Pravda Attack

States too," it said.

"The cynicism of dollar atomic diplomacy, the greed of American monopolists and the greed of unchacked expansion covered by the ugliest Truman Doctrine has liquidated without the faintest traces the prestige of American foreign policy won by Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Pravda said Acheson "does not want to admit responsibility for the situation rests greatly on those American politicians and diplomats who have become loudspeakers and conductors of deeply subversive tendencies dangerous for the world."

"One should have this kind of thing in mind, when Acheson has had a few predecessors, especially in the nations of the Far East, Acheson may be characterized as in the category of persons little interested or blind to in his look as seeking intentionally to ruin the unity which the great powers forged during the war.

"Acheson and his masters apparently feel" that supplies sent to the Soviet Union during the war were "some sort of payment or some financial and political investment, which will allow American imperialism to have some effect on Soviet policy or even to force it to dictate to the Soviet Union on how to handle affairs in ..."

With the obduracy of a dictator, Acheson reiterates in his very projectile speech the assertion that the Soviet Union has forced Communistic regimes on Eastern Europe and obstructed commercial relations with other nations."

"The world knows," Pravda said, the Soviet Union scrupulously maintains international obligations based on upon itself and never interferes in the internal affairs of other states."

Pravda asserted all the European countries illustrated in Pravda "are ready to enjoy economic relations not only with the Soviet Union but with all the rest of the countries as well, and this includes the United States." "Such are the facts, but what does Acheson care for facts?"

The effort to said the countries of Europe did not want to be "enslaved" by Americans in trading.

The article termed the Truman Doctrine "undesirable" and asserted that Acheson's speech was an attempt at justification. The writer said the United States sought to remove responsibility of American diplomacy for conduct of a policy of expansion which contradicts the principles of real collaboration of great powers."

the needs of the country."

Armed Services Mefger a. Rear Admiral Ellis M. Zacharias, declared, told the Senate Armed Services Committee that putting the Army and Navy under the same government department has proved out in pending legislation) would be dangerous to the nation's safety. He said: "History shows that every nation which has had a merger of its armed forces has come down to defeat."

Universal Training — Dr. Daniel Poling, editor of the Christian Herald, contended to the House Armed Services Committee that universal military training is no answer "peacetime conscription" then is universal education. The committee is considering President Truman's request for universal training.

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)— Senator Hedges (R.NH) asked three cabinet officers today to outline global American policy toward what he called Russia's "legalized looting of Germany with printing press money."

Hedges, chairman of a three-member inquiry into the Army's multi-million dollar invasion currency "overdraft," requested the policy declaration from Secretary State Marshall, Secretary of War Patterson and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder.

The "overdraft" resulted from the redemption of millions of German marks printed by Soviet occupation authorities from plates supplied by the American government.

Hedges halted the hearing after devoting two afternoon to testimony from Army officers and then three cabinet officers. He did not say whether Marshall, Patterson and Snyder will testify in person or whether they will be asked to submit statements.

No date was set for the next meeting of the combined Senate Foreign Relations, Armed Services and Banking Committees.

But Hedges and the Administration "cannot ask taxpayers to continue paying out millions of dollars to rehabilitate a wasted world and at the same time allow this legal looting of Germany with printing press money."

Senate passage today of a House-approved bill to extend draft controls for eight months and allow "permissive increases" up to 15 percent was predicted by Senator Buck (R-Del.). Buck, floor manager of the bill, said he saw no obstacles to approval.

Other congressional happenings:

Bulwinkle, a Senate-approved bill to exempt railroads' cooperative rate making activities from the antitrust laws comes before the House Commerce tomorrow. It was passed in the Senate yesterday by a 60 to 27 vote. Foes have expressed hope President Truman will veto it if it passes the House.

Rollins Bequest Suit Will Be Appealed

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., June 19 (AP)—Dr. Frank D. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, said today the University would continue its fight for the disputed $1,500,000 Ackland estate.

Justice Alexander Holtzoff yesterday ruled in Washington's District of Columbia court that the estate left by William Ackland should go to Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla.

Dr. Graham said the university would appeal his decision to the next highest court.

200 members of this Organization from Seminole County will get ahead in this county with every member doing his share and pulling together," Odham stated.

Mr. Bradley revealed Jaycee directors had voted to relieve the Senior Chamber of Commerce of its duties in connection with the Information Center at the Municipal Zoo. They also voted to donate conditionally $100 toward the sponsorship of one entrant in the National Glider Meet in Wichita Falls, Tex. The conditions inculs specifications that the Senior Chamber of Commerce donate $200 in order to complete the sponsorship of the glider.

Five soaring ships will be entered from Sanford and the Chamber of Commerce should jointly sponsor one entrant. All five planes and trailers will carry banners publicizing Seminole County, its citrus and truck farming activities.

Herman (Foots) Brantley, City Recreational Director appeared before the body to ask their support for the city recreation, program.

Mr. Brumley stated that additional funds are needed to expand the program. "The need for some sort of building in which children can play during inclement weather is one of our greatest needs," Mr. Brumley stated.

Odham cited Dan Wright for his exceptional work in securing legislation on the French Avenue project.

"$10,000 has been earmarked by the state for beautification of the Lakeshore Boulevard and this is in line with the resurfacing of Geneva and Celery Avenues," Odham cited. "These have both been Jaycee activities, he added.

New Dealers Hit By John Temple Graves

GAINESVILLE, Fla., June 19 (AP)—Hitting at "perpetual New Dealers" which he described as the "only under-belly of America" John Temple Graves, in an address at the University of Florida last night pointed to free enterprise and the complete defeat of American economy as the only path away from economic chaos and depression.

The southern writer and lecturer pointed to American democracy as the last hope of the stomage, but emphasized the importance of "revitalizing" democracy if the dream of peace on earth is to become a reality.

Pope Pius Addresses Congress At Ottawa

VATICAN CITY, June 19 (AP)—Pope Pius XII in a radio address today asked listeners to "open your eyes" and take cognizance of the fact that in today's problems, "social justice" imposes itself.

He addressed his remarks to the Canadian Congress at Ottawa and spoke for eight minutes in French. Then he changed to English for his bellingual hearers in Canada.

His speech in French was largely one of religious encouragement. In his address the Pontiff implored Canadians to "guard jealously your magnificent traditions."

Truman Urged Not To Abandon Veterans Hospital

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—Senator Russell and Rep. Cox of Georgia took to President Truman today after their fight to prevent the Veterans Administration from abandoning the Finney General Hospital at Thomasville, Ga. After a 15-minute interview with the President, the Georgians quoted him as saying he will "look into the situation."

Both Cox and Russell told reporters they have "been unable to get anywhere" in convincing the Veterans Administration that the $6,000,000 Thomasville hospital should be retained in operation and the agency is in the process of abandoning it now.

The Georgians said they will attempt to prevent construction of a Veterans Hospital at Tallahassee, Fla., 25 miles from Jacksonville, "until an inquiry can be made."

Cox succeeded yesterday in having the House specify no money can be spent on construction at Tallahassee until the House Appropriations Committee has investigated and approved.

He contended the 1,700-bed hospital at Thomasville, which was taken over by the Army and half built, had been declared surplus by the agency. Cox said it is of adequate construction and there is a waiting list of 2,500 veterans seeking rehabilitation in the southeastern states.

GROUP TRANSFERRED

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., June 19 (AP)—The 308th Reconnaissance group, Morrison weather observers of the United States Army, today was transferred from Morrison Army Air Base Field here to Fairfield, Calif., an air base before Aug. 1.

The 308th will remain in administrative control over the 53rd hurricane squadron still at Morrison, in California, it will join one of its units, the 55th squadron.

Morrison Field has been ordered abandoned by the Army.

Paralyzing Effect Of St. Louis Strike Is Becoming Worse

ST. LOUIS, June 19, (AP)—The semi-carnival air which marked the opening days of the paralyzing transportation strike in this city's population of 1,000,000 persons was submerged today under the cold realization of its steadily mounting costs.

As the walkout entered its seventh day with the strikers preparing to vote on a new proposal to return to their jobs, spokesmen for big department stores reported business off millions of dollars in volume with trade running 30 to 40 percent below average.

City officials expressed concern over the effects of the strike on the public health as many medical workers experienced delay in reaching their jobs and field patients were unable to make scheduled visits.

Dr. F. M. Grogan, city health commissioner, said at least 1,000 of the 2,500 employes of city institutions depended on public transportation and were being rounded up by a make-shift fleet of ambulances, trucks and city cars.

Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann who has kept conferees on the public service company and the striking streetcar and bus drivers in "continuous" session seeking a settlement declared:

"Creeping paralysis is choking the life of the community and every day the picture worsens."

While the big town department stores accounted for the major share of the dollar losses in sales, some small retailers were sounding unhappy, reporting business off as much as 50 per cent in some extremes. Grocery stores and amusement houses also were affected but attendance at the St. Louis Cardinals' games has picked up throughout the strike with crowds out two occasions setting records for the season.

The striking operators will vote at two separate meetings today on a proposal by the mayor and the United States Conciliation Service to return to their jobs while the Missouri Public Service Commission takes over new arbitration of the dispute.

The proposal, already accepted by the company, is the fifth offered thus far and requires a majority vote to end the walkout.

U N Defeats Gromyko On Trieste Issue

Soviet Representatives Quit Military Committee In Procedure Wrangle

LAKE SUCCESS, June 20 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council today overrode a Russian attempt to block immediate consideration of a governor for Trieste.

The vote was 9 to 1, with France abstaining. Russia was alone in opposing the British proposal to take the Trieste governorship out of the hands of the Big Four powers and placing it on the Council's agenda.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko objected strenuously to the British proposal. He contended the council could not discuss the election of a governor for the new internationalized territory until the Italian peace treaty was ratified by all the big powers concerned.

British Delegate Sir Alexander Cadogan promptly challenged the Soviet position. He said he was unable to understand the basis for Gromyko's argument.

The council voted to consider the governorship issue in a closed session this afternoon. Russia and Australia abstained.

LAKE SUCCESS, June 20 (AP)—The Soviet representatives withdrew from a meeting of United Nations Military Staff Committee today after a disagreement on procedure.

The committee had met to act on an Australian request for clarification of two articles in the committee's report now under consideration by the Security Council.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko told reporters later that this did not affect the committee's military staff meetings.

$150,000 Will Be Spent On Repair Of County Roads

Norman Bryan, division engineer of the Fifth District State Road Department, today advised Edward Higgins, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, that the following roads in Seminole County are to be repaired during the summer: French Avenue from Seminole Boulevard to the intersection of US 17 south of the City limits; Geneva Avenue from Park Avenue west to the Geneva Bridge; Celery Avenue from the Gateen Bridge to a point 3.5 miles west on Celery Avenue; Seminole Boulevard from Laurel Avenue to the bridge across the St. Johns River at Monroe.

The type of this improvement will be a covering of the present surface with a heavy coat of asphaltic concrete mixture, Mr. Higgins said. This will improve the present surface of the road and will last for a good many years. The cost of these projects will be approximately $150,000 and will necessitate the establishment of an asphalt plant here.

Bids for this work will be advertised immediately. This work is authorized under the Periodic Maintenance Account. The project of French Avenue from Seminole Boulevard to the intersection of US 17 south of town was advocated by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

V. S. Leake, 50, Is Drowned At Sarasota

W. S. Leake, 50 former resident of Sanford, was drowned Wednesday morning at Sarasota early in the morning his body was found floating face downward in the gulf of Mexico in front of the Lido Beach Casino.

While fishermen were attempting to revive him, James Rankin who had arrived with his wife and son, William, from Philadelphia the day before, suddenly noticed that the six year old boy was missing.

The child's body was soon discovered by a youth, Carl Stephens, floating close to the spot where Leake's body was discovered. Firemen transferred the pulmotor to the child, but were unable to revive him. Both men and child were pronounced dead by physicians. The child was drowned while bathed at Lido beach, it was reported.

Mr. Leake, who is associated with the Palmer Farm Growers Cooperative, was a member of the Sanford Farmers Exchange 10 years ago, and Mrs. Leake, who survived him, was well known in local musical circles for her singing ability.

6 Japs Hanged By Navy On Guam For War Atrocities

Execution Time, Place Carefully Guarded; Graves Unmarked

GUAM, June 20, (AP)—Six Japanese, four admirals to private, were hanged last night for wartime atrocities, on a gallows carefully hidden from vengeful Guamanians and their bodies interred in unmarked jungle graves.

The dead and their crimes:

Vice Admiral Kuho Abe, one-time Japanese navy commander on the Marshall Islands, who ordered the execution of nine of the U. S. Marines who raided Makin Island in 1942 from submarines.

Rear Admiral Saburosaki Sakaibara, former commander of Wake, who ordered the execution of 98 Americans there late in the war and who personally beheaded one who escaped the machinegun blasts.

Lieut. Col. Kikuji Ito, who ordered the fatal bayoneting of two downed American fliers on Chichi Jima and who beheaded the corpses.

Capt. Sachoyo Nakajima, who beat an American flier to death on the same island.

Seaman First Class Kaji Shoji, who killed and ate his fellow fugitives after the American liberation of Guam.

Superior Private Kiyoshi Takahashi, also condemned for murder and cannibalism on Jaluit.

The six were marched, one by one, from ambulances to an isolated Quonset warehouse in which gallows had been secretly installed. The Navy command had guarded carefully the place and hour of the execution. None but official witnesses attended.

Railroad Unions Ask Working Rules Change

CHICAGO, June 20 (AP)—Five railroad unions, representing about 350,000 operating employees, today renewed demands for 44 changes in the so-called working rules, the issue that precipitated the nation-wide railroad strike 13 months ago.

Exclusive of this week conferences slotted between carrier representatives and officers of 17 non-operating unions on demands for an extra an hour wage increase and supplemental one cent-an-hour transportation costs $568 million annually, D. P. Loomis, chairman of the Western Carriers Conference Committee, said the 44 rule changes proposed by the five operating unions would add an additional billion dollars annually to railroad costs.

France Plans Tax Bill As Economic Aid

Franc Sags As Public Shaken By Strikes In Stores, Banks, Auto Factories

PARIS, June 20—(AP)—The Cabinet agreed today on a stringent save-the-franc tax program designed to balance the national budget, as continuing bank and department store strikes hit deeply into the national economy.

The franc was beginning to sag, the people's confidence in their money apparently was shaken by announcements indicating that Premier Paul Ramadier had abandoned his efforts to freeze wages and price increases and that Communist prices on French manufactured goods seemed inevitable.

The revenue-bill, designed to add about 140,000,000,000 francs (about $1,166,666,000 at the official rate) to the government's revenue for the remainder of 1947, goes to the National Assembly, where approval is expected. The program means higher costs for bread, milk, farm products, railroad transport, tobacco, gasoline and telegraph and postal rates.

Negotiations continued, meanwhile, between employers and representatives of the workers in about nine huge Paris department stores and a ten cent-stogy chain, all shut down by the strikes of workers demanding higher pay. The nationwide strike of bank employees was in its second day after a government-union management conference last night agreed on a new salary scale

New Pets And Improvements Reported At Zoo

Continual improvements are being made at the Sanford Zoo it was pointed out today by Sheriff Richard, supervisor. He revealed the new concrete supports which are made to replace the rotting wooden ones holding the wire netting around the alligator pool. Calhoun West serves as zoo keeper.

A real bath-tub has been installed in the cage housing three baby otters. They were presented to the zoo by Mrs. A. B. Hodges and Charles Hodges of Orlando, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Calhoun of Jacksonville after the small animals were discovered on a Florida highway.

Other recent gifts include a small and friendly gray fox, a raccoon and a white house cat, all occupying one cage on the friendliest of terms. The raccoon and fox were presented to the zoo by Mrs. Carrie Stall of Glenwood, he announced. Sheriff Dick Pearl, the house cat, that Mrs. Stall brought the cat to the zoo to keep company. An unknown donor left the little fox in a box at the zoo Sunday, and now it romps and plays with its new companions.

Mr. Richard is making plans to enlarge the cage housing the parakeets, small yellow, green and blue birds which have multiplied from the 7 of last year to 40, and which next year will probably number more than 150 he said. At present, two nests are full of young birds.

The mud around Monkey Island contains thousands of small gold fish, now unmolested by the three large bass which some prankster put in the pool last year. Police at the bass, said Richard. However, the bass spawned, and there remains the problem of arresting the bass from the gold fish.

The Sanford Zoo attracts many visitors, some of whom remain the whole day and some only a few minutes, under the thatched shelters, said Mr. Richard. Rest rooms are located by the new Tourist Information Building.

State Head Elected By Future Farmers

ORLANDO, Fla., June 20, (AP)—Meeting today in closed session, the State Board of Control under the chairmanship of J. Thomas Gurney, Orlando prepared to hear presentations of the proposed budgets for the various institutions of higher learning in Florida.

At the invitation of the board, Secretary of State Robert A. Gray will appear as representative of the State Board of Education.

Budgets to be agreed upon are those of the University of Florida, Florida State University, Florida Agricultural and Mechanical College (negro), and the Florida School for the Deaf and Blind.

Bill Is Called Contrary To Policy Of Economic Freedom; Threat To Workers

WASHINGTON, June 20, (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today delivered a radio speech for tonight to discuss the Taft-Hartley labor union control bill. Jerry Martin, Taft's secretary, said the chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee had arranged to go on the air at 9:45 P. M. Eastern Standard Time on a Mutual Broadcasting Company hook-up. The White House also announced that Mr. Truman will take his nationwide radio time (6:00 P. M. E.S.T.) directly to the people in a broadcast tonight. He will speak over all networks for about 15 minutes beginning at 9 P. M., Eastern Standard Time.

WASHINGTON, June 20, (AP)—President Truman today vetoed the Taft-Hartley Labor Control Bill, saying it violates principles essential to our public welfare.

Mr. Truman said the legislation is "completely contrary" to basic national policy of "economic freedom."

The President declared the "National Emergency" provisions of the vetoed bill would encourage rather than prevent, giant stoppages like those in coal or steel. The "ineffective and discriminatory" machinery would "be certain to do more harm than good," Mr. Truman's veto message said.

The machinery consists of a presidential board of inquiry, an 80-day waiting without a strike or lock-out, the board investigation, a secret ballot of workers on whether offer, and finally, submission of to accept their employer's last dispute to Congress. The waiting period would be enforced by court order.

"Such an election would almost inevitably result in a vote to reject the employer's offer, since such action amounts to a vote of confidence by the workers in their bargaining representatives," the President wrote.

The union would then be reinforced by a dynamic demonstration, under the government auspices, of its strength for further negotiations. The strike or lockout

Jewish Group Says Job Discrimination Aid To Communism

WASHINGTON, June 20, (AP)—The Jewish Labor Committee declared today that job discrimination in the United States "is doing more for the spreading of Communism than can hordes of totalitarian agents."

Adolph Held, chairman of the committee, appealed for enactment of legislation which would set up a national commission against discrimination in employment because of race or creed.

Held, who said his committee speaks for 500,000 Jewish workers, declared in a statement prepared for a Senate Labor subcommittee:

"Every item of discrimination which can be shown to exist in the United States serves as fuel for the totalitarian propaganda machine. This propaganda machine, the most powerful in the world, has at its disposal every instance of discrimination, every racial outburst which they can truthfully describe as present in the United States."

The Anti-Discrimination Bill, sponsored by Senator Ives (R-NY) and others, would vest a national commission with authority to enforce its decisions after failure of mediation efforts.

Curley Ordered Into Court For Commital

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Attorneys for Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, in sentence to serve six to 18 months in jail on mail fraud charges, were directed today to have him in district court here next Thursday for commital.

The Mayor is in Calvaset, Mass., hospital where he is reported seriously ill with diabetes and hypertension. His physicians said today he is recovering and may be able to leave the hospital within a week.

Republicans Hit Truman's Veto Of Labor Legislation

Radical Elements Declared To Control Democratic Party

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Republican leaders today denounced President Truman's veto of the labor bill as open defiance of the people's will and as a surrender to "radical elements" in the Democratic party. Democrats at the Capitol had nothing to say about Mr. Truman's action at the time being.

Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican National Committee, called the veto a "plain defiance of the will of the American people, as expressed in in the recent 1946 election. He, Reece added in a statement:

"An obvious attempt to preserve the administration's alliance with the political Action Committee and its assorted subsidiary allies" and an open bid for a fifth a third term for the new Deal."

House Republican leader Charles Halleck, Indiana, said that the labor bill and the tax reduction legislation, which Mr. Truman vetoed, earlier were both "enacted by the Congress in response to the desire of the overwhelming majority of our people."

"In vetoing them," Halleck said, "President truman has yielded to the demands of the bigger, the organizing of pressure groups, and to the threats of radicals and Communists who would like nothing more than to see our economy falter, and chaos result."

Rep. Hartley (R.N.J.), chairman of the House Labor Committee and co-author of the labor bill, spurned

Mississippi River Flood Headed For Record Crests

HANNIBAL, Mo., June 20, (AP)—The mighty Mississippi River, fed by rampaging streams in long and Missouri, spread headed for record crests today as flood waters threatened communities and farmlands in the Hannibal-Quincy (Ill.) area.

Hundreds remained homeless in Iowa, Missouri and Illinois from recent floods, other hundreds prepared to evacuate as the Mississippi continued to rise steadily and flood waters, pouring waters soaked and deadened lands, spread out over thousands of acres of land.

With forecasts of near-record marks today and tomorrow workers fought desperately to save the Canton, Mo., levee in Marion county, Ill. The water was expected to top or nearly top this barrier protecting 120,000 acres of land in three counties and several small communities.

Most of the 600 residents in Hull, Ill., evacuated yesterday and took refuge in nearby Kinderhook, where the Red Cross has set up a relief station. The Red Cross estimated about 9,000 persons have been driven from their homes in the ENY Levee district and all of them have been ordered to evacuate by Sheriff Clifford Windsor of Pike county, Alexandria, Mo., remained in

Truman Hopes To Make Brazil Visit

WASHINGTON, June 20, (AP)—President Truman today received an official invitation to visit Brazil and the White House said he hopes to be able to go.

The invitation was extended by Brazilian Ambassador Carlos Martins who told reporters upon leaving the executive mansion that Mr. Truman had accepted and hoped to make the trip "as soon as possible."

Martins said the invitation came from President Eurico Gaspar Dutra and that Mr. Truman accepted it with the remark that he was very pleased to go to Brazil.

But White House aides, checked for further details, gave reporters a different version. They said:

"The president told the ambassador he was happy to receive the invitation and hoped he would be able to come."

President Harry Truman Vetoes Hartley - Taft Labor Control Bill; House Votes To Override 331-83

Highlights Of Truman Veto Message

WASHINGTON, June 20, (AP)—In his veto message on the Hartley-Taft labor control bill, President Truman today made the following assertions:

1. "The bill would substantially increase strikes."

2. "The bill unfairly discriminates against the workers, certain leaders of labor organizations, and those organizing, and thus restricts the area of voluntary agreement."

3. "The bill would encourage employers to make contracts by which they would be protected against legitimate activities of employees."

4. "The bill would deny workers of vital protection which they have under the laws."

5. "The bill objects to provisions which would result in hardships to many persons."

6. "The bill would establish an ineffective and flexible procedure for handling disputes which might strike affecting the middle health of safety."

7. "The bill would dangerously aggravate unemployment. It would encourage the use of the employer's strike and as a surrender to 'radical elements' in the Democratic party. Democrats at the Capitol had nothing to say about Mr. Truman's action at the time being.

8. "The bill would unnecessarily delay settlement of disputes by requiring the National Mediation Board to withdraw from collective bargaining with the end of the war emergency on June 30, 1948."

9. "The conference recommended that the government seek an injunction against any strike which in its opinion would imperil the national health or safety. Under the last language Mr. Truman declared the bill would require a court of law to determine whether a strike would imperil the national health or safety, even though the President and his entire executive branch of the government might be convinced that no such peril existed."

10. "The bill would require the filing of non-communist affidavits by labor leaders before their unions could use the services of the National Labor Relations Board. This provision would apply to the officers of all international unions, even though they have no connection with the United States."

11. "The bill would prohibit unions from making political contributions or expenditures in connection with any election at which a President, Vice President, Senator or Representative in Congress is to be voted for. This provision would apply to all labor unions, whether local, national or international, even though they have no members in the United States."

MANCHURIA IS IN SERIOUS SPOT AS REDS ADVANCE

By JOHN RODERICK

PEIPING, June 20, (AP)— Chinese Communists smashed into Szepkingkai today, increasing the gravity of the situation of Nationalist forces battling to hold on Manchuria, which some observers feared might be completely lost by the government.

Chinese dispatches said about 6000 Red Army troops had surrounded the battered rail center, 70 miles southwest of Changchun, Manchurian capital. Advance Communist units engaged in street fighting with garrison defenders.

Pushing into the western sector of the downtown area, the attackers wrested control of the Central Bank Building -- provincial government headquarters -- but Nationalists succeeded in recapturing it after bitter fighting, the press accounts said.

The Szepingkai garrison was reported in a desperate plight, consuming ammunition faster than it could be dropped from planes and shelled by Red artillery set up inside the outskirts of the city.

Reports from Manchuria reflected no halt in the Red army's progressive attacks against vital communications lines linking China proper with partially encircled Mukden.

General Sun Li-Jen, deputy commander in Manchuria and former commandant of the new first army, now encircled inside Changchun, was ordered to terminate his Nanking visit and return to Mukden immediately.

The recall of this Virginia Military Institute graduate, observers emphasized, was more evidence of the government's predicament in Manchuria. Military strategists viewed the Communist drive against Fushan -- site of huge coal mines -- as the most immediate threat to Mukden's safety. Field reports placed advance Red units within 15 miles of Fushan.

In North China, the government Central News Agency acknowledged the fall of Tsanghsien on the Tientsin-Pukow line which has been under siege more than a week. Tsanghsien also is an important loading point for UNRRA's movement of relief supplies to Communist areas via the Grand Canal.

Through traffic on the Peiping-Mukden rail line again was halted as the Reds blew up a stretch near Peitaiho, 18 miles south of Shanhaikwan. Other press reports said government troops were withdrawn from points only 12 miles from Yingkow, the government's main sea gateway to Manchuria.

Earlier today, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek told his state council in Nanking he had every confidence in the government's ability to hold two Manchurian strongpoints--Mukden and Changchun--against the spreading offensive of the Communists.

"When these are secure," he told his state council, "the outlook in the north is not pessimistic."

The state council, after hearing the Generalissimo's review approved Premier Chang Chun's new economic plan and emergency economic regulations, recommending their merger into a single, workable program. Chang's plan, council members said later, was expressed in broad, general terms and called for stabilization of currency, reduction of expenditures and increases in production.

LEAVING his office after presiding for the last time over Jersey City, N. J., Board of Commissioners meeting is Mayor Frank Hague, 71, who is retiring after a 30-year reign. Hague, in leaving public office for private life, turned over the reins of Mayor to his nephew, Frank H. Eggers. (International)

Cigarettes In Britain Now Cost 68 Cents

LONDON, June 20, (AP)—The British smoker is lighting six cigarettes nowadays for every 10 he smoked before the price shot upward April 15, the National Association of Retail Tobacconists reported today.

Popular brands now cost 68 cents per package of 20, compared with 48 cents before the government, to cut dollar spending for tobacco, increased the cost. Some people have stopped smoking altogether and others smoke only during their leisure hours.

16,000 Germans Are Out On Food-Strike

COLOGNE, Germany, June 20, (AP)—This city's "too hungry to work" strike spread today until it included 16,000 workers in 21 factories.

The workers presented no formal demands but simply said they lacked the strength to do their jobs since the bread ration was halved this week to two pounds. British officials said they were hopeful that food conditions could be improved so that the workers would return to their jobs Monday.

Apologies Sought For "Mocking" Wallace

LONDON, June 20, (AP)—The New Statesman and Nation, sponsor of Henry A. Wallace's recent tour of Britain, wants apologies from Britons and Americans who "mocked him as a man who represented nobody and nothing."

"We await their apologies as they watch the spectacular success of Mr. Wallace's journey across the U. S.," the weekly said today. It declared the Marshall aid-for-Europe proposals were borrowed from Wallace's preachings.

MEMBERS OF THE CREW of the S.S. America are pictured leaving their ship in New York, some with baggage, just "in case" their vessel does not sail as scheduled. The men had signed up for just one trip. Meanwhile, Joseph Curran, leader of the CIO's National Maritime Union, has demanded that unless decent proposals are made "we'll pull out everything on the waterfront." Over 700 vessels are already tied up. (International)

Schools Praised For Traffic Education

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—Dr. Forrest E. Long of the New York University faculty told President Truman's safety conference yesterday that the most encouraging aspect of traffic safty education is the reduction of fatalities among children.

Dr. Long, reporting for the conference's education advisory group, said:

"While we were experiencing a 16 percent increase in motor vehicle deaths of all ages, we were reducing the deaths of the five-year to 14-year group a full four percent. "In the face of the great increase in traffic, this record is remarkable indeed and is a positive tribute to the contribution to the schools are making to the solution of the traffic problem."

Booklets Available At Power Company

A booklet full of Florida scenes in which Sanford is mentioned among points of interest has been issued by the Florida Power and Light Company. It is titled "Let's Stay at Home, Play at Home This Summer."

It is available free of charge to both Chambers of Commerce, business houses and individuals, said H. H. Coleman, district company manager. Originally a "feature section of the June" issue of the Florida Power and Light Company's house organ, "Sunshine Service News," it attracted such wide interest that it has been reprinted in booklet form.

In addition to this, the "Summer-gram" will also be available at the company's office soon. This is a post card inviting vacationists to come south to water-cooled Florida. Over a million of these have been issued free, according to Mr. Coleman.

SCHOOL FOR COACHES

LARAMIE, Wyo., (AP)—Three of the nation's foremost athletic coaches will instruct at Wyoming's coaching school, to be held at the University Summer Camp, Aug. 4-8. Henry (Red) Saunders of Vanderbilt, Jack Gray of Texas and Mike Ryan of Wyoming will lecture on football, basketball and track, respectively, for the benefit of high school coaches in the area.

Hollywood
By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 20, (AP)—In the past few months, observers have suspected that something new was happening to the movie industry and Tyrone Power thinks he can put his finger on it:

"The studios have discovered that they can no longer dictate to the public."

The Cincinnati-born actor viewed the matter economically, pointing out that during the war people planned to pay $100 for needed items, such as refrigerators. "Now they find that such items cost $225," he declared on the "Nightmare Alley" set. "So, to make way for these necessities, they have to cut down on other expenses, such as the movies. They go only once in a while, instead of several times a week. And when they do go, they are choosy, and rightly so."

Studios cannot force a second-rate picture on the public, said Ty, nor a second-rate star. "There was a time when they could plaster the billboards with a new personality and make him a star," he said. "But these boys have found out when the public doesn't see anything in this personality, he doesn't sell.

The studios are now keeping a weather eye on preview reaction cards and fan mail, he added. When the people ordain "we'd like to see more of so-and-so," they get more of so-and-so." There is no more underestimation of the critical ability of the public, he said, citing a graphic illustration.

"This studio lost a million dollars," he said, as a 20th-Fox representative winced., "in their advertising for 'The Razor's Edge.' They made their mistake by calling it the best film ever made. "That's all the public has to hear to stay away in droves."

Those brilliant, over-colored films ("Duel in the Sun" was the worst offender) may be on the decline. Lewis Milestone says he is filming "The Red Pony" in the brown 'San Fernando Valley instead of seeking the bright colors of Utah and Colorado. And Michael Curtis says his "Romance In High C" is being done in pastels, not the usual screaming reds, blues and greens.

Claude Jarman, the over-size 13-year-old, will play a lad of 16 in "Roughshod," and he'll have to smoke a cigarette. But don't worry, it'll be ground corn, not tobacco. Lana Turner is the latest who is reported planning flying lessons. That's one way to keep up with Ty Power.

"Living In A Big Way" is a suitable vehicle for Gene Kelly's return from the Navy. The film, which deals with war marriages and veteran housing, is burdened with a large plot and much talk, a lot of it pointless. But it is a pleasant charade and it provides a backdrop for three Kelly musical numbers. Oh how that man can dance! Marie McDonald offers bodily support.

Wedding Coiffure Should Be Simple

By BETTY CLARKE

When planning your bridal hairdo, try to pick a romantic coiffure. See if you can persuade your bridesmaids to leave the frou-frou and feathers for somebody else. Yours should be a soft, attractive hair arrangement that will not need lacquer to keep it in place.

Stiffly lacquered updos are definitely out, says New York hairdresser John Hall. During summer, women want cool hair arrangements. With a good basic permanent the hair brush can be wielded vigorously to give a lovely gloss and a natural looking curl.

With this in mind Mr. Hall has designed for the young bride a demi-updo—the "waterfall coif"—which can be a beautiful complement to her bridal veil, and easily manageable on her honeymoon.

The hair is parted in the center, gathered either at the back of the head or at the nape of the neck. An elastic band or a bit of string is used to anchor it in place; two curls are formed out of the back hair. On the length of the hair, of course, depends the length of the curl.

The important thing about this hairdo, says Mr. Hall, is that it won't be a nuisance to care for. Just before you go to bed at night, twist the hair ends into one large curl and you won't need lots of pins to keep it in shape until you recomb.

MANCHURIA IS IN SERIOUS SPOT AS REDS ADVANCE

By JOHN RODERICK

PEIPING, June 20, 6:40 p.m.—Chinese Communists smashed into Szepkingkai today, increasing the gravity of the situation of Nationalist forces battling to hold on Manchuria, which some observers feared might be completely lost by the government.

Chinese dispatches said about 6000 Red Army troops had surrounded the battered rail center, 70 miles southwest of Changchun, Manchurian capital. Advance Communist units engaged in street fighting with garrison defenders.

Pushing into the western sector of the downtown area, the attackers wrested control of the Central Bank Building — provincial government headquarters — but Nationalists succeeded in recapturing it after bitter fighting; the press accounts said.

The Szepingkai garrison was reported in a desperate plight, consuming ammunition faster than it could be dropped from planes and shelled by field artillery set up inside the outskirts of the city.

Reports from Manchuria reflected, as halt in the Red army's progressive attacks against vital communications lines linking China proper with partially encircled Mukden.

General Sun Li-jen, deputy commander in Manchuria and former commandant of the new first army, now encircled inside Changchun, was ordered to terminate his Nanking visit and return to Mukden immediately.

The recall of this Virginia Military Institute graduate, observers speculated, was more evidence of the government's predicament in Manchuria. Military strategists viewed the Communist drive against Fushan — site of huge coal mines — as the most immediate threat to Mukden's safety. Field reports placed advance Red units within 15 miles of Fushan.

In North China the government Central News Agency acknowledged the fall of Tsanghsien on the Tientsin-Pukow line which has been under siege more than a week. Tsanghsien also is an important loading point for UNRRA's movement of relief supplies to Communist areas via the Grand Canal.

Fighting raging on the Peiping-Mukden rail line again was halted as the Reds blew up a stretch near Pottaikou, 18 miles south of Shanhaikwan. Other press reports said government troops were

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

YOU CANNOT EVADE YOUR RESPONSIBILITY BY TELLING YOUR BROTHER TO A GREAT EXTENT WE ARE OUR BROTHER'S KEEPER, ESPECIALLY THROUGH OUR EXAMPLE, OUR CHARITY: Am I my brother's keeper.—Gen. 4:9

If Russia, the United States and Britain have another conference, we hope Mr. Attlee, Mr. Truman and Mr. Stalin check their 44s at the door.

The Senate has passed 60 to 22 a bill which would prohibit the U. S. Justice Department from prosecuting American railroads for doing what the U. S. Interstate Commerce Commission may authorize with respect to freight rates. Local Communists will be interested to know that Senator Holland voted for the bill; Senator Pepper against.

If there will be no reduction in income taxes this year, at least there will be no increase in Social Security taxes. The House has voted unanimously to freeze the payroll tax for old age insurance at 1 percent for two more years. Although small in percentage, as compared with income taxes, these payroll taxes can be infinitely more of a burden, for a business has to pay the payroll tax whether it is making money or not, but all there is no net income, there is no income tax.

Norman Thomas for more than 20 years America's No. 1 Socialist is no Communist. He disagrees with Henry Wallace, as he does with Harry Truman on the proper road to peace. "Isn't it fantastic nonsense," he asks, "to propose these things (loans and so forth to Europe) without stopping the armament race? Why release money and resources for a possible Soviet bloc to use against us?" In this argument we think we are inclined to agree with Mr. Thomas. Neither the Wallace appeasement policy or the Truman Doctrine quite satisfies us.

There is every reason in the world to believe there will be no infantile paralysis epidemic in Florida this summer as this state got more than its full share last summer and such things usually come in cycles five or ten years apart. Nevertheless, summer weather means flies, mosquitoes, roaches and other bugs and pests, all of which are germ carriers, of one kind and another, and while we might not have infantile paralysis we might have something else just as bad. So get out the old spray gun, give them a dose of DDT and let's get rid of the bugs.

Although American newspapers are using more newsprint than ever before, and more newsprint is being produced, newsprint inventories (amount on hand at each newspaper plant) reached their lowest point in many years during the month of May. Newspaper circulation throughout the country is at an all time peak and advertising lineage is also near record breaking proportions, thus accounting for increased newsprint consumption, and for the newsprint shortage. Smaller newspapers are likely to have more trouble getting newsprint under such conditions than larger newspapers because the mills naturally would prefer to have a few large customers than a lot of small ones.

Inventory Of Assets

Additional and large-scale requests for American help in both Europe's and Asia's rehabilitation make it essential that the United States set up a balance sheet of its resources, so says Michigan's Senator Vandenberg. His suggestion follows close on the heels of Secretary of State Marshall's announcement that there is vast need for further foreign aid from the United States.

American contributions from now on will not be for relief, but instead will be directed toward preventing economic and social collapse in many parts of the world, said the senator, who added: "American self-interest demands a sound over-all inventory of our own productive powers and our wealth to determine within what latitudes this country may safely and wisely plan such foreign co-operation. Also it must be made clear to our foreign friends that such aid is not a substitute for depending on themselves. The problem should be faced as a whole rather than dealing with anticipated crises, one by one."

While Mr. Vandenberg is a Republican, his reputation for bi-partisan co-operation on foreign policy, established in his position as chairman of Congress' foreign relations committee, will give broad significance to his statement and to the importance, as he sees it, of having the proposed national inventory made by a bi-partisan group of experts.

What he suggests is in effect the procedure of any well-run business, namely, to take an inventory before it draws additional loans on appraisal of assets. Only in this way can a healthy fiscal balance be attained, with reassurance to American citizens and respect for us abroad.

Say It With "Goodbye"

Telephone service has become so much a part of modern living that its great convenience seems to be taken for granted. So much so, that the use is now in danger of becoming abuse. With increasing frequency there are reports that subscribers engaged in personal conversation refuse to relinquish the line in cases of emergency.

As a result, houses burn to the ground, or lives are endangered for lack of a doctor's services. This dangerously selfish refusal of co-operation is said to be particularly common on party lines. There two people can prevent use of the telephone by any one of the many other subscribers.

Telephone companies battling with greatly increased demands for service, are beginning to stage educational programs aimed to train the public in the art, for it is an art, of ending conversations quickly and courteously. Telephone officials, who have stressed for so long the smiles in the voices of their operators, are now hoping to get quick and pleasant "goodbyes" from subscribers.

Perhaps we need to be reminded that the telephone, after all, is a utility to be used efficiently and economically for business and personal reasons alike. It should not be regarded as a private social luxury for the use of a few.

Eire Doing Well

Eire is better fed and more warmly housed than any other part of the British Isles, says George Weller, writing from Dublin. He tells of seeing hundreds of fat cattle grazing in green fields, prosperous-looking farms and ample meals purchased in restaurants.

He says that Eire's prosperity and independence are due to the fact that their economy is based on the land instead of an industry, and that their set-up minimizes red tape, which strangles Britain. A shortage of coal exists, as the Irish have always imported coal from England, but they have fast developing hydro-electric power to take its place, at least in part.

So much of Ireland's history has involved famine, disease and warfare, that her people doubtless rejoice over this double blessing of freedom and prosperity, but there is another and more ugly side to this picture. Britain is poor because she fought and won a long and bitter war, a war in which Eire refused to help, and yet received protection.

Her present prosperity is strangely ironic.

Bubble Gum Found Serious Menace To Children's Health

JACKSONVILLE, June 20 (Special)—Bubble gum, apparently public gum may not be as innocent as it seems, according to a report received by the Florida State Board of Health this week.

The Federal Food and Drug Administration has advised the State Board of Health that a number of the "younger generation," in several states, ardent users of the rubbery substance, has suffered ill effects from chewing and blowing of various brands of bubble gum.

However, to date, no such cases have been reported in the Florida State Health agency.

According to the report, certain brands of gum have caused harmful symtoms such as nausea, vomiting, sore throat, sore mouth, diarrhea and headaches among youngsters. Louisiana, Alabama, North and South Carolina have reported occurrences of such accidents while two deaths in North Carolina were thought to have been caused by bubble gum.

The most probable cause of skin injury as a result of bubbles popping in the face is the use of synthetic compounds or resins, or phenolic acid in its manufacture, declares the Food and Drug Administration. If the injury is a chemical or intestinal injury, it may be due to other ingredients such as flavoring in the gum.

Going barefoot in this hot weather feels good for lots of youngsters and adults too, but it can lead to a serious trouble, according to a warning issued this week by the Florida State Board of Health.

A skin disease called "creeping eruption" or larva migrans is very prevalent in Florida, declares Dr. Edwin Riley, epidemiologist, especially in hot weather, when folks are inclined to shed their shoes and when cats and dogs are allowed more freedom to roam.

Cats and dogs enter the picture, pointed out Dr. Riley, when they scratch a hookworm they have which passes its eggs into the feces of the animals. These eggs when they develop on the ground and come in contact with human skin, can cause an irritating skin condition.

When the worm enters the skin, usually through the feet or hands, it causes intense itching and, within a period of five days, a little curved elevation can be seen, indicating the course the worm takes as it wanders around under the skin.

Dr. Riley stressed that if this condition is not treated it may become secondarily infected and lead to a very serious illness.

So you, wise one, are in the habit of going without footwear, or digging barefooted in your garden, should keep a sharp lookout for any evidences of creeping eruption. Consult your physician if you notice symptoms of the disease.

43 Job Openings Are Listed With FSES

Of the 255 applicants in Seminole County seeking jobs through the Sanford office of the Florida State Employment Service, 227 are receiving unemployment compensation benefits, Mrs. Betty J. Moseley, manager of the office said today in discussing the employment situation in this area.

Compensated unemployment in this county during the week ending May 31, registered as out-of work through no fault of their own and available for suitable employment, were classified as: professional and managerial 3, clerical and sales, 3, skilled, 5, semi-skilled, 3, and unskilled, 3, Agriculture, 18.

According to the most recent count there were 43 job openings; 11 for women and 32 for men listed at the local office. The greatest demand is for stenographers, sales clerks, foofers, sewing machine operators (single and double needle).

Despite these opportunities many trained and skilled applicants do not meet the specifications of employers on age, experience and physical condition.

While 120, including 76 veterans were placed in jobs through the Sanford FSES office in May, 194 veterans and 71 non-veterans including 39 women are still seeking employment at the beginning of June. This later sought is comprised chiefly of truck drivers, farm workers and general laborers.

Statewide Unemployment Compensation payments amounted to $331,185 and were made to 9,415 persons during the week ending May 31. These figures do not include allowances paid to 15,467 unemployed veterans from May 1 through May 24, $342,044 during the same period.

Mrs. Moseley urged employers to list all job openings with the Florida State Employment Service so that maximum employment can be obtained in the community. Job orders and applications for jobs should be made at the FSES office located at 112 N. Park Avenue. Job orders will be taken over telephone No. 66.

WORD MAGIC

A SURVEY of the National A Punsters' League showed the anagram to be the most popular form of poser among its active members.

Making of an anagram consists in transposing the letters of a word or phrase so as to produce another word or phrase having a meaning similar to that of the original. For example, take the word HIBERNATES. Rearrangement of the letters of this word contains anti-arctic by the bear—hibernate, and that they remain in torpidity and seclusion during an extended period, usually winter. Consequently, if the word is rearranged to produce THE BEAR'S IN, a well-nigh perfect anagram is formed.

So, this seem simple enough and easy of accomplishment; yet the perfect anagram is a rarity, and it is this elusiveness, perhaps, that makes the anagram so intriguing to and popular with the hobbyists who compose the National Puzzlers' League. It was an NPL member who found what has been described as the most perfect anagram ever discovered: THE EYES—THEY SEE.

One help in the solution or creation of anagrams that was discovered by addicts long ago, is a box of squares of cardboard bearing the letters of the alphabet. With these, different combinations of letters and words may be easily and quickly arranged and tried. The squares may be made by clipping headlines from your newspaper and pasting it on shirt-boards.

Try your wits on these anagrams:

1. ARE FAUSTY.
2. A ROTTING INSIDE.
3. SIN BITES.
4. NO LIE. BET OVER IT.

Remember, in each case, the solution is a word or phrase of similar meaning composed of the identical letters.

Della Covington Is Wed To R.P. Galloway

The marriage of Della Edith Covington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Covington, to Richard Preston Galloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Preston Galloway of Florence, S. C., was solemnized in a simple ceremony performed on June 16 at 5:30 o'clock in the First Baptist Church with Dr. W. F. Brooks, Jr., officiating during the ceremony. A background of white gladioluses and potted palms formed a lovely setting for the wedding.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress of chalk-tone with white accessories. Her corsage was of white orange blossoms, cornations and pink rose buds.

Her matron of honor and only attendant was Mrs. Marion Conway who wore a blue floral print gown with white accessories and a corsage of forget-me-nots. Harvey Covington, brother of the bride, served as best man for the groom.

Mrs. Covington wore for her daughter's wedding a dress of gray crepe with white accessories and Mrs. Galloway chose a pink silk dress with white accessories.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for a short wedding trip to Daytona Beach and are now en route to Augusta, Ga., where Mr. Galloway will work with the Ford Motor Company. They will live in Augusta.

Mrs. Galloway eventually expects to make their home in Sanford.

Mrs. Galloway is a graduate of the local high school and attended the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Galloway of Florence.

IN A CONTEST staged at the Fashion Fair in New York, Gloria Lytell of Miami, Fla., was chosen as the most photogenic non-professional model. Her prize is a guarantee of $5,000 in modeling fees from members of the American Society of Photographic Illustrators. (International)

The throne is the ancestor of all chairs which originally were symbols of authority and rule.

BRADENTON, FLA.—Esther Williams, lovely MGM star currently working in the technicolor production "On An Island With You," was so captivated with the semi-tropical beauty of Florida's West Coast that she decided to make California her resource and refused to leave "location" until she had bought part of the island for herself. The spot is nearby Anna Maria Island, locale of dramatic scenes in the photoplay, and Miss Williams' homesite is located between the airport and Gulf beaches. J. E. Holmes wields the pen while Miss Williams "ties down" the property.

Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, June 20, (AP)—In the past few months, observers have suspected that something new was happening to the movie industry and Tyrone Power finish by can't put his finger on it.

"The studios have discovered that they no longer dictate to the public."

The Cinemagic boss, actor, star and director explained, blocking out that during the war people planned to pay $100 for bobby sox jeans, now they won't pay $20. Now they find that such things cost $225. They also pull on the Nightmare Alley" set. "So they pay for those nevertheless because they have to cut down on other expenses, such as the movies. CELERY FEDS TO MEET SENATORS THERE TONIGHT

Bill Stanton Slated To Hurl; Teams Return Here To Play Tomorrow Evening

Herald Sports Editor

The Sanford Celery Feds motor to Tinker Field in Orlando tonight to meet the Orlando Senators in a scheduled nine inning affair, if Jupiter Pluvious does not open the valves and wash away the contest.

The Feds, as well as the Sens, have been suffering from rained out tilts. Orlando has not played a contest on their home field in ten days and the locals have appeared on the Municipal Park but once since Tuesday a week ago.

Manager Don Murray will likely send big Bill Stanton to the hill to face the Senators, who will have right handed Gene Major slanting the balls across the platter.

Last night the Sanford-Leesburg Pirate contest, scheduled to be played at the Municipal Park, was rained out. Just prior to game time a deluge descended upon the field and at 6:30 o'clock the diamond was practically covered with water. In some spots, it was reported, there were three inches of water on the ground.

Tomorrow night the Feds are slated to play host to the Orlando Senators and Sunday afternoon the locals play St. Augustine in the Ancient City.

Top Golfers Remain In Dixie Tourney

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 20, (AP)—George Hamer, the defending champion from Columbus, Ga., carried the banner for the form strokers in the Southern Amateur Golf Tournament today, but he had for company in the quarter-finals some of Dixie's foremost fairway artists.

Hamer, the National Intercollegiate Champ, refused to fall into the down wind that yesterday caught record-breaking medalist Charley Harper of Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla., and the campaigner who conquered him, Bill Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C. Patton, after outlasting Harper, bowed to Hunter Weddington of Meridian, Miss.

Challenging Hamer's efforts to repeat in the 41st annual championship meet of the Southern Golf Association over the 6,531-yard, 72-par Audubon Country Club course, were such sturdy strokers as Jim Ryan, Rome, Ga., and Tommy Barnes, Atlanta, winner of every major dixie crown except the Southern Amateur.

Soldiers Overseas Suggest Hurlers For All-Star Combines

CHICAGO, June 20, (AP)—Eddie Dyer of the St. Louis Cardinals and Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox, as managers of the National and American League all-star teams which meet here July 8, will pick their own pitching staffs, but soldiers overseas have made some suggestions.

In the stars and stripes, collecting ballots in the Army's European Command, the soldiers nominated Warren Spahn, of Boston, Schoolboy Rowe, of Philadelphia, Harry Brecheen of St. Louis and Ewell Blackwell of Cincinnati in the National League.

The top pitchers in the American League, as named by the soldiers, were Bob Feller of Cleveland, Hal Newhouser of Detroit, Spud Chandler of New York and Dave Ferriss of Boston.

Joe DiMaggio was the top individual vote-getter in the latest compilation of votes from the entire network of polls, DiMaggio had been named on 173,251 of the 419,689 ballots tabulated.

NEW FOUND POWER

NEW YORK—(AP)—Among the oddities in the National League this season is the home run hitting of two former Coast League players, Earl Torgerson, Boston Braves' first baseman, and Bill Rigney, the New York Giants' third sacker. Both wear glasses and this year they have hit more home runs than any one season in their baseball careers. Before this season, Torgerson's top was five and Rigney's three.

Red Hats Attacked For Player Classification By A's

SILVER SPRINGS, June 20, (Special)—Florida State League President Al Combs, plagued throughout the season by charges and counter-charges, had a new one before him tonight, this one lodged against the DeLand Red Hats by the Palatka Azaleas.

In a formal telegram to league headquarters here this morning, Jeff Emerson, director of the Palatka club, charging that "we have definite proof that Ted Rosa is a veteran" instead of a limited service man, demanded action against DeLand for carrying more than the maximum number of veterans allowed each club.

Under league rules each club is allowed but three veterans on its active roster. Rosa has been carried as a limited service player since the season's opening, while for several weeks at the same time the DeLand roster listed Bill Steinecke, Chuck Aleno and Eugene Ciolek as veterans. More recently Jim Schantel, Harold Stewart, and Bud Wampler were carried as veterans. Combs had the charges under consideration tonight.

OLD UN-FAITHFUL

NEW YORK (AP)—Francis Patrick Dunne, steward for the New York State Racing Commission, was a trainer of horses until one day 20 years ago when he abruptly changed professions. Dunne was training a horse named "Old Faithful." He confidently backed the nag on numerous losing occasions, and then he gave up on him. Of course the horse breezed in, unencumbered by any wager from Dunne, and paid better than 100-1. "Right then I turned in my trainers' license," says Dunne.

NEW FACES FOR BURT

NEW YORK, (AP)—Burt Shotton, Brooklyn manager, last piloted a team in 1933. At that time only one of the current National League managers was at the head of a senior circuit ball team, Charley Grimm of the Chicago Cubs. Grimm dropped out in 1938 and returned in 1944.

THIS DRAMATIC ON-THE-SPOT PHOTO was made as rescue workers carried the limp body of Georganna Emery, 23, student nurse at the Latrobe, Pa., Hospital, from Kingston Dam, near Latrobe. She had been dragged into a sewer by powerful currents while swimming. A two-hour attempt to revive her proved futile. (International Soundphoto)

COMMENTS from the SIDELINES

By ARTHUR BECKWITH, JR.

FISH AND GAME REPORT

Percy M. Hansen, publisher of the Forida Sportsman, says that the biennial report of the Florida State Game and Fresh Water Commission for a two year period ending Dec. 31, 1946, shows some startling expenditures.

During the period 167 officers made only 1971 arrests. This means that each officer made less than six arrests a year.

The salaries and traveling expenses alone for the 167 officers was $523,237.64. This is well over one-half million dollars.

The cost per arrest, not including telephone and telegraph charges, premiums on bonds, legal advertising, premiums on compensation insurance, equipment purchases and maintenance of equipment; all of which are listed as field expenses, was $265.36!

In other words, one fisherman would have to buy a $2.00 license for the next 132 years to pay for the salaries and expenses of one arrest.

Hansen stated that 645 arrests were made for fishing without licenses.

The Florida Sportsman magazine advocates a constitutional amendment or law which would require the Florida State Game and Fresh Water Commission to spend at least 50 cents from every dollar collected in hunting and fishing licenses for the restocking of our fields, lakes and streams.

Hansen stated that by spending that amount of money for the replenishing of the Florida wild life we would have the fishing and hunting paradise of the nation. It is worth thinking about.

FED FANS

We have heard numerous complaints recently concerning the sportsmanship of the Sanford Celery Fed fans.

We had one man tell us yesterday that the griping of some fans during the past few weeks has been driving people from the Municipal Park.

It is true that we do not have the best ball club in the Florida State League, because if we did we would be on top of the ladder, but we must realize that the boys are doing their best.

Sanford never has been a town tagged with the moniker of a poor sport. We do not want that to start now.

We should support a sixth place club as well as we would one in the first division, not only with our presence at the park but also with our words. Those boys like to be praised. They are just beginning their careers in baseball. Kind words mean more than any of us can dream they do.

Let's be a little more considerate of the players and the fans about us when we attend these tilts. No one likes a continual griper.

DePaul Nine Unbeaten After 21-Year Lapse

CHICAGO (AP)—De Paul University students are happy, that baseball was revived after a lapse of 21 years. Their team finished the season with a perfect record in nine games.

Highlight of the campaign was the perfect game pitched by Sophomore Don Arenz, southpaw. Not a man reached first base as Arenz fanned 12 while blanking Morgan Park Junior College, 11-0.

Arnold Harovitz led the hitters with a .473 average compiled on nine hits in 19 trips to the plate.

CARDS IMPROVE ONE WAY

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite their dismal early season showing, the St. Louis Cardinals started this year with a better night game record than they had last season when they won the pennant. The Cardinals gained the decision in the first four arc light tilts of 1946. This season they ran off a string of seven straight night wins before Chicago stopped them.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Rudy York, White Sox, hit two-run homer to cap Chicago's four-run rally in the fifth inning, assuring 6-4 triumph over Yankees.

Kirby Highbee, Pirates, became first Pitsburgh pitcher in last 20 starters to go the route, limiting hard-hitting Giants to eight hits in 12-2 victory.

LEGION JUNIORS MEET MINDEN, LA. HERE TONIGHT

The Sanford American Legion Junior baseball aggregation will meet the Minden, La. Legion aggregation at the Municipal Park tonight at 8:00 o'clock in what promises to be an outstanding contest.

Teddy Brooklyn, a southpaw hurler, will be the likely choice to handle hurling duties for the Sanford team. Byron Beard will receive.

The local nine has received 12 new uniforms and will make their appearance in them for the first time tonight.

The uniforms are grey with navy blue trimmings. Each shirt has a large "S" on the left breast and across the back of the shirt there are names of the purchasers of the uniform. Several business organizations of the city volunteered to outfit the organization.

Those purchasing uniforms include The Family Loan Co., Florida State Bank, Holler Motor Sales, Kader Jewelry, Rockey's Tire Shop, Roumillat and Anderson's, Strickland and Morrison, Yowell Co., Mather Furniture Co., Hill Hardware Co., United Lumber Co., and Hill Lumber Co. There were also several cash donations.

No admission will be charged for the contest and a large crowd of Sanford fans are expected to be on hand for the tilt.

Champions Meet In Women's Western Golf Tournament

ATLANTA, June 20, (AP)—National Open Champion Patty Berg of Minneapolis takes on defending champion Louise Suggs of Lithia Springs, Ga., today in the semi-final round of the 18th annual Women's Western Open Golf Tournament.

In the other match, Grace Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., meets Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta.

Miss Suggs easily disposed of Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., 5 and 3, yesterday while Miss Berg defeated Polly Riley of Ft. Worth, Texas, 5 and 4.

Miss Lenczyk staged an upset in the quarter-finals by eliminating Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Texas, one up. Miss Kirby won from Dot Kielty of Los Angeles, one up.

WHY CARRY INSURANCE?

If you drive an automobile and carry insurance you should remember that the company taking your risk makes a profit on the premium you pay, or at least expects to make a profit, so why not carry your own insurance and save the premium? Supposing you do meet with an accident (hundreds do every day) involving liability and property damage, possibly serious injury or death to one or more persons, all that is necessary for you to do is to employ a good lawyer, take the case to court and enjoy a good verbal fight, and if you lose pay your lawyer, court costs and the judgment (seldom over $25,000). In that way you will save the profit the insurance company expected to make on your policy. BUT, if you do not like this idea of saving money and the right to operate your car, phone 104, and find out about our profit-sharing policies for careful drivers.

"RETONGA IS GRAND," SAYS MRS. JERNIGAN

Suffered From Nervous Indigestion No Matter What Or How Little She Ate, She States. Eats Anything Now And Feels So Much Better. Her Work Is A Pleasure

Among the latest well-known Florida men and women to come forward with a grateful public endorsement of Retonga after trying this famous gastric tonic in their own cases; is Mrs. O. L. Jernigan, well-known home maker of 921 West Alfred St., Tampa, Fla.

"It seemed to me that no matter what I ate, or how little, I suffered continually from nervous indigestion," declares Mrs. Jernigan. "My appetite, dwindled away to where I seldom cared whether meal time came or not. I lost weight and slept so poorly that I never seemed to get rested. My elimination was very sluggish, and it seemed to me I hardly had half the strength and pep a person of my age should have.

"I tried so many medicines that I was beginning to feel discouraged, but Retonga gave me both prompt and splendid relief. My appetite was never better. I eat anything I want, and I sleep soundly and restfully. I have regained my lost weight, and I feel so good again that my work is a pleasure. Retonga is grand."

General Bradley Disparages Talk Of Another War

MILWAUKEE, June 20 —(AP)—General Omar Bradley said today that "if we once again risk disaster by turning our backs on the world, we shall not be given another chance." "There is not enough room in the world for both civilization and atomic conflict," he said.

"Twice the United States has snatched victory out of defeat as the arsenal of democracy. In the event of another war, we shall become the target."

The Veterans Administrator disparaged talk of "another and inevitable war," however. People who follow this line display a lack of faith in America, he said in an address prepared for the national convention of the American Veterans Committee.

"Democracy," Bradley asserted, "can lose through the fars of its people, through their failure to trust in its strength, through timidity in meeting problems at home and confusion in solving problems abroad."

He said American people must:

1. Be prepared to sustain a bold foreign policy.

2. Strive for economic security which will give other nations confidence in the wealth and productivity of the American system.

3. Contribute willingly to maintenance of armed strength "essential to the security and stability of the world."

Bradley advised the AVC to oppose additional benefits and special privileges for veterans. "There is no such thing as a free ride on the government for any taxpaying citizen," he said.

"Veterans who demand unwarranted expenditures now are saddling themselves with an unreasonable tax burden in future years."

Lions Meeting

velop this quality more. People would often not have such a hard time in finding out a person's best qualities if that person would develop a more friendly spirit in meeting people and smile, he pointed out.

He told of a survey made of stations by an oil company, the officials of which, when they received the reports, were impressed with the number of instances where employees had failed to greet customers with a smile, thanked them and asked them to come back.

Render a little more service than you are called upon to do, he told the Lions. Don't be a clock watcher. The man whose interest in his work is only for a monetary purpose has completely failed to realize the purpose of his life, he asserted.

"I presume that fear causes more people in the world to fail to accomplish than any other thing," said Mr. Householder. Often they are afraid to make a step forward due to the fear of not accomplishing some new project. He cited Abraham Lincoln as one who faced almost continual defeat yet forged ahead to become president, and stressed the value of faith in self as a good recipe for accomplishment.

Truman Veto

might occur before the board of inquiry could make its report or "perhaps even before the board could be appointed," Mr. Truman said.

The measure was sent to the House where Republican leaders already had marshaled their forces for a quick vote to override the veto and pass the measure over Mr. Truman's disapproval.

Here are the major provisions of the bill:

1. Let the government get court orders to block "national calamity" strikes, as in the coal or steel industries, during 80 days of mediation.

2. Forbid the closed shop, in which the boss can hire only union help.

3. Ban various kinds of special strikes and boycotts.

4. Permit court suits against unions that break contracts.

5. Deny collective bargaining rights to any union having as an officer a Communist or sympathizer, or anyone who could "reasonably be regarded as one."

6. Make it an unfair labor practice, which could be stopped by a court order, for a union to keep non-striking workers from their jobs by mass or violent picketing.

7. Forbid "excessive or discriminatory" union dues and initiation fees.

In a 5,500 word message, the President told the Congress members that the legislation is a "clear threat to the successful working of our democratic society." He declared:

"This bill would go far toward weakening our trade union movement, and it would go far toward destroying our national unity.

"By raising barriers between labor and management and by injecting political considerations into normal economic decisions, it would invite them to gain their ends through direct political action.

"I think it would be exceedingly dangerous to our country to develop a class basis for political action."

The President said there still is a genuine opportunity for enactment at this session "of appropriate labor legislation," and added:

"I still feel that the recommendations which I expressed in the State of the Union message constitute an adequate basis for legislation which is moderate in spirit and which relates to known abuses."

In that message in January, the President said he recommended "a step-by-step approach" and indicated specifically problems which should be handled immediately. He also proposed a non-partisan investigation covering the entire field of labor-management legislation. He said he was "fairly convinced" the current measure would weaken the economy and weaken the unity of the people.

The President's veto was the second one slapped on legislation developed by the Republican-dominated Congress in line with pledges made by party speakers in last year's political campaigns which gave it control of the national legislature.

Two big GOP campaign promises were:

1. A reduction in taxes.

2. Revision of the labor laws.

Mr. Truman vetoed their tax-cutting bill last Monday and the House upheld his action by a two vote margin. Today's action swept away any remnants of White House-Congress cooperation in the domestic field that had survived last Monday's veto.

Disagreeing with the whole philosophy of the Labor measure, the President declared it would be "a dangerous strike in the direction of a totally managed economy" and said "it contains seeds of discord which would plague this nations for years to come."

In an analysis of the legislation, the President declared he had put it to four tests. He said:

1. That he had considered whether t woud result in more or less government intervention in our economic life and concluded it would "inject the government deeply into the process by which employers and workers reach agreement" and "superimpose bureaucratic procedures on the free decisions of local employers and employees."

2. That in a second basic test as to whether it would improve "human relations" between management and labor, he had concluded "it would encourage distrust, suspicion, and arbitrary attitudes," inviting "costly, time-consuming litigation, inevitably embittering both parties."

3. On the third "basic test" as to whether the bill is workable, he had concluded it is not and that so-called "emergency procedure" for coping with nation-wide strikes "would require an immense amount of government effort but would result almost inevitably in failure."

4. On a "test of fairness," he said, the bill "prescribes unequal penalties for the same offense," requiring the National Labor Relations Board "to give priority to charges against workers over related charges against employers," discriminating against workers "by arbitrarily penalizing them for all critical strikes."

Asserting the bill "would substantially increase strikes," Mr. Truman said it would discourage the growing willingness of unions to include "no strike" provisions in bargaining agreements.

He contended also the measure would bring on strikes by depriving "significant groups" of the right to organize and bargain by classifying broad groups as "supervisors."

"The bill would force unions to strike or boycott if they wish to have a jurisdictional dispute settled by the National Labor Relations Board," the President continued. He said this is because the board is given authority to determine jurisdictional disputes over assignment of work "only after such disputes have been converted into strikes or boycotts."

While he said the bill seemingly preserved the right of employers and employes to agree to the "union shop," the President said "it would place such a multitude of obstacles in the way of such agreement that union security and responsibility would be largely cancelled."

The bill would limit the freedom of employers and employes to establish and maintain welfare funds "by prescribing arbitrary methods of administering them" and limiting the purposes for which they may be used.

It would present the danger that labor and management "might be prohibited from agreeing on safety provisions, rest period rules, and many legitimate practices, since such practices may fall under the language defining 'feather-bedding.'"

The bill would encourage labor organizations "to engage in constant inter-union warfare" and "generate rating and jurisdictional disputes."

It would prevent an employer "from freely granting a union shop contract, even where he and virtually his entire working force were in agreement as to its desirability."

The measure, the President added, "would also put a powerful new weapon in the hands of employers by permitting them to initiate elections at times strategically advantageous to them and give employers "the means to engage in endless litigation draining the energy and resources of unions in court actions."

"It would deprive workers of the power to meet the competition of goods produced under sweat shop conditions by permitting employers to halt every type of secondary boycott, not merely those for unjustifiable purposes."

Mr. Truman also contended the legislation would "strait jacket" the National Labor Relations Board's operations by a "series of special restrictions unknown to any other quasi-judicial agency."

The procedure provided for dealing with major strikes affecting the public health or safety, the President argued, would "do more harm than good" and increase rather than diminish "widespread industrial disturbances."

On that, he said:

"I am convinced that the country would be in for a bitter disappointment if these provisions of the bill became law."

SHOCKED AND DAZED, Charles Carlson sits in the bedroom of his Los Angeles home near the body of his brother-in-law, Raymond C. State Control Board Holds Orlando Meet

DAYTONA BEACH, June (AP)—Hal Davis, 17, Quincy, was elected state president of the Florida Association of Future Farmers at the association's final meeting here this morning.

The Quincy future farmer, choice of the nominating committee, was elected on the first ballot, defeating Gween Mc Cormick, Summerfield and William Moore, Pompano, for the top office.

Davis is a twelfth grade student at Quincy High School and president of the Quincy FFA chapter. He holds the state farmer degree and has received a $100 scholarship to the University of Florida for having the best all around exhibit at the Quincy stock show.

put failed to satisfy union demands for job reclassification.

Several hundred automobile workers marched on the National Assembly to demand higher pay.

Police dispersed the first 50 to reach the square behind the assembly building, the Place du Palais Bourdon, and a second and bigger crowd broke up peacefully after sending a delegation inside.

Police guards around the building had been doubled when word came that some 2,000 workers had gathered in front of the suburban Hispano-Suiza automobile factory and were planning the march.

Some marchers in the first group were taken to a nearby police station for verification of their identity papers. This group carried a Red flag labeled "CGT", initials of the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor.

Communist deputies in the assembly received the workers' delegates and listened to their demands. Socialist and popular republican movement deputies refused to receive the delegation.

Repair Bids Asked On County Roads

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., June 20 (AP)—The State Road Department today asked contractors to submit bids July 15 on 70 miles of road and bridge work in 12 counties.

The proposed projects are located in Dade, Nassau, Duval, Gadsden, Citrus, Taylor, Madison, Dixie, Seminole, Volusia, Hendry and Polk counties.

The project includes resurfacing four sections totaling 13 miles of roads 15, 46, 415 and 600 in Volusia and Seminole counties.

Flood

undated and all 600 residents have left. Canton, Mo., was half under water from earlier floods, but its levees are well sandbagged and no new damage was expected unless the river rises higher than predicted.

At Hannibal the Red Cross made preparations for caring for 1,000 persons expected to be made homeless. The Mississippi River had reached a stage of 22.9 feet last night, a foot under its high mark of the previous flood.

In interior Missouri, the Missouri River was overflowing more lowlands between Lexington and Boonville.

Water was receding at Oakville and Wapello, on the Iowa River. Oakville Mayor O. D. Johnson said the crest there of 18.6 feet, was more than two feet higher than the 1929 previous record. Oakville was completely evacuated but little water got into the town of 440 population as volunteer workers managed to hold the levees.

At Ottumwa, water was receding slowly, but still was four feet above flood stage.

The Mississippi continued to rise at Keokuk and A. A. Kowert, chief engineer for Quincy, Ill., said the crest would reach Keokuk about noon.

At Hamburg, Ia., on the Nishnabotna River near the Missouri River, about half the town was still flooded, and 300 families were being cared for in Red Cross centers.

vided with a ramp for easy loading.

A 20 by 101 concrete platform separate from the building and about 75 feet of it will be built to unload automobiles, it was announced by O. H. Page, supervisor of transfer of the ACL at Savannah, who on a visit here this morning predicted that the new fireproof terminal building would be of fine advantage to Sanford.

Sanford is not considered a transfer point now as during the war when it "saved the day" by serving as a statewide transfer point to relieve the overcrowded facilities at Waycross, Ga. he said. The new freight terminal is designed to give service to Sanford and Seminole County.

"I am a great believer in Sanford" declared Mr. Page. "It has wonderful, natural advantages with its lake and river location and its vegetable section. He praised the work of the freight terminal men here who, he said, did a great wartime job during the emergency.

Waycross now has fine mechanized loading equipment and two thousand foot platforms, and can accommodate 125 cars at a time on the eight tracks, he revealed. This will handle all normal transfer traffic for Florida, but, in an emergency Sanford facilities could again be used, he said.

Veto Reaction

adoption of a new measure to fit the President's recommendations. He said the things Mr. Truman proposes already are in the Taft-Hartley bill and that Congress would make it "law, veto or no veto."

Halleck noted that 103 House Democrats voted for the bill when the ouse passed it, while 66 Democrats opposed it. In this minority, Halleck said, were "radical New Dealers."

"Henry Wallace need not worry any more about forming a third party," Halleck added. "In his veto message Mr. Truman practically turnde the Democratic party over to Wallace and his gang."

While Republican party leaders denounced it, AFL President William Green praised President Truman's veto. Green said it was "a masterpiece of statesmanship" and that the President "has stalwartly upheld the fundamental principles of freedom and fair dealing in industrial relations which the Taft-Hartley bill set out to wreck."

The veto of the Taft-Hartley labor bill was described today by President Walter P. Reuther of the CIO United Auto Workers as "an act of courage and wise statesmanship."

Reuther added, "His action calls for the same kind of courage and statesmanship on the part of all congressmen in both parties who believe in progress." He urged Congress to uphold the veto.

lation, arranged to reply over MBS at 9:45 P. M. (EST).

In the late afternoon, the prospects as to the time for a Senate vote were uncertain. It was clear that Democrats would want to, and could by talking, force a delay until after the President's speech.

One Republican leader said efforts were underway to get an informal agreement fixing a time for a Senate vote tomorrow.

He said this hinged on whether the Republicans would provide a "pair," a parliamentary device by which senators register their views when they are absent, for Senator Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) who is in eGeneva attending the World Trade Conference.

Democrats were reported willing to vote tomorrow if Thomas' absence could be matched by two absentees on the side of those supporting the bill. It requires two-thirds of those voting to override a veto.

The House acted on the bill swiftly and with little demonstration. A bellow of boos came from the Republican side when reading of the President's message was ended. Some applause came from the Democratic side.

Rep. Hartley (R-NJ) moved that there be no debate and his motion carried, he vote was taken. There were cheers and applause. That was all.

HARTLEY-TAFT LABOR BILL BECOMES LAW

Russia Will Join Britain, France Meet

Foreign Ministers To Hold Conference On Marshall Plan Friday In Paris

LONDON, June 23, (AP)— Russia announced today she would join Britain and France in a conference on American aid to Europe, and France called the three European foreign ministers to meet in Paris Friday.

The French Foreign Ministry said it would be happy to welcome Russia's V. M. Molotov and Britain's Ernest Bevin to join Georges Bidault of France in the discussions. The French expressed "lively satisfaction" at the Soviet suggestion that the meeting begin Friday.

In London, Bevin told the House of Commons:

"The Soviet government agrees that the primary problem of European countries at present is the quickest possible reconstruction and further development of their national economy which has been destroyed by the war."

Anthony Eden, former foreign secretary, welcomed Bevin's announcement of Russian agreement to the three-power meeting. Extending best wishes to the British delegation, Eden said:

"May they make swift and sure progress."

All afternoon newspapers in Paris gave top play to the meeting. France-Soir declared the conferences beginning Friday would determine the success or failure of the next four-power meeting of foreign ministers, at London in November. The Paris-Presse cautioned that Russia's "yes" might be modified by several "ifs" or "buts."

Russia delivered a note of acceptance to Bidault yesterday at his country home near Rambouillet, and early today had the official agency Tass broadcast public announcement. Several hours later France announced the Friday date was acceptable.

William L. Clayton, U. S. Under Secretary of State for economic affairs, who arrived in London yesterday, was expected to begin meetings today with Bevin and other cabinet ministers on the proposed aid program.

British government informants looked for him to propose that a U. S. observer attend the British-Soviet-French talks. They mentioned Paul Porter, head of the U. S. Mission for Economic Affairs.

In Rome a foreign ministry official said that Italy viewed the Marshall plan for American aid in reconstructing Europe with "profound satisfaction" and would help make it work.

Dr. Umberto Grazzi, economic director of the ministry, said, however, that Italy would insist on participating on "a footing of parity" with other nations and not with a feeling that "we are beggars." He said notes had been

Searcy, who entered Naval Service Nov. 15, 1946, at the Naval Recruiting Station, Jacksonville, received his recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md.

$453,150 Is Estimated Cost Of City Government For Fiscal Year

The cost of operating the government, utilities and services of the City of Sanford, and at the same time pay bond interest and retire bonds is estimated for the current fiscal year at $453,150 according to the estimated budget set up by the City Commission for the current fiscal year which began Oct. 1, 1946 and will end on Sept. 30.

Real estate taxes on a total 28 mill levy will yield only an estimated $160,000 toward this amount which must be made up by utility and miscellaneous revenues.

The total amount raised from all sources for operation of the general government is estimated at $281,150. The sum of $96,000 is to be expended to pay $49,730 on bond interest, $42,382 to retire bonds and $3,888 collection expense.

Sanford's total assessed valuation is $7,612,405 real and personal property. Real estate is valued at $5,911,300 and taxable personal property at $1,704,105, according to H. N. Sayer, city manager.

The 15 mill levy for operating expenses will yield but $67,000 toward City operating expenses; whereas the 13 mill tax for debt service will net $96,000 it is estimated. The fact that the larger millage does not yield the larger amount is due to homestead exemption which reduces the valuation on which the 15 mills is applied to $3,164,120.

It is anticipated that during the current year general government operating expenses will amount to $281,150. Since the $67,000 real estate tax falls far short of this amount the balance must be secured from other sources. It is expected that $109,650 will be derived from miscellaneous revenues, major items of which are franchises, fines and costs, recovery of liens foreclosed by the County, sale of foreclosed properties and other sources.

The utilities service tax will yield an estimated $33,000, profits from water utilities, $24,750, surpluses of $40,000 in the department of general government and prior years taxes carried over of $2,750. For the department of water utility, revenues are expected to total $76,000.

Debt service needs will be met by revenues estimated at $93,000, plus $3,000 carried over from previous years, a total of $96,000.

Salaries and labor costs make up the principal expense outlay for general government. It costs $73,848 to operate the division of streets, bridges and sewers, and of this amount, $50,000 for labor.

Next in cost is the police department which costs an estimated $41,299 of which more than $31,582 is for salaries. Fire protection costs are put at $23,210 of which nearly $22,000 goes toward salaries.

The cost of the division of finance, records and taxation is estimated at $17,278 of which a major portion is for salaries. Other estimated department costs are: Division of Public Buildings, $14,750; Street Lighting and water supply, $14,500; Municipal Zoo, $4,135; employees' life insurance, $6,750; docks and wharves $2,035; engineering, $3,775; cemetery maintenance, $4,800, inspections, $3,798; recreation department, $8,050; parks, $5,750.

Other estimated department costs are; public health, $5,030; Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital outlay, $1,200; public library, $3,576; charity, $2,050; airport, including firemen, superintendent and guards and utility men, $21,850; Chamber of Commerce and publicity, $6,000 and contingencies, $4,775.

The City Commission gets but $1,500 of which $1,250 is for salaries; the Municipal Court costs $1,300; the City Attorney receives $1,225. The civil service commission receives $600.

The budget was approved by Mayor H. J. Gut and Commissioners George D. Bishop, Lee R. Lesher, W. C. Hill and Robert A. Williams.

PLYMOUTH STOLEN

Senate Committee Votes Increase In Navy Budget

$176,500,000 Is Added To Give U. S. Well-Balanced Fleet

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Legislation making permanent the present 3-cent postage rate on first class letters was passed unanimously by the House today. The rate will revert 2 cents on July 1, 1947 unless the Senate and the President also approve the legislation before then.

WASHINGTON, June 23, (AP)— The Senate Appropriations Committee today added $176,500,000 to the Navy appropriation voted by the House, an increase which Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass) declared will give the nation "a powerful, well-balanced fighting fleet."

The measure approved by the committee will give the Navy:

A personnel strength of 395,000 enlisted men and 43,000 officers; an active fleet of 293 combat ships; and 5,793 aircraft, exclusive of those used for reserve training.

This is 1,000 more officers and 40,000 more men than allowed by the House bill; 24 more combat ships, and 252 more aircraft.

Saltonstall, chairman of the subcommittee which considered details of the program, declared the net effect of the changes voted today would be to add $15,500,000 in usable appropriations to the sum voted by the House.

The Senate Committee voted to authorize approximately $3,462,000,000 in new money for the fiscal year beginning July 1. This compares with the $3,285,500,000 voted by the House, and the $3,663,000,000 asked by President Truman.

Saltonstall told reporters the Senate Committee's action permits operation of the same number of ships the President asked for, and substantially fulfills his requests for personnel and operating aircraft.

The Senate bill would permit operation of 11 large carriers, 9 small carriers, 4 battleships, 12 heavy cruisers, 20 light cruisers, 135 destroyers, 24 destroyer escorts and 78 submarines.

In addition, it would keep in service 149 amphibious craft, 53 mine vessels, 54 patrol vessels, 278 auxiliary vessels and 24 floating drydocks.

The President's budget called for an average employment of 371,300 civilians in the Navy Department next year. (Many of these are employed in Navy yards

Three Sanford Men Enjoy Fishing Trip

J. C. Hutchison, Dr. Sam Puleston and Ralph Wight of Sanford returned Sunday from a two week fishing trip in the Gulf of Mexico and to the Florida Keys as the guests of Dr. J. S. McEwan of Orlando.

The group started their trip at Stuart, went through the St. Lucie Canal to Ft. Myers, then south to Marathon Key and returned. In spite of rainy weather, they reported that they caught more fish than they could eat. Mr. Hutchison said that he landed a 20 pound tarpon.

Excursion Ship Runs AgroundInManhattan

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—The cry, "Women and children first!" echoed from the Harlem River Ship Canal late yesterday after the North Haven, carrying 217 passengers on a sightseeing tour around Manhattan island, ran aground.

Although the 112-foot excursion vessel kept an even keel, and so did the passengers, so to speak, 100 of them accepted the offer of the Fireboat Cornelius W. Lawrence to take them off the North Haven. The fireboat's loudspeaker gave the instruction, "Women and children first;"

Tax Against ACL Upheld By High Court

Anti-Petrillo Law Is Ruled Constitutional; Government's Oil Claim Approved

TALLAHASSEE, June 23 (AP)—Governor Caldwell said today a U. S. Supreme Court decision upholding federal claims to California coast oil lands has "no direct bearing on Florida but may serve as a precedent in events of similar suits" over ownership of Florida tidelands.

WASHINGTON, June 23, (AP)— The Supreme Court handed down three important decisions today, ruling that Georgia may levy a 1½ of 1 per cent.

come of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and Banking Company; holding that the "anti-Petrillo law" is constitutional; and upholding the government's claim to oil tidelands.

Justice Frankfurter read the court's unanimous decision concerning the ACL. The Atlantic Coast Line contended that under the State charter granted the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company, the income could not be taxed at a rate higher than 1½ per cent.

The charter provides that stock of the Georgia Railroad and Banking Company and its branches is subject to a tax "not exceeding ½ per cent per annum on the net proceeds of their investments."

The Georgia Supreme Court decided that the provision referred only to a property tax on the stock of the lessor company and did not bar a tax on net income derived from use of the company's property by a tenant. The high court agreed with that view.

The Court also decided the Lea Act, generally known as "the anti-Petrillo law," is constitutional. It sent the case of James C. Petrillo, head of the AFL Musicians Union, back to the trial court, however, for new proceedings.

The case came before the high court on the government's appeal from a Chicago court's ruling that the law is unconstitutional. That ruling was on charges brought against Petrillo under the law.

The act prohibits forcing broadcasters to hire more workers than they need to perform actual radio station services. It was passed by the last Congress to curb powers of Petrillo.

Petrillo was accused of violating the act by calling a strike at Chicago radio station WAAF. The strike was in support of a demand that the station hire three additional record librarians, although WAAF said extra employes were not needed. The sta-

3 Negroes Caught After 6 Day Manhunt

ATLANTA, June 23 (AP)—Three negroes, sought for six days over a wide area of Georgia in a multi-county manhunt after the killing of a United States revenue agent, were taken in custody early today, the FBI announced.

Edwin Folts, special agent in charge of the Atlanta office, said the negroes were captured in Banks County, Ga., officers took them a few miles from the wooded spot where revenue agent Melvin John Clark, 41, fell under a fusillage of bullets June 15 as he approached a hidden liquor still.

The arrests culminated one of Georgia's biggest manhunts, in which state, county and federal officers, including sheriffs of seven counties, directed a search through swampland and thick undergrowth in rolling North Georgia.

LICENSE DEADLINE

June 30 is the deadline for use of present fishing licenses, County Judge R. W. Ware said this morning and he urged that applicants secure licenses now on sale before the rush starts.

To date, 100 of the new fishing licenses have been issued.

Aid Neighbor Nations, Urges Gen. Marshall

U. S. Is Warned Latin-America, Canada Will Get Help Elsewhere If Refused

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall estimated today that $10,000,000 a year would foot the bill for helping Latin-American nations standardize their arms and armies along United States lines.

WASHINGTON, June 23, (AP)— Secretary of State Marshall, said today Latin America and Canada will seek aid "elsewhere" if this country fails to help them get weapons and military know-how for their armed forces.

Heading a delegation of top flight government officials, the former Army chief of staff asked the House Foreign Affairs Committee to speed action on legislation permitting this country to take the lead in trying to standardize Western Hemisphere armaments.

Marshall was the first of a group of witnesses that includes Secretary of War Patterson, Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.

President Truman requested the legislation in a special message to Congress last month.

The House committee approved a similar bill last year, but the measure never reached the floor of either chamber. It is given little chance of passage this year either.

The legislation would permit the President to turn over United States guns, planes, ships and other military equipment to the Latin American nations and Canada and to train their soldiers and sailors. In return the President could accept any benefit.

Quality, Quantity Vital To Success Of State Market

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 23 (Special)—Quality and quantity are both important factors in the development of a successful produce market, and the availability of such a market is vital to the individual grower who has vegetables to sell, said State Market officials here this weekend, in discussing the Spring season, and earlier operations during the 1946-47 fiscal year now drawing to a close. An outstanding feature of the year, according to G. B. Hogan, assistant director of State Markets, was the record made at Fort Pierce where gross sales for the Fall and Spring seasons exceed the combined totals for the five preceding years, both in volume and dollars. In connection with the growth of this market, there is a demand on the part of some interested operators for facilities to concentrate products available in adjacent territory, the assistant director indicated.

Market Manager M. B. Williams, in his summary of operations at Fort Pierce, just received in the Jacksonville offices of William L. Wilson, director of State Markets, noted shipments totaling 412,702 bushels of produce during the current fiscal year. Gross cash revenue totaled $2,059,973.65. While tomatoes constituted the bulk of these shipments, a considerable variety of other products passed through the Market.

The availability of several products in quantity is important in attracting buyers to a market, Mr. Hogan pointed out. Plant City, Sanford, Pompano, and other outstanding produce sales centers operated by the State Markets system, have run up good scores again this year, in the matter of diversity and volume of quality produce, he said.

PROPERTY SALE

A sale of County foreclosed real estate upon which 1946 taxes have not been paid will be conducted at noon on Tuesday, July 1, at the Court House by Tax Collector John L. Galloway.

Truman Makes Eleventh Hour Plea To Senate To Uphold Veto

WASHINGTON, June 23, (AP)— President Truman today made an eleventh hour appeal for Democrats to uphold his veto of the Taft-Hartley labor bill, terming it "dangerous" legislation which will do serious harm to our country.

Mr. Truman made public a letter to Senator Barkley (Ky) the Democratic leader, assuring him of "my unqualified support" in the effort to kill the union curbing bill on which the Senate will be called in little more than two hours.

The letter was made public at the White House at a time when both Senator Taft (R-Ohio) and all Democratic Senate strategist were predicting the presidential veto would be overriden. Only shortly before, Senator O'Conor (D-Md), previously classed as doubtful, announced he will vote to override.

The president's letter to Barkley:

"Dear Senator Barkley:

"I feel so strongly about the labor bill which the Senate will vote on this afternoon that I wish to reaffirm my sincere belief that it will do serious harm to our country.

"This is a critical period in our history and any measure which will set class against class and destroy national unity will produce a disaster the effects of which will not only be felt by this nation but by the world.

"I am convinced that such would be the result if the veto of this bill should be overridden.

"I want you to know you have my unqualified support and it is my fervent hope, for the good of the country, that you and your colleagues will be successful in your efforts to keep this bill from becoming law.

"Very sincerely yours,

"Harry S. Truman."

The Senate Democratic analyst who asked not to be named, said the last minute changes indicated a vote of 60 to 27 to pass the measure over Mr. Truman's veto. This would be well over the required two-thirds of those voting.

Rotarians Warned Of Growing Need For More Selling

Lloyd Gahr Says Consumers Ask Better Price And Quality

Lloyd Gahr of Orlando, president of the Florida Retail Merchants Association and a past district governor of Kiwanis, told the Rotary Club today that retail sales are now at a record breaking level and that it is only business sentiment which has taken a nose dive.

He warned, however, that the time has come when business men will have to put more selling into their jobs and give more consideration to the needs of the consumers. "Even if there can be no decrease in price," he said, "there should be an improvement in quality. Our customers are demanding better prices, better service and better quality."

Paying high tribute to the American system of free enterprise, Mr. Gahr, who was introduced by Andrew Carraway, said that this is the last great democracy in the world and the only bulwark against future aggression. And he praised the work which Rotary, Kiwanis and other civic clubs are doing to keep alive in this country the value of service and co-operation.

Describing briefly the work of the Florida Retail Merchants Association, he said that it was largely responsible for preventing new tax levies during the recent legislative session and pointed out what the proposed gross receipts tax and the proposed sales tax would have cost the people of this state. He praised the tax structure of Florida and said that no new taxes are needed.

President G. A. Speer told the club that through the efforts of Paul Stine, president of the Orlando club, arrangements had been made to transfer the Sanford club from District 167-B to 167-C, which includes, Orlando, if this meets with the unanimous approval of the Sanford club. Following some discussion a motion to this effect was unanimously carried.

President Speer also announced there will be no meeting next Monday on account of the picnic which will be held at the Banana Lake camp of W. A. Leffler on July 2. Members were asked to meet at the Tourist Center at 2:30 o'clock in order to go out in a body.

FORCED LANDING

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Fox, Jr., of Augusta, Ga., set out from Tampa for Jacksonville in their small plane Saturday, but due to bad weather had to land at the Sanford Municipal Airport. While here they visited Postmaster and Mrs. Joel B. Field who formerly lived in Augusta as their neighbors. Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Fox returned by air to Tampa, said Mr. Field.

Russian Decision To Attend Meet Challenges Policy

Soviet Participation In Marshall Plan Hits Communism

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

History will receive a momentous contribution when time loyally is able to disclose the conversations which must have been proceeding in the Kremlin between Soviet Premier Stalin and his cohorts in their search for an answer to the Anglo-French call to join in the program of European economic rehabilitation, proposed by U. S. Secretary of State Marshall.

It was a tough question for the Muscovites to decide, and they have got as far as agreeing to discuss the matter with France and Britain in Paris next Friday. Obviously Soviet cooperation is essential for European recovery. But diplomats and other observers in the Western Democracies have expressed the view that wholehearted Russian participation in the Marshall plan would be likely to slash a knife across the roots of Communist expansion westward. Why? Well, because the Red iron thrives on economic and political chaos such as now has Europe by the throat.

The Kremlin's problem then has been whether Russia should shift to a policy which would hamstring one of the fondest hopes of the original Bolshevist regime, communization of the world. Let the reader put himself in Stalin's place, and seek an answer to that one.

The Soviet Union already had declined to join Britain and America in the economic rehabilitation of Germany, key to continental

Sgt. Wallace Little Gets Drivers Badge

WITH THE EIGHTH ARMY IN YOKOHAMA, JAPAN, June 23 (Special)—Sgt. Wallace Little, son of Mrs. Chreese Little of 915 Orange Avenue, Sanford, was awarded the Drivers' Badge at a retreat review and model presentation ceremony held recently by units of Second Transportation Major Port in Yokhama Japan. The badge was presented by Col. Walter C. Lattimore, commanding officer of the port, for passing both written and practical aptitude test and performances of duty without traffic violations.

Sgt. Little, a veteran of 55 months service, is now assigned to the 3446th Transportation Corps Truck Company, a unit of Second Major Transportation Port. Through this port, the largest in Japan pass all incoming and outgoing supplies and personnel for the Occupational Forces.

Senators Override President's Veto By Vote Of 68-25; More Than Needed

WASHINGTON, June 23, (AP)— The Senate voted the Taft-Hartley labor bill into law today by overriding President Truman's veto 68 to 25. This was six more votes than the two-thirds margin required to enact the hotly-contested curbs of labor unions.

The action was taken despite an 11th hour appeal from Mr. Truman to Senate Democrats to uphold his June 20 veto and kill the measure as "dangerous legislation." Mr. Truman wrote Senator Barkley (D-Ky) just before the Senate vote that he is convinced the bill will "do serious harm" to the country.

The new law provides for government injunctions to halt national emergency strikes for at least 80 days. It also bans the closed shop and amends the Wagner Act to restrict some other union activities.

The result was a major victory for the Republican-controlled congress over Mr. Truman. Last week the House sustained by a two-vote margin the President's veto of the $4,000,000,000 Republican tax-cut bill.

The House overrode the labor bill veto last Friday, by 331 to 83, a four to one margin. Thus more than two-thirds of the members of Congress, including many of his own party, went against Mr. Truman's wishes.

Labor leaders bitterly assailed the measure. Calling it a "slave bill," they and their followers flooded lawmakers with thousands of messages urging them to sustain the President's veto.

The Senate action places on President Truman and his Administration the enforcement of a law that he defined flatly in his veto message as "unworkable" and "a clear threat to the successful working of our Democratic society."

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), one of the authors of the measure, expressed confidence, however, that Mr. Truman will do his best to administer it.

Senators Sparkman (D-Ala) and Lucas (D-Ill), were the only Senators who voted May 13 when the Senate passed the bill who changed their stand today. Both voted to sustain the President's veto. They previously had voted for passage of the measure.

Senators Tobey (R-NH) and Overton (D-La), who were absent when the Senate first passed the bill, voted to override the veto.

Senator Wagner (D-NY), who has opposed passage of the measure May 13, did not vote today, although his position was announced as opposing overriding the veto.

Twenty-two of the Democratic members voted to sustain the President; 20 to override his veto. In addition, two absent Democratic members were announced as against overriding the veto. The split among Republicans was 48 for, three against overriding the veto.

Immediately after the Senate vote, CIO President Philip Murray said:

"The situation which now confronts American labor resulting from the passage of the Taft-Hartley bill will be assessed by the executive board of the CIO

Robbery Leads To Discovery Of Slots!

Investigation of the reported robbery Saturday night of two cases of whiskey from the Flight Deck Cocktail Lounge at the air base led to the discovery Sunday morning of four slot machines by Sheriff Percy Mero in a room adjoining the bar, he revealed this morning.

The machines, three of them of the old-fashioned handle type, and one electricaly operated, were seized and today bond of $450 was set by County Judge R. W. Ware on a warrant charging R. H. Browning of possession of unlawful slot machines.

The glass front of two of the "one armed" machines had been smashed, evidently to remove the "jackpot" and all of the machines showed evidence of being broken into. The lock of the large console machine (electric) was broken and a six inch square hole cut in the lower portion. The robbers were reported to have gained entrance some time after closing time Saturday night.
