

ARMY JUNTA IS NOW AT HEAD OF SALVADOR

Short-Lived Revolt Is Followed By Flight Of President, Military Ascendancy

SAN SALVADOR, Dec. 4. (A.P.)—A military junta governed the Republic of Salvador today following a short-lived revolt yesterday which resulted in sharp fighting and the flight of President Arturo Araujo from the country.

The military group assumed complete control after fighting and prepared today to secure institution of Congress until elections can be held. Elections are anticipated within the next 48 hours. The revolt was directed solely against President Araujo.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—The Mexican Aviation company received a radio report yesterday that President Arturo Araujo of Salvador had been deposed, and a military dictatorship of three men installed in a rebellion that cost the life of a cabinet minister.

The message, received direct from San Salvador, the capital, said the minister of the treasury was killed "when he refused to accept terms."

(Presumably the message referred to Finance Minister Francisco Jose Espinoza.)

Elections would be held soon, probably within 48 hours, the report said.

The Mexican Aviation company was advised by its manager in San Salvador that a revolution instigated by political parties and military elements broke out Wednesday night in the city, resulting in the death of a cabinet minister.

The revolution, which was directed against President Araujo, was held off for several days.

"The situation here is calm," the message said. "The president has been deposed and a military dictatorship composed of three men installed. The elections will be held shortly, probably within 48 hours."

"There were no casualties among Mexican Aviation company employees," the message said. "The revolution broke out at 10 o'clock Wednesday night. The minister of the treasury was killed when he refused to accept terms."

"Will you advise about the situation?" the American minister asked. "It will be possible to resume service Saturday."

The Republic of Salvador, 140 miles long and 90 miles wide, has had a troubled history since it gained its independence from Spain in 1821. In 1927 the government was put down by a military coup and a military dictatorship was installed. In 1930 a plot to assassinate President Araujo was thwarted and the revolution arrested. Disturbances said to have been inspired by Communists occurred in 1930.

San Salvador was alerted early this year to expect Dr. Hoopes. The building was without doors because of numerous precautions taken by authorities. One of the precautions described it as the "greatest victory for the country since the establishment of the republic." Martial law subsequently was declared because of attacks against the government in opposition newspapers.

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—The second payment of $289,500.11 distributed to Florida's 67 counties today from state gasoline tax revenue which was accumulated during July, August, September, and October, while the law levying the tax was being tested in the courts. The first distribution, made recently, was on the basis of each county's population. Today's apportionment was on the basis of each county's area. The third allotment funds will be made soon on the basis of each county's expenditures of funds for roads made a part of the state highway system.

ARMY WILL NOT BE USED AGAINST 'HUNGER' MARCH

Police Plans Are Believed Adequate To Cope With Situation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—The Army thinks that the elaborate plans the police have made to prevent possible trouble after delegations of unemployed arrive in Washington will be sufficient.

At least, Secretary Hurley said yesterday there was no prospect of troops being called out after what he termed "unauthorized" groups that are marching on the capital reach their destination.

He did not amplify his statement but the march was being subsidized but added there was something incongruous in the fact that some of the demonstrators are traveling in automobiles.

Meanwhile, the Justice Department had dismissed charges by a Communist organization that department agents were responsible for the arrests of Communist leaders in Washington.

FIGHT AGAINST MOSES LOOMS AS KEEN ISSUE

Borah And Norris Are Leading Opposition Against Election As Senate's President

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—Republican independent foes of Senator Moses as president pro tem of the Senate stayed away today from the regular Republican conference called to organize the party machine for this session.

Little significance is attached to the failure of independent under Borah, Idaho, and Norris, Nebraska, to attend the meeting. They rarely go to regular party conferences. They will make their contest against the re-election of Moses when Congress opens next week.

The long-animating Senate Republican row burst into lively flames yesterday with declarations from Western independent leaders that they would oppose the re-election of George Moses of New Hampshire, as president pro tem.

Senator Moses referred to the independents as the "sons of the wild jackass" when they went into a coalition with the Democrats on the tariff two years ago.

Senators Borah of Idaho and Norris of Nebraska, the insurgent leaders, in announcing against Moses, insisted their action was evoked by threats that they would be deprived of committee chairmanships if they failed to support the outspoken New Hampshire member.

Borah and Norris defied retention action but it seemed unlikely last night that such a move would be made against them. Until the dispute is fought out in the Senate floor next week, there is no telling what may happen.

However, Norris' aversion to taking over control of the Senate, Republican organization.

The independents have no real voice in the Senate.

New Moves To Help Business Are Seen

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—New moves to benefit business in general are under consideration by President Hoover. Expedient is evident in Capitol quarters that he will dwell specifically on a fresh attempt toward making dollars flow more freely.

High among other proposals before him are aid for railroads, assistance for farmers, but the focus today was on a possible billion-dollar organization supplementing his national credit corporation. White House officials declined to affirm or deny that the President has decided upon such a move. He has said his decision would rest upon "necessity."

Christmas Seals Are In Hands Of Citizens

Hundreds of letters carrying an appeal in behalf of the 25th Annual Christmas Seal Sale are contained small booklets of Christmas Seals, were yesterday placed in the mails here and delivered to Sanford citizens this morning.

Mrs. Mary G. Holler, chairman of the Christmas Seal Sale of the Seminole County Health Council, which will retain practically all of the funds realized from the sale, today expressed the hope that every person who has received a letter will return the small donation asked, for there is a great need of promoting health work in county schools, as well as conducting further medical research, chest clinics, public health education, and arranging adequate health legislation.

Mrs. L. N. Hassell, vice-president of the local Council signed the letters bearing the appeal. She also says for the usual fine response from Sanford citizens to similar cases, and points out that all who appreciate the saving of lives which might otherwise be lost through the ravages of disease, "will surely lend a hand in this cause."

State To Open Drive Against Overloading

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—Chairman Robert W. Bentley of the state road department yesterday said the department was ready to open a drive against overloading of motor vehicles on state highways.

If necessary, he said, arrests will be made to insure protection for the state's "money tree" as a result of a billion-dollar investment in roads and bridges. He said the department inspectors would search for vehicles suspected of overloading and heavy trucks would arrest all violators.

Finnish Government Cites Evils Of Prohibition With Request For Referendum

STATE IS SCORED FOR TURNING ITS BACK UPON CITIES

HELSINKI, Finland, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—The Finnish government last night asked the diet to authorize a referendum to determine whether prohibition shall be modified to permit medium strength wines and beer.

With the referendum measure, the government submitted a statement declaring that during the 15 years prohibition has been in effect there have been none of the expected changes in the nation's habits.

Contrarily, the government statement said, the conflict between the law and the predilections of the people has led to brazen and persistent violations of the statute.

Destructive influences have been brought to bear against responsible law in general, the government statement said, because violations of the dry law have become so common. In addition to the prevalence of drunkenness, the government cited a considerable increase in crimes of violence and declared that individuals had played a large part in it.

A special criminal professor has come into being utilizing the situation which prohibition opened up to the government, statement said, and public justice has been threatened by those who wish to attain alcohol illegally.

The ministry's declaration averred the evils of prohibition have loomed larger than the benefits of increased sobriety brought about by the law in many parts of the country.

Furthermore, the government declared, prohibition has had unfavorable financial effects, causing a heavy tax burden to be laid on citizens living on legal incomes, while those living on the illegal sale of alcohol are free from taxation.

Finland's financial position is such that it has become extremely difficult to balance income and expenditure and sooner or later liquor taxation must be resorted to, the government statement said.

The debate on the measure in the diet was the signal for an intensive campaign by the opponents of prohibition for outright repeal when the referendum is taken, probably Dec. 29 and 30.

Prospective Float Entries Are Urged To Be Economical

John E. Fox, chairman of the Parade Committee for Seminole County Progress Day celebration Dec. 15, yesterday afternoon, at a meeting of the general committee, urged that persons who anticipate entering an automobile or decorated float in the parade keep their expenses at a minimum, and that as far as possible, local decorators and decorators be used.

He also reminded everyone interested that all are welcome to enter a float or car. "It is impossible for our small committee to get around and see every merchant or manufacturer," he said, "and for that reason we would appreciate any group of individuals assembling to enter a float, calling the trade body office and notifying the committee that they will be represented."

Mrs. Packard Is Elected President Of Farm Women's Evening Class

Mrs. Rex Packard was elected president and Miss Maude Cameron secretary of the Farm Women's Evening Class, the newest organization in Seminole County today.

Composed of wives of farmers, the new club was organized last night at Bemis High School, Miss Nellie Wilson, home economics teacher at the school, outlined the purposes and aims of the class. Nearly 25 Sanford and Seminole County women were present at the organization meeting, a number which was gratifying to both Miss Wilson and Miss Cameron, vocational director of agriculture at the school, who sponsored the club as one of the features of the present farm program in this county.

Miss Wilson explained that home-canning and the preparation of home-grown foods will be the principal points stressed at all future meetings of the club. It is hoped that the club will be a help to the women of the county in their home-making.

GREEN OFFERS PLAN TO CURB JOBLESS EVIL

35-Hour Work Week Proposed By Labor Head To Banish Unemployment Bogey

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—Banishment of the unemployment bogey by means of a five-day 35-hour working week was proposed yesterday by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

There will be a permanent unemployment problem if industries must upon working employees 50 hours a week, he told the Senate subcommittee yesterday during the hearing on distribution of work.

"If every employed person wanted a job had one the total of work for each would be 35 hours weekly," he said. "There is enough for all on the basis of five days a week, seven hours a day."

Right now, he added, the unemployed want work "not charity, not relief."

The subcommittee, which is studying proposals for creation of an economic council, heard from Green a declaration that economic planning is necessary, but is in the early stages of development. He urged the passage of a law which would give the government power to regulate the production of goods and services, and to control the distribution of goods and services.

Although he considers some form of employment insurance of value, Green declared himself against unemployment insurance based upon the premise of a permanent problem. He said applying work was far more vital. He predicted possible governmental action to equalize distribution of national income.

"If industry is not going to distribute its income, the government must do it," he said. "It is the duty of the government to improve the conditions of the unemployed."

1. Universal application of the best practices developed by industries.

2. Development and application of principles of coordinated control of various levels paralleling the inter-branches of economic groups and undertakings.

3. Extension of knowledge of the facts of distribution and purchase of mechanism that will keep the flow of consumer income adequate to capacity production for the purpose of raising living standards.

4. Organization of workers to advance their interests as partners in industry in line with all other investors and participation in efforts to maintain balance between production and consumption.

BIG JAX BLAZE ON RIVERFRONT MENACES CITY

Huge Warehouses Are Scene Of Fire That Injures 2 Firemen Much Damage Done

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—A riverfront fire, accompanied by a series of terrific explosions, menaced the harbor district here last night, but was brought under control shortly after 10 o'clock.

Chemicals, naval stores, and dynamite, were said to have caused the blaze, which hurled huge flames high in the air and sent a shower of sparks for blocks around.

The Seaboard Air Line warehouse, center of the flames, was destroyed. A warehouse of the McGillifin coal company also went up in smoke. Another big dock building was burning fiercely. Every fire company in the city was called out to fight the flames the origin of which could not immediately be learned.

Two firemen were taken to the hospital and there were reports that several other persons had been injured by the explosion. It was impossible to get close to the scene of fire, which was centered in a river front warehouse. (Continued on Page Two)

West Palm Beach Gets Settlement On Bond Problem

WEST PALM BEACH, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—The city commission yesterday approved a bondholders' plan for extending the city's $100,000 bonded debt, over a period of 10 years.

The action followed more than four years of litigation and negotiation which reached a climax recently in the state supreme court which granted a mandamus compelling the city to raise the $100,000 through taxes within a year. The financial crisis left the city and other municipal employees working without pay.

The plan, evolved in conferences between local business men and bondholders' representatives, includes provisions for setting interest on bonds in half for a 10-year period and a slight reduction in taxes for the current year.

DEMOCRATS WILL AID BANKHEAD IN FIGHT UPON HIM

Republicans Considering Move To Keep Him From His Seat

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—Senate Democrats in conference today decided to vote to seat Senator Bankhead, Alabama, Monday if any attempt is made to prevent him from taking oath.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—A report casting doubt on the legality of John H. Bankhead's election as a senator from Alabama yesterday caused Republicans to consider a move to prevent him from taking office.

Pointing out that they had ample precedent in the Smith and Vane cases, Republican leaders who planned to let Bankhead take the oath immediately began discussing moves to prevent it.

Frank L. Smith of Illinois and William S. Vane of Pennsylvania were denied seats in 1927 after charges of excessive campaign expenditures.

Proposals to deny Bankhead his seat, if they materialize, probably will take the form of a resolution to bar him for the time being. The Senate would vote upon it.

The possibility of a tight over organization of the Senate added interest to the Republican conferences about Bankhead. The party margin is close and in the event of division among the Republicans, his vote might count heavily.

No action was taken by the committee yesterday on the Hastings report. It will meet again today to hear arguments that Bankhead exceeded the limit fixed by Alabama law for campaign expenditures.

The Heflin-Bankhead contest is a by-product of the 1936 presidential election. Because of his opposition to Alfred E. Smith, Heflin was barred from the Democratic primary in 1930 and ran as an independent against Bankhead.

The Republicans, however, planned no opposition to the seating of Senator Bailey, Democrat, North Carolina, against whom a contest also is pending. No progress has been made by the committee which has been investigating the case.

Bankhead and Heflin faced each other across the committee table yesterday as Hastings, a Delaware Republican, studied his report.

Heflin beamed his pleasure at the document, but Bankhead merely commented that "no fair-minded man in Alabama, regardless of whom he voted for, charges any fraud in that election."

The report cited 11,826 violations of the law in two instances alone and declared "there was not a single voting place where the election laws of Alabama were fully complied with."

Hastings said there was "a combination of circumstances which would satisfy a reasonable person that some fraud had been committed."

"Certainly," he added, "it cannot be denied that every opportunity for fraud was present."

"The ruthless disregard of many provisions of the Alabama law by the officers in the election of 1930 destroys the very foundation of what evidently was the purpose of the law, namely the purity of the ballot," the chairman said.

He added that violation of the ballot where the law was violated would leave such a small proportion of the voters exercising their rights as "to make it difficult to give effect to the wishes of the majority of the voters."

"It is my judgment, therefore," he said, "that the serious question confronting the committee and the Senate for the present is whether, in view of the many violations of the law by the election officers as above pointed out, it is possible to say that there was a legal election."

Hastings also called attention to fire were broken by the force of the explosion.

The British steamship Maltram, unloading a cargo of nitrate of soda, was jacking loose from its moorings, and slipped into the river to avoid the flames. Police said several other small craft also got away from the docks.

Apparently, the fire started in one corner of a warehouse where dynamite and nitrate of soda were being unloaded, police said.

The center of the fire is only a short distance from the huge St. John's river bridge. Numerous railroad cars were parked on sidings in the fire zone and many of these were burning. The explosions were believed to be in part caused by chemicals in the box cars.

As the explosions scattered showers of timbers and sparks into the downtown districts, crowds of spectators who had gathered as soon as they could get to the fire lines, fled pell-mell. The heat of the blaze could be felt in office buildings blocks from the scene. Billows of smoke rolled over the city.

EASTERN LEAGUE OF GRID OUTFITS SEEN PROBABLE

Indications Point To Number Of New College Alignments

By ALAN GOULD. Associated Press Sports Editor. NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—As the 1931 football season draws toward a turbulent close, indications point clearly to a number of new alignments in college organizations, as well as some shakeups in the old.

Developments have been handed somewhat by the effect of handling gate receipts in the past two seasons. The "big fellows" are getting together more closely in scheduling games with an eye to the turnstiles. Another prime factor in the sectional re-grouping, in prospect especially in the East and South, is the faculty desire to curtail and tighten control of eligibility, subsidizing and recruiting.

The plan also would include Army, Navy, Cornell, Dartmouth, Columbia, Penn State and Syracuse in a group to gain at least uniformity of action in controlling the sport, even if not to establish a "conference" schedule agreement.

TULANE CALLED FIRST CHOICE FOR ROSE BOWL TILT

Green Wave Must Conquer Washington To Cinch Invitation

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—Indicating that Tulane University now is first choice as an opponent for the University of Southern California for the Rose Bowl game New Year's Day, Aubrey Devine, Trojan scout, and Francis Tappan, freshman coach left for New Orleans to coach the Tulane-Washington State game to be played there Saturday.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—The brass men of Washington State who hope to amend Tulane's 1931 record of no defeats on Saturday, put in a stiff workout in the Green Wave stadium yesterday afternoon, showing little-ill effects from a four-day train ride that brought them from sub-zero temperatures into almost mid-summer weather prevailing here.

Both Cougar and Green Wave rehearsals were open only to newspapermen, who were requested to be "discreet" about what they saw. Coach Hollingbery exhibited one possible worry—the sudden change from the 2700-foot elevation of Pullman, Wash., to New Orleans sea level, but he was quick to add that "we have no allies, now, during the game or afterwards, win, lose or draw."

The Tampa Strike

Any period of hard times is apt to breed labor troubles. The desire of employers to reduce expenses impels them sometimes to cut payrolls either by discharging employees or reducing wages. Such procedure is often apt to incite strikes, lockouts, or other conflicts between capital and labor. It is not often, however, that during a period when so many other things disturb labor, strikes are called for literary reasons.

Such, nevertheless, happens to be the case in Tampa where cigar workers, as important to the life of Tampa industry as celery growers in Sanford or steel workers in Pittsburg, have gone out on strike because employers attempted to dictate what should be read to them during working hours. To realize just what this means to cigar workers, one must understand this age old custom which characterizes the cigar factories. As the workers roll their cigars, so-called "readers" in the center of the spacious low ceiling rooms in which hundreds of workmen are busy rolling and wrapping cigars, read aloud magazines, books, newspapers, and whatever else may prove a source of entertainment to the workers.

These readers, usually two in number to each room, taking turns so that the reading may be practically continuous without undue strain on the readers, are paid by the workers and hitherto have selected whatever the workers wanted to hear. The employers had nothing whatever to do with it. They usually encouraged this reading, more because it kept the workmen contented than because it was a source of enlightenment. And it was nothing out of the employers' pockets.

Recently, however, employers in Tampa have detected what they thought to be communistic propaganda being dished out to the workers through their readers. The workmen are asked to have admitted that excerpts from communistic literature sent out by the "Workers of the World" and the "Young Workmen" were read to them. The seriousness of the harm which such reading might cause, of course, depends upon the seriousness with which the workers take it. This, the employers have no immediate way of determining. Evidently believing that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, they have attempted to throttle the communistic trend at its inception.

Hence the strike. Eight thousand good and efficient workmen added to the ranks of unemployed—unnecessarily. Isn't it strange what things men can find to get mad about?

Secret Conference Of State

Those who approve of secrecy in government have a splendid illustration before them in the Hoover administration. Since his election three years ago President Hoover has seemed to hold that the people, knowing nothing of what was going on, should nevertheless have perfect confidence in his doing what was best for the country.

More recently his conferences, or conversations as they are now diplomatically called, with Premier Laval of France and Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy, have evoked considerable criticism for the cloud of secrecy which has enveloped them. So far as the American public knows, Laval came to this country, conferred with Hoover and departed satisfied. Grandi did the same thing, equally satisfied. So satisfied indeed were these foreign emissaries that one is inclined to wonder just what it was they talked the President out of. But so far no one knows.

"The American public," the St. Petersburg Independent explains, "is not so much curious as it is inclined to feel, being a free people, that it is entitled to know what is going on even in the highest departments of its government. In this the public is right, in a majority of instances. It feels that too much secrecy is out of place in the administrative affairs of a free government. Newspapers are particularly sensitive on this point. As to these conferences, there appears to be no good reason why there should have been so much secrecy. However, there may be a good reason, from the administration's point of view; and of that the administration will have to be the judge. But, unless the reason for secrecy is imperative, it is best and only fair that the public should know something about what is going on. Any attempt to limit the scope of the activities of the press and minimize the usefulness of its service is a regrettable mistake. The press can help, and the wise executive invites its confidence and co-operation."

"The present administration is not so popular with the administration, it seems. The President has mildly clashed with White House correspondents; yet the press does not blame him for the policy of secrecy—if there be such a policy—so much as it blames Secretary Stimson, who is accused by the New York Post of being prejudiced against letting the people know anything about their own business. Being a popular president with all of the press necessities unreserved confidence—and diplomacy, too. Few presidents have been uniformly successful in the role. Wilson was notable for his cordial relations with the press; but only Coolidge could say nothing and get away with it with the correspondents.

"In the present instances perhaps the best way for the public, including the press, to feel about it is that President Hoover and Secretary Stimson are loyal American citizens, striving for the best interests of the nation, and would not keep anything from the people which the people really ought to know."

"Secret diplomacy" does not accord with the American spirit.

Small In Area, Large In Production

FLORIDA TIMES-UNION

Seminole County is comparatively small in area, but is large in production. It has within its boundaries approximately 360 square miles of territory, being one of the smallest counties in Florida. What it lacks in land area it makes up in quantity of soil products, agriculture being its chief industry.

Of Seminole County's 180,000 acres of land only about 14,000 of these acres are being cultivated, and, yet, it has a record of producing and shipping from its cultivated farms, groves and truck patches fresh fruits and vegetables what is equivalent to an average of one solid carload of these food products every hour of the day and night in every year.

One single vegetable, celery, produced in one year in Seminole County, has a value of $6,000,000. And, yet, misinformed writers on Florida, or those who are jealously or maliciously disposed, say that the land of the state is good only for tennis courts or golf courses, both of these sources for recreation greatly appreciated by millions of people, day after day, throughout every year. How such writers are to be piled, rather than condemned!

Just a few of the facts concerning Seminole County, from a very attractively illustrated and informative booklet, just issued by the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, quite sufficiently contradict all that Florida detractors have to say or write. In the foreword of this booklet, of fifty pages, it is said:

Here (in Seminole County) one finds choice citrus lands, high rolling pine lands dotted with beautiful lakes and streams, low

AN UNFORTUNATE REACTION

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

The comment made and implied in the Japanese Foreign Office statement upon an unconfirmed Rengo report of Secretary Stimson's press interview was precipitate and tactless. The diplomatic tension momentarily created is not good for a delicate situation out of which there is promise of bringing a helpful truce. Not less unfortunate is the effect that such a sharp official reaction to an inaccurate news report will have upon bellicose Japanese public opinion. This statement will convey to the Japanese people the impression that the American attitude is sympathetic, suspicious and caring less and America's attitude has been one of those.

In spite of this country's perfectly legitimate concern for the eventual fate of China's administrative and territorial integrity the American government, press and people have tried very hard to appreciate Japan's needs in Manchuria and her difficulties, even in the face of drastic military action. Her official assurances have been almost invariably accepted as the statement of a fixed policy that would eventually prevail over military ambitions, and the Administration has displayed a friendly and not unsympathetic attitude by dissociating itself from the League Council's misguided resolution and from all subsequent discussions of the Manchurian problem that were linked with it.

There is no reason to doubt that America's view of the Manchurian problem will continue to be sympathetic and patient, and it is to be hoped that the Japanese government will shortly return to an appreciation of the fact.

Unfortunate as the Foreign Office's acceptance of the Rengo distortions was, it will not be difficult for the American people to understand the domestic situation in Japan which prompted it. The Premier and Baron Shidehara are under a severe strain and are also working under the critical eyes of a nation inclined to indorse severe disciplinary action in Manchuria. The cabinet wants not only to keep its pledges to the world but to recover that control over the military situation which is essential to the keeping of those pledges.

It has just reached a working arrangement with General Minami, of which conservative political enemies are certain to be bitterly critical. A report from abroad which seems to indicate that Baron Shidehara has yielded to foreign diplomatic intervention in the Manchurian situation is bound to bring down upon the civil authorities charges of betraying Japan's interests under alien pressure and might not only unseat the government, but give the military a free hand in China. Under the circumstances the Rengo report was undoubtedly as exasperating as it was disconcerting, and the public statement on it came not so much as a retort to Secretary Stimson as a measure of defense against an inevitable domestic storm.

THE DISCARDED CHRISTMAS TREE

BY ROY L. SMITH
In The Rotterdam Magazine

It lay in the dirty snow and slush of the alley, a pathetic and bedraggled little Christmas tree.

Gone were the gay little ornaments that had made it seem like an importation from Fairyland. Only a few strands of tangled tinsel hung dejectedly to its twigs. Gone were the twinkling lights it had worn so airily a few short days ago. Instead of the glad cries of children dancing about it in exuberant joy was the clatter of the rag-picker's cart and the rattle of the big truck down the alley.

It was a discarded Christmas tree—the most dismal and wretched sight in all the world.

But more pathetic than the little tree were the hearts of those who had tossed it out into the alley.

For one glorious day they sang and laughed and exulted in the sheer joy of living. A new spirit came into the house and into their hearts—something gladdening, cleansing, heartening. Ticker-tape and bridge games were proscribed. The making of a living was submerged for two short days in the merry-making. All hearts became child hearts again, with a glow in them for aught else than the business of the world.

But next morning Mother learned that the man who was to come from the little tree was to be discarded as a Christmas tree.

And he was discarded as a Christmas tree.

For one day we really lived! The whole world is populated by a race that has become care-free, laughing, singing, gladsome children again, who treat each other and put love where suspicion and malice have been.

The thing most needed in banks, general managers' offices and directors' rooms, as well as upon the streets, in shipping rooms, and in factories, is the triumphant spirit that Christmas brings—the spirit of faith, goodwill and mutual trust.

Christmas is a spirit! To have that spirit means making Christmas a reality. To lose that spirit is to lose Christmas, and all its blessed accompaniment of peace and confidence. Anything that increases the spirit of Christmas in the world lengthens life.

Did anyone ever try taking the Christmas tree down to the office with him the day after Christmas?

Former Gov. Cary A. Harter dropped in on us last Sunday on his way down the East Coast for a visit. He's looking well and has a brand new Fall hat, but he wouldn't say just yet whether he was getting the old hat ready to throw in.

Coty May Have To Give His Ex-Wife Part Of Fortune

PARIS, Dec. 4. (A.P.)—M. Francois Coty, noted Paris millionaire perfume manufacturer, a large part of whose fortune has come from sales of his products in the United States, faced today the prospect of having to pay an additional $5,200,000 to his former wife as compensation for her share in building up the business.

A Paris court issued the order. Mme. Coty divorced the manufacturer in 1929. They were married in 1900. He borrowed money from her brother and they opened a laboratory in which she also worked in order to keep the secret of the perfumes within the family. Their fortune rose to nearly $33,000,000 by the time they were divorced and Madame Coty claimed half of it because there was no marriage contract. M. Coty paid her $12,000,000 and she claimed an additional $5,200,000.

When the order was handed down in the civil court yesterday M. Coty's attorney pleaded that the manufacturer did not have the business in the United States had resulted in huge losses to his interests there.

 Senator Moses, who has been keeping quiet about the whole affair, was not here yesterday.
 Some friends of Moses, however, have said privately that if the Independents attempt to put a Democrat in Moses' place or permit that to happen, they would not hesi-

 Borah and Norris are chairmen of

 "If anybody wants to control
 my vote by a threat to take away

 Norris said. "I don't say they

 How many will vote with Borah because of the even division of the Senate, just a couple of votes can control. The lineup for the session is: Republicans, 48; Demo-

CHEVROLETS TO BE DISPLAYED HERE TOMORROW

Radical Changes Will Mark 1932 Models; Speed, Power Added

Chevrolet's new car for 1932 goes on display tomorrow at dealer showrooms throughout the nation.

Embodiment of silent gyro-mech transmission in combination with new free-wheeling, a 25 percent increase in power, top speed 45 to 70 miles an hour, streamlined bodies and a wealth of other new features, the new car remains in the price range of the current series, the lowest of which Chevrolet has ever sold.

Harold G. The Great American Value for 1932, the car boasts more extensive changes than any other Chevrolet model since the change-over to a V8 in 1928. Yet changes are mostly refinements over the basic design of the 1931 Chevrolet, as well as a new "established" front end construction embodied for the first time on any car.

Practically every proven automotive feature of recent years is incorporated in the new 1932 Chevrolet, as well as a new "established" front end construction embodied for the first time on any car.

Twelve standard body styles are in the line this year—three open and nine closed. Finishes—all in new Duo-tone combinations and all with smart new features.

In addition, eight models are also available with deluxe equipment, making possible individuality of ownership and providing selection from twenty different types.

Of the mechanical changes, the outstanding one is the new transmission unit, which is entirely Chevrolet-built and is said to combine for the first time in any car the combination of gyro-mech with simplified free wheeling.

Washington, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—An effort to bring telephone, telegraph and radio holding companies under the regulatory power of the federal government will be made in the forthcoming Congress by Senator Couzens of Michigan.

The chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee said yesterday he would introduce a bill to establish a "communications commission" and give it jurisdiction over telephones, telegraph and radio holding companies.

The military department has refused to use the army against the demonstrators during their stay in the capital, police protection, a free meeting hall and access to Congress.

Additional police protection already has been placed around the White House. Two metropolitan policemen have taken up a watch from an automobile parked near one of the front gates of the Executive Mansion.

Official Washington had no word yesterday of the progress of the march to the capitol but the "Washington arrangements committee" for the delegations reported their stay on their way.

"Column 4" was reported near Cincinnati last night. "Column 3" Cleveland, "Column 2" Newark, Pa., and "Column 1" on its way to New York from New Haven.

Navy Bureau Chief Challenges Critics Of Dirigible Akron

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—Critics to the contrary, Rear Admiral Moffett thinks the airship, Akron, lives up fully to advance notices.

The chief of the navy's bureau of aeronautics said yesterday in defending the department's acceptance of the giant ship, and he flung a challenge to those who have been finding fault with the craft.

Representative Britton, Republican of Illinois, Representative Vinson of Georgia and Representative McClintic of Oklahoma, Democrats, have said they hoped flaws in the Akron would not be duplicated in her sister ship, ZRS-5. All are members of the House Naval committee. One criticism had been that the Akron was overweight.

The department welcomes an investigation of whatever sort that will clear up for all time rumors and gossip that for one reason or another have been circulated to the effect that the U. S. N. S. Akron is not a satisfactory ship, Moffett said.

State Drouth Has Cut Citrus Yield By Two Million Boxes

TAMPA, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—Drouth in Florida has cut the citrus yield for the current season 2,000,000 boxes or more, the current issue of the Southeastern Chronicle, official organ of the Florida Citrus Exchange, said today.

A further decrease appears certain even if rain should set in generally over the citrus belt. The periodical said, with groves in dry condition rain would cause the fruit to drop. Lake, Volusia, and part of Orange county are affected more than others and heavy droppage is reported there.

Fruit is running small in size and rain would help that feature even if the drops were more numerous. In another article the Chronicle said citrus growers in this country need not fear competition from inferior fruit from Pinar Rico if regulations in the island, adopted this season, are continued.

Illinois Girl Wants Letters From Florida

Sanford children have an opportunity to gladden the heart of a young girl living on a farm in Illinois.

Postmaster J. P. Hall yesterday received what he termed an interesting and appealing letter from a little girl who is anxious to correspond with persons in other states. He expressed the hope that boys and girls in Sanford will respond at once, and send letters reflecting the sunny skies and warm winds of Florida.

The letter, written by Myrtle Stankard, of Crossville, Ill., reads as follows: "I am a girl of twelve, have blonde hair and light complexion. I weigh 32 pounds and am five feet, two inches.

"I live on a farm. It is located by the Little Wabash River. It is on the west. On the north side is woods. On the east are fields, and on the south is an airplane field.

"Please hand this letter to some girls and boys who wish to correspond with people from different states."

Roumanian Prince's Marriage Annulled

BUCHAREST, Roumania, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—Formal annulment of the marriage of Prince Nicholas and Mme. Jana Lucia Deletj will be declared today by the Roumanian supreme court, it was understood last night.

This action will be based on the theory that the marriage was not contracted in accordance with the dynastic statute of the Hohenzollerns, and that it occurred without the consent of King Carol.

As a consequence of the formal annulment, Nicholas will not have the status of Mme. Deletj's lawful husband.

The court's decree will result, it was understood, from a personal petition by King Carol and the King will not consider it necessary any longer to exclude his brother from the royal family.

Indian Constitution Work is Going Ahead

LONDON, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—The Indian round table conference is over, but Prime Minister MacDonald told the House of Commons yesterday that the work of hammering out an Indian constitution will go right ahead.

Macdonald was definite when, in reply to an interupter, he said India does not want complete independence.

There is a prospect, he said, that the minorities whose disagreement over the communal problem seriously hampered the work of the conference would settle their differences, and in any case those differences do not provide an excuse for the government to relax its efforts.

Ex-Tech Athlete Is Wounded In Scrap

MACON, Ga., Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—William "Tiny" Horn, former star basketball and football player of Georgia Tech, was in a serious condition at the Middle Georgia Sanatorium yesterday as the result of an alleged altercation with a friend in Easton, Ga., his home, Thanksgiving Day. He was brought here Tuesday night on advice of physicians who said he was suffering from severe stab wounds.

Mysterious Female Tipster Leads Dry Agents To Caches

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—A mysterious woman tipster struck yesterday for the fourth time in New Jersey's bootleg territory.

Her "tip" to Lieut. John Whalen of the United States Customs force, sent a squad of 14 men on a surprise attack of a group of rum runners unloading their cargo at Port Newark.

Through the barrage of nearly a hundred shots which resulted, three trucks and their bootlegging occupants escaped. The government force arrested three other men, and seized two trucks and 600 cases of whiskey. One of the federal agents was wounded.

In the early morning, Whalen took down the receiver of his telephone. He heard a feminine voice tell him, as it has three times before, to take his forces to the dock and they would find a group of bootleggers unloading their cargo.

As in the previous cases, the woman declined to disclose her name or give the reason for passing the information to federal officials, who, lacking any other clue, scurried her action to a blasted romance with a bootlegging chief.

The tipster last week led to the seizure of a $100,000 illegal distillery in Witham Avenue and another, valued at $150,000 in Elizabeth. She also gave the information which led to the capture of the tanker Raritan Nun with 6000 sacks of whiskey.

Roundsman William Maugan, of the customs service, suffered a fractured knee when he tried to halt a truck.

Son Of Alfonso Is Persuaded Not To Wed Girl Of Choice

PARIS, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—Don Jaime of Bourbon has been persuaded by his father, former King Alfonso XIII of Spain, from marrying the girl of his choice.

The 21-year-old prince, second son of Alfonso, informed his parents a few days ago that he was going on a "little automobile trip" from the residence at Fontainebleau where the Spanish royal family has been established since ousted from Spain.

Persons close to the family declared the purpose of the trip was a wedding ceremony to be performed secretly at Bayonne early this week. Nothing was learned about the girl, except that she was Spanish.

All necessary papers had been made ready for the ceremony. When friends of the family learned of the preparations they notified former Queen Victoria, who passed the word on to Alfonso.

The former king instructed Don Jaime to write a letter of renunciation to the girl, and the prince is understood to have complied with his father's order.

Arkansas Fails To Hold Out Too Much As Divorce Market

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—Matrimonial malcontents rushing into Arkansas to obtain divorces under the state's new 90-day residence law, had better be careful in their choice of chancery courts.

For instance, a prayer meeting presided over by the mother-in-law would probably be the informal decree handed down by Chancellor J. Y. Stevens of Magnolia. He says this solves marital difficulties in the greater number of cases.

Chancellors were gathered here yesterday from all parts of the state in their annual meeting. The new divorce state apparently found slight favor among the majority of chancellors. Of the seven present out of 14 in the state, three were frankly antagonistic, three were silent, and only one, Chancellor Frank H. Dodge of Little Rock, discussed it with any degree of tolerance. The chancellor from Hot Springs, branded as a divorce center, was not present.

The sanctity of the home and the seriousness of the marital state, were stressed by Chancellor Harvey B. Lucas of Pine Bluff, who said this divorce situation "is a threat to our civilization."

Chancellor C. M. Wofford of Van Buren is determined would-be divorcees must show they moved to Arkansas with the intention of becoming citizens, and not primarily to get divorces.

They are not going to put anything over on me," he said. "I question all petitioners and get to the bottom of the situation."

Regulation Of All Communications Is Object Of Couzens

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—An effort to bring telephone, telegraph and radio holding companies under the regulatory power of the federal government will be made in the forthcoming Congress by Senator Couzens of Michigan.

The chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee said yesterday he would introduce a bill to establish a "communications commission" and give it jurisdiction over telephones, telegraph and radio holding companies.

After a lengthy investigation with the aid of a railroad expert, the House investigation of their relations to the last session of Congress recommended that holding companies be brought under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Michigan senator pointed out that under the law of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the railroad has authority to reach the holding companies which control the rail-

Japs Won't Have 3rd Party Intervention

TOKYO, Dec. 4.—(A.P.)—A spokesman for the Japanese foreign office today declared Ambassador Kokiichi Yoshizawa, Japan's representative at the League of Nations' council, has been instructed by the government that Japan does not propose to "accept any third party intervention" in any neutral zone to be established between the Chinese and Japanese in Manchuria.

"That's positive," the spokesman said. Foreign Minister Baron Shidehara said Ambassador Yoshizawa is instructed not to consider the suggestion of the Chinese spokesmen at the League perley that neutral observers participate in the Sino-Japanese negotiations over the same limits and policing there.
