Across-Board Sales Tax Proposed In Senate

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A broad, across-the-board sales tax hitting virtually everything but medicines was introduced in the Senate today as subcommittees searched frantically for new revenue to finance record spending.

A part of the additional revenue would be earmarked for the cities and counties.

The bill, which could produce up to $200 million in new revenue per biennium, was offered by Sen. Ed Fraser, McClenny, and Dewey Johnson, Quincy.

It goes much further than another across-the-board tax proposed by Fraser at the start of the session, which included groceries but con-

Monkey Bite Case Aired

Forced In Parked Car, Girl Testifies

The "monkey bite" attempted rape case went to trial this morning before an all-white six-man jury in the circuit court of Judge Vassar Carlton.

Charles Edward Sparks, 20-year-old Sanford Negro weighing 200 pounds and six feet tall, is on trial for attempted robbery and attempted rape of a hospital employee last March 23.

The hospital employee, a 30-year-old white girl weighing 100 pounds and five feet three inches tall, this morning told of Sparks entering the hospital shortly before midnight, attempting to burglarize the hospital safe and then forcing her to leave the hospital with him.

The girl testified Sparks forced her to a station wagon parked in the hospital lot, telling her he was "going to make love to me." When he found the station wagon locked, she said, he forced her to accompany him to the Negro section of the city.

When she continued to refuse to cooperate, the girl testified, he dressed himself, directed her to leave the car and returned her to the hospital.

Sparks was arrested the same night by city police after the girl told them he had remarked he had been bitten by an animal and police recalled the Negro had been bitten by a monkey at the Sanford Zoo where he worked — a "fruit" well — serving a minor sentence in the city jail.

Robert Bessner, hospital administrator, testified shortly before the noon recess that the girl was a hospital employee and on duty the night of March 23 and that Sparks was a former employee of the hospital.

The trial was to resume at 1 p.m. today.

Assistant State Attorney A. J. Hoesman Jr., Cocoa Beach, is prosecuting the case while Sparks is represented by Norris D. Woolfork III, Orlando Negro attorney.

Money Okayed For College

The House appropriations committee Wednesday added $1 million to the $511,000 already approved by the full Senate for the establishment of a branch of the University of Florida engineering college in East Central Florida, according to Douglas Stenstrom, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce long range committee on education, today.

The full House Wednesday approved a Senate bill authorizing a state university or branch university in this area but with an amendment which will send it back to the Senate for concurrence. The amendment would add Flagler County to the seven counties of East Central Florida interested in having a school located in their respective counties.

The university was a recommendation of a special area study of Florida's university system which was released shortly before the opening of the 1963 session.

'Closed' Meet 'Harmonious' Chairman Says

"A very harmonious meeting," those were the words from County Commission chairman J. C. Hutchison regarding the closed door joint County-School Board meeting Wednesday night.

"We talked over mutual problems," Hutchison told the Herald today and it was "harmonious."

The press was not invited to the meeting and a reporter was told at the door "if the something is resolved, the people will be told."

Hutchison said that adding matters discussed in access roads to any future school sites and that the County Commission will be informed on future sites so they can map out roads going into schools regarding paving and drainage.

The meeting lasted over an hour, the commission chairman disclosed.

Bryant Signs Needy Aid Bill

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — With a stroke of the pen today, Gov. Farris Bryant made Florida eligible for about $8 million in federal Kerr-Mills funds for hospital and nursing care for the aged.

The measure will cost the state about $1.2 million over the next two years and the money is provided in the general appropriations bill. Sponsors said it would get back for this money about $8 million in federal funds.

The program is limited to persons over 65 years of age who are not on public welfare but who cannot afford big hospital bills without cutting into their food and board budgets. Welfare pensioners are provided for under an other state hospital program in effect for several years.

Don't Count Me Out, Karl Says

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — State Rep. Frederick Karl of Daytona Beach has let it be known in no uncertain terms that he is not to be counted out as a possible starter in the 1964 race for governor.

Karl moved quickly to squelch rumors that he has decided to bow out in favor of Sen. John E. Matthews Jr., Jacksonville.

The rumors flooded the Capitol when former Sen. Boyle Carlton, Wauchula, 1960 runner-up for governor, paid a pop call to Tallahassee earlier this week and held a series of meetings with potential candidates and top political advisors.

Karl told UPI he had a "long meeting" with Carlton but he said no decisions were made, indicating that his position has not changed since he announced just prior to the Legislature that he was strongly considering the race.

2 Teams Conquer Everest

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI) — Two American climbing teams conquered Mt. Everest over separate routes within three hours of each other in an unprecedented twin assault on the world's highest mountain, it was disclosed today.

Word from the base camp of the American expedition said the four victorious climbers are in "good health" and on their way back down together.

Radio reports said one assault team of Barry C. Bishop, 36, of Washington, D. C., and Luther G. Jerstad, 32, of Eugene, Ore., reached the 29,029-foot peak at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday by way of the south col—the route used by all previous successful assaults.

Three hours later the team of Dr. William Unsworth, 36, of Corvallis, Ore., and Dr. Thomas F. Hornum, 32, of San Diego, Calif., reached the top via the previously unexplored west ridge.

The two teams reported by walkie-talkie radio that they were descending the mountain together by the south col. They were between 2,000-foot camp 3 and 21,350-foot camp 2 when contacted late today.

Police Probe Corpse In Lake

Local authorities today were endeavoring to identify a body recovered Wednesday afternoon in Lake Monroe and tentatively identified as Albert Robinson, 56.

The body was discovered floating on the surface by a 55-year-old Negro, Joe Hines, of 705 Orange Avenue, while fishing from the city breakwater.

Peace Justice and Coroner Hugh Duncan said it appeared the body had been in the lake for a week. No autopsy was ordered since, Judge Duncan said, there was no evidence of foul play.

Social Security and health cards bore the name of Albert Robinson, 56, giving his address as a Lakeland hotel. The hotel manager told The Herald an "Albert Robinson" had been employed there as a dishwasher but had been discharged three weeks ago.

He added the man returned about 10 days ago with a request to be reinstated in his job but had been refused.

Other papers, including a Tampa bank deposit slip, gave other names but efforts to contact these persons have been to no avail.

Authorities expressed the opinion there was no connection in Robinson's death with that of a 43-year-old Paula Barber, Floyd Dodson, whose beaten body was discovered May 15 in the St. Johns River. Four men have been charged with first degree murder in Dodson's death.

Judge Duncan requested today that any relatives or friends of Robinson contact him.

The Hrisson Funeral Home also is endeavoring to locate relatives.

Navy 'Slaps' Carrier Critics

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — The Navy tore into critics of its controversial aircraft carriers today, contending the flat-tops were America's best weapons for meeting rising Red military threats in Africa, the Middle East and South Asia.

At a time when Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara was gravely pondering the carriers' future role, a bevy of admirals came to the AviationSpace Writers Association's 25th annual meeting to unwork a spirited defense of the multi-million dollar ships.

There were shades of the famed 1949 inter-service fight over carriers and bombers in some of today's arguments. These were calculated to pull land-based combat planes in a comparatively unfavorable light for dealing with limited war in remote areas.

Crapps had a "lengthy discussion" Wednesday evening and were to meet at luncheon again today in an effort to finalize negotiations for the Foundation to purchase the 18-plus acres of the city recreation area at Melonville and Cedar Avenue.

The Foundation has agreed to pay $375,000 for the city property. The Giants has agreed to accept $275,000 for its property.

Crapps and McDonald plan to return to Sanford tonight, Wiegars said.

The study, which will take approximately 40 days actual working time to prepare, will recommend stages on construction over a period of several years. Mayor Lawrence Swafford was authorized to sign a final agreement subject to approval of Town Attorney Joe Davis.

A pre-construction conference on the $35,000 municipal water system was set for 8:30 a. m. next Wednesday at which the construction contract with Mackin Co. of Miami will be signed by the mayor and a groundbreaking date will be set.

In other business the council approved the plat for a 10 acre development to be known as Glenarden.

Only three members, Councilmen Keith Nixon and Frank Gerhardt and the mayor, were present for the Wednesday night meeting and items scheduled on the agenda pertaining to the police department and to the hiring of a town engineer were not brought up for discussion.

School Amendment Okayed By Lawmakers

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A constitutional amendment permitting use of the $16 million permanent school fund for construction of junior colleges, universities and public schools cleared the Legislature Wednesday.

It will go to the voters for approval or rejection at next year's general election. It was a part of the governor's recommended program of $250 million in new revenue to support education and other purposes in the next two years.

The measure had been killed in the House, but was resurrected after adoption of a saving amendment that made public schools eligible for the money. The governor had requested it be earmarked solely for higher education.

Public school forces opposed use of this school savings account for higher education.

Under present law, only interest from the fund can be used, while the principal must be left intact. The new proposal lets the state spend both interest and principal. The fund is composed of money escheated to the state from unclaimed bank accounts and other sources.

Members of the DeBarry Fishing Club attending the annual picnic held at Blue Springs Park last Thursday heard a brief history of the Park which originally was known as the Thurbay Mansion.

Clyde Wright, president of the club who gave the talk, said that the property was settled in 1861 by John Thurbay Sr. when he received a Spanish Grant. During the Civil War, when the family lived in a log cabin with their two children, he was captured in Enterprise while there getting supplies and spent two years in a prisoners camp. During this time his wife and children had no knowledge of what had happened to him.

This large tract of land has changed hands only three times in the past 98 years. More than 108 million gallons of water flow through the springs and the temperature stays at 73 degrees, year round. Each year the manatees come back and local residents begin looking for them around Nov. 11.

John Thurbay, a tax assessor built a dock that serviced the old paddlewheel boats used for transportation in the early settlement. He was known to catch more than 200 pounds of bass a week from this dock.

In 1952 the government made two cuts in the river and established a 12 foot deep channel which disturbed the abundant bass fishing.

The granddaughter of the John Thurbays, who is 90 years old, today lives in a part of the old mansion and remembers, as a child, playing with children of Count DeBarry, builder of the DeBarry Mansion House. At this time she lived in Enterprise which was the county seat.

Those attending the picnic last Thursday were treated to hot dogs, beans and asserkraut prepared under the direction of Wright and Howard Middleton and supplied by the DeBarry Freezette.

Members of the club enjoyed fishing, swimming and boating during the day.

Doctor Voices Warnings About Lung Conditions

The importance of getting a yearly chest x-ray and physical check-up was emphasized by Dr. C. W. Hardwick, who spoke to members of the Kiwanis Club, Wednesday.

The local doctor pointed out that there are many diseases and conditions which can affect the lungs and the entire physical health besides pneumonia and tuberculosis, which is what most people think about in connection with the lungs.

He noted also that the TB and Health Assn. has branched out now to concern itself and its organization with education pertaining to these other lung conditions, in an effort to get people to do something about them.

Some of the pulmonary diseases, which are equally as incapacitating though not contagious, and which receive little publicity were pointed out.

The included chronic bronchitis, small abscesses in the lungs, fungus infections, cancer, edema, hives, asthma, non-cancerous tumors, inhalation of industrial dusts and small particles, obstructions in the trachea and bronchial tubes, intestinal parasites and emphysema were some of the conditions which affect the lungs which Dr. Hardwick described.

He cited as symptoms which should require a physical examination as a persistent or recurring pain in the chest; persistent coughing, coughing up blood, progressive shortness of breath, unexplained fever or weight loss.

Carpenter Elected To Head Bear Lake Community Club

By Shirley Wentworth
New officers of the Bear Lake Community Club were elected at last Thursday night's regular monthly meeting of the group in the Florida Power Lounge on Bear Lake.

Elected were William G. Carpenter, president; C. D. Spence, vice president; J. N. Ancrum, treasurer, and Mrs. Russell Loomis, secretary. In opening statements as the new president, Carpenter suggested that members strive to make the club a more neighborly one, both at meetings and outside activities. He also suggested that each member submit to him three ideas, in writing, for club improvement and activity which later will be presented for discussion at a general meeting.

In this manner more enthusiasm would be shown for the club and its work by all members, the president said.

Mrs. Loomis, who was chairman of the beans and frank supper held preceding the meeting, reported that the supper was very successful and that 32 adults and 21 children had been served during the supper hour.

The next monthly meeting of the group is scheduled at the Lounge at 8 p.m. on June 20.

Local Women Wins Show

Mrs. Eric Vihlen, well-known Sanford garden club leader and local nursery-woman took first place in the garden show featuring entries from all over Central Florida held in the Parkwood Plaza mall, Saturday.

The prize-winning entry was designated in a 12 ft. by 25 ft. area and depicted a rose garden. On a carpeting of sod, Mrs. Vihlen placed tall podacarpus as a background and used a full display of choice blooming roses, surrounding the whole thing with a picket fence and a garden gate.

Mrs. Vihlen listed her entry under the name of Hemerocallis Circle of which she is a member, and also in her own name. She is immediate past president of the Sanford Garden Club and a past president of the Hemerocallis Circle.

The local gardener recently was given two special awards in the DeBarry Garden Show held at the Count Frederick DeBarry Mansion.

One of her entries, designed in the image of a formal Japanese garden, has been extensively photographed by the State Federation of Garden Clubs and by the DeBarry Club for entry in the national contest.

Little Red Schoolhouse A Training Ground

What is the Little Red Schoolhouse?

This question is being asked daily as interest increases in the big national variety show scheduled for Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Seminole High School auditorium, called "Merry-Go-Round."

The Little Red Schoolhouse is, quite simply — a training school for mentally retarded children of Seminole County.

It is not a public school, and yet it is not a private school either for most of the parents whose children attend cannot afford to pay private school costs.

The Little school, (only eight pupils and a teacher) is a donation-supported, volunteer-staffed, charitable type institution whose aim is to take severely mentally retarded children from age six to about 12 or 13 and try to teach them a little reading, writing and arithmetic.

The school aims to help them learn to write their names and a few simple words, how to speak so that they can be understood, how to make simple sentences, how to make a telephone call, how to tell the days of the week, the months of the year, and to encourage self-expression with their surprising talent for drawing, music and art.

Simple things like lacing shoes, turning the water faucet on and off, playing and dancing and singing to records, recognizing animals, people, places and things in pictures determine whether they are able to learn and retain enough of these simple skills to be able to be trained later for simple jobs and vocations with which they may keep busy, employ their time and even earn all or part of their living when they become older.

Many of these relatively simple things are learned by most children before they go to school. But with these children, much of it comes hard, is difficult to understand, painful to grasp and hard to remember. It takes a specially-trained, dedicated teacher, assisted by volunteers working long, patient hours with each individual child to make even a little progress.

But progress is being made, teacher, Mrs. Jerry Keeth, says . . . sometimes quite amazing progress — and sometimes quite heart-rending disappointment.

Even with aides and helpers one teacher cannot cope with more than eight children, because of the highly individualized nature of the teaching.

This school is not a part of the public education system, though the school board does supply the building and pays for the electricity and maintenance of the building.

The telephone bill, the curtains, the air-conditioner, books, records, training aids, materials, art and craft equipment and supplies, plus the teacher's salary, (which is very low) are all paid for out of funds derived from contributions, gifts and donations of local individuals, clubs, lodges, civic, religious and fraternal organizations.

And by a big yearly fund-raising project, such as the musical Merry-Go-Round which is being produced, directed and presented by the parents of the children and by other interested persons who are members of the organization which undergirds and indirectly supports the institution of The Little Red Schoolhouse.

One of the most pressing projects of the organization is to strengthen and enlarge the teaching staff of the school so that more children may be taken in from the long waiting list, which now knocks at the door, begging admittance and help.

Another dear hope and persistent dream of the Seminole County Assn. for Retarded Children is to establish a workshop for teenage retarded children to begin teaching them simple skills with which to be self-supporting and self-sustaining in modern society.

The children admitted to this school are what is known as "educable". That is, they possess enough intelligence, enough presence of mind, enough talent and ability to be able to learn many things, if someone just takes the time and patience to teach them.

There are some publicly supported schools for mentally retarded children, but the number of units available under the Basic Minimum Foundation Program of the state is extremely limited and Seminole County does not now have any immediate hopes of obtaining any state or federal aid.

It is hoped that at this session of the Florida Legislature more units for Exceptional Children may be added to the Foundation and made available so that the county's application may be considered.

But the way it is now, mentally handicapped children must languish at home, until money is available, either through state and federal agencies or through the generosity and concern of the public.

Phil Newsom Says . . .

Trouble In Seoul

The United States, never fully endorsed of South Korea's military regime, has for several weeks now been evidencing a special displeasure with the general in Seoul.

A low in relations came on March 16, when the ruling military junta headed by Gen. Park Chung Hee reimposed a ban on political activity and disclosed plans to continue military rule for another four years.

Under U. S. pressure, his scheme collapsed on April 6 when Park rescinded the political ban and agreed to fall elections for restoration of a civilian government.

The agreement eased but did not remove the strain between the two governments.

As concrete evidence of this displeasure with Park, the United States had withheld an extra $25 million in aid which the Korean government said it needed to pay for important purchases.

This weeks the reasons seemed apparent.

From Seoul, U. S. Ambassador Samuel D. Berger, who

been in almost daily consultation with Park and other members of the junta, will travel to Washington for "routine" conversations.

Almost simultaneous with this news, came a blunt warning to Koreans from U. S. aid director James S. Killen.

In Seoul, the U. S. director said the Koreans were attempting to stir up artificial economic crisis only to extract more money from the United States.

"The prospect of additional American support . . . is not advanced by unrestrained talk of economic crisis which is not supported by fact," he said.

Taut nerves and harsh talk between the United States and its Korean allies have been fairly commonplace in the nearly 10 years since the end of the Korean War.

The United States spends about $600 million a year in Korea, and without it the Korean government could not exist. Since the war, U. S. aid amounts to around $3 billion.

Regardless of differences, the United States and South Korea are bound together. To abandon South Korea not only would leave her exposed to a powerful Communist enemy but also would expose the flank of Japan. As for Korean leaders, both military and political, they know that without the United States they also have no future.

RUN DOWN PLACE, BUT WITH MODERN CONVENIENCES

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Martin is eager to learn how to be a good boss. And that is a splendid sign, for there is a definite technique for success in human relations. So peruse this case and send for the Rating Scale mentioned below, for it is widely used in modern industry. You wives might even test your husbands on it, too!

CASE P-446: Martin G. aged 34, has been promoted to an executive post with his insurance firm.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I am new at this sort of thing. So I don't know how to get along very well with people. Could you please give me some pointers on how to be a good boss?"

"Is it possible to be well liked and still retain the respect and cooperation of your employees?"

"Yes, indeed! A good employer should evoke both loyalty as well as popularity from his workers."

A few years ago I made a survey of 1,348 men and women employees in various types of office, store and factory.

They talked very freely about their employers. And here are some of their exact criticisms:

He claims credit for all new ideas and improvements originated by his employees.

A buck-passer who always blames and tries to blame a subordinate for his own mistakes.

Poor letter dictator. He mumbles and enunciates poorly or tries to dictate with a cigar in his mouth.

A bearcat who tries to intimidate everybody and rule by fear.

Sarcastic and negative. Always looking for a mistake so he can bowl out an employee. But never praises anybody for good work.

Poor manager. Waits till almost quitting time to dictate a big batch of letters, and then wants them done before 5 o'clock.

Plays favorites or shows partiality to his relatives on the payroll.

Old maidish. Snoops around for petty errors or dust on the filing cabinets.

Walls about tardiness but falls to notice unpaid overtime that far exceeds the few minutes the employe may have been late.

Airs his domestic problems and private affairs at the office.

Derogatory toward his wife. Calls her his "ball and chain."

Personally repulsive. Has "B. O." or halitosis, dandruff or foul tobacco breath.

Lets his secretary try to boss the other workers and run the department.

Practical joker. Tries to make employees the butt of his jokes. Gets irate if they don't laugh at his corny humor.

Gets personal while dictating. Pats stenographer's knees, etc.

Sissy and vacillating. Afraid of his own superior.

Boasts of his sex conquests and tries to have an affair with female employees.

Stands and peers over the shoulder of employees while the latter are working.

Delays about purchasing much needed supplies, machinery, etc.

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — With everything from Cuba to Laos and back again so tediously lashed up, maybe they should bring Stanley P. Lovell back to Washington again. After all, he's only 72 now.

Lovell, in case you have forgotten, was World War II director of research and development for the Office of Strategic Services.

Gen. William J. (Wild Bill) Donovan who headed OSS, swore Lovell to secrecy for 20 years on all the devious tricks they played in this cloak-and-dagger outfit. But now that the 20 years are up, Stanley Lovell has written a book, "Of Spies and Strategems," (Fremont-Hall $3.95.)

It reveals at least some of the inside stories. If it isn't required reading in the more circumspect Central Intelligence Agency, housed in its multimillion dollar palace on the Potomac from Washington, as successor to the screwball OSS, it should be.

Lovell was and still is a manufacturing chemist. He holds some 70 patents in his own name. He was recruited for OSS by Dr. Karl T. Compton of MIT and put to work by Vannevar Bush of the Carnegie Institution—men who knew good brains when they found them and knew what to do with them.

Maybe that's what's needed now—more and better brains with a sense of humor thrown in for good measure.

One of Lovell's first jobs was to hire good paper and ink chemists and put the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to work manufacturing genuine imitation Nazi passports.

Also on the OSS staff was America's most notorious forger, known only as Jim the Penman, who signed Hitler's and Mussolini's names to all kinds of official documents they never wrote.

Lovell's next job was to make counterfeit Japanese currency used in the Philippine Islands occupation. A plane load of it put a severe strain on Japan's economy, but the Japs never caught on.

One Lovell invention was a harmless firecracker called a "Hedy Lamarr." When you pulled a small wire loop, it simulated the screech of a falling Nazi bomb. It was used to create panics in enemy territory. Lovell threw one into a wastebasket to show the John Chiles of Staff how it worked. They never came back.

Lovell went on from there to develop a magnetic bomb which, attached to railroad cars, would blow up only when the train was in a tunnel, thus wrecking the tunnel. Next was a silent and flashless pistol for use by underground fighters and saboteurs.

Donovan demonstrated one of these guns to President Roosevelt in his White House office one day, firing six silent but deadly shots into a sandbag. After he recovered from surprise and shock, FDR said: "Bill, you're the only Republican I'll ever allow in my office with a weapon like this."

Lovell's greatest achievement in espionage was performed right here in Washington. A message came in one day from Allen Dulles, then Agent 110 in Switzerland, later head of Central Intelligence Agency. He reported that a Frenchman escaping to Switzerland had said he was a guard for water shipments from a big power plant in Norway to Penmunde, on the Baltic coast.

Lovell had been briefed on the U. S. Manhattan Engineer project and knew that heavy water was used in atomic energy research. He also knew that aerial reconnaissance had revealed some 70 mysterious ski slides on the Baltic coast, all slides at Britain.

Lovell reasoned that the Nazis were developing rockets that would carry atomic bombs, so he persuaded Donovan to alert the Royal Air Force. The RAF raid on Penmunde in August 1943 set the German V-3 program back a year, thus saving the Normandy invasion.

Actually, the heavy water wasn't shipped to Penmunde but to Wolgast, where the Germans were working on atomic submarines. But they never got them built in time.

Lovell's greatest achievement in counter-intelligence came after President Roosevelt told Donovan one day, "Bill, you must treat the Russians as you treat the British. They're killing Germans every day, you know."

Shortly thereafter a team of Russians appeared at OSS headquarters to inspect Lovell's bag of tricks. He made sure that his silent, flashless gun went off with a blinding bang and that his booby traps didn't work.

Lyle C. Wilson Says: Cuba Citizens Committee Set

A Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba (CCFC) has been set up in Washington, D. C. Impressively, it is sponsored by a score of notable Americans.

CCFC is nonpartisan. The committee is likely to develop considerable political muscle, however. Its sponsors are such as to win the confidence of the American people if CCFC can make itself heard.

Vol. 1, No. 1 of CCFC's Free Cuba News (FCN) was May 4, a modest, eight page, mimeographed pamphlet edited by Daniel James from 617 Albee Building, 1416 G Street N. W., Washington 5, D. C.

Emphasis appears to be on Cuba. But the committee's interest embraces the whole of Latin America.

CCFC is sparked by several ideas and convictions of much urgency:

That there is urgent need for an effective U. S. Cuban policy embracing a method of freeing the island from communism.

That the enslavement of 6 million Cubans may now lead to the enslavement of 200 million persons in the remaining 19 Latin American republics.

The Communist achievement in Cuba and plans for the other 19 republics are woefully part of an offensive designed to enslave the United States.

That communism is making such progress in Latin America that there may be other Cubas there before long.

Implicit in the CCFC program is the conviction that the Kennedy administration does not now have an effective U. S. Cuban policy. If CCFC gets the attention of the U. S. public, the Kennedy administration will find itself under a punishing nonpartisan attack. The political consequences could be very great. It already is evident that the 1964 Republican presidential and congressional campaigns will make Cuba a major issue.

The first issue of FCN asserted that the overall situation in Latin America is much worse than the American people realize.

"The Communist drive there," said FCN, "is already on the way to producing these serious consequences:

"Demoralization of Latin America's democratic forces.

"Resurgence of dictatorial military elements intent on taking power in reaction to the Communist threat.

"Infiltration and subversion of other Latin American governments.

"Frustration of Inter-American efforts to achieve social and economic progress."

FCN summed up things thus:

Portofino, fishing village on the Italian Riviera, has been a resort since ancient times, maintaining its old-world charm.

Hospital Business Stressed At Rotary

Even though a hospital seeks to operate like a business, it has certain disadvantages a normal business does not have, says Jack Monahan, executive director of the Florida Hospital Association.

Monahan listed other problems facing by modern hospitals trying to operate as a business, and the hospital administrator who must equate the desire to run the hospital as a business and the medical and humanitarian aspects of the hospital.

One of the reasons for the rise in costs, however, is the increased units of service. Compared to 10 years ago, patients are now getting twice the X-rays and three times the clinical lab work.

Monahan said that in his opinion the hospital of the future would also take a turn away from the home like atmosphere and become more a technical treatment place.

Drysdale Ignores Hurling Jinx

By United Press International
 Don Drysdale and the Los Angeles Dodgers have a two-way reply today for National League managers who were hoping the 33-game winner of 1952 would fall victim to the Cy Young Award jinx: "Target B."

Drysdale backs up his portion of the record with three straight victories, giving him a 3-4 record, and the Dodgers back up their end with eight consecutive wins, giving them the longest winning streak in the major leagues this season.

The Dodgers and Drysdale extended their string Wednesday night with a 7-3 triumph over the New York Mets. The win enabled the Dodgers to remain one game behind the first-place San Francisco Giants, with whom they open a three-game series in Los Angeles on Friday night.

Drysdale started slowly this season and NL rivals hoped he might be victimized by the pitcher of the year award which previously had claimed Don Newcombe, Bob Turley, Vern Law and to a slightly lesser extent Early Wynn in the year after each won the honor.

But Wednesday night Drysdale was sidestepping bullets behind an 11-hit attack that included homers by Tommy Davis and Frank Howard. The only hit off him were homers by Duke Snider and Tim Lincecum and he struck out six while walking three.

The Giants hit the Philadelphia Phillies 10-2, the Pittsburgh Pirates nipped the Houston Colts 4-3, and the Chicago Cubs scored a 7-6 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals in other NL action. Cincinnati at Milwaukee was postponed by cold weather.

Tom Haller hit the first grand slam of his career to clinch a seven-run fourth-inning rally that made it a 3-0 lead for the Giants' Jack Sanford to raise his record to 7-3. Haller's homer was off Jack Baldschun, who hadn't yielded a homer in 26 previous appearances on the mound.

Don Nettbert, in his first start since pitching a no-hitter against the Phillies on May 17, carried a five-hit shutout into the ninth before the Pirates rallied for all their runs. Bill Mazeroski's double started the flareup and a walk and singles by Smokey Burgess and Donn Clendenon chased Nettbert in favor of Don McMahon. Then an error and Roberto Clemente's two-run double completed the game-winning rally, which gave Earl Francis his second victory.

Ken Agrements singled home the Cubs' tying run with two outs in the sixth and also singled home the winning run with two out in the 11th. Ron Santo had a three-run double for the Cubs and Stan Musial and Bill White homered for the Cardinals.

NFL Officials Hire 'Watchdog' To Halt Gambling

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The National Football League Wednesday increased the player limit for 1963 to 37 and appointed a veteran Los Angeles law enforcement officer as "watchdog" to keep an eye on player associations and "undesirable elements."

The 14 club owners, winding up their two-day spring meeting today, were set to discuss one of the more pleasant aspects of the game—future television policy and how to divide the best one for the 1963 championship game between the players' benefit plan and the players' pool.

The NFL is currently entering the final year of a two-year pact with the Columbia Broadcasting System that brings the league $9.3-million.

At Wednesday's meeting owners decided to try a 37-man player limit per team for the 1963 season only. The league operated with a 30-man limit in 1961 and 1962, after operating with 30 man per team in 1960.

Earlier, Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced that James E. Hamilton, 53, would begin work June 1 as the league's roving watchdog to help prevent future incidents such as the Paul Hornung and Alex Karras cases.

In other developments the league:

- Reaffirmed the awarding of the 1925 championship to the Chicago Cardinals—thereby overruling objections by Pittsburgh, Pa.
- Revised the cutdown numbers. This year rosters must be cut to 43 players by Aug. 27; to 46 by Sept. 2; and to 57 by Sept. 10.
- Ordered clubs to make injury reports to the league office in order to study various injuries with a view to talking preventive measures.
- Approved a sudden death finish for the annual Playoff Bowl game at Miami, Fla.

Legalize Spitter?

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Bob Scheffing joined Chicago White Sox manager Al Lopez today in demanding that "something should be done" about the increasing number of pitchers who are throwing an occasional spit ball.

"They ought to legalize it or start calling it," the Detroit Tiger manager said. "It wouldn't be that hard to enforce. All the batters know when a pitcher is using a spitter, so the umpires sure know."

Lopez recently accused Los Angeles pitcher Donn Chance of using the pitch, and Scheffing acknowledged that Chance had used it against the Tigers once.

"He threw a spitter to Norm Cash one day in Detroit, and later umpire Larry Napp walked right out to the mound. He told him 'You threw a spitter, and I want you to cut that out. Next time I'll call a ball on you no matter where the pitch is.' That's the way you have to do it."

Asked if he thought that bringing the spitter back would help pitchers, Scheffing replied:

"I don't think it would help that much. After all, you can get hits off it too. Ronnie Kline was throwing it against us one night in Washington and struck a man out on it, but we got some hits off the pitch too. In the old days plenty of guys got base hits off the spitter."

Drivers Prep For 'Classic'
 INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — With less than 48 hours remaining before the final weekend of qualifications, drivers worked today to get their cars in shape for the last-minute scramble for starting positions in the Memorial Day 500-mile race.

Eighteen drivers, led by pole-sitter Parnell Jones of Torrance, Calif., qualified cars last weekend, leaving 15 spots yet to be filled in the 33-car field.

Jones, who qualified at a record 151.153 miles an hour, continued to set the pace at the track Wednesday as he turned in the day's best unofficial speed of 151.094 m.p.h. while on a test run.

Let's look this over... test for wind... practice swing... "Well, what do you think?"

Mantle Almost Matches Gordon's Feat

By United Press International
 The deadline was New York, May 23—Gordon's day and Mickey's night. Astronaut Gordon Cooper "swam" the big town Wednesday during a tumultuous ticker-tape parade and dinner, but the night belonged strictly to fellow Oklahoman Mickey Mantle.

Of course, Mantle, or anyone else for that matter, would have to go a long way to match Gordon's 28 trips around the world in a capsule, but Mickey came close to accomplishing what no other major league player ever has done in the 40-year history of Yankee Stadium, and that includes such stars as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Joe DiMaggio.

Mantle almost sent a baseball into orbit when he crashed a homer—the hardest hit ball of his life—against the uppermost facade of Yankee Stadium, a liner at least 100 feet in the air and 300 feet from the plate. The drive, which still had "rise" when it bounced off the facade, gave the Yankees an 8-7 victory over the Kansas City A's in 11 innings.

Had the ball cleared the facade atop the third tier it would have been the first fair ball ever hit out of the mammoth stadium. As it was, it topped all of the tape-measure homers the Oklahoman kid has unloaded in a brilliant major league career, even the celebrated 565-foot homer he hit in Washington in 1953.

In the other American League games the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Detroit Tigers 2-1, behind the effective pitching of Steve Barber and Wes Stock; the Chicago White Sox whipped the Washington Senators 9-3, with new Nat's manager Gil Hodges watching from the stands; the Los Angeles Angels nipped the Cleveland Indians 7-4 in 11 innings, and the Minnesota Twins defeated the Boston Red Sox 3-1 on Jim Kaat's seven-hit pitching.

By winning, the Orioles and White Sox remained tied for first place in the American League race, with the Yankees a game behind in third place.

Barber gave up four hits and walked eight batters in the six innings he worked and gave way to Stock when he started the seventh inning with another base on balls. Stock promptly set down nine of the 10 batters he faced to nail down Barber's eighth victory of the season—top in the majors.

The White Sox chased Washington starter Benjie Daniels in the eighth inning after scoring eight of their runs off him. Pete Ward's two-run homer in the first and Jim Landis' bases-loaded triple in the eighth were the big blows.

The Angels blew an early six-run lead and then won out in the 11th when Gary Bell, the fifth Cleveland pitcher, hit Lee Thomas with the bases loaded and two out to chase over the winning run.

Kirkland Top Choice In Spencer Tourney

State Amateur golf champ Ed Kirkland is the No. 1 choice to take honors in the 72-hole 19th Annual G. W. (Dubbie) Spencer Golf tournament slated for the Mayfair Saturday and Sunday.

A "fast field" of top golfers including many from Sanford will kick off the play Saturday after a week of qualifying.

Folley, Cleroux Clash Tonight

MONTREAL (UPI)—PBR-ranked heavyweight contender Zora Folley and former Canadian champion Bob Cleroux meet tonight in a scheduled 10-round rematch bout that may be the turning point for both fighters.

Veteran Folley of Chandler, Ariz., remained a heavy 3-1 favorite to repeat his lopsided decision of a year ago in San Francisco. Cleroux, ranked seventh by the Ring magazine, has won his last two local starts by knockouts in unimpressive fashion.

Jimmy Piersall Enroute To Mets?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jimmy Piersall may wind up playing for the New York Mets as payment for Gil Hodges, the surprise new manager of the Washington Senators.

When Hodges was given his unconditional release in order to succeed departed Mickey Vernon as the Senators' field boss Wednesday, it was announced the Mets would receive nothing in return—except good will.

However, it was reported in Los Angeles Wednesday night that the Senators will offer the Mets a player as part of the deal. Speculation immediately centered on Piersall, a long-time favorite of Mets manager Casey Stengel who

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have an "honor newspaper rack" and the money I am cheated out of is unbelievable. People put paper clips, buttons or one or two pennies into the slot instead of the price of the newspaper. They think they are cheating the newspaper company, but they are only cheating the newsboy. HE has to pay for every newspaper he gets from the company. Does the general public know this, Miss Abby?

DISGUSTED WITH PEOPLE

DEAR DISGUSTED: They do now!

DEAR ABBY: I have a sister-in-law who has brought her baby over to my house for me to watch as early as 7 o'clock in the morning. And sometimes she doesn't pick the baby up until 10 o'clock at night. Now I don't mind watching the baby because she is a little doll, but don't you think I have a right to know where my sister-in-law goes for 15 hours while I take care of her baby?

NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Yes, with a capital "Y." And if she's going somewhere she shouldn't be, don't make it easy for her by keeping her baby.

DEAR ABBY: We had a big argument at our house and would like help in settling it. The other night we had company for dinner. After they left my mother said she had only one bite during the whole meal because she was so busy waiting on everybody else. I told her that I would have been glad to help her if she would have ASKED me. She insisted that I should have had brains enough to know she NEEDED help. Abby, I am telling you. I didn't know she needed my help. Was I wrong to sit there?

TEEN-AGED DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: I don't know how old you are, but any girl over 12 should not need to be told to get up and help her mother. However, I'd call it a draw. Neither should your mother have fumed silently. She could have good-humoredly given you a clue by saying, "Come on, Mother's Little Helper, pitch in!"

DEAR ABBY: I have news for the wife who complained because her husband never told her he loved her. Mine whispered, "I love you, Marcella!" and then I let him have it with the lamp. Yours truly,

HENRIETTA

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

When Mrs. Charles Moore and Ira Cora Jr., of Dallas won the mixed pairs at the St. Louis Nationals it marked the second mixed pair victory for Dallas in the last three years.

I watched the new champions play in a Bridge Deck duplicate the other day and I was able to see one of the reasons why they won in St. Louis.

Mrs. Moore sat West and I was watching her hand only. As is customary with me when I kibitz, I try to decide on my own play and it did not take me long to make up my mind what I would lead against four spades with her hand.

It didn't take her long either. She placed the four of

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

Have you really settled down to marriage? Are you sure? Give yourself this simple test and see how you rate. You can figure you have it made—if, and when:

Instead of waiting for him to notice the new curtains and being hurt when he doesn't, you march him right in to look at them and tell HIM how much they help the looks of the room.

Instead of trusting himself to remember such important dates as the wedding anniversary (he'll never forget the time he forgot), he makes a note of all such events on his office calendar.

Instead of worrying about his safety or being indignant because he didn't telephone to say he would be late to dinner, you calmly turn the burners on the stove to "simmer," and beat him to the evening paper.

Instead of trying to get him to tell you what is wrong when he comes home in a grumpy mood, you hurry dinner on the table, tell the kids to go easy, and remind him that it's the night of his favorite television show.

Instead of falling for that

7:30-8:30 p.m. NBC. Wide Country. "Straitjacket for an Indian." (Rerun). Guest star Claude Akins is particularly well cast for he can act the part of a wild Indian as well as look it without makeup. This particular Indian is a bit different from the traditional Hollywood Redskin. He is loaded with good intentions, but little else, as he gathers wild horses to help Mitch fill an order for rodeo livestock. Much confusion, a bit of violence and the arm of the law are the results. Earl Holliman and Andrew Price star.

8:30-9:30 p.m. NBC. Dr. Kildare. "To Each His Prison." An interesting and sometimes exciting melodrama that has Ross Martin, guest starring as an alcoholic, winning the acting honors. While suffering hallucinations, he tells Dr. Kildare (Richard Chamberlain) an innocent man has been imprisoned for a crime he committed. Later, he repudiates his confession as the imaginings of a tortured mind and pleads with Kildare to forget it. But Kildare feels he was telling the truth and tells the district attorney. Kildare gets another scorching lecture from Dr. Gillespie (Ray Massey) in this one.

9:30-10 p.m. CBS. Twilight Zone. "The Bard." A whimsical fantasy that has some amusing moments with contemporary television coming in for some barbed jabs. A struggling writer (Jack Eston) gets help from the ghost of William Shakespeare and immediately becomes a success. Shakespeare, however, is annoyed by the strange behavior of actors, agents and producers. The bard then gets temperamental when his TV work is revised. Burt Reynolds has a good bit as a method actor who pains the bard.

9:30-10 p.m. ABC. McHale's Navy. "Parents Anonymous." You'll like this one because it's warm as well as ridiculously funny. McHale (Ernie Borgnine) and his crew tem-

How Cigar, Slippers Elude JFK

WASHINGTON (NEA) — President John F. Kennedy doesn't always have an easy time of it when he wants to spend a quiet evening at the White House.

First Lady Jacqueline was going to a performance of the American Ballet at a downtown theater with brother-in-law Bobby and friends. Husband Jack decided he would stay at home.

During the first act Jackie sent a Secret Service man to phone the President that the ballet was so good he should come over.

Soon afterward, the President arrived at the theater, still in time to enjoy a goodly portion of the night's performance. But White House security guards reportedly were less prepared for a night out than the President. They were all settled comfortably for the evening with their shoes off when Mrs. Kennedy's call came in.

Recent commotion over news censorship has caused revival in some newspaper circles of the old proverb "The truth shall make you free." The rub is, say the critics, "You're not always free to get it."

Associate Justice John M. Harlan of the Supreme Court, listening with his colleagues to an income tax case involving a dance studio, heard with astonishment that some people buy "lifetime courses" entitling them to 1,200 hours of instruction.

"When they finish," he said quietly from the bench, "they must be magnificent dancers."

Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Curtis E. LeMay was 56 Nov. 15. His Navy counterpart, Chief of Naval Operations Adm. George W. Anderson Jr. was 56 on Dec. 15. On Nov. 15 Anderson sent a gift to LeMay. It was escorted by a bosun's mate to pipe it aboard in the best Navy style. A Wave officer bearing a letter of transmittal, a Navy commander and Marine lieutenant colonel—both aviators—followed the gift—a four-foot model of the aircraft carrier Forrestal—into LeMay's outer office, much to the amusement of the Air Force chief.

On Dec. 14, the Friday before Anderson's birthday, LeMay, not to be outdone, sent a present. First came two killed Air Force personnel, loudly playing bagpipes. They were followed by air police. Finally came the present, a model of the controversial long-range bomber B-570.

At a recent party of international bankers in a Washington hotel, one of the waiters told the dignified money men, "You people drink more than anyone who comes here, except the machinists."

Eugene Black, who retires as president of the World Bank on Jan. 1, tells one on himself about a checkup at the Mayo Clinic. He went out for a thorough examination and was there for over a week. On Saturday night the staff doctors invited him to a weekend party which they hold to relax their own tensions. Part of the fun was a poker game. Black was invited to sit in and to his chagrin, he lost more money to the doctors at

Yanks Favored In Walker Play

TURNBERRY, Scotland (UPI) — Pairings for this weekend's 10th renewal of the Walker Cup golf competition will be announced today with the Americans still solid 2-to-1 favorites to beat their British rivals for the 1963 time.

Play gets underway over the 7,025-yard Allan course Friday and wind up on Saturday. Under the new rules of competition foursomes will be played on each morning and eight singles matches each afternoon—all over 18 holes, which is a departure from the old 36-hole grind.

Jeffords Celebrate Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Jeffords, 820 Catalina Drive, celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary, recently, with a surprise party given in their honor by their daughter, Lorraine.

The house was artistically decorated with floral arrangements of white mums, snapdragons and baby's breath. A special arrangement was one with 20 red roses, gift to Mrs. Jeffords from her husband, each rose representing one year of marriage.

The refreshment table was overlaid with a white linen cloth and centered with a pink and white arrangement of sweetheart roses, carnations and snapdragons, and flanked by two pink burning tapers.

On one end of the table was a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake and on the other were dainty assorted sandwiches, wedding cookies, nuts, candies and the punch bowl.

Lorraine planned the entire party and with the assistance of some nearby relatives managed to keep the couple away from home long enough to have everything ready including the guests when they arrived.

About 30 friends and relatives called during the evening to wish them well and enjoy the party.

Family Picnic Enjoyed By Peacemakers

The Peacemakers Wives of VAIF celebrated a husband-less Mother's Day with a family picnic at Lake Golden, which doubled as a farewell to two ladies with the same last names.

Both Mrs. O. W. McGuire, whose husband is joining Hat Wing One Staff in June, and Mrs. Jack Maguire, who will be journeying with her four pre-school offspring to their new duty station at the Atomic Energy Commission, in Idaho, were presented silver bracelets. They were engraved with the squadron medals and presented by the wife of the commanding officer of the squadron, Mrs. L. A. Heath.

Chairmen of the outing were Mrs. E. A. Decker and Mrs. W. C. Holton. A delicious fried chicken dinner was served by the new catering service at the Navy Exchange.

A special guest was appropriately a mother, Mrs. A. Oswald, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. R. M. Thiel and family. The children had such a good time they wanted to come back the next Sunday.

Homemakers

By Mrs. E. L. Johnson

It's Thursday again, and we have some very good recipes to try. Rachel Donelson sent us several tasty ones. This one for a salad sounds simply "mouth watering." She calls it Cherry Salad.

1 6-oz. pkg. Black Cherry Jelly
1 can (No. 2) Black Cherries
1 8-oz. pkg. Cream Cheese
1 (king size) Coca Cola
1 cup crushed pineapple
1 cup pecans
Drain cherries, heat juice to boiling point. Dissolve jelly, add cheese and mix well. Cool. Add coke slowly. Chill until it starts to thicken, add cherries (split), pineapple and pecans. Mix well. Chill.

Summertime brings back memories of old-fashioned ice cream parties — the kind where everyone took a turn at working the freezer between "times up" at baseball or darts in the pool. Today hand freezers are hard to find. Instead manufacturers are producing electric gadgets that turn out ice cream with a flick of the switch. One of these fits into an ice cube tray and operates in the freezer compartment of a refrigerator. Another electrifies the old time freezer. If you have either of these new electric ice cream makers—or if you still have an old-fashioned hand freezer—you're probably looking forward to lots of home-made ice cream this summer.

For one that will bring the kids running, food specialists in USDA's Research Service suggest this recipe:
Home-Made Vanilla Ice Cream
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup corn starch
1/2 tsp. salt
4 cups milk
4 eggs beaten
2 tbsps. vanilla
4 cups light (table) cream
Mix sugar, corn starch, and salt together in a medium boiler. Blend in milk gradually. Cook over boiling water, stirring occasionally, until thickened, about 12 to 15 minutes. Stir a small amount of the hot cornstarch mixture into the beaten eggs; then stir the eggs into the remaining cornstarch mixture. Cook over boiling water 4 to 5 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Chill thoroughly. (This is essential for a smooth ice cream. Stir in vanilla and chilled cream. Fill a one-gallon freezer container not more than 3/4 full. Freeze in a hand cranked or electric freezer with a mixture of one part ice cream salt and six parts crushed ice. Makes 3 1/2 quarts ice cream, enough for about 28 servings.

Low fat cottage cheese has very little fat and vitamin A. Creamed cottage cheese usually has about five per cent fat and therefore furnishes more calories and vitamin A.

Combine sour cream, chopped pecans, grated onion, lemon juice, and salt to make a tasty dressing for cucumbers.

From Mrs. Gladie Miller comes Butter and Nut Pound Cake. Sounds delicious. Cream for one minute at high speed:
1 cup Crisco
2 cups sugar
4 whole eggs

2 1/2 cups plain cake flour
1/2 cup self rising flour alternately with
1 cup sweet milk

Pour into tube pan or two loaf pans. Bake 1 hour at 300 in 325 degrees F.
Butter and Nut Frosting
1 cup brown sugar
Bring to a rolling boil

Another from this book is Sausage Scrapple. 2 lbs. pork sausages
2 cans (8 oz. each) evaporated milk
2 1/2 cups water
2 cups crushed corn flakes
1 cup yellow cornmeal
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
2 eggs
3 to 4 tbsps. lard or drippings
Brown sausage and pour off drippings. Combine milk and water. Measure 3 cups of liquid and add to sausage. Reserve remaining liquid for dipping scrapple. Heat sausage mixture to boiling and slowly stir in cornmeal and seasonings. Cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Pour into a greased 5 by 9 inch loaf pan and chill until firm. Unmold and cut into 1/2 inch slices. Dip into corn flakes. Combine egg and remaining liquid and dip slices into mixture, then in cornflakes again. Brown in lard drippings on both sides and serve with syrup. Serves 8.

A Doctor's Dream Comes True

By Mona Grinstead
The dream of a doctor who came to the United States in 1957 as a refugee from Germany is becoming more of a reality with each passing day.

Dr. Jakob Harich, his son-in-law, Edwin Swede and a friend, Ernie Longcore, all neighbors on S. Cortez Ave. in North Orlando, have joined forces and are hard at work producing chemical products relatively new to the industry because of their extreme low toxicity.

Now being manufactured and sold by Harich Chemical Co., Inc., are a mildew and mold cleaner, a roof coating compound and a pharmaceutical product. Although the work presently is being handled by the three stockholders, Harich, Swede and Longcore, Dr. Harich expects to employ from 10-15 skilled persons within the year.

Immediate expansion plans call for a new building on the present site south of Longwood on the Old Dixie Highway. The doctor does laboratory work here and also in the small laboratory at his home.

The plant and offices of the company are situated next to the ACL Railroad which will be a convenience for shipping at a later date. All products are sold through contract.

A point of extreme pride with Harich is the safety of his products which he says are three times less dangerous than a common and well-known headache remedy. Eight laboratories have tested the chemical and found this to be true, he says. Experiments are made on chickens and chicken eggs by injection.

The company, incorporated just last October, already is handling orders from all parts of the United States and from some parts of Europe.

Dr. Harich is a dedicated man who says he is striving to contribute to the world a new discovery in the interest of humanity. He was educated at a medical school at the University of Ljubljana in West Germany and attended two other universities where he majored in chemistry.

A modest man, Dr. Harich didn't stop with finding his closest business associates in his own community. His secretary and bookkeeper, Mrs. William Skisak, also is a resident of North Orlando.

A day like that could not be allowed to pass unnoticed. Six friends spear-headed a celebration, which took the form of an "Open House" at the Horace Cochran home on Crystal Lake.

Some forty friends called between the hours of 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. to share birthday cake with the nonagenarian and congratulate the wedding pair of 35 years.

The hostesses were Mrs. Smathers, Mrs. Raymond M. Ball, Mrs. James M. Thompson, Mrs. R. E. True, Mrs. H. M. Gleason and Mrs. P. D. Anderson. Mrs. William Harmon, sister of Mrs. H. M. Cochran, kept the guest book.

The party rooms were gay and fragrant with flowers, the gifts of friends, as was the orchid corsage worn by Mrs. Cochran. The dining room table was overlaid with a white damask cloth, and a beautiful arrangement of white orchids was flanked by the crystal punch bowl at one end and the three layer birthday cake at the other.

A green and white theme had been carried out in all the decorations, in the punch, the petit fours, and the mints.

Mrs. True presided at the punch bowl which was the conversation piece with its floral ice circle.

During the evening, the hostesses presented Mr. and Mrs. Cochran with a silver tray as a memento of the occasion.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Moon and sons, Tommy and Johnny of Oviedo. Mrs. Moon is the daughter of "Mister John" and the sister of Horace Cochran.

Some 250 cadets are scheduled to begin classes with the fall semester at Sanford Military Academy in September. In the first term of the new school, classes will be confined to the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

This was the consensus of principals today although final contracts have not been signed and, it was reported, a "few minor details must be ironed out."

City Commissioner J. A. Crapps, commenting on negotiations in New York City with MacFadden Foundation officials Wednesday evening and Thursday noon, said that "it was a good trip and successful, all wrapped up nice and clean."

He was referring to negotiations wherein the Foundation agreed to purchase from the City of Sanford 18-plus acres of the recreation area at Mellonville and Celery Avenues for $100,000, payable $28,500 down and the balance in deferred payments over a period of 10 years.

J. P. Wiegars, New York City, chairman of the Mac-

Fadden Foundation, sponsoring the new military school, told The Herald by telephone this morning "all parties are agreed in the transaction except a few minor details."

He said the Foundation and the San Francisco Giants are in agreement for the purchase of the Giants' dormitories at a cost of $275,000. He also said agreement was reached Thursday evening to purchase the city property for $100,000.

However, Wiegars added, "the attorneys must yet iron out details of the contracts and that will take more time than we desire." He said the Foundation would prefer to complete the transactions in two weeks whereas it now is expected the deal will not be consummated until the end of June.

There also is a matter of brokerage fees amounting to more than $13,000. The Bureau of Private Schools and Colleges, New York City, brought the principals together and their fee must be paid. But the principals are not in accord who shall pay, and thus another compromise must be reached.

Wiegars stated the Foundation is proceeding on the premise that the transaction will be finalized by interviewing prospective instructors, setting up a curriculum, completing building plans for renovating and remodeling the dormitories, etc.

Crapps said the city's receipts in the sale "will be ultimately plowed back into an enlarged recreation program." He added the Foundation has agreed to lease three ball diamonds at the Mellonville-Celery Ave. site to the city for a recreational area for two years at a rental of $1 annually.

Accompanying Crapps to New York was Mayor Tom McDonald.

Sparks, testifying in his own behalf Thursday afternoon, admitted being in the company of a 20-year-old white hospital employee on the night of last March 28 but denied he attempted to rape her.

The young woman testified that Sparks, a former hospital employee, attempted to burglarize the hospital safe, forced her to leave with him in a parked automobile in the Negro section.

Johns Group Gets Confidence Vote

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee has okayed a $155,000 bill to keep the controversial Johns Committee in business for another two years.

The bill passed the committee Thursday by a vote of 11-6. The Senate has already approved the appropriation for the legislative investigating group.

Rep. Robert E. Knowles of Manatee said the Legislature would be "pouring $155,000 down the drain" and charged the group had become "a police committee."

Coroner Hugh Duncan said investigation had "brought nothing new to date." Brison Funeral Home said it, also, had not been able to unveil any information about the drowning victim and apparently burial would be in a "pauper's grave" at county expense.
