current purge will end the state of civil war, through which, critics say, Russia is still passing, is one of the manifold mysteries of Russian life.

Over 200 Passengers Killed By Japanese

Chinese army communiques reported, was held on the far side of the Whangpoo River from Shanghai when Chinese defenders forced the vanguard back across the stream at Minhang, 15 miles south of Shanghai.

Simultaneously the Japanese admitted their earlier claims of occupation of Taiyuan-Fu, capital of Shansi Province in North China, were premature. A Greek battle still is raging around the walled city. A number of Americans in the Taiyuan-Fu area were unreported and it was feared they were in grave danger.

Both Tokyo and Nanking again denied reports from Berlin that Germany was attempting a truce in the general Chinese-Japanese war. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, supreme Chinese war dictator, asserted again that China will accept mediation from nobody but intends to fight to the bitter end.

More than 100 Japanese airplanes Sunday bombed a dozen cities in the Shanghai area killing hundreds of Chinese.

Fighting in the great killing which has raged around this international city since mid-August today was going on with tremendous ferocity along a broken line of about 50 miles.

The Japanese were attacking everywhere and foreign military attaches believed that the best of the Central Chinese government troops formerly engaged around the city had been withdrawn westward to the great "Hindenburg" line defense works in the Soo-how Lakes region between Shanghai and Nanking.

An area of more than 500 square miles in and around Shanghai was a shambles.

Rotary Hears Conservation Needs in U. S.

the antelope play," Dr. Hadley said that already there is practically no place in the country where the buffalo roams, or where the deer and antelope play, and that if conservation laws are not strengthened and better enforced, the advance of civilization will soon blot out all wildlife altogether.

Declaring that his chief interest lies in the preservation of birds and animals, Dr. Hadley declared that the waste of this country's natural resources is not alone confined to wild life but extends also to farmlands, forests, and to even the minerals and oils underground. He said that there is a veritable "made scramble" to get all the oil under the ground out of the earth and he insisted that this, as well as wild life, should be protected for the sake of future generations.

Attributing the indifference of the public to conservation, he said that apparently the trouble springs from an "illusion of infinity." In other words he declared people seem to think that the wealth of this country is literally inexhaustible. "When farmers wear out one farming section," he says, "they have simply moved on to another newer farming section, but the time is coming when there will be no new lands to move to."

Wild life, he continued, has four principal values in this country: (1) economic, (2) recreational, (3) scientific, and (4) sentimental or esthetic. The latter, he added, is as important as the others, for a country loses much of its population when its wild life has been destroyed, and its game, birds and fish are no more.

Declaring that he first came to Florida some 40 years ago, Dr. Hadley said that he took a trip through the Everglades when most of that country was under water, and constituted excellent homes for ducks, and wildlife of every description, and in those days he said the lakes and streams were literally black with ducks. Today he said they are all gone.

The two principal causes for the disappearance of wildlife, Dr. Hadley said, are (1) overhunting, or the ruthless killing of birds, regardless of laws, and (2) the destruction of breeding grounds, and the natural environment for wildlife, due largely to drainage of marsh lands.

The correction of this situation is dependent, he said, upon the enactment of the proper game protection laws, the enforcement of such laws, the divorce of both game laws and enforcement from the realm of politics, and the requisition by the government of bird sanctuaries, game preserves, and fish hatcheries.

In Florida, he said, the problem of conservation rests itself into (1) the conservation of wildlife, (2) the conservation of forests, and (3) the conservation of water resources. In this connection, he said, such a project as the cross state canal should be approached with the greatest caution.

Others present at today's luncheon were H. E. Clond, a former president of the Orlando Rotary Club, S. O. Chase, who has recently returned from Asheville where he spent the summer, and Donald Lamson, junior Rotarian for the month.
