HOPE MOUNTS FOR RETURN OF LINDY'S CHILD

Cheery Men Of Colonel And His Recent Activities Have Given Rise To Optimism

HOPEWELL, Apr. 6.—(A.P.)—Optimism, unexplained but insistent, coursed through Hopewell today as reports flew that the Lindbergh baby will be home soon. Neither the police nor other authorities would sponsor the expectant feeling.

The villagers drew the deduction from the cheery men of Colonel Lindbergh following two mysterious airplane flights over the town's vineyard off the Massachusetts coast in a reported attempt to establish contact with a small party.

The fact that lights were seen in the sky from which the baby was taken also fed the flames of hope as did the continued absence from the office of John Curtis, one of the three intermediaries who believe they have established contact with the kidnapers.

Colonel Lindbergh's personal efforts to get back his kidnapped son, which appear to be making a climax, were forgotten by a few hours yesterday while the father helped beat out a brush fire that threatened his hilltop home.

Armed with an evergreen branch and an ax, the colonel led more than 50 firemen, policemen, neighbors, reporters and photographers in a stubborn fight against the flames, which at one time swirled within 15 feet of the house.

Colonel Lindbergh called the Hopewell volunteer fire department as a blaze spread toward his home.

These incidents of newspapermen who followed the fire apparatus, enlisted in the fight, wielding brooms.

When state troopers saw newspapermen among those beating out the flames, they ordered them off the site and seized photographs of the scene.

Clearing House Has Four New Members

WINTER HAVEN, Apr. 6.—(A.P.)—The Florida Citrus Growers Clearing House Association today announced election of four new members to the board of directors. They are: John Clark, Waverly, District one; George Westbrook, Clermont, district three; E. W. Vickers, Sebastian, district six; and Jim Morton, Auburndale, from the state at large. The new board will take office July 1.

FIXED OPINIONS DELAY TRIAL OF HONOLULU CASE

1 Prospective Juror Says Defendants "Ought To Be Shot"

HONOLULU, Apr. 6.—(A.P.)—Strong fixed opinions of prospective jurors, one of whom expressed the belief the defendants "ought to be shot," impeded selection of a jury yesterday to try Mrs. Granville Fortescue and three Navy men, accused of lynching Joseph Kahahawai, a native.

When the second day of the trial of Mrs. Fortescue and Lieut. Thomas H. Masie, her son-in-law, and two enlisted men ended, six Anglo Saxons, three Chinese, one Japanese, one Hawaiian and one Portuguese had been temporarily accepted for service.

The expression of feeling against Masie, Mrs. Fortescue and their co-defendants, F. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones, came from William Hulihui, Hawaiian. Under questioning by Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer and chief defense counsel, he admitted he had said the four "ought to be shot."

The day also brought forth the indication the defense would plead the killing of Joseph Kahahawai, accused of attacking Mrs. Thelma Masie, was an honor slaying.

Before Hulihui's admission, Darrow had vigorously contested the attempt of Harry Ulrich, deputy prosecutor, to impress on prospective jurors not to consider whether the slaying of Kahahawai last Jan. 8 was right or wrong. Kahahawai was once tried for attacking Mrs. Masie last (Continued on Page Two)

NEW YORK, Apr. 6.—(A.P.)—A group of Columbia University athletes wanted a 15-foot strip of crepe from more than twice as many striking students today in the first disorder attending the one-day strike in protest against expulsion of Reed Harris, editor of The Spectator, student newspaper.

The athletes seized the crepe when one student sponsor of the strike mounted the pedestal of his alma mater statue and shouted "It is my sad duty to inform you we are going to gag the alma mater."

GERMANY HAS NO PLANS FOR DEBT PAYMENT

Budget For Next Fiscal Year Is Based Upon Theory Of No More Reparations

BERLIN, Apr. 6.—(A.P.)—The German government is going ahead with its financing plans on the theory that there will be no more reparations payments.

The budget for the fiscal year 1932-33, now in preparation, makes no provision for war reparations it was learned yesterday.

The development in Germany's foreign affairs shared interest yesterday with a domestic political sensation—the publication of documents seized from Adolf Hitler's national socialist party headquarters which, officials declared, showed the Nazis had been ready to take by force and to plunge the nation into civil war in the event Hitler was successful in the initial presidential election held Mar. 13.

These documents told of tapping government wires and of exact statistics on available arms and trained men, armored trains, and fliers.

Throughout the Reich Hitler followers were under orders to follow up his expected success at the polls by setting public utilities and such means of communication as the telephone, the radio and stationery. Germany was to become an armed camp.

The seized documents indicated that Prussia had been honeycombed with a Nazi espionage system reminiscent of World War spy organizations.

The government's action in ignoring reparations requirements in budget plans accords with the declaration of Chancellor Heinrich Brüning last January that liquidation of such payments was impossible and any attempt to maintain them "must lead to disaster not only for Germany but for the whole world."

The whole problem is to be discussed at impending international conferences. As matters stand, however, Germany has no authority to forego her payments after the conclusion of the Hoover moratorium this summer.

NEWFOUNDLAND PREMIER FLEES AS THROG RIOTS

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, Apr. 6.—(A.P.)—Newfoundland expected to resort to the national government today to placate a mob which yesterday smashed windows of the House of Assembly and caused the pro-peace flight of Premier Sir Richard Squires. Resignation of Squires, government, the premises of which halted the mob's determination to throw the premier into the harbor, has not been received.

With political future of the dominion in doubt war veterans banded to combat the mob away. The disturbance which spread over the city resulted from a charge that Squires falsified the council minutes to facilitate transfer of public money to a political fund.

A mob of 10,000 persons stormed the House of Assembly last night, smashing windows, stealing government documents in the street, and forcing the resignation of the government.

For several hours afterward they besieged the building in which Prime Minister Sir Richard Squires remained sheltered surrounded by a detachment of police while the rioters shouted threats that they would throw him in the harbor.

Three ministers finally effected his rescue and induced most of the crowd to disperse although hundreds still congregated about the government grounds while beleaguered policemen remained inside the building. Two constables (Continued on Page Two)

MILLS REVEALS OBJECTIONS TO NEW TAX BILL

Says Certain Clauses Will Tend To Curb Usual Flow Of Capital Into Industry

WASHINGTON, Apr. 6.—(A.P.)—Administration objections to high taxes on corporations' security transfers and estates in the new revenue bill were put before the Senate Finance Committee today by Secretary Mills.

Mills said the rates tend to "discourage the normal flow of capital into industry and commerce at a time when business men are hesitant and industry stagnant. The proposed amendment to the Volstead Act eliminating the 10-day limit frequency of a patient was endorsed by James M. Moran, the commissioner of industrial alcohol and he believed the statutory limitation of one pint in 10 days should be withdrawn.

Democratic leaders are considering a counter economy offer to give the President authority to make a flat 10 or 20 percent cut in departmental appropriations.

President Hoover struck back sharply at Congress yesterday for its criticism of his proposed special economy committee and got in return some fresh rebuffs from the Democratic leaders, in a statement read with emphasis to newspapermen, the President replied to the Democratic demand for a specific program of economy that he and the department had submitted detailed recommendations.

As this statement was going out, Sen. McKellar (D., Tenn.), was telling the Senate that the claim made Monday by the President of a reduction of $28,000,000 in the budget could not be substantiated by figures.

Over in the House, Speaker Garner reiterated the Democratic demand for "something specific to bring about economy through government reorganization," and guaranteed in part it, if submitted by the President.

Sen. Harrison (D. Miss.), in the Senate today will reply to the President with what is expected to be a counter offer on economy. The President and the congress (Continued on Page Three)

Fights Occur When Columbia Student Strike Is Started

NEW YORK, Apr. 6.—(A.P.)—A group of Columbia University athletes wanted a 15-foot strip of crepe from more than twice as many striking students today in the first disorder attending the one-day strike in protest against expulsion of Reed Harris, editor of The Spectator, student newspaper.

The athletes seized the crepe when one student sponsor of the strike mounted the pedestal of his alma mater statue and shouted "It is my sad duty to inform you we are going to gag the alma mater."

The scuffle started when pickets took up posts at the entrance to university buildings.

Fights occurred spasmodically on the campus. Several professors closed their classes because of the strikes. Others announced examinations would be postponed. Harris, who was expelled last night, first attracted attention last autumn with editorials denouncing the football team as being "professionalized."

Hurley Acknowledges Sanford's Invitation

Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, who spent several days in Jacksonville recently has acknowledged an invitation from the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce in a letter, received here today.

Upon learning that Mr. Hurley, accompanied by several friends, was to embark upon a short cruise up the St. Johns River, trade body heads telegraphed him an invitation that he come as far as Sanford where he would be met by a party which would conduct him on a tour of the celery fields and other points of interest.

Mr. Hurley answered the telegram as follows: "I did not receive your telegram of the 22nd until after I had returned from my trip up the St. Johns River. We went up not quite as far as Sanford but a little above Lake George. I enjoyed the visit immensely. The St. Johns River is romantic and beautiful. We enjoyed our cruise on it."

GIRL IS BORN TO GLORIA SWANSON, CINEMA ACTRESS

LONDON, Apr. 6.—A daughter was born last night to Gloria Swanson, the American motion picture star.

"We are most happy," said Michael Farmer, the actress' husband, "but I am in a complete daze. Our plans are indefinite, but we hope to remain in London until late in August, then we will go to South France and later to Hollywood."

He said the baby arrived a month earlier than expected. The daughter was born in a house on Farm Street, which Farmer had rented especially for the "blissful event."

The house is called Manor House and is not far from Park Lane. It formerly was occupied by the Viscountess of Furness.

Miss Swanson, who married Farmer shortly after she was divorced from the Marquis de la Fayette, has been in London for several weeks, having arrived from Paris after a short European tour.

Early Returns Show Roosevelt Is Favorite For President; Harry Byrd Popular

Franklin D. Roosevelt and Cary A. Hardee were leading all other Democratic candidates in the early returns on The Herald's presidential and gubernatorial straw poll when a preliminary check up was made early this morning.

While the Republican candidate for president, Herbert Hoover, was trailing Roosevelt by a considerable margin, W. J. Howey, the Republican candidate for governor, was showing surprising strength by tying the leader among the Democratic candidates.

Seventy-seven ballots had been cast, though four failed to contain any preference for governor. Roosevelt led all candidates in both races with a total vote of 34, while Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, was second with 16 votes. In the gubernatorial race Hardee and Howey each received 49 votes, while John Martin was second with 18.

The combined Democratic vote in the presidential race was 70 as compared with seven votes cast for Hoover. In the gubernatorial race, 84 votes were cast for Democratic candidates, 19 for the Republican candidates.

Only one name not on the ballot was written in and he received four votes. Senator Huey Long of Louisiana proved to be the favorite candidate for president with four voters who used the blank space to write in his name.

In the presidential race Baker received 4 votes, Byrd 16, Garner 4, Murray 1, Robinson 7, Roosevelt 34, Hoover 7 and Long 4. In the gubernatorial race Caldwell got 10 votes, Durrance 1, Hardee 19, Hathaway 1, Martin 16, Sholtz 7, and Howey 19.

The ballots will appear in The Herald throughout the balance of the week and every resident of Seminole County over the age of 21 is entitled to one vote. The ballots should be filled out and either mailed to or left at The Herald office. Additional reports will be made on the progress of the balloting from time to time.

Rev. E. D. Brownlee, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Sanford, today announced plans for an interesting observance of the semi-centennial celebration of the founding of the church in this city, to be held on May 8, before what is anticipated as a record attendance.

Invitations have been mailed to every living former pastor of the church that he attend the services. Rev. H. W. Burwell, of Corpus Christi, Texas; Rev. A. F. Caldwell, at Davidson, N. C.; and Rev. J. Stanley Thomas, of Atlanta, are all former pastors of the church still living today.

Rev. Burwell was pastor of the church from 1890 to 1892; Rev. Caldwell from 1893 to 1895, and Rev. Thomas from 1896 to 1899. They are well-remembered by several members of the church, and Rev. Brownlee indicated that they, and all other pastors who are invited to attend, will receive a warm welcome during their brief visit.

The First Presbyterian Church of Sanford was organized on May 10, 1852 with a charter membership of 33 persons. Rev. H. C. Kage was the first pastor. The present membership numbers nearly 750 persons, with a well-organized Sunday School and the membership is represented among Sanford's most prominent business and civic leaders.

Mr. Stonger said that he wished to make it clear that the product which he is selling is not a drug but is made through an open ket evaporation process in Mineral Wells, Texas. This particular place, he said, has proved to be the only mineral well in the world which gives water that will form crystals after evaporation.

INTANGIBILITY

There are those things which were not meant for words, which all the shepherding of tongue or pen can never gather in complacent words.

Early returns in The Herald's straw vote indicate one thing if nothing else, that there is a wide divergence of opinion anyway.

Peace in China now seems assured. With a political campaign under way in this country, an oriental war could scarcely hope to arouse much interest.

An exchange insists that it isn't as hard for Shultz to prove that he isn't a Jew as it is for some of the other candidates to prove they aren't Scotchmen.

We see by the dispatches from Apalachicola that Gary Harder says the State of Florida paid $958.72 back in 1927 to entertain one visitor to this state, Mrs. Nellie Ross, former governor of Wyoming. Governors came high in those days.

Interesting news from Orlando is to the effect that Senator Franklin O. King has announced his candidacy for commissioner of agriculture in opposition to the incumbent Nathan Mayo.

One-fourth of the state of Mississippi was sold the other day at one gigantic sale. Helmsinger, taxes on 7,000,000 acres including many fine old homes and many formerly prosperous plantations.

Although we included nine Democratic presidential possibilities on our straw ballot, one of the very first to be returned to us had the name of another prominent Democrat written in. It was Louisiana's Senator Huey Long of corn pone and pot likker fame.

There is an old saying that you can't starve in Florida, and you believe there is nothing truer. When times are bad in the big cities there are often hundreds of thousands who actually go hungry and many who starve to death. But in Florida where there are so many oranges, lemons, grapefruit and other fruits, there is always food to eat.

Profanity Not in Style

Profanity as a means of emphasis or reproach has become so common that its effectiveness, if it ever had any, has been greatly reduced if not altogether nullified.

We have seen a woman, undoubtedly of a very low strata of society, unloose a string of vulgar invectives against another woman during the course of an argument.

Business executives and section foremen who are constantly having to give orders and instructions to their employees find that better results can be obtained by stern, emphatic and plain English than by sudden bursts of profanity.

There is another type of profanity which comes under the title of carelessness, and is indulged in by many decent people who never stop to think what they are saying.

Every person should remember that he may be the idol of some child and that his actions and his words may have a big effect upon the career of some juvenile "fan".

"Petty Treason"

A number of interesting Forum letters have appeared recently in Time news magazine concerning the Lindbergh kidnaping and the offer of the parents to deal directly with the underworld in their efforts to recover their stolen child.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh's emotionally aroused irrational behavior should not be condoned by these United States. When these two legitimately hysterical parents unfortunately reverted to their primitive, elemental desires and relegated civilization's sociological structure to the trash heap as unusable lumber and convoluted, catered, kowtowed, begged, pleaded and promised anything and everything within and beyond their means to the so-called underworld.

If Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh refused to pay ransom; if they backed the State police, Federal agents, private detectives; if they stood behind the powerful press, if they resolved to prosecute the criminals, they would wield such a mighty club that kidnaping would become a rare crime.

Public opinion is changing. Even if the Lindberghs believe in the power of the so-called underworld, the majority of people do not. The law should see to it that the instigators of this crime are harshly and promptly dealt with and that no ransom is paid.

Whippany, N. J. Undoubtedly it would be a noble gesture on the part of the flying Colonel to shout "To Hell with the kidnapers", jump into his plane and with an automatic machine gun in the cockpit go on a crusade against crime tip and down the coast; obviously to the destruction of his offspring.

Such a course might not have been so reprehensible if it could have done any good. If it would have resulted in a great wave of righteous indignation spreading over the country overthrowing the rule of gamblers and crooks of the underworld, the sacrifice might have been worth while.

Of course he wants to get his child back. What business is it of his to prosecute the criminals—so that they won't kidnap someone else's child. Let the someone else look out for himself. That's the way everyone else does.

However that may be, the only conclusion we can draw from his letter is that he is no father, or else that he is a fool.

"If they want to help, let them," he told the troopers. He also ordered the confiscated plates returned to the camera men and allowed them to take photographs of the fire.

Mrs. Lindbergh, Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, her mother, and Mrs. Henry Breckinridge, wife of the Lindberghs' attorney, appeared frequently on the porch.

Seen at close range by newspapermen for the first time since the kidnaping on Mar. 1, Colonel Lindbergh appeared in excellent health. His cheerfulness as he rested from his labor was interpreted as one more indication he has been making progress in his own recent endeavors to regain his 21-month-old son.

The fact that for two nights light has been burning in the nursery from which the child was stolen and which has remained in darkness until this week.

The prolonged unexplained absence from his Norfolk, Va., home of John Hughes Curtis, one of three intermediaries who have held several conferences with Colonel Lindbergh.

It was learned from a reliable source that the police guard at the Lindbergh home was diminished somewhat during the evening and an atmosphere of expectancy was evident at the estate.
