

Repair Work To Close Runway

The roar of jet engines will be a less frequent occurrence here during the next two weeks as the Sanford Naval Air Station closes its east-west runway for repairs and installation of new emergency arresting gear.

Meanwhile, the shorter 6,000-foot north-south runway will remain open for light traffic and limited carrier landing practice.

The bulk of the station's twin-jet A-3 Vigilantes and A-3B Skywarriors will operate from Cecil Field Naval Air Station, near Jacksonville, while the runway is closed.

Others will be engaged in ship-based operations in the Atlantic and Mediterranean while still others will remain at Sanford for light operations from the north-south runway.

Closure of the main runway was necessary to make certain improvements including installation of a new brake-type arresting gear. The new gear, costing approximately $60,000, will allow aircraft to make emergency landings from either direction without any elaborate preparations.

Prime contractor for the project is Peter R. Brown, Inc., of Clearwater.

Diplomats Glad Nikita Is Alive

MOSCOW (UPI) — Most diplomats here expressed relief today that the report of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's death was untrue.

Tass, the Soviet news agency published denials of the false report shortly after midnight and then reported that Khrushchev met again this morning with visiting Polish Communist leaders. The Soviet press ignored the death rumors.

The report, by the West German news agency (DPA), was out only five minutes Monday night before it was ordered held up for checking by the agency's editors and then withdrawn.

But during that time, it flashed around the world, causing hundreds of telephone calls to newspapers and broadcast stations and a rush of diplomatic activity.

Most of the callers expressed relief when told that the report was untrue. That also was the reaction of the majority of diplomats here.

Morse Plans Law For FEC

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said Monday he would propose a law to settle the Florida East Coast Railway strike and it would be "my answer" to a railroad official critical of Morse.

Morse told newsmen if Congress is required to pass any law to settle the threat of a nationwide rail walkout, he will add a rider to also settle the lengthy FEC strike. He did not elaborate.

But he said FEC Vice President W. L. Thornton had "been writing a lot of nasty letters about me to congressmen. This is my answer to Mr. Thornton."

Cracker Days Begin In Sanford Friday

Monday Deadline On Rail Talks

SEN. JOHN MATHEWS' campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor was pushed at a street rally here Wednesday evening by, from the left, Dr. W. Vincent Roberts, Seminole co-chairman; Sen. Mack N. Cleveland Jr. and the speaker, Sen. John McCarty, Fort Pierce.

Sen. McCarty Speaks Here For Mathews

Terming his candidate the "champion of good government," State Sen. John McCarty, of Fort Pierce, espoused the cause of Democratic governor candidate John E. Mathews in an old-fashioned street corner rally Wednesday evening at First Street and Magnolia Avenue. McCarty drew a bigger turnout of listeners at 8 p.m. Wednesday than have any of the gubernatorial candidates, themselves, during afternoon appearances here these last few weeks. McCarty said that the Jacksonville senator "stands on his record" in his campaign for the Democratic nomination in the May 5 primary. Mathews' outstanding contributions to good government and his effective statesmanship," said McCarty, "have marked his legislative career and won for him many honors." Mathews was chosen by his fellow legislators as the most promising freshman and a member of the most effective delegation in 1957, most effective in committee in 1959, second most valuable in the legislature and most effective in debate in 1961 and most

LBJ Asks Some Progress Be Reported

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rail union and management negotiators, under presidential pressure to reach a settlement by Monday, were called to new joint talks today by government mediators. Both sides were given the morning off to review their positions in the tangled dispute over changes in working procedures, sought by the railroads since 1959. President Johnson reported Wednesday there had been narrowing of differences on some of the issues. He called for more intensive bargaining in the days ahead and, in effect, set a Monday deadline for substantial progress. He indicated he was hoping to know by then whether an agreement was possible to avert a nationwide rail strike that could occur April 25. Informed sources said the mediation efforts, largely exploratory in the first five days of the Johnson round in the dispute, would be stepped up over the weekend in a major drive for settlement.

Southern Bloc Gains Hope In Rights Battle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Southern senators expressed confidence today that they are making progress against the "veil of emotional hysteria" surrounding the civil rights bill in the Senate. They voiced doubt after a caucus that there will be any voting within the next week on possible changes in the House-passed bill. Sen. Richard Russell, (D-Ga.), leader of the Senate Dixie Democratic bloc, said after the caucus: "I think we are making slow but sure progress in piercing the veil of emotional hysteria which the proponents have thrown up around this bill."

There has been speculation that there might be votes on amendments within the next week, but Russell said he doubted it.

TOKYO (UPI) — Red Chinese leaders sent a cable of greetings today to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on his 70th birthday, calling him "dear comrade" despite the bitter battle between Peking and Moscow for leadership of the Communist world. But the Communist Chinese leaders paid only passing attention to the differences with Moscow.

Publisher Going On Press Trip To World's Fair

Walter A. Gielow, editor-publisher of The Sanford Herald, has accepted an invitation to take part in the Jelliner trip to the New York World's Fair next week. The trip is being arranged for about 70 members of the Florida press, business and industrial leaders by Agricultural Commissioner Doyle Conner. Conner said the two-day look at the fair is being sponsored by Florida business leaders and government officials. "This is believed to be the largest single contingent of Florida press event outside of state borders," Conner said. The trip is called the Florida Press Preview and Agricultural Jamboree. Gov. Farris Bryant and cabinet officials will participate, he said with Roland E. Hinton, vice president of Minute Maid, serving as coordinator.

Holley Cites Unkept Democratic Promises

By Jane Casselberry — Wednesday when Rep. Charles R. Holley, of St. Petersburg, spoke for the Sanford Republican Woman's Club and greeted potential voters at Seminole Plaza in Casselberry. A native Floridian and practicing attorney, Holley has served in the State House of Representatives since 1960 and has been minority leader since 1962. In a play on words, Holley is using a sprig of holly, usually associated with the Christmas season, as a symbol for his campaign. This does not reflect his political philosophy, however. As an outspoken conservative he is against give-away programs and waste in government.

REP. CHARLES R. HOLLEY (right), candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, discusses campaign issues with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hammond, of Chuluota, during a visit to the Trade Winds Cafeteria in Casselberry Wednesday. On the left is Mrs. Ralph K. Swanson, of Winter Park, chairman of Holley's steering and finance committee in the Orlando area. (Herald Photo)

In a pre-primary swing at the Democratic opposition, Holley charged "every governor elected in Florida in the past 16 years has been elected on the pretense of being a conservative and in office proved the contrary from Fuller Warren to Farris Bryant. "Warren promised he would veto the sales tax, which he didn't, and Bryant promised to hold the tax line and taxes are increased 20 per cent on the state level since he came into office. "All the Democratic candidates are again offering the state another batch of broken promises." Holley is pledged to veto any raise in the sales tax rate as well as the extension of the tax to include groceries and medicine. He is in favor of abolishing the retail price fixing power of the milk commission and is for establishing the office of lieutenant governor in the state.

That "homework lesson" in the Clock the other day brought a number of responses. You'll remember, the reader was asked to look up the definition of "bivector" and let us know what it means. Two of the more interesting responses were that "vector" means a line of space and "bivector" would mean two lines of space. Another said "vector" is a carrier of disease and "bivector" would be two carriers of disease. Our dictionary gives the explanation but our printing machinery is unable to set it up. Truthfully, the definition is all "gobbledygook" to us.

Letter from Paola: "Webster says, 'bi' is a prefix meaning two; 'vector' is a directive quantity, force or velocity, or a line conceived to have a fixed direction and definite length but no fixed position. Therefore, we have a bivector meaning a double line conceived to have a fixed direction and definite length but no fixed position, or a double directive quantity, force or velocity." Still confused? Or more so? Mrs. Hannah K. Jackson."

Quick action followed when the Clock suggested a roped off area for pedestrian traffic along the Woodruff Building site. Thankx.

Note on the police blotter: "Please send an officer; there's two drunks out here insisting on painting our building."

AEC To Surrender Some Authority To State Of Florida

WASHINGTON (UPI) —

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) today began taking the last preliminary step in surrendering some of its regulatory authority in Florida to the state.

AEC Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg announced that the commission will publish in the Federal Register for the next four weeks an agreement which Florida proposed for the transfer of authority. Final action will be taken afterward.

Gov. Farris Bryant has submitted a proposed radiation control program which is under study by the AEC.

The AEC is authorized, upon determining that a state program is adequate to protect public health and safety, to transfer to the state some licensing and other regulatory authority over use of radioactive materials.

Bryant says the state believes the proposed transfer would "stimulate the development of nuclear industrial potential in Florida, and at the same time assure protection of the public health and safety."

The state has designated the Florida Board of Health as its radiation control agency.

2 Deputies Go To Meeting

Deputies James R. Moore and J. Q. (Slim) Galloway represented Seminole County last week at the Tavares meeting of the Florida citrus-producing counties. Sheriff Willis McCall of Lake County was host. Sheriff J. L. Hobby of Seminole expressed his appreciation to the Sheriff of Florida Citrus Mutual for the fine cooperation his department has received in combating fruit thefts this season.

Bessinger, chief of Mutual's Fruit Protection Division, said 187 arrests had been made to date for violations of citrus laws. Ninety-six of these arrests were for theft of citrus fruits having a total value of $226,064.

He also reported growers have saved untold thousands of dollars through preventive activities of sheriffs in the citrus-producing counties and the work of members of the Central Intelligence Bureau.

Mrs. Chase, a graduate of Smith College, has long been active in community affairs. She was librarian in the Winter Haven Public Library and a teacher in a private school there. She has also completed 18 years of volunteer service in the Red Cross.

Currently, Mrs. Chase is librarian of the Holy Cross Episcopal Church Parish Library here and is working on bibliographies for the Chase family from material accumulated in the past 250 years.

Educator Visits Slavia School

By Evelyn Landy
Dr. Kenneth Heinits of River Forest Convent College in Chicago spoke to faculty and friends of St. Luke's Christian Day School of Slavia during his recent annual visitation tour to Lutheran Schools in Florida.

Dr. Heinits told of new teaching methods to be used in the future and advised that his visit had a two-fold purpose—to inspect the school and to study problems of students and teachers which can be of great value to future teachers in his college.

He was accompanied on the trip by O. A. Schlie, chairman of the Board of Parish Education in the Florida-Georgia Lutheran Churches.

Library Association Entertains

By Julia Barton

The Annual Silver Tea for benefit of the Altamonte Springs Community Library, which is sponsored by the Library Association, was held last Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wobber Haines on Boston Avenue with a host of civic and social leaders from all parts of the county calling during the appointed hours.

Association officials in the receiving line included Mrs. John Stuart Jr., junior past president; Mrs. James M. Walter Jr., president; Mrs. Albert Starke, vice president; Mrs. Florence Courson, librarian; Erich Dallman, trustee; Dr. Paul O. Schallert, honorary trustee and Mrs. Glenn Humes, trustee.

An attractive and delicious assortment of party foods was served from a beautifully decorated table which featured a centerpiece arrangement of variegated spring blooms, a silver service and a large punch bowl. Table hostesses were Mrs. Paul Schallert, Mrs. Tilford Gorham, Mrs. Kristian Jutha and Mrs. Fred Rasmussen.

The Altamonte Library is open to the public on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2 until 5 p.m. and on Saturdays from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Books may be borrowed for two weeks with privilege of renewal. The latest fiction and non-fiction material is added each month to the present stock of 8,100 volumes. It is not necessary for one to be a member of the Library Association to enjoy use of the facility.

The annual Summer Vacation Reading Club will open this year on July 7 with the theme to be "A Trip through Florida." This program is conducted for benefit of young people from throughout the area and has been most successful in past years.

Florida State Bank To Mark 25th Year

Marking 25 years of service, Florida State Bank of Sanford has announced plans for an open house celebration on May 1, T. E. Tucker, president, reported.

"We are particularly proud of our years of service and strength during the past quarter century," Tucker noted. "It is with a great deal of pleasure that we take this opportunity to invite all our customers and the citizens of Seminole County to join with us on Friday, May 1, to celebrate this anniversary."

The bank's 25th anniversary comes at a time when Seminole County faces the greatest opportunities in economic development, Tucker stated. "We have enjoyed contributing to the prosperity of this area in the past and feel this has adequately prepared us to face the future of this area with confidence and great optimism."

Florida State Bank of Sanford was founded in May of 1939. At the close of that business year, its statement reflected total resources of $203,710.

In 1953, the bank reflected total resources of nearly $15 million.

The Florida State Bank of Sanford is a member of the McNulty Group of Banks throughout Central Florida, whose accumulated assets total more than $100 million. Not satisfied with past progress, which included moving into modern banking quarters at 200 West First Street in 1961, the bank is currently on a service expansion program which includes the installation of new electronic equipment to speed processing of records.

"Our expansion and modernization program is the first of its kind in Seminole County," Tucker noted. "Because of the outstanding future we expect for this area as we enter the space age in Central Florida, Florida State Bank is equipping itself to best serve the needs of its customers, large and small, in the future."

The open house celebration scheduled for Friday, May 1, will include tours of the bank facility, free prizes and exhibition of new modern equipment being installed at the bank.

Work On 25th Street Gets Commission OK

A centerline for the 25th Street extension was adopted by County Commissioners Tuesday afternoon and the county engineer asserted that construction now can begin.

William E. Bush Jr., the county engineer, also got Commission authorization to purchase two plots of land needed in the program. He also reported that Chase Groves Inc. had donated a parcel of land as the final link needed.

The extension will bring the Route 45 highway program a step nearer reality and the actions were hailed by Bush as meaning "we can now start actual work on the extension."

Much of the afternoon session was devoted to routine matters after an arduous morning discussing the proposed expansion to Seminole County Memorial Hospital.

Removed from the Commission agenda was possible county action on policing political advertising placed in the county. On recommendation of Commissioner John Alexander, it was decided to let the State Road Department "exercise its power of enforcement."

Commissioners also approved the purchase by the Lake Mary City District of a used truck, light plant and reculator.

The governing body also authorized "injunctive action" in the courts to force the operator of a salvage yard on Beardsall Ave. and Highway 46 to halt what was described as illegal use of the land.

Zoning Director Robert Brown said the proprietor has authority to operate a garage in that location but the large collection of junk cars and parts have removed the current use from commercial to that of industrial. The latter is not permissible he said.

Brown told the Commission he had asked the proprietor to halt the illegal use and "I am sure he intends to ignore our request."

Lake Monroe Jottings

By Mrs. H. L. Johnson
 Gee Willikers, everyone, it is spring, Tra La. And I'm so glad. Now that spring house cleaning can start. * * * Cute little Bambi Lynn, daughter of Fred and Ann Behrens, decided as long as she had to be sick with something she would make it two things, so she has the chicken pox and the measles. * * * George Bell motored down to Tampa General Hospital in Tampa to see his son Donald who is a patient there. * * * Mrs. Myrtle Pierson of Triangle, N.Y., has returned home after a pleasant visit with her son-in-law and daughter William Jr. and Alice Carroll and her grandchildren. * * * The Lake Monroe Safety Club wishes to thank every one for their cooperation in the school hour watch at the school crossing for the protection of the children. Since little Debbie Justice was hit by a car there the mothers have been quite concerned about the road so the group got together and formed the crossing patrol. * * * Little Debbie is still confined to the local hospital but is improving. * * * Robbie Dorn, teenage son of Opal and Robert Dorn, also is in the local hospital due to injuries caused by an automobile accident. We wish both of these children a speedy recovery and hope to see them back in school shortly. * * * Talking of school, the Sanford Junior High Band and their majorities will travel to Cocoa Saturday to compete in district contests. Lynn Giles and I will accompany them and their leader, Pete Bukur Jr. Naturally we hope they bring home the superiors. * * * Bobby and Frances Thompson and children have moved from Monroe to a home on West Second Street. * * * Here's a good news to all of Carlos Muse's friends. He is expected home this weekend after a lengthy stay at Day Pines Hospital where he underwent surgery. Now you just watch him. He will make up for lost time in getting out and pollicking for his favorite candidates. Monroe knew that something was missing and this is what it was, no Carlos. * * * Lenora (Mrs. J.E.) Andrews has been kind on the puny side this past week. * * * Very sorry to hear of the illness of Mrs. Daisy Bates. She is in the Florida Sanitarium in Orlando. We wish her a speedy recovery. * * * Had a phone call yesterday from Sammys Lou Keel's mother, Mrs. W. A. Kendrick. She and Pop are here visiting Sammys for a few days from Baldwin, Ga.

Two Things Make Yogi Nervous: Rain And No Cigarettes

Berra Chomps On Cigar As Yanks Wait

By Oscar Fraley
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK — The smile was gone and Yogi Berra worried a big brown cigar stuffed into the center of his mouth. It made him look a bit like Ralph Houk, the man he succeeded as manager of the New York Yankees, both of them being short and solid.

Only Houk was different. He favored brown suits most of the time and after the war years he put in the Rangers the major always wore a cloak of placidity.

Berra was dressed in blue. His irritation was obvious as he jittered from one foot to another.

"I gave up cigarettes during Lent and haven't gone back to them," Yogi said around the cigar.

"Nervous? Yeah, a little," he admitted. "I just wanna get the show on the road."

He prowled the almost empty dressing room after the players had run a few laps, loosened up their arms and straggled away one by one. Yogi didn't sit in the swivel chair in the manager's office. He paced the roomy locker room in which, until this year, he always was the center of the jokes and the laughter.

The Yanks hadn't played a game yet because the opener was postponed twice and his actions seemed to say that he hadn't earned the little side room with the swivel chair.

"Whitely Ford still pitches the opener," he said. "Jeez ain't this rain ever gonna let up? It's sure gonna foul up my rotation."

The cigar went back into the scowling mouth, squarely in the middle, and came out again as Berra frowned at the question of shortstop Tony Kuback's fitness.

"It's a pulled back muscle," he said. "High up."

"It's called myositis," a bystander volunteered.

"It's a what?" Berra demanded.

The guy said it again and edged away as if he thought the guy was pulling his leg. "No wonder it hurts him."

Yogi stopped momentarily in front of his old locker, drawn there almost by habit. Only now another's gear hung on the hooks. He started toward the little office but then switched his route and passed around the room, as if checking that everybody's gear was in place.

Berra could have been the awkward kid with the big bat who came to the Yankees so many years ago and had such a difficult time learning to catch. There were times they called him a clown and, as he contemplated a new career with the Yankees, the fretful waiting had to provoke thoughts of possible disaster.

Yet there is a big plus sign going for him. Houk was friendly with his players but he wasn't their pal. Berra is and, while you give your best as a Yankee or you don't stay long on the premises, they figure to put out a little bit extra for Yogi.

Mickey Mantle, the last man on the field, summed it up best after delightfully throwing a few knuckle balls which the batboy couldn't catch.

"Shucks," Mantle ribbed so that Yogi could hear it, "we'll win despite him."

Speaking for the whole club, he meant they'd win because of him. Yogi is their buddy and they want him to feel at home sitting in that swivel chair in the little side office.

The Herald's Libby Long starts off today's column with a real fish story . . . and she says it's true!

Dickie Thomas, son of Burt Thomas, was fishing in Lake Harney, using a fly rod. He hooked a good size bass but lost it. Ten days later, Libby reports, her brother-in-law, L. B. Crocker, of Willoughby, Ohio, was fishing in the same spot and caught the same bass!

How, you ask, did they know it was the same bass? Because Dickie's Humble Bee Colcer also added that none of the beer people know where the tagged fish were placed except in Lake Golden. State game and fresh water and state conservation agents distributed the tagged fish, worth a half million in all in cash prizes, throughout Florida waters.

Two new color films have just been released for free club and group showings.

The 13½-minute "Florida Fliscapade" records an idyllic outdoor vacation for a northern family of four as they fish and cruise the Florida coastline from Homosassa Springs on the Gulf to St. Augustine on the Atlantic shore.

En route they land snook, amberjack and other salt water species, take an unusual "seaside" look at Cape Kennedy and visit Marineland Oceanarium.

"Ski-Ways to Safety," the second 13½-minute film, was produced in co-operation with the American Red Cross and American Water Ski Association. It blends action-filled skiing sequences with hard-headed instruction on safe skiing practices and towboat driving.

MRS. L. B. CROCKER poses with a string of fish taken from the St. Johns River and Lake Harney. The second fish from the left figures in the lead item in the "Knee Deep" column.

Pat Brooks, out at Lemon Bluff fishing camp, also comes up with a good story today. She tells that two anglers brought in two flounders, one weighing 7½ pounds and the other weighing in at 3½ pounds. And they told they lost a bigger one. It is not too uncommon for these salt water fish to be taken from the St. Johns and Wekiva Rivers.

Pat also reports the shad continue to run in the St. Johns. Maybe these fish don't know the shad season is over.

Bass are schooling and bluegills and speckled perch are being taken out around Lemon Bluff.

Dream are biting good in the Wekiva, according to Herb Sutton, at Wekiva River Haven, but the bass are slow. Some specks also biting.

Pippy the Gar still continues to put in his appearance occasionally and that $10 reward (so we understand) still stands. Pippy is about six feet long, give or take a little.

After the initial rush with the opening of the Schlitz fishing derby on April 1, Wilson Colcer, Orlando distributor, reports "no reports" this week of moneyed fish being taken in Seminola County.

Thirteen local residents, with a catch of 16 tagged fish, are awaiting results to be announced at Milwaukee. One Navy chief caught four. All were taken in Lake Golden.

Colcer says the anglers should know by Friday what will be the cash prize values for the tags attached to the fish they caught.

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — Cornell University star Gary Wood, the Ivy League's leader in total offense and rushing for the last two seasons, has been named to play for the East in the fourth annual All American football game, June 27.

'Piece Of Paper' Lucky

HALLANDALE (UPI) — Vincent Palmisano, a former publicity man, said his good luck started when he found a piece of paper on the floor with the numbers 3, 7, 8 and 1 on it.

The payoff came Wednesday when Palmisano collected $63,721 in cash as the lone winner of Gulfstream Park's twin double.

The winning combination of numbers was the ones on the piece of paper, Palmisano said.

Unshaven and costless, the 50-year-old North Miami resident was full of smiles when he walked off with his winnings in cash.

It was the fourth largest primumutuel payoff of the Florida season.

Palmisano is a former publicity man for a Miami Beach motel.

He said he is taking over management of a restaurant next week and needed the financial boost.

About Sports

Thinking Out Loud

BY JULIAN STENSTROM

After so many years in baseball that he can't remember the exact number, Clyde McCullough—a former major league catcher, coach and minor league skipper—is getting ready to head north for another year, this time as pilot of the Auburn, N. Y. Mets of the New York-Pennsylvania League.

"I remember that I broke into baseball with Lafayette, La., in the old Evangeline League—one of the hottest and fastest class-D league's in baseball at that time," recalled Clyde. "When he referred to the 'hottest' he no doubt meant the hot pepper country.

After the normal minor league career which carried him to Kansas City of the American Association and to Newark in the International League, Clyde finally climbed into the cage with the Chicago Cubs in 1940. He stayed with the Cubs through 1948 when he was traded to the Pittsburgh Pirates through the '52 season and was traded back to the Cubs where he remained from 1953 through the '56 campaign.

Since then Clyde has coached for Washington, Minnesota and the New York Mets. Last season he coached first base and the catchers for Casey Stengel's National Leagueers.

The burly receiver has caught some mighty fine hurriers in his day. Among the tops he lists Dixie Dean, Lon Warneke, Bill Lee, Charlie Root, Larry French, and Joe Bush. However, said McCullough, "I'd have to say that probably the best hurler I ever caught was Clyde Passeau.

McCullough skipped the Ashville Tourists and he piloted Reading in 1958. He also has managed in Cuba, Nicaragua and also the Miami Marlins of the International League.

In 1959, McCullough skipped the Ashville Tourists and he piloted Reading in 1958. He also has managed in Cuba, Nicaragua and also the Miami Marlins of the International League.

He started the 1963 season as manager of the Carolina League's Raleigh club until he was called to New York to coach for the Mets.

What was your biggest thrill in major league baseball, we asked. Clyde promptly replied: "Getting to the major leagues." After prodding him a bit he recalled that he also got a big thrill one day at Philadelphia when he eluded three consecutive home runs and a fourth one caught the top of the wall and bounced back for a double. He also started two triple plays as a catcher.

Clyde said playing in the 1943 world series was a big thrill along with participating in two little world series while with the Kansas City Blues.

What about baseball today, we inquired.

"Well," said McCullough, "it's changed. Back in my day a kid didn't have a chance to go to college so if you had anything on the ball you'd go into baseball. But don't let people tell you that we don't have a good ball

Family In Top Spot

The Willis family, father, Doug and his son Ricky captured the top spot in the Parent Youngster League at Jet Lanes.

Coming in second and third places respectively were Midge Woods and her son Jim; and John Spolski and son, Kevin.

Individual honors for the youngsters were awarded as follows: High average—Jim Woods 163; and in the individual series and game departments, the one, two, three positions went to Jim Woods, Joe Gazil, and Kevin Spolski.

High game — Jim Woods 221, Joe Gazil 220 and Kevin Spolski 202.

This league was originally designed to have the family participate as a team and as such would only recognize the youngsters with the personalized trophies.

An end of the season banquet will be held at the Capri Restaurant this coming Monday at 6:30 p.m., at which time these trophies will be awarded to the winners.

The invitation is extended to those who'd like to be members of the Summer Parent Youngster League to register now at the lanes for same.

The league will start Monday, April 20th at 7 p.m. and will bowl throughout the summer months on this same day.

Mays Sets Giant Pace

By George C. Langford
UPI Sports Writer

Watch wondrous Willie. He's playing for his $105,000.

Willie—Mays, of course—is the barometer for the San Francisco Giants, and right now Willie is hot. So are the Giants.

Mays shouldered much of the blame for the Giants' failure to repeat as the National League champions last season. He remembers how he slugged 10 home runs in the first month of the Giants' championship year, in 1962, then slumped to a .232 batting average and only four homers in the first 30 days of the '63 season.

Willie's slump, along with his teammates, prompted Chub Feeney, the Giants vice president, to moan: "I've never seen so many guys play like they didn't care about money."

Well, Willie does. And he's out to prove he deserves his six-figure salary.

The Giants' centerfielder hammered his third home run in two days Wednesday night to ignite a 10-run Giant spree which carried San Francisco to a 10-8 triumph over Milwaukee. Mays has driven in six runs, scored three and all of his hits have been for the circuit in the Giants first two victories.

Milwaukee, down 10-1 after four innings, threw a scare into the Giants with the aid of home runs from former teammate Ed Bailey and Eddie Mathews. Loser Bob Sadowski and rookie Larry Kelley were the victims of the 10-run fourth, which included five walks and two wild pitches.

Former Brave Bob Shaw shut the door on a final Milwaukee rally in the ninth to protect the win for starter Jack Sanford.

Ken Boyer and Bob Gibson led the St. Louis Cardinals to a 6-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers; Philadelphia whipped the New York Mets, 4-1, and Pittsburgh outlasted the Chicago Cubs, 5-4, in 12 innings. Houston was idle and Cincinnati dropped a 4-3 verdict to its San Diego farm club of the Pacific Coast League in an exhibition game on the West Coast.

Bill Skowron's homer helped the Washington Senators to a 6-4 decision over the Los Angeles Angels in the only American League game. The Yankees' opener at New York with Boston was postponed for the second straight day because of rain and the other six teams were not scheduled.

Boyer's bases-loaded single in the eighth inning started a five-run Cardinal uprising against loser Don Drysdale in Los Angeles. Gibson, who went the route allowing nine hits, started the rally with a single. Rookie Johnny Lewis, Curt Flood and Tim McCarver followed with run-producing singles. Frank Howard of the Dodgers slugged his second homer in two nights in the ninth.

The Phils sent the Mets down to their second straight defeat at Philadelphia with three unearned runs in the eighth. Tony Gonzalez accounted for all three with a home run after first baseman Tim Harkness had committed a two-out error. Jim Bunning, the ex-Detroit Tiger making his first start in the National League, was the winner and Tracy Stallard was the loser. Both went the distance.

Reliever Don Elston walked Bill Virdon with the bases loaded and two out in the 12th to hand the Pirates a victory at Pittsburgh.

Politically Speaking..

No one has yet come up with the answer to this comparison: Little Pasco County has 22,052 registered voters out of a 36,700 population; Seminole County has only 18,180 registered voters out of a 72,000 population. Why? In last week's news report of contributions and expenses of county candidates, as filed with Clerk of Courts Art Beckwith, it was inadvertently omitted that Tommy Speer has contributed $1,150 to his own campaign for county prosecutor.

Club Program Features Work With Shells

Shell plaques were made by members of the North Orlando Garden Club at the April meeting of the group held at the home of Mrs. Jane West with Mrs. Hilda Sommers as co-hostess.

Supervising the work were Mrs. Mae Duquette and Mrs. Lois Wallace who have been interested in shellcraft for a number of years.

Announcement was made that Mrs. Myra Stodden, president and Mrs. Wallace will attend the State Federation President's Conference to be held April 28 at the Orlando Garden Club.

Winners of the Garden of the Month award were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scheutzw of Algiers Avenue.

Supper Tickets Due Friday

By Evelyn Landy
Mrs. R. W. Estes, president of the Oviedo's Women's Club, has asked that tickets for next Thursday's political supper being sponsored by the club be turned in to her or to Mrs. John Landy by Friday of this week.

Those wishing to attend are again reminded that one plate may be divided between two or more children and that extra plates will be provided for this purpose.

The supper will be served in the school cafeteria from 5:30 until 7:30 p. m. Following the supper those attending are invited to stay to hear the candidates during the political rally being staged by the Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee.

Coffee To Honor Mrs. Fred Karl

By Jane Casselberry
A coffee for Mrs. Fred Karl of Daytona Beach, wife of the Democratic gubernatorial candidate, will be given Saturday morning from 11:30 to 12:30 at the home of Mrs. William B. Dunn Jr., 1020 Crystal Bowl Circle, Casselberry. Those interested in meeting the honoree are invited to call anytime during the hour, Mrs. Dunn advises.

United Press reports that Jim Hunt has donated $100 to the campaign fund for Bralley Odham, erstwhile Sanfordite seeking to unseat Sen. Spessard Holland.

Reports from around the state indicate Odham may surprise the political bigwigs. He is expounding himself as a "Kennedy-Johnson Democrat," claiming Holland "is not." Holland has thrown the Florida Negro vote to Odham by his stand on the civil rights issue.

A mailaway handout titled the "Porkchop Club News," promoting certain candidates in all phases of the primary, contradicts itself in its last issue.

On the front page it reports that "latest developments in the campaign for governor have cut Haydon Burns' lead with much of the support going to Scott Kelly and the lesser candidates."

Yet on Page 3, the "Tallahassee Whispers" page, the paper reports: "The campaign for the governorship is really just getting into high gear and we firmly believe that the vast majority of the people have not yet made up their minds."

Seems the "Pork Chop News" should make up its mind!

This political writer learned long ago never to predict the outcome of an election—the voters quite often fool the know-it-alls. And one of the reasons for that sage thought is only last night a neighbor called to state he knew nothing of any of the candidates, state or county, and sought advice as to how he should vote. How many more of Florida's electors are in the same boat, paying no attention whatsoever to all of the campaign promises and oratory? Quite a few, we'll wager. Enough to swing any election if the candidates can learn how to garner this bloc of votes.

The Herald's mail these days is filled with news (?) handouts from the candidates especially on the state level. Local candidates seem to be getting down the "grass roots" level and going directly to the voters, shaking hands and asking, "Remember me at the polls."

Rose Society To Meet

The annual meeting of the Deep South District, American Rose Society, will be held at Bradenton this weekend with the Bradenton Rose Society as host.

The district meeting will be held in the Downtown Cabana while the Bradenton Rose Society rose show will be staged in the Municipal Auditorium.

Entries are expected from many parts of Florida, Georgia and Alabama. Entries will be received at the auditorium from 8 to 10:20 a. m. Saturday. The rose show will be held from 2 to 9 p. m. Saturday and 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Sunday.

SHS Science Students Set Open House

The science students of SHS are inviting their parents and friends, as well as interested people of the community, to an open-house display of their work Tuesday from 7 to 9:30 p. m.

Carrying out the advice of college science professors, these young scientists will not offer competitive projects in the usual "science fair" type of program, but will present a display of their equipment and the good uses to which they are learning to put it.

Seminole High's science department members said: "We'd like for the parents to see our facilities in operation. Students will actually be working on their projects during the evening, and they will be pleased to explain what they are doing. Visitors will have first-hand observation for the high-caliber work some of our students are capable of doing."

In addition to chemistry and physics experiments, there will be biological projects on display. It is anticipated that some will be open-end type, where procedures are emphasized.

Concerning the achievement level of Seminole High School students taking the Florida 12th Grade Test, Principal Andrew J. Bracken reported: "The possible score on this test is 490. Seventeen percent of the Seminole High School seniors scored over 400; forty-one percent scored in the 300-400 range, so we can say that fifty-eight percent of the seniors met Florida University requirements. We are especially proud of seventeen students who scored 450 or above."

The secret of a good spring salad is cold crisp salad greens and a light touch of salad dressing, according to the Florida Agricultural Extension Service. In addition to lettuce there are a variety of greens you might use: Romaine, watercress, parsley, red cabbage, spinach. For flavoring the dressing, Roquefort or blue cheese is a favorite ingredient. Curry is growing in popularity along with the old favorites of garlic and green onions.

WEINER BAKE
1 lb. wieners
1 can (1 lb. 12 oz.) baked beans
½ cup applesauce
Salt and pepper to taste
¼ tsp. brown sugar
¼ cup ketchup
¼ tsp. sage
Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Cut half the wieners into bite-size pieces, reserving remaining links for garnish. Combine ingredients and pour into 1½ qt. baking dish. Arrange whole wieners on top. Bake 30 minutes. Yield 4-5 servings.

DRESSING FOR SALAD
1 8-oz. pkg. blue cheese
¼ cup buttermilk
¼ cup salad oil
¼ cup sour cream
½ tsp. garlic oil
2 tbsps. wine vinegar
¼ tsp. white pepper
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. celery salt
Mix all salad ingredients together until well blended. Toss greens with needed amount of the dressing. This recipe makes about 2 cups.

for buying from the frozen food case. Easy to follow instructions for roasting are on the wrappers. The fancy hostess (you) adds her bit of fanciness by using a pretty glaze. Here are several recipes for glazes you can use.

ONION GLAZE
2 medium onions, chopped
2 tbsps. butter
2 tbsps. cornstarch
1 cup boiling water
2 chicken bouillon cubes
Saute onions in butter until transparent. Do not brown. Blend in cornstarch, gradually add water in which chicken bouillon cubes have been dissolved while stirring. Cook about 5 minutes, until mixture thickens. Brush over wild rice stuffed chickens or rock cornish hens during the last 15 minutes of roasting.

EGYPT'S FALAFEL
1 cup cooked or canned navy beans drained or pureed
¼ cup fine cracker crumbs
1 tbsps. finely minced onion
¼ tsp. mashed garlic
1 egg beaten
¼ cup cracker crumbs for topping
Cooking oil for frying
Salt to taste, only if needed
Combine beans with crumbs (¼ cup) onion and garlic. Shape into tiny balls. Dip balls in egg, then roll in remaining crumbs. Drop into deep oil at 375 degrees until golden and crisp. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve hot. Makes about 30 balls.

Longwood Residents Feted At Party

CELEBRATING SWEET SIXTEEN is Stella Perkins, left, with Elizabeth Esclavon and Fred Esclavon, also a birthday honoree. Standing are Larry and Robert Esclavon, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Esclavon, who have recently completed six months National Guard training.

By Donna Estes
A celebration jamboree was recently held at the Longwood City Park, honoring Miss Stella Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Perkins of Park Avenue and Fred Esclavon, also of Park Avenue, both celebrating birthdays.

Also honored were Larry and Robert Esclavon, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Esclavon, who have completed six months of National Guard Training.

Dancing and games were enjoyed, and delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Perkins and Mrs. Esclavon.

Enjoying the entertainment were Connie and Diane Booth, Mary, Junior and Patsy Caldwell, Roy and Diane Sweet, Barbara and Cordell Marshall, Jeannie, Patsy, Joey and Johnny Roberts, Albert and Troy Welborn, Tommy and Eva Johns, Rosslyn and Freddie Morton and Dianne Pittman.

Also Jeanette Hughes, Gary Hood, Wayne Iman, Sandra Norris, Paul Kirkland, Clifford Leiss, Judy Russell, Eddie Bailey, Bill Berdahl, Sharon DeMoss, Bobbi Maples, Ralph Cottrell and Bob Luncelord.

Also Richard Cameron, Colin Kelley, James McDaniels, Mr. and Mrs. John Boltz, Paul, Donnie, Connie, Ray and Bobby Boltz, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Finch, Joan and Phillip Perkins, Risky, Freddie, Gene and Elizabeth Esclavon.

housing scene following World War II as a "waste of space" has returned as a result of consumer demand. It provides a spot to absorb the tracked-in dirt and wet of outdoors, shields other areas of the home from blasts of cold air in winter and adds to privacy by screening living areas from view of all who call at the door.

Studies indicate that new tract homes today have an average of 2,400 square feet of living space, or nearly three times the 850 square feet of the box-like 1917 building.

The council, which naturally concentrates its interest on those housing areas which are likely places for tile, says the two-bath house is standard today and the average is on the way up.

The vintage home of the GI loan had two tiny bedrooms. Today a three-bedroom home is standard and four and five bedrooms are not uncommon.

The dining room is definitely back in style. The "modern dining space" of those post-war homes too often turned out to be just not enough space or the right kind of space for dining comfort.

Today's home generally has some sort of family or recreation room, planned storage indoors and out and an attached garage often large enough for two cars.

Kitchens of today show real thought and effort to provide pleasant, efficient, easy to maintain surroundings rather than just dubious "glamour."

Today's Houses Compared With Early Postwar Years

NEW YORK (UPI) — Today's young marrieds out househunting would hardly give a second glance at the houses their parents had to choose from in the early post-war years.

Housing's explosive progress has nearly tripled the size of houses in less than 20 years, has made the one-bath-room house nearly extinct, and has brought back many "old-fashioned" prewar features such as formal entries.

Studies indicate that new tract homes today have an average of 2,400 square feet of living space, or nearly three times the 850 square feet of the box-like 1917 building.

The council, which naturally concentrates its interest on those housing areas which are likely places for tile, says the two-bath house is standard today and the average is on the way up.

The vintage home of the GI loan had two tiny bedrooms. Today a three-bedroom home is standard and four and five bedrooms are not uncommon.

Mrs. Sutton Addresses Oviedo Ladies

By Evelyn Landy
The Oviedo Women's Club met Friday for its regular luncheon and meeting. The club was beautifully decorated with roses, day lilies and gerber daisies.

Mrs. John Sutton, guest speaker, told of the children of Sunland Training Center. They have slightly over 800 children at this time; none of these children can walk and each one requires the attention of a new born infant. Mrs. Sutton is chairman of the Gray Ladies and has over 500 hours of voluntary service to her credit.

New officers for the coming year were elected. They are as follows: president, Mrs. Lynn Mosier; first vice-president, Mrs. R. W. Estes; second vice president, Mrs. Fred Pierson; third vice-president, Mrs. B. F. Wheeler Sr.; recording secretary, Mrs. W. T. Walker; corresponding secretary, Mrs. T. H. Ryan; treasurer, Mrs. H. F. Barnes, and parliamentarian, Mrs. B. G. Smith.

Mrs. J. H. Staley, treasurer, reported that there is a balance of only $350 left on mortgage of the club building. Everyone was asked to participate in the political supper to be held in the school cafeteria April 23, 5:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m.

MRS. R. W. ESTES, left, president of Oviedo Women's Club, is chatting with Mrs. John Sutton, center, chairman of Gray Ladies, Sunland Training Center, and Mrs. John Ridenour, program chairman, at a recent meeting. (Herald Photo)

Mayonnaise Works Wonders As A Hair Reconditioner

By Alicia Hart
Newspaper Enterprise Beauty Editor

Over the years, the things women have done to build up assets Nature gave them have made men's heads swim. But the supposedly illogical use of whatever was handy—mud, vinegar, etc.—for beauty treatments has proved scientifically logical.

Take the hair. One basic problem to maintain healthy hair is balancing the acid and alkaline content.

Those handed down through generations include sugar water or beer for setting hair and eggs for shampoo. Others used were olive oil and castor oil for pre-shampoo treatment and rinses of vinegar or lemon. For those with scalp infections kerosene seemed to do the trick and also was used sparingly to add luster. (It is much safer to rub a piece of linen over your hair to bring out luster than to use kerosene.)

Latest adaptation of a household item for beauty purposes sounds like one of the meekest. But a beauty salon owner in Great Neck, Long Island, N.Y., has a rush business because he uses mayonnaise as a hair conditioner.

According to Monte Daniel, he mixes mayonnaise with a permanent waving lotion and works this into the hair. It makes an excellent hair conditioner, he says, and has proved especially effective in reconditioning bleached hair.

Seeds Of Automation

But now just about everybody has had a good laugh over the recommendation of the "Ad Hoc Committee on the Triple Revolution" that every American should qualify for an adequate, guaranteed, lifetime income simply by virtue of being born, whether he works or not.

This was only one of several suggestions recently put forward by this group of economists, educators, writers and intellectuals by way of solving the social problems of our time.

The idea may be revolutionary but it is far from novel. Radicals of the last century dreamed about it. British philosopher Bertrand Russell discussed the possibility about the time of World War I.

Automation, however, has removed the idea from the realm of fuzzy fantasy and threatens to place it squarely in front of us as a fact in the much-too-near future.

According to the committee, the cybernetic (automation) revolution has broken the traditional incomes-through-jobs link. If society is to fully realize the potential good of automation, they say, a guaranteed income is the only way that "the quarter of the nation now dispossessed and soon to be dispossessed by lack of employment can be brought within the abundant society."

In other words, if people—through no fault of their own—have no incomes with which to qualify as consumers, then they must be provided with those incomes as a matter of necessity, if not of right. Else, automation could turn into a curse, dooming large segments of the population to poverty.

Already we view it as simple humanity for those unable to work to be supported, at least on the existence level, out of the public treasury.

Already we consider it only just for oldsters to receive minimum retirement incomes, even if they may not have contributed to a pension fund during their working years.

But we feel it is somehow un-American—certainly counter to all human history, if not the very laws of nature—to talk about giving money to able-bodied people who haven't done anything to "earn" it.

Yet already many thousands are having their earning careers cut short by automation while still in their prime. What of them? Re-education is a partial answer, but what if the jobs they are being retrained for today are automated tomorrow?

More importantly, what of the millions of young people of tomorrow who will never even begin to earn because there will just be no need for them in an economy run by machines and a small elite of humans?

If the seers are correct, growing numbers of nonworking human beings will somehow have to be supported from birth to death—on a level far above that of the public dole—whether they—or we—like it or not.

How this can be done is really a minor problem compared to the social implications of the cybernetic revolution. What the world may be like with whole generations enabled to live lives of complete leisure is something we can scarcely imagine.

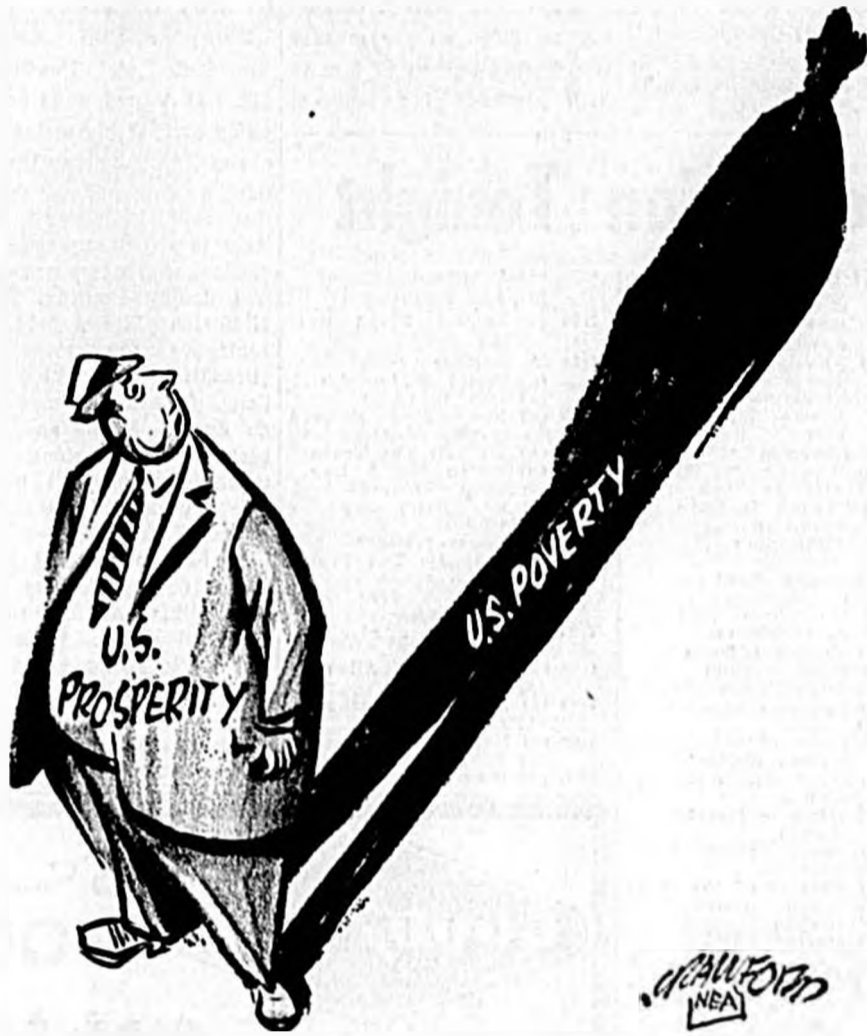

It could work the greatest transformation of human society since the discovery of agriculture. But right now, Utopia looks pretty frightening. Maybe that's why we laugh.

Thought For Today

That is true. They were broken off because of their unbelief, but you stand fast only through faith. So do not become proud, but stand in awe. Romans 11:20.

A little knowledge often estranges men from religion, a deeper knowledge brings them back to it.—Dante Inge.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Notwithstanding the image of President Lyndon Johnson rampant on a field of telephone wire, it is being suggested in some quarters that the White House today is much less an "influential presence" in the capital than under the late John F. Kennedy.

These comments pertain not to impact on the Congress but on the various departments and agencies of government. Under Kennedy, the White House hand was felt in many places. Under Johnson, say these sources, it is not. Whether this is good or bad evidently depends on the view one takes of the White House role in the modern bureaucracy.

The late President and some of his most trusted associates were said to feel that the great bureaucratic glacier could not be moved into necessary new channels without heavy, thrusting pressures from the White House.

Symbol of that pressure was Kennedy picking up the telephone and asking some mid-range State Department officer what he meant on page 230 of department document 6402. Inquiries like that, supplemented by a cascade of provocative memos from his desk, sent quivers through the department's quiet inner core. Kennedy and his group felt that State and Defense were in especial need of producing. At Defense, Secretary McNamara largely did their work for them. State was a tougher case.

Difficulties did not wholly dismay them. White House attitudes and purposes were steadily communicated to many agencies. The presidential establishment intervened in disputes. It functioned almost as a kind of fourth branch of government, with supracabinet officers providing major guidance.

The evidence of change is still fragmentary, but it does seem to be real. A thoughtful Washington lawyer whose firm does constant business with three major government agencies says that the White House hand just is not there any more. Others he knows agree.

He happens to be one who thinks such guidance is good, and that the agencies suffer in not having it. A source closer to the seat of power says Johnson sends State virtually no challenging memos. This man indicates that the department is "off the alert" and, by his measure, plodding ponderously along.

He also blames the long internal harangue over details of the anti-poverty fight on lack of a White House figure authorized to set ground rules and knock heads together.

There are some signs the new President may look upon such White House overlordship as both meddling and unwise, that he wants his cabinet officers and agency heads to be masters in their own houses.

Ample testimony exists that he sees key government heads somewhat more often than did John Kennedy, that he relies upon them directly to get the job done, rather than employing his White House staff as prod and overseer.

Some index of the Johnson approach may be had from a close adviser who, talking of Kennedy's habit of telephoning subordinate State Department officials, said: "I don't think that really achieves much. All that happens is that they stop concentrating on their own minutiae and attend to yours. There is no net gain in motion."

Fulbright Amazes Democrats

WASHINGTON — For the second time in less than a month, Senator J. William Fulbright has amazed his fellow Democrats by boldly moving ahead of party leader Lyndon B. Johnson on controversial issues.

The mild-mannered, soft-spoken Senator from Arkansas has not been known as a crusader. He climbed the seniority ladder to the lofty position he now holds — chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations — as a careful conservative who attacked with the Southern Establishment of the Senate when time came to be counted. But now we find Fulbright acting the way Hubert Humphrey used to act a few years back — laying about him with a broad sword for his cause.

Fulbright's first foray, to dispel the "myths" of U.S. foreign policy thinking he said, brought wide attention and comment including a good word from Premier Khrushchev, respectful demurrers from President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, an approving nod from Walter Lippmann, and to date 6,000 letters, three out of four approving his stand.

Last Sunday at Chapel Hill, N.C., Senator Fulbright fired his second salvo, this time at what he charged is U.S. overemphasis on the Cold War abroad and lack of emphasis on human betterment at home. There is nothing new about a politician's being for more human betterment. Nor is it new to question the growing power of the military over our national life. Former President Eisenhower warned of this potential danger in his Farewell Address in 1960.

But it is new for a member of the Senate Inner Circle to say that Congress has abdicated its constitutional responsibility to maintain effective control over the military. It has come to the point in Congress, Fulbright charges, that "it is almost unpatriotic" to question the cost of proliferation of missiles, nuclear armaments and space flights. Instead of debates on defense spending, the Senator said at Chapel Hill, there now are "non-debates." Again this year, he reports, "the Congress is spending the enactment of the defense budget with splendid indifference to its size and content."

The point of making these points so vigorously at this time, Fulbright explains, is that changing alignments in the Communist world make it safe for the U.S. to shift its national priorities from greater military strength to greater human happiness. Until Congress recognizes what the world power shift can mean, he points out, President Johnson cannot win the unconditional war he has declared on poverty in the United States, since Congress cannot conceivably be expected to vote the funds to win that war and continue to pay for an international Cold War at present scale at the same time.

Had the Senator asked him, the President would probably have preferred that this kind of cold-turkey talk be postponed until after the November election. But it appears that he was not asked.

Worry Clinic

CASE 8-440: Tommy Z., aged 10, has a common obsession.

"Dr. Crane," his mother began, "what can we do for Tommy?"

"For he has a mania to get at matches and start fires."

Last week when he was playing next door at the home of a little girl his own age, he started a fire that burned the floor out of the back porch.

"If the fire truck hadn't arrived so swiftly, the whole house might have burned down."

"His daddy has punished him several times for playing with matches, but Tommy just can't seem to leave them alone."

"He seems as fascinated by matches as the chronic alcoholic is attracted to liquor."

FIREBUG PSYCHOLOGY

There are two basic aspects to this mania for matches.

Up to a certain degree, it is a natural form of childhood curiosity.

So try to let your youngsters indulge their yen to strike matches.

For example, deliberately schedule some picnics where you will have a bonfire.

But let your child actually scratch the match and light the fire.

Meanwhile, warn him to be careful lest he burn himself. And as soon as he is old enough, let him join the Cub Scouts, and then the Boy Scouts.

For in those splendid organizations, he will be taught the wise use of matches.

But even when he is too young to be a Cub Scout, be sure you drill him on the dangers of fires, plus how to safeguard himself and the community by making sure campfires are all extinguished before the picnic party leaves the scene.

If you let a child start fires in the legitimate course of events, as at picnics or when you want a fire in your home fireplace, he will get this craving out of his system.

Many adults forget to let the child actually ignite the match, so the youngster often builds up an abnormal craving to strike matches.

It thus becomes a "status symbol" much like the similar craving to smoke cigarettes, just because he thinks such an act will signify he is BIG or adultish.

But many firebugs or arsonists set fires for another reason.

And that reason is rooted in sexual motives.

For sexual excitement is somewhat similar to the thrilling danger associated with raging fires.

Fire-setting thus is often an indirect outlet for repressed sexual urges.

And that was true of Tommy, for he had been sexually interested in this neighbor girl. She excited him.

In the resulting mood of exhilaration and tingling physical energy, he felt an overpowering urge to do something dangerous.

So he built a fire next to the porch, which soon ignited.

In our prudish past generations, we have refused to analyze these simple sexual reactions of children, feeling that they never have any sexual thoughts in their heads till the late teens.

But psychiatry knows better. And it was partly an indictment of the adult older generation when youngsters went wrong.

So send for my booklet "Sex Education from 2 to 20 Years," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Use it to safeguard your child from abnormal sexual outlets.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21 year-old boy who is about to be drafted. I am not a coward, but I would just rather not go for two reasons. One is that I am used to my privacy and don't like to have a lot of people around me. The other is I know that I won't be able to adjust to Army life. The only way out, as I see it, is to get married, but I can't seem to find a girl. Can you help me?

Christmas cards were addressed "Miss", or worse yet, no title whatsoever. This makes a husbandless woman feel like "nothing." "A MRS." DEAR MRS.: I have written this many times in my column, and I will write it again. Once a woman has been married, unless she arranges to resume her maiden name she is never again a "Miss." P.S. Many women choose to omit either the Miss or Mrs. from THEIR correspondence—thus adding to the general confusion.

cause it won't bother him one bit if folks dropped by our house when the place was a mess and I had nothing to serve. But it would bother me plenty. I can't drive this point home to him. Can you? UNNERVED DEAR UNNERVED: A come and see us sometime! type of invitation should not be taken seriously. When folks really want your company, they call and invite you for a specific time.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

"My husband doesn't seem to realize what a taxing job I have," writes a business wife with an important job. "I just can't become the worried little housewife after a day's work. I want to relax, too." There's no question that Mary Jones is a successful woman. She has made a name for herself in her profession.

She earns a good salary which, added to her husband's has helped to give the family many luxuries and a certain amount of financial security. She's intelligent, interesting, and well satisfied with her lot in life. But what about her husband? Well, Mary hasn't done many of the things she might have done to help him in his career, for she has been too busy concentrating on her own.

is particularly important Mary is so absorbed in her own career, she tends to talk about it instead of giving Jim a chance to shine. Mary has little in common with the wives of Jim's friends and business associates. They are too domestic-minded to interest her. And that's another handicap to Jim.

Lawton Memorial Scholarship Fund Explained At Oviedo PTO Meeting

By Evelyn Lundy
The Lawton Memorial Scholarship Fund was explained in detail by Harden Webb for those attending the final meeting of the Oviedo PTO for the current term. This scholarship is being established by friends to honor the late Dr. T. W. Lawton, noted educator of Seminole County. The loan will be available for worthy students who desire to further their education but are unable to do so due to financial difficulties. Interest rates on repayment will fluctuate according to the student's position. Contributions, for the present time, can be made through W. H. Martin of the First Baptist Church of Oviedo. Later, when the fund has been well established, contributions will be made directly to the Citizens Bank of Oviedo.

Serving on the board of directors for the scholarship fund are Webb, C. R. Clonts Sr., Clyde Holder, Ralph Neeley and Martin. New PTO officers for the coming school year were installed by Merritt Staley. They are Jack Bymes, president; Mrs. Clyde Holder, first vice president; Mrs. A. W. Christlieb, second vice president; Mrs. Milton Gore, third vice president; Mrs. John Evans, secretary and Ralph Neeley, treasurer. Following the business meeting and program, which featured a haton twirling number by Barbara Diggs, Lyman

High head majorette, a reception was held in the cafeteria honoring teachers and staff members of the school who each were presented with a gift plant in appreciation of their work during the past year. The serving table was beautifully decorated with a cut-work cloth and arrangements of roses. Punch was served from a large silver bowl. Victoria is the official name of the city commonly known as Hong Kong. By Sanford Herald Page 6-A—April 16, 1964

Prepare For Population Explosion, Seminole Warned

While Seminole County has developed within the last 10-15 years into a "bedroom county," in the opinion of Robert H. Doyle, Titusville, Sanford and Seminole County officials were advised Thursday noon to employ now a professional planner to prepare for a population explosion during the next 11 years.

Doyle, executive director of the seven-county East Central Florida Regional Planning Council, told a joint meeting of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and the Sanford-Seminole Junior Chamber of Commerce that the present three-quarter million population in the seven counties will double by 1975. Significant in the overall planning of new roads, schools, utilities and other necessities to meet the needs of expanding Cape Kennedy, Doyle reported that federal and state agencies are receptive to his group's suggestion to preserve a "greenway" for agriculture, water conservation and control, and for recreation.

This "greenway" also approved by the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District, would follow the St. Johns River valley through Lake Harney and extend through Samaula to the Atlantic Ocean at a point be-hine but work and buy elsewhere.

He said the county's "problem is critical. Need for schools, water, sewerage, streets, etc., is growing. The county must seek a better balance—seek new industry and take on a commercial look."

He predicted a "colossal traffic jam on 17-92 between Sanford and Orlando when the two new shopping centers open at Winter Park."

Doyle said that while 20 years ago Seminole was agricultural, it is "now suburban and in another 20 years may well be urban."

He added that to obtain federal road fund aid, Orange and Seminole Counties have been obliged to join in a metropolitan area, with his council presently representing both counties in the planning stage.

However, he advocated that Seminole County and Sanford officials employ a professional planner.

The speaker said there is discussion of a "circumferential road" encircling Orlando south of Sanford. He also said a new route is proposed from DeLand to parallel the St. Johns-Indian River Canal to the East Coast.

It also has been suggested, Doyle stated, that Highway

16 be re-routed around the downtown section of Sanford. Also, it has been discussed extending Highway 46 with a new crossing at Mims, giving direct access to Cape Kennedy.

Highlighting his talk, Doyle said the planning council is advocating a parkway to extend from the Port Orange area southerly and to the west of Lake Harney, along the Econlockhatchee River, proceeding in the vicinity of the new state university at Oviedo, thence east of Orlando and connect with Sunshine Parkway in the proximity of the Chain of Lakes.

"This scenic drive," he advocated, "would take care of the Sunday drivers."

He also predicted that with new construction at the space center on Cape Kennedy and opening it for visitors "it will attract 2.5 million tourists a year."

Doyle was introduced by Judge Vernon Mize, co-chairman of the steering sub-committee of the long range planning committee, Seminole Chamber of Commerce.

Georgia Port Points The Way To Development Of Sanford

A delegation of Seminole County officials visited this city's barge port facility Thursday and left firmly convinced a similar operation would be beneficial to Sanford and Central Florida.

The three officials, plus a representative of the Sanford Herald, were guests of the Brunswick Port Authority and the Georgia State Port Authority.

They flew here in a Florida Power & Light Company plane. Making the daylong inspection tour were Sanford Mayor A. L. Wilson, Francis Roumillat, chairman of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce's Port Authority Committee, and County Commissioner John R. Alexander, and Harry Johnson, city editor of The Sanford Herald. Ken Stowell was the pilot.

Among things they learned in conversations with Cecil E. Gann, manager of Brunswick state docks and warehouses, and John Rawlerson, director of the Brunswick Port Authority, were:

Brunswick now realizes a $1,600,000 increase in its economy each year and the economic impact is increasing by almost 100 per cent, and has been since the authority was formed in 1957.

Returned barges NEVER return empty. A barge brings consumer goods into the South, returns to northern points loaded "at all times" with raw materials and other products of southern origin.

So-called "competition" with railroads disappears as the barge terminal brings business to railroads, rather than taking it away from them.

Employment is up with stevedores netting about $3.50 an hour while working the docks. This money is dumped into businesses of this city.

Industry follows, without fail, when the port facilities are announced and even before actual work begins on

Times Endorses Odham; Herald Backs Holland

By United Press International

Orlando businessman Brailley Odham won the endorsement of the St. Petersburg Times today in his race against incumbent U. S. Sen. Spessard L. Holland, but the Miami Herald threw its backing to Holland.

The Herald did not mention Odham and had no criticism of Holland, but the Times took Holland to task strongly for his racial stand and his refusal to make public his financial affairs.

The Times said Odham's voice would be "a new and refreshing one from the South."

The Herald called Holland, who is seeking a fourth term, an "unassuming statesman, whose brand of conservatism is positive and purposeful."

The Herald, in an editorial today, said the senior Florida senator is "most of all a knowledgeable legislator who does his homework."

The paper mentioned the committee positions and the rank of 12th in seniority which Holland holds.

The Times endorsed Odham's stand for a strong two-party system, a system of choosing a new vice president in mid-term in the event of the President's death, and majority passage of Senate bills.

The paper called Odham "a young Southerner who upholds a President Johnson's stand that 100 years has been long enough to debate the question of whether all citizens should have equal opportunities."

Last Polio Doses

Last chance for make-up on the first dose of the Sabin oral vaccine against polio will be Sunday from noon to 5 p.m. This is for those persons who were unable to obtain the dose last Sunday.

Feeding stations will be set up this Sunday at Florida State Bank, A & P store at Pinecrest shopping center, Jal Alai Fronton and Oviedo City Hall.

Jaycees, sponsoring the Sabin polio immunization, taken orally with a lump of sugar, state the second dose will be given on June 7.

the union scale for them is about $3.50 an hour. "This money," Rawlerson says, "stays in the community. These men live here, have their families here and are an important part of the community."

A Gypsum Company plant has been built by the authority on the authority's property and is leased to the firm. Other plants and industries of many types have sprung up in the immediate vicinity.

The Seminole County delegation was taken on a tour of the city and its "business" is apparent at once. Among other projects now in the works are a major expansion for the hospital, the second phase of an urban renewal program for a low income area, a multi-million dollar paper mill has been built, a new federal building has been constructed.

Raw materials are needed in the North and are available in Southern cities. And southern communities need and get northern consumer goods. Barge transportation is the cheapest form for virtually all goods.

The "competition" fears expressed yesterday, dissipated with Rawlerson telling of what the railroad did for Brunswick.

When the authority was forming, the railroad GAVE it its railroad station and staging area so that the authority could get in business. The railroad relocated to the north of the city, anticipating the additional business and the need for more space.

Now, Rawlerson says, one railroad train of freight cars is made up virtually every night at the port terminal.

Stevedores are subject to call when a ship or barge pulls up to the facility and

Dickinson Asks Crash Program For Cape Area

By United Press International

Fred O. Dickinson of West Palm Beach took his campaign for governor to the nation's space capital today and proposed an immediate crash program to provide roads and bridges to handle bulging population and critical military needs in the Cape Kennedy area.

Dickinson told campaign supporters in Eau Gallie that a severe situation exists in Brevard "but as governor I will go all the way to the president of the United States to seek help in solving the problem."

Dickinson, termed the crown prince of the present Bryant administration by Sen. John Mathews of Jacksonville and other fellow candidates; stressed that he is not being "critical of those in state office now."

But he found fault with the development commission for not promoting the cape missile area which he called the Eiffel Towers of America.

"Florida needs a governor who sees the big picture."

He also talked about salt water intrusion and the water problem and said he'd support the upper St. Johns flood control project.

In Daytona Beach, his home town, Rep. Fred Karl told a breakfast meeting he was calling on his fellow candidates to stop giving lip service to reappointment and present a specific plan for the people to see.

"The record shows the attitude of some of the candidates," Karl said. "And unless their thinking has changed, they offer outmoded, unfair plans that are no better now than before."

He said Dickinson once supported the small-county 45-senator plan, while Senator Mathews last pushed a 46-senator plan "backed by the small county pork chop bloc and soundly defeated at the polls."

Sen. Scott Kelly talked to supporters in Pulk, Pasco, Marion and Pinellas counties today, saying he is the symbol of opposition to the Civil Rights Bill and a "vote for me is a vote against the Civil Rights Bill."

300 Hear Talks By Candidates

An estimated 300 persons turned out Thursday evening to hear three-minute talks by nearly 50 Democratic candidates for party nomination in the May 5 primary.

The session, at the Jal Alai Fronton, was the first of a series of county-wide rallies sponsored by the Seminole County Democratic Executive Committee.

Each candidate for county office was allowed three minutes to expound his or her qualifications.

Sen. Scott Kelly, one of six candidates for governor, arrived late in the meeting and talked briefly. A spokesman also talked briefly for Fred Karl, another gubernatorial candidate.

Next county rally will be April 23 at Oviedo High School gym and the last on April 30 at Sanford Civic Center.

Operation For De Gaulle Reported

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle was reported to have undergone a prostate gland operation today.

The report was carried by the French news agency and the government-owned radio and television networks, although there was no official confirmation from De Gaulle's office.

De Gaulle was reported to have entered the Cochin Hospital in Paris Thursday night, only an hour after the broadcast of his pre-recorded radio and television speech to the nation.
