Voter Turnout Predictions Ranging From 25 To 52%

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

City clerks in the six Seminole cities with elections Tuesday are predicting a turnout of from 25 per cent to 52 per cent of the 11,295 eligible voters.

Forty candidates are on the ballots vying for 19 municipal offices at the eight polling places. Four candidates are running unopposed.

Polls in all the cities will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Two city commission seats will be filled in Sanford's city election for four-year terms.

City Clerk Henry Tamm predicts a 40 per cent turnout — 2,800 — of the eligible 7,014 voters at the civic center polling place.

Three voting machines and one backup machine will be available.

Candidates on the ballot include: Seat Number three — A. G. DeLattibus, A. A. (Mac) McClanahan (incumbent), Guy Thornton and Stella Woodhouse; Seat Number four — Delbert J. Baga, E. O. (Eddie) Keith and John S. Morris (incumbent).

Nineteen absentee ballots have been issued by Seminole Elections Supervisor Camilla Bruce's courthouse office and 13 had been returned early today.

The election will be officially canvassed by the city commission at noon Wednesday.

In making his election turnout prediction, Tamm noted that freezing cold weather is forecast.

Casselberry, with 4,025 registered voters, may see more than the 40 per cent (1,600) turnout predicted by City Clerk Mary Hawthorne since the question of fluoridation of the city's water supply is also on the ballot.

Casselberry's municipal elections operate slightly differently than the other cities. Three councilmen are to be elected from a field of four candidates. The top three polling the most votes will be elected to two-year terms.

Candidates include Charles Glascock (incumbent), John Lehighly (incumbent), Sal Orlando and Charles Sizer. The election will be canvassed immediately after the polls close at the fire house, where three voting machines have been placed.

Two council seats will be on the Altamonte Springs ballot at the three polling places at the civic center, city hall and the Montgomery Road Fire Station.

City Clerk Phyllis Jordahl, predicting a 25 per cent turnout of the 3,592 registered voters, (750 to 900), "although I'd like to see at least 1,000 turn out," advises city voters to notice their voters registration card to find their voting place.

Those whose voters registration cards show they live in Seminole County precincts 11, 23, 25 and 36 (south of SR 436 and east of I-4) should vote in city precinct 2 — the city hall. Those who live in county precincts 9, 12, 35 and 48 (west of I-4) should vote at the Montgomery Road fire station. A total of four voting machines are being used.

Candidates include: District three — George Perkins (incumbent) and District 4 — Sandra Glenn and Tom Radloff. Terms of office are two years.

The election will be canvassed immediately after the polls close. Four absentee ballots were requested and two have been returned.

In Longwood where the most high powered election campaigns in years have been waged, City Clerk Onnie Shomate predicts a 38 per cent turnout (not more than 700) of the 1,854 eligible voters.

Four offices are on the ballot — two council seats, the mayor's post and the city clerk's office for two year terms. Longwood, the only Seminole city with an elected city clerk, has virtually rejected Mrs. Shomate to her ninth consecutive term when no one qualified against her.

J. Russell Grant, after unsuccessful campaigns for the city council in the past, also has

Sheriff Polk To Investigate Youth's Beating Complaint

By BILL BELLEVILLE
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk said today he is launching an investigation into a complaint that a deputy beat an 18-year-old Sanford youth after the youth was arrested for disorderly conduct Saturday night.

The boy's father, Melvin Fisher, 2109 W. 18th Street, filed the complaint with Polk this morning, alleging that his son, Mitchell, was beaten and required hospital treatment.

Seminole Hospital in Sanford confirmed that Mitchell, "Mike" Fisher was treated and released at the hospital early Sunday morning.

sources refused to disclose the nature of the injuries.

According to Fisher, his son was arrested by a deputy in the area of 13th Street in Sanford after a group of boys yelled at a passing patrol car. All the boys fled, except Mitchell, who said he was not involved in the incident. He was subsequently arrested.

According to the youth, the deputy then took the youth to the Sanford airport and administered the beating.

Fisher said his son's eye, jaw, and back were injured in the beating.

The information will be made of the alleged incident and refused to name the officer involved. "Under the new law, a police officer cannot be suspended from office until the board convenes. A man may be reassigned, Polk said, but no action will be taken against him until the board renders its decision.

Polk said that prior to the law, he would resolve the complaint by calling both the officer and the complainant and try to settle it then. "If he believed the complaint to be serious, he would have his department investigate it and then recommend it to the Civil Service Board for review. He could also fire the officer before the board reviewed the case, even if it later meant reinstatement if his decision were reversed.

Grocery Bills Increase

From Staff and Wire Reports

Soaring sugar prices, already the target of government probes and consumer boycotts, boosted the price of many grocery bill during November, an Associated Press market-basket survey shows.

Shoppers who avoided buying sugar, however, found sales on meat and eggs helped stretch the budget at the supermarket.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nondurable items, checked the prices on March 1, 1973 at a supermarket in each of 13 cities and has rechecked at the beginning of each succeeding month.

The latest survey showed the bill was up during November in every city except Dallas, where sugar was unavailable and therefore did not boost the total as it did elsewhere.

Several Sanford area shoppers indicated in interviews this morning that they have changed their sugar-buying and cooking habits since the sugar price has increased.

Mrs. W. L. Stoudenmire replied, "I don't buy it if I can help it at these outrageous prices. I have asked my boys to cut down, and I am buying sugar substitutes. I am using more honey and molasses and plan to use prepared cake mixes for my Christmas baking."

Mrs. Julia Davis said she has cut down on using sugar and has stopped baking sweets.

Mrs. S. V. McConnell said she does not do any baking and seldom buys sugar as she objects to the price.

Mrs. Sharon Owens explained, "I don't use that much, as five pounds lasts me two months. We just do without and don't have as many sweets as we don't need them anyhow."

Mrs. Sharon Williams revealed, "We used to drink sugar in tea, but I have not bought it for ages, as we just can't afford it. It's too high."

Those who are turning to sugar substitutes for economic or dietetic reasons are finding prices are going up on these products as well.

The average November increase in the 13 cities where the bill went up was 6 per cent. It does not do any baking and

Chamber Leader Gets Personally Involved

LONGWOOD — Gerald Ream, new president of the Longwood area Chamber of Commerce, has injected his personal enthusiasm into a baker's dozen of chamber programs for the year, ranging from a Children's Christmas Party to transportation for the elderly.

The owner of Silver Crest Furnishings on SR 434, west of SR 427 in the city, Ream is also an author of children's books, including "The Land of Charlie Cornsilk," published in 1973. He resides in Davenshire.

One of the chamber's newest programs is transportation for the Elderly (TOTE) a cooperative effort with Florida Technological University (FTU) and the Pan American Bank of Altamonte Springs.

Ream said the chamber and the other two groups are working toward gaining a federal grant, similar to one received in the City of St. Petersburg, to provide minibus transportation throughout Seminole County for senior citizens.

Pan Am Bank has arranged special discounts for senior citizens at the Interstate Mall.

The chamber sponsored blood bank has been successful enough, Ream said.

for Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 8207 and the Longwood Sermons Club to be given their own banks. And the chamber, in addition has allocated 15 pints of blood for individuals from its blood bank that will serve not only chamber members, but senior citizens.

Continued assistance with the life-giving fluid is being made to Gary Staate, a Longwood youth afflicted with leukemia and currently receiving treatment in Houston. The chamber has also donated $345 to the young man's family.

The first in a series of "gas-a-bon rotations" will be held this weekend at King Youth Ranch. Hart is commander of VFW Post 8207. The second gas-a-bon will be Dec. 16 at Glenn Richardson's Texaco at U.S. 1742 and SR 434.

In the planning stage are "Cinema Appreciation Seminars" of old movies, arranged through FTU for senior citizens and other information programs on taxes, trusts, accounting and finances will be held in the future.

Calling himself an "incurable do-gooder," Ream said a railroad safety program will be sponsored by the chamber in conjunction with the Seaboard Coastline Railroad; a Children's Christmas Party sponsored by the chamber in conjunction with the city government, city businesses and the Sermons Club will be held at the city park and community building Dec. 14. Councilman-elect J. R. Grant has been enlisted to continue playing the role of Santa Claus at the party. Grant has been the city Christmas Party's Santa Claus for the past 20 years.

Development of mini-parks in the community, renovation of city shuffleboard courts and the location of park benches in the business district are being planned.

The chamber is participating in a police department fund drive to aid Mrs. Geneva Burfield, the mother of a city patrolman, who is undergoing medical treatment in Ocala.

A better business committee is being initiated and expected to be set up in January for the business and businessmen protection and to guard against "fly-by-night operators," Ream said. The chamber also plans to establish a permanent headquarters in the city historic district.

Other chamber officers include Gene Duffey, first vice president; Bill Barbour, second vice president; Bob Farrell, secretary; Richard Swann, treasurer and Rod Cable, immediate past president, and new chairman of the board of directors.

Oviedo's Head Coach Dale Phillips kneels in front of his basketball team while giving advice on how to handle Edgewater during their Saturday night contest.

OVIEDO — Edgewater High School's 61-53 win over Oviedo Saturday night was never really in doubt as the Eagles led almost every step of the way and dominated in most aspects of "hoop" play.

When the Lions had their last basket going it was a thing of beauty. Oviedo would fill all the lanes and the Eagles had a great deal of trouble containing it.

High School varsity basketball action got started in Seminole County Saturday night in Oviedo when Dion Rainey (53) of Edgewater and Glennie Patterson of the Lions participated in the opening tip-off.

Turkish, Greek Cypriots Put On Increased Alert

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Turkish and Greek Cypriot forces have been put on increased alert in preparation for trouble when Archbishop Makarios returns to Cyprus next Friday. Greek Cypriot military sources said Turkish armored units have moved into positions on their side of the cease-fire line, and Turkish Prime Minister said the return of the deposed Greek Cypriot is making the situation "critical again."

Tanaka's Successor Approved

TOKYO (AP) — Outgoing Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka and other leaders of Japan's ruling Liberal-Democratic party agreed today on Takeo Miki, a 67-year-old graduate of the University of California, as Tanaka's successor. But Finance Minister Masayoshi Ohira and his supporters demanded a party election. Party Vice President Etsusaburo Shima proposed Miki's candidacy to 40 party elders after a deadlock between the leading candidates, Ohira and former Finance Minister Takeo Fukuda. Miki, a former director-general of the Environment Agency, accepted the nomination. Fukuda, whose faction wanted Tanaka's successor chosen by consensus of the party leaders rather than an election, and Yasuhiro Nakasone, minister of international trade and industry, backed Miki.

Cuba, Bahamas Create Ties

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Cuba and the Commonwealth of the Bahamas have established diplomatic relations "to strengthen friendly relations between the two countries," a joint announcement released by the two countries said. The announcement, released on Saturday here and in Havana, comes only weeks after the failure of a move by the Organization of American States to end diplomatic and economic sanctions against the Cuban regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro. At an OAS meeting in Quito, Ecuador last month, six nations abstained from voting on the proposal to lift the 18-year-old sanctions. The move failed on a 15-10 vote, two votes short of the needed 14. The Bahamas, which became independent of Great Britain in July 1973, is not a member of the OAS, although the country has been proposed for membership.

Mexicans Negotiate

MIAMI (AP) — An 84-member Mexican commercial delegation has arrived in Cuba to negotiate new trade and aid agreements, Havana radio said today. Among those in the group are experts who will help the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro develop tourism to the communist island, according to a Mexican announcement. The reestablishment of regular commercial service by Mexicana Airlines is to be the first step in this direction. "This important commercial representation will increase trade between Cuba and Mexico and will especially promote the sale to Cuba of equipment and machinery for industry," said the broadcast monitored in Miami. Mexico plans to hold an industrial exposition in the Cuban capital in February. The Mexican group arrived Sunday night.

Puerto Rican Bombing Blamed On 'Marxists'

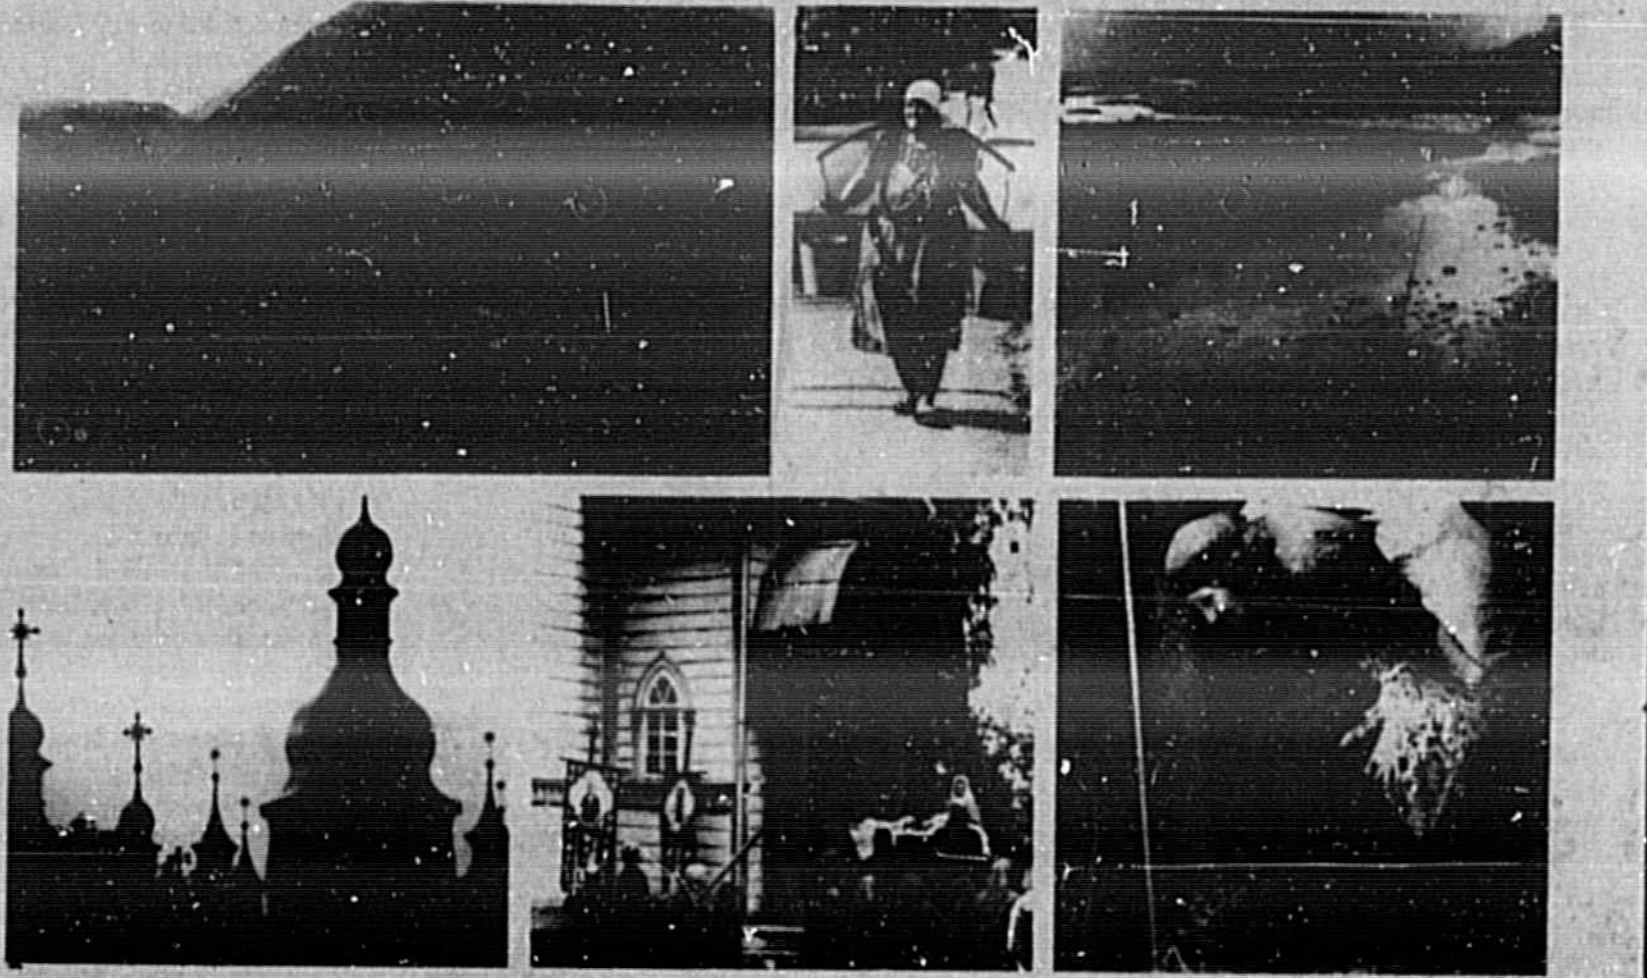

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Gov. Rafael Hernandez Colon blamed Marxist advocates of Puerto Rican independence for six bombs Sunday that caused slight property damage, sent a crowd to the hospital in shock and resulted in cuts to a worker during cleanup operations. The governor said the bombings were the work of groups that "bargain about stunts with the working classes with the sole purpose of injecting ideologies that are rejected by our people." One of the explosions damaged the building housing offices of the International Telephone and Telegraph Co., but a company official said there was no damage to electronic equipment. Three other blasts occurred in and around Ponce, the island's second largest city. One was at an army reserve building in the city, another at a chemical plant just west of the city and a third at an oil refinery, also west of the city. Other explosions were reported at a Burger King shop in a San Juan suburb and at a Giant Union supermarket in the town of Caguas. Two unexploded bombs were found in a San Juan suburb near a pumping station of the water and sewage authority.

Israeli Officials Blame Raid On Al Fatah Guerrillas

By The Associated Press
Israeli officials said two of Yasser Arafat's Al Fatah guerrillas made the latest terrorist raid on an Israeli frontier village, in which a Moslem factory worker was killed and his wife wounded. "There is a competition between Arafat and the other organizations over who will kill more Israelis," Defense Minister Shimon Peres said Sunday at the funeral of Subhi Mussa, slain in the raid at midnight Saturday. Peres promised the mourners at Rihariya, a Moslem village near the Lebanese border, the government will do "everything possible" to end such attacks. Peres said Arab guerrillas attempted three raids that failed in the last month, and the Israeli military command said five Arab invaders were killed on the Lebanese border during the weekend. The two gunmen who raided Rihariya surrendered to Israeli soldiers an hour and a half after they knocked at the door of Mussa's cottage and riddled him and his wife with automatic rifle shots when he opened the door. He was 37 and returned two weeks ago from military reserve service. The Mussas' three children were unharmed. Israeli military sources said the two terrorists planned to take hostages and exchange them for prisoners of the Israelis, including the Greek Catholic archbishop of Jerusalem, Msgr. Hilarion Capudis. He is held on charges of smuggling arms to Arab guerrillas in Israel. Former Premier Golda Meir told a meeting of Jewish leaders in London that the Arabs' denial of their oil to the United States, Western Europe and Japan will not force Israel to give in to the Palestinian guerrillas. "Israel will not allow terrorism, barbarity and injustice to rule us out of our natural right to sovereignty and liberty," said Mrs. Meir, who was en route to the United States. "If it is a question of volunteering to give up the right to our people may be warm and have economic prosperity, I think people should know we shall not."

Israeli Newspaper Claims Nuclear Potential Achieved

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — President Ezer Weizman Katzir says Israel has "nuclear potential," the newspaper Maariv reported today. "It said Katzir made the remark Sunday to American and European science writers. It was not immediately clear from the report whether Katzir was referring to nuclear potential for warfare or for peaceful purposes. Israel already operates a number of nuclear reactors. If correct, the report would reflect the first admission by a high Israeli official that Israel was capable of moving actively into the field of nuclear explosives. Maariv said Katzir was asked by the visiting science reporters whether the nuclear potential was a cause for concern. The president replied, "Why should I worry us? Let the world worry."

Coffee Habit Blamed Public Trust Questioned For Rapid Heart Beat

By GEORGE R. CRANE
Ph. D., M.D.

CASK-CELL: Dr. M. Crane is famous veterinarian. "Dr. Crane" has just been taken to the hospital because of his heart. "It has been racing so fast he could hardly get his breath and finally fainted." The cardiologist told him that it was because of the heavy use of coffee, plus his cigarettes.

"For he kept a coffee urn on his desk and kept pouring out one cup after another, all day long." "Dr. Crane, he would actually drink as many as 25 cups per day, and usually smoked a cigarette or two with each one!" "So the heart specialist pronounced him just as much a drug addict as those who now smoke pot."

"For my husband is an addict of caffeine and nicotine!"

BEWARD OF DRUGS

Dr. M. was thus consuming at least 75 grains of caffeine per day! Yet experiments have shown that the smoking of one

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Politicians, bureaucrats and the law on the beach may differ on words but most agree that the public trust has suffered a major loss in the Sunshine State.

In 1974, six of the 20 officials elected statewide in Florida have been indicted or recommended for removal from office by an official disciplinary panel.

"I would say there's never been a scandal of this magnitude in Florida government," says Allen Morris, clerk of the state House of Representatives and a Florida political historian.

alleged influence-peddling scheme. Prosecutors charged that Gurney's office was used to solicit contributions from building-seeking Federal Housing Administration contracts. Gurney is awaiting trial.

Florida Supreme Court Justice Joseph Boyd and Hal DeKle were found guilty in a judicial qualifications Commission trial this month of improperly using a proposed opinion secretly submitted by a utility company lawyer in a tax case. Two remaining justices along with a Supreme Court appointed panel of five other judges will consider removing them from the bench.

Comptroller Fred Dickinson was indicted last week by federal grand jurors in Tallahassee and Tampa. He is charged with tax evasion, perjury, conspiracy to extort money from bankers under his regulation and receiving an illegal loan or gratuity from a bank his office regulates. Defeated in Democratic primary runoff, Dickinson leaves office Jan. 7.

Artifacts Recovered Along Pipeline Route

IN THE ATCHIN CANYON ABOVE THE ARCTIC CIRCLE, Alaska (AP) — The slate-blue arrowhead looked out of place lying on top of the ground in the middle of nowhere.

Armed with trowels, brushes, wire screens, bug repellent, heavy face netting, camping equipment, cameras, survey instruments and patience, between 30 and 40 men and women spent the summer participating in digs under the sponsorship of two Alaska universities.

The University of Alaska at Fairbanks and the Alaska Methodist University in Anchorage to uncover artifacts along the right-of-way, paying the diggers an average of $40 per day, and providing food, housing and transportation.

Commenting on that earlier study, the Arctic Institute of North America said the digs have "shed new light on the long-standing problems concerning the origin and distribution of Alaskan Eskimos and Indians."

Uncertainty Marks Thanksgiving Mood

NEW YORK (AP) — Unsettled by predictions that the current recession may be the longest since World War II, Americans celebrated Thanksgiving with a sense of foreboding this past week.

They had reason to give thanks for past prosperity. But as to the future, there was greater anxiety than in many a year. Not even the drop in turkey prices managed to relieve the uncertainty.

President Ford's budget proposals to Congress, revealed Tuesday, were higher than his original estimates and led to speculation that the administration had shifted its primary economic goal from solving inflation to easing the recession or perhaps even stimulating the economy.

As a consequence, the ratio of inventory to sales rose to 1.5, the highest level in more than two years. That's for industry in general; individual companies and industries have far higher rates.

Store Freezes Prices On Private Products

An Early Warning System of price increases and a price freeze on private label products were announced today by the Jacksonville Division of A&P Food Stores as the company launched a new consumer program to fight inflation.

N.J. Gallo, vice president in general manager of the division, said initial steps in the company's Operation Aware program included inflation also against a Consumer Protection Policy.

The Early Warning System will be keyed to the Aware List with each store posting on a weekly basis a list of all products that have increased in cost a full seven days before the retail prices are changed. This will provide consumers an opportunity to stock up at the old price.

"Be Aware" shelf tags will spotlight the more frequently-purchased items with the day the price is to be increased listed on the tag.

Under the voluntary price freeze on A&P private labels, present prices will be held on over 1,000 products at least until the end of the year. These will include such everyday items as bread, cheese, coffee, tuna, pasta products, canned fruits and vegetables as well as frozen food items.

The 13-point Consumer Protection Policy represents A&P's continuing commitment in terms of service, satisfaction and information to help customers obtain the most for their money. The new policy is to be prominently displayed in each store.

Gallo recalled that A&P had contributed substantially to the fight against inflation through the Where Economy Originates program in 1974 when all stores were converted to WEO units offering food at lower prices with no sacrifice in A&P's traditional standards of quality.

DEAR ABBY
5 Times Around With Same Man
BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: That letter from "Fourth Time Around," who asks what her chances for success are with the same mate has prompted me to write.
I am an authority on the subject, having married the same man FIVE times.

DEAR ABBY: I married Ed twice. After 19 years I decided that I'd be better off alone. I had my choice of five "grounds." Ed had done very well in business and my lawyer got me a really good settlement. Two years later Ed started to court me. It was like old times—flowers, dinner dates, the whole bit. Like a fool I fell for it and married him again.

DEAR ABBY: I have some advice for "Fourth Time Around": Don't do it unless you know your marriage failed, and you've worked out those problems.
In my case, our marriage fell off because my husband was insanely jealous. We had a child en masse, which of course was a factor in our going back together, but it didn't work out because nothing had really changed. He was still the pathologically jealous man I had married the first time, and I couldn't handle it.

Chilly Weather Is Blamed For Area Low Voter Turnout

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

The cold weather was taking its toll on the voter turnout in five of the six Seminole cities with elections today. Longwood had people standing in line waiting to cast their ballots throughout the morning. Polls in all six cities close at 7 p.m.

Longwood City Clerk Ozmie Shomate said that despite the chilling cold, the voter turnout was higher than her original 38 per cent prediction if activity at the city hall council chamber continues throughout the day.

Historically in the city, she pointed out, there is a lull during the morning hours after men to go to work, but this is not being seen this year.

She attributed the turnout to the hard fought mayor's race between attorney Carmine Bravo, mortgage banker Robert Harris and realtor James (Jim) Lorman.

"The people are so concerned about what has been happening in the mayor's office during the past two years," she said.

Also on the ballot are: Mrs. Shomate, seeking re-election unopposed to her ninth term in office; city businessman J. Russell Grant, running unopposed for the district three city council post, and a field of five candidates including Gerard T. Connell, Norma Jean Hennigan, Richard Mittleman, Peter Piansi and Robert (Bobby) Widdis vying for the district five council seat.

Sanford, with two city commission seats on the ballot, had a light turnout at the city center polling place, but election officials said those showing up were enthusiastic.

The Planning and Zoning Board took the unusual measure of initiating the change request to protect the rural estate atmosphere in the Ranchlands after the major property owner, Florida Land, re-platted a portion of the area into smaller lots. Because of the P & Z action, the council passed an ordinance to require public hearings by the P & Z Board on all zoning changes to provide further protection for property owners involved.

Dosh asked that the west boundary of the property to be rezoned be changed from S. Edgemon Road to Moss Road in order to exclude lots belonging to Florida Land and several other property owners, whom he said objected to the zoning change. He said the company had contacted "all property owners of record" in that section, but several property owners present said they had not been contacted and did support the change.

Councilman Irene Van Eepoel, who made the motion to accept the P & Z Board recommendation, said, "We have here, a confrontation between what people want and what a company wants for speculation and I think it is time we listened to the people."

City Atty. Thomas Freeman commented, "Over a year this has been up for consideration and we have touched all the legal bases and bent over backwards to notify owners."

(Cont'd On Pg. 2A)

Interest has added little to the otherwise lack-luster campaigns which were waged, according to that hopefully the afternoon and early evening would see a big increase at the city fire hall voting place.

The city has 920 eligible voters.

On the ballot are Walter Sorenson and Lee A. Wheeler for the mayor's office, being vacated by Margie Hess, who decided to run for a council seat.

Lillian Griffin is unopposed for council seat two. Martin Bacon Sr. is opposing Mrs. Hess for seat number three while Ervin (Louis) Blankenship's hold on seat number four is contested by Burt Perinich.

Rezoning Approved In Winter Springs

By JANE CASSELLBERRY Herald Staff Writer

WINTER SPRINGS — A zoning change for Sections 1, 1A and 2 of the North Orlando Ranchlands subdivision, initiated by the City Planning and Zoning Board over a year ago, was approved by City Council Monday night over objections of Florida Land Co. representative Robert Dosh.

Other Ranchland property owners packed the small council chamber for the public hearing to speak in favor of the zoning change from R-1A (one family dwelling district) to RC-1 country estate zoning.

The RC-1 single family classification adopted by the city this year limits building heights to 25 feet, requires off street parking, calls for lots of not less than one acre in size, minimum 50 foot front yard setback and minimum dwelling living space of 1,600 square feet.

The Planning and Zoning Board took the unusual measure of initiating the change request to protect the rural estate atmosphere in the Ranchlands after the major property owner, Florida Land, re-platted a portion of the area into smaller lots. Because of the P & Z action, the council passed an ordinance to require public hearings by the P & Z Board on all zoning changes to provide further protection for property owners involved.

He said the company had contacted "all property owners of record" in that section, but several property owners present said they had not been contacted and did support the change.

Councilman Irene Van Eepoel, who made the motion to accept the P & Z Board recommendation, said, "We have here, a confrontation between what people want and what a company wants for speculation and I think it is time we listened to the people."

City Atty. Thomas Freeman commented, "Over a year this has been up for consideration and we have touched all the legal bases and bent over backwards to notify owners."

Hug Is Appointed Planning Liason

By BILL BELLEVILLE Herald Staff Writer

In an effort to head off any possibility of "double taxation," Casselberry City Council Monday night named City Manager Harry Hug as a temporary "planning contact" between the county and the city.

Every city in Seminole County is required to name such a contact within 180 days of Oct. 1, under terms of the new Seminole County Comprehensive Planning Act.

The state act provides for comprehensive planning programs to guide and control future development in the county, making the most appropriate use of land, water and other resources "consistent with the public interest."

The act encourages cooperation between the cities (Cont'd On Pg. 2A)

Lee Rumbley, consumer services coordinator from the Department of Agriculture in Tallahassee, is speaking at the "Personality Breakfast" at the Sanford Civic Center today, admitted that all three of these complaint areas are overstated by swimming pools sales when summer rolls around.

The Department of Consumer Services processes more than $60 million a month from consumers throughout the state, Ms. Rumbley said. As one of 11 agencies of the state Department of Agriculture, Consumer Services is concerned with the regulation and control of most products sold in the state.

Consumers Warned Of Rip-Offs

The three biggest consumer rip-offs in Florida now are "auto repair, mobile home sales and service, and condominium and home construction and sales" according to Lee Rumbley, consumer services coordinator from the Department of Agriculture in Tallahassee.

Ms. Rumbley, speaking at a "Personality Breakfast" at the Sanford Civic Center today, admitted that all three of these complaint areas are overstated by swimming pools sales when summer rolls around.

The Department of Consumer Services processes more than $60 million a month from consumers throughout the state, Ms. Rumbley said. As one of 11 agencies of the state Department of Agriculture, Consumer Services is concerned with the regulation and control of most products sold in the state.

"We've come a long way since 'caveat emptor' (let the buyer beware)" in protecting the consumer from improper business practices," Ms. Rumbley said. If products are found to be faulty, the department has the choices of "confiscating the product, confiscating and levying fines, ordering the business closed or obtaining a stop sale order," Ms. Rumbley said.

Essentially, though, the role of the department is to "investigate and to arbitrate" complaints between consumers and businesses.

One sales technique that has resulted in numerous complaints which prompted a department investigation is the advertising and selling of an "electricity saver." The product is a small black box that plugs into the wall outlet and reportedly "smooths out the peaks" of electrical operation. But,

Ms. Rumbley said, the $60 device is being analyzed by her department and "it appears that the box saves nothing on electricity."

Another source of complaints is a vending machine sales operation that pays on returns with a "nest egg." The returns are approached with the pitch that after an initial investment, they need only to "collect their" money from the machines. Placement and servicing of the machines according to the seller, will be handled by them.

Several hundred thousand dollars have been lost to this particular "come-on," she said.

Most unethical businesses entice the consumer into giving up their money by promising something for nothing. Ms. Rumbley declared, "If a deal seems too good to be true, she said, it usually is."

With the enactment of the new state "Little FTC Act" last year, consumers in Florida have become the most legally protected buyers in the nation. But that protection is based on the consumer being aware of the laws and being willing to report a complaint.

Complaints or questions about unethical business practices or false advertising can be sent to the Department of Consumer Services in Tallahassee. Or slighted consumers can call toll free on the state Watts line by dialing 1-800-342-2176.

Ms. Rumbley also stressed the role of the "crooked" consumer in affecting honest businesses. "Five billion dollars were lost last year to shoplifting," she said, "and at least one business has determined that shoplifting has raised their prices by 15 per cent."

"It's a social as well as legal problem, and it's something that's always passed along to the consumer in the long run."

County To Ponder Safety Measures For Pupils

Eastbrook Elementary School in the Southeast county. Parents have questioned the safety of the path, which runs along Howell Branch Road. Their complaints have prompted the board to consider running another path through a nearby pasture area to keep the children off the road.

Wright said the board will review those schools that have overloaded buses for areas beyond two miles, and rearrange their transportation routes by considering courtesy busing to those schools. No state funding is available for courtesy busing or alternate safety measures.

Commissioner chairman John Kimbrough, who requested the board's action, said he expects the board "to be approached for crosswalks guards, and safety lights."

Commissioner Dick Williams also admitted that residents in his District Three have already asked him for safety protection.

The county commissioners provide funds for the crossing guards at a salary of $900 a year, through the Sheriff's Department. The county is also responsible for constructing bike paths and crossings and lights on all county and state roads.
