This is one of the snapshots from our vacation trip. Friends ask why I made this the frontpiece in my album rather than that shot of the bald crest of Mt. Marcy - or the telescopic close-up of the Old Man of the Mountain.

Sure, I know this scene is commonplace. I saw a hundred villages with their white steeples peering above the trees and their comfortable old houses nestled around the church. And each one had a pond with lily pads and birches guarding its shore.

But this picture says more than all the others. It speaks not just of beauty and natural wonder... it tells of a good land populated by a great people. It reminds me of God... and of my neighbor. It whispers that all I cherish can endure for generations.

The landmarks of a great people proudly point to Faith. The Church belongs to the center of our life. But only you and I can keep it there!

Let Kids Handle This

No one has to be reminded that something new is being added this year to the usual adjustments every school child must make.

It's the challenge of adjusting to racial integration.

This year, integration is for real. It is no longer a matter of personal choice or opinion. It's the law, period. It is being stepped-up in schools throughout the country, and in thousands of schools it will be present for the first time.

This means that school children are being asked to get along with each other better than many of their parents are doing.

They are being asked to ignore differences of race and color and to study, learn and play together in brotherhood and harmony many adults have failed to achieve.

Common sense is good, but the young can do it. If adults will give them a chance.

But how can a child be expected to practice the principles of brotherhood and to respect the dignity and rights of others if the grown-ups to whom he looks for example and guidance are falling him?

In many a home children are un-doubtedly hearing comments and observing attitudes that make it difficult, if not impossible, for a youngster to maintain the open mind and spirit of democracy most children instinctively possess.

Surely, the least any parent, or any adult, can do is to help, not hinder, a child make this social adjustment with a minimum of confusion or distress to anyone.

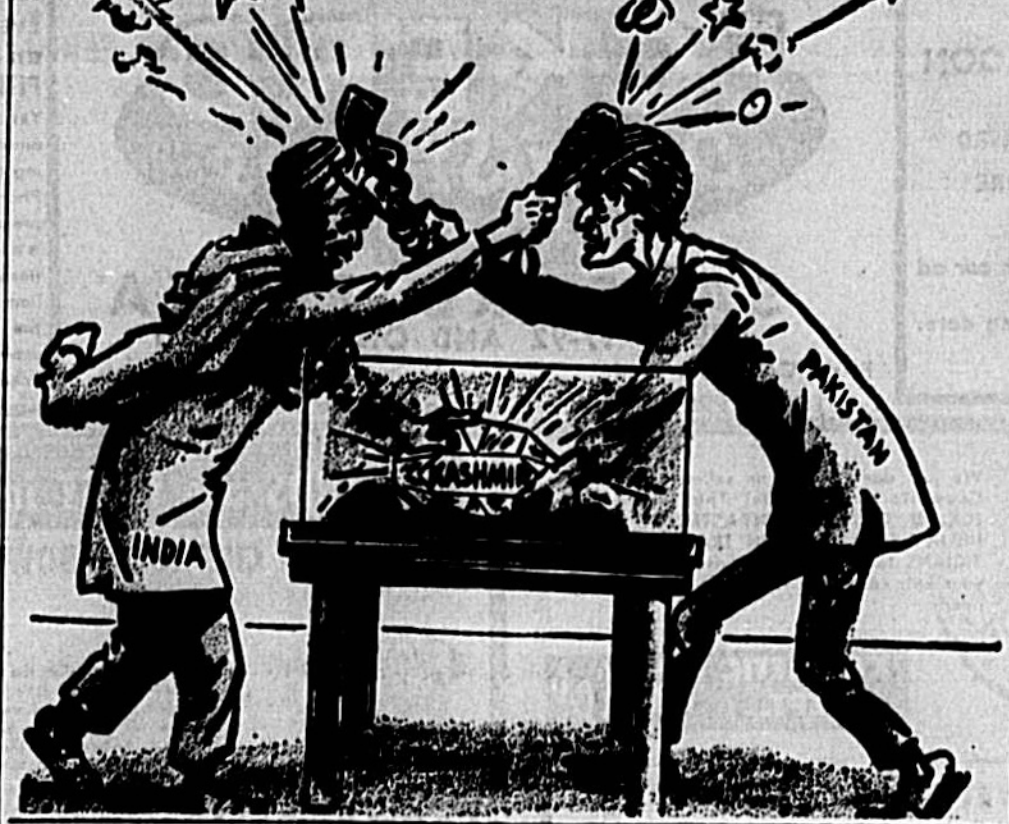

Is this asking too much?

CASE X-47 Blanche Z. ... is almost a new bride.

"Dr. Crane," Blanche's mother-in-law, "Blanche married a very nice man about 15 years older than she is. But his widowed mother lives with them. She is 78 and not too pleasing a personality. Blanche has been married less than six months and she gets upset because her husband often criticizes her cooking. "One night, for example, she served macaroni and cheese, but her husband said it wasn't cooked long enough. "So he bluntly told her the food wasn't for a dinner. "That may have been true enough, but wouldn't you think a husband would be more lenient to a new bride who was just learning to cook? "His mother also makes derogatory remarks about Blanche's cooking, which are probably true enough, too, but wouldn't you think a husband to be more tolerant of new brides. Give them at least

Dick West's The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Teen-agers frequently complain that adults don't understand them. In my case, at least, they are 100 per cent correct. I probably have a greater respect for misanthropic teenagers than any other adult in America.

It is not, therefore, with any degree of compassion that I find myself taking their side in the matter of long haircuts. I simply happen to feel that as a general rule long haircuts look a lot better than short haircuts.

The issue of haircut respectability for the adolescent male arose in my suburban neighborhood this week when 25 high school students were ordered to get their mops cropped.

I was tempted to say the haircut issue "came to a head," but I was afraid some readers would not appreciate high class writing.

A few of the lads whose locks were shorn staged a brief protest demonstration, but school officials broke it up before it could develop into a full scale "grow-in." Or rather "grow-out."

I salute the school authorities for standing firm, but rather regret that they chose this ground to do it on.

If the dispute were to be considered strictly from a standpoint of esthetics, a good case could be made in favor of the students.

The so-called "beat" cut now so popular with the younger generation is undoubtedly repulsive and very likely unsanitary. Even a cowboy would not wear it. If you saw it in a barnyard, you would instinctively step over it.

Nevertheless, I think you will have to agree that the Beatle cut, with all its faults, is less of an eyesore than the crewcuts and flat-tops that were in vogue a few years ago.

To permit a student with his scalp nearly peeled to attend classes while turning back those with flowing tresses is discrimination of the first magnitude. And also poor judgment of what constitutes tonorial deformity.

The male headshave, as you know from looking at your balding friends, is one of the world's most unsightly objects when it appears sans adornment.

Any trend that tends to provide it with more covering is a move in the right direction. The school authorities, I submit, acted too late. If they were going to ban outlandish hairdos for male students, they should have started by stamping out crewcuts.

Robert Watson Exonerated Of Crime

BARTOW (Sp.)—Robert Lamar Watson, 24, of Sanford, is a free man today, exonerated of a crime for which he spent several months in prison.

Watson, the father of two small boys, went to prison for the armed robbery of a Mulberry store last March despite his claims of innocence.

Two weeks ago Bertram Dale Durden, 23, of Frostproof, confessed to the robbery for which Watson was serving time.

Tampa attorney Manuel M. Garcia filed a motion in Bartow to vacate and set aside the conviction. Judge Roy H. Amison immediately granted the motion and Polk County solicitor Gordon MacCallie filed notice of sole prosequi, tantamount to dismissal.

When Durden confessed to the robbery, he also confessed to a second armed robbery and implicated the Mulberry police chief and two patrolmen in the crimes.

One of the patrolmen, Dale Kelley pleaded guilty, but later filed a motion to withdraw his plea.

Judge Amison allowed the withdrawal of the plea Friday. Kelley, police chief Harold Branch and Patrolman J. L. Doggett, all are charged with conspiring to commit armed robbery. They were scheduled to be arraigned today. Judge Amison denied motions to quash the charges against Branch and Doggett Friday.

Durden is in Polk County Jail in Bartow awaiting sentence.

SUNSHINE SERVICE
Is your biggest budget bargain
call me a cheapskate... I love it!

Today, the average price paid per kilowatt hour for Sunshine Service Electricity in the home is actually 91% cheaper than just 10 years ago. In fact, five major rate reductions during this period are saving our customers over $27 million a year.
How do we do it? By adopting modern methods—labor-saving equipment—new and bigger plants—and the cost-cutting efficiency of our hard-working Sunshine Service team... plus YOU—using more and more.
It's cheaper than ever to go all-electric than to use it in combination with flame-type fuels... and it makes your Florida living much more enjoyable.
There's No Match for Flameless Electric Service!

Dear Abby:

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter in your column from "INTERESTED," who was upset because of the daughter of a friend of hers...

Most no-trump contracts make or go down after a race between declarer and the defenders to establish long card tricks in long suits.

We The Women:

It's going to be highly depressing this fall and winter for any woman to be over 18. No one any older can really get away with the styles that Paris has dreamed up for women.

Canada. But this is the first time I have ever heard of a man being "forced" to marry a woman. If you are right, I am certain to hear from many Canadian lawyers. And I'll bet I do.

DEAR ABBY: I am not qualified to practice law in the States, much less in Canada. But this is the first time I have ever heard of a man being "forced" to marry a woman.
