By United Press International
The evening cardigan typifies today's casual way dressing for intimate little dinners or at home parties. Monet suggests highlighting the look with a tiered tassel accompanied by two long earring ropes, augmented by a delicate filigree pin and companion earrings.

Color played a major role in this year's award-winning cultured pearl design. Two dramatic designs were the ensemble of necklace and two-finger ring created by Barbara Anton. Both were encrusted with Bova pearls in every color imaginable, from deep lavender to pale apricot. The double ring was connected with a jeweled chain which can be removed to produce two separate rings.

The tulip hairstyle, as described by the Interculture America in Paris, is a skillfully layered cut. At the crown, the hair is three to four inches long, about an inch around the temples and tapers to about five or six in the back of the head.

The Jewels Industry Council says watches this spring will look more like bracelets with watches in them. The bracelet is dominant, making the watch a fashion accessory. The council said that in many instances fashion is linked to time as smaller and extra small links, round or square, some stonemount, make up the bracelet with the watchcase fitted cleverly inside the links, keeping the design flowing and complete.

Designer Cell Chapman thinks of her kind of clothes as personal and individual but non-costume, non-puff, and non-quirky. Pretenses is prime whatever the hour, with ruffing or bordering out of the fabric having an edge on other means of feminizing. For spring, the borders of dresses and pants costumes are studied with brilliant or sparkling encrusted.

A new product has been designed to help in the battle against pollution of the water ways. It is an aquatic weed cutter. The manufacturer explained that water movement is restricted by vegetation, causing high sedimentation rate and permitting algae to accumulate. The weed cutter makes it possible to cut and remove the under water vegetation, which reduces the nutrient content, reduces a sedimentation factor, and allows the water to flow in a natural way.

Sanford Extension Proposed To CofC

Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce planning and development committee at this morning's meeting discussed possible adoption of several projects for the year but settled on seeking the name changing of Onera Road and Grapeville Avenue to Airport Boulevard.

Chairman Vernon Mize said he would name a subcommittee later to develop the project, which was brought up by Ernest Southard, committee member. Southard said the action is needed to improve the appearance of the city's front door off Interstate 4.

Other items discussed as probable committee projects included extension of the city limits to consolidate Sanford into a larger area. This was suggested by Walter Glebe, Garret White, committee member, mentioned the need for forming some action on coming state redistricting. He said there is a need for a Seminole district and indicated a trip to Tallahassee might be desired in the near future as the Legislature will take up redistricting later in the year.

Clifford McKibbin said Sanford is one of the largest cities in the state without a resident legislator. McKibbin, a former city manager, brought out that the chamber should suggest a change in the present methods of police fines and forfeitures funds. "Some of these arrests I've heard of are pretty shaky," he added.

The public was introduced to the word genocide when the natives got restless over in Biafra and here again it lugged at more than a few of our heart strings.

... that isolated area in Indo China, where children have been born, raised and died all during the period of bullets and bombs flying and falling ... in that area, a feeling of indifference prevails amongst a goodly percentage of our populace. Some even naive into thinking we're "deescalating" by our participation first in Cambodia and now in Laos.

There have been 160,000 allies killed over there ... and about 650,000 of the enemy (or so this government makes the claim.) None of us (except the financial world) really understands or can comprehend the significance of the total one million. But, here again, adding both of the "sides" together, it's rapidly approaching 1,000,000 killed!

And we have the audacity to even think that we're a civilized race!

I suppose what I'm trying to say is that UPI carried in one of their earlier releases, "The American war machine is bigger than ever. In 1961 the armed services cost $44 billion. The current budget is just under $80 billion.

Nevertheless, tiny North Vietnam and an ill-equipped army of 250,000 has fought a half-million man American force to a standstill. All the helicopters, Phantom jets, artillery, warships and fancy logistics have gained nothing notable."

Well, the way I see it ... there is something notable: "At most 50,000 American lives!"

So help me, this is the truth! A woman was stopped by a Sanford policeman this morning for going through a Stop Sign ... and do you know what her excuse was?

"But officer, it was green when I went through it!"

Just a thought ... but if all of these problems are created at the schools over the weekend, why don't they schedule the custodian to be in the building during those times? (Nah, that would be too simple a solution, I'm betcha. . .)

Teachers Voted Pay Increase

WILLIAM LAYER ... promised

Schools Already Overspending In Amount Of $228,000

By BILL SCOTT
Seminole County school teachers received a pay raise at Thursday night's School Board meeting to last the final four months of the current school year.

This was announced by the Seminole County Education Board after a teachers salary committee representing the Seminole Education Association (SEA) teachers group outlined proposals.

Immediately after the meeting, The Herald was informed that the school system had overspent its amounts budgeted for transportation, maintenance and additional janitorial services and would have to take money from the school contingency accounts to make up the deficits.

The overall costs of the teacher pay raise was estimated by Walter Teague, school finance officer, to be $110,000 for the remainder of the school year, with funds coming from state appropriations for education.

County Commissioners plan to complete application for bond funding for the county parks program.

County Planner David Farr advised the board that upon a recent trip to Atlanta he ascertained that federal funding would be available under the neighborhood parks program and that this would enable county to acquire more land, such as in the Big Tree Park area.

Voters approved by referendum in November a $1,850,250 bond issue for the parks program.

Farr said that he had been compiling information for the application but that a considerable amount of planning data is needed. Also included in the application is the acquisition of requirements which Farr pointed out would require extensive

Answering questions, this morning based on information obtained at last night's meeting, Teague said the school board will have to dig into its existing accounts to fund the overspending of other budgeted items, including $228,000 in additional costs for transportation, $80,000 additional school maintenance and $48,000 to hire more janitors and service personnel.

Cities, County At Odds On Annexation Question

By ANN RILEY
To hear the County Commission's annexation bill would provide an exclusive method of annexation for the cities is like a cold tag in the face."

With these words, Sanford City Manager Warren E. (Peter) Knowles, at a meeting of Seminole city representatives with four members of the County Commission Thursday evening at Lyman High School, expressed his opposition to the proposed law.

Knowles said he had been led to believe the county-sponsored legislation was identical to the North Carolina plan supported by the Florida League of Municipalities. The city manager said while the North Carolina plan provides an additional means of annexation for municipalities, the County Commission bill as modified would restrict annexation and ban all other methods currently on the city books.

Knowles said he was "surprised" to hear County Commissioner Chairman Greg Drummond at the meeting admit the county bill requiring referendums in every case before annexation could be accomplished would become an "exclusive" method of annexation.

"You are using bad judgment," Knowles said, looking at Drummond. "I trust you gentlemen will listen to the municipal officials who have far more experience with annexation than the county." Knowles continued, directing his second remark to Commissioner John Kimbrough, Al Davis and Sidney L. Vilhen Jr.

Knowles further stated, "The inference that the cities are providing sub-standard zoning is 'beginning to grate on my nerves.' Most of the municipalities had good zoning and subdivision ordinances before the county did."

"Sanford had a better subdivision ordinance 20 years ago than the one the county adopted less than one year ago," Knowles said. "Seminole County has played with planning for the past eight years and has never been serious about planning or zoning."

"Seminole County rather than being ahead is just now trying to catch up with the cities," he said.

LIVE ANIMALS of the Sanford Zoo are beginning to appear in the security fence around the new courthouse. Clarence Zuehl, retired animal manager from Bainbridge, Ohio, is painting a four-panel mural under the sponsorship of the Zoo Taxpayers Association.

'Junker' Disposal Pact Due Soon

By MARION BETHEA
An agreement between the county and William Archie, owner of Action, Inc., Brevard County junk salvage company, will be executed shortly for the disposal of junk cars.

Archie has presented an offer whereby he will collect the "junkers" in the county for disposal, with the proviso that the county provide a site in the vicinity of I-4 on which the vehicles can be stored for daily shipment.

The Upsala landfill is the process of being phased out with the initiation of the county's central sanitary land fill at Osceola airfield. Upsala will be utilized as one of the county's four transfer stations for refuse and a ramp is under construction.

Archie told the County Commission that should his firm be selected junkers would not be burned, causing pollution, but would be removed from the landfill premises on a daily basis to be crushed and transported to a landfill.

Special Session

NORTH ORLANDO — Village Council will meet in special session on Monday, Feb. 22, at 7:30 p.m.

The only scheduled item of business is the appointment of a new police chief for the village. Council at its regular meeting on Feb. 15 accepted the resignation of Chief Linwood Lyon, Jr., effective Feb. 15.

Lyon has accepted a position with the Altamonte Springs Police Department as a sergeant.

Council voted to advertise in local media for the position and presumably will interview applicants at the meeting as is their customary policy.

Quiet Day

By REV. LEROY D. SOPER
Holy Cross Episcopal Church

As this goes to press the writer will be conducting a "Quiet Day" at the church. A Quiet Day is simply more of a day set aside for worship, prayer, and meditation during which the participants remain quiet — don't talk to each other. This can be the most helpful time for people.

Quiet is one of those things which seems to be vanishing along with our unpolished wilderness. Even in our homes it is hard to escape the noise of trucks, the ever present television or radio, and all sorts of bangs and clangs. Stores assault our ears with piped-in music. One can hardly find a place he can go and just simply be still and quiet and listen for the still, small voice of God.

Quiet implies more than lack of noise, too. It means being still in a physical sense as well as not speaking. This is another thing that we hardly ever take part in. Take vacations, which are supposed to be restorative. Most of the time we are jumping in the car and rushing off some place to enjoy the holiday. Even if we go to the beach we spend a relatively short time basking in the sun and a whole lot of time running about in search of a good time.

Children are full of energy and they have to be doing something. Adults ought to be able to channel their energies and take the time to pause and contemplate the mysteries of life and love.

Every one of us could profit from quiet time. Just as kindergarten children have a quiet time during which they rest and restore themselves, so do all people of all ages need to "get away from it all" even if it is only to the bedroom. We need this because quiet is an amazing thing if we will use it judiciously. It is a healer, especially of jangled nerves. Hospitals are supposed to be quiet so that bodily healing can be carried on.

It is an aid to concentration when one is trying to study or pray or pull the threads of the day together into some form of sense. When I went to college, the school insisted that the dormitory be absolutely quiet for a couple of hours each evening. No radio could be played. No visiting was allowed. The campus was an amazing thing to see during those hours. Two thousand men lived in those huge cement buildings, and yet you could hear the sound of the night birds or a boat on the river. An observer knew everyone was awake, since that was the rule. And we got our work done — more than we could ever do in our free time at other hours.

Still, this was a discipline imposed from above, and most of us don't care for discipline anymore. You and I may well know that solitude is good and restorative, but we don't have to be quiet, so we aren't. It is almost as though we had to Jesus went out into the wilderness to pray. On the night in which he was betrayed, he took himself apart from the crowd to pray. He knew how to use solitude and stillness. From the wilderness he came back to perform great miracles and to touch men's lives. From the Garden he went to the Cross with bravery, humility, and love.

I suppose we each carry our own personal cross. Certainly we are directed by our Lord to take up our crosses and bear them. We would rather put the crosses aside. We would rather not face up to the demands of God, perhaps. But life can be pretty rugged if we forget our God or if we fail to heed His voice.

That is why we desperately need to retreat into our own wilderness once in a while. This is why we need to be still and hear God speak.

Dedicatory Services Are Slated At St. Richard's

Bishop Will Open The Doors

Rt. Rev. William Folwell, Bishop of Central Florida, will participate in the Opening of the Doors and Dedication service at 8 p.m. Monday, for the new sanctuary of St. Richard's Episcopal Church at 6181 Lake Howell Road, Tanglewood.

The laying of a cornerstone, quarried in the Tenth Century, was placed in the new sanctuary yesterday by Chaplain (Lt./Capt.) Christopher B. Young, USN, former rector of St. Richard's and representative of Bishop William Folwell.

Assisting him was the rector, Rev. Hollis B. Buchanan.

Participating in the corner stone laying were Mrs. Clyde E. Bars, who placed a cross in the corner stone; Edward R. Cantey, placing the Holy Bible; Mrs. Osborn Wilson, placing the Book of Common Prayer; Robert E. Paine, placing the record of founders; Mrs. Ralph E. Ely, placing St. Richard's Prayer; Theodore E. Emery Jr., placing the list of memorials; and Jay Schomover, placing the Corner Stone. Trumpeters were from Wynore Tech.

St. Richard's new sanctuary, designed by Neil Schweizer and built by Reginal Williams, will be completed in February.

The corner stone is a piece of Selsey limestone quarried for use in the building of the Cathedral of St. Peter, Chester, England, in the reign of Henry I (1100-1135). It was part of the Cathedral during the Episcopate of St. Richard (1194-1256) for whom the local church (one of three in the United States) was named.

ST. RICHARD'S Episcopal Church, Tanglewood, has completed the new sanctuary (right) which will seat 800 and Bishop William Folwell will knock his crozier against the Willet Stained Glass doors Monday at 8 p.m. for the Opening of the Doors and Dedication Service, culminating a 15-year dream. ## AREA CHURCH NEWS

SAINTS PETER AND PAUL GATHOLIC CHURCH Pauline Religious Education Classes are now in progress for parents of children in grades (K-1-2-3). Emphasis, at this point, is on the First Holy Communion. These meetings last one hour and take place in the Parish House, Tuesday at 1 p.m. and Thursday, 7:30 p.m. Students (grades 4-8) meet every Sunday, 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. in the Parish House. Teen Club, students in high school and college, meets every Sunday from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the Parish House, as a place to meet friends, socialize, talk, sing, play ping-pong, volleyball and pool. Refreshments are served and a chaplain is always present.

Adult Discussion Group meets every Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Parish House.

GOOD SHEPHERD LUTHERAN CHURCH'S annual birthday party will be Sunday, Feb. 21, at 6:30 p.m. Each month will have a birthday table with special decorations and a cake. The month, hosted by two women. Assembly singing will be led by Pat Trepanier, with Maria Hult at the piano.

Celebration of the Holy Eucharist on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 24 at 7:30 p.m. will open the Lenten season. At the following mid-week services through Lent, coffee will be served during the "get acquainted" hour.

FOREST LAKE SEVENTH DAY ADVENTIST CHURCH of Forest City will launch its Annual Christian Home Week, Saturday, Pastor Leslie R. Mansell's sermon looks at the 50 per cent of American homes disintegrating through neglect and misunderstanding through neglect.

REV. V. L. DAUGHTERY, pastor, Epworth United Methodist Church, Savannah, Ga., will be the visiting evangelist for the three-day pre-Lenten Revival, beginning Sunday through Tuesday at First United Methodist Church of Sanford.

A graduate of Georgia Southern College and the Zondervan School of Theology, Emory University, Rev. Daughtery is in great demand throughout the South. He served as the South Georgia United Methodist Conference as an evangelistic speaker and as a youth week speaker.

Rev. Ed Ruby, visiting song leader for these special evangelistic services, is pastor of the Highland City United Methodist Church. A former baritone soloist with Fred Waring, Rev. Ruby has appeared often on national radio and television and has performed in over 450 concerts in this country and Latin America. He has recently recorded three LP stereo record albums.

The first service of the revival will be at the 11 worship hour, Sunday, when both evangelists will present the Gospel in word and song. Other services include Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m.; a special Youth Service and supper at 6 p.m. on Sunday; Fellowship Coffee and Worship Hour for Women on Monday at 10 a.m.; and a Prayer Breakfast for Men on Tuesday, at 7 a.m.

"The public is invited to each of these opportunities for spiritual growth and renewal," says the pastor, Rev. Julius C. Byers.

REDEMPTION LUTHERAN CHURCH regularly sets aside one Sunday for "Church Day." The next one will be Feb. 21. The purpose of Church Day is to promote family togetherness, both the family at home and the church family. In the afternoon various committees and commissions hold their meetings for the month. Husbands and wives and children not involved in special meetings or activities can spend this time with friends watching TV, playing cards, working on the church grounds, playing lawn games, or just sitting and visiting.

This Sunday's special project will be the final painting the outside of the church building. At 1 p.m., a pot-luck supper will be served. All members and their guests will be welcome. They are urged to reserve this day for doing the Lord's work while having a good time as a church family.

GRACE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH Joy Circle met at the home of Mrs. Vera Butcher, assisted by Mrs. Joyce Nicholson. The hostesses, Mrs. Jean Leonard and Mrs. Connie Greene, opened the meeting with a prayer.

The Ascension Ladies Guild will hold a bake sale Saturday morning at 8:30 a.m. in front of Public Market in Seminole Plaza.

The Senior High Youth of Ascension will visit the Greek Orthodox Church Sunday and then go out for brunch together.

CASSELLBERRY COMMUNITY UNITED METHODIST CHURCH will be represented by members of the Women's Society of Christian Service at the Spiritual Life Retreat to be held Feb. 26-28 at Lake Yale Baptist Camp near Eustis.

HOLY CROSS EPISCOPAL CHURCH will begin Feb. 24, Ash Wednesday, to hold Wednesday night covered dish suppers and services and programs in the Parish Hall at 6:30 p.m. Entitled "The Shape of the Liturgy," these programs will deal with the Liturgy itself, on Monday, March 1. Rev. Leroy Soper will lead a series of discussions concerning the Faith of the Church, each Monday in Lent at 1:30 p.m. Ash Wednesday will be marked with a special early morning celebration of Holy Communion with imposition of ashes at 7 a.m. The regular 10 a.m. service and imposition of ashes will be held.

By ELLA MAY FRAZER
DELTONA — In appreciation for the way so many Deltonans worked to make the first annual Deltona Open Golf tournament a success, Deltona Corporation has invited 90 volunteers to a prime rib dinner on Sunday at 7 p.m. at Deltona Inn.

Four couples representing the Mackle Brothers will be present, namely, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fry, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCarthy and Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Hawkins.

Dr. Anthony Barowski and Guy Jackson of the board of Deltona Youth, Inc. also will be there to witness the check awarded from the tournament to Clifford Bird, president of Deltona Youth, Inc. to help the organization build a youth center in Deltona. It is assumed that the gift site for the center will be named Deltona Corporation at this event.

Altamonte Accepts Pact For Gasoline And Oil

By LARRY NERLY
ALTAMONTE — Humble Oil and Refining Company was the apparent low bidder to supply gasoline, oil and other lubricants to the City of Altamonte Springs. The council voted unanimously to award the bid to Humble.

Humble bid 17.25 cents per gallon for premium gasoline and 15.25 cents per gallon for regular. The bid price does not include 11 cents in state and federal taxes. None of the three bids submitted included prices for oil.

The Altamonte council also authorized their engineers to give the "go ahead" on a waterline west on Magnolia and north on Brentwood. Utility Pipe Layers, Inc. will complete the project at a cost of $65,750 which includes engineering costs. The approval was made by the council on the condition that Jack Schubert advance the city the money for the project.

Schubert currently has 14 houses under construction in the area and 40 will be constructed before the end of the year. Schubert will be able to apply the advance to tapping the city's police department.

The council accepted the Multiple Shores development plan subject to its meeting the city's standards. They also delayed until their next meeting an ordinance adding one dollar to all traffic fines to finance training for the city's police department.

As a concert pianist, Thomas Brockman has achieved notable success in both the United States and in Europe. He has appeared with several major symphonies, at Town Hall, in other music centers and on network television. A native of Greenville, S. C., Brockman studied at Curtis Institute of Music and at Juillard Graduate School where he was a pupil of Olga Samaroff. The young pianist, who has made several tours abroad, has continued his studies in Europe with such masters as Nadia Boulanger, Edwin Fischer, and Robert Casadesu. For many years artist-in-residence at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas, he is now a member of the faculty of the music department at Rollins College.

The Rollins Chamber Orchestra was founded in 1964 by Dr. Ward Woodberry when he came to Rollins College as director of music.

Nation Moving Toward Economic Recovery

By MIKE FEINSLBER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve system, said today the nation is moving toward a rapid recovery from its economic slump. But he said the very policies which are ending the recession carry "a grave risk of releasing fresh forces of inflation."

Burns made it clear he expects vigorous Nixon administration efforts to curb wage and price increases if the FED — which operates independent of the White House or Congress — is to carry out policies which the administration considers vital to make 1971 the "good year" foreseen by President Nixon.

In testimony prepared for the House-Senate Joint Economic Committee, Burns said the "stimulative" budget deficit and expansive monetary supply on which the administration is banking are needed "to assure the resumption of economic growth and a reduction of unemployment."

"But unless we find ways to curb the advance of costs and prices, policies that stimulate aggregate demand run the grave risk of releasing fresh forces of inflation," he said.

and insisted Seminole County is leading other counties in East Central Florida. The chairmen stressed the board's displeasure particularly with the South Seminole cities past annexation of state roads "accomplished many months ago."

The county chairman said more and more cases are being found where land developers are seeking annexation to city jurisdiction under state regulations.

"The cities need to grow," Vilien declared.

Davis made it clear he has never supported the bill and is "not in favor of the board of County Commissioners" policing the cities.

In addition to Davis representing Longwood were Commissioners Sandra Thompson and Agnes Weber and City Clerk Omie Shomate. As the meeting ended, Mrs. Shomate suggested the entire South Seminole area be a 100% annexation to Seminole County.

Mrs. Thompson agreed. "What is the purpose of this meeting?" Her question went unanswered.

Dr. Duerr told the Commissioners that he considered the last minute invitation received the previous day, an "ill-mannered gesture."

Another facet of the application is the development section. "The city would like to see the planning department as soon as the services of a draftsman are obtained in the legal realm," Farr said.

Farr said that County Attorney Harold Johnson could supply the information.

Farr suggested a work session to develop the application, which he estimated would take two weeks to "prepare and polish."

Farr injected that he had considered an application for funding to the state to correlate with the federal program, but that Atlanta officials advised no money was available within the state. However, Farr contends that state funds are available through the Florida Land and Water Conservation Control Program.

Commissioner Sid Vilien, Jr., told the board "We must make haste with this project."

Raiford Prison Outbreaks Call For Remedies

Raiford State Prison has again brought the name of Florida into a spotlight of attention of the kind and of the gravity which is certainly unwelcome.

What has been taking place in this maximum security prison where an overload of about 1,000 inmates has provided a basic cause for guard-inmate confrontations and at least one instance where bullets were used against prisoners and found their mark is still not fully known.

But what is known is enough to allow even a layman to conclude that something must be done and done immediately to heal and control a manifestation which is only one of many and gets attention only when it bursts into flagrant violence.

Personal inspection by Gov. Reubin Askew has been made. His reaction was one which even the circumstances visible during such an event did not mitigate. Changes must be made.

Raiford Prison has been in and out of the state legislature and has received the attention of the legislators as the constitution was changed. Yet what has taken place would argue that this is neither enough or effective.

Underlying the challenge which rests on the state government, cabinet and legislature, is an almost usual battle for power between the Corrections Department and the Parole and Probation Department.

Corrections has the duty for operation of the prisons. Overcrowding is in being as courts take the route of imprisonment more often than probation and use of parole is not sufficient, because of one reason or another, to play its full part in relieving prison congestion.

Raiford disturbances raise questions of procedures in confinement and rehabilitation which are not at all unique to it or to Florida.

But the fact is that they have taken place here within one week, that the prison has been exposed in a nationally syndicated column as badly operated, and that the inmates have taken to violence to make the conditions known outside the institution.

Is it not true that these facts be faced? Is it not true that the real story of the prison and its operation be determined by inspections by knowledgeable persons who do not go there with the foreknowledge of officials, but, on arrival, can show the highest accreditation possible?

As this comment is written there is a move a-foot to ask the federal authorities to take control of the prison with the American Civil Liberties Union initiating court action.

We believe that this is not an answer which will do more than confuse the whole grave and complex matter of law enforcement — courts, jails, rehabilitation efforts.

It would be most unfortunate if the rivalry between corrections and parole is allowed to put this whole situation out of focus.

Confinement and corrections is undergoing even deeper and wider study by penologists from coast to coast. Court procedures are under the most authoritative inspection by even such imposing figures as U.S. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

While we regret the Raiford violence and feel that it should have been prevented by proper procedures within and without the institution, we are convinced that this is not another flash-in-the-pan affair to be put out and forgotten.

We believe it calls for honest, hard-headed appraisal with a minimum of political pressure and a maximum of the ancient pressures of justice for all — inmates, officials and outsiders!

RR Crossings

DOT Secretary Ed Mueller has sent out the good word that railroads in Florida have scheduled increased "signalizing" of crossings with the drive getting started on July 1.

This is another of the Mueller practical and effective traffic safety moves which has stamped him as a man, above all, with highway safety on his mind.

Here in Sanford-Seminole his awakened understanding of such obvious but neglected hazards as the dangerous design and surfacing of S-46 and the unbelievable Rube Goldberg cartoon-like tragedy-prone Oster Bridge, has stamped the DOT secretary as a pro who can see the small as well as the large problems.

Railroad crossings in Florida have their major bad spots — the LeJeune Road crossing in Miami getting top billing. Then there are others in Duval and Broward counties where major traffic routes must run the gauntlet of RR crossings not yet signalized.

But we do not have to travel far in Sanford to see those railroad crossings which are dangerous to the highway traveler and await signalization.

We trust that these will be included in the expanded program which Secretary Mueller has announced and in which the Florida railroads will play the major role.

Cost of the greatly needed safety measure is put at a minimum of $2 million. But when this is balanced against the cost in human life—railroad crossing accidents have a fatality average of one in three, other highway accidents run at less than one in a hundred — the dollar outlay is minimal.

Time for completion is put at three years. This is just one more witness to the fact that growing Florida has not prepared and is not prepared for the traffic flow which it has upon it.

For Secretary Mueller, however, and the country's railroads there can be nothing but praise on the back and praise!

Bend An Ear To Lobbyists

WASHINGTON — When Sen. Democratic leader Mike Mansfield was asked what would become of President Nixon's plan to reorganize cabinet departments, he suggested waiting to hear from the lobbyists.

The reply may have seemed cynical to some, but the canny Montanan actually was recognizing that while the President might be the boss of the 12 executive branch departments, he is not their owner.

The departments, like congressmen, have constituents. While all are supposed to serve the best interests of the public at large, the special interests whose daily operations are affected by departmental actions feel they have the biggest stake in their organization. And the lobbyists Mansfield spoke about are the voices of those interests in Washington.

Nixon's proposal to merge seven existing departments into four new ones dealing with natural resources, human resources, community development and economic development seems to make good sense. Further, the idea has been tested: Several states and cities already have organized their operating departments into similar categories.

But there is more than good sense and precedent to be taken into account in predicting the outcome of the reorganization proposals. The view taken by the special interests—organizations like the Farm Bureau, Federation and Farmers Union, which now deal with the Agriculture Department and similar groups in the other agencies—will be vital.

There is another power center in Washington that will be involved in the reorganization question—the bureaucracy. But the civil servants who really run the government don't come out in the open to fight the President (or Congress), and without the freedom to argue which the lobbyist have, the

Spies In Laos For Months

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP)—It has never been announced, but for the past several months small teams of South Vietnamese have been operating in southern Laos. These "black pajama" units are, in the main, former Special Forces officers and men, minus their American advisers.

These covert units, during their period, have ranged over selected areas, gathering intelligence on the location of North Vietnamese supply dumps and way stations, monitoring truck schedules and noting camouflage precautions along the Ho Chi Minh trails.

Their objective — to pinpoint targets precisely so that crack South Vietnamese units which recently moved into Laos could move in fast—and hopefully, move out with equal speed.

For time is crucial.

The hope is to get the main South Vietnamese forces in and out of Laos within a very short period, if it can be managed.

To be blunt, this Laos operation is a very risky piece of business militarily. The Vietnamese realize this, so do the American tacticians.

Cromley

At one stroke, psychologically, this could raise again the status of the VC North Vietnamese in the south and in the United States.

It is to guard against this possibility that American units have been stationed at points where there is the greatest likelihood of North Vietnamese-VC attacks (1 Corps in South Vietnam where enemy forces outnumber Allied troops).

The other major worry is that the North Vietnamese will ambush or surround and decisively defeat a major element of the South Vietnamese troops operating in Laos and Cambodia.

Psychologically, this would take the bloom off the sweeps.

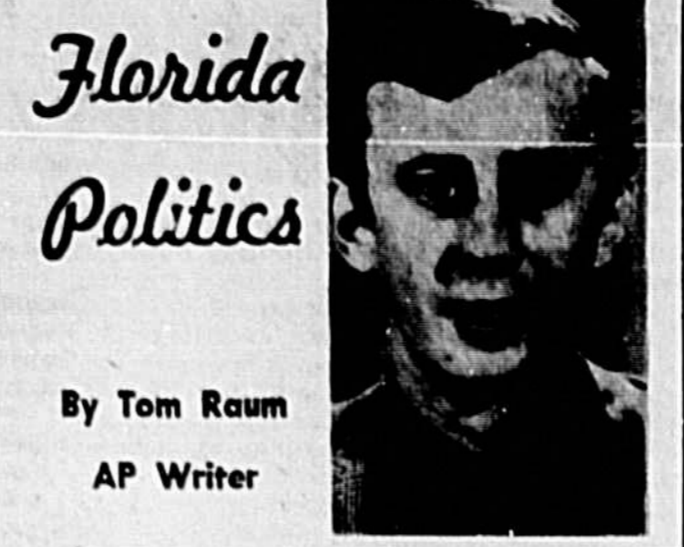

In Laos, the enemy has superiority in numbers, is close to home bases and reinforcements. The terrain is ideal for ambushes, heavily jungled, mountainous and extremely difficult to monitor from the air.

It is known the Communist have been setting traps in the area. They have been busy these past several weeks building strong points and shifting troops toward Highway 8, main point of entry of the South Vietnamese.

Rep. Carl Singleton, a Miami Democrat whose trick bullet, cards and gimmicks are legend in legislative halls, walked into a House committee meeting the other day with a spy can.

Singleton sprayed the substance over a half-dozen colleagues, a lobbyist and a newsmen, then plopped the can down on the table. The label said, "••• •• repellent," the adjective a pungent euphemism for long-winded conversations.

It must have worked. The meeting lasted only 12 minutes.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)— Shortly before he left office, defeated Treasurer Broward Williams hung a beaming portrait of himself in the reception room of his Capitol suite. Although somewhat larger than the others, it took its place next to paintings of other ex-treasurers.

Now it's gone.

Williams's successor, Tom O'Malley, had it taken down. He is asking General Services Director Chester Blakmore to determine its value.

"We thought we would present it to Mr. and Mrs. Williams as a memento," said O'Malley, who engaged in a particularly bitter campaign battle with Williams in 1970.

Tricky Gimmick

Rep. Carl Singleton, a Miami Democrat whose trick bullet, cards and gimmicks are legend in legislative halls, walked into a House committee meeting the other day with a spy can.

Singleton sprayed the substance over a half-dozen colleagues, a lobbyist and a newsmen, then plopped the can down on the table. The label said, "••• •• repellent," the adjective a pungent euphemism for long-winded conversations.

It must have worked. The meeting lasted only 12 minutes.

Valiant Attempt

Gov. Reubin Askew couldn't quite muster enough votes in the Legislature to get his corporate tax on an early ballot, but will never be accused of not making a valiant attempt.

On one occasion, Askew even placed a long distance call to Virginia to keep a lawmaker friendly to his proposal from leaving town the day of a crucial vote.

Democratic Rep. Richard Hodes, a Tampa physician, had promised Askew his support, but then remembered he'd already committed himself to a lecture series at the University of Virginia's Medical School.

"I apologized to the governor, but told him I just couldn't break my prior engagement," relates Hodes.

When the roll was called the next day, Hodes was there, voting for the governor's proposal.

Apparently the dean of Virginia Medical School was sympathetic with Askew's long distance plea that he needed Hodes more than they did.

Field Chief

Tampa's Marcello Masada will soon be named to head all field offices for the secretary of state, discloses Secretary of State Richard Stone.

Stone said for the first time, field offices in Fort Pierce, Tampa, Orlando and Miami would be brought together under one administrator.

Masada, a former Public Service Commission employee, was active in Stone's 1970 campaign.

Hairy Cop

Quincy officials were keeping a close eye on civil rights demonstrations in the city last week, and particularly on the fact that during one protest march three white faces were seen in an otherwise black crowd.

Their curiosity seemed to disappear, however, when it was disclosed that two were just newsmen. "We made sure we find out who they were," City Manager H. C. Gregory was quoted as saying.

The third white was taken aside by police, who may have been a little red-faced upon discovering he was with the U.S. Department of Justice, sent to keep tabs on the situation.

"He had hair growing down his neck and all over his face," said one Quincy police officer. "We didn't know who he was. But now he's working as our liaison."

Capitol Dress

Although he has been an advocate of putting a mini skirt back on an Indian maiden in Florida's official seal, Secretary of State Richard Stone says mini skirted girls in his office might find it more prudent to come to work in pants suits.

It's not that he's just interested in keeping up with the latest styles, said Stone. "But the girls have to reach up to high files, and they're getting runs in their stockings. So I've authorized pants suits as an economy measure — to cut down on the high cost of new stockings."

Stone says, however, that only the girls "in the back office" can wear pants suits under the new policy.

"I'm not the first one to allow pants suits," said Stone. "Floyd Christian's girls have been in pants suits for a long time." Christian is commissioner of education.

Plush Quarters

If they gave awards in the Legislature for interior decorating, the Senate Ways and Means Committee — a group which plays a major role in cutting state expenses to balance the budget — would surely rate for its plush new quarters.

The committee recently moved its offices from cramped quarters in the Capitol to the more roomy Holland Building across the street. Now the committee is the only one in the Legislature to have a wood paneled entranceway that resembles the outside of a large law firm.

The committee name, and that of Chairman Sen. Louis de la Pardo and Vice Chairman Sen. Bill Gunter — are inscribed in big gold letters set on black monoliths on the wall. Past the entrance, a receptionist's desk sits on thick green wall-to-wall carpeting.

The spotlight will be on the committee — and its House counterpart — this year as members attempt to find ways of trimming the budget of the state's budget, expected to encounter a $250 million deficit.

Helen Fuller Says:

Short Work Week's Problems

WASHINGTON — How would you like to work longer days, five days a week?

A growing number of salaried employees are finding out the advantages and disadvantages of working their present quota of forty hours in four instead of five days each week, with three-day weekends. Several hundred more plans intend to install the four-day or the three-day week in the future.

The United Steelworkers and the United Auto Workers unions are consulting with manufacturers on possibly writing a short workweek provision into new contracts.

But the push behind the four-day and three-day plans is coming from management, not labor. Some companies say frankly that their interest in the change is to raise profits. They adopted the three-day week, says one, "so we could keep our machines going 24 hours a day more economically."

Plants that shut down on Fridays under the shortened schedule like having that day to repair machinery without interference. Production improves with fewer cases of absenteeism and lateness from "Monday morning blues" after the longer weekend of rest and recreation.

Employees save one day less in commuting and baby-sitting costs. They can play and shop at less crowded times. There is time for more old and new hobbies.

But all is not beer and skittles. Workers get an extra day or more off. But they are expected to turn out the same production quota as before. Meeting the quota for longer periods each day—say, 10 hours over four days instead of 8 hours over 5 days. That kind of "stretch out" can be grueling. Women particularly feel the greater pressure.

Men, with Friday free on the short week, get hit with extra household chores and shopping while their working wives still put in their regular five days. And then there will be the loss of overtime pay as employees approach their goal of a 16-hour, four-day week that could make overtime unnecessary.

The new system will not relieve the monotony of assembly work, especially to younger men. This is and will remain a major problem in hiring this sought-after group for factory jobs.

More leisure time is a partial answer, but Henry Ford, so often a leader in industrial thinking, recently pointed out how much farther there is to go, however.

"People's idea of what their lives should be are changing considerably," Ford says. "I don't know whether a factory, a foundry, and an assembly plant where there's a great deal of noise is going to be the kind of place that people are going to want to work in 10 years from now. We've got to find some answers to these kinds of questions."

Build For Quake

Francisco" so spectacular. Most casualties result from falling debris, flying glass, downed power lines, contaminated food and water and sheer panic.

Neither is most property damage caused in the second or third of actual shaking. The greatest losses occur later in fires started by broken gas mains and ripped electric lines and during mild aftershocks.

In the 1957 Bakersfield earthquake, for example, the most serious property damage occurred long after the main quake. Further, when aftershocks demolished weakened buildings that had not been repaired properly but only patched up.

Geologists say that most earthquake damage, both immediate and subsequent, both human and physical, could be prevented through strictly enforced building codes and other procedures certainly much more than has been prevented up to now.

"The way to save lives," says Caltech seismologist Dr. Stewart Smith, "is to make better use of the land and not ignore the existence of geologic faults in buildings as has so often been done in the past."

The solution, unfortunately, is not amenable to slide rule calculations alone. It involves economics as well as human psychology.

It is cheaper and easier in the long run.

$2 Million Stoppag For Raiford Announced By Governor Askew

RAIFORD, Fla. (AP)— Spurred by a week of violence that left 14 inmates and four guards injured, Gov. Reubin Askew announced a $2 million stopgap plan to thin trouble-torn Raiford State Prison's inmate population by one-third and build a dozen community jail houses.

Askew also dispatched two aides to investigate Friday "what happened and how it has happened" during a chaos which erupted at the overcrowded facility this past week.

A five-point plan to take the pressure off the facilities built for 2,500 but jammed with 3,400 prisoners will be implemented within 90 days, Askew said Thursday.

Federal monies totaling $1.4 million from the Inter-Agency Law Enforcement Planning Council will be requested. Askew said, mostly to build 12 local correctional centers to be operated by the state.

Meanwhile, a suit was filed in behalf of 36 Raiford inmates in federal court in Jacksonville. It charged their civil rights had been violated by prison officials and asked the federal government take control of the prison to protect inmates.

According to the suit filed by lawyers of the American Civil Liberties Union, inmates are being subjected to mistreatment and beatings from guards.

The suit alleged 200 inmates were beaten and then confined in the maximum security "flat top" area while 100 more were abused in the East Unit on Wednesday.

State Prison Director Louis Wainwright, named as a plaintiff in the suit, denied any beatings Wednesday and said only 200 inmates were segregated in "punishment cells" for a short period.

The suit also called for an end to solitary confinement, which Wainwright denied existed.

A prison guard, who refused to allow publication of his name, charged a squad of 100 officers swept through the East Unit of the prison Tuesday, brutally beating inmates without guard.

The guard said he would testify in court that guards forced prisoners out of cell blocks down and struck them with rifle butts and punched them while herding the inmates down a hallway to the positive segregation unit.

Gov. Askew assigned aides Jim Price and Hugh McMillan to look into outbreaks of violence that began with a prisoner work and hunger strike last week. The prison was quiet Thursday following disturbances every day this week.

Hotel Jetties 'Close' Beaches For The Public

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)— Miami Beach hotel jetties extending seaward to prevent beach erosion seem to have a habit of extending landward as well to prevent impassable barriers to the public.

This conclusion was reached by some aides to State Cabinet officials at a meeting Thursday and it probably will mean a close look at the practice of the state granting construction of groins.

"The history of this sort of thing is pretty rife with installing groins and hiring body guards to keep people off beaches," said Art Canaday, an aide to Atty. Gen. Robert Shev. in.

Discussion arose as the Cabinet aides reviewed items which will face the Cabinet next Tuesday.

One is a request by Castaways Motel, one of Miami Beach's giants, to remove five existing groins and replace them with six new ones extending 75 feet into the ocean.

The aides did not pass judgment on the proposal, but a deputy to Secretary of State Richard Stone said Stone would seek deferral of the item for one week. Such a request assures a delay.

Nixon Giving Labor Choice Of Operation

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer
MIAMI BEACH (AP)— President Nixon reportedly is giving AFL-CIO construction unions the alternative of joining in a national wage-price stabilization board or facing the risk of hard-and-fast federal controls in which labor leaders would have no say at all.

Informed sources today said the idea of a government labor industry stabilization board with power to review any dispute before there could be a labor strike or an industry price hike is the top card in a series of proposed White House alternatives that Secretary of Labor J. D. Hodgson is empowered to offer AFL-CIO leaders here.

Sources indicated, however, the threat of a wage price freeze is still Nixon's principal bargaining weapon in seeking to force an easing of soaring construction costs, even though government sources privately conceded it might be difficult to enforce in the federal courts.

This jibed with the thinking of labor lawyers, who question whether standby wage-price controls given Nixon by Congress could be imposed on a single industry.

Sources in the 136 million member AFL-CIO holding its annual winter leadership meetings here, cautioned there was no assurance the 17 construction unions will buy the White House proposal the next three days of scheduled meetings with Hodgson.

"They're still playing poker," said one high source in the labor federation.

One construction union president earlier called Nixon's wage-price freeze threat a political bluff.

The proposed national stabilization board reportedly would have the power to review in advance any wage strike or industry price hike for a specified period of time, still to be worked out, after which the board rules it acceptable or not.

Strong Commie Force Hits So. Viet Artillery

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — A strong North Vietnamese force kept a South Vietnamese artillery base 7 1/2 miles inside Laos under heavy attack, inflicting severe casualties in the first major battle reported along the Ho Chi Minh trail, informed U.S. sources said today.

Mortars, rockets, artillery and small arms fire slammed into the base Thursday and today. The attack was so heavy that American helicopters were unable to get into the base to lift out 80 wounded South Vietnamese and to look for a U.S. crewman missing during a previous mission.

There was no count of the dead yet.

Pilots who tried to land told Associated Press Correspondent Michael Puzer at Khe Sanh, "It's just too hot."

U.S. helicopter gunships flew around the base repeatedly, firing rockets at suspected North Vietnamese positions, but one pilot told Puzer, "They are really well hidden. We can't find them. We've tried up all the places we think they might be but it hasn't slowed them down."

Named by South Vietnamese rangers, the base is one of three that form a triangle on hills overlooking a section of the North Vietnamese jungle trail network. It is 10 miles south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam and nine miles north of Highway 9, the main route of the South Vietnamese advance into southern Laos.

Despite the heavy attack, official South Vietnamese spokesmen continued to report only light resistance in Laos, and the main route of the South Vietnamese advance into southern Laos.

South Vietnamese troops have occupied 25 miles of the Ho Chi Minh trail.

Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan Lam said in an interview that the incursion into Laos has been satisfactory.

Demos Eye '72 Meeting

By CARL F. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien urged the Democratic National Committee today to approve reforms that will make the 1972 presidential nomination a product of an open political process.

"In a 2 1/2 hour session," O'Brien said, "this meeting of the Democratic National Committee—the governing body of this party—is the true beginning of our effort to regain the national leadership and to put an end to this terrible stagnation Richard Nixon has brought to our country."

The 115-member national committee met to set procedures for next year's nominating convention.

O'Brien said the burden is on Democrats to offer the nation an alternative to the Republican administration.

"We must prove that the other major political entity in the United States has something else to offer—something so much better than the choice it vividly, unmistakably clear," he said. "Only then will we have proved our right to national leadership."

Alaska Environment Studied

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — If the 100-plus witnesses who testified at hearings on the proposed trans-Alaska oil pipeline this week had one thing in common, it was agreement a pipeline will be built.

Supporters of the $1-billion line were relatively few, though they may become the majority in a second round of hearings next week in Alaska.

In day and night sessions Tuesday and Wednesday and a morning session Thursday, opponents dominated the Washington phase of debate, throwing barbs at both the project and the Interior Department's appraisal of its probable impact on Alaska's ice-brittle environment.

But only a few suggested the best idea might be to leave the huge oil deposits discovered in 1968 where they are—under the permanently frozen Arctic North Slope.

The United States could continue to supply its needs from existing oil and foreign imports, or perhaps even cut down its use of oil, they contended.

Pipeline supporters, however, repeated their argument that petroleum demand will continue to rise. The nation, they said, needs Alaskan oil for its security, to reduce its dependence on the politically unstable Middle East.

The defense argument drew stronger opposition. Opponents charged an 80-mile pipeline connecting with an ocean tanker route to Washington or California could be easily disrupted; Alaskan oil, they said, still would leave the nation party-

Solon Slaps Pentagon's Spy System

By LEE BYRD
WASHINGTON (AP) — An Illinois congressman says the Pentagon's claim of new safeguards against domestic intelligence practices amounts to a framework for continued spying.

Rep. Abner J. Mikva, who says the Army's files include one on him, added he is preparing legislation to make intelligence-gathering by military personnel at home a felony.

The Democrat denounced as "gobbledygook" the announcement Thursday by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird that a new Pentagon review council will oversee the military's security investigations within the United States.

Although Laird represented the move as fulfilling his Dec. 23 promise to strengthen civilian control of the intelligence establishment, Mikva charged, "There is nothing to indicate any policy changes."

Mikva also challenged renewed assurances of Secretary of the Army Stanley Resor that he and other Illinois leaders, including Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, had not been subjects of Army spying.

"I have talked with some people who flatly told me they saw my file," said Mikva, noting he is scheduled to testify on the matter before a Senate hearing next week.

Mikva said Laird's action fell "far, far short of what he promised, of really getting a handle on military intelligence. Either he changed his mind or he lost a

Governor Retaliates With Taxpayer

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—Gov. Milton S. Shapp traded shirts and poems with a disgruntled taxpayer Thursday.

Shapp said Veretnick's proposed 8 per cent income tax would prevent him from making ends meet on his $6,000 income, sent his shirt and a 2 line protest verse to the governor.

Shapp sent back the shirt, along with one of his own shirts and his own verse.

At a news conference Thursday, Shapp said Veretnick, like many other Pennsylvanians, would pay no state income taxes at all because of exemptions and deductions.

Furthermore, Shapp said, his package includes exemptions which should lighten Veretnick's tax burden $48 per year.

"Governor Shapp, I want you to know,

Either me or your tax will have to go.

I've been a Pennsylvanian all my life.

And I'm struggling to support three kids and a wife.

Witnesses Support Oil Pipeline

Other critics said the line would cross 250 streams and one of the world's worst earthquake zones where, a seismologist testified, there would be no way to prevent a pipe from breaking in a strong quake.

Tankers would carry Alaskan oil after its pipeline trip, and the record of tanker accidents, said critics, points to a major ocean spill as virtually certain in the first 10 years of the pipeline.

The Interior Department has recommended construction of the pipeline, despite possible harm to the environment.

Florida Runs Away With Charity Track Meet

Raiders Shine In Vault

By GARY TAYLOR
Herald Sports Editor
ORLANDO — The University of Florida got off to a slow start last night but then poured on the coal in the last few events to score 128 points and win the charity track meet at the Orlando Sports Stadium.

Three semifinal heats were held in the 60 yard dash. The injured Titusville football player, Miami-Dade South, was second with 6:51 points. SJC scored 29 points.

Action got underway at 6 p.m. with qualifying runs in the 60 yard dash and 60 yard high hurdles. The complete five laps of the high hurdles, with a time of 7:45 seconds, it was realized that the first three had been false starts, with a malfunction in the call back gun. Charles Harris, of Seminole Junior College, had qualified in the first heat and Mike Moneey of the Seminole Track Club had met the standards in the second heat. When the recall was made, both managed to make it to the semifinals again.

Seminole Junior College had only one man running in the qualifying trials for the 60 yard high hurdles. Mike Woods took first place in the first heat with a time of 7:45 seconds. The final four runners all finished one-tenth of a second off the pace at 7:7 seconds. Woods finished fifth in the pack for Seminole.

Mike Kelley of Florida Junior College took the 60 yard dash with a time of 6:1 seconds in the final. Nate Jenkins of Florida took second and Raymond Griffin of Manatee Junior College, third, also had times of 6:1 seconds. The difference between first and last place was only two tenths of a second. Henry Cummings of Florida won the high hurdles with a time of 7:45 seconds. Delaney was second with an identical time. The final four runners all finished one-tenth of a second off the pace at 7:7 seconds. Woods finished fifth in the pack for Seminole.

Jerry Slaven took the mile in 4:19.8. He was running for the Florida Track Club. The difference between first and last place was less than 10 seconds. There was a tie for first place in the 100 yard dash. Lee of Miami-Dade South and Dave Haines finished at 52 seconds flat. Bob Sch of Seminole Junior College was sixth in 52.9 seconds. The 600 yard dash was won by Williams of Miami-Dade South with a time of 1:12. His teammate, Griffin, finished second, one tenth of a second behind the winning time. Stryal Kinsler took sixth place for SJC with a time of 1:17.4.

The University of Florida dominated the 800 yard run, taking second, third, fourth and fifth places. Williams of Miami-Dade South won the event with a time of 2:01.2. Dennis Bruce took second with a time of 2:01.4. Third place went to Bill Hicks at 2:01.5.

Florida picked up 10 more points when they took the eight-lap relay. The time was 2:28.1. Seminole finished fifth at 2:33.7. Charlie Hayes ran the first leg for Seminole, Julius Walker was second and Theotis Brown was third. Up until this time Seminole was running in last. Reggie Baldwin came on to run the anchor and pull SJC up to fifth.

By this time in the night's action, it was after 10 p.m. and the pole vaulters were warming up for a go at it. The first field event to finish was the long jump. Banks took it for Miami-Dade South with a leap of 22 feet-11. Seminole failed to place in the first six spots.

Then Florida started to really pull away in the standings. They took first, second and fourth in the 1,600 yard run with Okeefe winning it at 2:18.8. Slaven of the Florida Track Club continued his domination of the distance events as he took the two mile run in 9:27.3, an excellent time on the indoor clay surface. But Florida picked up points as they grabbed third, fourth, fifth and sixth places. The Florida "C" team took the mile relay with a time of 3:23.5. Miami-Dade South was second and Lake City was third, but Florida "B" was fourth. Florida "C" fifth and Florida "D" sixth. Frank Sayer jumped 6-foot-6 to take the high jump for Florida and Mike Larsson hurled the shot 31-foot-4 to win for the Gators. Manatee took second each of those events.

Only the pole vault remained on the list and coach Jim Carne's Gators were far enough in front they didn't have to worry about the event.

Mike Collins took second for Florida, but it was SJC's event to shine. Allen McMillen led first at 13-foot-8. Ron Fletcher took third in his best vaulting competition ever. Jerry Hock also did a good job for SJC.

Tonight will be the final game for three of Lyman's seniors in front of a home crowd to cheer them on. Among them center Paul Crouse, who will close out three years as a starter on the Lyman team. Throughout much of this time Crouse has led both the team's rebounding and scoring. Also playing his final contest before district play, and his last at home, will be senior Ed Stafford who has started on the Greyhound attack for two years and has been a consistent performer throughout, always supplying an outstanding effort. Lyman's last senior is a predominantly young squad, is guard Mike Funk, who transferred to Lyman in his sophomore year, has aided the Greyhound attack by his aggressive defense, desire and talent.

The Greyhounds will be giving up height and power to Edgewater tonight but as always the contest with the same determination and pride as they did back in the beginning of December. A win tonight would be a big upset, but if the Greyhounds are not successful in their attempt, the 1971-72 Greyhound basketball team will still maintain the image of a courageous and spirited squad, that only fell to defeat after exerting all possible efforts in striving toward victory.

Lyman Closes Season In Tilt With Edgewater

By CHUCK GRILE
Herald Sports Staff
Tonight in Longwood the Lyman Greyhound basketball team takes to the hardwood for the final time in regular season competition, as they entertain the unpredictable, but powerful Edgewater Eagles. Tip-off for the Metro finale is scheduled for 8 p.m. with junior varsity action commencing at 6:30.

It has all come down to the wire, and the wire is very tight. The Lyman Greyhounds have one last chance to break into the win column of the Metro Conference this year, but the task is great and the foe is tough.

Edgewater has had its ups and downs all season, but the Eagles have pulled some surprises. The last being this past Tuesday when they fought Metro leader Jones down to the last second, dropping by a single point 40-48 on a last ditch effort. This in addition to the shattering that Jones gave Lyman in their last meeting, 84-38, makes the Eagles strong favorites in tonight's conference finale.

The Eagles success this year can be attributed to many reasons. As Lyman coach Bill Moore said after the first meeting, "They are big and strong." In addition, the Eagles are balanced both offensively and defensively, led by Robert Smith, Clifford Williams and Mike McCants. Another strong characteristic that has helped the Edgewater squad is the fact that they make very few

Raiders Travel South For Two Cage Games

By JIM RICKENBACKER
Herald Sports Staff
Each weekend the Raiders of Seminole Junior College journey to some distant city to meet basketball teams of top rank.

This weekend is no exception as SJC travels to Ft. Pierce where they will face a vastly improved Indian River team Saturday night.

Improvement is the only word to describe Indian River.

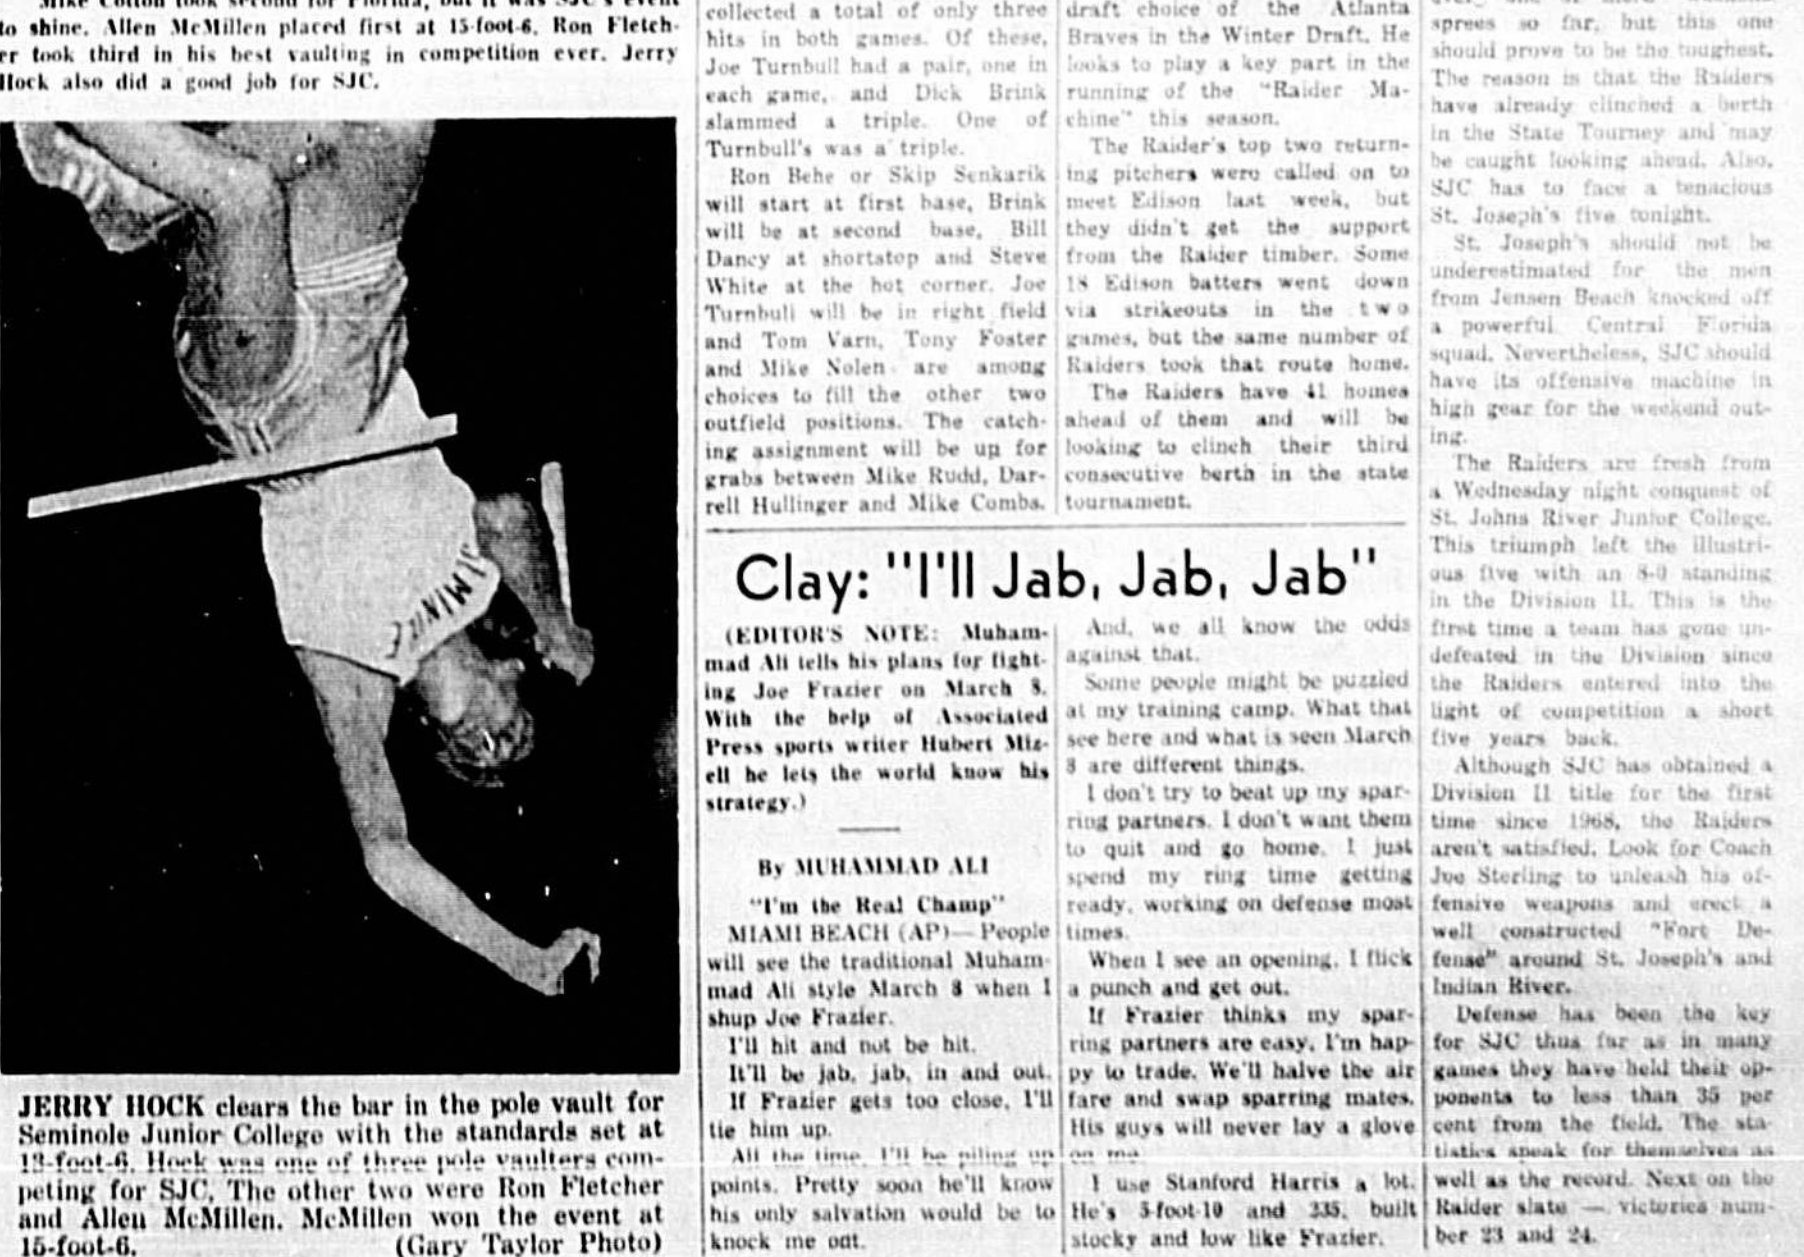

The story behind the Pioneer's progress this season lies in the play of lanky 6-foot-7 George Green, plus the sharpshooting of Earl Quash and Larry Drake, the sky-bound performer who helped Pennsylvania Washington to the Class AA high school crown last year.

Quality and quantity does not stop here as Indian River also has Gainesville's Armetta Hall along with newcomers, Cameron White and Greg Mabry. With the added presence of 6-foot-6 high-point man Ronnie Claiborne, the Pioneer's are able to throw power and precision towards any foe that comes their way.

SJC has managed to win every one of these weekend games so far, but this one should prove to be the toughest. The reason is that the Raiders have already clinched a berth in the State Tourney and may be sought looking ahead. Also, SJC has to face a menacing St. Joseph's five tonight.

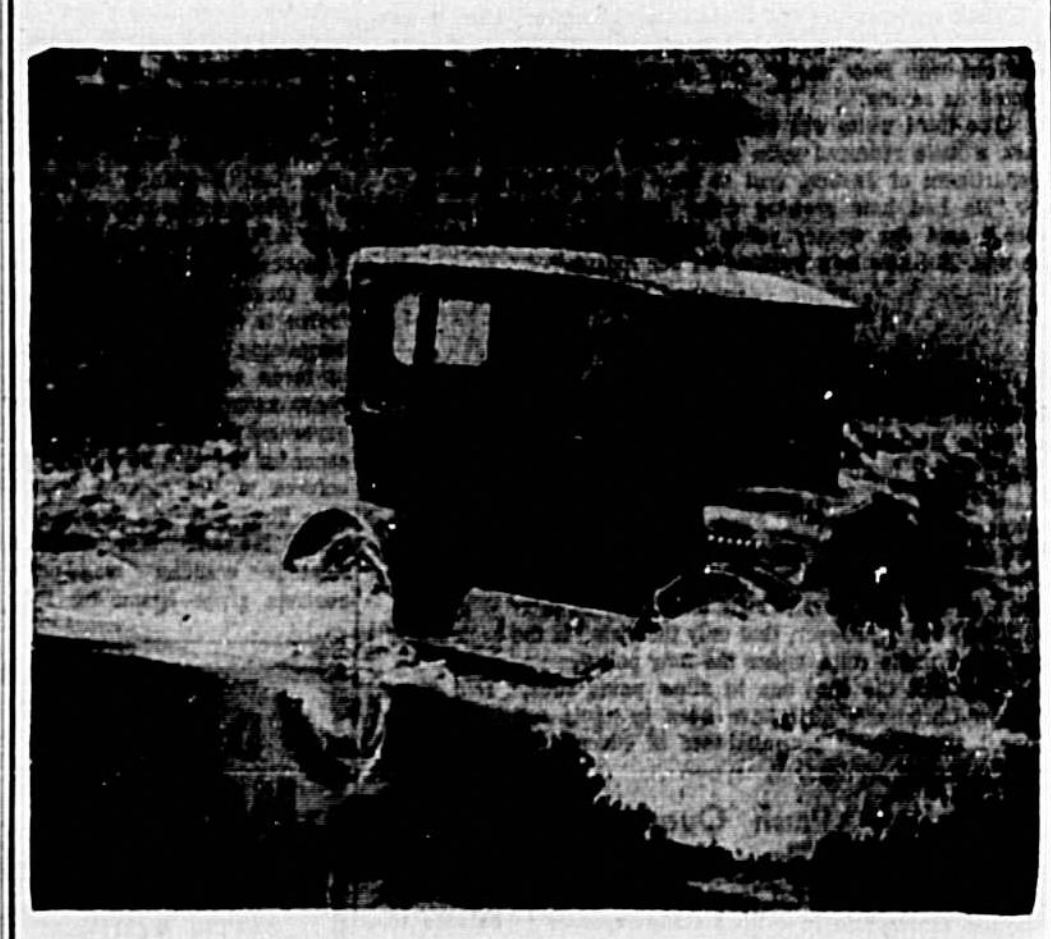

St. Joseph's should not be underestimated for the men from Jensen Beach knocked off a powerful Central Florida squad. Nevertheless, SJC should have its offensive machine in high gear for the weekend outing.

The Raiders' top two returning pitchers were called on to meet Edison last week, but they didn't get the support from the Raider team. Some 18 Edison batters went down via strikeouts in the 1-2 and 3-4 innings, but the same number of Raiders took that route home. The Raiders have 41 home ahead of them and will be looking to clinch their third consecutive berth in the state Hall of Fame and Mike Combs.

JERRY HOCK clears the bar in the pole vault for Seminole Junior College with the standards set at 13-foot-8. Hock was one of three pole vaulters competing for SJC. The other two were Ron Fletcher and Allen McMillen. McMillen won the event at 15-foot-6. (Gary Taylor Photo)

Valley Forge

The Lake County Women Golfers' League was the guest of the Valley Forge Golf Club Association this past Tuesday. Green Valley Golf Club, Pine Meadows, Mount Dora, Silver Lake and Mission Inn were all represented. Prizes were given for low gross and low net in each of four flights. There was also a prize for fewest putts in each flight.

"A" flight: low gross was won by Wanda Steinkamp who scored a fine 76. Waide is from Valley Forge. First low net, Margie Thompson V.F.; second low net, Grace Rose M/D; third low net, Lois Smith V.F. G. Fewest putts, Ariene Kirkpatrick M/D and Janet Milonas V.F. (tie).

"B" flight: low gross, Peg King V.F. K. First low net, went to Phyllis Russell, who shot 69; second low net, Coia Mae Carrico P.M. 64; third low net, went to Marion Davis P.M. 66. Fewest putts, Louise Simpson V.F.

"C" flight: Trudy Cosens V.F. took low gross with an 83. First low net, Virginia Smith V.F. G. There was a three-way tie for second and third low net. Sonia Hurd M/D, Helen James S.L. and Silas Tardias M/D all scored 63. There was also a tie for fewest putts, between Dolly Grey and Jane Montgomery, both from Valley Forge.

"D" flight: low gross went to Doris Moffitt S.L. She fired an 82. First low net, went to Gladys Marshall M/I with a 57; second low net, Nita Kucharke G/V 58; third low net, went to Rose Dennings S.L. 56. There was another tie for fewest putts between Mary Henson, S.L. and Florence Proctor, M/D. Every Thursday the Valley Forge Women's League, consisting of members and non-members, will play a tournament in yesterday's event. Don Burdawn won low gross with a fine 77. There was a three-way tie for low net at 62. The winners were Sylvia Newsam, Rosemary Willoughby and Virginia Smith.

Claire Verocchio scored a hole-in-one at the 110 yard ninth hole this past week. She used a seven iron.

Bill Torpy won the senior men's drought at Valley Forge this week. Taking second place was Matt Mathewson. Third spot was won by Bill Crame. In a scramble event last weekend, the team of Joe Willie, Bud Keeling and Margaret Morewood took first place with a 26.

Mayfair

The Mayfair Men's Golf Association will have a meeting Monday, February 22. The meeting will start at 6:30 p.m. with hamburgers and all the trimmings. Election of officers will be held.

The First Annual Mayfair Member-Guest Invitational Tournament will be held on February 26. It will be an 18-hole event, using 4 handicap. The field will be limited to 100 entries. There will be prizes ranging from a set of first flight irons to a putter.

The Mayfair Women's Golf Association held a club invitational tournament this week. The club invited were Valley Forge, Royal Oak, New Smyrna and Sugar Hill.

"A" flight: Vivian Coaklin took low gross honors with an 84. Low net was won by Vivian Pierce with a 74. The fewest putts prize was won by Mary Reichelderfer, with 29. "B" flight: low gross was taken by Dossie DeGanahl, with 88. "C" flight: low gross was won with a 72. Lois Clark had fewest putts with 29.

Helen Wolfe won low gross in "C" flight with a 66. Low net was taken by Evelyn Antare. Fran Abrecht needed only 25 putts to win that prize.

In the women's regular Thursday play, Tricia Stenstrom captured "A" flight low net prize with a 70. "B" flight ended up in a three-way tie between Vivian Pierce, Mary Anderson and Jimmie Livingston. They all carded 71. There was a two-way tie for "C" flight between Helen Wolfe and Ann Holton, both of whom scored 73. Frances Herr was the sole winner in "D" flight. She had an 84.

Betty Daniels won the Third Annual Kader Golf Tournament at Mayfair. There was a tie for second place between Lib Robertson and Dossie DeGanahl. It was decided that a 18-hole play-off will take place next week to decide second place.

Land-O-Lakes

The only news from L.O.L. this week is in the form of a hole-in-one. During a tournament held by the Navy Training Devices Center from Orlando, Rocco R. Sorice scored the 160 yard second hole with a seven iron. Sixty-five played in this event.

Mid-Florida

Al Garratti and Amil Mallada ended up with a plus six, which was good enough to top first place in the men's weekly drought.

Mid-Florida is presently in the midst of its club championships tournament. There are five flights, including the championship flight. It is a match play event, which started last Sunday. So far, not too many of the individual matches have been played. However, first round matches must be completed by this Sunday. Low medalist in the Championship flight was shared by three very fine amateur players. Joe Pavechek, Tom Cavarelli and Dana Conner all fired two over par 74 in their qualifying rounds. After Al Keller, who gets home from the PGA Tournament in Palm Beach Gardens in a couple of weeks, I plan to play Mid-Florida, after which there will be a feature on the course.

Rolling Hills

Last Sunday (Valentine's Day) a sweetheart tournament was the event of the day. It saw Clarence and June Dresser winning first place with a best ball of 66. June is the new women's club Champion. Ruth and Lou Munger won second place with a best ball of 67. There was a two-way tie for third place between Bill and Mel Hebbeman and Abe Gordon and Ruth Chonoweth. Both tied at 69. The R. H. Men's Golf Association recently completed its club championships. Billy Gordon is the new club champ, defeating Eddie Miller, who finished runner-up. The other flight winners and runners-up are: first flight, Fred Mitchell and Bill Norman. Second flight, Reed Gregory and Harold Hayes. Third flight, W. Harris and Andy Lebowitz. Fourth flight, O. B. Weisman and Ed Kluhaka. Fifth flight, Andy Betts and Hal Jenkins. Sixth flight, H. Taylor and Roy Seckinger. Seventh flight, Doug Walls and Lou Munger. Eighth flight, Lyle Nelson and Walk Conable.

The Rolling Hills Women's Golf Association completed the third and final round of their Eclectic Tournament this week. The women played three rounds and then selected the best score of each hole making up the 36. Taking first prize for low gross in the championship flight was Virginia Beckman who carded a 70. She was in a match of cards over Carrie Strong. Kaye Conroy won first net in a match of cards over Millie Wilson, who took second low net. Both ladies shot 64.

Apopka Slips By Cviedo In Closing Minutes

Lions Falter In OBC Tourney Opener

By LARRY NEELY
Herald Sports Writer
LEESBURG — It was the season's story repeated for Cviedo in the opening round of the Orange Belt Conference Tournament last night in the Leesburg gym. The Lions stood on the doorstep but they couldn't get in as Apopka slipped by them in the final minutes for 45-46 Blue Darters victory.

With the score tied 45-45 after Oviedo's George Parker scored two shots from the charity line, the score still knotted. When the Lions took the ball in referee Bill Hirsch called charging on Lyn Burch who had just passed the ball to Parker. Hirsch said it was a loose ball foul and gave Apopka's Roger Rockett a one and one free throw opportunity. That determination was severely questioned by the Oviedo coaches, fans and the field that there should have been no free throws but rather given Apopka possession.

Beckett came through for his teammates and converted both shots to put Apopka out on the jump.

The Blue Darters failed to score and Lion coach Dave Miller called a timeout with 47 seconds remaining in the game and the score still knotted. When the Lions took the ball in referee Bill Hirsch called charging on Lyn Burch who had just passed the ball to Parker. Hirsch said it was a loose ball foul and gave Apopka's Roger Rockett a one and one free throw opportunity. That determination was severely questioned by the Oviedo coaches, fans and the field that there should have been no free throws but rather given Apopka possession.

Beckett came through for his teammates and converted both shots to put Apopka out on the jump.

JOHN STOKES, of the Apopka Blue Darters, is out jumped by an Oviedo Lion during a jump ball in Orange Belt Conference play last night in Leesburg. Standing ready to grab the ball are Bill Dunn (24) of Apopka and George Parker (25) of Oviedo. This action photo of the tournament was captured by Herald Sports Writer Larry Neely.

in front 47-45. When Oviedo brought the ball down court Burch drew a foul from David Royer and was at the line with an opportunity to tie the game. Burch converted the first shot but the tremendous pressure of the situation finally got to Burch and he missed the second shot. Apopka got possession. The Lions went into the press in hopes of getting the ball but Apopka managed to hang on. Royer slipped and threw the ball into the basket. The Lions were left with a 45-46 deficit. The Lions held a 20-19 rebounding advantage over Apopka with their rebounding efforts paced by Holloway who netted nine to lead all the rebounders of the game. Oviedo coach Dave Miller chose to start with the basket on the line to effect the quickness of Apopka and the tactic nearly brought home a victory.

Miller and his assistant, Charlie Webb, had nearly perfected their one-three-one zone defense. It worked well enough last night to force the Blue Darters to shoot from far out or hope to slip in close for a easy shot under the basket. The Lions defense put on its best performance by far this year.

Tussie led all scorers of the game with 16 points with Carvone netting ten points. Lockby and Dunn were the only two Apopka players to appear in double figures netting 14 and 15 points respectively.

Shirley inadvertently stirred up the men's golf tour last year at the Los Angeles Open when word spread that she wanted to enter the PGA event and match her game against the better-paid males.

"That was a public relations man speaking," she said Thursday. "The tournament sponsor in Los Angeles had said he would give me an exemption in the tournament. The boys groaned and the Professional Golfers Association decided it should be 'men only' on its circuit."

Shirley said it was fine and gave up the idea.

The lady pros have never before played for more than a $40,000 purse, but this year they will have a $33,000 event in Sutton, Mass., a $30,000 tournament in Las Vegas.

Final Oviedo Sign-Up

An extension of registration has been made by the Oviedo Little League which will conduct what it hopes will be the final registration this Saturday, Feb. 20.

This registration will take place at the Little League field located on the same street as the Oviedo High School. The hours will be from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Oviedo Little League officials remind new youngsters who are registering for the first time that they must bring a birth certificate with them.

Boys ages eight through 13 are eligible for play in the Oviedo Little League.

Baseball Fights Player Drug Use

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball has taken cognizance of the drug problem and instituted a program to protect the integrity of the game.

"We're not naive about the nature of the problem or the fact that in baseball there has been some use of pills in the amphetamine and barbiturate group," Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said Thursday in announcing a long term Drug Education and Prevention Program for professional baseball.

'This Is Lake Mary'

By SUZANNE SAVAGE
When I answered the advertisement in The Sanford Herald I didn't realize I had quite so much to say. When thoughts keep me from sleeping I think I had best put them down in writing.
How did I discover Lake Mary? This question has already been asked a number of times since I moved here in California. After looking over the southern part of California around Los Angeles, I called home to inquire where it was. Paul had gone to paint in California as wherever that was I knew it would be beautiful.

Friends Entertain For Anna Mae Muir

By MARILYN GORDON
Mrs. Dorothy Cole and Mrs. Dolan Rowe were co-hostesses at a bridal shower for Miss Anna Mae Muir Feb. 12 at the home of Mrs. Cole 237 Palmetto Ave., Longwood.
Miss Muir is the daughter of Mrs. Frieda Muir of Longwood. The beautiful and lively table was a masterpiece of red and white valentine imagery. A centerpiece of red and white roses flanked by a regal pair of red candles formed the backdrop. The tablecloth was white lace with a vibrant red cloth peeking through. Each guest was given a small white basket filled with red and white candies. A tiny red heart topped the basket. A mountain of gifts lay under a red net umbrella awaiting the bride.
Guests attending were Mrs. Frieda Muir, Mrs. Carlos Smith, Mrs. Royce Kennedy, Mrs. William Kennedy, Mrs. Carl Schimming, Mrs. Carolyn Belcher, Mrs. Charlotte Holmberg, Mrs. G. E. Strickland, Sr., Mrs. Thomas Keeser, Mrs. Dorothy Heath and Mrs. Ralph Hammond.

OVIEDO
By LIZ MATHEUX
Congratulations are in order for the following lucky people who have celebrated their Silver Wedding Anniversary: Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Webb and Mrs. W. H. Martin.
Word has come to me that there are elaborate plans brewing for the formal dedication of the beautiful Oviedo High School which will be observed Sunday afternoon, March 14, at 2:00 p.m.
While we are discussing the Oviedo High School, if you have not done so, I suggest that you amble over and meet the new principal, Keith Stone. He is an okay fellow as is his most cordial assistant, one of my more than favorite persons, C. K. Buckelew.
What a combination — good leaders, grand faculty and even good cooks in the cafeteria (and that alone is enough of an accomplishment for a school!).

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Ward, 70 S. Edgemon, have as house guests for a month's visit Mrs. Iva H. Miller and Mrs. Lillian Sorg, friends from Grand Rapids, Mich. The party spent the day recently in Palmetto and Tampa visiting relatives. They also toured Smyrna Beach and Titusville, Mr. and Mrs. Ward are former residents of Grand Rapids.
Mrs. Seth Hastings, South Edgemon, is spending two weeks in Ft. Myers where she is visiting with her son, Everett, and family.
Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Poet and family of Detroit, Mich., are guests this week in the home of his sister, Mrs. Eugene Roy, South Edgemon. The Poet family will be returning to their home in Detroit next week.
Mrs. Elaine Singleton, 50 North Edgemon, has sold her home and will be moving soon.

Dottie Warner Honor Guest At Tea

By DORIS WILLIAMS
Society Editor
The Lake View Drive home of Mrs. M. J. Corlett was the setting Valentine's Day for a pre-nuptial tea honoring Miss Dottie Warner, bride-elect of Robert Koop of Orange City.
Hostess for the afternoon tea was Mrs. Sandy Crews whose mother, Mrs. Corlett, prepared the refreshments.
The refreshment table, overlaid with a sheer lace cloth, was centered with a floral arrangement of red carnations and white mums interspersed with tiny red hearts, in keeping with the Valentine motif. Accenting the centerpiece were silver candle holders with tall red tapers.
Bridal punch in a cut glass bowl was poured by Brenda Dolgner.
Silver appointments held a variety of dainty tea fare.
Among the out-of-town guests calling during the appointed hours, 2-4:30 p.m. were Mrs. Warren Crews of Ocala, and Mrs. Ellen Bain of Providence, R. I.
The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Edith Warner, Orlando, and the late Raymond Warner. Her fiancé's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knapp of Orange City.
The wedding will be an event of Saturday, Feb. 20, at 7 p.m., at United Methodist Church, Lake Helen. No formal invitations are being sent and all friends and relatives of the couple are cordially invited to attend the wedding and reception immediately following in the church social hall.

It's A Bridal Shower For Jackie McCracken

The lovely Paloma Avenue home of the Harry Adair was the setting for a bridal shower honoring Jacqueline F. McCracken, bride-elect of Earl J. Goodson.
Mrs. Adair was hostess for the event and decorations included gifts arranged under an umbrella beautifully decorated with wedding flowers and streamers. Gold and white wedding bells were suspended from the chandeliers and placed at vantage points in the party area.
The serving table was overlaid with a silver and white brocade cloth and adorned with an exquisitely arranged centerpiece of gold and orange mums, daisies and gold candles in cut glass holders.
Jacqueline chose a Navy blue and white banded knit dress with long sleeves and a white skirt and a beautiful white carnation corsage, a gift from Mrs. Adair.
Champagne was served to the guests while the honor guest opened the lovely gifts. Sandwiches, mixed nuts, fruit cake and coffee were served later in the evening.
Invited guests included Mrs. Ira Southward, Ernest Southward, Max Bass, Dorothy Crocker, William Kirk, Clarence Evans, Charles Evans, William C. Jackson, Bob Paugh, Elaine Singleton, Fay Portman, Ralph Cowan, Thomas Crow and Charles Lick.

JACQUELINE McCracken, left, was guest of honor at a recent miscellaneous bridal shower at the home of Mrs. Harry Adair, right.

MRS. JAMES MCKEE, right, education chairman of the Junior Woman's Club, is presenting Mrs. Vernon Harrison, head librarian of Sanford Public Library, some library reference books. The books, donated to the Club, by Mrs. Joseph Siczekowski, are collections from foreign embassies in Washington, D.C. and were used by committees planning the International Smorgasbord held in March 1970. This is one of the community service projects the Juniors are offering through the education department of the newly organized Junior Woman's Club. (Cecelia Farmer photo)

Fashion Show Sparks Club Meeting

By LIZ MATHIEUX

The Geneva Homemakers Club met at the Geneva Community Center recently with Mrs. Marie Holzer, president, presiding.

Guest speaker for the day was Mrs. Louise L. Gill, Seminole County Home Extension Agent, who told the gathering of the many advantages which the club could take on at the present time to add to their treasury or just for self-improvement.

Mrs. Pauline Stevens explained how dieting could be a pleasant experience and presented a variety of palatable recipes of the low calorie variety. Each member was asked to contribute her favorite recipe toward a County-Wide cookbook which shall be compiled soon.

Beautiful bazaar items, useful as well as ornamental, were on display in the Center. The Bazaar will be held Apr. 26 in the Winter Park Mall.

Members were asked to help at the Seminole County Booth at the Orlando Fair, Feb. 22 through Mar. 6. Immediately following the meeting a delightful "Fashion Show" was conducted with those participating modeling an item of clothing which she had made.

Mrs. Ruth Evans modeled a polyester knit dress which she made at a nominal price. Her accessories were dyed to match and were created from articles which she "just had in her closet."

Lovely Kitty Baxter modeled a hand knit Poncho with an original border which was made by Mrs. Robert Pearce of Belhaven, N.C.

Bianche Rucker, was stunning in a white polyester, size 12. Her shoes and purse were also some she just happened to have.

Lois Scott wore a three piece pantsuit of double knit polyester, in a pale blue striped suit which was created and modeled by a very talented gal, Anne Mitchell.

The surprise package came in the form of a "wet look" jump suit which was created and modeled by a very talented gal, Anne Mitchell.

Needless to say that a lot of work, time and ingenuity went into each creation offered. Those viewing were "deeply impressed" by the models, their poses and the general gaiety displayed, truly a fun-afternoon!

It was announced that there would be a spaghetti supper, Mar. 20 for the benefit of the 4-H Clubs. All homemakers and their guests were welcomed from Chuluota Knit-Wits.

Hostesses were Mrs. Jesse Knight, home furnishings chair, Mrs. Frances Goodwin, Mrs. Ruth Evans, Blanche Rucker, Mary McCord and Anne Mitchell.

MISS PAULA ANN SEFRIED Sefried-Richardson

Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sefried, 2800 South Park Ave., Sanford, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Paula Ann, to Steve Duayne Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Richardson, 1700 Forest Drive, Sanford. Miss Sefried, born in Mt. Vernon, Ill. is presently attending Seminole High School. She is a member of the D. E. and Para Med Clubs and plans to attend Seminole Junior College.

Rebekahs To Entertain Official At Banquet

By BERTHA SNYDER
Seminole Rebekah Lodge No. 45 met Thursday night with their new corps of officers presiding for the first time.

Mrs. Myrtle Horton, noble grand, opened the meeting in the usual form.

Mrs. Eva Williams was installed as Warden by Mrs. Bertha Snyder, past district deputy president, with Mrs. May Ruben, serving as installing marshal and Mrs. Margaret Heinbuch as installing Chaplain.

The Altar was draped for 30 days in memory of Mrs. Eleanor Marschick, past president of the Rebekah Assembly and secretary of the Assembly for many years.

The lodge voted to send a monetary gift to the I.O.O.F. Educational Fund.

Mrs. Mae Myers read a tribute to Thomas Wiley, founder of the first Odd Fellows Lodge in the United States.

Island Cruise

BEAULA Thornton and Vada Taylor recently enjoyed a seven-day cruise aboard the S.S. Ariadne from Port Everglades, Ft. Lauderdale. Ports of call were a full day unspoiled Cozumel, great for water sports and shopping... two days and a night in Merida, Yucatan, with time to visit the famed ruins at Chichen-Itza and Uxmal and shopping, with the finest Mexican entertainment aboard ship in port and a stop on the way back in new, plush Freeport.

TWO OF THE GOOD COOKS who prepared the delicious roast beef dinner served recently by the Longwood Civic League were Mrs. Jenny Fox (left) and Longwood Councilman Mrs. Agnes Weber. (Ann Riley Photo)

Seminole Heart Sunday Chairman Has Extensive Civic Background

The appointment of Mrs. John B. Woodruff, Maitland, as chairman of the 1971 Heart Sunday appeal in Seminole County was announced by Dr. William H. Harrison, president of the Canaveral Area Heart Association.

A volunteer army of over 500 is being recruited to carry forward the community-wide collection, on the weekend of Heart Sunday, Feb. 28. Each volunteer will call on an average of 20 neighbors distributing heart-saving literature and receiving Heart Fund contributions.

Mrs. Woodruff has been Educational Counselor for Ballis College, Bristol, Va.; Executive Secretary for the TV Assoc., of Bristol, Va.; and State Representative for the Tennessee River Council. She has also served as chairman for the Salvation Army drive, the United Fund, Cancer Society and the TB Christmas Seal drive in Daytona Beach.

She is one of the founders and a present trustee of Memorial Hospital, Ormond Beach and had the responsibility of furnishing and decorating it throughout. She is past president of the Palmist Club, Daytona; past president of Volusia County Federation of Women's Clubs and has served two terms as Community Improvement Chairman and one as Legislative Chairman for the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Woodruff is a past president of the Episcopal Church, women of St. James Parish, Ormond Beach, and is a member of the Women's Committee for the Florida Symphony, the Starbuck Club and Khenet Court.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff are interior decorators and both are members of the Board of Directors of the Canaveral Area Heart Association. Their residence is 2344 Falmouth Road, Maitland. They have been residents of Seminole County for one and one-half years.

Among the new chairman's duties will be that of recruiting a group of district captains to coordinate activities of the

The Queen who was chosen was Theresa Kenis. She was escorted by her husband, Governor George Kenis. First runner-up was Pat Mann who was escorted by Herbert Mann and second runner-up was Bess Massey escorted by her husband, Felix Massey.

Mrs. Kenis will reign over Moose festivities during the coming year. Judges for the coronation of the queen were Jim McKeon, State Director and Mrs. McKeon; Bill Yacks, North Moose of Seminole Legion No. 81; Irene Yacks, College of Regents of DeLand; Evelyn Finley, former Deputy Grand of Daytona Beach; Ed Insko, State Prelate and Ruth Insko, Graduate Regent of Clearwater.

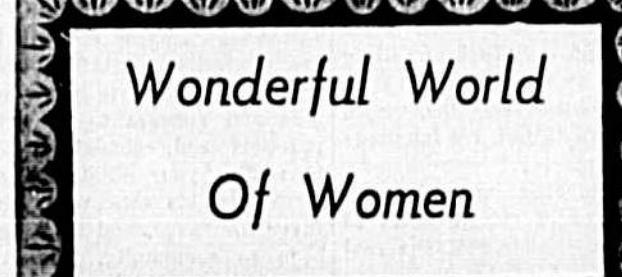

Chairman of the judges was former Governor, Joe Sinko.

College News

Miss Sallie Peterson of Sanford has been named to the Dean's List at Converse College Spartanburg, S. C., for the fall term of the 1970-71 session.

Qualifications for this honor at the 4-year women's college require students to be in the upper 20 per cent of their class academically and to have a grade point ratio of at least 2.0 under the 3.0 system.

Miss Peterson, a senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Peterson Jr.

Bridal Shower Compliments Lucille Glazier

By LIZ MATHIEUX
Miss Lucille Glazier, popular bride-elect of Horace Johnson, was honored with a shower given at the Geneva Community Center on Friday evening by the Meses, Marion Allen, Mary Barnes, Betsy Jo Braddy, Vivian Dunn, Polly Edwards,

Janie Hart, Sue Gibson and Marge Smith. Lucille greeted her guests in a stunning two-piece pantsuit with which she wore a white silk blouse which featured full-bishop's sleeves. Her accessories were corresponding and she wore gold accept jewelry. The hostesses presented her with a lovely corsage of white pompons and red velvet hearts. They also presented the honoree with individual gifts. The Community Center was ablaze with the valentine motif, so popular around the month of February. A bridal background, created by Mrs. Norma Buffington was the focal point of the evening. Miss Glazier sat at a table covered with an imported cloth from Switzerland. The cloth was of a delicate embroidered design and featured an overall silk stripe pattern.

The refreshment table was centered with a lovely arrangement of red carnations, white chrysanthemums and red candles in sterling silver candlesticks. All sterling appointments were used. The table was covered over with a magnificent banquet sized white linen cloth and an overskirt of red net which was swagged and draped with red satin and secured at intervals with bright red satin bows.

A delicate flavored fruit punch was served from an imported lead crystal bowl, on a matching tray. A dainty menu of finger sandwiches, petite mints, assorted nuts, wedding cookies and fruit cookies were served to each guest present. A tiny bridal couple posed shyly from the center of the table further enhancing an already lovely display of party fare.

Miss Patti Johnson, sister of the groom-elect, presented the bride with a ribbon bouquet at the end of the festivities. The wedding is scheduled for 2 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, Feb. 20.

North Orlando Gardeners Review Flower Arranging

By MARY HYATT
The regular meeting of the North Orlando Garden Club was held at the home of Mrs. George Duquette Thursday, with Mrs. Earl Osgood as co-hostess.

Program for the meeting was flower arranging, demonstrated by Mrs. George Duquette and Mrs. Wayne Purrenhage. Mrs. Duquette explained the importance of following the rules as to height, width and balance in putting the arrangement together and selection of the right size of the flowers to be used. The demonstration was a very interesting one and will be of great help to the members in the future.

The North Orlando Garden Club members will display their own creative talents at the March meeting when each

Wonderful World Of Women

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I called a girl for a date and she accepted. I made dinner reservations at a high-class club that features soft lights, music and dancing. I told her I was wearing a black pinstriped suit with light blue shirt and matching tie and handkerchiefs. She said she should dress accordingly.

She lives way out in the opposite direction from where we were going so I sent a taxi to her house to pick her up. When she showed up at my place she was wearing pants, sneakers and a hippie jacket with "peace and love" all over it. I know this girl can dress nicely because I've seen her in nice clothes.

I told her I was sorry but I couldn't take her to the place where I had reservations because they wouldn't let us in the place with her dressed like that. I told her to take her own taxi and with the taxi flying I quickly asked a girl in my apartment if she wanted to go out for dinner. She jumped at the chance, dressed up like a lady, and we had a wonderful evening.

My question: Was I wrong to have sent the taxi to her home? I don't think so, but some other people think I was.

DEAR ME: Since "WHERE" you went was obviously much more important to you than "WITH WHOM" you went, you weren't wrong.

DEAR ABBY: About 18 months ago my husband passed away and I sold one of my suits (almost new) to one of the neighbors for $10. Just the other day, this neighbor called me and asked me to take the suit back and give her the $10 back. So I did. She is supposed to be one of my best friends. This upset my whole family. What is your opinion about this?

DISCOURAGED: I think your friend should have been more than a little bit disappointed in your suit.

DEAR MOTHER: The mother you referred to in your letter needs more help than a handout. She is the one who is the problem.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the Indiana Mother whose child had a speech defect and was teased by the other children. You recommended a speech therapist.

My question: Was I wrong to have sent the taxi to her home? I don't think so, but some other people think I was.

Jacoby On Bridge Jacoby and Son

John Pickett, of Pittsburgh writes in part, "In one of your articles you suggested that squeezes might develop if given an opportunity. At a neighborhood men's duplicate club I found myself in the only optimistic set to trump contracts. We got there after aggressive bidding. Too aggressive on my part. I fear."

"East was rather ill-advised to double since he didn't really have a heart lead, but probably East expected to set me regard less of what was opened. West opened 16 of hearts, I won it with my queen and ran off five club tricks. Two diamonds were thrown from dummy and West let go the seven of hearts as one of his three discards. East, dropped the device of spades and a heart."

other heart go and had to check the king of spades. After that I was a simple matter to cash one of dummy's top hearts and then throw East in with the ace of spades. You consider this hand most interesting. We are due. Mr. Pickett did overbid when he jumped to three trump. East's double was doubtful and it gave declarer a chance to operate. You just can't make a slam when you lose the first two tricks.

West's discard of the seven of hearts was just a very careless play. He would surely have afforded one diamond and two spade discards and he should have visualized the danger in taking East and had to make one more discard. He could not afford the luxury of letting an ace score.

Worry Clinic By Dr. Crane

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

CASE #577: Lucy B., aged 39, is frustrated by her university woman's club.

"Dr. Crane," she said, "I took a couple of courses in psychology at college.

"But it wasn't practical and down-to-earth like your lecture tonight.

"For I never understood it at college.

"But you make psychology so simple and useful, I wish I could be back in college, studying your textbook."

"Crane has a knack for selecting material that appeals to the interests of college students. . . . Students like it because they learn things without knowing."

"That last sentence shows an emphasis on the definite photo that, as pointed out by Birukow, is part of their circadian rhythm."

"If all scientists (including physicians) would spend three months at door-to-door selling or serve an apprenticeship as a newspaper reporter, they would learn to talk the language of the customer!"

Dryden Press warned would be writers of college texts to please remember that the real "consumer" of textbooks are students, aged 18 to 25.

Dryden thus urged the use of short words, instead of scientific polysyllables (often employed to impress the professor's Ph.D. colleagues).

But some of those polysyllabic professors still criticize me, saying I am ruining the prestige of university psychologists by using two-syllable words.

most interesting and profitable course I have had in college. . . . My main reason for citing these simple endorsements by outstanding psychology professors is not to bolster my own ego but to show that if writing is slanted to meet the actual hunger of readers, they will respond remarkably.

At the risk of being charged with putting myself on the back, I shall cite the specific emphasis of Dr. W. F. Vaughn's compliment, after using my textbook with Harvard students:

"Crane has a knack for selecting material that appeals to the interests of college students. . . . Students like it because they learn things without knowing."

Horoscope Forecast

SATURDAY, FEB. 20, 1971

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Now you have a good chance to put into effect policy decisions which you recently decided are the course of action which you wish to follow and operate in the future. Get down to fundamentals and do the actual work required. Join others in harmonious accord. Be practical.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You can plan the future in fine detail now and can make it infinitely more successful through. Quickly put new course in action. Give aid to one who comes to you for help and you also benefit indirectly.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Look to good friends for new ideas and areas where you can meet with greater success. Showing friendship in a novel way brings good results. Stop being so terrible.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Concentrating on hard-line tasks with greater efficiency and speed is wise today. A big help will come to you from your life so that you feel less frustrated in the future. Show gratitude.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A discussion with associates over how to make your mutual projects pay off more handsomely is good today. Show a true sense of cooperation. Handle your affairs with exactness.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) Start on these duties that improve relationships with others and you have a new slant on bigger earnings. When you plan for better things, this helps to make you feel better.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) You have to make the effort to be with good friends to the end of the amusements you like. Put aside tensions that are unbearable. Tonight they will seem as easy as falling off a log.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) A good day to get work done at home. You have been procrastinating too long. Put things in order. Anything you do now can be handled well now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) You are now able to finish many of those duties imposed upon you during the busy week. Don't forget to shop, visit those who are ill. Have fun with congenials in the evening.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get busy and work on those financial affairs that are most pressing at this time. Listen to the advice a business expert who helps others wheels rolling in right direction.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can get about as you desire today, but don't impose duties on others which you do not wish to do.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are able to gain aims if you are more practical and show you have good common sense. Get into the general work quickly. Show that you are a good Samaritan and assist those who are having trouble.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Contacting those friends who are serious and can help you to attain finest aims brings good results right now. Stop being so much to yourself and get out socially where you can have a good time, meet interesting people.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those delightful young people who will often be tempted to give up on something too easily. Teach early the importance of perseverance despite any stumbling blocks that may be in the way, since there is never a better time and absolutely smoothly. Ideal clear for whatever profession requires being diplomatic, and there is fine ability to organize well. Sporty and energetic.

We The Women: By Betty Canary

"Dear Betty: Don't you think the girls who have nothing better to do than squawk about women's rights are nuts? Let's be honest."

What I think is that some of the most vicious women haters are women.

Why else would we hear so many women say, "My best friends are men." Or, "I don't trust women," or, "Finally, women simply bore me to death."

A woman who makes such remarks obviously thinks of herself as belonging to a third sex. Unwilling to identify with females, barred by accident of birth from the male group, she seems to imply she's a member of a supersex.

Only someone completely in different to the humiliations and degradations many women have suffered and still suffer, can brush off women in his groups as nuts or freaks.

Supersex is equally severe when making condescending remarks about her more reserved sisters. She usually has a battery of lies ready for any woman who prefers a talk about child-rearing to a heated discussion of the Great National Product.

Supersex is seemingly blind to advertising campaigns designed to depict women as a simple loud-mouthed creature.

especially those women who list themselves "housewife" on income tax forms.

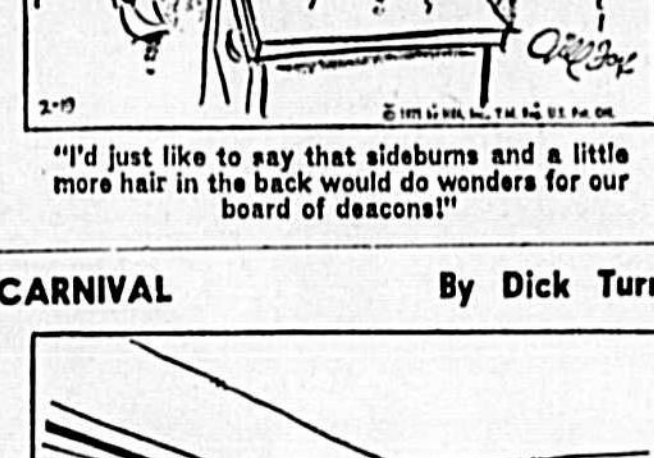

She's deaf to any suggestion that women should collectively demand equal wages for equal work.

Supersex blandly accuses herself that those problems belong to "those women." And, fortunately, they aren't quite her type.

I wouldn't go so far as to brand her a turncoat.

I wonder if perhaps she is merely afraid of being a complete woman.

Putting Things In Order

In this age of medicine, social security and homes for the aged, sometimes people forget an important part of growing old — tranquility!

Yes, tranquility and peace are just as important in growing old gracefully as sufficient insurance or all the other means with which we show our concern for the elderly.

Have you ever noticed that old people have a knack of putting things in order? In fact, they need everything tidy, neat and sure. Certainly their greatest need is for peace and security — but this can come only when they are at peace with God!

If we want to reap the harvest of friendship with God in our old age, then we must cultivate our relation with Him — when we are young and able. Regular church attendance and worship is your assurance of peace and tranquility during your own gentle lengthening years. It will be a heavenly reward and one which you cannot, will not, want to miss.

TV Previews

By JACK GAVER
NEW YORK (UPI) — Co-median Dick Van Dyke will be seen in one of his rare television specials on NBC Wednesday night as the new week on the networks is devoted mainly to the regular programming. Bill Cosby has an NBC special on Tuesday.

ABC has a special on the 300-plane, contemporary, Monday, and two portions of the Professional Golfers Association tourney on Saturday. (Times EST)

FRIDAY
Returning "The High Chaparral" to the air after preempting it with specials for seven weeks, NBC gives the program a two-hour space instead of the usual hour, 7:30-9:30 p. m. In "The New Lion of Somalia," Gilbert Roland guest stars at surprise heir to the Montoya ranch in Mexico as the late Don Sebastian Montoya (the story covers for the death last year of Frank Sinatra, actor who had the Montoya role from the beginning of the series).

The CBS movie at 9 screens the second half of "Battle of the Bulge."
Because of the extra time given "The High Chaparral," NBC's "The Name of the Game" starts at 9:30 instead of 8:30, thus preempting "Strange Report." The fare is "The Savage Eye," with regular Robert Stack in the main assignment. Guest stars are Pete Duel, Jim Hutton and Marianna Hill in a drama about investigation of the filming of a documentary on ecology that has stirred trouble in lumber country.

SATURDAY
"Mission: Impossible" on CBS at 7:30 has an episode about a man who has defected behind the Iron Curtain with the formula for a lethal nerve gas.
NBC's Andy Williams hour at 7:30 features Jonathan Winters, the Lennon Sisters, Jo Anne Worley, Charlie Callas and the Friends of Distinction.
NBC's movie at 8:30 screens "The President's Analyst," starring James Coburn and Geoffrey Cambridge in a comedy about a psychiatrist who becomes the target of spies because he has acquired vital secrets in working with the president.
"Mannix" on CBS at 10 has an episode in which a star-woman swimmer is confined to a wheelchair after a car accident and is the target of threatening phone calls.

SUNDAY
ABC preempts "Issues and Answers (1:30) to allow its "Directions" program an hour in which to repeat, 1-2, "Flatboat Man," drama with music about Abe Lincoln's early days in New Salem, Ill.
"NBC Experiment in Television" at 5 repeats "The Cube," surrealist comedy about young man trapped in

Perfection Not In The Stars

Karen's Weak Spot: Coleslaw

By ROGER DOUGHTY
NEW YORK (NEA) — You sort of have to feel sorry for Karen Black. True, she does have a few things going for her — like a beautifully put-together body and a fantastic face, plus the New York Film Critics Best Supporting Actress Award she won recently for her work in "Five Easy Pieces," but — and as every girl knows, it's a big but — she hasn't got everything.

"It's true," Karen admitted the other day, blushing a bit. "I have a terrible time making good coleslaw."

See — nobody's perfect. Karen had paid her dues and all that, but she was pretty much unknown to the general public when people started picking upon "Five Easy Pieces" as the picture to see. She says it was all in the stars.

"The forces of the stars on your genes when you're born determine what will happen for the rest of your life," she says, sounding as if she believes it.

Well, maybe, but Karen also admits that she was pretty lucky in being in the right place at the right time — or maybe that was in the stars, too — when producer-writer-director Bob Rafelson was looking for the right girl to play Rayette, the hash house seductress, opposite Nicholson in "Five Easy Pieces."

"Right now," Karen admitted, sounding nothing at all like the drawing Rayette as she munched a breadstick in a midtown Manhattan restaurant, "I'm having an awfully good time. Let's face it, any girl would like to pick up the paper and read that she's pretty and talented and all that. It's a real ego trip."

Having had her ego nicely inflated by "Pieces," Karen hopes to become almost impossible when the public gets to see "Drive, he said," which Nicholson directed. She'll follow that with "Scraping Bottom," a drug epic starring George Segal, with the possible exception of Nicholson, maybe the hottest actor around, thanks to "Loving." "The Owl and the Pussy-cat" and "Where's Papa?" In between there, somewhere, she managed to squeeze in a flick called "Dealer," in which she co-stars with Gene Hackman and Kris Kristofferson.

But that's Karen the actress. Karen the girl is a lot more interesting.

"People like to know what I do when I'm not acting," Karen acknowledges. "O.K., I like to laze around, write songs, play the piano and read science fiction. I love music — Beethoven was the best and the Beatles are right in there, but I don't want to turn off any guys who dig Mozart and the Bee Gees. We could be very compatible."

BUD CORT plays the title role in "Brewster McCloud," opening Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre.

'Brewster McCloud' Featured At Drive-In

"Brewster McCloud" opens Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre for a four-day showing. Companion feature is "RPM," in color and starring Anthony Quinn and Ann-Margret. This program has the "R" rating.

In the title role of "Brewster McCloud," Bud Cort is making his second consecutive starring role appearance for MGM this year having completed "The Traveling Executioner" earlier in 1970.

Man's fascination with flying seems older than history itself. Mythology tells us that Phaethon, the son of Apollo, decided to drive his father's sun chariot through the sky to disastrous ends. The Greeks also recorded the legends of Daedalus and Icarus in this area. Through the years the list of flight fanatics has included the British King Bladud, Nero's magician Simon, the Saracen of Constantinople and Leonardo da Vinci, who, in 1505, set down mankind's first elaborate blueprint on the mechanism of flight.

It is ironic that Houston, the home of NASA and control center of this nation's space program, should be the site of man's latest flight adventure.

Film director Robert Altman, fresh on the success of his hit movie "M*A*S*H," selected Houston as the locale for MGM's comedy "Brewster McCloud," a modern fairy tale about a young man with an aviation fixation.

The story line requires the film's star, Bud Cort, to actually fly in the vast regions of Houston's giant Astrodome sports arena. The effect could have been achieved through opticals, but Altman and his production people decided that this approach would only lessen the film's ultimate denouement.

You just haven't lived until you've sampled some of the fine foods at PINECREST INN. Take advantage of the specials on Monday and Friday nights . . . good old Southern fried chicken and crisp fish and chips. In the event you're having dessert problems for any occasion, just call baker, RAY CROOME, who will gladly come to your rescue.

Lots of goings-on at THE LUI CLUB, Sanford's most complete night spot. Your favorite beverages are expertly Saturday nights. LONNIE BROWN, a swinging, singing guitarist takes the limelight. He also appears during the Friday cocktail hour.

For years, FREDDIE'S has kept packing 'em in . . . the beautiful people, that is. Having the reputation as Central Florida's oldest and finest steak house, the popular spot is also renowned for chicken and seafood. Deluxe entertainment is featured nightly in the Lamplighter Lounge.

Now if you really are in the mood for the full uptown treatment, then THE UNROOM at TOP O' CITIZENS, was designed just for you. Monday through Friday nights, DANNY'S OPERA, featuring DANNY PATTISHALL, holds the revelers captive. This is where it's all at . . . food, entertainment and atmosphere.

Pamper yourself, more than just a little, and head for MICHAEL'S, the current talk of the town where the very best of food is your dining pleasure. Choose your entree from the tempting list on the bill of fare, help yourself from the bountiful salad bar and top your meal with one of the luscious desserts featured here.

Shades of the frontier days are reflected daily and nightly at LAKE MONROE INN, the historical landmark which has captured the hearts of patrons for nearly 40 years. Food here is the finest, drinks are great and the nightly entertainment is packed with action. They all keep returning to absorb the excellent features of the inn.

BETTY AND BILL HART are still serving the high quality food at REMLEY FAMILY RESTAURANT, during the Incheon and dinner hours, from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday. Closed on Saturday. The Remley swings open its doors on Sunday from 12-8 p.m. Prepared with a home cooked flair, all food items are "delish."

Discover distinctive dining today, if you haven't already at any of the four dining spots operated under HOUSE OF BEEF chain. You'll further discover plush surroundings, excellent cuisine and super service at popular prices.

Live it up before it's too late at Sanford's HOLIDAY INN where the HOUSE OF STEAK offers deluxe dining facilities seven days a week. Also the cozy lounge is open seven days a week and during the daily cocktail hour, hors d'oeuvres are served free. Just in case you need catering services, Holiday Inn is your host with the most.

An evening at SEBASTIAN'S DINNER THEATER is just what the doctor ordered. Here you'll eat, drink and be merry in high fashion and be treated to a highly entertaining one act play, straight from Broadway. Reservations are necessary and currently appearing is the comedy mystery, "A Shot in the Dark".

OUR SIDE OF THE GAP

By KATHY NIBLACK
Have you ever had one of those weeks when nothing seems to go right? Well, gang, this has been one of those weeks for me! And I hope it doesn't show too much in this column.

TOM CONRAD and Judy Norman are performing an experiment with colored water in beakers to make actual working thermometers. This experiment will give the principles of contraction and expansion. Not in the picture but overlooking are teacher Mr. Henry Miller and team eight. (Marilyn Gordon Photo)

Well, how are YOU? Has this been a good week for you? I really hope so!

At this point in the game I really would like to hear from you about what you think of this column. If I'm going stale (if I was ever fresh to begin with), I'd like to know about it so I can do something to correct it. This is your column, too, you know — it's OUR Side of the Gap, not My Side of the Gap! Let me hear any ideas you may have.

A big congratulations goes out this week to Maxine Kaffler, who was crowned Homecoming Queen for SEMINOLE JUNIOR COLLEGE this year. Maxine is very active at SJC — she's captain of the cheerleaders, and a representative to the Student Association. And she's also very pretty! Maxine was crowned at the Homecoming Dance held last Thursday at the Sanford Garden Club.

I'm glad to see that SJC has gone back to being normal — they have a FEMALE queen this time!! Congratulations again, Maxine.

I hope that lots of you were able to attend the POW-MIA Rally last Sunday at Eola Park. From what I hear, there was a big crowd there. There seems to be a great deal of interest right now about our prisoners of war — lots of petitions going around. Do me a favor, and if you get the chance to sign one of these petitions — sign it. You never know what repercussions and effects these petitions may have.

Well, believe it or not, FLORIDA TECHNOLOGICAL UNIVERSITY has gone and achieved another "first." The news came out this week that students will be able to "Pre-register" for the first time this next quarter. Most colleges do have pre-registration, but this will be the first time for FTU. Graduate and Senior students will be pre-registering on March 1, Juniors on March 2, Sophomores on March 3, and Freshmen (poor things!) on March 4. The official class schedules and fee assessments will be mailed out on March 5, and payment of tuition and fees will take place March 8-19. The Spring quarter begins on March 29.

Congratulations to another Homecoming queen — this time it's Patty Gray, who is FTU's queen for this year. Patty is a graduate of Lyman High, where she was very active, and she's very active at FTU. Sponsored by Alpha Tau Omega, she was crowned on Saturday night at the big Homecoming Dance which climaxed the four days of FTU's first Homecoming. Formerly with "Our Generation," an all girl band, she sings with "Everyday People," a local recording group.

The FTU Drama Department will present eight one-act plays this quarter — and the entire production will be student directed and produced. Dates for the production are February 24-27 at 8 p.m. each night in the Theatre Tent. FTU students will be admitted free with their ID cards.

Would you be interested in helping out with the children of Migrant Workers in Zellwood? Sister Kathleen, assistant director of the Newman Center in Winter Park, is interested. Along with co-organizers Jim Bingham of SJC, David Pittarte of BOLLINS COLLEGE, and Bernard Jarman of BISHOP MOORE HIGH SCHOOL, Sister Kathleen hopes to enter Zellwood with a team of 30-40 seriously interested college students, who will help set up and maintain a sports program for the children. Anyone who is in college (or of college age) interested in helping people and able to donate two hours of time either on Saturday morning or afternoon every week is eligible. Donations of sports equipment of all kinds are also welcome. The effort, called "Project Care," will begin on Feb. 27. Interested persons are urged to call Sister Kathleen at the Newman Student Center from 9 a.m.-11 p.m. The phone number is 644-3625.

We've received word from New York City that Lyman grad Dennis Hearn, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hearn of Altamonte Springs, and his local folk-rock group MERLIN are making good in the big city. They have signed a recording contract with RCA and have a record coming out that will feature one of Dennis' original songs. Also in the group are Wayne Patterson, Al Leonard, and Greg Deutsch. Best of luck to the group. Some of you may remember Dennis from the area coffeehouse, "The Key."

David J. MacDonald of Sarasota, a student at Sanford NAVAL ACADEMY, has been awarded a Georgia Military College Scholarship for September, 1971, in the amount of $600 per year for two years study. While at SNA, David has been on the Honor Roll, received a medal as Outstanding Member of the Band, and holds rank of Ensign.

Linda Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Lee of 113 W. 15th St., Sanford, is a Junior at Georgetown College and has qualified for the "B Honor Roll" during the first semester of the current academic year.

Here's something interesting that I'd like to share with you. It's a little surprising, considering it comes from someone on THEIR Side of the Gap. It's very appropriate for our generation. "We must dare to think 'unthinkable' thoughts. We must learn to explore all the options and possibilities that confront us in a complex and rapidly changing world. We must learn to welcome and not to fear the voices of dissent. We must dare to think about 'unthinkable' things because when things become unthinkable, thinking stops and action becomes mindless." James William Fulbright, "Speech in the Senate," 1964.

That's all for this week. Stay cool, hang loose, and let me hear from you. O.K.!

By PENNY FENCE
Q: Did Audie Murphy really blow all the wealth he made off his old movies?—D.S., Landisville, Pa.
A: Murphy apparently saved enough to keep his own California-based production company, FIPCO, on its feet and grinding out low-budget Westerns. A recent altercation with a local animal trainer, during which Murphy was accused of assault and subsequently acquitted, however, helped neither his pocketbook nor his image.

Q: We've heard that Don Grady is leaving "My Three Sons" at the end of this season. Why?—O.J., Tacoma.
A: Grady apparently feels he has outgrown the role created for him 11 years ago on "Sons." Off camera, he operates his own music publishing company and writes songs. Most of his friends feel he'd rather devote his time to his primary interest, music.

Q: On the special about the making of "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," I noticed that a Johnny Crawford was listed in the credits. Is that the same Johnny Crawford who used to be the youngster on TV's "The Rifleman"?—Y.K., Enterprise, Kan.
A: One and the same. The former series star is the brother of Robert L. Crawford, who wrote and directed the NBC special. Johnny was associate producer.

co-starring in a movie, "Dusty and Sweets McGee."
Q: I read that the Jackson Five will be millionaires by the time they are 21 years old. Is that true?—G.R., Kent, Wash.
A: Most likely, if their popularity continues at the same speed its going right now. The brothers, ranging in age from 11 years to 19, have grossed over $500,000 in concert appearances. Their records have been in the top ten frequently in recent months. If the oldest Jackson Fiver doesn't hit the million mark by his 21st birthday, it seems pretty certain the youngest will.

A successful TV series is successful only as long as people are watching, and many a former TV celebrity will tell you that those viewers are fickle. Next season the whole Partridge clan could find themselves in need of a new show. Shirley Jones, however, insists upon being active at all times, and says she'd love to appear in a movie while the series is on vacation.
Q: I've noticed the name Fernando Lamas on the directing credits of several TV shows lately and wonder if he is the same Fernando Lamas who used to act and who is married to Esther Williams?—J.L., Binghamton.
A: One and the same, but Lamas STILL acts, contends that he is first an actor and second a TV director.
Q: Does Maurice Chevalier ever appear on TV?—T.G., Hartford, Ct.
A: Only in old movies. The charming Frenchman retired to write his memoirs a year ago, has ventured into the spotlight only once since—to record the title tune of a new Disney movie, "The Aristocats." Chevalier says he agreed to do the film out of respect for his late friend, Walt Disney.
Q: We know Engelbert Humperdinck changed his name from Gerry Dorsey, but why did he pick Engelbert Humperdinck?—O.J., Enterprise, Kan.
A: He chose a famous classical moniker belonging to the composer of "Hansel and Gretel." Perhaps he felt the new name would give the future a story-book-like ending.

YOUTH BEAT

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

By ROGER DOUGHTY

IN THE BACKGROUND—You all recall Tony Burrows, lead singer for White Plains, Brotherhood of Man, Edison Lighthouse, etc., so you'll probably be interested to know that Tony's voice is playing a big part in the success of the latest Elton John LP, Tumbleweed Connection. Tony did the background vocals on several of the cuts (including our favorite, "My Father's Gun") and this is one record where the background vocals make a big difference. With all his talent, can't he much longer before Tony makes it big on his own.

Tony Burrows

TAKING OFF—If you can't beat 'em, join 'em seems to be the motto of the Osmonds (formerly known as the Osmond Brothers) who have one of the hottest singles in the country in "One Bad Apple." The record is No. 1 on a lot of stations and those who have seen the Osmonds on TV (Andy Williams had them on all the time, before he got so chummy with the Cookie Bear) are wondering how come they sound so much like the Jackson Five all of a sudden. It could be because the Five were named group of the year by Rolling Stone and Billboard and just about everybody else and sold more than four million records last year, or maybe the Osmonds just found some soul all of a sudden. Either way, it's a good record.

BAD BREAKS—Youth Beat is more than saddened to learn that Tom Fogerty, John's brother, is leaving the Creedence Clearwater Revival, although nobody can knock him for wanting to spend more time with his wife and four kids. But Tom had an awful lot to do with everything that made Creedence the top LP-selling group of 1970 (he was the leader of Tom and the Blue Velvets, which eventually turned out to be Creedence) and things aren't going to be the same without him.

COAST CLATTER—In case you groove on gossip and all that, our Los Angeles spies tell us that when Dave Mason and Cass Elliott did their musical thing on the Coast recently, Barbara Streisand showed up escorted by Ryan O'Neil. Can it be much longer before Elliott Gould runs off with Ali MacGraw?

IN THE COUNTRY—Who says country music is only for the sticks? Country star Bill Anderson (who hit the charts hard with "Where Have All Our Heroes Gone?") and has a new LP out bearing the same title) has one of the best track records in show business, having packed houses in Boston, Newark, Philadelphia, Toronto and (trust us on this one) London, where he played the Palladium. Cash Box magazine recently called Bill "the spokesman of the silent majority," which may or may not be true, but Youth Beat found him to be the kind of guy who likes to hear other people's viewpoints and doesn't try to shove his down anybody's throat.

COLLEGE SCENE—The trend in colleges may well be starting in Unity, Maine, where Lawrence Reichel, a former New York business executive, now heads Unity College. The school places greater weight on leadership qualities than on grades and uses management procedures straight off Wall Street. Reichel says he finds there is little connection between a student's grades and his achievement in later life, so he'd rather have students with average marks who have shown their leadership qualities in athletics, debating, the drama club or the school paper than the kid who kept his nose in the book and never learned that much about what was going on around him.

Questions And Answers

Q: Please give me some information on that "darling of the Serutan Set," Lee J. Cobb. Where is his home, his birthplace and his age? Has he a family?—L.D., Hartford.
A: While the "Young Lawyers" star has graced the scene for many years as a top talent, no doubt he'd growl loudly to hear himself identified with senior citizenry. He's a vivacious active sportsman who not only has three grown children from a former marriage, but two sons, ages 8 and 10, from his present wife. Cobb was born in New York City, now resides in Woodland Hills, Calif. He is 60.
Q: Will Shirley Jones make movies again now that she has

Check New Appliances

By LOUISE L. GILL
Home Economics Agent

If your new electrical appliance doesn't work as well as you'd hope, check it out before you return it. Often the reason for the problem lies in the way you're using the appliance. Check the manufacturer's instructions first of all.

Make it a never-to-be-broken rule — always refer to the manufacturer's booklets and labels before you use the appliance. That new blender, toaster or iron may not work the same as the old one.

Then, file the instructions, guarantees and other papers where you can find them easily. Sometimes low voltage will result in slow heating or improper performance of an appliance. Before blaming the manufacturer get a dependable electrician or your power supplier to check the wiring and voltage.

Be sure you set your appliance on a firm, level surface to prevent any tipping. Allow plenty of room around any appliance that gets hot and, if necessary, protect the surface it sets on.

If you're still having problems with your new appliance, contact the dealer or the service agency he recommends. However, if the problem can't be solved locally, call or write the manufacturer giving complete details.

Many new appliances come equipped with a three-prong plug which provides a built-in grounding wire. Never remove the third prong. Use an adapter if your outlets aren't equipped for this type of plug.

Always attach the ground wire to the face-plate screw.

Azaleas Need Lot Of Water

By DAVID DEVOLI
Extension Agent

Soils where azaleas are to be planted should be abundantly supplied with water and organic material. If the soil is not naturally well supplied with organic matter, then acid peat or mulch, compost, leaf mold, or other decaying organic matter should be mixed with the soil before the plants are set. Frequently, the soil around new houses, brick particularly, is contaminated with lime in the mortar spilled from the walls or foundations. This contaminated soil should be removed and the bed filled with soil which is acid in reaction. In addition, it is highly desirable to conserve moisture, moderate soil temperature, and stimulate growth with a mulch of decaying leaves or other organic material on surface of the soil of the azalea bed.

Since azaleas are very shallow rooted, they require a great deal of water during the periods of blooming and new growth. However, they will not tolerate a waterlogged soil.

To promote and maintain healthy, vigorous growth it is usually necessary to fertilize regularly. Acid forming fertilizers such as a 6-6-6, 6-4-8 or 8-8-8 are satisfactory. Apply the fertilizer every 2 months at the rate of 1/2 lb. to a good sized plant or 2 lbs. per 100 sq. ft. per application.

Pruning is not necessary except to keep the plants shapely. If practiced, it should be done as soon as the flowering is over and before the new growth emerges. Pinching back half hardened, new growth will promote heavier flowering because of increased branching.

'Food Factories' Seen

By FRANK J. JASA
Agricultural Agent

Present day agriculture is certainly more an industry than a way of life that use to be. Now agricultural engineers are telling us about food factories that may well be waiting in the wings as the farms of the future. In fact, a University of Florida engineer predicts that by the turn of the century, we will have actual factories where food is grown, harvested and packaged in one operation.

These food factories will be enclosed on partially enclosed areas where food can be grown with almost complete environmental control. Temperature, humidity and water supply will all be controlled. Also in this food factory, there will be no need for pesticides. Insects and plant diseases will be kept out of the indoor environment. This food factory model takes advantage of the natural agricultural processes and tries to enhance them and thus can now start working with mother nature instead of attempting to use technology to overpower her.

We have our own "Fickle Finger of Fate" award to present . . . to the Sanford Jay-Cees.

While there certainly must be other organizations which will be late in getting their Christmas Trees Sale underway in December, our local group has a very early and prominent display on Hwy. 17-92 . . . right now!

Nah, it couldn't be that they're a little late in getting down this past season's sign . . . (maybe waiting for the Easter Bunny to give 'em a hand, eh?)

We'd rather not print the name of the organization . . . at least, not right now, but . . . when you ask for help from the community, and it is offered . . . never, but no never do you turn down the gift!

We're told that draperies were presented. Brand new . . . just what was needed, along with lots of other needed items . . . but two of the directors took it upon themselves to return them to the donors, saying that "they didn't fit."

Well, how would they know . . . since they were never taken out of the original wrappings.

Herold Kastner said it is this morning's meeting of the Chamber Road and Bridge committee . . . "We ought to have a banquet honoring Ed Mueller, Secretary for the Department of Transportation."

I agree . . . a real strong ally for Seminole County and an individual who's doing a tremendous job for the entire state.

Couldn't have been happier . . . the small part we played in Saturdays' successful Valentine Ball. And can you imagine . . . almost $1,000 raised by these King Contestants! All for Seminole County Mental Health Clinic.

Congratulations to one and all.

How does Flip Wilson say it? "What you see is what you get" . . . or something like that . . .

Well, you folks out in Sunland Estates better ante up or you ain't gonna see. Talking about that $10 membership into the improvements association, which also includes the street lighting.

Understand that there are too many of you delinquent and that the lights will be turned off as of March 1, unless . . .

Get into your bucket of bolts and take a tour throughout the county . . . I mean right now, neighbors. The azaleas are in full bloom . . . the prettiest sight south of that famous line . . .

Juvenile Center Site Confab Set

By MARION BETHEA

Following last week's marathon agenda, County Commissioners face a relatively brief session tomorrow.

County Planner David Farr will give a report relative to the new juvenile detention center proposed by voters in the November referendum. Proposal is to locate the center on county property adjacent to the present Agricultural Center.

Road Supt. J. C. Lavender will report upon improved road patching methods. Chairman Greg Drummond had suggested that the county utilize a hot patch as opposed to the currently utilized cold patch, which Drummond contends necessitates constant re-doing.

There will be a decision relative to the acceptability of aluminum wire in electrical systems. At last week's meeting, it was pointed out that the county electrical board had recommended the use of aluminum alloy due to the consistently rising cost of copper. Commissioner Sid Vihlen Jr. said that he is personally opposed to the use of the aluminum, but would vote for it since the electrical board had ascertained its safety and deemed it feasible.

The architect for the new courthouse will give a report upon the clerk of the court and the County Commission offices change order. James F. White will appear before the commission to discuss the access of Lake Harney Circle.

Lavender will give a report upon road litter regulations and removal methods.

A narcotics raid Saturday in Casselberry netted arrests of four youths ranging in age from 17 to 20, according to records at Seminole County sheriff's office.

County vice squad agents charged the quartet after a raid at 310 Grandview Drive.

Those arrested included Danny Thomas Ziss, 20, of 310 Grandview Drive; Robert C. Baldwin, 18, of 2060 Linden Road, Winter Park; Theodore D. Weber, 17, of 603 Kern Avenue, Altamonte Springs, and Roger Webb, 18, Route 1, Longwood.

Ziss and Baldwin were booked on possession and sale of narcotic charges and jailed in lieu of $10,000 bond each. Weber and Webb were charged with possession of marijuana and jailed in lieu of $1,000 bond each.

A fifth person was charged by county vice agents late Friday afternoon, when a 16-year-old youth was charged with possession of marijuana at Oviedo High School.

Vihlen also brought out that a new Orlando regional airport is being considered for an area near Mount Dora and he pointed out that a good airport already

Suspect Is Identified In Seacrist Murder

Police Search For Man Based On A Sketch

By BILL SCOTT

Sanford police are investigating a clue that may lead to the identity of the murderer of a 79-year-old recluse, whose body was found Feb. 10 by police investigating the man's prolonged disappearance.

Chief Ben Butler this morning said a former Seacrist man, whose name he did not reveal, was being investigated in the slaying death of John Seacrist.

Chief Butler stated the man resembles the pencil sketch drawn by police acting on advice of residents living in the 2418 Cedar Avenue area, home of Seacrist.

A drawing has been made up by police depicting the facial characteristics of a man observed by several residents going in and out of the Seacrist home.

Butler added the man under investigation is presently out of state, leaving Sanford about the time Seacrist reportedly went into seclusion.

The chief also admitted the suspect had lived in the same neighborhood as Seacrist before he left Florida.

Police investigators, upon their discovery of the dead man, also listed the loss of the man's wallet and his 1968 Comet car. Both items still have not been located.

Telephone wires in the Seacrist house also had been cut and the doors were locked.

Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce road and bridge committee this morning indicated it would offer help to the Seminole County Commission in obtaining state and federal help to cope with traffic bottlenecks resulting from the high use of roads leading to Interstate I-4, and SR 436 intersection and U.S. 17-92 and SR 436 intersection.

These intersections, according to Chairman Douglas Stenstrom, are in need of help in the way of clearances or something similar to eliminate the traffic congestion.

The committee also discussed other road topics, including the secondary road improvements needed along SR 419 from Five Points to Oviedo and an east-west road as an access to Florida Technological University.

John Krider, chamber manager, mentioned that Sanford residents pay more taxes to the county than all other incorporated cities within the county put together. "We should have a voice in secondary county roads as well as primary roads," Krider added.

Krider said that the new Osteen bridge construction will be let to contract some time in 1971-72 fiscal year and added that the U.S. Coast Guard already has approved the permit for the new span, which is to be constructed by the state.

Sidney Vihlen Jr., committee member and county commissioner, said he would like to see the group recommend to the County Commission, State Department of Transportation and Legislature means by which those bodies can possess greater means of revenue. "We have asked the state to consider a two-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax with one-half cent being returned to the cities," Vihlen said.

Vihlen also brought out that a new Orlando regional airport is being considered for an area near Mount Dora and he pointed out that a good airport already

Fireworks Expected At City Meet Tonight

Although not on the agenda furnished to the news media during the weekend, some fireworks may spark at tonight's Sanford City Commission meeting when a request is made to annex property not contiguous with the city boundaries.

This was disclosed this morning by Mayor Lee P. Moore, who said that a property developer has requested his holdings be made a part of the city but the area in question is at least 1,100 feet outside the city limits near the Idylwild area.

If the commission elects to take in the area in question, it would amount to Sanford taking a leaf from the notebook of several South Seminole municipalities, notably Altamonte Springs, and annexing property along highways in a so-called strip fashion.

Other agenda items tonight include request to lease the old experiment station on Celery Avenue, appointments to the Sanford Industrial Commission, hear a report from the city manager regarding flashing signs within the city.

Clackers Clack Up Cracker

(Quack-Quack)

By ANN RILEY

LONGWOOD — Saturday night a 61-year-old resident apparently had it as far as "clackers" are concerned. Three boys (11, 12 and 13) were playing in one youngster's front yard on Hunt Road. One of the youths was demonstrating his skill with the "clackers," a current fad, when Joseph Miele, suddenly appeared and allegedly attempted to choke the three boys, beginning with the clacker expert.

Parents of the children swore out warrants on assault charges for Miele, who lives two houses away from the scene of the incident.

Miele was picked up by Patrolman William Connell and incarcerated in the city jail.

Bond has been set at $300, and trial on the "clacker affair" is set for Municipal Court March 8. The public is invited.
