JAX STREET CAR STRIKE MAY CAUSE SERIOUS BREAK

Jacksonville Faces Crisis In Union Street Car Employees

FLORIDA NEWS AND VIEWS FROM EVERY SOURCE

Daily Happenings in The Land of Flowers Culled and Tied Into a Nosegay of Brieflets

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 29.—The street railway employees of this city succeeded in perfecting an organization at 3 o'clock Monday morning and 150 of the 175 employed on the lines in this city have left their positions. All the street cars of the city with the exception of three or four were at a standstill this morning and thousands of business men and employees were late in reaching their business houses and offices as a result of the strike. The trouble has been brewing for several days and the strike has been threatened since the middle of last week. The failure of the men to perfect their organization, however, has delayed the open break between the company and the employees.

The street car men are demanding that the company reinstate twenty-five men who are said to have been discharged last week for taking the first steps toward perfecting the organization of the employees and a recognition of the new street car men's union.

It is said that a cotton mill will be established at Alachua. The promoters of the enterprise, who, it is said, were attracted to Alachua by Capt. J. D. Rooney, assistant industrial agent of the Seaboard Air Line railway, require the donation of a 100-acre tract of land and $125,000 in cash, but since the factory will be of great benefit to this entire section, and will increase the population and commercial importance of Alachua and Alachua county to a large extent, it is assumed that the site and bonus required will be forthcoming.

A site has been selected in St. Petersburg for a new base ball park and next season the Sunshine City will have many ball games played on the new grounds.

Restaurants and news stands are to be installed at all the main depots along the F. E. C. road, including the station at Miami. An elaborate news stand is also to be installed in the Royal Palm Hotel in Miami. It is estimated that the fixtures and furniture for this stand will cost about $1,000.

Book Lovers' Club

The Book Lovers' Club was entertained by Mrs. F. L. Woodruff, Thursday afternoon. The guests were very pleasantly instructed in window gardening. A seed bed was improvised on the window seat, with moss, into which slips of paper, containing questions were planted. The ladies were allowed to use the paper seed each preferred. The answers to the slips of paper were the names of flowers.

Mrs. Fred Williams had the largest numbers of correct answers and received the prize, a beautiful bunch of cut flowers. Mrs. Luke had the next largest number of correct answers, for which she was given a packet of forget-me-not seed. When the garden party was over, delicious fruit salad, chocolate and wafers were served. Mrs. Woodruff's guests were, Mrs. C. H. Dinges, Mrs. R. J. Holly, Mrs. Fred Williams, Mrs. H. McLaulin, Mrs. Luke, Mrs. Deane Turner, Mrs. J. Brady. The guests invited to enjoy the afternoon with the club were Mrs. B. A. Howard, Mrs. Kent Rosetter, Mrs. C. C. Woodruff, Mrs. B. Beck, Mrs. J. L. Hurt, Miss Mary McClung, Miss Bessie Long.

State Writes Life Insurance

Madison, Wis., Oct. 28.—The state of Wisconsin is today prepared to enter into the life insurance business in accordance with the provisions of a bill passed by the last legislature. The plan provides that any citizen of Wisconsin between the ages of twenty and fifty years, living a normal, healthy life, may take out a policy after passing a satisfactory medical examination under the supervision of the state board of health. Wisconsin is the first state of the Union to engage in the business of life insurance.

Death of Prof. Daniells

The following from a Madison, Wisconsin paper will be a shock to the many Sanford friends of the deceased Prof. Daniells, he and his family residing here two years ago.

After a lingering illness of almost a year, Prof. William Willard Daniells, head of the chemistry department of the university for almost forty years and since 1901, emeritus professor of chemistry, died at the home of his wife, Dr. Ralph P. Daniells at Toledo, O., Saturday afternoon.

Professor Daniells was born at West Bloomfield, Michigan, March 10, 1840. His early education was obtained in the schools of Detroit and Westport, Mich., and at a private academy at Lansing. In 1860 he entered the Michigan agricultural college and graduated in 1864 with the degree of bachelor of science. For two years thereafter he was assistant to the professor of chemistry in that institution. Prof. Daniells spent a portion of the year 1866 and the following years in the chemistry laboratory of the Lawrence scientific school of Harvard university, then a special training school for chemists, under the instruction of Dr. Willard Gibbs.

In February, 1868, Professor Daniells was elected to the professorship of Wisconsin. In 1869, additional chemistry apparatus was added to his department and in 1870, his chair was changed to chemistry and agriculture. It was greatly increased prominence and after 1870 his professorship included only chemistry. Prior to 1876, science teaching in the university had been only lecture room instruction, but Prof. Daniells immediately planned to secure a chemical laboratory and the only available place was the basement of the south wing of university hall. During the spring of 1868 he gave laboratory instruction in chemistry to students of the university.

Prof. Daniells' spot has arrived in the city in 1868, he engaged a series of observations and records of meteorological phenomena which were continued for two years. In 1870, he organized a meteorological service station was established in Madison. In 1871 he received the appointment of chemist to the state geological survey and did most of the mineral analyses and assays. The regents have published reports of his valuable experiments upon the university farm. In 1880 Governor Smith appointed Prof. Daniells state analyst. He was a member of the Wisconsin academy of sciences, arts and letters.

The remains will be brought to Madison and the funeral is to be held Tuesday afternoon from the residence on North Carroll street.

ARE COMING TO SANFORD

Tourists Making Inquiries About Our City

COMMERCIAL CLUB ACTIVE

The City Will Be Boosted as Never Before and the Work Already Shows Results

Sanford, the best location in the south for the tourist, is at last coming into her own and this season the vanguard of the great exodus to this city will take place. Already this office and Secretary Bites of the Commercial Club are being deluged with letters asking about information concerning our new tourist hotel, the bulk heading of the lake information about the farming industry and business in general. Ever body wants to know about rooms and board and rental of houses and the price of land and building lots, our schools and churches, etc. This information will soon be forthcoming in printed matter and editions of The Herald, and meantime our people should be preparing for the rush, for while we will not have the new hotel ready the Sanford House and all the other hotels are making preparations to receive the guests.

The people in the north are waiting until after the election and the rush for Florida will then commence and Sanford will be the center of the time. We can take care of numbers of visitors this season and twice as many next year. We will get the best people here this season and demonstrate to them that we have the best location on earth and next year even the new hotel will be able to take care of the tourists.

With the winter season here and the tourists ready to be started and the many other good things that we are preparing for the visitor, we can make a good showing this season and demonstrate beyond peradventure that we can take care of the visitors and make them feel at home.

Every one that has a spare room for rent should file the information with The Herald before we compile the data in book form for distribution, and every public spirited man in Sanford should send a card to the Commercial Club.

At the Star

Every one knows how the early Christians battled for Christianity, how they sacrificed their homes and life to promote the good cause.

Tonight at the Star you can see a magnificently colored map of Roman life in the early days of Christianity, one which will show every detail of the spellbound and beguiling life of a young Roman becomes converted and is baptized. He is persecuted by his enemies and is tested in the temple of Diana, where he discovers the far goddess. He is condemned to death. Finally his betrothed is converted and they both die together.

Birthday Party

Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Robson entertained the boy friends of their son Jamie at their charming home on Sanford Heights Friday evening last in honor of Jamie's eighth birthday. The rooms were very bright and attractive, with their tasteful decorations of gold and yellow daisies. The boys enjoyed several very interesting games and were also delightfully entertained with instrumental and vocal music, by Dr. and Mrs. Cecil Butt, Miss Maezy Herby and Mr. L. Cleveland, who were guests for the evening of Dr. and Mrs. Robson. Delicious ice cream and cake were served, after which the little gentlemen wished their friend and playmate many happy returns of the day and bade their kind host and entertainers good night.

Messrs. Codrington, Howard and Lord of DeLand were among the prominent visitors to the city on Saturday. Mr. Codrington is the editor of the DeLand News and came over to inspect the plant of The Herald. Chris. was one of the first printers in Florida to install a Monotype and is anxious to add some new improvements to his machine. In company with R. J. Holly these gentlemen inspected the new A. C. L. depot and Mr. Codrington has put in an order for one at DeLand.

Congregational Social

The social given by the Ladies' Union of the Congregational church at Villa Shoor, the lovely suburban home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Walker, Friday evening was very largely attended by the members of the church and their friends. The members of the Union had been at work all the summer making money in various ways for their church work and at the social Friday evening each lady told in rhyme how she made her money.

The various poetical efforts were really very interesting, some amusing and some very good indeed, and the result of the money making activities of the Union netted a very satisfactory sum, to which the gentlemen present contributed various amounts, increasing the sum on hand to about fifty dollars. Mrs. T. A. Newton and her little daughter, Marion, entertained those present with various vocal selections.

A very unique feature of the evening's amusement was the novel way in which the gentlemen present were compelled to choose their partners for refreshments.

The gentlemen were placed in some room and the ladies in another, over the archway between the rooms a sheet was suspended not quite reaching the floor, the lights were lowered and a lady stood in front of the sheet with only her feet visible to the gentlemen in the next room, if the inspection was satisfactory some gentleman invited the owner of the feet to take refreshments with him and so on until they were all paired off.

Some of the ladies, on mischief bent, stood two together, each only showing one foot, a gentleman noting the joke invited both ladies to take refreshments with him.

The congregation was pleased to have Rev. D. L. Moore of Glenwood, Minn., with them. Mr. Moore is visiting the city and occupied the pulpit of the Congregational church Sunday.

Need Another Judge

Editor Sanford Herald

Dear Sir—I ask the kindly assistance of your valuable publication for a little missionary work for the public good.

I formerly lived in Duval county and am familiar with conditions existing there. Litigation is so congested in Duval county that the circuit court is way behind in its work and it is impossible for the circuit judge to handle expeditiously the many matters coming before him.

The legislature has agreed to give Duval county another judge, provided Duval county will pay all expenses incidental thereto, but in order to provide another judge for Duval county, Article 5 of the Constitution of the State of Florida will have to be amended. If Duval county needs and wants another Judge, they should have it, as it is purely a local matter, but Duval cannot obtain this additional Judge without the help of the other counties in the state by voting for the amendment.

If it is not asking too much, will you not kindly call the attention of your many readers to this proposed amendment and impress upon them that their aid will be necessary, and that by voting affirmatively at the coming election on this amendment, which will appear on the ballot as follows: "For Constitutional Amendment. Article 5 creating an additional circuit judgeship for Duval county. Salary and other expenses to be paid by said Duval county," the electors of this state will be rendering help to a worthy cause.

Thanking you for such publicity as you can give this matter, I am

Yours truly,
GEO. A. DECOTTES.

We desire to call attention to the advertisement in this issue of the White Clover Flour, distributed by the Peninsular Naval Stores Co. of Tampa and handled by the local dealers in this city. This product is fully guaranteed by the distributor and local dealer. 20-1tp

London, England, Oct. 29.—Since the capture of Eski-Baba by the Bulgarian troops very little news has been received from that region where Turkey's future in Europe may be decided in a few days. A short message from Sophia, says Bulgarians have seized a Turkish army train on the way from Constantinople to Adrianople. This indicates that the Bulgarian invaders have cut the railroad, isolating Adrianople from its base, thereby accomplishing one of the greatest strokes of the campaign. The Bulgarians have been pushing forward, according to the latest Bulgarian reports from the eastern side, in the hope of entirely destroying the Turkish army defeated at Kirk Killiaseh. At the same time the Bulgarian armies are executing a wide sweeping movement reaching almost to the shores of the Black Sea and still other Bulgarian columns are completing the circle around about Adrianople. How far these combined movements have been successful, the outside world is not informed but the Bulgarians assert that the fate of Adrianople is practically sealed.

While not actually under martial law the city of Havana is now under absolute military protection against disorder arising from the heated national political campaign, in accordance with orders issued by Gen. Pablo Mendieto, who yesterday was appointed by President Gomez to take charge of all the police and military forces in the capital, the streets were patrolled today by police and mounted and foot rural guardsmen. In addition detachments of regular troops of all arms were stationed at various strategic points ready to respond instantly to a call to suppress rioting.

Four members of an automobile party bound for Shawnee, Pa. from their homes in Noble, Pa. were drowned in the Delaware river when the ferry boat on which they were crossing from Delaware, N. J., was wrecked.

Incessant smoking of cigarettes was said by physicians to have caused the suicide of Lon Fielder of Macon, Ga., Fielder, who is a prominent business man, visited his parents about ten miles from the city today. After dinner he went to an adjoining room and shot himself in the head. He was dead when his mother reached his side.

Gen. Felix Diaz, leader of the recent revolt at Vera Cruz against the Mexican government, and Major Zerata, Col. Antonio Migoni and Lieut. Lima, officers under Diaz, in his attempt to overthrow the government, were today condemned to death by court martial. Lieut. Comacho, Capt. Mayen, of the rurales guard and Capt. Hermillio Martinez, were sentenced to ten years' imprisonment and Gabriel Ramos, custom collector, and Hernan Arostegui, censor of telegrams, were sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

Wrecked the Automobile
Some Sanford boys who expected to beat Barney Oldfield's time took an ancient Peerless car and dismantled it, making a racer out of it and taking it out last Sunday speeded the car up Park avenue at a merry clip. Attempting to make the corner at Tenth street something happened to the steering gear and the car jumped the curb and tried to climb the fence at the residence of Mr. Hodges. Fortunately no one was hurt, but had there been some other vehicle turning the corner at the same time there might be another story to tell. This speed idea in the city limits should be stopped, no matter whether it be in the spirit of fun or the desire to break the record. If only the occupant of the car suffered it would be all right, but there are others on the road and ladies and children are in danger of these speed bugs.

CURBSTONE GLEANINGS

A Budget of Opinion "Just Between You and Me"

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A Chief Is Among Ye Taking Notes and Faith, He'll Print 'Em"— So Says Saunterer.

A newspaper can drop the same thought into a thousand minds at the same time.

A newspaper is an advertiser who does not require to be sought, but goes out briefly every day of common weal, without distracting private affairs.

Newspapers, therefore, become more necessary in proportion as men become more equal individuals, and more to be feared. To suppose that they only serve to protect freedom would be to diminish their importance, they maintain civilization.

Notwithstanding all the faults of our newspapers, there is one thing that can be said in behalf of American journalism. It stands for unselfish work for community betterment.

It is manifestly suicidal when a newspaper permits personal spite to govern its policy. Hence a conviction and tradition has grown up in the newspaper fraternity that considerations of public welfare alone must govern newspaper policy, according to the best intelligence of the editor.

Who can measure the good accomplished by the American newspaper as a righter of wrongs, as a proclaimer of hidden evils, as a persuader in campaigns of public enterprise and business advancement?

Wherever a charitable or religious society needs help, wherever a scamp is to be ousted from office, the public instinctively turns to the newspaper for help. Here and there a newspaper shows the yellow streak and fails to assist, but it is not often.

In view of these services, says the Fourth Estate, there is a growing recognition of the honorable character of journalism as a profession, a growing disposition to cooperate with the newspaper by helping it obtain all legitimate news, and a growing tendency to extend adequate financial support through subscriptions and advertising.

Arrangements have been made by the postmaster general for engraving and manufacturing a series of twelve stamps for exclusive use in the forwarding of packages by the parcels post. Ordinary stamps cannot be used for this purpose. The special parcels post stamps will be larger than the ordinary stamps, and will be so distinctive in color and design as to prevent any possible confusion with the stamps now in use. The new issue will be in three series or designs. The first will illustrate modern methods of transporting mail, one stamp showing the mail car on a railway train, another an ocean mail steamship, the third an automobile now used in the postal service, and the fourth a dispatch of mail by aeroplane. The second series will show at work the four great classes of postal employees—postoffice clerks, railway mail clerks, city letter carriers, and rural delivery carriers. The third series will represent four industrial scenes, showing the principal sources of the products that probably will be transported extensively by parcels post. It is now thought the new system will be put in operation by the first of the year. The public mind is still divided over the question of whether the proposed change is for the general good, or whether it will work more to the financial advantage of the few in the large centers, at the expense of the more modest merchant in the smaller places.

There are ninety-two million reasons why the country's banking and monetary system should be reformed, with one additional reason for each individual in the population above that figure.

The banks of the country are not weak. They are strong. But the banking system is weak because it provides no means whereby the banks may cooperate. The strength of all the banks should be behind each of them. When trouble comes the banks cannot join together for the common defense. Each one must look out for itself. When a bank looks out for itself, it does so by gathering in all the cash it can and keeping it. Then we have money stringency and panic.

The government now has in its vaults gold to the amount of $1,221,000,000. A large part of this in coin or bullion held against gold certificates scattered throughout the country. Of what is known as "free gold" there is in the treasury probably $200,000,000. Under any adequate banking system this "free gold" would be at the service of the business of the country. If there were a stress and it was decided that the government should come to the rescue the only means of utilizing this hoard would be for the secretary of the treasury to deposit it in the banks. Why should it not be at the service of the country at all times?

There seems to be a rivalry between the two moving picture shows in Sanford to see which one can daub up the sidewalks to most advantage with white paint. Whether this is a good means of advertising or not does not follow, but it seems to me that the people of Sanford are certainly not in favor of having the sidewalks disfigured in this manner and I heard the ladies express themselves in no uncertain manner when they had to drag their dresses through this mixture and soil their skirts. Some time ago the former city council passed an ordinance or started to pass one that would cut out this promiscuous painting of the sidewalks and fences and in view of the fact that the present advertisers do not seem to be able to draw the line I think an investigation into the sidewalk advertising would prove profitable.

Last Sunday afternoon there was a rosin headed youngster from Orlando who came up here to show off his new car and going home on Sanford avenue turned the car loose at full speed to the danger of every person and vehicle on the road. This young man should be pulled and summarily dealt with as a warning to other rattled brained motorists who think they can drive their cars at break neck speed in our city limits. The officers have his name and the next time he meanders up this way he will show some speed on the way to the city bastille and Mayor Spencer will show some speed giving him ten days on the city gang where he can show some speed cutting weeds.

A manufacturer here told me today that his plant was not running full time this week because he could not get sufficient help to do the heavy hand writing. That it was almost impossible to get the negroes to go to work Monday mornings or any other morning and that his company paid better wages than any other plant in Florida. All of which goes to show that the negroes who are loafing the streets should be arrested as vagrants, because they can get work if they want it any time. The negro who is caught loafing should be made to give an account of himself or else be arrested and put upon the chain gang and put to work cleaning the streets. There is no excuse for any man being out of work in Sanford, be he black or white, for there is work for every one at the present time and will be for the next six months. Make the loafers go to work.

Next Thursday night will be All Hallows'en night and this is the time for the small boy to get in his work taking off gates and doing funny things to annoy the neighbors. I can look back upon the time now when I was a small boy doing these things and while I condemn it now it gives a sort of ghoulish pleasure to remember all the devilish things that I did on some of the memorable occasions. An old school mate of mine visiting me the other day reminded me of a number of pranks that we used to play when we were children, and it seems now that it must have been nothing short of miraculous that I kept out of the penitentiary when I was a boy. But speaking of Hallows'en I would like to warn the small boys that the night is not especially set aside for their benefit and if any of them are caught doing naughty things Marshall Tillis is more than apt to have them up before Mayor Spencer on the morning after, so beware!

Rich Hammock Land

A gentleman brought some fine cucumbers into the Herald office yesterday from Black Hammock near Oviedo. They were volunteers that came up after the land had been plowed and they were the finest that we have seen this season. They were grown without fertilizer and no cultivation and came from a five acre tract belonging to O. P. Swope. The rich black loam that comprises the Black Hammock lands is said to be the richest in the entire south and when the drainage operations are finished these lands will all be taken up and cultivated.

Slick Forger at Work

A supposed negro preacher forged several checks on business men of Oviedo last Saturday night and succeeded in passing several of them in Sanford among merchants. He got away with about one hundred dollars in cash and goods and up to now has not been apprehended. It is a very good plan to refuse to honor checks on out of town banks on Saturday night unless the parties can be identified.

NEW PHASE FOR GROWERS

Marketing Clubs of Large Cities Will Buy Our Crops

According to the request made in a letter sent to the Jacksonville Development Company of this city, a way is opened and an opportunity afforded for the growers of fruits, vegetables and farm products to dispose of their crops direct to the consumers with every chance to secure better prices.

With the permission of the Jacksonville Development Company the letter is used, as it might mean putting certain Florida fruit and vegetable growers in direct touch with a strong organization of consumers desirous of securing Florida products in car load lots from the growers:

Mr. James A. Holloman, General Manager Jacksonville Development Co., Jacksonville, Fla. Dear Sir: This the Marketing Club of Pittsburg, Pa., is composed of over six hundred housekeepers who have become tired of paying high prices for foods that are not of the quality they should be, and we desire to take up the proposition of buy-load lots direct from the producers of fruits and vegetables for cash f. o. b. this city.

If you have any on your list ready to deal with the consumer we are ready to do business with them at once.

Thanking you for an early reply, I remain, Yours truly, J. C. KANE.

P. O. Box 1503, Pittsburg, Pa.

The letter is written on the letterhead of the Marketing Club of Pittsburg, Pa. The names and addresses of three women, evidently officers of the club, appear at the head of every letter sheet.

The proposition looks like business and a determination to solve the problem of the high cost of living. The club represents an organized effort on the part of more than six hundred housekeepers of the city of Pittsburg, Pa. to open negotiations direct with the producers of Florida fruits and vegetables.

In commenting upon this letter—and the trade it will no doubt open up for Florida purchasers, Mr. Holloman said: "We are glad to give to the public the information contained in the letter from the Pittsburg Marketing Club. Just think of what it would mean if such clubs were organized in fifty or more cities. Arrangements could be made with the growers of fruits and vegetables in various communities in Florida for the shipment to these cities of hundreds of solid carload lots of Florida products for delivery direct to the consumers. The details of handling could be worked out at both ends of the line to the mutual benefit and profit of both producer and consumer.

There are many people coming into Florida every year expecting to engage in the growing of fruits and vegetables. They have had absolutely no experience in marketing such products and many of them make failures, from a monetary standpoint, through consigning their products to commission houses in cities where the market is glutted.

A marketing club could make arrangements with a certain number of growers to take, at stated prices, specified quantities of various kinds of fruits and vegetables at a fixed price. The grower would have the satisfaction of knowing that his products had had already been sold before his produce was loaded in a car at his shipping station and that, in only item of expense, after loading, would be the freight charges. The grower would know exactly what he was to receive for his shipment.

This would enable the growers in a given community to agree at planting time just how great an acreage each should plant of certain kinds of vegetables. There need be no glutting of the markets by overproduction of any particular crop. Everything could be handled along businesslike lines and the farmers and fruit growers would receive far greater net returns for their products than when they have to depend upon commission merchants. Times-Union.

Fancy Work Circle

The ladies of the Fancy Work Circle were charmingly entertained by Mrs. J. J. Purdon at her home Thursday afternoon. Pretty needle work and pleasant conversation filled up the afternoon, at the close of which the hostess, assisted by Mrs. R. L. Peck and Mrs. Connelly, served a dainty salad course. The salad was served in little cups, made of apples, with saltines and coffee. Those of the circle who enjoyed Mrs. Purdon's hospitality were Mesdames Milteer, H. H. Hill, Roberts, Barber, Tom Davis and Tom Williams.

The Welaka Club will not hold their Hallows'en Party next Tuesday night at the club rooms as contemplated.

A. H. Stead of St. Augustine was the guest for a short time of J. N. Whitner and family. Mr. Stead's parents were residents of Sanford when he was quite a child.

Mrs. F. J. Symes has arrived in the city from her old home in McLean, Mich., and will spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. B. A. Howard. Her many friends are glad to welcome her back home.

The many friends in this city of Carl Robinson will be interested to learn that he was united in matrimony last week, the bride being Miss Graham of Lebanon, Tenn. Mr. Robinson is a member of the law firm of Palmer & Robinson of Orlando.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Randall leave today for Leesburg where they will make their future home. Mr. Randall will be assistant cashier of the Citizens Bank of Leesburg, and while we rejoice in his good fortune we regret the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Randall from our midst. Both of them will be sadly missed in church and social circles and Leesburg will gain two fine young and enterprising, God-fearing people in Mr. and Mrs. Randall.

George M. Colman's musical comedy success "Forty Five Minutes from Broadway" is the attraction at the Imperial Theatre on Nov. 9th. Bert Leigh, a clever young comedian who established a splendid reputation through this territory last season as the star in "The Man on the Box," will be seen in the role of "Kid Buzz." The production is the one used by George M. Colman in his revival of the piece last spring. Messrs. Latimore & Leigh purchased the settings, costumes and properties complete from the Colman & Harris management.

Death of A. McDonald
A McDonald, one of the most prominent and among the oldest truck growers of this section died at his home on Celery avenue this morning at 9 o'clock. Mr. McDonald had been ill for many months with stomach trouble and at one time was thought to have been afflicted with pellagra. He spent the summer months in a sanatorium in North Carolina and came back slightly improved in health, and his friends were hoping against hope that the march of the dread disease had been stayed. Some few days ago his condition became worse and all efforts of the medical profession proved unavailing.

Mr. McDonald, while quiet and unassuming, was one of the most successful of our business men along agricultural lines; embarking in the business of raising winter truck in the early days, and by his thrift and energy making a success. His continued ill health sapped much of his energy, yet he was the same cheerful, optimistic gentleman in calamity and prosperity and held the respect and esteem of all who knew him.

He leaves a loving wife and three sons to mourn the loss of a kind and indulgent father and husband.

The funeral will occur tomorrow at 2 o'clock from the home on Celery avenue, Rev. C. H. Summers officiating. Interment to be made in Lakeview Cemetery.

All Ready for Masque
The young ladies of the Lend-a-Hand Club have completed all arrangements for their Halloween Masquerade Dance Thursday evening in the hall. The proceeds of this affair are to be used for civic purposes and it is hoped that there will be a large number in attendance. There will be excellent music and a good supper, besides the attraction of the beautiful costumes and the prize awards. Until 9 o'clock. Tickets for the party may be obtained from Mrs. M. S. Ward, Mabel Boxer, Hand Rowland, Wicker, Higgins and Whittier.

A few choice costumes for galloping may be rented at very reasonable rates from Mr. Karnatz at the Inn.

BACK ON THE JOB! W. A. STAFFORD

SOME IMPRESSIONS AND EXPERIENCES OF A TRIP TO OLD ENGLAND

The next town after Oxford, on the writer's list, was Stratford-on Avon. A pleasant railway journey of about two and a half hours, through more of the beautiful English scenery, placed him in the town, so well known the world over as the scene of the birth and the boyhood of Shakespeare.

At this time of the year, the first of August, the tourist season is at its height and one finds difficulty in securing lodgings unless they have been requested ahead of time. The best and most pretentious hotel in the town, the Shakespeare House, was found to be full, and likewise the second one tried was found in the same condition. But being directed to the Red Horse Hotel, the writer was able to secure a bed and one meal for the sum of eight shillings and sixpence or two dollars and four cents. That amount is remarkably cheap as compared with the prices charged in Stratford, and one does well to get fair accommodations for less than five dollars a day.

The Red Horse proved to be one of the most interesting places in town, for it has been made famous by another great writer, our own Washington Irving. It was here that he stopped when he was a visitor to the birthplace of the great bard, and some of the inspiration for the Sketch Book came to him while a guest at the Red Horse. A room on the ground floor, the same room indeed that he was accustomed to sit in when he was at the hotel, has been dedicated to his memory and contains many souvenirs and mementoes of Irving. It was in this very room that he "abdicated his throne like a prudent monarch rather than be deposed and laid aside the sceptre when the charming maid appeared at twelve to ask if he had called?" Here he wrote these exquisite reflections, which still attract us to the pages of the Sketch Book. The room is still sacred to his memory, and the mahogany arm chair in which the author sat on the memorable evening he has described is distinguished by a brass plate bearing his name. Besides it, within easy reach, is also the poker which Irving playfully called his sceptre, since with this, as with a magic wand, he fancied that he ruled that night the spirits of the mighty dead and called them up before him at will. It is appropriate that upon its side is engraved "Geoffrey Crayon's Sceptre."

Nearly all Americans lodge at this hotel when in Stratford, for to lodge elsewhere would seem unpatriotic. One really feels very much at home here among so many Americans, and in all of Stratford an American may feel at home for he sees almost as many of his countrymen here as Englishmen. The American is usually as much interested in Shakespeare and better informed than the average Englishman that comes here.

Three points in Stratford attract the tourist. The birthplace of the bard comes first in importance, and when one first sees the peculiar old plastered house with its first timbering, there is a peculiar feeling comes over one. It is neither beautiful or attractive, but that does not matter when it is remembered that the greatest poet the world has ever seen first saw the light of day in this old house.

The Avon is the next most interesting place to see, for the beautiful quiet stream seems to embody the spirit of the country in which the poet was born and spent part of his boyhood days.

The other point of interest is the church where rests what remains of the dust that once composed the body of this wonderful man. It likewise is a beautiful place, and its spire pointing high above the surrounding trees and being reflected in the quiet waters of the nearby Avon forms a picture that one can never forget. Unlike the tombs of most great people the grave of Shakespeare is the simplest imaginable, for it is a simple slab in the floor of the church, bearing the famous epitaph:

*"Good friend, for Jesus' sake forbear
To dig the dust enclosed here.*

*Blest be the man that spares these stones,
And cursed be he that moves my bones.*

Accordingly the bones of Shakespeare guarded by so sinister a warning, have rested over three centuries here, in spite of numerous attempts to have them moved to Westminster Abbey.

The whole town of Stratford is devoted to the memory of the bard in some way or other. Even the shop where one buys post cards and souvenirs bears above the door the following quotation from Henry IV: "Have I not the proper cards?" Various places are named after his various plays or some character who was made famous in the plays. All kinds of objects are offered for souvenirs, and a large portion of the population are devoted to the task of not letting a single American get away from the town without spending all of the wealth every American is supposed to possess.

Only a night and a part of a day were spent in Stratford-on-Avon, and then the writer started for the city of Liverpool to embark again for America. In getting from Stratford to Liverpool it is necessary to stop over in Birmingham for a few hours. Birmingham is one of the greatest manufacturing towns and one of the greatest producers of smoke the world has ever seen. Indeed so dense was the smoke the few hours the writer was in the town that he did not dare venture more than a few yards from the station for fear of getting lost in the cloud of smoke that hovers close to the ground. However quiet and sleepy the rest of England may seem, this place can certainly not be so described, for here all the energy of a whole nation seems to be at work, and the goods of various kinds produced are famous the world over.

After reaching Liverpool again it was necessary to spend two days in the city, for the writer had become used to the many differences in climate and customs and people, and the dark and gloomy city did not seem so forbidding as at first. But it was with a great deal of joy that the writer set foot on the gangway leading up to the deck of the Lusitania in the afternoon of August 16th, and found himself ready to begin the long journey back to the "States."

The journey homeward was not so interesting as the outward trip, for the reason that not so many interesting friends were made, but it was pleasant in other ways for within two or three days the weather began to get warm again and the cold unpleasant weather of England was left behind.

One other impression remains to be described about this trip. Of course there are hundreds of others that the writer has not mentioned, but this is one of the most important. No American has ever returned from abroad and entered New York harbor without having a peculiarly great feeling of pride and patriotism and happiness come over him when the Statue of Liberty rises over the horizon, facing the old world, greeting both the home coming American and the stranger from other shores, and holding up to both of them the torch to light their path as they seek the way to the new world. The famous statue seems to take on new meaning and to be a thousand times more beautiful than when it was last seen disappearing below the horizon as the traveller pointed his course towards the distant shores of the old world. If any one has a single bit of patriotism in his blood it will make itself felt when the Statue of Liberty first looms into view together with the shores of the new world and home.

That's All

To the Wholesale Trade:

Tampa, Florida, Oct. 16, 1912.

Conditions in Florida are enigmatical, so far as the development and maturity of the citrus crop is concerned. Copious rains with very warm weather continue, conducive to growth and not to maturing of the fruit. Reports of green fruiter to the contrary notwithstanding, the orange crop of Florida is later in developing this year than last. Parson Browns are developing sugar but they are not coloring. There are some Boone's Early which are showing more color than Parson Browns. These are also developing sugar.

There is no effort on the part of the growers themselves to get this fruit out of the state until it is matured and ready for market. There are some small operators, however, who are determined to circumvent the law if possible, and who are quoting oranges as Parson Browns that are not related in the remotest degree to that variety. A number of these operators have attempted to move oranges, and in a few instances have succeeded, during this week. In practically every case they have been detected, samples have been taken and tested and proven to be below the standard. Suits will be filed against these shippers by the Pure Food Department of the State and they will be vigorously prosecuted. The spread of the anti-green fruit sentiment is general among the growers of the state, as they are beginning to realize that only good fruit can be sold and the trade held on Florida oranges.

Owing to the slowness in coloring of the peel, our associations have refrained from moving Parson Browns this week, but will probably move a few next week. Every car that we move under the Parson Brown brand bill be guaranteed true to characteristic. They will be up to the standard and better than seven times as much sugar as citric acid. They will not be highly flavored, but will be palatable and they will probably be green on the outside. Those who order must understand distinctly that this will be the case and that no allowance will be made on arrival of the cars on account of color. We prefer not moving this fruit until it is colored, as it will then be much better matured and will insure entire satisfaction to consumers and encourage trade to the dealers.

In communities where the associations are located the great bulk of the fruit is in the organization. In some communities our holdings are large, but there are growers not affiliated with these associations in these communities. We have moved since the 1st of October about forty cars of grapefruit. This fruit has been selected with great care as to color and sizes. We have had no complaint on arrival of any of these cars as to quality. On the contrary, they have been very satisfactory. In one community there are about 85,000 boxes of fruit in the Association, probably 50 per cent. of it grapefruit. There is but one grove of any magnitude outside of the Association. The grapefruit on that grove was sold to one of these small operators, the grove was stripped clean, although the fruit was grass green, and it was put on the market. In the same community, in order to ship two cars of grapefruit, our Association went over 50,000 boxes. This will explain why we are not disposed to meet prices named indiscriminately by small operators. This incident is typical of many communities in the state.

Street Car Strike Assumes More Threatening Aspect

FLORIDA NEWS AND VIEWS FROM EVERY SOURCE

Daily Happenings in The Land of Flowers Culled and Tied Into a Nosegay of Brieflets

On account of the inability of the local police to cope with the street car strike situation here Governor Gilchrist has ordered the First Florida State troops, comprising about 1,000 men from various sections of the state. The four Jacksonville companies, about 400 strong, went on duty at 8 o'clock tonight, and will protect the street car company's property. The Board of Trade at a special meeting tonight, passed a resolution that peace be restored in Jacksonville and on the strength of this the troops were ordered out. The scenes of wildest disorder have been recurring ever since 10 o'clock this morning, several of the strike breakers imported by the street car company having been badly beaten up.

The police were unable to cope with the situation and the strike breakers were compelled to leave their cars and flee for their lives. On Main street in the heart of the business district, the mob climbed the cars, broke out the windows and defeated the cars as they went through.

Palatka will entertain the Hoo-Hoos when they meet in annual conglomeration when they meet in annual conglomeration in that city on November 23. This is always an interesting occasion, for the Hoo-Hoos, composed of lumbermen, do not fail to enjoy the outing.

No matter what the fruit or vegetable grower may raise, be it standardized grape fruit or a new fashioned spud, a premium will be offered for it at the Dade county fair next March. This was definitely decided upon by the directors of the fair association at a meeting last evening, the directors wishing the announcement made that premiums will be offered for anything and everything in the way of fruits and vegetables that can be raised in Dade county.

The St. Petersburg postoffice here is to be increased by the addition of clerks and two carriers.

Hon. M. O. Cox, for four terms judge of the Putnam county court and for years one of Palatka's most prominent public men, died at his home Wednesday afternoon.

In Miami there are already many beautiful homes and more are being projected. A correspondent tells that a Mr. Deering of Chicago, has recently purchased a strip of land on Biscayne Bay at a cost of $80,000 and will erect thereon a magnificent winter home.

The Fruit Exchange at Trilby is installing a fifteen horsepower gas engine and other machinery in the new packing house there. They expect to be in position to handle fruits by the first of the month.

Imperial Manager Replies

The management of the Imperial having seen your editorial in your issue of the 29th inst., relative to painting upon the sidewalks wishes to make this public apology for their part in the nuisance:

To redeem the good graces of any lady who might possibly have been put to any kind of inconvenience from our street signs we desire to offer a prize of a season ticket to the lady who can exhibit the worst soiled skirt or other piece of wearing apparel which was soiled by our advertising efforts.

In painting the sidewalks it was not our desire to commit any nuisance to the public, and we only realized the nuisance that it was to us in having to resort to this kind of publicity.

Your stand in this matter is perfectly correct only you do us an injustice in saying "There seems to be rivalry." There is no rivalry. We acknowledge that we lead in everything—good, better and best.

Respectfully yours,
J. F. KARNATZ,
Manager.

TRIP AROUND THE WORLD

One of The Events In The Social Life of Sanford.

CREDIT DUE METHODIST LADIES'

Homes Were Most Tastefully Decorated and Costumes Were Elegant.

It has been said of Americans that they are the most indefatigable travelers and sightseers in the world. Judging from the very large number who enjoyed the trip around the world, planned and conducted by the Missionary Society of the Methodist church Tuesday evening, Oct. 29th that statement is quite probably a conservative one.

The party were received and entertained at colonial America, the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Abernathy, before starting out on the trip they were to make around the world that evening.

The house was artistically and profusely decorated in red and white bunting and American flags of various sizes. A variety of the hunting was played over the table between the parlors and three very effective tableaus were shown in the parlors.

Miss Douglas Abernathy presided at the table and Miss M. J. Harrell acted as the hostess. Mrs. W. W. Abernathy was the first to kneel at the feet of the Goddess of Liberty.

The party were received in the dining room, where they were served with sandwiches, puddies and coffee, and presented with miniature American flags. Mrs. Abernathy was assisted by Mrs. L. K. Metzinger, Mrs. Albert Wiggins, Mrs. M. A. Mott, Mrs. Tom Williams, Mrs. George Wilson, Misses Genevieve Wickens, Elizabeth McLaughlin, Mrs. J. C. Hargis, Mrs. Hargis, who were in charge of the dinner.

Mrs. W. W. Abernathy, in entertaining the party, and giving them all of their journey around the world, and embarking in the automobiles for Ireland, the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Philips, who are the hosts of the party.

ORANGE COUNTY BOY HONORED

Richard P. Marks Appointed U. S. District Attorney Southern District

The many friends of Richard P. Marks among the attorneys throughout the State of Florida, as well as the business men and citizens generally will be delighted to learn that President Taft has appointed him United States district attorney for the Southern District of Florida to succeed Hon. John M. Cheney, the late district attorney, who was not long ago made United States judge of the district.

A telegram was received here this morning stating that the President had just appointed Mr. Marks district attorney, and signed his commission, which is enroute to Jacksonville.

Mr. Marks is especially qualified for the position of district attorney from the fact that he is an excellent lawyer, thoroughly familiar with the United States statutes, having begun at the bottom round of the ladder and come up step by step by perseverance, hard study and close attention to criminal as well as all kinds of cases that are heard in the Federal courts.

He has made hundreds of friends from the fact that he has always given everybody with whom he came in contact a square deal, being only desirous of having even handed "justice" of her fifty scales at all times and under all circumstances. In other words "justice tempered with mercy" has been his motto since he started in the United States attorney's office as clerk in 1899 under the late J. N. Stripling.

In 1902 Mr. Marks was promoted to the position of assistant United States attorney, and he served in that capacity until September 2, 1912, when he was appointed acting United States attorney.

His elevation now to the office of United States District Attorney is a testimonial to his ability as well as a tribute to his executive ability, and the part of President Taft, inasmuch as he is just the man that is the man, in point of legal ability, stamina and experience, that is needed for that position in the Southern District of Florida, Jacksonville-Metropolis.

Will Start Restaurant

The fine large room in the south end of the Wellborn block is being papered and painted and generally cleared up in preparation for the advent of a brand new restaurant that will start in about ten days. Mrs. Alice Messenger will preside over the destinies of the new venture and it goes without saying that the place will be the real thing in the line of good things to eat. This room is well and conveniently situated just one-half block from First street and the fittings already installed are superb and will fit in nicely for the restaurant business.

Mrs. Messenger has been in the restaurant business for a number of years and in Sanford has had charge of the depot lunch counter for several years. Recognizing the need of a restaurant with the removal of the depot Mrs. Messenger, at the request of her many city patrons has decided to open a city restaurant and promises them that when the place is finished to have one of the swiftest, cleanest and best equipped places in the state. As for the "eat" every knows that Mrs. Alice is bound to give the patrons what they want in the lunch line, the way they want it and when they want it.

Watch for the announcement of opening date.

Banks Close

Tuesday, Nov. 5, General Election Day, being a legal holiday, the banks will not be open for business on that day.

Hon. H. H. Dickson and Seth Woodruff of Orlando were among the prominent visitors to the city on Tuesday of this week.

After a long illness Vice President

James S. Sherman died in his home at Utica, N. Y., yesterday, of uremic poisoning and Bright's disease. He had been sinking since early morning and it was realized that death was only a question of a few hours. There was a slight relief shortly after 9 p. m., apparently caused by a better condition of the kidneys, but it did not prove lasting and gave only temporary hope. At nine the patient's temperament rose to 106. From that time on his condition became worse. Mr. Sherman was unconscious when the end came and had been so for hours. All the members of his immediate family were witnesses to the end. In addition to Mrs. Sherman there were in the death chamber their three sons, Sherrill, Richard C. and Thomas M. Sherman and their respective wives; R. M. and Sanford Sherman, brother of Mr. Sherman and Mrs. I. R. Moore and Mrs. S. J. Cockingham, sisters of Mr. Sherman.

Three hundred Turkish officers and men have been executed in connection with the taking of Kirk Kiliseh by the Bulgarians. According to narratives by refugees from that city the troops at Kirk Kiliseh were composed almost entirely of reservists. They were under-armed, ill fed and badly clothed, several of the regiments at the time of the fighting had been without rations for forty eight hours.

Testimony that International Harvesting Company in 1905 paid an attorney a fee of $8,000 to defeat a bill in the Kansas Legislature designed to prevent the International Harvester Company from using an exclusive clause in their agreement with selling representatives was given today by Rodney B. Swift, former head of the law department of the McCormick Harvester Company and later connected with the Harvester Company in the hearing of the Government's dis solution suit.

Seven persons perished and three were injured in a fire which destroyed St. John's Catholic Orphanage at San Antonio, Texas, yesterday. One boy is missing and believed to be dead.

Mrs. Grover Cleveland authorizes the announcement of her engagement to Thomas Joseph Preston, professor of archaeology and history of arts at Wells College. The date of the marriage is not yet determined but will be announced later.

That the three men who held up and robbed Missouri, Kansas and Texas passenger train No. 9 at Wirth, Okla., early today overlooked a package containing $50,000 in currency by the express company is far safe is declared by express company officials here tonight. Just how much loot was secured the officials declare they do not know but it is reported that it will reach $25,000.

Presbyterian Church Social

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold a social at the vacant store room next to the City Restaurant on Saturday afternoon, November 2. Supper will be served at 6 and will cost the small sum of 35 cents. Oysters will be served in every style for only 25 cents. Remember the date and get your appetite ready for the event, for the Presbyterian ladies have a reputation as most excellent cooks.

Socialist Meeting

Hon. Thomas W. Cox, candidate for Governor on the Socialist ticket addressed a large crowd on First street last night on the issues of the day and the object of Socialism. Mr. Cox is a forceful speaker and handled his subject in the usual able manner of the Socialists. They have a full ticket in the field this year and will poll a large vote in Florida.
