

Attend Church This Sunday

"I am the resurrection and the life: he who believes in me, even if he die, shall live; and whoever lives and believes in me, shall never die." John 11:25-26

What can you lift?

God has a way of working spiritual truths through physical facts. You need to have muscles lifting his word's mighty messages to your soul.

That's why on his Son he's brought us an equation: Strength on the body, love on the mind, and grace on the heart.

Only muscles make one a strong, a helper, a partner to others in their needs. . . . and, incidentally, stand able to bear your own.

Every Sunday that you attend church is a chance to give to God what needs to be lifted. . . . and how best to lift.

Answer To 'Concerned Student' About Stadium

By VIRGINIA SCROGGES (First of a Series)
"Dear Sir:
I would like to make the public aware of the price Seminole High School has to pay for the Municipal Stadium. The school also pays for practicing in the stadium. The high price of the stadium is one of the main reasons for the depletion of funds for spring sports. Could you please list the exact expenses for the maintenance of the Municipal Stadium?"
A "Concerned Student" This is one of two almost identical letters received at The Herald. They, along with the meetings of Seminole High School parents, have raised questions about the cost of the stadium program because of lack of money.
Doubts have been cast on the fairness of the city in charging for the stadium and, even worse, shadows have been cast on the reputation of people who handle the money connected with the stadium.
Are these allegations true? Is the city overcharging? Are private individuals lining their pockets?
The answer seems to be "NO" to all these questions, and in fairness to the people involved, we shall try to show why. This article will deal with the cost of the stadium to the city and to the three schools which usually use it:
Seminole High, Crosses High, and Seminole Junior High School.
First of all, the cost of the stadium is not $2,000 but $2,000—only 47 per cent of which is paid by Seminole High School.
Each year the School Board is billed $2,000 by the City of Sanford for the use of the stadium. This cost is prorated among the three schools according to their use of it.
Seminole High's share for the 1968 season was $1,177 or 47 per cent of the bill for their 47 per cent of the 37 games played there by all three schools. The remaining $1,823 will be paid by Crosses and the Junior High.
$185 has come to an average of $160 per game—a relatively small part of the $600 cost of a game before the gates even open. The largest part of the cost is the $100 for referees and other officials and the $200 to $300 guarantee to the opposing team.
A $100 fee allows a spring trip (going by municipal figures for last year's budget for maintenance, repairs, insurance, electricity, and police, the actual cost was $400 per game, or three and a quarter times what $185 paid.
In response to "Concerned Student's" letter, the list of the costs disbursed by the city for the stadium last year (a list, incidentally, which appeared in The Herald some time back):
Police salaries, $1,232; liability insurance for stadium, $300; stadium repairs and maintenance, $1,100; extra work during the football season, $1,000; power for foot-candle lighting, $100; cost-of-season mowing, fertilizing, watering, weed killing, spraying, etc., $2,500.
Add to this $1,100 for the erection of a new light pole and $250 for lighting other football field area (estimated to be $250), and the total comes to $6,122.
If the school paid their own way, $287 share would come to $3,225, or $466 per game. Right now, according to City Manager W. E. Knowles, Jr. (Continued on Page 2A, Col. 9)

Narcotics Thieves Hit Three Businesses

Seminole County  on the St. Johns River  "The Nile of America"

By BILL SCOTT
Burglars, apparently looking for narcotics, entered three Altamonte businesses — a drug store, dentist and doctor's office — during the weekend and made off with a large quantity of narcotics from one of the establishments, according to information today from J. Q. (Slim) Galloway, county investigator.
Galloway reported the intruders used sledgehammers on large objects to knock holes in walls of two of the three violated structures of the Professional Center. The dentist said the thieves first entered the office of Dentist James P. Haas by breaking the lock to the door.
Finding nothing to suit their taste, the wall adjoining work was hammered until the office of Dr. Troy E. Overstreet was accessible by a large hole used to gain entry.
A small amount of narcotics was reportedly taken from Overstreet's office before the thieves moved to the next adjacent wall separating the physician's office from Altamonte Pharmacy.
Another hole was knocked through the concrete to allow entry to the drug store but before the thieves could make their escape with a box laden with drugs and other items, they were apparently frightened away, leaving the lost behind.
The investigator placed total damages to the building between $300 to $400 and reported more than one person was involved in the burglary.
Galloway said the Sheriff's department is working with Altamonte police to solve the incident.
Sanford police listed three burglaries and an attempted break-in during the weekend. Thieves entered A & W Root Beer Drive-in on French Avenue and reportedly took a cash box to a vending machine containing an undetermined amount of cash. Entry came through the back door, police said.
Sadie Wieman, 1701 East Eighth Street, listed the theft of $50.28 taken from her home after intruders pried open back door.
Several acts of vandalism were reported at the Seminole High School by persons who pried open lockers and threw books and paper about the hall.
A final entry was reported at Prosser Ford Company on Highway 17-82, but according to authorities nothing was missing.
In addition, the Seminole County courthouse today.
Word has been received that the Supreme Court has accepted jurisdiction in the case of Seale v. Wainwright and set oral arguments on the matter for 9:30 a.m. Friday, April 11.
It is hoped by county officials the suit which has stalled construction of the planned new $3.2 million county facility now will be expedited.
In addition, the Florida high court consolidated not only the appeal of the decision of the Fourth District Court of Appeals which declared Sanford to not the permanent county seat but also the appeal of the $2.9 million bond validation to help the structure.

Hippie Sought For Rape Try

Seminole County investigators are probing a reported attempted rape of a 26-year-old woman by a long-haired youth who described himself to his intended victim as a musician playing with a band at Daytona Beach.
The blond-haired youth reported the Saturday night report to telephone to authorities by the woman after the incident.
According to her statement, she and her husband had hitchhiked a ride along Interstate 4 from a South Seminole address with the boy.

Blanket Sets Fire

For the second time in as many months, electric blankets have been tied to the cause of fires at the Forest City by Chief Eugene MacGee of the Forest City Volunteer Fire Department.
In December, Mrs. Grace Keith, an elderly widow, was hospitalized from severe burns when her electric blanket set fire to her bed. Today, she is reported to be still convalescing in the nursing home and hospital in Orlando.
Friday, at the home of the H. D. Youngs, Bear Lake Road, an electric blanket, apparently smoldering for some time, resulted in a bedroom being gutted with an estimated $5,000 damages to other parts of the dwelling from smoke and heat.
According to MacGee, the family had left the day before for a vacation in the north. Control of the blanket was found by firemen with the dial set at the "on" mark.
The department also answered calls to three grass fires Friday, one on Curtis Drive, thought to have been caused by children leaving a campfire, another on Triangle Drive, and the third near Wekiva Estates.

Ousted Aides Win Pay

Circuit Judge Tom Waddell handed down a decision that repayments of the office for the Seminole County to pay former Peace Justice Hugh Dunbar and ex-Constable George Kelsey a total of at least $7,800 for the period of their second gubernatorial suspensions from office.
It has not been determined as yet the full amount to be given to the two men during period of first suspension.
In the decision given by Judge Waddell, he ordered and adjudge that proper method for determining the remuneration due the two ex-officials "by virtue of their suspensions and reinstatement as ex-officials shall be computed by taking the net earnings of the offices for the suspension year in which suspensions occurred (gross earnings less expenses of the office) up to maximum remuneration allowed by law."
Records with county finance officer Ashby Jones shows funds remaining after expenses and paid to Peace Justice Alfred Davis from Feb. 16, 1968 to Jan. 6, 1969 totaling $4,669.91 while amount paid to Constable Chester Boyd after expenses during the period was $3,130.32. The payment for the first suspension was made in two installments, the first on the day of his suspension and the second on the day of his reinstatement as peace justice in the district.

Our State Budget Invites Clear Thinking

Now here are some budget figures for Florida to use in sharpening their understanding of what state government and services could cost in the coming biennium.

Who opposed the approval of the budget by the majority of the cabinet members.

There is no doubt that the Florida legislature is in no mood to vote on the state budget.

That the Florida legislature is in no mood to vote on the state budget is in no doubt to voters.

Americans All!

Among all of the complexities of the Public Health Service, there are some things which are so basic that they are common to all.

Take, for one instance, the shocking accounts of torture used to break down our captive men.

Even the climate of threat which was used to break down the morals of our men didn't work.

There is something that rings so true about this, that other instances of other uses of American wit and of American bravery come to memory.

In WW II, there was the reply of "Nits" by Gen. A. C. McAuliffe which confused and irritated the Germans who had surrounded the 101st Airborne Division for seven days and demanded surrender.

In WW I there was the squirrel-hunting Sgt. Alvin York who saw a file of Germans advancing through the French woods, greatly outnumbering him and decided to put his woods into use.

Carefully and methodically he started and shot them down one-by-one from the rear forward so that his unorthodox attack succeeded and he became an outstanding hero of that early war.

It may seem that this most effective of all weapons, active wit and courage enough to put it into action when most needed, has diminished or faded out.

Interpretive Report

Wills And Won'ts Of Nixon!

By RICHARD WILSON WASHINGTON, D.C. — A rather impressive list has accumulated of things that are not going to be done in the Nixon administration.

The Office of Economic Opportunity (poverty program) is not to be abolished.

The 10 per cent income surtax is not to be dropped.

The Johnson budget is not to be cut substantially.

Southern public schools are not to be permitted to continue out of ending segregation through freedom of choice plans.

A significant rise in the rate of unemployment is not to be encouraged as a concomitant or arresting inflation.

Consumer protection activities are not to be abandoned.

The "security gap" in national defense is not to be widened as it appeared last October.

If such policy decisions seem at variance with Nixon's stance in the presidential campaign, it is because so many people had formed a different idea of what the Nixon administration would be like.

What seems to have happened is that one cabinet member after another has gotten into the operating procedures and policies of his department to find that old procedures and policies were not as bad as they appeared, or, if faulty, could not be quickly changed.

Thus the Office of Economy Opportunity continues on. The President's Council of Economic Advisors finds little fault in the Johnson administration's assessment of the economic future.

ment rate has tapered off to the assurance given Congress by Economic Advisor Paul W. McCracken that inflation could be held in check while keeping unemployment at a rate of or below 4 per cent. This is no different than the Johnson economic assessment.

If there is to be no significant change in budgetary policy, no significant change in social policy, no significant change in tax policy, no significant change in economic policy, then much of what was said during the campaign can be classified as the usual political bombast.

But it is instructive nevertheless to look back at a couple of examples of what Nixon promised to do, and which he may yet do.

On crime and law and order he promised: Immediate creation of a national academy of law enforcement, creation of a cabinet-level council, which he called the national law enforcement council, a series of nationwide town hall conferences on crime prevention and control and the establishment of what he called a national coordinating center to nationalize the efforts of independent groups and institutions. This is yet to be done.

To youth, Nixon promised to hold a youth service council, with four sections, including a "young people's council" which youth could turn "for cooperation all through the federal government."

In the field of education he declared he would create a "national institute for the educational future," a national teachers corps, a student teachers corps.

These are more examples of what Nixon promised to do, and which he may yet do.

My son John thinks he is a great watch dog. Grover said with a laugh.

Then Grover said that a few nights earlier, while the dog was chained on the back porch, John was awakened by his wife's scream.

For a strange man was standing beside her bed.

John jumped up and demanded to know what he was doing there.

The intruder said he had been looking all through the house for somebody to help him get his stalled car moving.

"And the intruder," said Grover, "had actually stepped over this big dog on the porch, yet it never barked or growled."

But dogs are regarded as a good deterrent for the usual thief.

For robbers don't like to have their dog, even though a terrier, giving the alarm to householders.

They soon arrived. But the police dog then growled and barked, and wouldn't let the police inside the apartment, at least till the professor intervened!

So that beautiful big police dog, kept as a dog of thieves, actually played footsie with the robbers and barked at the police!

By offering such dogs a bit of meat occasionally, many prospective robbers brie the friendship of such a dog.

Kennedy Gets Things Done

By BRUCE WOODRAT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON (NSA) — Sen. Edward Kennedy is trying to get things done in Washington.

He is using his weight and influence effectively in support of what he deems the most significant issues possible.

At the whip's post, second in command to majority leader Mike Mansfield, is a non-committing job. But Kennedy is opposed to any Democratic measure to put their name on the issue every time an issue arises which by any stretch could appear to involve the party's interest.

His first real commitment of the new session was to the fight to restore $100,000,000 cut from the year's working funds for the Senate Education and Human Resources Committee.

Chairman of the Senate Education and Human Resources Committee, Kennedy paved his full campaign in the effort.

As indicated, there is nothing fundamentally new in his approach. The Massachusetts senator is not a better for his own cause, is not interested in mere verbal posturing.

He is interested in supporting all desirable proposals without regard to their individual merit. Sooner or later this programmatic view of his new function is going to get Kennedy into some trouble.

There have been several Democratic who are already taking an "all-or-nothing" attitude toward party leaders on the question of reform.

Joining from their behavior, these dissidents of the Democratic left are the other side of the coin from the reformers, who are in the heat of battle, were properly weighed as self-serving, since their purpose was to keep the party out of any reform which would change the immediate convertibility of party changes into delegate votes for McCarthy at Chicago.

Dissident with the "where-it-is-the-always" approach to politics are bound, in time anyway, to be more or less liberal.

It is not surprising, however, that he should find, in becoming President, that these are major lines of public policy which should not be changed.

These policies were not the whims of a demagoguing president, as the White House has been adopted on the basis of collective judgments not dissimilar to those on which Nixon must now rely.

Crane's Worry Clinic

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Grover C. is a Hoosier farmer, though much beyond the 65-year-old retirement age.

When I was down at our Indiana farm home recently, a tree had crashed across the fence between Grover's land and my Uncle Vick's farm.

So Uncle Vick asked me to help him saw the tree in half so it could be pulled off the fence.

Budget Would Up State Spending

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The proposed $2.2 billion budget approved by the Florida Cabinet would increase the rate of spending for state government by $621 million in the next two years.

Included in that hike are $62 million in pay raises, $47.8 million more for education and $48.7 million more for public welfare. A total of $44.9 million more would go to the institutions.

The education increase breaks down into $378 million for public school and junior colleges and $106.5 million for state universities.

The Board of Regents had requested $83.5 million on top of the Cabinet's recommended increase.

Assistant State Budget Director Joe Cresse said the Cabinet didn't give the Regents "anywhere near the administrative positions they wanted" and approved 5.2 per cent pay raises for university professors instead of the requested 7.2 per cent.

U. S. Batters Jet Fighter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — To keep pace with Soviet MIG21s the Air Force plans to improve its F3 twin jet fighter used by 15 allied nations.

A spokesman for Northrop Aviation Corp. said Sunday the company would produce about 1,000 improved F3-11s under an Air Force contract. The plane may be tested by mid-1970.

About 600 F3s and 2,000 MIG21s are in service, the spokesman said. He said about half of the Russian-made planes are based within the Soviet Union, the rest in 20 other countries.

With 5,000-pound thrust engines 25 per cent more powerful than those of the F3, the F3-11 will fly at 1,600 miles an hour, 14 per cent faster than older models, Northrop said. The MIG21 can fly about 1,400 MPH.

The United States and Soviet Union have faster planes, but they are considered too expensive for other nations.

DeBary Group Opposes Legislator's Program

DeBary Public Affairs Committee, made up of representatives from the many organizations in the community, has gone on record in opposition to a proposal by State Rep. William Conway calling for abolition of homestead exemption.

Although unanimous agreement was reached at the last meeting that Conway's stand is "unrealistic, unacceptable and unjust," a final statement by the committee will be delayed until further information on the issue received from Conway and Rep. Charles Ulrich, representing the DeBary Democratic Club, presented letters on the issue received from Conway and Rep. William Gillespie, disagreeing with Conway, Gillespie's letter said, in part, "I am in favor of our homestead law as they now stand and will fight to preserve them. Further, I believe that the passage of our new Constitution just three months ago served to reaffirm the position of the electorate in this regard. In view of this, I fail to see how any legislator could argue for a Constitutional change, and certainly the people would not support such an amendment."

Other areas of legislation under consideration of the committee include revision of election laws to provide for immediate transfer of registration when moving to another county in Florida; mechanical requirements for truck exhausts as an anti-pollution measure, and consolidation of 24 state agencies into a Department of Natural Resources.

On the county level, the group is investigating measures to bring about stronger enforcement of zoning laws, with court action to be taken against violators, and possibilities of developing as a recreational area a wooded tract, including two large springs, located south of Dixiee Boulevard.

It is the intention of the committee to meet with the various groups involved in the DeBary area in the near future to discuss the various proposals and to coordinate their efforts in support of the committee's program.

Members of the committee are: Mrs. Earlene Shirer, Chairman; Mrs. Charles Ulrich, Vice-Chairman; Mrs. William Gillespie, Secretary; Mrs. John H. ...

No Fol-de-rol For Nixon On Tour.

LONDON (AP) — Unlike his old boss Dwight D. Eisenhower, President Nixon is visiting London this week with a minimum of exposure to the public. Security has always surrounded American Presidents, but the man responsible for the chief executive's safety has become superstitious about the assassination of two Kennedys.

His trip in August 1959 was a hell for both him and the British public. He rode in an open Rolls Royce and people threw flowers into it. A half a million British cheered him every time he went out in England and Scotland.

But Eisenhower was an over-optimistic pecker here to the British, an old friend from World War II. Nixon came strictly as a President, and a freshman at that. He has scheduled no press conferences, no commensurations, and no fol-de-rol in Britain, France, Belgium, Germany and Italy.

Reward Offered In Murder

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The Lakeland Ledger offered a $1,000 reward today for information about the murder of a woman whose husband, partially-deaf body was found yesterday Sunday.

The victim was Carrie Louise Williams, 31, of Lakeland. She was shot only in a neighborhood street last night, the Lakeland Ledger reported.

Deputy Sheriff Ed Taylor found Mrs. Williams' body at 6:40 a.m. in the 170 block of Providence Road outside the city limits. The body was between the front and rear seats of her car which was locked with the keys inside.

The Ledger offered the reward in its edition today.

John R. Harrison, president of the Lakeland Ledger Co., said the reward is for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who killed Mrs. Williams.

The Ledger provided a coupon box on page one for the submission of information. Harrison said the identity of anyone providing information would be protected.

Boys' School 'Awful, Dismal'

MARIANNA, Fla. (AP) — A juvenile court judge says he will never again send a boy to the state reform school at Marianna because conditions are "awful, dismal."

Judge Richard Rade of Fort Lauderdale said he found the reform school "without adequate facilities" and said it offers "only a rural type existence to young boys."

"When a couple of boys I sent up there came over to my home, I felt like a rat for sending them to that place," said Judge Frank Orlando, also from Fort Lauderdale.

Orlando, Rade and other members of the Florida Council of Juvenile Court Judges visited Florida School for Boys at Marianna earlier this month. A number of them departed shocked and anguished.

Orlando said sexual perversion is rampant among the 13- to 20-year-old boys sentenced to Marianna for offenses from auto theft to chronic truancy to psychiatric disorders.

"We are doing some damages as far as sexual problems are concerned," he said.

The only way to halt perversion and almost daily runaways, Orlando said, is to increase the school's supervisory staff by at least 20 or drastically reduce the number of inmates.

"Eventually, I'd like to see the place completely phased out," he said.

Orlando called the recent firing of the school's superintendent, Lenox Williams, a step in the right direction.

Severe beatings used to be a common punishment at Marianna, Orlando said, but solitary confinement now is used.

Nixon Bid To Russia?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has refused to knock down speculation that President Nixon already has been invited to visit the Soviet Union.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Digler was asked Tuesday whether Nixon had been invited to meet with Soviet leaders and said he didn't have anything to report on the subject.

Reminded that was not a denial, Digler said: "I wouldn't discuss anything in relation to this speculation." He would be glad to talk with Soviet leaders later after full advance preparations.

There was no indication whether an invitation—if one was made—was specific or couched in vague diplomatic terms that simply left the matter open.

Ziegler flatly ruled out the possibility Nixon would add Moscow to the itinerary of his five-nation Western European trip which started Sunday.

No American president has ever visited the Soviet Union. An invitation to Dwight D. Eisenhower was canceled in 1950 after the U-2 spy plane was shot down over Russia.

Soviet leaders were believed to have been interested in meeting with former President Johnson in hopes of offsetting criticism for the invasion of Czechoslovakia, a goal some say they still hope to achieve by an early Nixon visit.

Ziegler also was questioned about correspondence between Nixon and French President Charles de Gaulle, one of the European leaders who will be host to the chief executive next week. Ziegler said he couldn't discuss presidential correspondence.

White House sources revealed, however, that Nixon and De Gaulle have been in touch by mail and that former President Eisenhower also has been corresponding with de Gaulle.

Homestead Exemption Bill Opposed

Even though President Nixon's goal for solution of domestic and international problems is to reduce government expenditures, the spending program for the fiscal year 1970 has been approved by the House of Representatives. The bill, which would reduce the federal deficit by $10 billion, is being opposed by many members of the DeBarry Republican Club.

Speaker Carl Albert, in his opening remarks, said that the bill would reduce the federal deficit by $10 billion, but that it would also reduce the federal government's ability to help in solving problems. He said that the bill would reduce the federal government's ability to help in solving problems, and that it would also reduce the federal government's ability to help in solving problems.

Government is a changing administration, like a steering wheel, cannot be stopped, reversed, or changed in direction immediately. Time must be taken to reorganize and adjust the many "built-in" programs," he pointed out.

"Recognizing that the government cannot do all things for all people, President Nixon is placing emphasis on the simple and spiritual values in the hands of people to help in solving problems. Creative provision, massive spending, and centralized power are ineffective. Real progress will come with the participation of the people. We have passed too many laws, have planned too many things, have too much government. We are oversteering the boat of the United States constitution away from its original intention to all important institutions to be preserved for the future."

Albert's remarks were met with applause from the club members. He said that the bill would reduce the federal deficit by $10 billion, but that it would also reduce the federal government's ability to help in solving problems.

Seminole 'Making Progress' On School Integration

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—More than 40 per cent of Seminole's Negro junior and senior high pupils attend all-black schools 15 years after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled schools must be desegregated.

But, the State Department of Education reports, only seven per cent of the state's white junior and senior high school pupils attend all-white schools.

In terms of the number of students who are only children of their own race in their classrooms, it's 40,000 Negroes and 31,000 whites.

Although 15 years after the Supreme Court decision, numbers of schoolchildren still attend segregated schools, the State Education Department says "steady progress" is being made toward integration.

James T. Campbell, assistant state education commissioner, said in a recent issue of the department's magazine, "A pre-dominant majority of Florida citizens appear to have accepted the principle of school desegregation, and it is to be expected that the feeling and beliefs of many of them."

Campbell said it may not be possible to desegregate schools fully at long as neighborhoods are racially segregated. He said the Civil Rights Act prohibits enforced busing of children to schools in another neighborhood to achieve a racial balance.

"The biggest problem is what to do about residential segregation, particularly in metropolitan areas where it's so acute," he said. Campbell and residents of Tallahassee are working toward solutions.

"I'm still astonished at what has been done," he said. "Some of the things being done now would have been just unthinkable at the county level a few years ago. You just wouldn't have been able to mention them at the county level."

Federal statistics at the county level show that only five counties—Dade, Charlotte, Monroe, Cheek, and Holmes—have been certified as completely desegregated by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

HEW has accepted desegregation plans from 30 counties and indicated they were making satisfactory progress. They include Brevard, Broward, Columbia, Hillsborough, Indian River, Lee, Sarasota, Volusia, Leon, Alachua, Bay, Escambia, Pinellas, Duval, Orange and Polk.

Three counties have turned thumbs down on federal school desegregation plans. They are Baker, Lafayette and Taylor.

Plans for 16 other counties are up for review by HEW. They are Ocala, Madison, Palm Beach, Volusia, Glades, Hamilton, Hendry, Levy, Manatee and Nassau.

At the county level, Seminole County has made the most progress. It has the highest percentage of Negro students in all-white schools, and the lowest percentage of white students in all-Negro schools.

Teachers' Status, Pay Raise Bid

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—George D. Fischer, the new president of the National Education Association, wants to play an old game with a new twist. The game is power politics and the goal is better education.

NEA's claim to national fame is that it is the largest research organization in the world. Fischer says that's fine. But he doesn't think it is really politically powerful enough to represent 800,000 teachers and 300,000 other educators who are NEA members.

At 43, the former Iowa vocational high school teacher has a youthful style of dress and speech that hardly fits the mold of a lobbyist, which he expects to be for the next 18 months.

His ideas on education reflect the problems in the field: for instance, teacher salary and status in the community. He said the starting salary for a teacher in the public schools should be $10,000 and with a top of $21,000.

Nationally, he said, teachers are paid less than in most other professions. In the public schools, the average salary in the southeastern United States is $6,802.

"Teachers," he commented, "are second-class citizens."

And that is one reason why he said schools today have the "same place as medicine at the turn of the century. Schools today are like Albert Schweitzer's hospital in Africa—understaffed and overworked."

The teacher today is like the doctor was in the country town. But a doctor sees 20 people a day today. The teacher sees 20 an hour.

Decentralization, Fischer said that decentralization is finally coming of age. "We've suffered under a misconception—that because a school district is more efficient, it can run itself better. But a school district is more efficient when it is run financially from one office... then it is also more efficient educationally," he said.

He noted that the two notions are not compatible. The best-run system is when the school is nearest the home, the family and the child.

Fischer said the underlying cause of the Watts riot started at Manual Arts High. He said many poor Negro parents think that the school is against them, and not really helping their children to get a better education.

They believe, he stated, that the school is part of the white establishment which is keeping them down.

"Take the authority away from the central office and give part of it back to the teachers and the parents," he said, and they will have a greater say in ensuring that the child's needs are being fulfilled.

Teacher Rights Fischer said the teacher wants a greater voice in the running of a classroom and in the functioning of his society. Consequently, he said, they should have the right to participate and be involved in political activities, without being subject to the whims of school board or policy pressures.

The NEA is party to several teacher suits against school boards that have banned such activity or have taken reprisals against politically involved instructors.

But the words "teacher strike" made Fischer bristle. "There are several overtures to the NEA on the possibility of merging. Fischer likes the politically potent concept of giving teachers' "one voice," though he is a strong proponent of the American Federation of Teachers, a rival to the NEA which has been union-

John Public Has Advice On Taxes

They believe, he stated, that the school is part of the white establishment which is keeping them down.

"Take the authority away from the central office and give part of it back to the teachers and the parents," he said, and they will have a greater say in ensuring that the child's needs are being fulfilled.

Teacher Rights Fischer said the teacher wants a greater voice in the running of a classroom and in the functioning of his society. Consequently, he said, they should have the right to participate and be involved in political activities, without being subject to the whims of school board or policy pressures.

The NEA is party to several teacher suits against school boards that have banned such activity or have taken reprisals against politically involved instructors.

But the words "teacher strike" made Fischer bristle. "There are several overtures to the NEA on the possibility of merging. Fischer likes the politically potent concept of giving teachers' "one voice," though he is a strong proponent of the American Federation of Teachers, a rival to the NEA which has been union-

Brilliant Party Planned By Legion Post And Unit

By PHYLIS BRANNON
Old Glory American Legion Post 120 and Auxiliary of Altamonte Springs will have their annual Christmas party and party March 17 at the post home on Florida Lake.

Ham and turkey will be furnished by the post and auxiliary members will prepare the rest and bring covered dishes to complete the menu.

Special guests will include Altamonte Mayor W. Lawrence Bradford, Longwood Mayor Ken Brown and a representative from Forest City.

Speaker for the month's program was Dorothy Whitman of DeLand. She was introduced by the Legion. A Junior at DeLand High School in Orlando, Dorothy spoke on "Constitutional Rights and Responsibilities."

In business session of the post, Commander Otto Baumgartner appointed Thomas Lefgren as Junior vice commander and Edward Rogers, secretary of arms. James Brannon, a past Junior vice commander of Post 120 in Paxton, Ill., was introduced as a guest.

In business of the auxiliary, Mrs. Nellie Steudle, essay contest chairman, reported she had turned over arrangements for the competition to Paul Taylor, principal of South Seminole Junior High School, and Carlton Henley, Lynn High principal. Results must be returned to Mrs. Steudle no later than Friday, this week, and to the district by Saturday, March 15.

Judges for the local contest will be attorneys Douglas Stronstrom and Kenneth McIntosh, both of Sanford, and Miss Louise Long, Seminole County home economics agent.

Mrs. Lillian Cox, president, advised members that the organization's constitution is to be revised this year to include the wives and children of veterans who have served in Vietnam.

The charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Elizabeth Faulhaber and prayers were offered by Mrs. Zella Bittick, chaplain.

GOP Hold Lincoln Day Party

Fifty members of the DeBarry Republican Club attended the Lincoln Day luncheon at Florida Military Academy in DeLand to hear State Sen. L. A. Bafalis of Palm Beach, guest speaker for the event which was sponsored by the DeBarry Club and the DeLand Men's Republican Club.

Senator Bafalis noted that his election to a four-term Democratic district attested to his popularity and belief of the voters in his principles.

Complimenting students at the school, he stated "in these times of school disturbances, it is good to find a student body that lives, looks, and works like Americans."

Continuing on his theme of the political aspects of Republican wins, the senator pointed out, "Republican gains in Florida are an expression of the people's approval of responsible, reasonable Republicanism—a desire to return to the track of realities—to live within our means. The Republican promise of holding public spending with reason will need citizen support of Republican leadership efforts to stay the flood of bond issues now building up in the legislature."

He emphasized the importance of citizens participating in government, reminding his audience of a Lincoln axiom—"No administration can run the country in four years if the people are vigilant and concerned."

WHERE IT'S HAPPENING
This evening Thursday is the big day for Seminoles Junior College's basketball team. The 250 crowd will go after victory and ready St. Petersburg Junior College. The St. Pete five was the runner-up team in Division III, after the West Coast squad defeated champion Sevier, following a coast-official dispute.

Seminole and St. Pete will meet in the opening game at 7 p.m. of the Florida State Junior College Tourney, to be played in the Indian River Junior College Gym at Ft. Pierce. The Raiders have been put in the role as favorites, but the odds should be rough as St. Petersburg boasts an impressive 24-2 record.

The Sanford based team also had the best defensive average in the state with a fine and exceptional G.A. In the offensive category the SJC team carried a respectable 85.5 margin.

Radio Station WYER will broadcast the game starting at 12:45 p.m. This day, the next evening will be broadcast every game. The Raiders continue to win. If they lose, it's a long trip back to Sanford.

DEWITT MATHEWS

Many people expect Seminoles and Indian River to play for the state Championship Saturday night. This year is unique in the Florida tourney, as the top two teams will move on to the regional contest, to face the champions of Georgia and Alabama. If both these teams from Florida win over the Georgia and Alabama teams, they will move on to the national tourney in Kansas City, Kansas.

All in all it has been a basketball season for Sanford and Seminole County SJC fans.

DeWitt Mathews, a local Sanford banker, helped sponsor two very successful sporting events last week. Mathews was in charge of the four bus motorcade that took local fans to a major role in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes dinner, with the feature guest speaker at that event being Jim Carlen, Head Coach of the University of West Virginia's football team.

Mathews is secretary-treasurer of the local FCA chapter and has played a major part in the success of this organization. Mathews has also been a tremendous booster of all area sports. A tip of the hat and thanks goes out from this column to this fine individual.

ANDREW BRACKEN

Last week, and the week before, a group of interested parents met to try to curb the situation. The group was mediated by Sanford businessman, Jim Rowe.

There is one thing that bothers me though. Out of 1,100 students and interested individuals, there were only 75 people who attended this important meeting. This has to be one of the reasons that Seminoles High has run into so much difficulty in the money department.

The group hopes to surplus the Spring sports chart by raising necessary funds through contributions and other worthwhile events. Now is the time for every interested person to get into the act and help out. A contribution is helpful, but working to achieve the goal of sponsorship is much more important than the dollar. Sports are not made out of money, but of hard work. Take an hour out today and find out how you can help. Call Rowe, Andrew Bracken, principal of Seminoles High or Coach Ralph Stuard at 858. It will really be worth your time and effort.

The Raiders of Seminole Junior College, behind the strong front pitching formation, Seminoles High School star, Ron Henry, defeated the Seminoles High "A's" in their first game of the season, 2-1.

The Raiders took the 1 1/2 in the top of the first inning, when the lead-off batter, Ron Waldron, drew a base—on a ball and power hitter Carl Semanicki, led him in with a two out single.

In the fourth inning, Seminoles High pitcher Steve Shumaker led-off the inning with a towering home run that easily cleared the fence.

The Action Was Fast And Furious At Daytona

By F. T. MACFEELEY
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "Sever determination and skill brought Lee Roy Yarbrough his biggest payoff in eight years of big time stock car racing. But all crews will debate for a long time whether a tire change might have made the difference between the winner and second-place Charlie Glotzbach in the Daytona 500 Sunday.

Not Quite Enough

In the background of the mechanical controversy were two former champion drivers—James "Jimmy" Dean, who prepared Yarbrough's 1968 Ford Talladega, and Cotton Owens, who did the same with Glotzbach's 1968 Dodge Charger 500.

Yarbrough, who was runner-up in both the Daytona 500 and Firecracker 400 at Daytona International Speedway last year, passed Glotzbach one mile from home and finished a car length in front.

"I was going flat out and I couldn't get past him until the fourth turn," Glotzbach said.

Yarbrough, giving his account of the final laps, said "I couldn't catch him on the lap before he decided to wait till the last lap where he could not gain enough momentum to pass me back."

"They waged a two-car duel through the last 100 miles after Donnie Allison—who led 87 of the 200 laps around the 1.5-mile high banked track—brushed the wall and lost some of his speed. The crucial tire change came 80 miles before the finish.

Yarbrough pitted 21 seconds. In addition to fueling, he changed the left rear tire. Glotzbach was in the pit only 10 seconds, just for fuel.

APOKA — Lyman High School ended its 1968-69 basketball season on a high note with a quick victory over the visiting Leesburg team in a quick match-up of Friday night, but despite the Greyhounds' confidence and fervent hopes and speedy playing it was not one of victory.

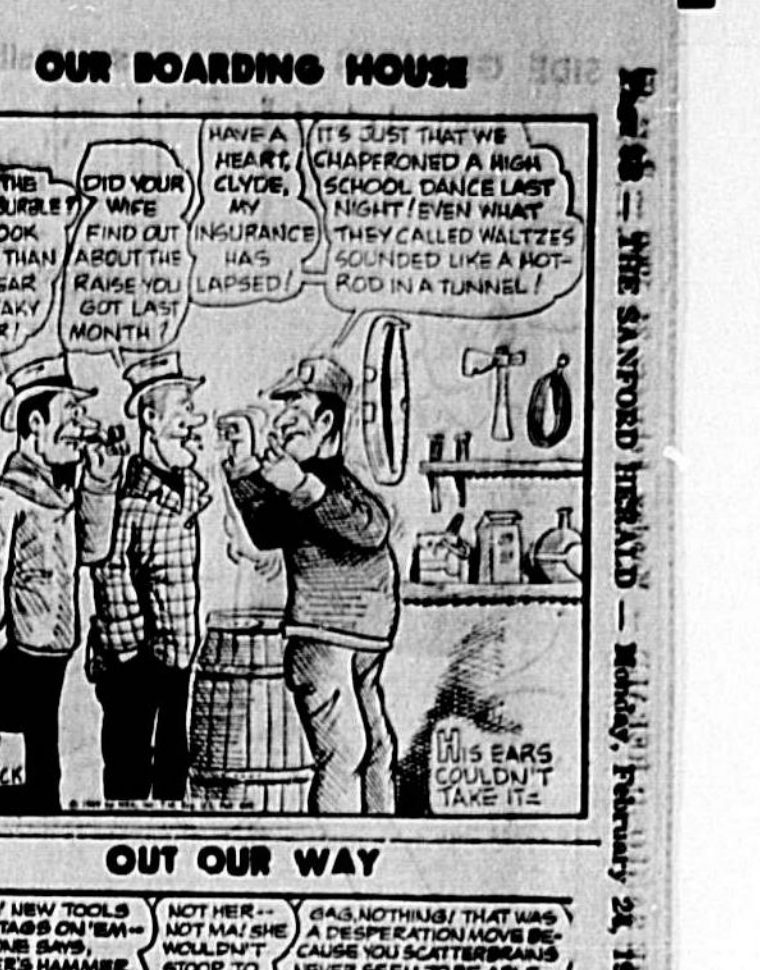

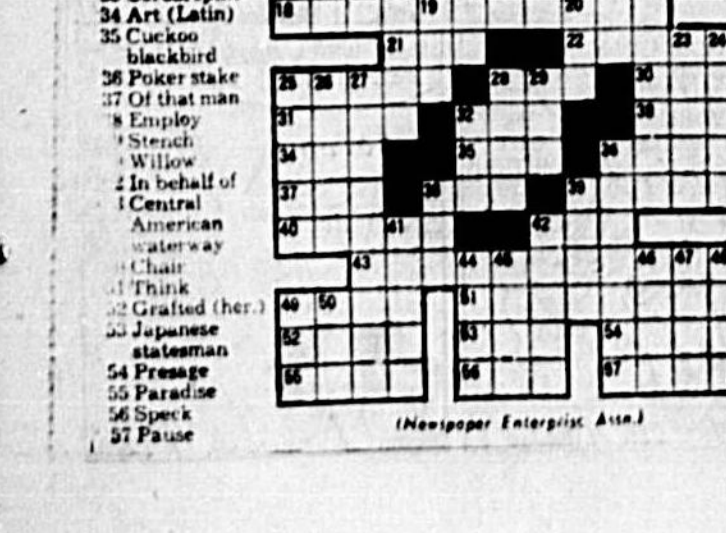

On Saturday night the DeLand Bulldogs became undisputed number one in the Orange Belt Conference as they scouted Leesburg, 67-59 and picked up their 24th win and third consecutive OBC championship crown. DeLand will now advance to the district contest now set in Sanford for Friday.

Parking Lot Leases To Be Killed?

By E. Z. Porter

It is not yet clear whether a member of City of Sanford's very top echelon will depart these environs after Uncle Sam delivers title for the Navy base to the city. His shoes will be hard to fill.

City will "write off" the $281,000 owed by county for street lights on Ocean Road and Standard Avenue since county refused at last session to live up to its agreement by paying the long due account. Commissioner Earl Hightshagen says he is "writing it off" as uncollectible.

A clerk's mistake in the city records caused the wife of a retired city employee to lose his $1,000 death benefit when an insurance policy was cancelled inadvertently at the man's retirement in 1962. The man passed away last week and his wife showed up at city hall to claim the death benefit. After checking the situation, the error was discovered and city has agreed to try to solve the problem by informing the insurance company of the mistake and attempt to get permission from the company to pay all back premiums so the insurance firm will pay the face value of the policy.

This issue seems to have been solved by the city's purchase of the site and after a discussion among the board, the recommendation was tabled until further notice.

In other actions, the commission:

Approved, with Dr. Roberts making only one vote, a policy to operate the new Sanford Recreation Center in same manner as Civic Center. Roberts' dissent was on basis that the new building is not a civic center.

Approved requests for beer and wine licenses for Louie Wollon at 208 Sanford Avenue and Village Restaurant Truck terminal, 1900 French Avenue.

Set up March 10 public hearing for conditional change of zoning to allow used car operation without changing present C-1 (neighborhood residential) zoning for a commercial (neighborhood) use.

Approved motion by James H. Craype to have present zoning electrical examination at 30 amps; Central Examining Board had asked for a change to 60 amps because of fire danger brought about by increased electrical usage.

Approved letting Journeyman plumbers and electricians take city exam instead of H. H. Block examination to be administered by Central Examining Board.

Reappointed A. K. Shoemaker, R. L. Harvey, E. C. Harper Jr. and George J. Mills to two-year terms on Central Examining Board.

Charter Vote Okayed At Casselberry

By DONNA ESTES

Citizens of the City of Casselberry will have an opportunity to vote on the proposed charter amendments before they go into effect, the City Council decided last night on a three-to-two vote.

Voting against including referendum provision in the amendments planned to be introduced in the next session of the Legislature were Councilmen Louis Kirby and William Orter. Both men cited the fact they had been elected by the people to make judgments of this type.

Councilman Thomas Napier called the qualifying referendum provision "a most controversial and one mentioned for the first time publicly last night—change in term of office for the mayor and Council from two to three years and requirement that a five per cent qualifying fee provision 'discrimination' and insisted while men were being encouraged to run for public office in the municipality, the fee might make it impossible for them to do so."

Councilman Richard Wirtz and Council Chairman Edith Napier also noted their support of the referendum provision. Included among the amendments being sought by the city, according to City Attorney Kenneth McInlock, are the right of initiative by the citizens to amend the charter; provision giving the city alternative methods of annexation to eliminate "islands" within the city; change in fines and incarceration to provide fines not exceeding $200 and/or 90 days in jail rather than present limitation of $500 and/or 60 days; prohibits the development of district and wards in the city; defines ballot requirements; allows serving of processes from city court into Lake, Bevard, Volusia and Orange Counties.

Other sections provide for enactment of emergency ordinances, interchange of money from department to department, creation of volunteer or permanent fire department, creation of a park's board, cancellation of interest provisions for Council and mayor, creation of a civil service board.

City Manager Warren E. Knowles addressed the commission members at the meeting, which was held at the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce. He said the city is in a "critical financial position" and that the proposed charter amendments are necessary to "bring the city out of its financial straits."

By WP 'Phone At Altamonte $400,000 Expansion Told

Winter Park Telephone Company President R. P. Hubert announced today that the company would start construction of two buildings on its recently acquired property in Altamonte Springs before the end of 1968. The buildings, which will cost approximately $270,000 in total, will be used to house the company's outside plant departments as well as provide adequate warehouse and garage facilities.

Hubert said that the construction of these buildings was necessary because the existing facilities in Winter Park were inadequate and could not be conveniently or economically expanded.

He also pointed out that since the majority of the company's growth was in the northern and eastern portions of its service area, the company would realize a savings in reaching these areas. The company would also have easy access to the remainder of its service area via SR-436, U.S. 17-92, and I-4.

The money will be part of $2.5 million set aside by the State Legislature during the special legislative session held last year for education.

$155,000 Allocated For School Buildings

Seminole County will receive $155,000 in state building funds for construction of six special education classrooms for junior high students.

The money will be part of $2.5 million set aside by the State Legislature during the special legislative session held last year for education.

You and your family go to a Seminole High football game. You and your spouse pay $2 apiece adult admission plus $1 each for your, say, three children. During the evening you spend another $1 at the concession stand for Cokes and hot dogs for the kids.

Operating Reins Go To SIC

By WILL SCOTT

Seminole County Commission last night turned over the reins of operating the Sanford Naval Air Station to the Sanford Industrial Commission on a temporary administrative basis until a legislative act with bonding power can be passed at Tallahassee during the next legislative session.

The commission's action came as the result of a memo from City Manager Warren E. Knowles addressed to the commission members at the meeting, which was held at the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce. He said the city is in a "critical financial position" and that the proposed charter amendments are necessary to "bring the city out of its financial straits."
