

GUNLOCK by the prize-winning western novelist WAYNE D. OVERHOLSER

CHAPTER 28
ORDINARILY Delaney would have locked the store and gone home hours ago, but he was still there when I reached town, proof that he was anxious to make any kind of sale and get out of the valley. I stomped snow from my boots before I went in.

"Did he hit you with a gun barrel?" I asked her.

"Yes, I tried to kill him but I missed. Before I could shoot again, he cracked me. That's all I remember." She licked her lips and felt her head. "Get me a drink, Will. There's a bottle in the pantry if he didn't take it."

I found it, and a cup that wasn't broken, went back into the front room, and poured her a drink. She sat up long enough to get it down, then fell back, clutching the top of her head.

"What was he after, Kathy?" She opened her eyes to look at me, her right hand still holding her head. "You don't know, do you, Will? You really don't know, Will? You can't fight something that's in the open, can't you? Like Turner and his chondria. You cleaned 'em off Box P range like a whistle, but you didn't know you'd turn Dillingham into a wild man. You don't savvy anybody who waits and waits, do you? Me and Dillingham were good waiters, for a while. I wanted him to wait some more, but he wouldn't. Had to rob me, and get out, but I'll get him. I'll get him if I chase him to the end of the earth!"

"What was he after, Kathy?" I asked again.

"Money. What else would make him do a thing like this?" She swore for a full minute. "I had better'n $4,900 laid away. Didn't know then what I was saving for, but I knew after Joe cashed in. He was gonna leave me all his money, and what'd I get. A thousand dollars!"

She sat up, cursing again as pain racked her. Even after what had happened tonight, she seemed to hate Sarah far more than she hated Gene Dillingham. She jabbed a forefinger at me.

"You can buy respectability. That's what I was saving for. Had the money right here in the house, and Gene knew it. After you killed Turner, he was bound to put out of the valley. Wanted me to go with him, but I wouldn't. I was going to stay here and bust your widow friend. I'd have hired some gunslingers to do the job—not plow pushers like Score and Troy and Runyan. We aimed to get you, Will, you and Thurston and the King kid. Run off her cattle. Whistle her down till she'd be glad to sell. I was going to buy the Box P, and then I'd live up there in the house where Joe lived and I'd lord it over the valley just like they used to when Joe was alive."

She shut her eyes again. I sat there staring at her, thinking that the last time I had seen her I had sensed she was evil; but I hadn't realized how virulent her hatred for Sarah was, how much she had changed in the year since Joe was killed.

I rose. Whatever sympathy I'd had for her in the past was gone. She'd leave the valley, I'd see to it that she did.

"Gene hunted till he found the money. That's when I tried to kill him. We figured it out a long time ago. I was gonna buy the Box P and he was gonna run it for me, and people'd look up to us just like they used to look up to Joe and that thing he married. But Gene wouldn't wait. Now he'll kill her and he'll go 'way with my money . . ."

I grabbed Kathy by both shoulders and shook her until she cursed me and put her hand to her head again. I yelled: "Where's Dillingham? Did he go to the Box P?"

"Sure he went to the Box P. 'n' you're too late to stop him. He'll kill her 'n' then he'll kill you. Think he'll forget she made his foreman 'stead of him? Not Gene. No, sir . . ."

I didn't wait to hear any more. I ran across the snow-covered yard and swung into the saddle once more, the wind still blasting across the valley, fat snowflakes pelting me as I put my tired horse up the road to the Box P. Kathy Morgan's words were going through my mind in an endless burning refrain: "Sure he went to the Box P, and you're too late to stop him." She could have told me that at first, but instead she'd talked, holding me there so that Dillingham would have more time.

Something inside kept telling me to ride, ride . . . All I knew was that it was cold and that it was an effort to stay in the saddle.

My horse stopped. Instinct made me dismount. I knew I could not stand there motionless, so I began stirring around and waving my arms, and a moment later I stumbled into the corral gate.

The bunkhouse windows were dark, and when I opened the door the room seemed as cold as the driving snow outside.

I went on toward the house, guided by a faint show of light that was hardly anything at all when I first saw it, so hard was it snowing. But it was enough, and I was fully aware of what lay ahead. I must kill Gene Dillingham or he would kill me. The waiting was over, and yet, knowing that I made a stupid mistake for which there was no excuse . . .

"Dillingham stood as motionless as if he and the gun were carved out of granite. I did the only thing I could—" Continue VIII Beeson's story tomorrow.

Toll TV Is Box Office In Home

BY WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) — Toll TV is not just a new twist in mass entertainment, it is a revolution. It means that for the first time in history, you don't have to put your shoes on to become a paying customer of movies, sports or stage shows.

The previous concept of box office entertainment boiled down to this: The paying audience had to be moved to a theater or arena. That audience receptive had to be centrally located, an expensive proposition. That receptive could be used only periodically or even seasonally, also an expensive proposition.

Toll TV moves the entertainment to the paying audience. It puts a box office in the home. It is an electronic delivery service. Right now, you see entertainment on TV free. Sponsors pay the bills. According to Harris, Upham and Co., a New York financial house, those sponsors spent about one billion dollars in 1956 on TV. However, not much of that sum went toward the creation of actual program content. Almost 900 million dollars, says Harris, Upham, went toward the purchase of program time, commercials and spot time.

Largest Audience Needed
Toll TV's says despite a sprinkling of quality shows on TV, the bread and butter of commercial TV must be paid the sponsor must reach the largest possible audience for the smallest cost.

Furthermore, say toll TV's, TV costs are rocketing. The average half-hour situation comedy costs $35,000 to $40,000. Last season, the production budget for the Perry Como hour was $108,000, for Jackie Gleason about $102,000, for Sid Caesar about $113,000. Now many sponsors can afford to carry this kind of a load?

Not many, say toll TV's. In 1954, for example, 25 per cent of TV's bill was paid for by 10 top firms.

What's more, say toll TV advocates, commercial TV has affected other entertainment industries—minor league baseball, fight clubs, the movies. Back in 1947, for example, movie theaters grossed more than $1,500,000,000; last year, the gross was $1,200,000,000.

Among the eight major movie studios, RKO is closed, Republic operates for the most part as a rental depot for TV films, and the six other companies all have been forced to swing heavily to TV film production.

Is This The Answer
Toll TV's says they have the answer. A picture like "Giant" which needs about 10 million dollars to break even; could make back its investment in a single night if only half the TV homes 20,000,000 were willing to pay 50 cents a head. It could still be shown in theaters here and abroad and on TV again.

Would people be willing to pay? Well, the Alfred Politz research firm reports that 16 million people over 15 years of age would be willing to pay 50 cents for a first run feature on a Broadway play on TV.

Politz says six million people would pay $1 to see an opera; almost 20 million fans would pay $1 for a World Series game; 16 million buffs would pay $1 to watch a championship fight via toll TV.

If all this is so, it would mean an upheaval in the entertainment field. The Hollywood dream factories would have to labor over-

Don't bother calling Dot or Bill Cotter for anything for the next few weeks, at the very least! Dot and Bill, who have no children of their own, have been patiently awaiting one they could adopt. And Wednesday morning was the culmination of all that waiting. They now have a bouncing five and a half months old baby boy, and couldn't be any happier without danger of "bursting at the seams"! When you hear of cases such as this, doesn't it give you a warm glow inside? It does here.

Pat and Bob Hoppe are "waiting on clouds" too! Only for a different reason. Bob, who is in VAH-3, has received orders to the Naval Air Station at Annapolis, Maryland. This will bring them within a few hundred miles of their home (which is Buffalo, New York), and that is where they want to be! Pat has been turning cartwheels since they got the news. Joann and Don Fleishman are planning to buy the Hoppe's house, so I guess they'll be my new next door neighbors.

Also heard that John Holmes, Bob Lanier, and W. C. Rife, all in VAH-3, have received orders to Washington, D. C. (Nothing like keeping a bunch of "shipmates" together.) The Holmes will be selling their home in South Pinecrest, and I know Marion will hate to leave here.

While Chief Fraitas is operating out of Mayport with VAH-3, Laura took advantage of the situation to take off for a visit with old friends in Norfolk, Virginia. The "old friends" I'm speaking of are Kathy and Bob Herdman, formerly with VAH-3. Chief Herdman is now attached to the U.S.S. Ranger, and one of the things Laura and the girls did while there was to attend the commissioning of that ship. She took the three girls with her—Debby, Susan, and Nancy.

Marge Leming and her neighbor, Annis Donahy, and SEVEN children, spent Wednesday at the beach. "God," what courage!!! Annis has a niece visiting from Atlanta, (she's thirteen years old,) plus the niece's friend, plus her children, plus Marge's children, ROGER M. BLOUGH, chairman of United States Steel Corporation, appears before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee to testify on recent steel price increases of 84 a ton. Blough said that "rising prices are not the cause of inflation; they are the result of it." He expressed doubt that the price increase would cause a new inflationary round.

CHAPTER 22
AS I WALKED to the rear of the store, Art Delaney looked at me speculatively.

"Name a price," I said, "on everything you own: store building, stock, and house."

"I could almost smell the greed that was working in him. Finally he said, 'Ten thousand.'"

"I started toward the front door. I had almost reached it when I heard him pattering after me. 'Hold on, Will.' As I turned, he said, 'Before I talk turkey I've got a right to know whether you're serious or just kidding me.' 'I'm serious,' I said, 'and there's cash money to saving the deal, but when you talk about $10,000 you're ten times high.' 'Again I would have walked out if he hadn't hung on to my arm, bracing himself with both legs. 'Five thousand.' 'I snook him off, irritated, and snuffed back my hat. 'No good, Art. It boils down to a question of whether you want to get out with a little bit, or walk out with nothing.' 'He stared at the floor without saying anything. I said: 'Art, I've got $3,000. That's what I'll give you.' 'He got red in the face, and then white, and I thought he'd faint. 'This be howled: 'You're a robber, Will! You're a robber! You're on my shavers...' I was through the door and on the porch when his voice came to me, high and shrill. 'I'll take it.' 'Make out the papers,' I said. 'I've got some riding to do. I'll stop back tonight.' 'I left town, riding against the wind, the desire to see Nela an overriding urge in me. The air was cold now. Within an hour or two the wheels would turn to snow.

My original idea was to put John Mathers in the store. Now that I had decided to buy it, I was tormented by a plague of doubts. I had never been able to find any common ground with Mathers. He probably hated me for marrying his daughter. After I had come to work, I decided I didn't want to have anything more to do with him than I was forced to by family obligations.

Nela recognized me, even in the rapidly changing dusk, and came flying out of the cabin, disregarding the rain and the mud. 'Will, where have you been?' she cried. 'I expected you yesterday.' 'All the bitterness was flushed out of me then. I felt as if I had been purged of something that was evil and unclean. She was my wife and I loved her, and John Mathers was her father—a fierce man, a broad man, a father, but still her father.

We went inside and the warmth from the big range rushed at me. A lighted lamp was on the table. Next to the wall was a small cottage for each family. Finally they forced a meeting and voted to dissolve the society and divide the treasury, which amounted to nothing; a share of zero is zero.

"John and me knew it would be close. There were twenty-three families, counting me and John. The vote was twelve to eleven, which means nine families were willing to stay right where they were on the West Fork. Well, John lost his head when he saw he was outvoted. He got in the doorway and said he wasn't letting any of them out until they came to their senses. They just ran over him. He tried to fight, but there were too many of them."

"How bad is he hurt?"

"His left arm's broken. Besides the cuts on his face, he's got a couple of broken ribs and a lot of bruises."

Nela motioned me to the table and said in a low tone: "He just lies there almost as if he were in a coma. He says he's ruined everything for me because he couldn't keep his word to you."

"Don't let him think that," I said. "We'll make out."

"Of course, Will." She put a hand over mine. "That's the last thing I ever worry about."

I hadn't eaten all day, and by the time I was full some of the tiredness had left me. I told them what had happened, and Scott nodded. He said, "The ones who are left will make a living, if Costello and Brainerd let them stay."

"They'll let them," I said, and rose. "I've got to get back to the Box P. I'll settle it with Sarah one way or the other, and I'll see you tomorrow. Don't let your dad worry, Nela. We're going to figure things out."

"I'm glad you talked to him," she said.

"Nela," I said, "he's a brave man. Tell him that. Tell him he belongs in this country. He's just got to find his place in it. That's all."

I put on my hat and coat, and kissed her, and it seemed only a moment I had been with her. "Don't stay up all night," I said. "You're tired."

She nodded at Scott. "Lan spells me off, and his wife comes in part of the time."

She stood in the doorway until I was in the middle and starting back down the road. I had that picture to carry in my mind, of her standing motionless with the light behind her. She closed the door, and the night blackness was all around me, and the rain that had turned to snow was whipped past me by the wind.

"If the sound of a shot I alerted. For a moment I wasn't sure where it came from, but Delaney seemed to know."

"Will, what's under fire in 'Gunlock' tomorrow."

August Is Month Of Doldrums Past-Present History Says No!

August is the time when the year's doldrums are supposed to prevail. But history shows that men of achievement have not allowed progress to halt during the waning weeks of summer. Numerous striking advances were made during the month of August.

Here, for example, are three major contributions to the advancement that occurred in the month when many are in a do-nothing mood:

On August 17, 1807, the country's first steamboat trip took place when Robert Fulton proudly cruised his Clermont up the Hudson River.

The date of the first railway train operation in the United States was August 9, 1831. The train ran between Albany and Schenectady, N. Y., on the Mohawk and Hudson line, chartered in 1826.

On August 15, 1914, commercial shipping service was inaugurated on the Panama Canal. The first vessel making the trip was the government steamship Ancon. A large number of commercial craft followed the next day.

However, the biggest day in the history of Seminole County was August 18, 1957. It was on that date when positive action was taken to create a Seminole County "Citizens Tax Committee" to look into the structure of the county tax system.

It is believed that this move means to Sanford and Seminole County the answer to their progressive, aggressive, forward look toward modern communities, a modern tax system and an equalized tax burden.

There is no doubt that the step taken recently to create the Citizens Tax Committee group will eventually mean greater and more modern county-wide services which are demanded daily by an informed citizenry.

The answers to Seminole County's tax burdens and problems are yet to be given. August isn't such a month of doldrums, after all.

With the forming and organizing of a "Citizens Tax Committee" action has been provided that will stimulate answers to numerous questions, most of which are still unanswered.

August is the wrong time to ask "Anyone care for a game of checkers?"

Retail Store More Than Goods!

To the uninitiated, running a successful retail store may seem a comparatively simple and routine matter. All you have to do is get a good location, put in an attractive stock of goods, and wait for the customers to flock in.

But in this competitive, ever-changing age, it's much more complex than that. Editor Godfrey M. Lebar of Chain Store Age tells what is going on today in the chain store industry. Meeting present needs and consumer requirements is no longer just a matter of opening so many more new stores for so many more new families. As he puts it, "That may have been sufficient 15 or 20 years ago but it isn't good enough today. Not only must more stores be provided, but they must be just the right kind of stores if they are to succeed. They must be big enough, attractive enough, convenient enough and new enough in every other particular to meet the expectations of a public which notes the difference between new-model stores and old ones as readily as it spots the latest models in cars.

This is a highly expensive proposition—whether the new stores in question are part of a chain or are independent enterprises. New concepts influence every phase of retailing, all the way from store design to items on the shelves and in the showcases. The public is both fickle and demanding, and it knows what it wants. It takes an imaginative, vital and on-the-toes retail industry to meet those wants. That's the kind of retail industry this country enjoys at a minimum profit per dollar of sales.

High Wages Up Steel Price

Roger M. Blough, chairman of the United Steel Corporation, seemed a little hurt and somewhat indignant when he testified before the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee. The senators are investigating administered prices—that is, prices fixed by the seller and not determined solely by the pressure of supply and demand. Steel prices, which have been increased more than twenty times since World War II, came under this heading.

Blough declared that rising prices are the result of inflation, not its cause. The real trouble, he said, is "inflationary wage demands" and "inadequate depreciation allowances." Steel prices were increased again last July, he told the subcommittee, only to cover "in part" the cost of a wage boost. Besides, he said, the high price of steel is "Myth, pure and simple."

Some economists hold a strikingly different view of the matter. They say the high price of steel is no myth at all. They also deny that it springs largely from increasing wage demands. They note that during the past decade steel prices have gone up more than twice as fast as labor costs. These economists put the finger on widening profit margins as the real villain in one piece.

The average citizen has a hard time determining the rights and wrongs of these two contrasting viewpoints. Blough and his colleagues in Big Steel management would prefer not to have Congress poking into their business affairs. He suggested that the senators "have troubles enough of your own as it is, without taking on all of ours." In a literal sense, that is true. But the public interest is served by inquiries into prices, administered and otherwise.

Jagan Center Of Political Fire

By HAROLD GUARD

United Press Staff Correspondent LONDON — Doctor Cheddi Jagan, a former chief minister deposed because of his Redding politics, returns to the fray when British Guiana goes to the polls to choose 14 members for the colony's Legislative Council.

Jagan came to power when he led the Peoples Progressive Party to victory in the last election. In April, 1953. After that his political career became chequered. A few months later Britain sent a cruiser, H.M.S. Superb, steaming to Georgetown, the capital. Jagan was quickly relieved of office and the colony's constitution was suspended.

In London at that time officials showed concern for the colony's welfare, that it had endangered the economic life of the country and set it on the road to collapse.

Denies Red Influence

There were allegations of Communist influence and of disaffection, all of which were denied by Jagan and his American-born wife, Janet.

They charged they had been treated unfairly, harshly and unconstitutionally.

Less than two years later Jagan's Peoples Progressive Party split wide open into two sections which will be two of the four groups fighting for power on Aug. 12.

These four are a section of the Peoples Progressive Party led by Jagan with 13 candidates, another led by Burnham, a former colleague of Jagan, also with 13 candidates; a United Democratic Party with 8 candidates and a National Labor Front with 16.

In addition there are 4 independent and one Guiana National

The Issue Is Free TV Vs Fee TV

Editor's Note: The first of a series of dispatches on the issue of free TV versus fee TV. Today—what is the controversy all about?

BY WILLIAM EWALD
 United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK — Your TV set is the booty at stake in the fiercest struggle in the history of the electronic mousetrap.

The issue: Fee TV versus free TV.

The questions: Are you satisfied with the shows you see now on TV? If not, would you be willing to pay to see programs without commercials? How much would you be willing to pay—as much as 50 cents or a dollar for a good movie or Broadway play?

The battle is getting hotter. The networks are very much against free TV. The backers of pay TV, a highly vocal group, are pressing hard for it. In fact, everyone is getting into the act. Soundoffs have been heard from parties as diverse as Jackie Gleason, Sen. Strom Thurmond so, the Manhattan Opera Assn. yes, craft unions yes and no, the Brooklyn Dodgers yes, movie theatre owners no and the General Federation of Women's Clubs lukewarm No.

How Sides Stack Up
 In time you may be forced to pick and choose sides. This is how the sides stack up:

The advocates of free TV say pay TV is a betrayal of the 40 million set owners who bought their machines believing that free television would be provided and advertisers would carry the pay load.

They say commercial TV stuffs you now with such goodies as Perry Como, movies, Garry Moore, athletic events, Lawrence Welk, opera, educational programs and

You get all these free. Why pay? The advocates of pay TV also called toll TV, subscription TV, jukebox TV, lost-down the chute TV, slot machine TV or turnstile TV, depending upon what you say they mean. They say there is nothing free about free TV—that you help pay for shows every time you shell out for a pack of cigarettes or a bottle of first blood elixir.

Fee Advertiser Costs
 What's more, toll TV's, you would like to see good first run movies and rock stage shows like "South Pacific," but that advertisers can't afford them. They say some of you would like a fatter diet of opera, ballet, choral drama and educational programs, but the economics of broadcasting rule this out.

Toll TV's say they can furnish you with this kind of fare right on your own TV set if you're willing to dip into your pocketbook. They say they can do it without commercials. They say you won't lose your regular shows on free TV—that pay TV will supplement them.

Toll TV's can bring their product into your home in two ways—by air or by wire. The airwaves are the cheapest way, but the Federal Communications Commission must grant permission to toll TV firms to use the air. The FCC has been dragging its heels on the matter, but there is hope that a decision may be forthcoming on Sept. 17.

Where the thousands of sugar workers are concerned some defections from Jagan's ranks are expected because of Richard Lohmeier, powerful East Indian leader of the sugar workers union has pledged support to Burnham, Negro leader of the predominantly African section of the P.P.P.

Lohmeier is a university man and a striking leader. A few months ago he obtained a million-dollar wage increase for the sugar workers, but how far they will follow him remains to be seen.

Georgetown reports say Jagan has found it necessary because of Lohmeier's influence to go after some of the African votes.

Wiring City Expensive

Wiring a city for telephone service is expensive, but no FCC action is needed—just permission from the city itself. One spokesman has estimated it would cost $12 million to wire the city of Los Angeles, a heady investment.

One city in this nation—Bartlesville, Okla.—already is being wired for pay TV. Interestingly enough, a chain of movie theatres is backing the venture. One official connected with the enterprise estimates that some Bartlesville homes will be ready for pay-in-the-parlor TV by early fall.

By Sept. 30, citizens will get a chance to see 30 uninterrupted movies a month.

Highway Patrolman Garcia examines some of the 77 automatic rifles and submachine guns that he found in a house in Miami, Fla. The arms are believed to have been earmarked for Cuban rebels. One of the men arrested was Alfredo Gonzalez, 47, one-time secretary of the Cuban House of Representatives under former President Prius.

You Need Not Suffer From Motion Sickness

By NERMAN N. BUNDSIM, M.D.

YOU don't have to travel by sea or air to fall victim to the misery of motion sickness.

Motion of Auto
 Although we are famed as a nation on wheels, thousands of American motorists each year find they are sensitive to the motion of an auto.

Motion sickness doesn't have any respect for physical fitness, mental stability, or even age. Even the most experienced traveler, under specific conditions, can become the victim of this universal malady.

Motion sickness doesn't necessarily mean nausea and vomiting, although in many instances it is just that.

Some of the other symptoms include: a sudden feeling of dizziness and lightheadedness; the passenger or driver wants to be left alone; he becomes detached.

Act Promptly
 Unless something is done promptly to relieve the situation, the victim is apt to become pale, yawn frequently and have an uneasy gait. His hands and feet will be cold and he will experience hot flashes. He will have a craving for fresh air.

Next comes mental depression. He won't be able to stand bright lights and loud noises. Distasteful attempts to eat or drink will be unproductive. He has no interest in food of any kind. In fact, he isn't interested in anything.

eated in much of anything. He'll have a headache and a dry, furry tongue.

Then he experiences gastric distress, dizziness and drowsiness. He loses stability. Finally, nausea and vomiting may bring some relief.

All this, I think you will agree, can spoil any vacation or holiday trip. But with most of our new motion sickness remedies, you don't have to suffer any such torments.

An Army, Navy and Air Force Motion Sickness Team made a study of the entire situation. They reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association that medicine (Bonamine) has a longer-lasting preventive action than most other anti-motion sickness remedies.

A single dose often prevents motion sickness for as long as 24 hours.

So if you are planning a long drive, ask your doctor's advice about arming yourself with an anti-motion sickness preparation as a precaution.

Q: What causes fever blisters to appear?
 Answer: Fever blisters are caused by a germ too small to be seen with the ordinary microscope. Often fever blisters occur following infection or injury.

Cdr. and Mrs. Fernandez and their four children admire the Conover trophy won by VAH-11, just after Cdr. Fernandez took command Thursday. Left to right: Mrs. Fernandez, John S. holding trophy, Barbara 11½, Leslie 11, Cdr. Ray Fernandez, Tony 5.

Cdr., Mrs. Fernandez Enjoy Outdoor Sports and Navy Life

When Cdr. Ray Fernandez reported to VAH-11 as the new skipper, he did not realize that his new outfit would receive the coveted Conover Trophy immediately after he had read his orders. The trophy was won by the squadron during the recent bombing derby and should show the new skipper what a good squadron he will have.

Ray and his lovely blonde wife Barbara have four children, Barbara 11, John 8, Tony 5, and Leslie 3. Barbara is from Boston, although her father and stepmother have recently retired in Orlando. Her father is Mr. William J. Mattson, and it is a great treat to have them so close.

Ray was born in New York City, and attended M. I. T. in Boston. The Fernandezs have moved as much as other navy families. They were married in Miami, Fla., and from there started a trek that covered Coronado, Calif., Quonset, R. I., Jacksonville, Fla., Annapolis, Md., California again where Ray went to Cal. Tech., Los Altos and Moffitt Field, and their last station Edwards Air Force Base in the desert. Ray and Barbara are fortunate in having good friends here. Polly and Don Brubaker are old acquaintances, and the Fernandezs stopped to see them in Wyoming one year on their way west.

The whole family is enthused about outdoor sports. While they were stationed at Edwards, they explored all the passes and as their farewells to the west, eleven year old Bobbie and her father climbed Mt. Whitney, which is 14,095 feet high. Bobbie was fresh as a daisy, but Ray had to admit he was exhausted. Barbara stayed in camp with the three younger children.

The Fernandezs love to camp and fish and hike. Swimming is another favorite sport and Ray, Barbara and Bobby all got up on water skis the other day the first time they tried. This is an accomplishment in itself.

Barbara has been a Girl Scout leader and her daughter is very active in Scouts. The coming swimming meet should find her competing with the best of them, although she insists her crawl is not very good. This is modesty, her mother agrees. Barbara is delighted to find that there is so much interest in scouting here in Sanford.

Added to Barbara's talents is that of sewing. She makes clothes for the whole family. The Fernandezs are living temporarily on West Third St. until they find a permanent home. Meanwhile Barbara says, "We had a wonderful tour with the Air Force, but it's great to be back with the navy again."

A luncheon was held in the "Afterburner" this afternoon when VAH-7 had their monthly get-together. Hostesses were Anne Hovey and Thelma McMurray. Cocktails were enjoyed before the buffet luncheon. On the buffet table a beautiful arrangement of pink grapes, carnations and lavender caryophyllus was displayed. The menu included cold ham, turkey and roast beef with assorted salads.

Attending the luncheon were Elaine Bess, Doris Francisco, Gretchen Hall, Ruth Hodges and her guest, Mrs. Wallace Terry.

Poison Ivy Caused By Many Contacts

This is a good time of year to discuss poison ivy. In fact it is really a bad time, because most of the people who get it are already suffering. Nancy Cushing for one has been miserable with it, and my own little Cathy has a case slowly being cured by Caladryl.

The scientists say that most cases of poison ivy during the summer are caused by direct contact with the plant, or similar plants. But especially sensitive persons may get it from other sources. Gardening clothes that have come in contact with poison ivy may transmit the poison substance to anyone touching them afterwards. To prevent this the clothing must be washed thoroughly in a hot soda solution and soap suds.

Tools that have been used to dig out the weeds should be cleaned promptly to prevent further danger of poisoning. They can be washed through several changes of strong soap and water.

Dogs and cats running in woods or fields may get the poison in their fur, and give it to their owners, although they do not get it themselves. To remove the poison give the pets a bath in warm soapy water and wear rubber gloves as an added precaution.

Automobiles may carry the poison on the handle of steering wheel, by campers or hikers, or smoke from the plant burning can cause severe cases of poisoning. The best way to prevent poisoning is to learn to recognize the plant and avoid it.

When I was a child, my brother, who suffered terribly from poison ivy, heard that if it was eaten it would cure the allergy. He made a sandwich out of the stuff, and was in agony for two weeks. He had the poison in his mouth, his throat and everywhere else. Most unsuccessful cure.

Personals

Mrs. W. C. Hutchison has returned to Sanford after a trip to Connecticut, accompanied by her grandson, William. Mrs. Hutchison spent some time with Mrs. W. C. Hutchison Jr.'s mother, Mrs. E. Hall Falls in Southport, Conn. The balance of her vacation was enjoyed with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Holmes in Hampton, Conn. Mr. Hutchison has come back from several weeks associated with Troy H. Cribb and Sons, a peach shipping concern in South Carolina.

Arriving Saturday to visit Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bowes will be Mr. Bowes' mother, Mrs. M. W. Bowes, and brother Frank Bowes, of Gettysburg, Pa. To complete a family reunion will be Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Bowes and four children of Miami, another brother and his family. Due to the recent birth of a fifth little Bowes, Frank Bowes left his wife in Gettysburg with Mr. Bowes Sr., but the Mrs. Lou Motel will be full of Bowes even without them, although it is hoped that they may visit Sanford another time.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thurmond are spending the weekend with Mrs. Thurmond's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Powell of Jacksonville, Fla. Mr. Thurmond is an engineer with the State Road Department, and was transferred to New Smyrna Beach two weeks ago, from his work on Highway 17-92.

Mrs. Jack E. Stomper and twin daughters, Sheryl and Carol are visiting relatives in Westfield, N. Y. They have seen Niagara Falls and several other spots of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Stinecoper have had as their guests recently his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Powell of Lake Worth. Also his nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Powell of Jacksonville, his sister Miss Mary Stinecoper of Chattanooga, Tenn., and his brother Carl Stinecoper of Nashville, Tenn. After all this company, as wonderful as it was, Mr. and Mrs. Stinecoper and Grace Marie are going to New Smyrna Beach for two weeks for rest and relaxation.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Yount have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yount and three children of Rockville, Md.

Jacksonville Elks Club Sends Boatcade To Sanford Tomorrow

Sanford Softball Team Plays Tonight

The Seminole Sporting Goods softball team will play a practice game Friday night with Robinson's Printers team here in Sanford.

The game slated to get underway at 7:30 p. m. tonight, will be played on the Fort Mellon Park diamond under the lights.

The team the local softball enthusiasts will meet is one of the Class "A" teams with which a regular season series of games will be played beginning sometime in September.

Hubert Bagwell, manager of the local softball organization stated yesterday that the softball organization is fast shaping up to get the season underway.

However, no schedule of games has yet been announced for the series which is expected to be played on a regular basis.

This is the first of a series of local athletic pastimes expected to be started for fall and winter-time participation by local enthusiasts.

It is also a series which points out the need for a Sanford year-round recreational program whereby all sports could be brought into play.

Already a bowling league has been announced that will bring together both men and women bowlers in a mixed league which is expected to get underway in the near future.

Davey Moore To Go For Title

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — Davey Moore, who used a well-planned right hand attack to gain a split decision Wednesday night over the featherweight champion of Mexico, now wants to go for the world title.

The Springfield, Ohio, feather said, "I want a fight with Bassey, but I probably won't get it right away."

Moore's opponent in the War Memorial Auditorium 10-round bout, Victor Manuel Quijano of Mexico City, also had hoped for a bout with world titlist Hogan Kid Bassey. But Moore's powerful right hand ruined Quijano's American debut and his immediate chances of a match with Bassey.

The five-foot, three-inch 120-pound victor lost ground to 150-pound Quijano only twice, in the second and final rounds. Quijano mounted a jabbing attack each time.

SHS Drills To Start

The Seminole High School football practice drills will get underway Monday morning at 8:30, Coach Jim Pigott has announced.

Pigott revealed that there will be two workouts each day with about 90 minutes set aside at the 8:30 drill and the same amount of physical training at 4:30 in the afternoon.

The Seminole High School Coach said in a recent interview that "there is no substitute for physical fitness," and from all indications Pigott is expecting to get his top men in readiness for the winter football clashes which start late in September.

Pigott has urged all "prospects" for the "Seminole" lineup to be on hand Monday morning for the first training period.

Successful first string candidates will don uniforms on September 2, the Coach said in a recent interview but until that time the workouts will be in shirts and shoes.

Pigott will be looking over each

Herb Score Returns To Active Playing Monday Night

CLEVELAND — Left-hander Herb Score, who was the ace of the Cleveland Indians' pitching staff when he was struck by the right eye by a line drive off the bat of New York Yankee Gil McDougald on May 7, will return to the active playing list on Monday.

The Indians announced Score will accompany the team to Kansas City for its next series, and presumably will be put into a game soon.

To make room for Score on the roster, the Indians sent infielder Ken Kuhn to Mobile, to report on Monday.

Sam Snead - Mike Souchak Head Up Open Player List

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Another battle between the "old guard" and golf's "youngsters" shaped up today as a star-studded field started play in the $24,000 St. Paul Open.

Sam Snead heads the veterans into the 72-hole battle, while defending champion Mike Souchak tops the impressive list of younger players.

Tournament officials think the 6-year-old tournament record of 206, 22 under par, may be a thing of the past when the firing is over Sunday. They point out that Keller Golf Course is in top shape and par should take an all-time battering from the pros.

Snead, usually considered professional golf's wealthiest player, is given the best chance to break the record and take top money of $2,800. He won the tourney in 1937 and finished in a first-place tie with Jim Ferrier in 1950. Snead has taken more money from the St. Paul purse than any other player.

But he will have keen competition in his title bid.

Doug Ford, the Masters champion, and Lionel Hobert, PGA titlist, along with Souchak, Gene Littler, Ken Venturi, Dow Finsterwald, Peter Thomson and long-hitter George Bayer are expected to be in the thick of the battle for the money.

Rademacher Confident

ISSAQUAH, Wash. — The day Pete Rademacher came here to begin training he rode beneath a banner stretched across the main street.

It read: "Welcome Pete Rademacher. New heavyweight champ."

The sentiment was in considerable conflict with other opinion. For instance that of Nat Fleischer, editor of the Ring magazine, who views amateur Rademacher taking on heavyweight titleholder Floyd Patterson as "the greatest mismatch in the history of boxing."

Be that as it may, Rademacher calmly is going about preparations for the Aug. 22 fight. His workout gym is the baroque Town Hall of the town of 18,000 at the foothills of the Cascade Mountains. The building, which features an old-fashioned pot-bellied stove, is also used for town dances.

Loggers Watch Practice

Rademacher's camp is charging the unusual sum of $9 cents to see the 1956 Olympic champ work out. Among the spectators are hard-fisted, heavy drinking loggers in from the timberlands.

This fight has many unusual aspects.

One is that there will be no judges "to confuse the issue."

There will be only a referee, Tommy Loughran, former light heavyweight champion who retired in 1937. If the fight goes 15 rounds he will decide the winner. He may also stop it before then.

Promoter for the fight in Seattle's Sicks Stadium is Jack Hurley who has been in the game since the early 1920's. A lean, sharp-featured man in his 60s, Hurley is quick spoken and quick thinking. He sometimes wears a pince-nez and is known as "the professor."

More of a Promoter

In past years he has been more manager than promoter. He managed Harry Kid Matthews and, during attempts to get Matthews a shot at the heavyweight title, spewed such invective at the International Boxing Club that it found its way into the Congressional Record.

Joe Louis "Told To Say" Match Unchampionlike

KENT, Wash. — Former world heavyweight champion Joe Louis was "told to say" that present title holder Floyd Patterson has done an unchampionlike thing by accepting a bout with Pete Rademacher who has never fought professionally, Patterson's manager said Wednesday night.

Cus L. Amato, watching Patterson spar at Kent Memorial Park, said Louis "is entitled to his opinion — but I don't think that's his opinion."

The Brown Bomber had been quoted from Milwaukee, Wis., as saying he "would never have done a thing like that," and "neither would any other champion in boxing."

D'Amato said he thought Louis "was speaking" as an official of the International Boxing Club.

"They've done everything they can to pan this fight. But I don't think Joe would say anything like that on his own," D'Amato added.

work in the morning. Well, neither says "I." Rademacher says his pretty wife, Margaret, was not enthusiastic at first about his taking on Patterson.

"Now she's 100 per cent for it," says Pete. "In fact, she'll be at ringside the night of the fight. That rather surprises me."

'Battle Hymn' Stars Rock Hudson

"Battle Hymn," the Universal International picture in Technicolor and Cinemascope starring Rock Hudson which opens Sunday at the Movieland Ride-In Theatre, tells the exciting and top to toe story of a young man, Dean Hess, the famous flying person who values his work in behalf of Korean orphans above all the combat aviation decorations he has won.

Costarred with Hudson, who plays Col. Hess, are Martha Hyer, Dan Durya, Don DeFore, Anna Kashfi and Joek Mahoney, and important featured roles are played by Allen Hale, Carl Benton Reid, James Edwards and Phillip Ahn.

The screenplay by Charles Grayson and Vincent R. Evans was written before Col. Hess himself penned the current best-seller also titled "Battle Hymn" but it covers the same episodes in the life of this remarkable man. The picture was directed by Douglas Sirk and produced by Ross Hunter, who began a notable association with Rock Hudson when they performed those same duties on his first really big success, "Magnificent Obsession."

HOUSEHOLD BEEFLES ARE DEADLY FOES OF FURNITURE. LARVAE OF THE BEEFLE BORE HOLES IN THE BACKS OF CHAIRS AND THE LEGS OF TABLES.

SCRAPS

ORDONNANCE. ARRANGEMENT. SPEC. DISPOSITION OF THE PARTS OF A COMPOSITION WITH REGARD TO ONE ANOTHER AND THE WHOLE.

ORDONNANCE. IN EUROPE, A DECREE.

WITHOUT WHAT SPECIAL STEELS COULD ROCKETS, JET PLANES, TANKS, ETC. NOT BE MADE?

COLUMBIUM, COBALT, CROMIUM AND TUNGSTEN.

HERE IS MUCH MISUNDERSTANDING ABOUT THE AMOUNT OF WATER A CAMEL NEEDS. CAMELS HAVE BEEN KNOWN TO MARCH 34 DAYS WHILE COVERING 530 MILES WITHOUT A DRINK.

DON'T PRESS YOUR LUCK!
When polio strikes an adult, the case is usually more severe than in children. Make sure the whole family is safe. It takes eight months and three shots for maximum polio protection. Don't wait until it's too late. Start your shots now! See your physician or local health department. Help stamp out paralytic polio. Be threat to your home, your community and your country.

CECIL A. TUCKER, II COUNTY AGENT COLUMN
 Seminole County cattlemen and poultrymen who plan to attend the Cattlemen's Institute on August 20th at Camp Cloverleaf near Lake Placid or the Poultry Institute on August 19-24 at Camp McQuarrie will be utilizing their time to good advantage as the programs are well worth attending.

This year the Cattlemen's Institute lasts for one day only. More emphasis is placed upon pasture production and irrigation, and the more practical and successful cattlemen are on the program.

The 16th Annual Poultry Institute sessions are both varied and informative, including panel discussions and addresses on topics ranging from Barbecuing of Broilers to Problems of Turkey Production.

Following are the highlights from the two programs:

FOURTH ANNUAL CATTLEMEN'S INSTITUTE — August 20, 1957.

8:30 Banquet of Research on Fertilization of Forage and Grain Crops in Terms of Costs, Returns and Profits—J. R. Henderson, Agricultural Extension Service.

10:15 Feed Production Practices and Feeding Programs Used on Our Ranches—J. O. Pearce, Oklawaha; Dallas Dort, Sarasota; J. O. Carter, Palmetto; G. A. Ferguson, Ocala; Richard Kelly, Stuart.

11:30 Questions and Answers—All morning speakers.

12:30 Barbecue Lunch (Served by Highlands County Cattlemen's Assoc.)

Afternoon

1:30 Irrigation of Pastures — St. Elmo Dowling, Moderator.

a. Factors That Should Be Considered When Deciding Whether or Not an Irrigation System Should Be Installed—W. H. Kendrick, County Agent, Palmetto.

b. Some Things to Consider in Planning an Irrigation System — E. H. Stewart, Work Unit Conservationist.

c. What It Has Cost Me to Establish, Operate, and Maintain an Irrigation System —Dallas Dort, Sarasota.

2:30 How We Have Improved Our Herd through Record Keeping —Max Hammond, Bartow.

3:00 Progress in Production Testing and Plans for the Future —J. E. Pace, Animal Husbandman, Agricultural Extension Service, Gainesville.

3:15 Progress in Control of the Recent Outbreak of the Fever-Tick —Dr. C. L. Campbell, State Veterinarian, Tallahassee.

3:40 Status of the Screw-worm Eradication Program —C. L. Smith, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Orlando.

DOROTHY JACKSON stopped over at Bangkok on a comparative FA Eastern tour, and found this card in her hotel room. "Sir, for the case that your electric light should fail, we beg to send you enclosed postcard, which please send us at once when you find your light out. The company will then send you another postcard. (Signed) Siamese Power Company."

Irv Kupcinet says that this is the threat wealthy Texas mothers now make to obstreperous offspring: "One more peep out of you, and I'll put you in the Caddy and turn off the air conditioning!"

"Speaking of saxophone players," mused Bobby Clark at a theatrical club one day, "I know one that ought to go very, very far. Right now the so-and-so lives right next door to me!"

The Picture of Health

By Robert A. Ames, M.D.
Preventive Medicine—1
To try to "cure" people of something before they ever get it is the job of preventive medicine. Did you ever stop to think how many medical forces are working to guard your family's health and yours every day? Take the first two hours of the morning just yesterday or today.
When you got up and brushed your teeth, you were confident your toothpaste contained no harmful ingredients because of pure drug requirements, the water was safe because of public sanitation. The breakfast cereal was free of impurities because of regulations about pure foods. Your ride on the bus probably didn't seriously expose you to tuberculosis because of the mask chest x-ray screening programs and individual chest examinations being carried on by health agencies everywhere working with radiologists, the x-ray physicians.
At work, although you may have picked up a cold, you did not get smallpox, typhus, or the plague, because control of epidemics has for the most part eliminated these scourges.
Even diphtheria, which used to carry off so many children, has been tamed. The birth of children was made safer by the control of childbed fever, and the early lives of youngsters have been freed of much risk by vaccination against the better known disease of the young. Now, thanks to an effort right under our noses and broad as the continent, the flourishing ripter-killer polio is being cut back to the ground, just as malaria, yellow fever and other dreadful diseases were vanquished before it.
These accomplishments and many others like them are due to lumberless people working together: nurses, physicians, men and women in public health, popularly-supported agencies for one medical cause or another, research workers of government, industry, and the universities; some dedicated souls, some martyrs to science; some thinkers and some experimenters. Besides these, credit belongs to the interested and nearly always cooperative public.

The Coast Guard air station said the men were rescued in Pamlico Sound. The fishing vessel was scheduled to rendezvous with a 30 foot Coast Guard patrol boat which would take the rescued men to Wanchese, N. C., where they were to be transported to an airport at Manteo, N. C.
A Coast Guard and Navy search had been ordered off Cape Hatteras for both the blimp and a Navy flier who parachuted into the ocean from his crippled jet fighter during the night.
An oil tanker, the S.S. Western Sun, picked up the flier in the Atlantic south of Cape Hatteras early this morning. The ship's captain reported a light in the water led the vessel to the downed Navy airman.
The Navy officer at the Glynnco base said the stricken blimp ran into a thunderstorm and the "severe turbulence caused it to lose pressure," forcing the airship into the water.
The blimp had been on a training cruise to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and was on its way back to its home base at South Weymouth, Mass., when it was forced to ditch.
The Navy heard from the blimp about midnight when it radioed the Coast Guard. "Apparently we were going to ditch," a Navy spokesman said. The crew reported the pressure "going down" and said it would have abandoned the craft.
Pressure in blimp terminology refers to gas pressure—the thing that normally keeps such airships aloft.

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

THAT LORD ALTRINCHAM, who said Queen Elizabeth's speeches are a "pain in the neck" has heard about it from nearly everyone but the queen herself. She is speechless.
Lord Altrincham edits a British publication, "Letters to the Editor" are in good supply.
The queen doesn't make any laws or unmake any laws, or make any policy or unmake any policy. So all she might do is give His Lordship a piece of the government's mind.
Who knows, maybe the queen is satisfied with things as they are. Two decades ago her uncle forgot the rules and he's been on odd jobs ever since.
Bring a queen must be tougher than being President. You can't look forward to looking back on it.
Lord Altrincham blames the narrowness of court, not the queen herself. Not only narrow, but hereditary.
The British board of trade investigated narrowness over a six-year period, and found that the British woman measured 37.1-27.7-38.9. If she hasn't gained any in all that time she's in pretty good shape.

AT BOB CAMPBELL'S Westwood Bookstore, a lady who had bought every book on reducing suddenly rejected a copy of the new book "How to Lose Weight." "Can't you see I'm suddenly down in 1937?" she demanded. "It's on account of my husband. He disappeared three weeks ago, so naturally I'm worried. And when I worry, I don't eat."
"If your husband has disappeared," reasoned Bob, "don't you think you ought to notify the police?"
"I've been thinking of it," admitted the customer, "and believe you me, I will as soon as I worry off about thirty more pounds."

Meanest Motorist Sought Following Train-Car Crash

HOLLYWOOD, Fla.—Police searched today for a malicious motorist who deliberately blocked a car from backing out of the way of an oncoming train.
The driver, his wife and son jumped from the stalled vehicle seconds before a Florida East Coast streamliner plowed into it.
Sven Fogelstrom, 61, told police that the driver of the other car apparently became angry when Fogelstrom made a wrong turn at the railroad crossing.
Fogelstrom said he tried to back off the tracks as soon as he realized his error but was blocked by the other vehicle. Then Fogelstrom tried to drive across the tracks, but his engine stalled.
He, his wife, Gertrude, and 10-year-old son, Alvey, leaped out of the car. The driver of the other car drove off just before the train smashed into Fogelstrom's car, demolishing it.

Lebanon Police Arrest Jordan Youth In Plot

BEIRUT, Lebanon—Police have arrested a Jordanian youth in an alleged Egyptian plot to blow up the U. S. Embassy, officials announced today.
They said Mohammed Abid Ghani, 18, discovered loitering outside the embassy Thursday night, confessed he and a Syrian youth were hired by members of the Egyptian Embassy in Damascus to survey the American Embassy in Beirut for a planned bombing.

Communist Jets Force Dutch Plane To Land Briefly

AMSTERDAM—Communist jet fighters forced a Dutch airliner to land Wednesday in the Red Slovak city of Bratislava, airline officials said.
The big, U. S.-built DC6B was held on the ground for half an hour, Airline sources said, however, that its crewmen were "politely treated," and its passengers were not interrogated.
The Reds charged that the aircraft, on its way here from Cairo, had left the authorized Athens-Vienna air corridor. Officials here conceded that the pilot might have strayed out of the corridor in bad weather.

N. Y. Sees New Asiatic Flu Cases Diagnosed

NEW YORK—The first cases of Asiatic flu in New York City were diagnosed Thursday.
City health officials said laboratory tests showed that eight foreign exchange students who arrived here by plane Aug. 7 had the disease. All have recovered.
But Acting Health Commissioner or Roscoe P. Kanfield said 27 other foreign students and two adults who arrived by ship Tuesday "in all probability" had Asiatic flu. One of the students, Nicholas Memmos, 17, died Wednesday. Doctors are awaiting the outcome of laboratory tests to determine if he died of Asiatic flu.

Prominent Doctor Accused In Bizarre Truth Serum Case

TULSA, Okla.—A prominent Tulsa physician, married and the father of two children, was accused today of giving "truth serum" to his women patients and then assaulting them after they had lost their will to resist.
County Attorney J. Howard Edmondson, calling the case the "most bizarre" he ever investigated, said he will search for more alleged victims of Dr. John Richard Rhine, 35.
Rhine, a general practitioner and graduate of the Oklahoma University Medical School, pleaded innocent when arraigned before Common Pleas Judge Paul Walter Jr. Thursday. He was ordered held without bond pending preliminary hearing Aug. 24.
Edmondson said he had taken statements from six women allegedly assaulted by the doctor. But only one, a 20-year-old house wife, had signed a formal complaint.

Workers Uncover Bodies From Deep Excavation

DRESDEN, Ont.—Workers uncovered the last of six bodies Thursday night from the 35 feet deep waterworks excavation in the banks of the Sydenham River.
The last two bodies had to be chipped from concrete with air hammers and it took several hours to even locate the sixth body.
The six men killed—all recent immigrants from Holland who lived near St. Thomas—were working at the bottom of the hole for the new city waterworks when the cave-in occurred Wednesday night. Nearly 200 tons of earth cracked off the high side of the pit, rolled into the bottom, crushed the men with steel pipes and rods and mashed them into the wet cement they had been pouring.
