Candidates Lag In Paying Debt To School District

By Paul C. Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

Bills to two county candidates for computerized mailing lists of Seminole County School employees printed in the county school offices have gone unpaid since August.

The candidates, both school board officials, used the lists to send political mailings to employees.

A school official said the lists are public record, and the school district is required to fill requests for the lists.

Ned Julian Jr., running for a circuit judgeship, said he sent a $240.68 check to cover his bill the day a newspaper reporter inquired about it, saying it hadn't been paid due to an oversight.

Bill Kroll, incumbent school board candidate, said he disagrees with the charge, and wants an investigation into why the price for the printing of the lists changed. He said the $244.04 bill is in the "to be paid" file, however.

Both candidates already paid a first bill for the lists, but were surprised to get an additional bill. Both obtained the printed labels of school board employees names and addresses, with bills enclosed. Kroll says he paid the initial $122 bill, and Julian said he paid his first $120 charge.

Randall John, the county school office's director of data processing, said after the initial bills were sent, it was discovered that the bills were calculated in error, each candidate was sent an additional bill.

"They were billed in error," John said. "They were charged three-cents when they should have been billed nine-cents."

He said Kroll was sent a second bill on Aug. 29.

and Julian's second bill went out Aug. 29.

John added that about two weeks ago, the cost if the labels went down to three cents, however, the second bills to Kroll and Julian are still due, since the price at the time the printing was done was nine cents.

John said at the time the labels were done, they were printed one at a time cost of nine-cents each. Since the labels are printed three at a time now, the rate went into effect.

"I didn't realize the bill hadn't been paid until

U.S. Diplomats Mopping Floors In Moscow

Local Embassy Staff Barred

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet authorities stopped 260 Soviet employees from coming to work at the U.S. Embassy and consulate today, disrupting operations at the facilities and forcing diplomats to take over menial jobs.

Soviet guards at the doors of the embassy in Moscow and the consulate in Leningrad blocked all Soviet employees from entering and a U.S. diplomat said all non-American employees would be prevented from coming to work Friday.

The Soviet action, along with the expulsion of another five American diplomats, was in retaliation for a U.S. expulsion order against 55 Soviet diplomats on Tuesday.

The cafeteria was almost empty with some U.S. employees pressed into emergency service to prepare food. An American was mopping the floor, a task usually reserved for Soviet workers.

A reporter arriving for a meeting at the embassy found the diplomat he was to speak with leaving to spend the afternoon clearing embassy furniture through customs — a job also normally handled by a Soviet.

Another diplomat, leaving the build-

Man Dies After Inhaling Cocaine

A 21-year-old Fern Park man had seizures and died after inhaling cocaine with at least one other man at his home at about 7:45 p.m. Wednesday.

When Bruce Nicholas Cole, #902, 551 State Road 436, stopped breathing following the seizures, a companion, John Doyle, 25, of 10 Governors Knob, Casselberry, called rescue workers to the scene, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

Seminole County sheriff's Capt. Roy Hughey said today the death was apparently accidental and related to the use of cocaine. An autopsy was scheduled this morning at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford.

Cole, who was unemployed, according to Doyle's account to investigators, inhaled some cocaine, fell to the floor, suffered seizures and stopped breathing.

Hughey said a small "personal use" quantity of cocaine was found at the scene. However, he said, another man is also reported to have been at Cole's home when the accident occurred and that man had left before rescue workers and sheriff's deputies arrived.

The investigation into the death and the search for the missing witness continued today, Hughey said. Sheriff's drug task force agents are participating in the investigation, he said.

Smith, Farr Seek Zoning Revisions

To Be Easier On Homes For Elderly

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Changes in Sanford's zoning restrictions to open more parts of the city for legal operation of homes for the elderly are favored by Mayor Betye Smith and Commissioner Dave Farr.

Possible zoning amendments come on the heels of a city crack down on four care facilities for elderly persons that were opened illegally in residential areas.

City codes allow such care facilities as conditional uses in five zoning classifications, but not in single-family residential.

Mrs. Smith and Farr both said they will bring up the zoning change proposal at the commission's Tuesday night meeting. (Commissioners agreed earlier this month to move their regular session back a day so they can attend Monday night's Seminole County Council of Mayor's gubernatorial forum at the Altamonte Hilton).

Commissioner John Mercer indicated he was not averse to the proposal.

Commissioners Bob Thomas and Milton Smith expressed reservations.

Mayor Smith said the revisions should be an effort of the city's attorney, Planning and Zoning Board and building and planning departments.

Farr also said the measures should be considered, because properly administered care in a home setting "is much better for seniors than living in a nursing home."

Farr wants the potential zoning amendments to put a cap on the number of tenants so the operation won't infringe on the neighborhood's other residents and said the limit "should be somewhere between two and four."

The city's has 14 zoning classifications, said Sanford Building Official Gary Winn.

In the five classifications permitting care facilities, there is no specified number of tenants allowed, although allowed occupancy limits are based on

Preston Defense Reveals Possible New Suspect

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

During a high-stakes legal game Wednesday to save the life of a convicted murderer, the defense pulled an ace out of thin air and may have won the hand and more time to make their case.

Attorney Billy Nolas representing Robert Anthony Preston Jr., 28, of Forest City, announced he knew the identity of another possible suspect in the 1978 murder of Earline Walker, 46, of Winter Park. Preston was convicted of the murder in 1981. The possible suspect, Nolas said, is serving time in Florida for sexual battery.

Mrs. Walker was killed after she was abducted from a convenience store in Altamonte Springs. She died of a slit throat inflicted by a large, powerful person from behind, the medical examiner testified. Preston, 6-foot, 8-inches tall, more than 200 pounds, claims to know nothing of the incident because he was high on a powerful animal tranquilizer, PCP, at the time. He had also consumed a bottle of wine and smoked marijuana.

Nolas made his announcement during the second day of a hearing in which Preston is asking for post-conviction relief, that is to have his death sentence changed to life or have a new trial ordered. Attending the hearing, which will continue today at 3 p.m., was Preston's mother, a woman friend, and the victim's mother and sister.

The hearing is before Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. Preston is the first and only murder Davis has sentenced to death in his six years on the bench. Preston was scheduled for execution in November, 1985, but won a stay for the hearing this week.

The new suspect's identity was deduced from keys found in the ash tray of Mrs. Walker's car. In the original case, the existence of the keys was not made known to defense attorney's, according to court records, and investigators did not learn who the key's belonged to because they were given the wrong last name for the man.

The defense has also questioned hair analysis testimony against Preston saying the analyst's credibility as an expert witness is in doubt and has been the basis for a retrial in an unrelated case.

French Attacks Sturm On Tax Hike, Developer Backing

By Paul C. Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

Two county politicians with names familiar to voters are vying for Seminole County voter's approval for the single contested county commission seat in the Nov. 4 general election.

Incumbent Republican two-term commissioner Bob Sturm, 61, Lake Mary, the chairman of the commission, seeks re-election, having survived a primary challenge from young Republican and former county employee Bob Desmond, Sanford.

In the Sept. 2 primary, Sturm defeated Desmond by a 60-40 margin, 7,310 votes to 5,012. French was unopposed on the Democratic side.

A former Seminole County commissioner, Democrat Bob French, 52, Casselberry, is trying to unseat Sturm. Desmond crossed party lines to endorse French, after Sturm handily defeated him in the Sept. 2 primary.

Sturm has said throughout the campaign that he is "running on my record" which he says is based on being a full-time commissioner working hard for well-managed growth in the county.

French

Sturm

French says Sturm's record includes being on a commission that voted to raise taxes this fall, and that the Republican is "a good old boy" pal of developers. He points to the many $1,000 contributions from about a dozen developers.

The two have waged a spirited war of words during the campaign, and French, considered by many to be the underdog candidate, has been trying late in the race to capitalize on the recent county wide tax hike, and is hoping that a voter backlash may help him upset Sturm next week.

Sturm's reply to the tax issue is that he in fact voted against the increase, and offered a plan to trim the budget. That proposal was made moments before the final vote in September on a budget that had been in the works for months. Commissioner Barbara Christensen, who is not up for reelection, was Sturm's sole commission support in opposing the 10 percent tax hike.

French claims Sturm's last minute reduction offering was timed to head off angry voters. Sturm says his bid to cut the budget and thus the tax rate was sincere honest effort, and not related to his re-election bid.

As to French's charges that Sturm is a friend to developers who have contributed heavily to his campaign fund, which totals about $80,000, Sturm says he has had only two fundraising events, and that most of the contributions have been unsolicited. He said more than 500 individuals have contributed, along with the businesses and representatives of developers interests.

French has said that his refusal to accept donations from developers is part of the reason he has amassed less than $4,000 in contributions, and has admitted he could use "about $20,000 more" in the final weeks of the campaign.

Sturm charges that while French was a commissioner, from 1976 through 1980, the Democrat was the swing vote in favor of allowing an automobile dealership to be built on U.S. 17-92 in the environmentally-sensitive Spring Hammock area south of Sanford. The state is trying to purchase as much of the land as possible to protect it from development. Sturm also says French voted to approve the highest tax rate in the history of the county.

county commission chairman. French says that he sided with two other Republicans on the commission that approved the car dealership in the hammock, as well as the tax rate. Sturm says he nominated French as commission chairman only "in the spirit of cooperation" after Sandra Glenn's

Mob Bosses Make Fortune 50 Averaging $222,000 Per Annum

NEW YORK (UPI) — An American mobster makes an average of $222,000 a year, but a survey of the top 50 Mafia bosses shows that with the wages of sin comes trouble — nearly half are in jail or awaiting trial, Fortune magazine reports.

Topping Fortune's list of the richest and most powerful Mafia — released Wednesday — was Anthony "Fat Tony" Salerno, 75, of New York, reputed leader of the Genovese family, one of the city's five mobs.

The runner-up was Anthony Accardo, 80, of Palm Springs, Calif., who also is known as "Joe Batters" and "Big Tuna." Accardo, a former Al Capone bodyguard and a suspect in the St. Valentine's Day Massacre, is considered chairman of the board of Chicago organized crime.

The FBI estimates there are 1,700 Mafia members who have taken the blood oath of loyalty and 17,000 associates. Fortune based its list on wealth and power as assessed by the FBI, federal experts on the mob and police.

Light Drinkers Cut Stroke Risk

BOSTON (UPI) — Men who consume up to 10 alcoholic drinks a week appear to reduce their risk of suffering a stroke, a new study shows, but those who have 30 or more drinks each week are much more likely to have such an attack.

"If you're a teetotaler your risk of a stroke is twice that of a light drinker," said Dr. Jaswinder Gill, who conducted the study at the Dudley Road Hospital in Birmingham, England. "But heavy drinkers increase their risk."

The study, published Wednesday in The New England Journal of Medicine, showed heavy drinkers who cut their consumption of alcohol may prevent strokes.

'Banquet Of Science' Found

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Instruments aboard a 1985 shuttle Spacelab mission detected a mysterious source of X-rays near the heart of the Milky Way galaxy and provided a "banquet of science" for astronomers on the ground.

"We have learned new basic information about the structure of the sun, the structure of the universe, the dynamic processes that have built and continue to evolve in the universe," Spacelab 2 mission scientist Eugene Urban said Wednesday.

Inflation Increases S.S. Checks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer prices rose a modest 0.3 percent in September — pushing inflation up to 2.2 percent in the third quarter and triggering an average 1.3 percent increase in Social Security payments, the Labor Department reported today.

The Social Security benefit increases will be reflected in checks going to recipients Dec. 31 1986, and Jan. 2, 1987. The average monthly check will go up to $488 from $482 per month. The maximum payment to anyone who retires at age 65 in 1986 will increase from $760 to $770 per month, the Social Security Administration said.

The Consumer Price Index registered a 0.2 percent jump in August following no increase in July. During the first nine months of 1986, the index was up 0.6 percent, according to the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

All figures were seasonally adjusted.

Crash Kills Traffic Reporter

NEW YORK (UPI) — A helicopter flying a radio traffic reporter over the city for a live rush-hour broadcast plunged into the Hudson River, killing her and critically injuring the pilot, authorities said.

It was the second time this year that the WNBC-Radio reporter, 40-year-old Jane Dornacker, went down in a craft owned by Spectrum Helicopters of Ridgefield Park, N.J. It was the third accident this year for Spectrum.

Dornacker, who never regained consciousness after the accident, died at 8:20 p.m. Wednesday at St. Vincent's Hospital, a hospital spokesman said. The cause of death was tentatively identified as drowning, he said.

Court Grants Teen Abortion Despite Parents' Objection

BOSTON (UPI) — The state Appeals Court cleared the way for a 15-year-old to have an abortion today over the objections of her parents, ruling the girl was mature enough to decide on her own.

The three-judge panel Wednesday upheld a ruling by Middlesex County Superior Court Judge Joseph S. Mitchell Jr. allowing the girl to decide for herself whether to end her pregnancy, which is in its 11th week.

Attorney for the parents said any decision about an appeal to the state Supreme Judicial Court would await written notification of the appeals court ruling. No appeal was filed Wednesday. The abortion was planned for today.

Under state law, judges may allow unmarried girls under 18 to have an abortion without parental consent if the court is convinced the girls are mature enough to make the decision or if the mother's health is threatened.

Mitchell ruled the girl was mature enough to make the decision. Justices Raya S. Dreben, Edith W. Fine and R. Ammi Cutter Wednesday upheld Mitchell's ruling, saying state law and Supreme Court decisions allow "no occasion" for a judge to "afford the parents to participate in the proceedings."

"What the parents wanted, in this case, was veto power to stop the abortion," said Jamie Ann Sabino, attorney for the girl, whose name was not made public.

"What the Supreme Court has said is that a mature woman — not her parents or her husband or anyone else — has the right to decide whether she should have an abortion," he said.

The girl's parents have challenged the state law, saying it deprives them of their right to take part and be consulted in key decisions in their child's life, said Edgar L. Kelley, a lawyer for the couple, who asked not to be identified.

"The longer you delay, the greater the emotional and physical risks," Sabino said.

Surgeon General Asks End To AIDS Silence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Parents and educators reluctant to talk with children about sex-related subjects, especially AIDS, are getting a strong message from the nation's top health official: "This silence must end."

Surgeon General C. Everett Koop said sex and AIDS education should begin at home as soon as children begin asking questions, or by the third or fourth grade if they fail to speak up. In school, he said, AIDS education must start at "the lowest grade possible" as part of health or hygiene classes.

"Many people, especially our youth, are not receiving information that is vital to their future health and well-being because of our reticence in dealing with the subjects of sex, sexual practices and homosexuality," Koop declared Wednesday. "This silence must end."

The surgeon general also urged parents and educators to teach teenagers how to stay away from acquired immune deficiency syndrome and warned against the promiscuity that spreads the virus causing the deadly syndrome.

The virus is spread through sexual contact, use of contaminated blood products and sharing needles for intravenous drug abuse. Although most cases have occurred among homosexual and bisexual men and drug abusers, there is danger the virus could spread widely among the general population, Koop said.

"Couples who engage in free-wheeling casual sex these days are playing a dangerous game," he said, noting that the risk of infection increases as the number of sexual partners — man or woman — increases.

Many people infected with the AIDS virus show no symptoms but can infect others, Koop continued, saying the best protection against infection, barring abstinence, is use of a condom.

"A condom should be used during sexual relations, from start to finish, with anyone whom you know or suspect is infected," he said.

Koop made his comments at a news conference to announce publication of a booklet containing his report about AIDS, in which he said the number of AIDS fatalities may grow to 179,000 by the end of 1991. He stressed, however, that 12,000 to 14,000 lives might be saved if everyone at risk for contracting the virus takes precautions.

As of Oct. 20, the federal Centers for Disease Control had recorded 26,500 cases of AIDS in the United States, about 15,000 of which have resulted in death. About 1,000 cases are attributed to heterosexual transmission.

Dr. Harold Jaffe, head of the CDC's epidemiology branch for the AIDS program, said heterosexuals' risk of infection with the virus varies widely.

"A woman who is having sex with a drug user in New York City is at significant risk; for a woman who lives in Omaha and had two sexual partners in her lifetime, the risk is minuscule," Jaffe said.

Koop said if someone is not certain about a potential partner, "then you have to assume" he or she is at risk of being an AIDS virus carrier and should ask questions to determine his or her habits.

"I would say there are going to be some very interesting conversations in bedrooms," he quipped, but added seriously, "We're talking about death here."

Koop's report on AIDS is available from the U.S. Public Health Service by writing to AIDS, Box 14252, Washington, D.C., 20044.

Lawmaker Silent On Snorting Colleagues

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — State Rep. Phil Bradley, who was arrested for refusing to name colleagues he said he saw snorting cocaine, is not the only legislator who claims to have seen South Carolina lawmakers high on drugs or alcohol.

"I've seen a couple of guys that I think were spaced out on drugs," said Rep. Eugene Foxworth of Charleston. "Others suspected the same thing." Foxworth said, but added he had never witnessed illegal drug use.

Bradley was charged with obstructing justice for refusing to tell a Richland County grand jury the names of the lawmakers he claimed to have seen snorting cocaine. He was freed on $1,000 recognizance bond Wednesday after a brief appearance before Circuit Judge John Hamilton Smith.

Bradley, a Republican from Greenville who is unopposed in the Nov. 4 general election, had "absolutely no comment whatsoever" when he left court.

"The grand jury stated that they felt he had obstructed justice, that he refused to cooperate with law enforcement officers," said Solicitor James Anders.

Anders said Bradley's trial would be scheduled next year. The maximum penalty for obstructing justice is 10 years in prison and a fine set by the judge.

Bradley, a house member since 1979, said on a Greenville talk show Sept. 18 that he had seen two House members snorting cocaine and one lawmaker had admitted to him the substance was cocaine.

Bradley also said he knew six or eight lawmakers who used amphetamines and others who drank heavily during debate, but declined to name them because "I am more interested in trying to get someone to rehabilitate themselves than trying to blow the whistle and damage their wives and the lives of ones they love."

Oklahoma, Texas Soaked By Rains

Flooding kept about 100 people from their homes in Oklahoma and remnants of Hurricane Roslyn soaked south Texas today, while a weak storm system brought scattered showers eastward from the Mississippi Valley.

as seismic activity around the mountain in southwestern Washington steadily increased.

About 4 inches of rain have fallen in the last two days over parts of southwestern Oklahoma, prompting flood warnings for the Washita and Caney rivers.

The lava dome, a protrusion of hardened magma pushing up from the floor of the 1,800-foot deep crater, has gradually grown to a height of 850 feet through a series of 17 dome-building eruptions that began after the volcano's explosive eruption in May 1980.

High water from Oklahoma's Red River Basin has inundated cropland and pastures.

Patrick Pringle, a geologist with the U.S. Geological Survey, said aerial observers estimated the new lobe on the west side of the lava dome was about 200 meters by 100 meters across. The new dome has added nearly 30 feet to the overall height of the lava dome, he said.

Flood warnings were in effect overnight for south central and southwest Texas as remnants of Hurricane Roslyn brought showers and thunderstorms to the area.

A band of light rain extended from western Louisiana across Arkansas into Missouri and Illinois, moving eastward, the National Weather Service said.

More cloudy weather was expected today in the Northeast, with some rain, forecasters said.

A high-pressure system over western North Carolina brought sunny skies and mild temperatures to the Atlantic Coast Wednesday, and temperatures were in the 60s and 70s.

The USGS sent a small crew of scientists inside the crater Wednesday to make observations and take measurements of the new lobe, Pringle said. A plume of steam rose from the new lobe on the lava dome, but there was no sign of ash, said Pringle.

Sunshine and mild temperatures prevailed over the Plateau and the Pacific Coast Wednesday. Temperatures ranged from the 40s and 50s over the Pacific Northwest to the upper 60s and 70s over the Desert Southwest and California.

Mount St. Helens roared to life on May 18, 1980, when a powerful eruption blew ash and gas miles into the air and circling around the globe, leveled timber for 200 square miles in the surrounding wilderness and killed 57 people.

Mount St. Helens burped up fresh molten material, adding a large new lobe to the volcano's first eruption since last May.

The eruption ripped about 1,300 feet off the top of the 9,871-foot mountain, and created a gaping crater some 1,800 feet deep.

Say 'No' To Homestead Exemption Change

Back in the late 1920s and early '30s things were tough in Florida. Folks were losing their homes for a multitude of reasons, including loss due to tax defaults. The citizens of this state in 1934 amended the Constitution to include a $5,000 homestead exemption to protect homeowners from losing their property to taxes. This was extended in 1980 to $25,000 based on reasoning that inflation had been such during the intervening nearly half century that what was worth $5,000 in the '30s was worth at least $25,000 in the '80s.

Now in 1986 the citizens are being asked, via a proposed amendment to the Constitution, to reconsider the matter and vote to amend the amendment modifying the homestead exemption to enlarge the tax base. "Enlarge the tax base," ever a favorite phrase of politicians seeking additional revenue ... usually from the wrong source.

The proposed amendment in this instance provides that the first $5,000 of assessed value of the homesteaded property would be totally exempted from property taxes. Then, half of the assessed value, minus the first $5,000, would be exempted from taxation up to a total exemption of $25,000. Thus, the net effect would be those homesteaded properties assessed at $45,000 or more would be unaffected.

Voters homesteading property assessed at the $45,000-plus level can easily feel sympathy for those few counties in the state which are crying out for passage based on the contention that 50 percent of the properties in their county are presently exempted from paying any property taxes. That has been the case since original passage of the amendment in 1934. The biggest difference now is that then the majority of properties in the state were exempt. Now a majority of the voters will be unaffected because their property has a much higher valuation. You don't get burned unless the heat hits you.

This is the type of amendment that could sneak by since the affected portion of the electorate are the least influential. Wealthy, power-brokers do not live in homesteaded property assessed at under $45,000. This is the venue of the poor.

Fair taxation is a foundation of a republic. Compassion for the poor and elderly is also a hallmark of a civilized society. Many retirees moved to this state based on Florida's well publicized low tax structure, homestead exemptions and no personal income taxes, both cemented in the Constitution.

Adoption of this amendment would be a form of doublecross to those who retired to this state on fixed incomes. It would be even worse for the poor of our communities who have worked hard to achieve the goal of home ownership and just can't afford to have political hogs slop on their pittance.

The Evening Herald urges its readers to keep faith with the principle of fairness and equity and avoid regressive taxes. Vote against Constitutional Amendment 3 on Nov. 4.

Plain As The Nose On Pinocchio's Face

Americans, mesmerized by summitry's failure at Reykjavik, have ignored the potentially greater threat to peace that exists in Nicaragua. The "Big Two," of course, have got the whole world in their nuclear hands, and although an American's senility can do as much damage as a Russian's venality, the Soviets and the United States aren't likely to start World War III. As history shows, minor surrogates of major powers trigger big wars through little incidents. So Reykjavik shouldn't cause apprehension. This hastily convened "let's-get-together-now-t hat-we-have-released-each-other's-'spies'" summit was doomed from the start. It was unrealistic to substitute personal cordiality for impersonal artillery. However, the melodramatic Reykjavik repudiation upstaged the Managua mendacity. Nicaragua's downing of an American plane and the subsequent "Who killed Cock Robin?" denials revealed a deadly pattern of deceit clearly linked to the White House. The ink wasn't even dry on State Department spokesman Bernard Kalb's resignation — over an official policy of disinformation about

Gadhafi's terrorism — before administration officials were lying through their teeth about a CIA-linked misadventure in Nicaragua. It's possible that the surviving American, Eugene Hasenfus, was simply following the wise policy of saying the CIA "made me do it." But the ties between private citizens trying to be "Bay of Pigs" heroes and the White House are as plain as the nose on Pinocchio's face. Recall that the first official reaction was to characterize the operation as a private one headed by retired army Maj. Gen. John K. Singlaub. Singlaub, like any good soldier of fortune, denied any connection to the operation. He conceded, though, that he had kept his White House link to anti-terrorist fund-raisers — Lt. Col. Oliver L. North — informed of his activities. Next, Vice President Bush denied he was coordinating CIA policy for Latin America. But later, he confessed that he had met three times with a Cuban American, Max Gomez, a former CIA employee, who was supplying arms to the contras. Bush called Gomez "a patriot." These half-truths seem to be a Reagan administration specialty. Elliott Abrams, assistant secretary of Inter-American affairs, said if reports that the plane was carrying arms to the contras were true, then those involved "are heroes." To appreciate how easily a private group of citizens can touch off a major war in a remote place like Nicaragua, one must understand the intricate workings of a private group of right-wing conservatives who justify their terrorist activities on the altar of anti-communist fanaticism. Singlaub is a pivotal force in these operations. In a brilliantly researched book, "Inside the League," by Scott Anderson and Jon Lee Anderson, Singlaub admitted that "after the 1984 congressional cut-off of CIA aid to the Nicaraguan contras, he had received not only the blessing but the guidance of the White House and National Security Council officials to fill the void through private fund-raising." When a Reykjavik summit fails, front-page stories keep us absorbed and obsessed.

ROBERT WAGMAN GOP Woos Blacks In South

ATLANTA (NEA) — Tune in to any black radio station in this part of the South these days and sooner or later you will hear the family deliberations of the Dawsons. The Dawsons are a close-knit, but completely fictitious family, the invention of an ad agency that works for the Republican Party. Not surprisingly the Dawson family discusses the merits of GOP incumbent Sen. Mack Mattingly, who is in a tough re-election campaign. Several in the family are clear doubters. But they are set straight as one informed family member tells them that Mattingly supported the appointment of the first black U.S. attorney in Georgia history and that he has helped funnel millions into black colleges in the state.

All over the South, on other black radio stations, equally fictitious families are discussing Republican senatorial, congressional or gubernatorial candidates. In each case surprised family members learn how hard this or that GOP candidate has worked for minority rights or for minority issues. In each case the message is the same — even if you are a Democrat, this November you should vote for the right man.

The radio ads are part of a major Republican campaign to woo minority voters, especially in the South. The plain fact is that the GOP needs to cut into the usually solid Democratic black vote in the region if it is to maintain the gains won by Republican candidates at all levels in the past eight years.

Mattingly is a perfect example. Six years ago he was elected to the Senate largely because he received almost 30 percent of the black vote. In 1980 he ran against incumbent Democratic Sen. Herman Talmadge, who represented the Old South, while Mattingly represented the so-called New South — more progressive, more moderate, more racially tolerant no matter what the party label.

This year, however, Mattingly is facing Rep. Wyche Fowler, who is every bit as New South and more progressive than Mattingly. Mattingly is leading in the polls, but the GOP's biggest fear is that there will be a large black voter turnout that will go overwhelmingly to Fowler. By actively wooing minority voters, they hope to narrow Fowler's margin among them. They know Mattingly will not receive anywhere near the black support he did against Talmadge, but they think if he can get 10 percent of the black vote, his seat is safe.

Congress Wants Corps To Build Embassies

WASHINGTON — Some influential members of Congress are so disgusted with the performance of the State Department's construction specialists that they want to turn the $3 billion job of building new, terrorist-proof American embassies over to the Army Corps of Engineers. As the traditional executor of congressional projects, the Corps has many friends and much influence on Capitol Hill — something that can rarely be said about any subdivision of the State Department. So far, the only objection outside of Foggy Bottom was a Senate staffer's jocular concern that the Engineers might "build embassies that look like dams." Among those seriously considering the Army Engineers as saviors of the chaotic building program is Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Texas, chairman of the House Government Operations Committee and of its Legislation and National Security

ROBERT WALTERS

No Hablan Espanol

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (NEA) — No other state is experiencing a wave of immigration comparable to what is occurring in California and is expected to continue well into the next century. There has been a flood of Asian and Latino immigrants who cannot speak, read or write English. That has led to a bitter political dispute over a proposition that will appear on the ballot next month.

If it's approved, the state constitution would designate English as California's "official language." The measure also requires that state government officials "take all steps necessary to insure that the role of English as the common language... is preserved and enhanced." The details of how this would be accomplished are unclear.

In Georgia, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Nebraska and Virginia, English already has been designated as the official language, but none of those six states has adopted the rigorous enforcement that is proposed here.

Because California traditionally sets trends, the expected victory of the ballot proposal could advance efforts to enact similar laws in Alabama, Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York and Wisconsin.

Although some supporters of the California proposal undoubtedly are motivated by xenophobia if not racism, more thoughtful proponents advance serious arguments that can't be dismissed as intolerant or small-minded.

In earlier times — notably at the end of the 19th century and beginning of the 20th century — the immigrants who arrived in this country speaking only Italian, German, Yiddish, Greek or other languages were intent upon establishing permanent homes here for themselves and their families.

But many contemporary Hispanic immigrants share neither that long-term commitment nor the dedication to cultural assimilation that flows from it. They expect to eventually return to their native lands and that mitigates against integration with society here.

Some longtime leaders of the Cuban community in Florida, for example, declare that they will return home when and if they can depose Premier Fidel Castro and his government.

Puerto Ricans in New York routinely shuttle between their island commonwealth and the mainland. Many Mexicans in California and in the Southwest make no secret of their desire to return home after they save some money.

The results of the diminished incentives to learn the language that binds the rest of us together are increasingly apparent. The Pacific Bell Telephone Co., for example, is distributing 140,000 copies of Las Paginas Amarillas — a Spanish-language version of the Yellow Pages.

Some "professional Hispanics" aggressively discourage even second-generation Latinos from learning English on the specious grounds that they will be forsaking their heritage.

Similar problems involving Asian immigrants have surfaced in the Los Angeles suburb of Monterey Park, where a protest against Chinese signs on stores has escalated into a bitter political struggle dividing the community's ethnic groups.

Ancient Trade Routes

By Jim Stilleki
WATERVILLE, Ohio (UPI) — Archaeologists working in the Maumee River valley are finding evidence of an extensive trading network that was active between Ohio and the East Coast as early as 1000 B.C. That conclusion, based on prehistoric remains recently discovered near the village of Waterville, about 10 miles southwest of Toledo, is changing long-held theories about northwest Ohio's primitive people, said David Stothers, associate professor of anthropology at the University of Toledo.

Earlier theories were based on a belief of wider patterns of migration, but evidence now indicates the prehistoric inhabitants rarely traveled great distances, Stothers said.

Some of the artifacts being unearthed, however, point to a trading pattern that extended from the Gulf of Mexico to the Great Lakes, he said.

The discoveries have prompted anthropologists to reconsider how life developed in northwest Ohio and southeastern Michigan 3,000 years ago.

"We're starting to put together a bigger picture," Stothers said. The prehistoric inhabitants were "wanderers and gatherers" who neither farmed nor stayed in one place too long. The primitive nature of the early groups is reinforced by their lack of bows and arrows and the absence of pottery.

Some traces of residential or ceremonial structures have been uncovered, but those appear to be the exception, since there is no evidence of any organized village-like settlements.

An unusual trait of these people is an alternating use of winter and summer campsites as they followed the migration of deer, while remaining within a certain geographic area.

Excavations along the present river bank show remains of summer encampments. Stothers said the tribes would migrate to the bluff and stay inland away from the river in winter and early spring.

Stothers said knowledge of the limited travel patterns represents important new information about these people. His conclusions are based on studies of Eskimo tribes and African bush families used to establish a model.

Scientists believe some of their traits may have changed little through the centuries and have studied them as a model on which to base conclusions for a lifestyle that existed 3,000 years ago.

are adequately safeguarded from waste, fraud and mismanagement."

As just one of many examples, the inspector general's auditors cited a 26-unit apartment building for embassy personnel in Hong Kong. It was four years behind schedule and was plagued by endless problems of substandard workmanship. While the $7.2 million building was under construction, "potential occupants of the units (were) living in leased quarters costing approximately $50,000 per month," the report stated. Rental costs caused by the construction delays totaled $1.7 million at the time of the report last year. The project has finally been completed.

The inspector general's sour view of the FBO is no recent development. In another report four years ago, the inspector general observed that, to do its job right, the FBO "should have complete ... information on the nature of the overseas property universe, including numbers of properties, their condition and their contents." The report added: "It does not."

The auditors expressed "fundamental doubts about FBO's capacity to engage in either effective real property management or policy planning." This criticism, it should be noted, came long before the Foreign Buildings Office was given the additional job of building dozens of new embassies around the world.

In an apparent attempt to forestall congressional action that would strip away its embassy construction responsibilities, the FBO recently advertised for and selected outside "program managers" who might take over the chore of supervising embassy construction. But congressional critics are skeptical. The "privatization" option is an attractive one, but the critics suspect the FBO's tentative step in that direction is simply window dressing, and that the bureaucrats have no intention of relinquishing ultimate control over the construction projects.

Woman Jailed For Threatening To Kill Animal Control Officers

A 22-year-old Lake Mary woman who allegedly threatened "to kill animal control officers with a gun," when two Seminole County animal control officers were investigating a stray dog complaint at 309 Teakwood Lane, Altamonte Springs, has been arrested.

The woman was charged with assault on a law enforcement officer and opposing a law enforcement officer.

She was reportedly verbally abusive to David Swartsfager and David Murray when they arrive at the above home at about 2 p.m. Tuesday, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

After the woman allegedly threatened the victims they reported the incident to the sheriff's department and said they feared for their safety, the report said.

Elisha Denise Haggins of 226 S. Fourth St., has been released on $500 bond to appear in court Oct. 29.

DRIVER NABBED

A man who was apparently "passed out" in his car parked near Seminole Honda, U.S. Highway 17-92, near Longwood, when awakened by Seminole County sheriff's deputies reportedly refused to turn off his running vehicle.

After a deputy reached inside the car and put the gear into park the man reportedly put the car into drive, said "I ain't stopping," and started to drive away.

A second deputy reached into the car to try to stop it and the suspect moved the vehicle with that deputy holding onto the car. A sheriff's report said that deputy was almost hit by the vehicle.

Action Reports

- ★ Fires
- ★ Courts
- ★ Police

The suspect drove around Seminole Honda and was again stopped by the deputies who pulled him from the car and arrested him.

At about 3 a.m. Wednesday the man was charged with resisting arrest both with and without violence, aggravated assault on a police officer and possession of marijuana that was reportedly found inside his car.

The suspect refused to give information about himself. He was booked into the Seminole County Jail as John Doe and had not been identified early Wednesday, a jail worker said. The man was being held without bond.

THREATS TO DEPUTY

Seminole County sheriff's deputy Bruce Bowden reported that when he and another deputy were investigating a reported fight at 702 Meadows St., Sanford, at about 7:30 p.m. Tuesday a man at that address threatened him.

The man allegedly told Bowden he doesn't like police and said if Bowden took of his badge he would take care of him, a sheriff's report said.

The man reportedly refused several requests from the deputies to calm down.

Michael Arthur Kemp, 23, of the above address, has been charged with corruption by threat. He has been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court Nov. 10.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Ulysses Burke, 52, of 3320 E. Lincoln St., Sanford, was arrested at 7:56 p.m. Tuesday after his car was in an accident on Celery Avenue in Sanford. He has also been charged with careless driving and having no proof of auto insurance.

—Laura Ann Rogers, 25, of 142 Sable Palm Court, Sanford, at 2:18 a.m. Wednesday after her car was in an accident on Country Club Road, Lake Mary.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS
Heide Wakefield, 36, of 595 Notre Dame Drive, Altamonte Springs, gave sheriff's deputies the name of a suspect who may have stolen a $15 television and other items from her home Tuesday.

—Jeff Hall of Hall's Fish Camp,

5500 E. State Road 46, Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies that a $1,234 motor was stolen from a rental boat at that business Monday or Tuesday.

Sheriff's report a $350 television, a $300 television and $300 worth of tools were stolen from a tree house at the home of Leon F. Lloyd, of 1101 Citrus Drive, Chuluota, between Sept. 1 and 12.

The principal of Midway Elementary School, Jitway Avenue, Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies that a $230 microwave oven and about $5 were stolen from that school between Oct. 17 and Monday.

Two-hundred gallons of diesel fuel valued at about $180 was stolen from Keeman Brick, 225 Charlotte Avenue, Longwood, between Oct. 17 and Monday, a sheriff's report said.

Helpers Needed

4 Schools Pioneer Recreation Program

Interested adults and teachers are wanted to work part-time and help oversee and tutor children in the city's new "Stay After School for Recreation" program which begins in four area schools Monday.

According to city Recreation Superintendent Jeff Monson, children will be supervised in outdoor activities including games, contests and sports from 3:15 to 5:30 p.m. Those who need tutoring assistance will be helped in small groups "under a shade tree," Monson said.

The activities and tutoring are free of charge. Parents need only call and register at the school office or the city Recreation Department, 322-3161, ext. 260 or 281. There will be no cost except for some special projects.

Monson said the students who need "educational enhancement" or tutoring will be identified by their teachers and principals, and their parents will be notified.

Schools participating are: Hamilton Elementary; Idyllwilde Elementary, Lakeview Middle School and Crooms School of Choice. At Lakeview, students will be participating in basketball, volleyball, softball and track.

Adult helpers will be paid $4 an hour, up to 40 hours per week. Applicants re invited to contact Monson at the city Recreation Department.

Mets Welcome Sacrifice, Pull Even

BOSTON (UPI) — After sacrificing Al Nipper in a 6-2 loss in Game 4 to the New York Mets, the Boston Red Sox have their best pitchers rested and set up for what has become a best-of-three World Series.

But unless Bruce Hurst and Roger Clemens throw shutouts, it may not matter — because the American League champions simply aren't hitting.

Boston, which managed just five hits and a run in a Game 3 loss to Bob Ojeda, Wednesday night collected just four hits off Ron Darling through seven innings before scoring twice off tired Roger McDowell in the eighth.

"We are just not getting the hits when we need them," Red Sox Manager John McNamara said. "We are not getting base hits to put ourselves close when we get an opening."

Boston is 2 for 17 with runners in scoring position since its 9-3 victory in Game 2 and has stranded 38 men in the Series. The major culprits:

First baseman Bill Buckner is 1 for 10 with runners in scoring position and has left 12 on the basepaths. He is hitting .167.

Wade Boggs, like Buckner (1) for 5 Wednesday night, grounded into a force play to end the Red Sox hopes in the eighth. The AL batting champion is hitting .178.

World Series

Cleanup hitter Jim Rice is batting .333 but has no RBI. DH Don Baylor is hitting .143 and Dwight Evans is at .214.

Bruce Hurst, masterful in a 1-0 victory in Game 1, will start tonight against Dwight Gooden, who is pitching on three days rest for the first time this season. Rain, though, is in the forecast. Roger Clemens will hurl Game 6 against Ojeda. If necessary, it will be Darling vs. Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd in Game 7.

"They will see our best pitchers," McNamara said. "They're the best we have."

Hurst, Clemens and Boyd will have to be at their best to stop the Mets, who have recovered from the Shea Stadium slump in the opening two contests.

Led by two homers from catcher Gary Carter and one from Len Dykstra — the center fielder's second in two nights — the Mets collected 12 hits off three pitchers in Game 4.

Carter, who became only the fourth catcher to hit two homers in a Series game, gave the Mets a 2-0 lead in the fourth with a two-run shot into the Green Monster screen off Nipper, who was making his first postseason appearance — purely as a setup man for the rest of the rotation.

Carter added a double to right and a solo homer over the screen in the eighth off Steve Crawford.

If you are looking for an early MVP candidate, Carter may be your guy — he has three RBI in each of the last two games, with four hits in his last six trips to the plate. He is the leading hitter in the Fall Classic with a .412 average.

"I can look at the (short left-field) wall and just pull out of there and get into a bad habit," Carter said. "The key is to not overswing."

Friday's Football Provides Option To TV's Garbage

With the garbage clogging the airwaves these days, watching television or listening to the radio at times is more painful than enjoyable. Other than unimaginative programming, the big problem is commercials.

How about the "Pine Sol" TV spot? This one gets the award for most redundant commercial.

"They're changing my Pine Sol, they're changing my Pine Sol," the dlamayed homemaker says. Heck, you'd be redundant too if you'd been sniffing "Pine Sol" all day.

Then there's the most ridiculous radio commercial perhaps of all time. The announcer states: "It's hard to find a man who enjoys losing his hair." What do you do for enjoyment? I like losing my hair.

So, what do you do when this kind of trash gets you down? Do you buy one of those National Inquirer type tabloids and read "Girl, 9, Gives Birth To Big Foot Baby?"

No. Just turn off the TV and tune out the radio and go see a game.

Friday night, there are a pair of interesting and exciting Seminole Athletic Conference prep football games on tap. Seminole High, with its tenacious defensive unit, will try to stop Lyman and elusive running back Robert Thomas. Kickoff is at 8 at Seminole High.

Lake Mary High will have its homecoming game Friday night at 8 against Oviedo's Lions. Lake Mary comes in with a 2-3 record but has an untested quarterback after losing Shane Letterio for the season with a broken collarbone last week. Oviedo has the kind of defense that could make it tough on the new Ratt QB and the Lions also have one of the top kicking specialists in the state in Gordon King.

You say high school's not your bag? Well, Saturday afternoon the University of Central Florida Knights will have their homecoming game against mighty Wofford. After the game, the Beach Boys will be performing in concert at Orlando Stadium.

Tim Raines steps into a Minnesota United Press International National League All-Star team outfield.

Raines Adds Another Jewel As UPI All-Star

UPI/Herald Services

Tim Raines, who has the option of becoming a free agent after the World Series, added another jewel to a star-studded season Wednesday when he was named to an outfield position on the United Press International's National League All-Star team.

Raines, who led the N.L. in hitting with .334 average, missed by just one vote of being a unanimous selection. The Montreal Expo leftfielder also stole 70 or more bases for the sixth consecutive season, a major-league record.

Raines also led the league with his .413 on base percentage despite being moved to his normal leadoff position to third in the lineup after injuries to Hube Brooks and Andre Dawson. Raines played in 151 games, came to bat 580 times, slapped 194 hits and scored 91 runs.

He ranked among the leaders with 35 doubles and 10 triples. He slugged nine home runs and drove in 62 runs. The former Seminole High standout coaxed 78 walks. He was successful on 70 of 79 steal attempts. Defensively, Raines committed six errors.

In UPI's poll of 24 baseball correspondents, three players — New York Yankees first baseman Don Mattingly and relief pitcher Dave Righetti, and Philadelphia third baseman Mike Schmidt — were unanimous choices.

The Boston Red Sox, bidding to capture their first World Series title since 1918, placed five players on the United Press International All-Star team announced Wednesday.

American League Cy Young and Most Valuable Player candidate Roger Clemens was named the All-Star squad's right-handed pitcher. Other Red Sox named to the team were third baseman Wade Boggs, outfielder Jim Rice, catcher Rich Gedman and designated hitter Don Baylor.

Rounding out the AL team were Cleveland second baseman Tony Bernazard, Toronto shortstop Tony Fernandez and outfielders Kirby Puckett of Minnesota and Jesse Barfield of Toronto. Milwaukee's Ted Higuera was named the left-handed pitcher.

In the National League, the league champion New York Mets fielded two

Baseball

All-Stars — catcher Gary Carter and first baseman Keith Hernandez.

The rest of the NL team included Los Angeles second baseman Steve Sax, St. Louis shortstop Ozzie Smith and outfielders Raines of Montreal, Dave Parker of Cincinnati and Tony Gwynn of San Diego.

Carter and Raines each fell one vote short of being unanimous selections, while Scott finished with 22 votes and Smith 20.

Houston's Mike Scott was voted the top right-hander. Fernando Valenzuela of the Dodgers was chosen the top left-hander and St. Louis rookie Todd Worrell was the No. 1 relief pitcher.

Clemens, who went 24-4 in the regular season, received 23 votes, and only a vote for Detroit's Jack Morris prevented him from being a unanimous choice for the AL's top right-hander.

Boggs, who hit .357 for his third AL batting title, collected 22 votes, while Minnesota's Gary Gaetti received the other two.

Rice, who batted .324 with 20 homers and 110 RBI, finished second to Puckett in the outfield voting. Puckett, who ranked second to Mattingly in hits and total bases, tallied 19 votes. Rice had 17 and Barfield, whose 40 home runs led the majors, picked up 15 votes.

Gedman, who hit 16 home runs with 65 RBI, received 14 votes to easily beat out California's Bob Boone with seven.

Baylor (31 homers, 94 RBI) collected 11 votes to outdistance AL RBI champion Joe Carter of the Cleveland Indians with eight.

Mattingly and Righetti compiled banner seasons for New York. Mattingly set club records for hits (238) and doubles (53), while Righetti had a major-league record 46 saves.

The third unanimous selection, Schmidt, led the NL with 37 homers and 119 RBI.

In the NL, the closest race was at first, with Hernandez shading Houston's Glenn Davis, 13-11. Another tight race was at second, with Sax beating out Houston's Bill Doran, 12-7.

After the Bucs and Dolphins took it on the chin again last week, the Fearless Fister Forecast finished with a 7-4 record. For the season, it's 33-18. What kind of percentage is that? Math was never my strongest subject, okay.

Seminole's defense has been outstanding in an inoffensive year. Earnie "Sackman" Lewis' 69-yard fumble return accounted for the Tribe's only points a week ago. ## Lady Seminoles Continue Assault On Hieroglyphics

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

Going into the 1986 season, the Seminole High girls swimming records were more like hieroglyphics. From the dust covering the record book, it looked as if some marks were chiseled in during prehistoric times.

The last records to be broken were the 200 freestyle and the 500 freestyle. Anne Smith established the "new" marks in 1975. Some records that still stood going into the '86 season, were set before some of this year's swimmers were even born.

Five weeks into the '86 season, however, Seminole coach Donalyn Knight is about ready to throw out the old record book. Of the eight individual records, all but two have been broken.

Freshman flash Cissy Burgess is responsible for most of the rewriting of the record book. And Burgess was at it again Wednesday as she broke two of her own records in a triangular meet with Lake Mary and Lake Brantley at the Parnell Fitness Club in Altamonte Springs.

Seminole High finished third as a team in both the boys and girls divisions but had some outstanding individual efforts. Lake Brantley won the girls meet while Lake Mary took top honors in the boys.

"This has really been a great season for the girls team," Knight said. "By the end of the season, every one of the records could be broken."

Burgess took a pair of third places Wednesday with a 2:07.8 in the 200 free and a 1:04 in the 100 butterfly, lowering her record times in both events in the process. Burgess also holds the Seminole High records in the 200 individual medley (2:26), the 500 free (5:49) and the 100 breaststroke (1:17.0).

Burgess' older brother, Chuck, holds six records for the Seminole High boys team.

Swimming

The older Burgess graduated in 1985 and now swims for Brigham Young University.

The other new record holder for the Lady Tribe this season is Shannon Rivers, a transfer from Alaska. Rivers established a new mark in the 100 backstroke with a time of 1:11.0.

In Wednesday's meet, Rivers was five-tenths of a second off the record in the breaststroke as she won the event with a time of 1:17.5.

Seminole also got a personal best from Tina Kennedy who swam a 1:17 in the 100 free.

On the boys side, Seminole got personal bests from Kirby Swinehart in the 100 fly (1:12), Scott Lewis in the 100 back (1:10), Matt Chock in the 100 breaststroke (1:16) and David Higginbotham in the 100 free (1:13).

"We're continuing to improve on our times all the way across the board," Knight said. "It was a good swim for us after coming off the tough NSPI meet at Justus."

Seminole High's next meet will be the Seminole Athletic Conference Championships on Saturday, Nov. 1 at the Sharidan Aquatic Club in Longwood. Lake Brantley will compete in the Woodson Invitational this weekend at Fort Lauderdale Pine Crest.

Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots claimed first places in eight of the 10 events Wednesday night.

Jill Spiller cranked out a pair of firsts including the 200 IM (2:30.5) and the 500 free (5:52.5). Christy Bridgewater won the Seminole's Shannon Rivers churns after another record. Alaska transfer has been a big plus for coach Donalyn Knight.

100 free with a time (54.2) that will put her in the Central Florida Honor Roll in that event. Other winners who figure to crack into the honor roll with their times are Manda Davis in the 50 free (26.1), Dani Ohnman in the 100 back (1:08.6) and Kristen Pauley in the 100 fly (1:01.8). In fact, Pauley's time is currently first on the honor roll.

Brantley also won both relays as the team of Bridgewater, Davis, Lisa Moon and Pauley teamed to win the 200 medley in a season's best 1:56 while the foursome of Jill Spiller, Cathy Spiller, Ohnman and Jodee Lake won the 400 free relay.

Lake Brantley got firsts in the boys meet from Scott Bridges in the 100 fly (54.8) and 100 back (1:02.8), Russ Glead in the 100 free (51.9) and Scott Rowe in the 500 free (5:32.5).

Lake Mary results were not reported for the second week in a row.

Bucs Sign RB Carter

TAMPA (UPI) — Third-year running back Joe Carter, waived by the Miami Dolphins, was claimed by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers Wednesday.

A fourth-round draft pick out of Alabama in 1984, Carter rushed for 495 yards as a rookie, but a tendency to fumble placed him in disfavor with Coach Dan Shula. Carter carried just 14 times in 10 games last year and had just four rushing attempts in 1986 before Miami cut the 24-year-old halfback Tuesday.

In Sunday's 30-28 loss to the Los Angeles Raiders, Carter fumbled a kickoff in the opening quarter, leading to a field goal.

Tampa Bay, 1-6, released running back Ron Springs, wide receiver Kevin House and Pro Bowl tight end Jimmie Giles Monday in a veteran housecleaning. On Tuesday, the Buccaneers added tight end Chris Faulkner and running backs Rick Parros and Pat Franklin.

Cooling Water Temperatures Activate Fish

It has been a long, hot summer (and fall). Now that cooler weather has finally arrived, the fishermen of Central Florida can look forward to some of the best fishing of the year.

On the freshwater scene, bass will become active with the cooling water temperatures. They will feed ravenously in preparation for the harsh winter months.

This is the time of year that bass fishermen can expect to start catching some real lunkers in excess of eight pounds. Giant bass are lethargic in the summer months, but they feel as frisky as a yearling with colder weather. Use shiners or slow moving artificials such as the plastic worm for the best results with the larger bass.

Speckled perch start to leave deep holes and feed actively during the fall. Of all Florida freshwater species, specks love cool weather and low water temperatures the most. They are even comfortable when the water temperature drops into the 50s.

Drift with Missouri minnows or troll Beetle Spins for steady action with specks. Look for concentration of boats, and you will almost certainly find large numbers of speckled perch.

Sunshine bass and strippers also love late fall. They can be found schooling on small minnows in areas of moving water all up and down the St. Johns River. These fish usually feed on small baitfish, so scale down the size of your lures to "match the hatch."

Late fall is also a transitional period for saltwater fishing. Trout and redfish are roaming the Banana and Indian rivers. Use topwater plugs, Mirrorlures, or Saasay Shad for good results. The best baits are live shrimp and finger mullet.

Offshore fishing is frequently at a standstill during this time of year. Small craft warnings are usually posted for the weekends, and fishermen who only have offshore boats are forced to do chores around the house when the weekend arrives.

Jim Shupe

GOING FISHING?

(Cold fronts have an uncanny knack for arriving on Friday, just in time to ruin the fishing for the weekend.)

Fishing for sailfish is the only type of offshore action that actually improves with the high seas of late fall. Great concentrations of these great gamefish can be found off Ft. Pierce from late fall until spring. Slow troll with live bait for sure action.

Snook fishing at Sebastian Inlet will be good until the really cold weather arrives. Cold water temperatures "shock" snook and they become almost dormant. They will become active during the brief warm spells which often occur in-between cold fronts.

One-ounce bucktail jigs and large live shrimp fished near the bottom are effective for Sebastian snook.

A nice fringe benefit of late fall fishing is hunting season. Many fishermen are in the woods, and the waterways of Central Florida are much less crowded. (I always encourage fishermen to hunt.)

Simply put, fall is one of the best times of the year to fish. The temperatures are mild and the fish are biting.

Grab your rod and reel and join me this weekend.

SHUPE'S SCOOP — Pay careful attention to the weather forecast this time of year. High winds are common, and it is usually a waste of time and money to go fishing when the wind is blowing more than 15 miles per hour.

WEEKEND FORECAST — Ron Rawlins at Highland Park Fish Camp reports that bass fishing is improving daily. Six and seven pound bass are beginning to appear as stringers, most caught with shiners. Anglers had been catching some specks in the past, but high winds hampered fishing.

Duff Abernethy from Osteen Bridge said about the same thing. The bass are there, but the high winds have made fishing tough. If not impossible. Anglers had been catching good numbers of bass, with a few larger fish showing up with regularity. Specks are also biting for those anglers who can find the concentrations of these fish. They are still bunched up and haven't started to really migrate.

The big news is the snook invasion of Sebastian Inlet. Snook are being caught in large numbers on one-ounce bucktails, chartreuse mavericks, Rebels, Rapalas, and Mirrorlures. The average size is 12-18 pounds and anglers had better get them while they're hot. The first good cold front will shut them down like someone closed the door.

Captain Jack of Port Canaveral said that fishing has been at a standstill due to the high winds. Fishing has been restricted to the sheltered waters of the Port, where anglers are catching bluefish, flounder and sheepshead. Use topwater plugs early in the morning by sandbars and rock pile shorelines for bluefish.

Finger mullet on the bottom will draw flounder from all around, while fiddler crabs around pilings are most effective for sheepshead. Strong winds have prevented anglers from fishing in the Banana and Indian Rivers. Look for good fishing for trout and reds when the wind gusts subside.

No one has been brave enough to fish the New Smyrna jetty in the 2-6 foot seas that have been breaking over the jetty rocks for the past few days. Sheepshead, redfish, drum, and bluefish will cooperate with anglers as soon as the seas diminish.

Scott: Aggressive Seminoles Present Problem For Lyman

By Scott Sander
Herald Sports Writer

Football

LONGWOOD — After the Lyman Greyhound offensive unit finally played up its ability last Friday in the Hounds 19-16 Seminole Athletic Conference victory over Oviedo, the Greyhound wouldn't mind taking on a team this week with a wimpy defensive unit.

"That won't be the case, however."

Lyman, 3-2 overall and 2-0 in the SAC, will not be facing a wimpy defense Friday when coach Dave Mosure's Fighting Seminoles invade for a key SAC game. Despite their 2-4 mark, Seminole has one of the toughest defenses in Central Florida.

Seminole, 2-1 in the SAC, needs a win against Lyman to put it back in the SAC title chase. Lake Howell, which is idle this week, is also 2-0 in conference play.

"Several things worry me about playing Seminole," Lyman coach Bill Scott said. "The team speed that they possess is incredible. They are an aggressive and physical football team. I think that they are more aggressive than DeLand (which beat Lyman, 21-14, in overtime)."

"It is no secret that the Lyman offense, like Seminole's, has been struggling so far this season. The Hounds had been totally relying on the play their defense to keep them in games. They relied so much on the defense early in the season, that it was the defense that was scoring the points.

"Last week's game was the best performance that our offense has given," Scott said. "For the first time this season our offense line really played well. They finally put four quarters of solid effort together."

Tailback Robert Thomas, who admitted that he been "dancing" too much in previous games, gave up the dance routine and concentrated on running. The result was 167 yards on 28 carries.

Thomas is second in the SAC rushing race with 507 yards on 103 carries. Lake Howell's Nate Hoskins leads the SAC with 623 yards on 113 carries and leads the SAC in touchdowns with six. Thomas has found his way to the end zone three times.

"Robert ran the ball harder than he has all year last week," Scott said about the 175 pound senior. "He is really playing with a lot of intensity."

Scott went on to say that the Lyman ground game is becoming more versatile. "Our opponents have been keying on Robert a great deal," Scott said. "Steven Jerry (120 yards this season) and Victor Farrier (113 yards) have been picking the slack for Robert. Our running game is as versatile as I can remember."

The Greyhounds ate up the Lions on the ground last week as they amassed 292 yards. Scott feels that it will be very tough to run the ball against Seminole.

"They stuff you up pretty well at the line of scrimmage," Scott said about the stingy Seminole defense. "We are going to have to block very well in order to have any success on the ground."

Scott said that if the running game is not working, he will not hesitate to throw the ball. "I wouldn't be surprised if we threw the ball a lot," he said. "We have to compensate for their speed some how and that may be the only way."

The Sanford offense has not really hit its stride yet and that worries Scott. "They haven't put it all together offensively," he said. "They are going to have to get it going sooner or later. They are always a step away from breaking a big play. I hope that they don't get on track this week."

Scott went on to say that he has been pleased with the play of his defense this season. "We had a few lapses last week," Scott said. "We also had some mistakes but they were aggressive mistakes and that is good. The defense has played well this year."

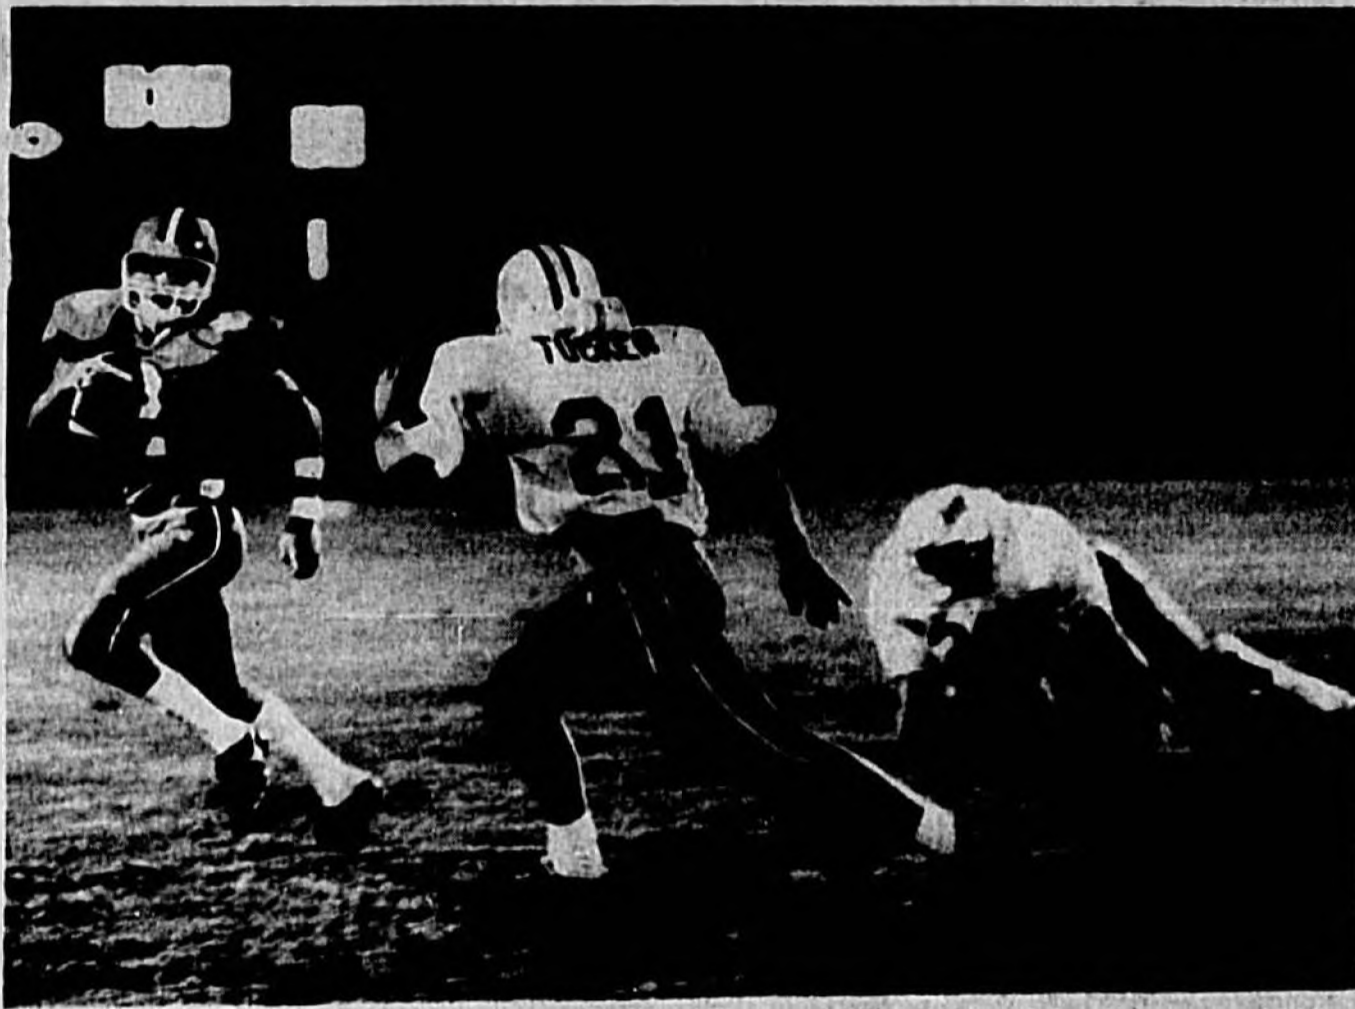

The county's two leading tacklers will also meet on Friday. Lyman linebacker Benny Glenn is averaging 16 tackles a game and Sanford linebacker Earnie Lewis is 15.5 tackles per game. The two players are the heart and soul of their respective teams.

Glenn said that the team goals come way before his personal goals. "The team comes first," Glenn said. "It will probably make me play a little harder (facing Lewis), though."

Glenn said the defense has not hit its potential yet. "We can play a lot better," he said. "Our defensive goal is a shutout. Hopefully we will achieve that goal soon."

Lewis, who was honored with teammate Leonard Lucas as the Optimist Club of Sanford Players of the Week Wednesday, said he takes the same attitude as Glenn.

Lyman's Larry Tucker moves to head off slipped around Vahan Noukhalian. Lyman Oviedo's Jerrett Kinnaird, left, after he came from behind to nip Oviedo last Friday.

their speed some how and that may be the only way."

"I'm looking forward to playing against him (Glenn)," he said. "But we're more worried about winning than statistics."

Scott said that he has total respect for Glenn. "Benny doesn't care as he makes two tackles or 20," Scott said. "If he would make a game saving tackle that would make him as happy as making a bunch of tackles. He is a self-motivated player and is very tough."

Scott still is looking for his Hounds to put it all together. "We haven't had a game where every part of our team has played well," Scott said. "We would like to do it this week but it won't be easy because Sanford is a tough team."

Scott said Lyman's backup quarterback John Burton is "doubtful" because of an injury.

Lady Rams Turn Back Kissimmee

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

With an exciting Seminole Athletic Conference season hitting the stretch run, it's pretty difficult to get inspired for a nonconference away game.

Lake Mary's Lady Rams, though, found the road to Kissimmee a lot smoother than the path Seminole High took to DeLand Wednesday night. The Lady Rams came away with a 15-9, 15-13 victory over Kissimmee Osceola's Kowgirls while Seminole dropped a 15-6, 15-10 decision to DeLand's Lady Bulldogs.

With the win, Lake Mary improved to 12-5 overall. The Lady Rams return to SAC play tonight in a crucial game at Lake Howell. Lake Mary is 6-1 in the league with Lake Howell at 5-2.

"Lake Howell's so tough and motivated," Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry said. "And they're tough at home. But our girls feel real good about the game. And they've been recruiting people to come out and pull for us."

In Wednesday's match, Osceola jumped out to an 8-2 lead in the opening game before Lora Spatt scored six straight to even the score. Lake Mary kept the momentum going behind the front row play of Marice Dalziel and the setting of Marcy Lazar.

Lake Mary's junior varsity improved to 10-1 with its 10th straight victory, 15-12, 15-10, Wednesday night over the JV Kowgirls.

Seminole, 1-11 overall, has an SAC game tonight at home against Lyman. The Lady Noles are 1-6 in the conference while Lyman is 0-7.

Seminole found it difficult to get up for Wednesday's nonconference affair after Tuesday's grueling three-game match against Lake Brantley.

DeLand, 15-2 overall, rode the strong offensive play of C.C. Hayden to an easy win in the first game and rolled up a 6-1 lead early in game two. Seminole came back behind the hitting of Liz Long and the setting of Sheri Peterson to pull within 11-10 but could get no closer.

"We just couldn't get anything going the first game," Seminole coach Beth Corso said. "We woke up and came back in the second game but DeLand held on."

Long, who had a strong game against Brantley, was 7 for 7 on spikes in the second game against DeLand, four of which were kills. Long and Adrian Hillman had three kills each in the first game.

"It was a strange time of day (started at 4 p.m.) for us to be playing," Corso added. "And we played so well and so hard last night that it was difficult to come back for a nonconference game."

MATCHES NEXT WEEK
In volleyball action Monday, Lyman travels to Oak Ridge and Lake Howell hosts DeLand.

Phillips Backs Coaches

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Football

Oviedo athletic director Dale Phillips said Thursday that it was wrong for a coach to cut a player's hair but he is standing firmly behind his coaching staff in its decision to discipline four freshmen football players for not conforming to a team rule on hair length.

"The coach shouldn't have cut the players' hair," Phillips said. "But it's been a rule of the football program for a long time that there should be no hair sticking out of the helmet. It could be pulled in the game and a player could be seriously injured."

The situation came to a head when Horn, the freshman coach, told seven players they had to trim their hair by Oct. 13. "They said they would have it done," Horn said Thursday. "But when Oct. 13 came around, they still didn't have it cut."

Horn said the team was made aware of the rule when practice began in late August.

"I told them several times to get it taken care of," Horn said. "When it wasn't done, Horn said he offered to have assistant Lea Callette trim the hair, but the choice was up to them."

"Two of them agreed to have their hair cut and the others didn't," Horn said. "I don't think it was too much to ask to trim their hair. It's a small price to pay for the dedication to the team and their own safety."

"It all came down to how bad they wanted to play football. They were also taking a chance on injury with their hair sticking out of their helmet."

After the four players refused to conform, Horn said he took their uniforms. Oviedo has one game remaining, Tuesday against Lyman.

Phillips said Winston Miller, a father of one of the players, wrote Oviedo Principal Charles Webb a letter, objecting to the handling of the situation.

Phillips said Webb, Miller and Horn are going to meet on the matter, but as far as he is concerned the issue is closed.

"We stand behind the coaching staff's decision," Phillips said. "They were given a chance to get their hair cut even after the incident. Then, they would have been allowed to finish the season with the team. But they didn't get it done."

Miller could not be reached for comment.

Coleman's Attorney Vows To Sue If NCAA Overrules

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UPI) — The attorney for Kansas State basketball standout Norris Coleman says he will sue if the NCAA overrules the school's interpretation of a letter that appears to say Coleman may play this season.

Jeffrey Schommel, who has represented the 24-year-old forward since he was declared in violation of NCAA academic standards last February, threatened legal action Wednesday after the NCAA said Kansas State misinterpreted the letter.

The confusion began when Kansas State Athletic Director Larry Travis called a news conference Wednesday to announce the NCAA. In a letter dated Oct. 13, had advised the school Coleman has two years of eligibility left beginning with the 1986-87 season.

Travis said based on the letter,

Basketball

Kansas State athletic officials, attorneys and Coleman believed Coleman could begin the regular season Nov. 29 with junior status instead of that of a sophomore.

However, Jim Marchiony, director of media services for the NCAA, said Kansas State misinterpreted the letter and the NCAA stands by its ruling that Coleman — the country's leading Division I freshman scorer last season — is not eligible to play until Feb. 27, 1987.

Travis said Kansas State's interpretation of the letter written by Douglas Johnson, the NCAA's director of legislative services, hinges on a paragraph that states:

"I would stand out."

The suit, filed in Orange County Superior Court against the Huntington Beach High School District, seeks a court order barring school officials from giving students "advice to obtain cosmetic surgery as a condition of participating in any school event," Allred said.

No Cheers: California Girl Sues School District

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A 17-year-old girl has filed a civil rights suit against her school district claiming she was barred from joining a cheerleading squad because the size of her breasts would make her "stand out."

Vicki Ann Guest said she auditioned for the cheerleading squad at Fountain Valley High School in April. She said teacher Jean Clower told her she was qualified but would not be selected because her breasts were too large.

Clower also "suggested that Vicki should have breast-reduction surgery and that she should have it done soon," the girl's attorney, Gloria Allred, said at a news conference Wednesday.

In addition to civil rights violations, the suit alleges sex discrimination because, "We don't think any male cheerleaders were judged on the size of their breasts," Allred said.

"Having (the teacher) do that to me really shattered my self-confidence," Guest said. "She told me I was noticeable and I would stand out."

Guest said she was "embarrassed" by the incident and that she is "still recovering from the shock of the incident."

IN BRIEF

Hardy's 2-Run Single Brings TRC Back To Life For 7-5 Win

Greg Hardy's two-run single in the top of the fourth inning brought life back to the almost comatose Tim Raines Connection. Hardy's hit cut the once commanding Six Flags Nursery lead to 5-3 and the Connection rallied for three more runs in the sixth en route to a 7-5 victory in Sanford Men's Fall Softball League play Wednesday night at Pinehurst Field.

In Wednesday's second game, Clay Curry drove in four runs to lead All-Sports Program to an 11-4 rout of Bill Knapp's.

TRC remained on top with a 4-0 record. Six Flags fell to 2-2 while All-Sports improved to 2-2. Bill Knapp's is 0-4.

A pair of TRC errors paved the way for three Six Flags runs over the first two innings. Tim Raines pounded a solo homer in the top of the third to cut the lead to 3-1, but Terrell Ervin's two-run triple gave Six Flags a 5-1 lead in the bottom half of the frame.

In the top of the fourth, a pair of errors put two TRC men on and Hardy came through with his two-out, two-run single. The Connection took the lead in the sixth with three runs. Rodney Turner and Tommy Raines had RBI singles in the inning while Hardy added an RBI groundout.

Otis Raines scored the final run of the game in the top of the seventh on an RBI single by Levi Raines.

All-Sports Program was propelled by a six-run first inning with RBI doubles from Robin Pannell and Curry and a two-run Bill Knapp's error. Harry McCarty had two of the six hits for Bill Knapp's in the game.

Holley's Return Ropes Cowboys

Tony Holley returned the second-half kickoff 50 yards for a touchdown to lead the Wildcats to a 19-18 victory over the Cowboys in Sanford Recreation Flag Football Junior League play Wednesday.

Holley's TD run was the only scoring in the second half, after the two teams put on an offensive show in the first half.

The Wildcats opened the scoring on a five-yard touchdown pass from Neville Fuller to Danny Jones. The extra point failed. The Cowboys tied it at 6-6 when Jimmy Carraway tossed a 50-yard TD bomb to Craig Merckerson.

The Cowboys came back to take a 12-6 lead when Carraway hooked up with Terry Williams for a 20-yard TD pass. Holley then broke loose for a 60-yard touchdown run and Holley threw the conversion pass to Anton Stringer for a 13-12 Wildcats lead.

Before the half was over, though, Merckerson rambled for a 30-yard touchdown run as the Cowboys took an 18-13 halftime lead.

UCF, Beach Boys Play Saturday

The for the University of Central Florida will take on Wofford in its homecoming game Saturday at 1 p.m. at Orlando Stadium. Immediately after the game, the Beach Boys will perform in concert.

The Knights a Division II school, have lost their last two games on the road to I-A Wichita State (9-8), and I-AA Eastern Kentucky (51-24). The friendly confines of Orlando Stadium will be a welcome sight for UCF.

There are still plenty of tickets available for the game and concert. All seats are $18. The fee includes admission to the game and concert. Tickets are available at all Select-A-Seat outlets.

Pepitone Gets Temporary Stay

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former New York Yankees first baseman Joe Pepitone was jailed on drug charges and freed hours later Wednesday by a judge who granted a temporary stay of his six-month sentence.

John Kelly, Pepitone's attorney, said a hearing will take place next Wednesday to decide if Pepitone, who posted $15,000 bail, can remain free.

Courageous Crewmen Charged

FREMANTLE, Australia (UPI) — Four crewmen from the beleaguered Courageous IV were charged by police Thursday with damaging a $23,000 mainsail they were reportedly tearing up for souvenirs.

Avis Bowl: Penn State Tests Tide

United Press International The Alabama-Penn State game Saturday at Tuscaloosa, Ala., would have "national championship" written all over it if it weren't for Miami.

Before Alabama's No. 2 Crimson Tide or Penn State's No. 5 Nittany Lions can move to the top, somebody's got to deraill Miami's No. 1 Hurricanes. And, considering the Hurricanes' relatively easy remaining schedule, the best chance of that happening will depend on Miami's bowl opponent.

Penn State Coach Joe Paterno said neither of Saturday's foes better look that far ahead. "One of the teams is trying to find out whether it's a great team," he said. "That's the way we're approaching it."

"I don't think we have anything to prove. We're not going down there to fight the battle for Eastern football. I think that's been done. And I don't think Alabama has anything to prove. We have two good football teams on the verge of being great teams."

"It's a meaningful game for any national championship aspirations that we have," said Paterno. "But I don't think we will go to at this thing so that if we lose it, it will be the end of the world."

In other Southeast action Saturday, No. 7 Auburn is at No. 14 Mississippi State, No. 20 North Carolina is at No. 11 LSU, Georgia at Kentucky, Ole Miss at Vanderbilt, Tennessee at Georgia Tech, Florida State at Louisville, Southern Mississippi at Tulane, Miami, Florida and Memphis State have open dates.

With Alabama and LSU, the present co-leaders, playing non-league games Saturday, the Auburn-Miss State winner will move into a three-way tie for the Southeastern Conference lead at 3-0.

5 YEARS: FSU, WVU TALLHASSEE (UPI) — Florida State and West Virginia announced Wednesday they have reached an agreement for a five-game football series that will begin in 1990.

The contract calls for two games to be played at each school, with the fifth game to be played at a neutral site — the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla.

West Virginia will play at Doak Campbell Stadium in Tallahassee in 1990. Following a year off, the series will resume at the Gator Bowl in 1992.

POSTS TO WINNERS JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — In an effort to tame postgame emotions, Jacksonville city council members have voted to award the Gator Bowl goalposts to the winner of the Nov. 8 Florida-Georgia football game.

Two years ago, University of Florida football fans, excited by their victory over the Georgia Bulldogs, stormed the field and carried away the heavy metal posts.

Dykstra, who hit only eight homers during the regular season, never seems to overswing. Yet he has three homers in the playoffs. His latest, a two-run shot in the seventh, gave the Mets a 5-0 lead. More significantly, though, it may become the signal of another Red Sox collapse.

Right fielder Dwight Evans reached over the five-foot wall and gloved Dykstra's drive while leaning into the New York bullpen, but the ball grazed off his mitt for a homer.

"It was a very high fly ball which curved the wrong way for a left-handed hitter," said Evans, whose downcast face was freeze-framed on national television for all to see. "I caught it as I hit the wall. It was tough looking into their dugout with the ball on the ground."

The Red Sox also had a tough time getting to Darling, who was without his best stuff yet somehow managed to make the proper pitch when necessary.

Tuesday," Julian said. He said the bill was placed by mistake in his miscellaneous school board correspondence file, instead of his campaign file. He said he sent a check to the school board Tuesday. He said that he had labels printed again recently, and was charged at the new three-cent rate.

Julian's latest bill was for $138. He said the same list cost him about $360 at the old rate.

"I'm not going to argue about it," Julian said. "I don't have any dispute with the school board about the bill."

Kroll, however disputes his second bill. "It's like going into a doctor's office and asking about the cost of getting a physical. They tell you $25, you have the exam, pay the bill and go home. Two weeks later, you get an additional bill for $200," Kroll said.

"I ordered them at three-cents, got the bill with the labels, paid the bill, and got a cancelled check and a receipt marked paid-in-full. Two weeks later, I got the additional bill," Kroll said.

"The bill is in the to-be-paid file," Kroll said, adding that he is "researching the matter."

"I am going into a complete investigation of the (school board) data processing department to find out why we charge nine-cents a label. The Board of County Commissioners charges one-cent per label, and an independent free enterprise business making a profit charged me one-third of a cent per label," Kroll said.

"I want to determine if our (school board) data processing department is that far out of line and why they are that far out of line with private industry," he added.

Carey E. Ferrell, the district's assistant superintendent for business and finance, said while school personnel and equipment can't be used for private interests, the lists of employees are public record, and the data processing department is required to make the lists available, at the school board's cost of producing the lists.

"If there is anything in our files, including our computer files, that is public record, that file is available to any citizen that asks for it," Ferrell said. "It's a service we are required to do," he added.

"As a matter of convenience, we give those who ask for a list a choice of a sheet print out, or labels," Ferrell continued.

He said that had Kroll and Julian gone through the personnel department for the lists, they probably would have been charged the correct fee. But both went directly to the data processing department, he said.

He added that the data department had assumed the price had already changed, when it hadn't. He said the personnel department would have known the correct price.

Marshall Ogletree, executive director of the Seminole Education Association, the teacher's collective bargaining group, which has endorsed Kroll's challenger, Larry Betalinger, complained about the unpaid bills to Ferrell.

Kroll recently objected to Superintendent of Schools Robert Hughes about a Lake Mary High School soccer coach's team newsletter to player's parents which included an endorsement of Betalinger.

Ferrell is the campaign treasurer for school board candidate Ann Neisewander, who is running for the District 5 school board seat now held by incumbent Jean Bryant. Ferrell said Mrs. Neisewander had not used the district employee mailing list.

The list is sometimes requested by group insurance carriers and other businesses, in addition to candidates, Ferrell said.

a structure's size.

Winn said he supports the proposed amendments, which would add the conditional use notation to certain, yet to be determined, zoning districts.

"It's a touchy subject," Winn said. "Everybody has a mother."

Twenty elderly persons have so far been affected by the crack down.

If the proposed amendments are developed, their adoption will be considered by commissioners during an advertised public hearing.

If the amendments pass, requests for conditional uses to open senior care facilities would be reviewed on a case by case basis during public hearings held by the P&Z. A P&Z denial of the conditional use request could be appealed to city commissioners, whose review would also come during a public hearing.

Commissioner Smith said he is "not sure the zoning laws should be revised because they were established for a very good reason, 'to protect our citizens.'"

"I feel there's adequate place in and near Sanford that's properly zoned to take care of these (elder-care) operations," he said. "It's only because I feel there are sufficient areas for this, I'm not looking favorably on changing the law."

Smith added, however, "If my fellow commissioners wanted to review the law I would certainly be agreeable to looking into it with them."

Thomas said although he is "not hard-hearted," he also has reservations about the possible zone changes.

"You have to look at it in terms of the other citizens," Thomas said. "This could have impacts they wouldn't be in favor of."

Thomas said he wouldn't oppose staffs working up the proposed zoning amendments, but "I'd have to go against them if residents came out smoking" during the public hearing that would precede their adoption.

Mercer said "This is something the city commission will have to sit down and discuss," when asked about the possible development of zoning amendments to allow more elder-care facilities.

Mercer also said a more pressing matter involves the 18 seniors who face relocation following three homes being cited for code violations.

The three property owners, cited Oct. 16, could ask commissioners for a special exception to enable their operations' continuation.

When polled Wednesday, all commissioners said the law should be upheld and also expressed regret about the involvement of the elderly. They took the same position last week when denying a special exception for Charles Cameron, cited Sept. 9 for allowing an illegal senior care facility at a home he owns.

Cameron rented his property two months ago to a husband and wife who took in four elderly women, one of whom has since moved.

Farr and Thomas said they might want see if the three property owners who were cited Oct. 16 could be given more time than the Oct. 29 deadline Sanford's building department gave them to relocate their tenants or face Code Enforcement Board action.

Due to the code board process, action by the board in regard to these properties could not come before the end of November. If code board action is warranted, the property owners could receive an outright fine if their tenants have not relocated, or given a deadline for the relocation and a fine if they exceed this date.

Cameron was given a $250-a-day fine by the code board the night after commissioners denied his special exception. Board members who voted for the fine said they'd received indications Cameron allowed the senior care operation to continue, although he knew it violated city codes. Cameron denies this.

Code board members indicated that any possible action regarding the three other properties would involve thorough scrutiny of all circumstances on a case by case basis.

Stocks Open Higher

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened higher today in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which gained 2.67 Wednesday, was up 6.33 to 1814.68 shortly after the market opened.

Advances led declines 436-308 among the 1,186 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 9,690,000 shares.

The Labor Department reported Thursday that consumer prices rose a modest 0.3 percent in September.

The Consumer Price Index registered a 0.2 percent jump in August following no increase in July. During the first nine months of 1986, the index was up 0.6 percent, according to the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The stock market managed a modest gain Wednesday in moderate trading, drifting as investors focused on corporate earnings news and takeover situations.

Prices dipped briefly on the opening after the government reported that U.S. gross national product grew 2.4 percent during the third quarter. Stocks soon rebounded, however; analysts said response to the GNP data was muted, since it coincided with Wall Street's expectations.

"Nobody cared," said one trader. Hildegard Zagorski, market analyst at Prudential-Bache Securities, said investors are feeling "cautious and uncertain." She said the market drifted, with takeover situations providing most of the interest.

The ban on any but American employees — and a strict limit on the number of Americans — was a severe blow in a country where many things must be imported and routine business is ponderously slow.

"They did not show up for work today. The embassy is not functioning as it was yesterday. But we will find a solution," said embassy spokesman Jaroslav Verner.

Gold Prices Mixed; Dollar Opens Higher

By United Press International

The U.S. dollar was mostly higher on major world money markets today. The price of gold was mixed.

In Frankfurt the dollar opened at 1.9905 German marks, against a previous close of 1.9817.

In Zurich the dollar began the day at 1.6335 Swiss francs, against 1.6292 at the close on Wednesday.

In Amsterdam the dollar opened higher at 2.2490 Dutch guilders, against a previous close of 2.243, and in Milan it began at 1.377 lira, against 1.371.80.

In Paris the dollar rose to 6.5225 French francs, against 6.50 on Wednesday.

The only exception to the upward movement was in London, where the dollar opened at $1.4315 to the British pound, down from Tuesday's close of $1.431.

In the Far East the dollar closed higher against the Japanese yen on the Tokyo foreign exchange market at 156.35 yen, up 1.07 from Wednesday's close of 155.28 in active trading.

Dealers said the dollar was strengthened by OPEC's decision to continue oil production cuts until year's end, and by dollar buying by trust banks for investments in U.S. securities.

Gold opened unchanged in Zurich at $426.50 an ounce and gained $1.75 an ounce in London to $425.50 against a previous close of $423.75.

The morning fixing in London was $425.40, up $1.65 from Wednesday's close.

Silver opened unchanged in Zurich at $5.80 an ounce and 1 cent an ounce higher in London at $5.77.

In earlier trading in the Far East, gold closed at $425.25 an ounce on the Hong Kong Bullion Exchange, off 25 cents from Tuesday's close.

The market was closed Wednesday for the Queen's visit.

In early trading on New York's Comex, a 100-troy-ounce gold futures contract for current delivery in October opened at $425.10 an ounce, off $1 from Wednesday's close. A 5,000-troy-ounce silver futures contract for delivery in October opened at $5.82, off 1.5 cents an ounce.

LEESBURG (UPI) — An entrepreneur with a background in geology is seeking financial backing for a $40 million project to grow vegetables at twice the normal growth rate using a computer-controlled indoor garden in Lake County.

Edmond Glos II of Casselberry, Fla., wants to build four 34,000-square-foot air-tight, germ-free buildings to raise produce and make fertilizer. He said the project, which would employ 500 people, sounds complex but the technology has been available for years.

Finally doing something about our county roads; 4. Whatever the staffing needs are to better serve the public; 5. Expanding our libraries and parks for better use by the public.

2. What timetable do you suggest for the expressway authority and how should it be funded?

Storm: Suggested timetable would be 1988/87, selection of final alignment begin design survey and environmental studies, secure needed right-of-way. 88/89, complete engineering and final design. 1990/91, let contracts and begin construction. Funding will be primarily tolls with some funding assistance from Florida Department of Transportation.

French: I am not satisfied with the studies and recommendations about our proposed expressway. It has not been placed where it should be and the funding as of now means "toll road" fees. The state Department of Transportation has funneled our needed funds into Orange County for the past ten years. I am going to put a stop to that.

3. Since the library has become a vital part of county service to our citizens, are you willing to increase the allocation in the General Budget for the upgrading of staff and materials?

Storm: Yes, but with the understanding that other essential services may be priority in any budget increase allocations.

French: I consider our library system and its services as a vital part of our growing county. I will do everything I can to see that the funds are available to meet the needs.

Teresa Wilson, Shane T. Gager Repeat Vows

Teresa Diane Wilson of Archer, and Shane Timothy Gager of Sanford, were married at the First Church of the Nazarene, Gainesville, at 5 p.m., on Aug. 23. The Rev. Dale Barnett performed the traditional ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of William and Reva Wilson, Archer. The bridegroom is the son of Carem and Juanita Gager, Sanford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows a formal white gown fashioned along the Victorian silhouette with a high neckline, long leg-of-mutton sleeves and a basque waistline. The full skirt, bordered in double ruffles, cascaded into a graceful, sweeping chapel train. A headpiece of lace roses held her tiered veil of imported illusion and she carried a triangular arrangement of white and peach roses interspersed with peach and white star flowers. Marta Willis attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a peach taffeta floor-length gown with puffed sleeves and carried a spray of peach roses on a white lace fan.

Bridesmaids were Cindy Gager, Donna Henderson, Vera Roundtree and Amy Houchens. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

Wayne Gager served the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were Glenn Wilson, Doug Wilson, Joe Wilson and Billy Wilson.

Flower girl was Vanessa Hauffer and ring bearer was Brian Willis.

The reception was held at the church Family Life Center. Assistants at the reception were: Barbara Henault, Brenda Barrett, Jody Taylor and Yvonne

Mr. and Mrs. Shane Timothy Gager

Booth.

Following a wedding trip to Captiva Island, the newlyweds are making their home in Sanford. The bride is employed as a registered nurse at Central Florida Regional Hospital. The bridegroom is a registered representative at First Investors Corporation, Winter Park.

SCC To Field Test Literacy Program

Seminole Community College has been selected as one of five adult education programs in the nation to field test a new adult literacy series. Elaine Shelton, consultant for the Steck-Vaughn Company of Austin, Texas, stated that "SCC was selected as a test site because of its model adult education program." Administrators and instructors in the ABE/GED program participated in the training workshop with Shelton this past week.

Marilyn Mitchell, director of Developmental Education, said, "The Reading for Today series is impressive. There have not been any materials for this target population prior to these. The combined approach using life-copying themes, sight words, phonics, and oral and structural language is a unique concept. The stories feature an adult format and extensive use of contemporary photographs which should appeal to the adult learner. The materials are appearing at a time when adult literacy is in focus nationwide. We here at SCC are proud to be a part of the test program."

Evaluation of the materials by the Seminole Community College team will continue through the school year.

ROTC Student Eyes Skies As Woman Air Force Pilot

Laura Anne Theodorson, a 20-year old student from Salem, Ore., has become the first woman member of the Air Force ROTC at the University of Central Florida to be chosen for pilot training. She is one of 29 women cadets selected nationally this year as pilot candidates. Air Force officials said.

A transfer student from the University of Washington at Seattle, Theodorson is a junior at UCF majoring in physics with a 3.5 grade point average. Her academic standing, ROTC record and her grade on the Air Force officers qualifying test were major factors considered in her selection.

While women are now restricted to flying trainers or cargo aircraft, Theodorson looks on the bright side. "As long as I'm in any cockpit I'll be happy," she declared. Her long range plans call for duty as an instructor-pilot, a test-pilot, and ultimately astronaut training. She also intends to work toward an advanced degree in astrophysics.

She expects to start her pilot training about six months after graduation from UCF in May 1988.

She is the daughter of Phyllis Theodorson, 5445 Rural Ave., S.E., Salem, and Robert Theodorson, 5141 Zosel Ave., S., Salem, and is a 1984 graduate of South Salem High School.

Consult Neurologist On Epilepsy Treatment

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a 23-year-old woman who has experienced epileptic seizures since the age of 10 months. I'm on Tegretol, but the seizures are getting out of control. Is there any surgery that can control my epilepsy?

DEAR READER — I don't know. That is a decision best left to the judgment of your neurologist and a neurosurgeon. Some forms of epilepsy are surgically curable, but the most common types are not. A more useful approach would be to have your neurologist try other medicines to control your seizures without surgery.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report, EPILEPSY: THE 'FALLING SICKNESS,' which explains the causes, treatment and types of epilepsy. Others who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My husband is 28. He works in a foundry and smokes a pack a day. In the morning, he coughs and gags so badly that I can hardly stand to listen to him. Maybe if you explain in your column what's going on, he'd stop smoking.

DEAR READER — More specifically, DEAR HUSBAND: Don't smoke.

Your coughing indicates that you are probably developing chronic bronchitis and emphysema. You are already working a job in which air pollution is a hazard. Don't add to the burden your lungs already have. Short of wearing a mask — or changing jobs — you probably have little control over what you breathe in the workplace. However, you do have control over self-induced air pollution. The combination of industrial pollution and cigarettes can be a fatal one.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have a pacemaker and take water pills, heart pills and a pill to keep my heart from skipping a beat, but I run out of energy by noon. Is there anything I can do about this?

DEAR READER — Without knowing the exact medicine you are taking, I cannot say that the pills definitely are causing your loss of stamina. However, that is a strong possibility, because many medicines can sometimes cause this kind of side effect. I think that you should sit down with your doctor and discuss the side effects of the drugs.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

When the contract is easy with normal distribution, look for a way to take the tricks you need against bad breaks. When planning ahead, don't forget who opened the bidding.

South gathered in the first trick with the queen of spades and, congratulating himself for having jumped to two no-trump to get to the game, led a club to dummy's jack. East won the ace and played back a low spade to South's ace. A second club gave declarer the bad news there, leaving him with nothing to do but try diamonds. Remembering that East had opened the bidding and had not shown very much in high cards so far, South futilely attempted to bring down a hoped-for singleton diamond king in East's hand. No luck! He had to go set two tricks.

The hand is easy if declarer exercises a modicum of foresight. East is marked with the club ace for his opening bid. It may be part of a four-card suit or it may even be a lone ace of clubs. Regardless, declarer can guarantee his contract by going to dummy with the ace of hearts and playing the six of clubs. If East plays low, South scores the club queen and can then play the jack of diamonds and let it ride. That will be nine tricks. Of course if East rises with the club ace, that will give declarer four club tricks and his contract another way.

Since the only thing that can set three no-trump is unlucky club distribution, declarer must play carefully to protect against such adversity.

Bridge hand analysis table with North, South, West, East, and Dealer information.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY OCTOBER 24, 1986

Happy times are in the offing for you where your friendships and social life are concerned. Good opportunities will develop through people who like you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You charm and charisma are at a high point today. Your actions will earn you the admiration of others both in business and in your social life. Get a jump on life by understanding the influence that will govern you in the year ahead. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There is a change taking place today that will prove to be advantageous to you materially. It's something you've hoped for, but could not swing on your own.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) The secret to negotiating a successful agreement today is to try to make it as desirable for the other party as you want it to be for yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Where your work is concerned today, don't worry too much about what's in it for you. If your efforts are worthy, the rewards also will be worthwhile.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your ability to assimilate and retain knowledge is excellent today, especially if you are taking lessons to improve your proficiency in a sport you like a lot.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It looks like you may acquire something of value today in a rather roundabout fashion. It will be done through the good auspices of one who loves you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Think of life today as a game rather than a battle, and make every effort to live it by the golden rule. Kindness begets kindness.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something that you are now doing as a hobby or sideline can be developed into a channel for earnings. Discuss your wares with a marketing expert.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) You and a person you've known for a long time might start taking second looks at one another as of today. Each will discover virtues previously overlooked.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your concern for those you love is commendable today. Without fanfare, you'll do all that you can to improve their lots in life.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) An opening may present itself today to enable you to say all the things you have always wanted to say to a dear and loyal friend. Don't let it slip by.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Something propitious will develop for you today where your career is concerned. If you act on it properly, it will make it possible for you to increase your income.

'Little Boo' Is New For Halloween Fun

ZIONSVILLE, Pa. (UPI) — To find a genuine white pumpkin, you have to wind along Sleepy Hollow Road to Spinnerstown, Pa., and down the narrow, bumpy path that leads to Daniel Schantz's farm.

There, in a 1 1/2-acre patch tucked between corn stalks and cow pastures in rural Lehigh County, Schantz grows a Halloween pumpkin that's pale as a ghost.

Not yellow or light orange, but bone-white. Gravestone-white. Introducing "Little Boo," a unique strain of pumpkin developed by scientists in the quest for a better — and safer — jack-o-lantern.

Schantz claims to be the first and only farmer in Pennsylvania to raise Little Boos, and he says these ghostly gourds are selling faster than trick-or-treat candy. "We're having no problem getting rid of 'em," said Schantz

Farm General Manager Dennis Hellman, who is already making plans to expand the crop next year.

Hellman said retailers are willing to shell out 25 cents a pound for his Little Boos, about 10 cents more than they pay for the common variety.

Why grow a white pumpkin? The big reason has to do with kids and pumpkins and knives: a frightful combination as far as most moms are concerned.

"In the last few years, the painted pumpkin is taking precedence over the carve pumpkin because parents don't want their kids using knives," said Hellman. "White pumpkins are a lot easier to paint."

Unfortunately, the value of these pumpkins ends with the shell.

"It's really more of a jack-o-lantern pumpkin. It's not bred to be a pie pumpkin," Hellman conceded.

DEAR ABBY: By nature, I'm a very courteous person, but how far should a person go in observing the rules of courtesy? My husband is retired but does part-time work. When he's not working, he leaves the house anyway to spend the day with one of his young girlfriends. (Saturdays and Sunday, too.) He's sometimes gone for two or three days "fishing."

Although this hurts me deeply, I've come to realize that this is the lot of many older women, so I take it in my stride. I become enraged when a female voice calls our home and says, "May I speak to your husband?" I feel like ripping the phone out of the wall, or telling her to go to h—, and slamming down the receiver! But instead, I politely say, "One moment, please. I'll get him." Then I dutifully call my husband to the phone.

One of these days I'll probably blow my stack.

BREAKING

DEAR BREAKING: Go ahead and blow your stack. It would be much healthier, and far more honest than practically giftwrapping your husband for his girlfriends.

To calmly tolerate treatment that hurts you deeply instead of expressing appropriate anger, hurt and frustration, conveys the message that this blatant infidelity doesn't bother you. So, forget courtesy, and let off some steam. And the next time your husband goes fishing, pray he doesn't catch anything he can give to you.

DEAR ABBY: I had to laugh when I read the letter from "Caught in the Middle," the young man whose fiancée (Betty) smokes at least a pack a day, but as never smoked in the presence of his parents because she knows they disapprove of smoking. Abby, how naive can Betty and her man be? His parents already know she smokes! If not, there must be something wrong with their sense of smell! Cigarette smokers smell like cigarette smoke. It's in their hair, their clothes, their books, their automobiles, and if you go into their homes, the scent of cigarette smoke is everywhere!

I agree it's childish for Betty to try to hide it. It's also impossible! THE NOSE KNOWS

WORLD IN BRIEF

Kohl: Star Wars Differences Part Of Poker Game

WASHINGTON (UPI) — West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl, dismissing U.S.-Soviet disagreement about the Strategic Defense Initiative as "part of a poker game," says he is optimistic that another superpower summit will be held next year.

Kohl was to fly to the Midwest today to meet with students at the University of Chicago after wrapping up a three-day state visit to Washington in a breakfast with Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger.

The chancellor became the first foreign leader to get a briefing from President Reagan on the Iceland summit, and at a news conference Wednesday, Kohl was upbeat about prospects for arms control agreements with the Soviets.

"What we are witnessing now and seeing going on now is part of a game of poker," he said, referring to the abrupt end of talks in Iceland because of a dispute over SDI, the president's "Star Wars" space defense plan.

"The negotiating process is under way," he said, expressing confidence that "considerable progress" was made at the summit on medium-range missiles "and that an understanding or agreement is within reach."

China-East Germany Renew Ties

PEKING (UPI) — Chinese leader Deng Xiaoping told visiting East German head of state Erich Honecker today that despite a 20-year rift Communist Party links between Peking and East Berlin were never fully broken.

Deng's comment signifies endorsement from China's highest leader for the resumption of Communist Party contacts between Peking and East Berlin, which sided with Moscow in the bitter Sino-Soviet split of the 1960s.

Honecker, the first East German leader ever to visit China, hugged and kissed the diminutive Deng three times at the beginning of their meeting in the Great Hall of the People.

Deng said that despite the 20-year hiatus in Sino-East German Communist Party relations, it would be incorrect to discuss a restoration of party ties because they had never been formally broken.

Honecker, whose six-day visit effectively marks the resumption of party contacts with Peking, agreed with Deng, declaring that "we want to continue" relations with China.

Reagan To Restart Contras Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration has set the stage for formal escalation of U.S. involvement in the war against Nicaragua's government by renewing a flow of military hardware halted two years ago by an angry Congress.

President Reagan was expected to sign documents today needed to establish a distribution network for $100 million in aid that won final approval from the 99th Congress in its final hours before adjournment last weekend.

The documents, said to include an executive order and classified national security directive, were the last necessary ingredients for a resumption of military aid to the Contra rebels, which was cut off by Congress in late 1984.

After months of bitter political clashes and strident public appeals, Reagan persuaded Congress to approve $70 million in military aid and $30 million in other assistance to bolster the rebels fighting the leftist Sandinista regime.

In doing so, Congress also removed a ban on CIA involvement in the aid program and cleared the way for establishment of a covert network of supply lines that U.S. officials welcomed as more effective and manageable than an open distribution system.

Red Quake Victims Address For Quake Victims Help

Anyone wishing to help victims of the earthquake in El Salvador may do so by sending a check to the American Red Cross, Central Florida Chapter, 5 N. Bumby Ave., P.O. Box 537826, Orlando, FL 32853-8726. The check should be earmarked "El Salvador Relief" and will be used solely for that disaster, according to the Red Cross.

Hasenfus Trial To Resume

Plea Filing Extension Used

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Eugene Hasenfus, an American captured after a supply flight to Contra rebels was shot down, met with his Nicaraguan lawyer for about two hours after a people's Tribunal rejected his request for a two-day extension on filing a plea.

Security agents escorted Hasenfus to the People's Tribunal for the Wednesday meeting with lawyer Enrique Delgado Borgen, the first time they had been allowed to discuss the case at length. Hasenfus' wife, Sally, brother William and an interpreter also were present at the two-hour session.

Hasenfus, a 45-year-old ex-Marine from Marinette, Wis., and Sotelo had met for about 20 minutes Monday night.

Sotelo said he and former Attorney General Griffin Bell planned to meet today to outline defense strategy for Hasenfus, who is charged with anti-state terrorism. Bell, who served as attorney general under President Carter, was scheduled to arrive in Managua late Wednesday.

Sotelo declined to say how he would plead the case but said he would file an answer to the charges today.

Under Nicaraguan law, the defense lawyer must file a plea within 48 hours after the charges are read to the defendant. Hasenfus heard the charges Monday evening.

Sotelo's petition for a two-day extension on answering the charges was denied Wednesday.

Hasenfus faced up to 30 years in jail and his conviction is considered inevitable.

The people's Tribunal, Sandinista courts used to prosecute defendants accused of political crimes, have a conviction rate above 90 percent, although a few people convicted last year later were pardoned.

Hasenfus was captured Oct. 6, a day after he parachuted from a C-123 cargo plane carrying about 10,000 pounds of weapons and supplies to anti-Sandinista rebels, known as Contras. The plane was shot down by Nicaraguan troops.

Sotelo showed reporters a document Wednesday he said Hasenfus had signed, which said he was being held "incommunicado" in a violation of his human rights. Sotelo said he prepared the statement and gave it to Hasenfus to sign during the Monday night trial proceedings.
