Further proving, according to certain labor leaders, that an increase in wages does not necessitate an increase in price, the OPA announces that a 10-cent
a ton increase in the price of coal is now being considered.

Future speeds of the Army's new jet-propelled plane will reach 1,000 miles an hour. We are afraid such planes won't be much good in case time. The pilot is apt to return to the landing field before he has time
to release his bomb.

The effectiveness of organization
in getting results is illustrated
by the decision of the County Commissioner to allot
enough of the school funds
to give every teacher in Seminole County $2,000 a year raise. That was money needed for roads. And a week ago there wasn't a "chump" about it anything you could do would get
it. Then the PTA got busy and convinced the Commissioners that the schools are more important than roads, and, as a matter of fact, they are. So the school got the money and the teachers got a raise. Congratulations to them and to the PTA.

Freedom of the press which was again upheld by the Supreme Court of the United States
this week is something more than merely the right to publish a newspaper. It is the right to argue and analyze. It is the right to criticize and comment.
It is the right to attack, to defend, to stand on the side of right. It is the right to stand up for righteousness, freedom and justice.
In the words of the Court:
"That freedom connotes something more than the right to approve and condone; insofar as the judicial and judicial process are concerned, it also includes the right to criticize and discourage, even though the terms be vitriolic,
scurrilous or caustic."

Ernest Bevin, foreign minister of Britain's socialist government, says Russia is to blame for the present "impasse" in effecting peace treaties and adds, "If we don't want to have total war we must have total peace." One of the chief stumbling blocks is the city of Trieste on the Adriatic which the Russians want for Yugoslavia. On this question Bevin said: "The only attempt at compromise was made by Britain and the United States. There was no move at all on the part of the Soviet to meet that compromise. I cannot bring myself to hand over Trieste to Yugoslavia." If Yugoslavia, backed by Russia, should try to take it, as Germany took Danzig, what then?

Jimmie Robison, who some day will make the editorial page if he keeps on making the headlines, returns to his native Sanford from Virginia with a more healthy respect than ever for the importance of the National Safety Council. Never a reckless driver himself, Jimmie and his wife were the victims of a 22-year-old boy just out of six years in the Army who had never learned to drive a car but was trying to without a license. Jimmie had the presence of mind after the accident to take pictures which show how easy it would have been for the ex-Army driver to have avoided running into him.

Comparing the present trend in American democracy to the rise of Hitlerism Dorothy Thompson points out, "Wages are fixed but not by collective bargaining but by government fact. Fine-line boards and management is increasingly deprived of responsibility, while neither state nor labor assumes its responsibilities and risks, and the consumer is left unprotected. The financial power of the unions is vastly increased, but not their responsibilities and agreements made with them through the intervention of government agencies have the force of legislation." Worth thinking about, isn't it? "One wonders," Miss Thompson concludes, "whether our authorities clearly see whether we are drifting. It's logical direction is not toward democratic socialism, or competitive enterprise, but toward syndicalist-Fascism."

Juvenile Delinquency

Far more distressing than the epidemic of strikes which are holding up production, the growing bitterness between various classes and factions in this country, or the increasing friction in the international field is the spread of juvenile delinquency among the nation's children. The greatest crime wave among teen age youngsters in history today presents the country's Number One problem.

Various agencies of the federal government, including the FBI and the Federal Security Administration, as well as many state and municipal department representatives will meet in Washington next September to study the question and see what can be done about it. It is expected that federal legislation will be recommended to provide proper juvenile correctional institutions.

Attorney General Clark says that "positive action now is essential. The mobilization of all public and private forces will be necessary in order to forestall the greatest juvenile crime wave in the nation's history. It is appalling that sex delinquency among 17 year old girls increased 365 percent last year and that 21 percent of all crimes are now committed by youths."

This is something to think about. More than that it is something that demands action. The fact should not be lost sight of that those youths already engaged in crime will in a few years become hardened criminals unless effective measures are employed to restore them to normal useful citizenship. The lives of those already engaged in law violations, as well as the lives of those who follow in their footsteps, will be ruined.

No doubt the domestic dislocations produced by the war are largely to blame, but there are other factors in our modern civilization which require special study if any permanent cure for juvenile delinquency is to be found. The effect of Child Labor Laws, which prohibit children from working without providing any suitable substitute for occupying their time, will have to be studied. The suggestive influences of some of our radio programs, comic magazines and moving picture shows will have to be investigated.

Most of all, better schools with better recreational facilities for all will have to be provided.

Pax Americana

The old Roman Empire, when it once got all its enemies killed or licked, settled down to a good job of development in Italy, and expansion elsewhere, that lasted for many centuries. It is natural to wonder now whether similar achievement is likely to occur in these modern times. Are we destined to master this modern world? Or is it possible? Or do we want to?

Obviously we are much further ahead in world mastery than any other nation is now, and with our atomic bomb and other military tricks and gadgets we might literally, in one of Shakespeare's notable phrases, "get the start of the majestic world, and bear the palm alone." And we might conceivably succeed for some time. But in all probability there would be limits to our sway, and eventually, it may be assumed, the world would "gang up on us" with new fighting gadgets of its own and put us in our places.

What we want, and what we should continue insisting on while we have the power, is prevention of further war, and development—not mastery—of this globe and its people along the lines of peace. It is the greatest enterprise ever undertaken in this world. May we remain true to it and have the courage and strength to carry it through, with the help of our like-minded foreign friends.

Petty Strikes

Here is what seems to be a typical example of a disturbing factor that has been holding up American business lately in many states and communities. A dozen farm and construction equipment distributors in northeastern Ohio have filed a protest with the administration at Washington, demanding an end of the many small strikes in that area which are "gradually crippling" their suppliers and bringing their businesses to a halt."

A member of one typical group has been reported as closing its offices, stores and shops from May 29 to June 3, in protest against the continuing labor unrest and the "needless and costly delay" on the part of authorities at Washington.

The complainants explain that they have no quarrel with labor unions—all their shops are unionized—but they think there ought to be a more clear-cut labor policy under which unions can bargain.

The "find" has caused a stir in the astronomical world. Experts at the Naval Observatory have confirmed the discovery. DELAND, June 6 -- The first issue of the new "Florida Sheriff," official magazine of the state association of sheriffs, was issued here today. Publication will be continued monthly, instead of annually, and circulation has been upped to 5,000 copies, according to T. A. Price, editor. Under an entirely new format and editorial policy, Price said that the magazine has been dedicated as "the first line of defense for local self-government," and that the slogan will remain a part of the new cover design.

INSIDE SPORTS REPORT

By JULIAN STENSTROM

Typewriter Ribbons vs. Kahn
Today we received a copy of Bernard Kahn's recent column in the Daytona Beach News Journal on "Goose" Kettles, Sanford's ace moundman and the man likely to hurl tonight against the Orlando Senators when they entertain the Celery Feds at Tinker Field at 8:00 o'clock.

"Here's what Benny has to say: We were preparing a June essay, for today to be called "Typewriter Ribbons I have Spoken," when we had to set the whole project aside. We learned, you see, of the first no hit, no-run game pitched in the Florida State League since the Dayton Beach News Journal on "Goose" Kettles, Sanford's ace moundman and the man likely to hurl tonight against the Orlando Senators when they entertain the Celery Feds at Tinker Field at 8:00 o'clock.

Kettles came to a boil Sunday in the University City. He painted the Gainesville G-Men with a no-hit, no-run white-wash brush. The Sanford star issued only two walks, struck out five G-Men and faced only 28 batters during the normal course of the nine inning masterpiece.

It was a whale of a game, and Kettles had difficulty winning it, despite perfect pitching. For George Fultz, the ace of the Gainesville mound, who also in fine fettle and he gave up only three skinny hits in losing a 2-1 heartbreaker.

Kettles had to pitch a legitimate hit to get credit for it because the official scorer at Gainesville is a guy with mottled himself. He's Walter McMullen, a former baseball star, and he'd rather be tattered and feathered than to shut his eyes on a close play and thereby dodge the responsibility of ruining a no-hitter.

The gent who carved out a niche for himself in baseball's Hall of Fame was none other than Mr. Charles G. Kettles, the Sanford high school football coach, who whisks away his summers by pitching for the Sanford Celeryfeds.

Kettles came to a boil Sunday in the University City. He painted the Gainesville G-Men with a no-hit, no-run game. Perhaps no one, including the pitcher himself, is more on the spot than an official scorer is during the late innings when a twirler has a no-hitter in his grasp. Too often the scorer is squeamish and lacks the courage of his convictions. I have in mind one no-hitter game that went into the Florida League records several years before the war.

In this particular prewar stiff there was a close play at first stop. In the second inning, after the scorer judged it a hit. As the game wore on into the ninth, the pitcher had not given another hit and the scorer got jittery for fear his decision would spoil a perfect game and he reversed his decision and changed the second timing play to a error. The game was stamped in the record book as a no-hitter, but in the heart of the scorer it was still a one-hitter.

However, there was no fluke about Kettles' Sunday beat. In fact, the Sanford right-hander had registered a two-hit performance in his last previous performance and when he blanked Gainesville he was surely not facing a club of cream-puffs. The G-Men and their Celeryfeds are currently the hottest teams in the league, each having won six out of nine games last week.

I don't suppose anyone will recognize the Sanford grenadier as Charles H. Kettles, because he's popularly known as "Goose." The big, tall, Sanford coach won the nickname when he was a star center for the Rollins College football eleven back in the early 30's and today at an age when most coaches are looking for a rocking chair he's still as loose as a mouse.

Industry And Labor Blamed For Inflation

Hannegan Tells Post-
masters Both Sides
Are Making Excessive Cash Demands

ST. LOUIS, June 7. (AP)—Postmaster General Robert Hannegan today blamed labor and industry alike for bringing on the threat of price inflation in the United States. He told the Missouri chapter of the National Association of Postmasters, meeting in St. Louis today, that both sides are making excessive demands for more money.

Hannegan commented indirectly on President Truman's plan to draft workers in an emergency. He said the power to make men go to work is not the answer to inflation, though it may be necessary in a time of crisis. Hannegan remarked that the government could force a group of workers to end a strike and accept a settlement, but he said, if prices continue to rise the government cannot force the working man six months later to keep his family alive and healthy on those same wages.

WASHINGTON, June 7. (AP)—Stabilization Director Charles Bowles told the Senate Small Business Committee today that he wished Congress would either vote price control up or down. He contended that proposed amendments in pending legislation would lead directly to inflation.

Bowles clashed with Republican Senator Homer Capchart of Indiana on when controls could be safely removed. The stabilization director declared that we either should have or should not have price controls. He claimed that OPA had maintained reasonable stability for four years. He admitted that there had been headaches, but added that when he wanted to get rid of a headache he did not want to take one medicine.

In speaking of the bread shortage, Bowles said that he did not think rationing would be necessary or worth the effort. He declared that people had been compelled to ration wheat and flour due to the grocery store, but to stop short of the consuming level.

Bowles' testimony followed that of UNRA Director General Florencio La Guardia who urged the lawmakers, as he put it, to stop monkeying with the OPA.

Mrs. Irene Langley Died This Morning After Long Illness

Mrs. Irene Teague Langley, widow of the late Dr. W. T. Langley, died this morning at 11:45 o'clock following an illness of several years. She had been confined to an Orlando hospital for the past six weeks where she died.

Born in Mountville, S. C., Mrs. Langley had lived here for 27 years. She was a member of the Universal Church of Camp Hill, also a past president of the Sanford Woman's Club, and also of the Sanford Garden Club. She was very active in all civic affairs until ill health forced her to retire.

Survivors include one daughter, Margaret, three nieces in Sanford, Mrs. A. W. Lee, Mrs. Edmund Meisch and Mrs. J. W. Payne, also several nieces and nephews in South Carolina and Alabama.

The remains will be sent tomorrow to Camp Hill, where funeral services and interment will take place on Sunday afternoon. The Erickson Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Awed Japs Watch Emperor Shake Hands With Yank

CHIBA, Japan, June 7. (UPI)—Emperor Hirohito shook hands today with an American Army officer in Chiba, Japan.

A few Japanese saw the unusual exchange as the Emperor arrived in Chiba on the final leg of his longest and latest meet-the-people trip.

The military governor of Chiba Prefecture — Lieut. Col. Frederick Stevenson of El Paso, Texas — was waiting at the railroad station when Hirohito's train arrived. As Hirohito stepped off a shiny maroon coach, Stevenson snapped his military police escort to attention, saluted the Emperor and then extended his hand in greeting.

The Emperor grasped Stevenson's hand.

Hirohito now has ended his trip of 200 miles around the Tokyo area on which he was seen by 200,000 to 300,000 Japanese. Hirohito's aides said there would be another such trip soon.
