County Expected To Revive Hospital Renovation Plan

By Micheal Beha
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County commissioners are expected to change their minds again Tuesday when they review plans to spend about $2 million on renovating the old Seminole Memorial Hospital in Sanford for use as county offices.

Commissioner Barbara Christensen said she will join Commissioners Bill Kirchhoff and Sandra Glenn in supporting the hospital renovation. Mrs. Christensen had previously voted with Commissioners Robert Sturm and Robert G. "Bud" Feather to seek a private firm to construct an office building at the county's Five Points complex.

Mrs. Christensen said a cost comparison of the two plans convinced her that renovation of the hospital is less expensive and the best option for the county.

Sturm would not reveal how he will vote Tuesday, saying only that he is examining the relative costs of the two plans.

According to the cost estimates prepared by the county's Office of Management and Budget, the original estimate of $2.9 million for renovating and moving to the hospital can be pared to between $1.85 million and $2.4 million.

The county's architectural firm, Helman Hurley Charvat Peacock/Architects of Winter Park, has already estimated that renovation costs can be reduced to about $2 million by placing fire sprinklers only in hallways, in accordance with minimum fire code standards; postponing the replacement of air conditioning equipment; and reducing the money held for contingencies from 10 to five percent.

Commissioners agreed last year, after two failed attempts to sell the hospital building, to move the board's offices along with staff offices, land management officials and the supervisor of elections, property appraiser and tax collector's offices into the building until new office space is built to house them.

As a part of that agreement, commissioners promised to turn over the space they now occupy in the courthouse to circuit and county judges to be used for courtrooms and judicial offices.

But earlier this month, commissioners delayed their plans after hearing the initial cost estimates prepared by the architect. At Sturm's urging, commissioners agreed to consider a plan to have a private developer construct 100,000-square feet of offices for the county at a cost of about $7 million.

Sturm said the county would save itself construction expenses by leasing the offices until the building was paid for. At that time, the building would be owned by the county.

Sanford officials also offered to construct a building for the county in order to keep the offices in downtown Sanford.

But the OMB study shows that it is about $4 million cheaper over the next five years to renovate the hospital than to construct a new building.

Only Feather now appears to support construction of a new building. "Even though it might appear to be less expensive (to renovate) it would be much more efficient if we built a new building," he said.

"The county should be run just like a business. The first thing a business looks for is functional space in a good climate at a good location."

Lake Mary At War With Litterers

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary Mayor Walter Sorenson has "declared war" on litterers in the city, promising to do all in his power to send the culprits to jail if they are caught.

While city commissioners were supportive of Sorenson's position, they weren't too sure they want to take on a clean-up day to help city residents get rid of excess trash and garbage.

Sorenson said he is taking the advice of newspaper columnist Andy Rooney that everyone has the responsibility for protecting the environment by insisting that the littering stop.

'It's so revolting, it's unspeakable. We will make every effort to put those dumping garbage and trash along the roadside in jail, if we can catch them.'

He noted a particularly bad situation on Hospital Road, east of Lake Mary Boulevard at the city's limits, where large piles of garbage and trash have been dumped.

"It's so revolting, it's unspeakable," Sorenson said. "We will make every effort to put those dumping garbage and trash along the roadside in jail, if we can catch them."

While conceding the littering problem exists, the City Commission could not decide Thursday night whether to set a special clean-up time in the city.

In the past, the city has picked up large appliances as well as garbage and trash on the clean-up days.

City Manager Phil Kulbes said the last clean-up lasted nearly a month and cost the city some $2,500 in dumping fees and other expenses.

Fire Chief Jim Orioles, who is also the city's public works director, said the clean-up was an "enormous pain in the back side" for the city. "We picked up six or seven truckloads from one house. For three weeks we could do nothing else," he said.

Commissioner Charlie Lytle asked his colleagues to think about the situation and to make a decision at the April 7 meeting.

Kulbes proposed that a nominal fee be charged those city residents who wished to have trash picked up. He said the money raised would at least pay the dump fees the city would incur.

Even Sorenson said that residents who had more than two dump loads would be using up the city's goodwill.

Ric Stanley, a member of the city's planning and zoning commission, said he would donate the use of a large trailer for pickups in the city and Commissioner Ray Fox said he would also donate a trailer as long as it is returned in good condition.

A Bit O' Blarney

There were no political implications at Sanford's second annual St. Patrick's Day parade held Thursday in downtown Sanford, just fun and green beer which flowed freely at the festivities at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce. The Irish-American Club (above) led the parade carrying the flags of the U.S. and Ireland. Grand Marshal John Kader (left) does a little pre-parade partying. The winning float was entered by the Elks Club of Sanford. Trophies for the best costumes went to bagpiper Jim Wood of Deltona and Wendy Scott Ory of Sanford. Because of the threat of rain, the parade started about 15 minutes early to the disappointment of some who didn't arrive until 4 p.m.

Auditor Critical Of Cheshire

Seminole-Brevard State Attorney Douglas Cheshire has been criticized in a state audit for extravagance because he chartered private aircraft for official business and bought a $352 pistol for protection.

The audit covers fiscal 1981 and 1982 and also criticizes Cheshire, the state's chief prosecutor in Seminole and Brevard counties, for not keeping travel records and says that he could have bought cheaper office furniture and vehicles.

In his report, Auditor General Ernest Ellison says on many occasions that Cheshire rented private aircraft to attend conferences, budget hearings and meetings and seven out of eight documented trips could have been made on less expensive commercial flights.

Ellison says in his report that Cheshire could have saved at least $2,400 in 1980 and 1981 by traveling on commercial flights to official appointments.

The State Attorney's office has now changed its procedures and a new policy lays down that private planes will only be used where there is no practical alternative, Cheshire said.

The audit also questioned the purchase of a $352 Beretta automatic pistol which Cheshire said was needed for protection because of death threats against him and his family.

Cheshire said that the 14-shot Beretta was a better weapon than the two others assigned to him.

Cheshire, who has seen a preliminary copy of the audit report, said that it is "certainly not a bad report card." —Victor Assersohn

Reagan Wants To Tighten Student Aid Rules

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan wants to make it tougher for college students to qualify for federal grants and give parents more freedom in choosing schools for their children.

Saying the nation's education system "is in need of significant changes in key areas," Reagan Thursday forwarded a package of initiatives to Congress he said are intended "to improve equity and quality in American education."

Reagan, who has targeted student financial aid for budget cuts, proposed revamping a grant program which this year will provide $2.4 billion in assistance to 2.3 million college students.

Rather than receiving a straight grant, Reagan said, students should have to contribute toward their own education costs as a condition of federal help. He proposed an intensified work-study program and more stringent tests to determine financial need.

Reagan also asked Congress to authorize establishment of voucher systems that would allow parents to send educationally disadvantaged children to private schools or public schools of their choice.

Oil Glut Keeps Prices Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices stabilized last month with higher food prices preventing the kind of record drop that occurred in January and lower oil prices blocking any new acceleration of inflation, private analysts say.

The government's Producer Price index for the 12 months through January has shown an annual rate of growth of only 2.1 percent. In the unlikely event January's record one-month decline of a full 1 percent were to be maintained for a year the result would be what one government economist dubbed "double digit deflation," a rate of decline of 11.9 percent.

The pattern of low inflation is continuing despite some firming of food prices. A leading analyst of the government price index, Georgia State University economist Donald Ratajczak, said it appeared wholesale prices went up but only a scant 0.2 percent in February, although he said another decrease could not be ruled out.

Following the dramatic plunge in producer's prices in January, our February estimates of a slight increase should come as a surprise," he said. "Increases are especially strong in foods," he added, with sharp increases in poultry and eggs showing the biggest changes.

"Our figures suggest that the Department of Agriculture will report a very large 3.5 percent increase in agricultural prices," Ratajczak said, an indication that "the erosion in farm incomes is coming to an end."

Another forecaster, economist Michael Evans, predicted the same amount of change only going in the opposite direction, a 0.2 percent decline.

Fuel prices for dealers and other businesses have continued their decline, guaranteeing that any acceleration in the overall index will be extremely modest.

In January, energy prices for dealers fell 4.2 percent, pulled down by a 9.7 percent decline in home heating oil. Gasoline prices had fallen 3.3 percent and even previously skyrocketing natural gas prices were down 2.7 percent.

In Altamonte Springs

55 In Running For City Manager's Job

Fifty-five people, including two women, have filed applications to become Altamonte Springs city manager.

The applicants so far range in age from a 31-year-old woman, who is an assistant city manager in Auburn, Ala. to a 60-year-old man, who was an assistant city manager in St. Petersburg.

Educational qualifications range from a doctorate in public administration to a bachelor's degree in sociology.

Applicants are from such far-flung places as Janesville, Wis.; Fairbault and Burnsville, Minn.; Coos Bay, Ore.; Larned, Kan.; Denison, Texas; Omaha, Neb.; W. Lebert, Iowa; Guthrie, Okla.; Boston, Mass.; Kalamazoo, Greenville, Norton and Ann Arbor, Mich.; Carpentersville, Ill.; Wilkinsburg and Zelonople, Pa. and Merrimack, N.H.

Florida applicants are from Altamonte Springs, Longboat Key, New Smyrna Beach, St. Petersburg, Indialantic, Miami, Pompano Beach and Daytona Beach.

Among the applicants is a former assistant city manager of Sanford.

Altamonte's first manager, Jeff Etchberger, has resigned effective March 25 to accept the post of executive director and vice president of the Orlando Chamber of Commerce. His salary with Altamonte Springs is $52,500 annually, including use of a city car and an annuity.

Appointment of a permanent manager is expected by mid-May. The salary of the new manager is expected to be $45,000 annually.

Interim city manager until a permanent appointment is made is City Attorney James "Skip" Fowler.

Qualifications for those aspiring to Etchberger's office are: 8-10 years experience as a city manager or in management in the private sector with heavy emphasis on financial management. A bachelor's degree is required, but a master's degree in public or business administration is preferred.

Sam Frazzee, the city's personnel director is in charge of collecting applications and is applying a pre-determined point scale to each application.

Applications are being accepted through April 1. —Donna Estes

Dow Named As Dioxin Culprit

SAGINAW, Mich. (UPI) — A preliminary federal study has found dioxin in wastewater discharges and channel catfish near the Dow Chemical Co. Midland plant.

Neither Dow nor the Environmental Protection Agency would comment on the report, but Richard Powers, the state Department of Natural Resources director of toxic materials control, Thursday confirmed partial test results from the Tittabawase River.

The Saginaw News reported Thursday it had learned tentative results show fish samples taken downstream from the Dow plant on the Tittabawase contained high levels of dioxin while fish placed upstream did not.

Gov. James J. Blanchard said he was also looking into reports of collusion between the EPA and Dow, possibly with knowledge of state officials.

But, at a Detroit news conference, Blanchard said he had no information to back up published reports that acting EPA Administrator John Hernandez said former Gov. William G. Milliken knew of the problem.

Shooting Victims Sue Hinckley's Psychiatrist

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House press secretary James Brady and two law enforcement officers, shot by John W. Hinckley Jr. during an assassination attempt on President Reagan, are suing his psychiatrist for $14 million, charging that he misdiagnosed the gunman before the shooting.

The civil suit, filed today in U.S. District Court in Denver, also accused Dr. John J. Hopper Jr. of negligently prescribing Valium and biofeedback therapy for Hinckley in the months before he pushed through a knot of people and fired a pistol at Reagan and his entourage.

"Dr. Hopper knew or should have known that Hinckley posed a danger to himself and others and was capable of attempting a political assassination," the suit said. "Dr. Hopper negligently failed to warn law enforcement officials of such fact."

The Evergreen, Colo. psychiatrist was not immediately available for comment.

U.S. Miffed At Israelis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S.-Israeli relations are suffering from yet another development involving a series of confrontations between American and Israeli troops in Lebanon.

The United States Thursday forwarded to the Israeli government a stern letter from the Marine commandant charging Israeli troops threatened the lives of U.S. soldiers in the war-torn country and urging "strong action" to avoid more confrontations.

In the letter, written Monday to Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, Gen. Robert Barrow referred to several recent clashes in Lebanon.

"These particular incidents involved [U.S.] officers in life-threatening situations, replete with verbal degradation of the officers, their uniform and country," he said. "Unfortunately, and of greater concern to me, incidents of this nature are the rule, rather than the exception."

Blast Kills 4 Soldiers

FORT DIX, N.J. (UPI) — An explosion that killed four members of an elite Army munitions team also scattered live explosives across the demolition range, making it difficult to investigate the blast.

Two men who were injured in the explosion Thursday at the Fort Dix military base were hospitalized in good condition. The identities of the dead and injured, all members of the 60th Ordnance Detachment, were withheld to allow the Army to contact their families, an Army spokesman said.

Details surrounding the explosion, which occurred on demolition range No. 39 in the southeast section of the base, were not immediately available, the Army said.

Deputy To Be Arraigned On Theft Charge Monday

Former Seminole County deputy sheriff Aaron Sanders is scheduled to be arraigned in Orange County Court, Orlando, Monday on a charge of dealing in stolen property.

The charge follows a complaint by Randal Brister, who was evicted from his Seminole County home in December, that his stereo valued at $700 had been stolen. It was later found in an Orlando store.

The complaint triggered an investigation of the county sheriff's department after allegations that perhaps as many as 50 deputies may be involved in the theft of property from persons evicted from their homes.

Sanders, of Sanford, is represented by Sanford attorney Thomas Greene.

Sanders turned himself in on February 28 and was released under a pre-trial arrangement.

"We are entering a plea of not guilty and plan to pursue that," said Greene, who estimated that the trial would be set for June or July.

Asked if any further charges were likely, Greene replied: "I don't think there will be any further charges, at least not in Orange County, but in Seminole County, I don't know."

The sheriff's department probe, ordered by Gov. Bob Graham, is being carried out by Alachua State Attorney Eugene T. Whitworth who familiarized himself with the allegations earlier this week. He is scheduled to return to Sanford Monday to continue the investigation.

BOND REDUCTION DENIED

Suspected child killer Donald Glenn McDougall, said by an inmate at Seminole county jail to have admitted killing 5-year old Ursula Assaid and dumping her body in an Altamonte Springs pond, was denied bond and will remain in jail until his trial scheduled for the week of April 4.

Seminole Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. ordered McDougall's $100,000 bond revoked and signed a new order denying bail at a hearing Thursday.

Mize made his ruling after reading court records and hearing Seminole County jail inmate Marshall Berry testify that McDougall had admitted to him that he killed Ursula Assaid and dumped her body in a pond on September 26.

McDougall then left his Altamonte Springs home for Berry, who is serving a year in the county jail and 15 years probation for a house burglary conviction, told the court: "I was in the same maximum security cell as McDougall and we were talking. I asked him if he had killed the little girl and thrown her in a river he said 'Yes, but the state has no proof.' I couldn't believe he had admitted it to me."

He strenuously denied that any deals had been made and that he had not received a lighter sentence in exchange for testifying against McDougall.

GREASE FIRE AT RESTAURANT

An Altamonte Springs barbecue restaurant, which had about $1,000 damage done to it after a second fire Wednesday, has been told by fire experts that grease must be cleaned from the ceiling every two weeks.

A blaze at Uncle Jones Bar-B-Q, E. State Road 436, started about 7:40 p.m. and was caused when flames from the open pit ignited grease and travelled up the chimney, say fire investigators. Pork spare ribs were being cooked at the time.

Seminole County Chief fire investigator Ray Pippen said that the restaurant had been told to clean the grease off the roof after a similar incident about four or five weeks ago when there was a fire which caused little damage.

"We require that they clean the chimney and barbecue pit once a month but they appear not to have,"

Pippen said. "Now they have to clean it every two weeks and if that doesn't work it will have to be every week. I think they are not just cleaning the flues and chimney enough. We have other barbecue places like this in the county and this doesn't happen," said Pippen.

OUTBOARD MOTOR STOLEN

An outboard motor valued at $875 was stolen from the back of Michael Sproul's boat which was parked in his yard at Lake Marion Drive, Altamonte Springs. The theft occurred between 4 p.m. March 3 and 9:45 a.m. Tuesday.

SPEAKERS AND AMPLIFIER STOLEN

An amplifier and speakers worth $1,200 were stolen from a building at 1017 W. 13th St., Sanford, which is used for choir practice by the Marantha New Life Center, Cypress Ave., Sanford. The theft is suspected of taking place between March 8 and Tuesday.

GENERATOR STOLEN

A generator worth $630 was stolen from James Wahl's van between 11 p.m. Sunday and 1 p.m. Monday while the van was parked at his home at 1114 Hobson St., Longwood.

DOORS TAKEN FROM CONSTRUCTION SITE

Five louvre doors worth $250 were stolen from a building site at 1570 Sugarwood Blvd., Matland, between 7 and 7:45 p.m. Saturday.

JEWELRY MISPLACED

Jewelry worth $8,150 was discovered missing Monday by its owner, Barbara Ward, Robinswood Drive, Longwood.

The jewelry, which included a six emerald diamond ring worth $2,000, was lost or stolen from her home between 5 p.m. January 1 and 10:10 a.m. Monday, says the report.

DUI ARREST

David Relp Derrow, 25, of 1202 W. Smith St., Orlando, was arrested at 2:20 a.m. Thursday after he was seen driving his car south in the northbound lane of State Road 15 near Fernwood Boulevard, Casselberry. He was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, having an unlawful blood alcohol level and driving on the wrong side of the road.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: High winds and drenching rainstorms battered South Carolina, killing at least one person and sending floodwaters lapping into hundreds of homes, and 14 crewmen from a tugboat that sank in storm-tossed seas huddled on a giant barge off the Louisiana coast early today, awaiting a rescue boat. Severe thunderstorms pounded the southern Atlantic coast and Gulf of Mexico, Thursday, touching off nearly two dozen tornadoes that carved a path through southern Florida, downing powerlines with a ferocity resembling a fireworks show. Another tornado touched down during midafternoon at Offerman in southeastern Georgia. Water surging through a rain-swollen drainage ditch swept a 6-year-old boy into a storm drain near Charleston, S.C. The child died shortly after rescue workers pulled him out through a manhole. Streets were flooded in numerous towns as up to 6 inches of rain was reported in many areas of South Carolina.

$5.1 Billion Jobs Bill Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The $5.1 billion jobs bill finally is out of the Senate, and it took a complex deal to dislodge it.

With the two combatants agreeing to fight another day on a banking industry amendment to repeal tax withholding of interest and dividends, the Senate voted 82-16 to send the jobs and recession-relief package to a conference committee with the House to reconcile difference and probably lower the price tag.

The jobs bill contained $5 billion to replenish a depleted federal unemployment trust fund that lends money to 27 states to pay unemployment claims.

The House bill is $4.9 billion, and although the Republican Senate passed the more expensive measure, efforts are expected to trim the bill to meet President Reagan's goal of a $4.3 billion bill.

IN BRIEF

30 Nabbed In Broward Credit Card Crackdown

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — Law enforcement agencies in Broward County have started a crackdown on credit card fraud that Sheriff George Brescher promises is only the beginning. A roundup of area merchants produced more than 30 arrests Thursday with more to come, Brescher said. The arrests were the result of a nine-month sting operation by the Broward County Sheriff's Office and a cooperative racketeering squad comprised of officers from police departments throughout the area. Undercover agents were used to purchase goods with credit cards they told the merchants were stolen or with obviously phony cards known as "blue cards."

Credit card industry spokesmen said counterfeit losses nationwide alone totaled about $50 million in 1982, up from $15 million in 1981.

Students Poison Coffee

VERNON (UPI) — Two high school sophomores accused of putting poison strong enough to "eat through the esophagus" into their English teacher's coffee cup face felony charges and possible expulsion, officials say. Vernon High School teacher Gregg Patterson left his classroom briefly to speak with another student and when he got back, drank some of the sodium hydroxide-spiked coffee. He spit it back into the cup when it burned his mouth. The two, described as "A and B students," were arrested last Friday on charges of poisoning food or water, a felony with a maximum penalty of 30 years to life in prison and a $10,000 fine, Whitehurst said. The 18-year-old youths were released to the custody of their parents.

Peace-Keeping Forces Continue To Be Attacked

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — French soldiers were attacked with grenades today in the fourth consecutive day of ambushes against the multinational peace-keeping force, a French military spokesman said. No casualties were reported in the dawn attack in the Chiyah district of south Beirut hours before former President Carter was to arrive in the city for a brief visit, the spokesman said. Eight Italians and five U.S. Marines have been wounded in a string of attacks on the forces this week. Three French soldiers have been wounded, one of them seriously, in gun and grenade assaults this year.

'Nyet' To NATO Missiles

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union, unfazed by a show of support for NATO in the recent West German election, warned Western Europe anew today against backing the planned deployment of new U.S. medium-range missiles. "Those who are prepared with such ease to allow American missiles into their home, thus placing themselves in a position of Washington's nuclear hostages, would be well advised to think of where the line of the U.S. administration may lead them," said a front page editorial in Pravda. The Communist Party daily repeated that Moscow not only will refuse to dismantle its medium-range nuclear arsenal but will match any new deployment by NATO. President Reagan has refused to budge from the "zero option" — that unless the Soviets dismantle all their medium-range missiles aimed at western Europe, the new NATO rockets will be deployed.

For Firms At The Port Of Sanford

Water Costs Could Soar If Rate Hike OKd

By Michael Beha
Herald Staff Writer
 If rate increases proposed by Lake Monroe Utilities are allowed to take effect, the cost for water service to some firms at the Port of Sanford may increase by as much as 800 percent, according to the authority's executive director.

Dennis Dolgner told authority members Wednesday that increases proposed by Dr. J.W. Hickman, owner of the utility, could inhibit further development at the industrial park west of Sanford.

"Any large industry that comes in as a prospect wants to know the rate structure of utilities," Dolgner said. "If they need 125,000 gallons or more, you can kiss them good-bye."

Board attorney William Hutchinson said the state Public Service Commission staff will be reviewing the records of the utility and its customers to determine whether the rate increase is justified.

But, Hutchinson said, chances of the entire rate increase being approved are slim.

Hickman proposed the rate increase after reaching an agreement with the state Department of Environmental Regulation which will allow him to expand the utility's sewage treatment plant. The higher rates would help fund the expansion.

The utility has about 34 customers including the port, I-4 Industrial Park, Days Inn and Holiday Inn. Port Authority Chairman Wallace Schoettelkotte is a part-owner of the Holiday Inn.

Increases to port customers and the two motels would bring in about $140,000 a year in revenue, more than all the customers paid last year, Hutchinson said. Holiday Inn would be paying about $3,400 per year under the new rates.

Hutchinson and Dolgner denied allegations made by the utility that illegal water and sewer taps at the port are affecting service. Board member Clyde Rise, who runs a sewage line maintenance company, agreed. "The problem is not illegal taps, it's leaks."

Dolgner said the port will comply with a PSC request to open its books so that a fair estimate of current rates and water and sewer use can be made.

He added that a final decision in the case may be more than a year away. Dolgner will represent the port authority and the firms located at the port in further PSC proceedings.

In other business, Dolgner said the St. Johns Petroleum Co. terminal at the port remains out of operation for the fifth month. He predicted earlier that the terminal would not resume operations until gasoline prices return to the level they were several months ago.

But St. Johns may sell the terminal, he said. It has been offered for sale and "at least two good prospects are interested," Dolgner said.

Regardless of what happens, a letter of credit from Saxon Oil of Jacksonville is still on file at a local bank as insurance for the lease on the terminal. Saxon leased the terminal before St. Johns and had posted $100,000 security as collateral.

Dolgner said two banks, Combank and the First National Bank of Merritt Island, are interested in financing construction of the authority's fourth building at the port complex.

He said the terms of the 15-year lease-purchase agreement with Clifton Construction Co. of Cocoa will likely be 11 1/2 percent interest with an annual rate review.

That would equate to a cost of about $2 per square foot in the 160,000-square-foot building, Dolgner said. Current building costs average about $3 per square foot.

New Diet Cuts Blood Cholesterol

BOSTON (UPI) — Dangerously high levels of blood cholesterol, which threaten one of every 500 Americans, Europeans and Japanese, can be reduced almost to normal with a new drug treatment and strict diet, Japanese doctors report.

Researchers at the Kanazawa University School of Medicine said one of the drugs is still in the experimental stage and must still be tested for long-term side effects before it is available to the public.

The doctors tested 10 patients between 36 and 61 years old who suffered from a genetic defect called familial hypercholesterolemia.

People with the disorder run a strong risk of premature thickening and hardening of artery walls that interferes with blood circulation and contributes to heart disease.

All 10 patients reduced their consumption of high-cholesterol foods such as animal fat and dairy products and stuck mainly to polyunsaturated fats four to eight weeks before the onset of drug therapy.

Two drugs were then introduced that work in different ways to lower cholesterol, the researchers wrote in the New England Journal of Medicine.

One, a new drug called compactin, lowered blood levels of low-density lipoprotein cholesterol, which is extremely high in people with familial hypercholesterolemia.

Compactin was used in conjunction with cholestyramine which lowers all blood cholesterol by converting it to bile acid in the liver.

The mean cholesterol level among the 10 patients, which was 356 before the study began, was reduced to 217 after 12 weeks of treatment, the doctors said; A level of about 200 is considered normal for the average male.

Cholesterol levels increased when compactin was stopped, the doctors said.

In The Service

SANDRA L. SHUTTLEWORTH

Pfc. Sandra L. Shuttleworth, daughter of Margaret and Jack C. Shuttleworth of 221 Pine Hill Place, Orange City, has completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

FREDDIE L. HOWARD

Marine Pvt. Freddie L. Howard, son of Bruce Brown of 118 W. 20th St., Sanford, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

During the 11-week training cycle, he learned the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including: first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

WILLIAM J. SMITH

Capt. William J. Smith, son of Jane R. Baskin of 671 Ridge Road, Largo, and William F. Smith of 3536 Maxwell Road, Toledo, Ohio, has completed a field artillery officer advanced course at the U.S. Army Field Artillery Center, Fort Sill, Okla.

During the course, students received instruction in field artillery operations and tactics, command and staff procedures, communications and logistics.

JOHN A. WRIGHT

Economic Control An Essential Tool

In the global struggle to preserve free societies in the face of Soviet totalitarianism, economic weapons are of critical importance. The President of the United States, who is commander in chief and charged by the Constitution with the conduct of foreign policy, must have final and decisive authority to use those weapons in defense of the national security of the United States.

To be specific, the President must have authority to restrict exports for foreign policy reasons. Under the Export Administration Act, the President has such authority at this time. Unfortunately, a move is afoot to deny him that authority.

The National Association of Manufacturers has issued a statement, saying that "the President should not have the authority to control exports for foreign policy reasons." Alexander Trowbridge, president of the NAM, has stated that both national security and foreign policy provisions of the Export Administration Act need to be changed when Congress takes up reauthorization of the Act this year.

The NAM ignores the fact that some companies, albeit a few, have sought short-term financial advantage at the cost of national security. Control Data Corporation wanted to sell giant computers to the Soviet Union. General Electric Company wanted to sell jet engines. These sales, if allowed, would have been injurious to the United States. Soviet missiles have attained a new degree of accuracy because one American company sold advanced equipment for the manufacture of ball bearings.

The farm belt hates the idea of bans on shipments of food to the Soviet Union or other communist-bloc countries. Again, the overall interests of the United States must receive a higher priority than a particular commercial interest.

It has to be borne in mind that the Soviet industrial system has grown as a result of the import of American equipment and technology over six decades. Only a decade ago, the Pullman Company built an entire truck plant for the Soviet Union. These trucks are now being used by the Red Army in Afghanistan.

American business has many legitimate complaints against excessive government regulation and counter-productive economic policies on the domestic scene. Special rules must apply when national security is concerned, however. It also should be remembered that many companies, on their own accord, refuse to have dealings with the Soviets, though these dealings would be highly profitable to these companies. This is the type of public spirit that should be applauded.

The President, who needs essential powers to defend the cause of freedom, must not be deprived of a key foreign policy tool.

Soviet Sharing?

An American security official has added new dimension to our already difficult trade relations with Japan. Richard Perle, an assistant secretary of defense for international security policy, says advanced industrial technology that the United States shares with Japan is being passed on to the Soviet Union.

During a recent interview, Perle said the United States learned about the Soviet effort in Japan from a KGB official who defected after operating in Tokyo.

While the Russians have been eager to acquire Japanese technology, their more favored target is U.S. technology, which is easier to obtain in Japan than it is in the United States.

Last year the Reagan administration reported that there is a "hemorrhage" of Western technology flowing to the Soviet Union. By one estimate, U.S. technology has been incorporated into 150 different Soviet weapons systems. There have been cases where American technological developments have been incorporated into Soviet military gear before they have gone through the procurement system to become part of U.S. weapons systems.

The United States is trying to protect its most sensitive technology with export controls and by smothering Soviet espionage efforts in the United States. If the Russians are finding it easier to pirate our technological secrets by way of Japan, then that's an urgent new item for the trade talks between Washington and Tokyo.

Area golfers will have another opportunity to enjoy their favorite sport and help cancer patients as well when they participate in the 10th annual American Cancer Society Golf Tournament to be held March 25 at Mayfair Country Club. Chairman Charlie Park said registration blanks have been mailed to those who participated in last year's event. Others, who may wish to play can obtain entry blanks from the Mayfair Pro Shop.

There will be a shotgun start at 1 p.m. and the cost is $60 a person including food and beverages.

The annual Senior Citizens Health Information and Security Seminar will be held Wednesday from 2:30 to 5 p.m. in the Sanford Civic Center annex. It is open to the public and is sponsored by the Senior Citizens Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

Speaking of Senior Citizens, the Foster Grandparents Program is looking for Foster Grandparents. This pays $2 an hour for five days a week for a total of 40 hours. This does not come off of Social Security payments. Any seniors interested in being a foster grandparent to young children may call 298-4180 for further information.

Congratulations to Cub Pack and Boy Scout Troop 508 of Sanford, sponsored by the Salvation Army, for winning the banner for the best unit overall at the Seminole District's annual Spring Camporee this past weekend in Lake Mary. The site of the Camporee was behind NCR on Lake Emma Road and some 500 boys and leaders braved the cold winds off I-4 to camp out in tents during the event.

They represented 22 units of Boy Scouts and Webelo Cub Scouts, who competed with each other in campcraft and pioneering skills.

Ben Hendricks is scoutmaster of 508 and Tom Fetterhoff is his assistant.

Linda Sawyer, curriculum specialist for Seminole County Career Development Department, has been appointed to serve on the Board of Directors of the Maitland-South Seminole Chamber of Commerce for a one-year term by Chamber President Les White. She is chairman of that chamber's education committee for the second year and has developed a wide range of study and projects for the committee. Business-Education Day is sponsored annually by the committee.

Fifteen Optimists of the Optimist Club of South Seminole, Inc. played host to 30 handicapped children from the Rosenwald School for Exceptional Children in Altamonte Springs recently as the second installment of the Altamonte Springs Recreation Department's STOP (Saturday Time Off for Parents) program. Thanks to Harry Thomas of All Size Tours of Casselberry and the staff of the Central Florida Zoo, the youngsters had an enjoyable outing at the zoo. After lunch they were transported back to Altamonte Springs Westmonte Civic Center for fun and games.

The next STOP activity will be on April 9. For further information contact Brenda Cole of the Altamonte Recreation Department at 862-0090 or Herb Weissman of the Optimist Club at 862-6150.

WASHINGTON WINDOW

Reagan Pressured Over Pact

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, who has had to compromise on several major issues lately, is being pushed to be more flexible in nuclear arms reduction talks with the Soviets.

The strongest and most vocal of the prodders are the Allies in Europe who are trying to stave off the start of deployment of U.S. Pershing II and cruise missiles by the end of the year.

One by one, the Western European leaders are urging Reagan to settle for less than his so-called "zero option," which calls for elimination of all intermediate range missiles in Europe. The Soviets already have some 300 missiles aimed at European capitals.

Last summer new Soviet President Yuri Andropov made proposals on reducing Soviet missiles and warheads if the United States would not deploy any of its missiles.

But the president has rejected those proposals as "one sided" and says that they would put the United States at a permanent disadvantage. Nor would the ceilings be verifiable under present circumstances, he insists.

Much as he would like to wait it out and to see whether the Soviets come up with a serious negotiating position, Reagan is beginning to feel the pressure, not only in the United States but abroad, to explore and propose a new position until the nirvana of no missile deployment can be reached.

The drive to seek an interim agreement is backed by Italian Foreign Minister Emilio Colombo and West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl, and even British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher has indicated more flexibility is needed to break the deadlock.

And in the United States the nuclear freeze movement is gaining momentum, which Reagan believes will give the Soviets the wrong signal.

He realizes that Americans and Europeans alike are growing impatient and need proof that there is a dedicated drive to end the mutual fears of a nuclear holocaust.

Kenneth Adelman, Reagan's nominee to head the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, is having his problems on Capitol Hill. His confirmation is in doubt in the Senate and it won't be voted on until after Easter. Several senators have questioned whether he is sufficiently devoted to the cause of disarmament.

Meanwhile, muddying the waters is a staff memo that nuclear arms negotiator Edward Rowny, a retired general, passed on to Adelman when he moved over to the agency. It suggests some members of the negotiating teams may be too "liberal" or want progress "at any price."

Soviets Pit U.S. Against Its Allies

WASHINGTON — The Kremlin has cooked up another gas project that is giving the White House a severe case of heartburn. Here's the story:

Once again, our Western allies are engaged in an unseemly scramble to sell the Soviets equipment for still another natural gas pipeline — on very favorable credit terms. French, West German and Canadian firms are eagerly trying to grab a lucrative share of the Astrakhan natural gas project in southeastern Russia.

The Reagan administration is furious at what it considers another betrayal by Western businessmen and the allied governments that are encouraging them to do business with the Kremlin. But the White House is too embarrassed to make its displeasure public.

The reason is simple: President Reagan lifted sanctions on firms that sold technology to the Soviets for their Siberia-to-Europe pipeline, he said, because the United States and its Western allies had reached "substantial agreement" on an overall economic strategy toward the Soviet bloc. Reagan even called it "a victory for the allies."

The Reston Doctrine

NEW YORK (NEA) — On the very day EPA Administrator Anne Burford resigned, my brother columnist James Reston raised a question on his face so simple, so innocent-appearing, that it may mislead a good many people unless it is answered promptly and carefully.

Why, Reston asks, do people like Burford, Labor Secretary Raymond Donovan, Interior Secretary James Watt and Arms Control Director-designate Kenneth Adelman insist on hanging onto their jobs?

"They are all an embarrassment to the Administration," Reston declares, "and a barrier to the work they were appointed to do. Should they stick to their pride, or even if it's not their fault resign and relieve Mr. Reagan of his mistakes in the interest of the nation?"

There cannot be many questions that overlook as many considerations of principle, of politics and of sheer humanity as that one.

What do Reston's four nominees for self-sacrifice have in common? Well, for one thing, they have all been favorite targets of the liberal media, for the sound and sufficient reason that the liberals disapprove of their approach to their jobs. That is surely not, however, adequate reason for demanding their resignations, given the fact that they were all appointed in the first place by Mr. Reagan, who was himself elected president over the dead bodies of those same liberals. Since when has liberal disapproval become grounds for disqualification from holding high office in the Reagan administration?

Another common bond among Reston's Gang of Four is that they have all undergone merciless attack at the hands of those same liberal media, in the course of which all sorts of dark questions were raised about their qualifications and actions — although (and this is something else they have in common) none of this mud has yet managed to stick to any of them.

This lack of hard evidence doesn't bother Reston, though: "I think they should resign, even if the problem is not their fault." His rationale is that Mr. Reagan "needs the confidence" of the individuals and institutions of whom these appointees have fallen afoul.

We have here, then, what might be called the Reston Doctrine: A conservative appointed to high office by President Reagan ought to resign if he (or she) loses the confidence of the liberals, even if he has done nothing improper. In the circumstances, such unfortunates "should thank the President for his 'loyalty,' and in loyalty to the country go home."

So, on top of everything else, these poor devils are to be accused of disloyalty to the country if they don't crawl away with their tails between their legs. Verily, as Anne Burford must be reflecting, "politics ain't beanbag!"

What Reston has overlooked, of course (among many other things), is the whole human dimension of these four separate controversies. Let us assume, reasonably enough, that when President Reagan offered these people their present high posts and responsibilities, they accepted with a normal quota of pride and a fierce resolve to do their very best, and left for Washington.

About Tax-Free Islands

ORANJESTAD, Netherlands Antilles (NEA) — What are Xerox, Citicorp, Exxon, Coca-Cola and scores of other major corporations based in the United States doing in a chain of sun-drenched islands best known as a tourist mecca?

They're all here because the Netherlands Antilles is the only place on earth where a corporation with its headquarters in the United States can allow the wealthy individuals and institutions that buy its bonds to legally evade federal taxes on the interest payments they receive.

Those bonds are called Eurobonds because they're purchased with Eurodollars, a vast, virtually unregulated pool of overseas dollars controlled by sophisticated investors throughout the world.

Eurobond marketing is a very big business. The prestigious New York-based investment banking firm of Morgan Stanley & Co. estimates that U.S. corporations have floated $22 billion worth of them in the past four years, with virtually all of the transactions conducted through the Netherlands Antilles.

Eurobond sales totaled $8.6 billion in 1981, $14.5 billion in 1982 and undoubtedly will increase substantially again this year, according to an aide to Rep. D. Douglas Barnard, D-Os., the subcommittee chairman.

The improbable venue for that high-powered financial activity is a group of six islands with a total land area of only 383 square miles and a population of about 250,000 — fewer people than live in Louisville, Ky..

What they have is a tax treaty with the United States — signed in 1955 and unmatched anywhere else in the world — which waives the requirement that U.S. corporations withhold, for federal income tax purposes, 30 percent of all interest payments made to foreign individuals or companies.

That unique provision has inspired the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., Atlantic Richfield Co., Fluor Corp., Time Inc., Warner-Lambert Co., Montana Power Co., Sears, Roebuck & Co. and a host of other corporations to establish financial subsidiaries in the Netherlands Antilles.

These companies' activities went unchallenged by the federal government until last year when the Internal Revenue Service challenged the tax status of two Netherlands Antilles financial subsidiaries of the Houston-based Texas Air Corp., a holding company which controls Continental Airlines, Texas International Airlines and New York Air.

Texas Air was forced to publicly acknowledge to its stockholders that it might owe the IRS as much as $1.2 million in unpaid 1979 withholding taxes, but the issue remains unresolved.

negotiators were "almost ready to return to Moscow, where contracts will be awarded in mid-November."

Shultz was also uncertain — but worried — over the possibility that Western governments would secretly subsidize the financing arrangements their countries' business firms worked out with the Soviets.

He even confessed that "our leverage with the French on this issue appears negligible," so the London embassy was instructed to ask the British to intercede with the French.

The administration's whimperings were to no avail. On Dec. 17, the Paris embassy cabled that a French company signed a 2.7 billion franc contract to build a desulfurization plant for the Astrakhan project. On Dec. 27, the Moscow embassy reported that the West German firm of Mannesman "has, or will probably soon get, the contract for the gas-gathering system."

Just to make the administration's cup of woe run over, the Ottawa embassy reported that, for some strange reason, the Canadians were blaming the United States for their loss of the contract to the West Germans.

Pruning Maintains Plant Health, Controls Growth

Late winter and early spring is the time to prune many shrubs and small trees in the yard. Shrubs that bloom in summer and fall generally develop flowers on current seasons' growth and should be pruned before the first flush of growth in the spring. Shrubs that bloom in the spring or winter should be pruned immediately after flowering has finished. Pruning is practiced to maintain plant health, control plant growth, and encourage flowering and fruiting. These objectives should be remembered as you prune.

Pruning should encourage plant health, not plant disease. Therefore, it is important to prune properly using the correct pruning tools. For general cleanup hand pruning shears are used, loopers may be used for branches up to one inch, a pruning saw can be used for larger branches and hedge shears should be used to trim closely clipped hedges only. All tools should be kept sharp. Sharp tools not only cut easier but will not bruise the plant tissue. Bruising the plant causes slower healing of the wound and causes an increase in the probability of disease.

A clean cut should be made. This means the cut surface should have a smooth surface not a rough one that looks as if the tissue has been torn or pulled. Care should be taken not to injure the plant around the cut, or rip or tear the bark, above or below the cut. The cambium layer, a thin layer of cells just below the bark which is important in wound healing, is easily injured. Do not twist or turn the shears as you cut because you will injure the plant as well as your shears.

Painting the wounds with tree wound dressing has lately become a controversial practice. The standard recommendation has been to paint all wounds over 1 inch in diameter with a quality tree wound dressing to protect the cut surface from wood-rotting organisms and checking (radial cracking) upon drying. Some research has shown that upon exposure to the sun, the protective coating often cracks, and moisture enters the cracks and accumulates in pockets that may occur between the wood and the wound covering. This situation would be even more inviting to wood-rotting organisms than one with no wound cover. However, in situations where aesthetics are important, the practice is justified. If a pruning is to be protected, allow it to dry before applying the dressing. This will improve chances of good bonding. Examine the coating several times the first year. Re-treat if the coating has cracked.

Clipped hedges require a specialized type of pruning and may become a continuous job during the growing season. There are two important factors to remember about clipped hedges. The hedge should be clipped while the new growth is green and succulent. Also, the plant should be trimmed so that the base of the hedge is wider than the top so that light can reach the lower leaves.

Unless a shrub is a topiary, espalier, or part of a formal hedge it should not be closely clipped but allowed to develop into a naturalistic form. This does not mean that the plant should be left alone, but that pruning is done to enhance the natural beauty of the plant. The first step in pruning is to remove all dead, diseased, or injured branches. Once this is done it may be necessary to thin out the plant.

Remove branches that cross each other or they will obviously become entangled. If the shrub still looks too thick remove some of the older branches. Remove any branches that are distinctly different from the rest of the shrub. Cut back excessively long growth to a bud that is four to six inches below the average branch length.

If you wish to reduce the size of the shrub cut back each branch four to six inches, to a new bud. Do not use hedge shears but cut each branch separately. This will provide a neat, informal shrub, that retains its naturalistic shape.

Please make an effort to attend our seminar at the Seminole Agricultural Center, 4320 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford, FL., on Wednesday, March 23 - from 7:30 - 9:00 p.m.

The topic will be "Woody Ornamentals for the Home Landscape." The speaker will be Mr. Uday K. Yadav - Orange County Extension Horticultural Agent. This will be an opportunity to take advantage of his expertise in that field.

All Extension Programs are open to anyone regardless of race, color, sex or national origin.

It's Moving Week At School

For almost a month now construction of the two new portable classroom buildings at Geneva Elementary School has been underway. Next week will probably be "moving week" according to principal Nancy McNamara.

Lou Childers

Geneva Correspondent
349-5780

Mrs. Ylesley and Mrs. Packard will be helping their fifth and fourth grade classes move to the new buildings, which all of the classes in the media center, SLD, guidance, art, speech and music will be moving to the old portables.

This is a welcome expansion for our growing community. For several years now the media center, which also houses the auditorium and stage, has been converted to class rooms. Now the dividers will come down in the media center and there will once again be an auditorium available for student assemblies and PTO meetings.

In just ten years Geneva Elementary School has grown from an enrollment of about 100 students to over 200.

The Chuluota First Assembly of God Church on Highway 419 is planning a special weekend for the youth of the area March 26 and 27. Fifteen college students from Southeastern Bible College in Lakeland will be visiting to conduct Impact Team services Saturday at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday morning.

For more information, call the church office at 365-3004.

The Geneva Citizens Association plant Rummage Sale to be held this Saturday, March 19, at the community hall will be highlighted at 4 in the afternoon with a pancake dinner.

The proceeds from the sale and dinner will go into the current expense fund for the upkeep of the community center.

Happy birthday to Belinda Henson of Geneva. Belinda is the new face at the elementary school, and she relates this cute anecdote from last Friday. Someone told one of the students at the school that Belinda was 25 (she is in her 30s). Soon a little smiling-faced boy came up to her and said, "Gee, Miss Belinda, you don't look 25!" Belinda said she hurried back to her desk to produce a lollipop for the brilliant young lad.

Family reunions are such fun. Twenty-six members of the Childers clan gathered at our home this past Monday for a potluck supper to celebrate the visit of Dallas' niece and family, Mike and Francis Nix of Oregon and their son, Justin.

Others attending the reunion were: Bessie and Ralph Nolan of Orlando, Glenn and Mickey Childers and Tommy Hayslip of Nitro, West Virginia, Jeanie Crymes and Children Diane, Cassie and Darrel of Ocoee, Kenneth and Alice Rawlins and sons, George and Dudley, of Kissimmee, and Mike, Sharee, Heath, and Chrissy Childers of Geneva, as well as our family, Barbara, David, James and Susan Childers.

The Nixes will fly back to Oregon next Thursday.

The Cub Scouts of Pack 837 will hold Physical Fitness Day Sunday, March 20, at the elementary school. Approximately 25 Cubs ages 8, 9 and 10 will compete in four areas: Softball Throw, 50 Yard Dash, Sit Up Competition, and Broad Jump. Ribbons will be awarded to the winners in each category.

Registration will be from 2:00 to 2:30, and the games will begin at 2:30. When the seriousness of the day is ended, there will be a 200 yard relay and tug of war - just for fun!

The Cubs meet every Monday at the United Methodist Church in Geneva. Look for details of a car wash to be held on April 9.

Smoking Is, Put Bluntly, A Stupid Habit

DEAR ABBY: My 14-year-old son sent away for your booklet "What Every Teen-ager Ought to Know," and I happened to pick it up. Your message on smoking was something I wish every teen-ager could read. You would be doing your young readers a big favor by printing it in your column. Will you please consider it?

Dear Abby

MARK'S DAD
ON SMOKING

You certainly know by now what doctors say about smoking: that it contributes to lung cancer, heart disease and emphysema (impairment of breathing). In other words, it's bad for your health.

So, let's look at it as a habit. Smoking makes your breath smell, your clothes (and you) stink and your fingers yellow. It's also expensive.

It makes non-smokers avoid you, particularly indoors. More and more, smokers are becoming social outcasts. It is, to put it bluntly, a stupid habit. It does nothing for you, a lot of things to you, and drives others from you.

If you want to smoke because you think it looks "grown-up" - don't. If you're sneaking it, how "grown-up" are you?

Boys, if you begin smoking to prove you are a man, 30 years later you will try to quit for the same reason.

Girls, a startling number of boys and men have told me they prefer girls and women who don't smoke.

So your grandfather smoked like a chimney and he lived to the ripe old age of 88? Well, good for Gramps. He was one of the lucky ones. Maybe you'll inherit Grandpa's luck. And maybe you won't. It's a fact that nicotine is habit-forming, causes cancer in mice, and it offends others, so what's the sense?

Millions of smokers already have kicked the habit. If you smoke, quit. If you don't smoke, don't start. Never mind that "everybody else" smokes. They don't. And even if they did, why be as stupid as "everybody else?"

- Abigail Van Buren
DEAR ABBY: I know a man who continuously makes dates with me only to show up at my regular "hangout" with another woman. He is very attractive and a real smooth talker.

I'd like to know how to handle him the next time he proposes a "date" because I've had better times at a funeral.

A POOL IN FLORENCE, S.C.

DEAR FOOD: I am reminded of a little ditty I learned as a child:

"Fool me once, shame on you.
"Fool me twice, shame on me."

The best way to handle him is to smother him with indifference.

DEAR ABBY: What is the difference between saying you will do something and promising to do it?

JUST WONDERING

DEAR JUST: If the person's word is good, there is no difference.

Like Father, Like Son, Sullivan An Easy 'Marc' In Batter's Box

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (UPI) — Lee Stange, the pitching coach for the Boston Red Sox, was walking down to the bullpen when he saw one of the club's rookie catchers talking to a writer there.

Stange threw the kid receiver a cold look. Why wasn't he working, running, doing something? "Hey, hey!" Stange needed Marc Sullivan, who got the point immediately.

"This is my retirement speech," answered back the big, good-looking 24-year-old rookie, whose father, Heywood, once also caught for the Red Sox and now is one of the primary owners of the club.

Stange laughed. Young Sullivan did too. Both knew he had completed all the work he had been assigned, that and then some, and these few minutes he was taking to answer some questions were actually his own.

Everyone with the Red Sox is aware Marc Sullivan is "The Boss' Son," but nobody even mentions it anymore because the rangy 6-foot-4 right-handed hitter never acts like he is and because you only have to watch him five minutes to see how hard he's trying to make it entirely on his own.

The chances are he will. Not necessarily with the Red Sox though.

They are planning to go with three catchers: Rich Gedman, Gary Allenson and Jeff Newman, whom they got from the A's in the Carney Lansford deal.

Mechanically, Sullivan is a better catcher than all three. He's a Carlton Fisk clone, but there's one thing wrong. He doesn't hit like Fisk. Not yet, anyway.

This is his fifth year out and his best one was in 1981 with Winston-Salem in the Carolina League where he hit .268 with 64 RBI and 20 homers. He spent most of last year with Bristol in the Double-A Eastern League, where he led all catchers with 89 assists and 13 double plays but didn't intimidate many pitchers with his .203 batting average that included only one home run and 33 RBI.

He has taken some personal digs along the way from players and fans. Things like, "Don't worry if you strike out. Your father will give you a job coaching." He doesn't hear so much of that anymore.

Sullivan Senior is not one of those fathers who pushes his son. He never tried to persuade him to go into baseball for a living or to go to the same school he did. Florida State, where the elder Sullivan had starred in baseball and football before the Red Sox outbid the Yankees for his signature.

Heywood Sullivan didn't allow bloodlines to influence his judgment when the June, 1979 draft rolled around. He left it to others in the Red Sox organization, people whose opinions he respects, like player development director Ed Kenney, scouting director Eddie Kasko and veteran Southeastern area scout George Digby, whether the Red Sox should select his son or not. They all said yes.

The elder Sullivan doesn't go around talking about his son. He doesn't have to. You can tell how he feels about seeing him in a Red Sox uniform. Tremendous.

"I wouldn't be telling the truth if I said it doesn't give me a great thrill," he says. "But you have split emotions. Even when he went to the same college you did. You knew there'd be pressure on him there. Then, there was also a question whether he should be in our organization. The Reds were interested in Marc and so was George Steinbrenner. I left the decision whether we should draft him or not to others in the organization."

"They said we should. It has been tough on Marc wherever he has gone in our system but he has handled the whole thing well. I have purposely stayed away from wherever he has been playing because I don't want to add any pressure on him. He can catch. If he improves his hitting, he's going to have a major-league career with someone."

Young Sully feels that way also.

"Just because you have one bad year doesn't mean you want to give the whole thing up," he says about his hitting problems with Bristol last year. "I had a rough year last year, but that can happen to anyone. Can't it? My father has never tried to influence me about my future one way or another. If I felt like retiring right now, he'd understand."

"But I couldn't think of anything I'd want to do more than this."

Incredible as it seems, the Sullivans are the first father-and-son, owner-and-player combination in the majors in nearly 70 years. The last two were Connie Mack, who managed and owned the Philadelphia Athletics, and his son Earle, who last played for his father in 1914.

Sullivan, who also was with the Red Sox last spring, was called up by them in mid-September when Gedman broke his clavicle. He singled in his first big-league at-bat off Yankee left-hander Ron Guidry and still glows when he talks about it.

"I'll never forget it as long as I live," he says. "The count was one ball and two strikes and I hit a fastball, low and away."

That was on Oct. 1. The next day, Ralph Houk gave him his first start and he caught Brian Denman's six-hit shutout against the Yankees.

"I was more relaxed the second day," Sullivan looks back. "I had caught Denman before in Double-A and we worked together pretty good."

Houk likes many of Sullivan's qualities. Laughingly, he says, "I hope he's gonna be a better hitter than his father. He probably has the best throwing arm in camp and he's a good worker. He didn't have a good year hitting, but everybody feels he has the potential."

Stange is sure Sullivan can catch for someone in the big leagues. If not for the Red Sox, than certainly for some other club.

"He's an excellent receiver and has a fine arm," says the Red Sox' coach, who pitched not only for them but for the Twins, Indians and White Sox as well. "He reminds me of Carlton Fisk when Fisk first came up."

"Fisk never hit that well in the minors either, and then look what happened when he got to the majors. I'm sure hitting in Fenway Park with that short porch in left field helped. About Marc, though, I'd say he's better all around than his father was."

"I know," Stange grins. "I pitched to him."

Tatum's St. Patrick's Day Miracle Turns Redbirds Into Deadbirds; Purdue Lives

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

TAMPA — Robert Tatum readily admits he's not the least bit Irish.

But only an Irishman on St. Patrick's Day could pull off what the Ohio University freshman guard did to Illinois State's Redbirds in the first round of the NCAA Midwest Regional here Thursday night.

Tatum, a mere 6-feet and 165 pounds (maybe a little heavier with that blarney stone in his sock), picked up a loose ball and swished a 16-foot, off-balance jump shot at the buzzer to lift the Bobcats to a stunning 51-49 victory over Illinois State in the Sun Dome at the University of South Florida.

And Tatum's "St. Patrick's Day Miracle" was accomplished in less than two seconds.

That's how much time remained for Ohio got the clock stopped after ISU's Raynard Malaine dropped in a baseline jumper to knock the game at 49-49.

Ninety feet and five Redbird players separated the Bobcats from advancing to Saturday's game against 10th-ranked Kentucky. Senior guard Jeff Thomas sailed a baseball pass toward a crowd at the Ohio University foul line where it was tipped into the hands of Tatum.

The flashy freshman grabbed the ball, head faked the 6-7 Malaine out of his way while on one leg and tossed up his unbalanced prayer shot.

While airborne, the buzzer sounded. The next sound was the ball swishing through the net. Then the 24-7 Redbirds turning to deadbirds. Then the ecstatic Bobcats mobbing Tatum.

"I knew there wasn't much time left," Tatum said after the game. "I just grabbed the ball and threw it. I didn't even know if I'd get it past that dude (Malaine) in front of me."

It got by all right, and the 22-8 Bobcats got by Illinois State to earn the right to play coach Joe B. Hall's Wildcats at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in the Sun Dome. The second game will pit 25-3 Arkansas against Purdue, a narrow 55-53 winner over upstart Robert Morris on Steve Reid's 22-footer with five seconds to play.

Although Tatum's buzzer shot won the game for the Bobcats, it was a defensive gem by the ex-Columbus Northland High School standout which put Ohio U. in position to pull out the game.

College Basketball

Illinois State, winner of the Missouri Valley Tournament, had a 43-37 lead with 5:39 to play but some poor ballhandling allowed the Bobcats to pull back into the game and eventually tie the score at 47-47 with just over two minutes to play.

The Redbirds held the ball, waiting for the last shot, until Tatum got guard Mike McKenny trapped against the sideline near halfcourt. Tatum picked McKenny's pocket with 18 seconds left and broke free for a lay up with just 14 ticks left which gave Ohio a 49-47 edge. ISU immediately called time out.

The Redbirds moved the ball around the key, looking inside for bulky Rick Lamb. When Lamb couldn't free himself, Malaine let fly with an 18-footer which went down with four seconds to play.

The Bobcats quickly called time out and set the play which Tatum will remember for the rest of his life.

Tatum needed a miracle to upstage Reid in Thursday's first game, Purdue, 21-8, had its own way most of the first 30 minutes, building a 13-point lead over pesky Robert Morris.

With six minutes to play, the Boiler-makers held a 50-43 advantage. RM, however, went to a halfcourt trap which forced Purdue into several turnovers, and the Colonials finally knotted the game at 53-53 with over three minutes to play.

While Robert Morris stayed in its zone, Purdue moved the ball around the perimeter, running over three minutes off the clock as 6-10 Russell Cross tried to shake free underneath. With 28 seconds to go, the Boiler-makers called a time out to set their final-shot strategy.

Robert Morris continued to sag on Cross, nevertheless, so Reid popped a 22-footer at the five-second mark. It went down and three more seconds escaped before the Colonials could get a time out.

After the time out, Robert Morris inbounded the ball to Forest Grant at halfcourt. Grant's 40-foot effort hit the back of the rim and bounced away to give the Boiler-makers a hard-earned two-point victory.

Reid paced Purdue with 20 point while Cross added 14.

Hairpin Turns Dot Trail

The Road to Albuquerque offered some hairpin turns Thursday night.

With the meat of the tournament underway, the field was trimmed to 40 after two games in each of the four regionals.

In the East, two coaches — Lou

Campanelli of James Madison and Gale Catlett of West Virginia — inaugurated the tournament in the spirit of good fellowship. They refused to talk to each other.

In the Midwest, there were two wild finishes. And the tournament must now proceed without Robert Morris, the best business college from Pittsburgh in the field.

In the Midwest, the beast of Lamar rose from the deep once more.

And in the West, Washington State coach George Ravelling may have spoken for many in dealing with opening-game jitters.

"At one time on the bench during the game I actually thought I was going to throw up," he said. "And it wasn't because my players were playing badly."

In the first round, it was James Madison 57, West Virginia 50 and Virginia Commonwealth 76, LaSalle 67 in the East at Greensboro, N.C.; Purdue 55, Robert Morris 53 and Ohio University 51, Illinois State 49 in the Midwest at Tampa, Fla.; Maryland 52, Tennessee-Chattanooga 51 and Lamar 73, Alabama 50 in the Midwest at Houston; and Washington State 62, Weber State 52 and Utah 52, Illinois 49 in the West at Boise, Idaho.

Charles Fisher hit seven free throws in the final 49 seconds as James Madison shut down fast-breaking West Virginia to set up a Saturday game with North Carolina. Last year James Madison lost by a basket to the Tar Heels in the tournament. Greg Jones, West Virginia's star guard, was limited to 6 points.

Midwest
Len Bias sank a jumper from the top of the key in the closing seconds to rally Maryland past Tennessee-Chattanooga, sending the Terrapins Saturday against No. 1 Houston. The Moccasins lost to Maryland in the tournament for the second time in three years.

West
Washington State eliminated the Big Sky champs thanks to Craig Ehlo's 18 points and solid work on the boards. The Cougars meet Virginia and Ralph Sampson Saturday and Washington State can expect to have the Boise State Pavilion crowd on its side.

Happy Patrick

Sanford's Tracy Patrick (right) celebrates with a cheerleader following Valdosta State's semifinal round victory in the conference tournament. Patrick tossed in eight points and grabbed five rebounds for the Lady Blazers who beat Troy (Ala.) State the next night for the Gulf South Conference championship. In the NCAA, Valdosta whipped Tuskegee (Ala.) Institute. The Georgia schools needs just three victories for the title. Patrick, a senior, played at Lake Branley during her preplays.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Wildcats Upset Irish, Gain 1st Postseason Win Ever

United Press International
The luck of the Irish obviously wasn't with Notre Dame on St. Patrick's Day but Northwestern coach Rich Falk doesn't think his Wildcats were lucky either.

In upsetting Notre Dame 71-57 at Rosemont, Ill., in the National Invitation Tournament opening round, Northwestern won in its first postseason appearance ever, set a school record for victories and snapped an eight-game losing streak to the Irish going back to 1960.

"This is a great victory for us and this team but let me say this, we deserved to be in this field," said Falk, who proclaimed his Wildcats the NIT's Cinderella team before the tournament began. "We played this game like it was any other Big Ten game. Notre Dame is a great team, but we're not jumping up and down yet, we've got a long way to go."

Art Aaron scored 17 points, 14 in the second half, and fueled a 13-2 scoring spurt midway through the second half to eliminate the Irish, who bowed out in their third NIT appearance with a 19-10 record.

Northwestern, 17-12, trailed 40-35 when Aaron got hot and opened a 48-42 lead with 10:56 remaining. The Wildcats, eighth place finishers in the Big Ten, gradually stretched the lead to 14 points and held off Notre Dame by converting free throws down the stretch.

In other NIT games, Virginia Tech dumped William & Mary 85-79. Wake Forest eliminated Murray State 87-80. Nebraska edged Tulane 72-65 and Mississippi clubbed Alabama State 87-75.

Capitals Sweep Bruins, 2-1

United Press International
There was no better place for the Washington Capitals to show how far they have come than the Boston Garden.

With a 2-1 victory over the league-leading Bruins and Pete Peeters Thursday night, the Capitals had won six of their last seven games and remained in a tie with the New York Islanders for second place in the Patrick Division. The Capitals also have a game in hand on the Islanders.

The triumph completed a three-game season sweep of the Bruins by the Capitals and was their second decision over Boston in five days.

In other games, Philadelphia defeated Montreal 6-4, the New York Islanders topped New Jersey 9-5, and Los Angeles edged Quebec 4-3.

Wranglers Seek 2nd Upset

By United Press International

Last week, they upset George Allen's Chicago Blitz. On Saturday night, Arizona Wranglers coach Doug Shively believes his team will host an even tougher opponent in the Los Angeles Express.

"They may well be the best team in the league and I'm not saying that just because we're playing them," Shively said of the Express.

But then again, Shively said the same thing about the Blitz before the Wrangler's 30-29 victory last Saturday night.

"Yes, and I felt it was true at the time," Shively said. "But after seeing Los Angeles on film I feel they are a better team."

In another game Saturday night, Oakland is at Michigan. On Sunday, New Jersey hosts Tampa Bay. Denver is at Chicago and Washington at Boston. Philadelphia plays at Birmingham Monday night.

Oakland and Michigan attempt to rebound from last week's losses after winning their openers. The invaders lost 20-14 to Birmingham in the USFL's first overtime game while the Panthers' offense continued to struggle in a 19-7 defeat against Tampa Bay. Michigan Coach Jim Stanley is still waiting for receiver Anthony Carter to explode and lift the Panthers offense with him.

AAU Tryouts Saturday

Tryouts for the 13 and under AAU boys basketball team will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at Seminole High School. To be eligible, players cannot be 14 before September 1, 1983. Seminole coach Chris Marlette will guide the team into action and for more information contact Marlette at Seminole High at 322-4352.

Pumped-Up Perez Pops 3rd Homer

Playing with his old friends has pumped some new life into Tony Perez.

Perez, released by the Red Sox at the end of last season, drove in four runs with a double and his third homer of the spring Thursday in leading the Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-4 victory over Boston at Winter Haven, in an exhibition game shortened to five innings by rain.

The 40-year-old Perez doubled home 41-year-old Pete Rose, who led off the game with a single, in the first inning. In the third, Rose and Joe Morgan singled and, after Von Hayes hit into a force play, Perez slammed a three-run homer to left-center off loser Brian Kingman.

Perez, Rose and Morgan were all teammates on Cincinnati's Big Red Machine teams of the 70's. Perez is hitting 500 (10-for-20) with 10 RBI this spring.

Larry Milbourne greeted Bruce Hurst in the fourth with his first homer to make it 5-0 for the Phillies.

Larry Christenson was working on a 2-hit shutout with two outs in the fifth when Glenn Hoffman and Chico Walker singled and Dwight Evans unloaded his third homer of the spring, a drive to left field.

Jim Rice followed with his fifth

Baseball

homer to make it 5-4 and Tony Armas reached on an error by Kiko Garcia before Christenson retired Carl Yastrzemski on a grounder to second.

In other games:
At West Palm Beach, rookies Bill Doran and Kevin Bass and veteran Jose Cruz led a 17-hit Houston attack as the Astros defeated Atlanta 8-5. Doran had an RBI-triple which broke a 5-5 tie in the sixth inning when the Astros took the lead for keeps. Doran also had a run-scoring single in a four-run Houston fourth. Bass, a rookie outfielder, produced a homer, a double and a single, while Cruz knocked in two runs in a two-hit day with a bases-loaded single in the fourth.

At Vero Beach, sacrifice flies by Mike Sotocela and winning pitcher Pat Zachry lifted the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 5-3 victory over the Minnesota Twins. By battling back from a 3-1 deficit, the Dodgers saved Fernando Valenzuela, baseball's newest millionaire, from his second loss of the spring. Valenzuela was tagged for three runs in four innings.

At St. Petersburg, Dave Stieb outpitched Tom Seaver to lead the Toronto Blue Jays to a 4-1 decision over the Mets. All four Blue Jays runs were scored at Seaver's expense in the second. Ernie Whit and Jorge Bell each singled in a run and Rance Mulliniks doubled home a pair. Both starting pitchers went five innings.

At Tampa, rookie third baseman Nike Esasky's three-run homer in the 10th inning off Dan Morigiello gave the Cincinnati Reds a 13-10 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

The victory was only the second in seven Grapefruit League outings for the Reds. Reds rookies Gary Redus and Jeff Jones also slugged homers.

At Tucson, Ariz., back-to-back triples by Otto Velez and Wil Culmer in the bottom of the ninth inning helped rally the Cleveland Indians to a 7-6 victory over the California Angels. The Indians entered the last inning trailing 6-3.

The two-run triple by Velez followed by Culmer's triple to left-center tied it 6-6 with one out. Carmen Castillo singled in Culmer win the winning run.

Lack Of Hormones May Be Problem

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB— Five months ago I had a complete hysterectomy. They took out both my ovaries and my uterus. About a week after my surgery I started having hot flashes. My doctor gave me Premarin 1.25 mg. I take one of these a day for 21 days and then I'm off seven days.

My problem is I break out in a clammy sweat which stays with me for about 15 minutes. I also wake up at all hours of the night, wet and clammy, and would like to know what to do about this problem.

There must be some medicine other than what I'm taking to stop the sweating. Will I have to take this medicine for the rest of my life? I'm 40 years old, 5-foot-2 and weigh 125 pounds. Other than these sweats, I'm in perfect health. I would appreciate any suggestions.

DEAR READER— You're having the same problem that many women have when they go through the menopause. The difference is that your menopause was precipitated by your surgery. A complete hysterectomy will not induce a surgical menopause. But removing the ovaries, which is not part of a complete hysterectomy, will do so in a woman who is still in the childbearing phase of her life.

already had a complete hysterectomy. The other major cancer question is the status of your breasts. If they are normal without lumps, it's possible that you could increase the amount of estrogen hormone above what you're taking and thereby eliminate your hot flashes and sweats.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 5-12, Menopause. Although your symptoms are caused by the surgical removal of your ovaries, the symptoms are not greatly different than those other women experience in the menopause discussed in this issue. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

You'll need to take enough estrogen to control the symptoms for an indefinite period of time. At some point in your life you should be able to be tapered off and gradually withdrawn without precipitating too much of a reaction.

More recently some doctors have been using progesterone preparations to see if they can control hot flashes. Progesterone is the other female hormone besides estrogen. It is believed to inhibit the factors controlling the temperature regulating center in your brain in a manner similar to estrogen.

Still other doctors are using Inderal, commonly used to neutralize the adrenaline reaction in the heart in patients who have high blood pressure and heart irregularities.

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY March 19, 1983

Start getting acquainted with your travel agent. There's a possibility you'll be able to take a larger number of pleasure trips this year than you have in the past.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You think fast on your feet today and this should enable you to make beneficial judgments while others are still trying to grasp the essential facts. Order now: The NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet which reveals romantic combinations, compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Send an additional $1 for your Pisces Astro-Graph predictions for 1983. Be sure to give your zodiac sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your material prospects look very encouraging today. Things are happening behind the scenes which could prove to your ultimate advantage.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It behooves you to get out and circulate today. Something advantageous could develop through big shots you know socially.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll be more effective in reaching your objectives today by doing what needs doing without calling too much attention to yourself. Keep a low profile.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Constructive suggestions you have to offer today will make a lasting impression. You'll be especially effective doing committee work.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Take the lead personally today in situations where you share a mutual interest. Your leadership is essential for success.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Balance can now be restored in an important relationship which has been a trifle unsteady of late. It's up to you to open discussions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is the time to begin to implement changes in order to better conditions work- or careerwise. You know what needs doing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Conditions will be much more harmonious for you today to rebuild a complicated situation involving others. Start nailing the planks together.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you put your mind to it, you can finish a lot of work today which you've brushed aside lately. Don't delay; you might not be as industrious tomorrow.

North's five-club bid was super-Gerber, a modern expert convention. The prebid had forced South to bid three no-trump. A four no-trump call by North would have been a no-trump raise, while a four-club call would have shown a club suit.

South's five spades showed two aces and North went whole hog to the grand slam.

When East showed out of hearts at trick one South was rather afraid that there would be a sure diamond loser, so he ran off four clubs. East had to follow. Now South knew that unless East had nine spades he would hold at least one diamond. South didn't expect a nine-card suit, but he checked by playing one spade. Then he led his jack of diamonds to dummy's ace.

Everyone followed and now South had a sure thing in diamonds. Either East had been dealt just six spades — in which case night had fallen — or the diamond queen was sure to drop. He played North's king of diamonds, dropped the queen and lived happily ever after, or at least until such time as he did something wrong.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

East's three-spade bid was designed to crowd his opponents and force them to bid by guesswork. It worked badly for East because it crowded them into a no-trump grand slam.

Go Fly A Kite!

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Nothing makes the spirit soar quite like a kite dipping and floating on a soft spring breeze, tugging on the string that keeps it earthbound, struggling to be free.

It gives one a vicarious sense of flight, holding a kite string, controlling the graceful stunts of the colorful stick and paper creation. And it's not just a child's pastime. Adults can get in on the fun, too.

All you need are a few inexpensive materials, imagination, some know-how, an open field, a good breeze and you're guaranteed some high-flying good times.

Kiting has always been an exciting and popular hobby for all ages. The kite originated in China more than 2,000 years ago and throughout its existence, it has been one of the most versatile inventions ever made, adding developments in both the meteorological and aeronautical fields as well as achieving considerable cultural status in many countries.

Kites were used by the Chinese army as early as the sixth century to relay signals to troops over a great distance.

Then, of course, there is America's most famous kite flyer — Benjamin Franklin, who in 1752 used a kite in his famous electricity experiment. In 1901, the famed Italian, Marconi, used a kite to raise his antenna for the first trans-Atlantic radio message.

Over the centuries, kites of virtually every imaginable size and shape have been flown—from the tiniest of flyers made by devoted enthusiasts in Japan to kites used for fishing in the South Pacific to the enormous Japanese Wan-Wan kite, which spans 60 feet, weighs approximately 5,500 pounds and requires 150 persons to launch and fly it.

Kites in Japan are an integral part of the nation's heritage. The Boys Festival, for example, is celebrated by families recently blessed with the birth of a male child. They proudly fly tubular fish kites, symbolic of the son's anticipated progress through the river of life.

Aviation pioneers used kites to study the aerodynamics of flight. The centers of force affecting a kite's stability — which are lift, gravity, pressure and thrust — must be in correct relationship to ensure proper flight. This is achieved when

Ethnic silliness

According to television critic David Handler, ABC's new sitcom 'Condo', which pits the preppies against the Hispanics, is "a minor show, not to mention insensitive and bad." Read the rest of Handler's unkind review on page 2.

Kingsley's gandhi

'Gandhi' is one of the most critically acclaimed movies playing and Ben Kingsley, the man who portrayed the Indian religious leader and social reformer, talks about playing a legend, its trials and rewards, in a story on page 2.

Ordinary guest

Judith Guest, author of the book 'Ordinary People' which was transformed into an incredibly successful film by the same name, is just folks. Which is what she writes about in her second literary effort, 'Second Heaven.' Story on page 3.

Will TV Screens Grow For Movies?

DEAR DICK: Are TV screens being developed to accommodate CinemaScope, Panavision or other wide-screen films? If so, what will happen to the pre-CinemaScope movies? Will we have to watch Ingrid Bergman with the top of her head cut off or Fred Astaire with his feet cut off? D.M. Kalamazoo, Mich.

The TV screen is basically frozen in its current shape — even the big screen TV sets are in that same shape. At the moment, the old wide-screen movies are "squeezed" so they fit, and that's why actors look tall, thin and like they stepped out of the fun house mirror. But there will be no basic change in the shape of the TV screen.

DEAR DICK: Did the same actress play Frances in Walt Disney's "Moonspinners" and Miss Money Penny in the James Bond movies? D.H., Vancouver, Wash.

No. Joan Greenwood was the lady in "Moonspinners." Lois Maxwell is the proverbial, permanent Miss Money Penny.

DEAR DICK: Willie Nelson has the new song "Always On My Mind." My husband thought he wrote it, but I find Elvis recorded it long ago. Did Elvis write it or have it written? S.G., Enid, Okla.

It was written way back in the early '70s, by Johnny Christopher, Mark James and Wayne Thompson. Elvis recorded it in '72, and now it belongs to Nelson.

DEAR DICK: A few years back there was a TV show called "High Sierra" or something like that. The people on the show worked in a ranger station and rescued people off mountains. Can you tell me their job title and if there is anywhere out west where you can learn to be one of those people? D.V., Vassar, Mich.

That was "Sierra," and the people were U.S. Forest Service Rangers. There are several colleges throughout the west that have forestry courses. Or you can write to the National Park Service in Washington for information. Incidentally, among the actors in supporting roles in that series was Ernest Thompson, who later quit acting and became a playwright — and wrote "On Golden Pond." Mike Warren, now on "Hill Street Blues," was another.

DEAR DICK: Didn't Elvis Presley appear in a Marilyn Monroe movie where he portrayed a rock 'n' roller? The scene only lasted a few minutes but I swear it was him. S.H., Michigan City, Ind.

Don't swear. It wasn't.

DEAR DICK: My sister and I bet a can of tennis balls on this one. Is Tracy Nelson — Jennifer on "Square Pegs" — the daughter of Rick Nelson? Also, who is the girl who plays LaDonna on that same show? J.B.F., Kalamazoo, Mich.

Yes, Tracy is Rick's daughter. LaDonna is played by an actress named Claudette Wells.

DEAR DICK: Please name the singer and song that closed "The Executioner's Song" movie. K.G., Ventura, Calif.

That was Waylon Jennings and "Defying Gravity."

DEAR DICK: On the soap opera "Days of Our Lives," there is a fellow named Chris, played by Josh Taylor. Is he a son or brother of the movie star Rod Taylor? J.C., Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Those are unrelated Taylors.

'Condo' Is An Embarrassment

By David Handier

The Kirkriggs are once-rich, still-snobby WASPs on the way down. The Rodriguez's are hard-working, enterprising Mexican-Americans on the way up. The two families' paths intersect in a Los Angeles condo development where they share adjoining terraces.

The men hate each other. The elder Kirkrigg son and Rodriguez daughter fall in love and marry. The two families are joined. A whole lot of warring and bad ethnic jokes ensue.

With "Condo," ABC is basically bringing us the Bunkers and the Jeffersons all over again, except now it's the preppies vs. the hispanics, the latter a group that has garnered a lot of attention lately for how seriously it has been ignored by prime-time television.

No longer. Now America's latin population is getting the chance to be treated just as badly as everyone else is in situation comedy. Welcome.

Aside from this claim to social relevance, "Condo" is a minor show, not to mention insensitive and bad.

James and Kiki Kirkrigg (McLean Stevenson and Brooke Alderson) used to live in a mansion, but they had to sell it off to Arabs who keep goats. He peddles life insurance, drinks, wears loud, plaid trousers and is not very handy. She is not quite all there. Both are bigots.

They have two sons. Scott (Mark Schubb), 19, is reasonably bright and nice. Maybe he was adopted. His kid brother, Billy (Marc Price), wears headphones most of the time and is a cretin.

Jessie and Maria Rodriguez (Luis Avalos, Yvonne Wilder) used to live in the barrio. He was a gardner. Now he's a landscaper. He is short, bald and hotheaded. She is big, meaty and takes no guff from him. Together, they bear a shocking physical and temperamental resemblance to George and Louise Jefferson.

They live with their smart, beautiful daughter, Linda (Julie Carmen), and Maria's old-world father, Jose (James Victor).

Since the Rodriguez's aren't treated with anything even remotely resembling sensitivity or understanding, you have to wonder whether we're seeing a social conscience from ABC or merely a network coldly trying to attract America's large, hispanic population to boost sagging viewership.

Check that. You don't have to wonder.

...Flying A Kite Is Child's Play; Even Adults Can Do It

launching the kite by angling it into the oncoming wind. As with any aircraft, whether a simple box kite or the SST, these aerodynamic forces affect the craft's performance and stability in flight.

For many flat-surfaced kites, a stabilizing force is provided by the extra wind resistance or 'drag' imparted by the kite's tail, which can correct instability. Typically the stronger the wind, the longer the tail required.

There has been a resurgence in the popularity of kites in recent years and many towns hold annual kite festivals.

Ready-to-assemble kites and kite materials are available in toy and hobby shops and even some drug stores. They come in all sizes, shapes, colors and designs...bats, airplanes, E.T., dragons and knights. They range in price from under $2 for the beginner to very expensive versions for the serious, more affluent hobbyist.

Many people prefer to construct their own, thereby learning how to modify the kite to accommodate it to the flying conditions. It makes a great family past-time. Books of instructions are available in libraries and hobby stores.

Here are some helpful tips for would-be kite flyers: —The obvious first: always launch your kite into the wind.

—Use a tail to help improve stability by creating extra drag. Tails may be made of cord, ribbon, narrow strips of rags tied together or even plastic drinking cups spaced about a foot apart along a length of line.

—Use a stick or a reel for winding the kite string.

—The kite can be landed in a strong wind by winding in the string most of the way and then anchoring the line and walking towards the kite with the line under one armpit while you pull down and back on the line, hand over hand.

Kingsley On Gandhi

By Dick Kleiner

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Ben Kingsley may be the first actor in the history of acting who is the subject of an entire law.

In India, they recently enacted a law permitting his picture, in his role as "Gandhi," to be put up on the walls in people's homes. That's because there is already a law forbidding Gandhi's pictures to be displayed, so another law had to be passed allowing the Kingsley-Gandhi pictures to be tacked up.

That statute is one residual effect of the movie "Gandhi," and Ben Kingsley's remarkable portrayal of the heroic little Indian statesman. There will be other side effects — awards, honors, triumphs and not a little money.

But, for Kingsley himself, the main benefit was his discovery of India, the country of his heritage.

Kingsley is about as English as a man can be — on the surface. He looks English — perhaps a shade darker of complexion than most, but still identifiably an Englishman. And he sounds very English and thinks very English.

But he is the product of a father who is Indian and a mother who is pure English — a woman who had been a fashion model and a bit-part actress when she married Kingsley's father.

"My father's family," Kingsley says, "began its migration from India in the early 1900s. They went first to East Africa and then, in the '20s, came to England. My grandfather left India when he was 9. My father had only visited there for a month. I had never been there."

He says there was very little "cultural chauvinism" in his family. He spoke not a word of Hindi, India's official language, and knew only the rudiments of Indian history.

"Gandhi wasn't a hero to me," Kingsley says. "That was fortunate, as it turned out. If he had been a hero, I doubt I could have played him. As it was, I was an open book."

He realized, when he took the role, that it was an enormous task. Not only enormous, as an acting job, but enormous for its tremendous responsibility.

"I came to India a total stranger," he says. "And I was going to play the father of the nation. It was the most gigantic blind date of my life."

"If I had been playing Romeo and went to meet my Juliet, I would need to find something in her eyes. It was the same with Gandhi. When I stepped off the plane in India, I looked into India's eyes. And I fell in love."

It was difficult work. Not only for its artistic problems, but politically and socially as well. Some Indians objected to the film, to the entire idea of making a movie on Gandhi's life.

"India in general is divided on the subject of Gandhi," Kingsley says. "To some, he's a hero. To others, he's a quirk, a jump on a smooth graph. But the peasants are beginning to defy him."

And he admits that, in the many months that he played Gandhi, he became virtually addicted to the character.

Author Judith Guest Likes Ordinary People

By Dick Kleiner
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Judith Guest, who wrote "Ordinary People" and her new one, "Second Heaven," is the grandniece of famed poet Edgar Guest. Edgar Guest's boast was that he wrote a poem every day for 40 years. Judith Guest has written only two novels.

Judith Guest

But she believes she shares one trait with her distinguished granduncle. "Somebody recently wrote me," she says, "and said that I was just like Edgar Guest. He said that Edgar Guest wrote about ordinary people, too. And I guess that's true."

Writing about ordinary people, as she has done in both "Ordinary People" and "Second Heaven," is all she wants to do.

"I only want to write about relationships and about people," she says.

She does it so well, why should she even consider writing about anything else?

Chances are great that "Second Heaven" will become a film, as "Ordinary People" did. She admits she was spoiled by that first film based on her book, because everything about it turned out to be near perfection.

Judith Guest says she loved the movie, in common with the rest of us. She says the movie company consulted her about things like the script and the casting. She admits that not much of what she had to say changed things, but "it was nice to be asked."

She grew up wanting to write, and write she did, but she never told anybody about it. Then she acquired a husband (he's in computers) and three children and taught for a while.

"But when the kids were old enough," she says, "and there was some room at the dining room table, I began to write seriously. Or to seriously write."

She doesn't have to use the dining room table any more. She has a small room off the living room all to herself, where the family lives in Minneapolis. It's only right and just.

IF YOU'VE SECRETLY wanted to act, but never gave yourself a chance, maybe it isn't too late. Colby Chester is doing pretty well, and he didn't start acting until he was 30. He says he always wanted to act, but there was family opposition. His father, a stockbroker, felt that the theater was a very nice hobby — but no career for a gentleman.

Yet, Chester says, there was a theatrical tradition in the family. At his grandparents' 50th wedding anniversary party ("the first time they had talked to each other in 25 years") Ezio Pinza sang. Among Chester's cousins are Glenn Close (Garp's mother in "The World According to Garp") and Brooke Shields.

But he never acted, much as he would have liked to. Instead he went to the proper prep schools and to college (Colorado). His father agreed to pay all his college expenses — provided he, in turn, agreed not to study drama.

So, Chester worked on Wall Street, then taught in Colorado and in Sewickly, Pa. Then came his 30th year.

"I had an ulcer of the spirit," Colby Chester says. "And I decided to act, which is what I wanted to do all along. I got lucky. I was signed by Universal, and did many of their TV shows. I was a heavy on 'Kojak,' and my father called me to say, 'Son, your mother and I think you shouldn't play that kind of part any more.'"

He and his wife — her name is Lynn Benesch and she was on "One Life to Live" for four years — have two daughters. One day, Colby and Lynn would like to work together.

But meanwhile he is working a lot now, in feature films, and on television. He seems to be getting the parts the late Gig Young used to get, which is fine with Colby Chester.

Slick Cuts Her Hair

By Cindy Adams
NEW YORK — Grace Slick of Jefferson Starship cut her hair for the first time in 10 years. She's displaying a new spiked head... Warren Beatty and pop singer Ellen Foley, when he comes home he are a hot romance. The Beatty Beautiful has phoned Ellen daily. It's a real heavy thing. Could last maybe another three or four days... Luciano Pavarotti is too big to hide.

When nobody knew where he was, he was actually resting his lungs and bones in Hawaii. With him was his 27-year-old secretary Madelyn Renee. A quote from Mrs. Pavarotti: "I completely trust my husband. When he comes home he always tells me where he's been." Angela Lansbury, who created "Mame," will recreate it in June. She remembers "every line, every song."

HBO Bares All On 'Strippers'

By Andrew J. Edelstein
 Did you know that Cleveland, Ohio, is the birthplace of the striptease? Yep. Seems that back in 1923 a young tap dancer named Carrie Fennel was bombing on stage. So to better engage her audience's attention, she vowed to remove one article of clothing per week for the next 52 weeks. Needless to say, the Empire Theater in Cleveland was never empty for the rest of the year.
 This fascinating tidbit is revealed on "Strippers," debuting Wednesday, March 23 on HBO. Of course, that's not the only thing that's revealed on this informative, entertaining documentary on the history of the striptease.

It might seem as if a program examining this subject belongs on the Playboy Channel, rather than HBO. But the documentary is done in a dignified manner and almost makes one understand why premiere stripper Gypsy Rose Lee considered striptease "as American as apple pie or baseball."
 "Strippers," narrated by Gwen Verdon, uses vintage film clips and still-photos along with dramatic re-enactments of famous strippers in their most daring performances. The documentary profiles six women whose undulations not only earned respect for the art form, but also helped transform the manners of the country.

Telecasting Opera A Large Task WEDNESDAY

By Peter Meade

Brian Large isn't the star of the final "Live from the Met" telecast of this season, "Tannhaeuser." But that depends on how you look at the Wagnerian opera, to air Wednesday, March 23 on PBS. (Air dates may vary; please check local listings.)

If you like the look of the presentation, give Large admiration worthy of his name. He is the television director of "Tannehauser." It is one of Wagner's most popular operas, and Large's Met productions have always been praised for their innovative and realistic look. A veteran of more than 400 broadcasts during his days on European television, Large has nothing but praise for the "Live from the Met" telecasts.

"They are a marvelously organized house," he says. "They do everything in the most amazing and professional way." He is most amazed at how the Met manages to stage 220 performances during the October-to-April season. "Five out of seven of the performances are really super, and there are a lot of personal things involved."

The "Tannhaeuser" show was taped during a live performance at the Met on Dec. 20, 1982. The taping required eight cameras, two more than usually used. "It's because it starts with a long, famous overture that is treated like a symphony concert," Large explains. "That's followed by 20 minutes of ballet and then the opera. It's like a three-ring circus, but it was very special and everyone had their intensity turned on."

Although the opera-going faithful may have at first been resentful of the camera's intrusion, Large's expertise means that 95 percent of the time the cameras do not get in the way.

"We have gotten enormous support from opera goers," he says. "For the most part people accept that television is not a deterrent. When a television taping is announced, the tickets for that performance usually sell out ahead of the others."

"Television guarantees everyone in the performance will be on the ball," says Large, who is now at the Met working on a taping of "Don Carlo" for telecast next season. "The show we will tape is the hottest ticket in New York."
