New York Plans To Complete Highway In Five Years

By TONI ADAMS AP Newsfeatures
ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 10—Five years from new, New York State expects to have completed "the greatest highway in the world" stretching 486 miles from the state's southeastern tip, through the Hudson and Mohawk valleys, to the Pennsylvania border at Lake Erie. The $202,000,000 high-speed tollfase Thruway, now under construc-tion, is designed to serve 90 per-cent of the Empire State's 13,500, 000 residents.

Six lanes, three on each side of a mall, will span the state, with no traffic lights, no grade intersections and no urban hindrances, Speedup Lanes Planned with speed-up and slow-down lanes-merging with the Thruway, which will be open to both commercial and passenger vehicles. The exits and entrances will be spaced an average of four miles apart, to accommodate local, short-haul traffic

You will be able to see at least 1,000 feet ahead at all times. A minimum curve radius of 2,800 feet and a maximum grade of three per-cent, are planned.

Compared With Others State Public Works Department officials supporting Goyernor Thomas E. Dewey's claim that it will be "the greatest highway in the world," say these combined features can not be found elsewhere. Pennsylvania, for instance, has a similar transportation asset in its seventy million dollar turnpike, opened in October, 1940. But the turnpike is much shorter (160 miles), has only four lanes and charges tolls:

SKIERS SLIDE ON SNOW COVER OVER HOT LAKE

AP Newsfeatures AUCKLAND, N Z Fust a hot lake, then a mass of red hat lava, the crater of Mount Ruapehu, 9,5 000 feet high, in the center of the North Island of New Zealand, now has developed into a fine snow basin for skiers.

This crater .ake, surrounded by icy cliffs several hundred feet high, had for years been one of New Zealand's foremost tourist attractions. Bluish-green in color. it was cool enough for swimming in some parts while in others it was almost boiling. It wave off a sulphurous vapor and at times there were minor upheavals in the lake. Otherwise the mountain gave no sign of activity and it was generally considered to be decreasing into an extinct vol-

Last year, however, it burst into violent activity, sending shots theusands' of feet into the air, and hurling out from the crater boulders as large as houses. The lake disappeared and only masses of lava were visible in the raging inferno of the crater. A heavy coating of volcanle ash covered the moun tain and made ski-ing impos-
