Start Daily Walking Habit

DEAR DR. LAMB - I would be interested in your comments on jogging, tennis, golf or other forms of exercise for a person with an irregular pulse and palpitation. I am a male, 60 years old, 5 feet 11, and weigh 183, and have no other medical problems.

Other than a daily dose of Inderal, phenobarbital, and Lanoxin, I take no medication. My work is fairly sedentary, but I plan to retire in six months. DEAR READER - It depends entirely upon what causes the palpitations or irregularities. If they occur in a healthy person, and a medical check up shows no problems, such an individual can develop an exercise program gradually. You may be taking the Lanoxin to control irregularities, or you may be taking it because your doctor thinks your heart muscle needs strengthening. Since you require heart medicine, you should not engage in physical activity unless your own doctor approves of it. He will have additional information that will help in making the decision. I would approve of your developing a daily walking habit. Start gradually if you have been sedentary, and try to build up to three miles a day. You can walk the distance in divided amounts rather than all at one time. I would not recommend jogging, tennis, or even golf until your doctor says it is O.K. for you. When the heart is already overworked because of disease, it is not a good idea to work it even harder. That is why some people with heart disease have to restrict their physical activity. For the person who does not have such limitations, a sensible exercise program may help to forestall or even prevent heart disease. What is good for one is not good for all. To give you more information on palpitations, I am sending you The Health Letter number

YOUR BIRTHDAY Dec. 7, 1977

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today you are a hail fellow, well met in dealing with outsiders and associates. However, your family may feel the accolade is unearned.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21) This could be a very rewarding day, provided you roll up your sleeves and go to work. Tackle tasks, don't talk about them.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Enjoy yourself today, but select activities that won't cost you an arm and a leg. Romance will set in if you hold the budget on one day's fun.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) We have been taught it is more blessed to give than receive. Recall this today: If you're tempted to slice an extra wedge for yourself when cutting up the pie.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you're congenial today, all of your encounters will be pleasant ones. Caustic actions will evoke a similar response.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't neglect your responsibilities today. The rewards could be larger than you expect. Make this a payday, not a playday.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Responsibilities not of your own making should be shifted to your strong shoulders today. You'll do the job admirably.

Tri-City Election Results

Ex-Mayor Becomes New Mayor Of Casselberry

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

A total of 2,652 of the 9,163 eligible voters in the Cities of Casselberry, Longwood and Lake Mary went to the polls Tuesday.

Highlight of the Casselberry election was the ouster of the present mayor by a former mayor.

And in Lake Mary one race was decided by a single vote.

An elated Bill Grier, with his wife, Phyllis, at his side, received pats on the back and congratulations all around from supporters at the Casselberry City Hall as Elections Clerk Raymond Morris announced the winners.

Only two years ago, Grier, after having served three years as mayor and four years on the city council, had tasted defeat at the hands of Gerald Christensen.

Christensen, a controversial figure during his single two-year term, was not present to bear the results. His college student son, Dale, represented his father as he had on the campaign trail, at a political rally and on the telephone soliciting votes in the final days of the campaign.

Councilman John Leighty, who polled the highest number of votes cast in the Casselberry elections, for return to a fourth term on the city council, noted that he received 26 fewer votes than two years ago.

Leighty's colleague on the local Democratic Executive Committee, Winter Springs Mayor Troy Pland, re-elected only a month ago, was at city hall to offer his congratulations.

Iron Bridge Officials Give Go For Sewage Plant

By MARK WEINBERG Herald Staff Writer

By one vote, Seminole County Commissioners Tuesday gave the Orlando final go-ahead to build the Iron Bridge sewage treatment plant near Oviedo.

The plant, which Orlando officials said would cost $81 million (including interceptor lines), will treat sewage from Orlando, Orange County and southeastern Seminole. Construction, officials say, will begin by next May.

Commissioners Dick Williams, Bob French and John Alexander voted to give Orlando until June 1978 to begin building the plant, which will process up to 24 million gallons of sewage each day, pouring the treated waste water into the Little Econohatchee River.

Commissioners Harry Kwasitkowski and Bill Kirchoff voted against extending the construction deadline.

Commissioners made their decision at a public hearing on whether to give Orlando another six months to start construction on the plant.

In approving the six-month extension for the start of construction on the plant, commissioners also approved an Orlando proposal which will allow Seminole County to reserve up to 3 million gallons per day of sewage treatment capacity at the 24-million-gallon plant.

The agreement will insure sewage treatment capacity at the plant for the Seminole cities of Winter Springs and Casselberry, said Commission Chairman Dick Williams.

He and French had indicated they would vote to permit construction of the plant in Seminole without a guarantee of treatment capacity at the plant for Seminole Counties.

Orlando City Attorney Egerton K. van den Berg made the offer to reserve treatment capacity for Seminole at a public hearing last week. "We worked with county staff members over the past week to draft an acceptable agreement I think we've done so," van den Berg said.

Under the agreement, Orlando officials will notify Seminole when the plant is treating 17 million gallons of sewage each day. The county would have until the following October to reserve treatment capacity in half-million-gallon increments up to 3 million gallons.

Commissioners emphasized they were approving a sewage treatment plant with a maximum capacity to treat 24 million gallons of sewage a day. When Orlando officials first announced plans to build the plant, they said the plant would need a 48-million-gallon capacity to meet long-term sewage treatment needs of Orlando, Orange County and parts of Seminole.

NATION IN BRIEF

Ehrlichman Wins Parole; Out In April

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Parole Commission today paroled John Ehrlichman, the No. 2 aide in Richard M. Nixon's White House, who was convicted for taking part in the Watergate cover-up.

The parole will become effective April 27, 1978.

Ehrlichman, 52, has been an inmate at the minimum security Federal Prison Camp at Safford, Ariz., since Oct. 28, 1976, tending four large boilers that provide steam for the camp.

Autopsies For Mom, Unborn

NEW YORK (UPI) — Autopsies will be performed on the bodies of Rosemarie Maniscalco and her unborn third child, to see why the 27-year-old pregnant woman lapsed into a coma Thanksgiving Eve, from which she never recovered.

Medical experts had not expected Mrs. Maniscalco to survive, but hoped to keep her alive for another month, long enough for the baby to survive outside her womb.

Pearl Harbor Anniversary

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (UPI) — Today is the 36th anniversary of what President Franklin D. Roosevelt denounced as the "day, which will live in infamy," — the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor that catapulted the United States into World War II.

Low-key memorial services were scheduled, but the day will be much like any other for most Hawaiians. At 7:55 a.m., local time a blast from a naval shipyard whistle will signal one minute of silence — the local 36 years ago 353 Japanese planes started their sweep over Pearl Harbor and nearby military airfields, killing more than 2,200 Americans.

Joan Little Captured

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joan Little, a black fugitive from a North Carolina jail, who drew nationwide attention for the icepick slaying of a white jailer two years ago, was captured today police reported.

A police spokesman said Miss Little and George McFay, 29, of Brooklyn, were arrested at 2 a.m. after a high-speed car chase, which ended when the suspects' car collided with the pursuing patrol car.

Panel's Goal: Teaching Kids To Become Parents

By MARVILIN SHEDDAN
Herald Staff Writer

Sex education in Seminole County schools is one goal under consideration by a group of social workers, county health personnel, representatives of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services and others who met Tuesday in Sanford.

The group, meeting to plan a task force to deal with the problem of educating teenagers both before and after they become parents, was called together by Elmer Wontenay, Seminole County Supervisor for HRS, family and children program.

Wontenay said his reason for acting on the problem was a letter to him from Dr. Vann Parker, Sanford pediatrician. In the letter Dr. Parker said, "I feel the most devastating disease in our community now is pregnancy in unmarried girls who leave the hospital ill-equipped for the tremendous job they have acquired."

Wontenay summed up the need for some sort of solution in Seminole County by saying, "A lot of children's parents are children's do, know how to take care of children."

Dr. Hamida Battla, director of the County Health Department attended the meeting and told the group, "I am so glad to see so much interest expressed. I thought I was the only one trying to solve the problem."

Dr. Battla said two things are needed to prevent teenage pregnancy and to deal with it when it occurs: a good solid family planning program, and sex education. Whether we like it or not that is the way to help our children."

Dr. Battla said funding for the county's family planning program was not received from the state this year, and that she is in touch with county officials to learn if funding for the program might be available locally.

School social worker Marie Taylor said, "It seems to me, since I began social work 10 years ago the pregnant girls are getting younger. When I first started they were usually about 16. Now they are 12 and 13."

to seek public office in Casselberry and was plagued during his campaign by reports of the recent bankruptcy of his business, pumped hands vigorously.

The winners gathered later at the real estate office of Elmer Wontenay for the celebration.

Meanwhile, Tom Embree, a former county chairman, who came in third in the field of six candidates for the city council when only the first two could win, was hosting a party at his home on Jupiter Way. He had invited friends to stop by for an election party if a victory was gained or for a Christmas party if the answer of the people was "no."

City Clerk Mary Hawthorne had predicted a 48-50 percent turnout and her prediction appeared bolstered early in the day as voters stood in line at the three voting machines. However, with 5,106 qualified electors, 1,529 cast ballots in the contests for a 30 percent turnout.

Richard in losing said the total vote was disappointing. "The number who turned out at the polls was a very inadequate display," he said.

"To lose by one vote proves that the individual vote is important. In my first bid into politics, I found many residents in the city who are not even registered to vote. I found 15 persons in a several block area alone," Richard said.

He and Pat Southward, who defeated incumbent Councilman Delores Lash for a city council seat, had run as a team, supporting one another.

Mrs. Southward's margin of victory was 37 votes. She had campaigned on her educational qualifications, — including a masters degree in government — and her experience in state agencies. She had said she was running for an office rather than against anyone.

Mrs. Lash's family said they were happy that she could spend more time with them.

Cliff Nelson, completing his first one-year split term on the council received a vote of confidence.

With 1,146 qualified voters, 470 — including 17 absentees — cast ballots in the Lake Mary election for a 41 percent turnout.

U.S., Japan And Trade

About three weeks ago in Geneva, the Carter administration made a forceful argument for the liberalization of trade, urging removal of tariffs on 1,000 individual items that account for some $11 billion of United States commerce.

A platoon of government officials went to Tokyo to urge Japan to curb imports into the United States. The administration admits that the growing U.S. trade deficit is of "intense public concern." Both U.S. and Japanese officials agree that current economic relations between the United States and Japan are more strained than at any time since World War II.

The reasons are evident. Japanese goods from steel to soy sauce are flooding into the United States. This year the United States will buy about $8 billion more from Japan than it sells there. And the trade gap is widening despite intense efforts by the administration to stem the tide.

The latest move was taken Tuesday when President Carter outlined a program to increase production and employment in the steel industry by protecting it from such unfair competition from foreign imports. It would establish prices below which most imports would not be allowed to sell unless a special tariff is imposed.

Goal: to prevent foreign producers from flooding the U.S. market with steel priced below the cost of production.

We can't predict whether the President's enlightened programs will prevail over politics. But it is possible to conclude the danger is great, that the wrong side will win. Protectionism has a strong constituency in both business and labor. It is a strong force in the political arena.

We suggest President Carter should broaden his attack on protectionism by giving Americans some hard, straight facts.

For too long, Americans have been under the misapprehension that Japan is shaming the United States economically because Japan has cheap labor and many import restrictions.

These are factors, but they are minor ones. The Boston Consulting Group, a think tank, is among those who have concluded "Japan's success is not a temporary phenomenon. It is not the result of cheap labor, nor of exports, nor of copying... Rather, Japanese industrial growth is the result of the functioning of a highly efficient system in which the parts interrelate to stimulate the whole economic growth."

Japan is out-producing the United States proportionately because its technology is often better and its plants are more modern. Output per worker has increased 9.5 percent in Japan in the last decade. The comparable figure for the United States is 2 percent. And the principal reason Japan is more efficient is because it has been investing twice as much of its gross national product in industrial development as the United States.

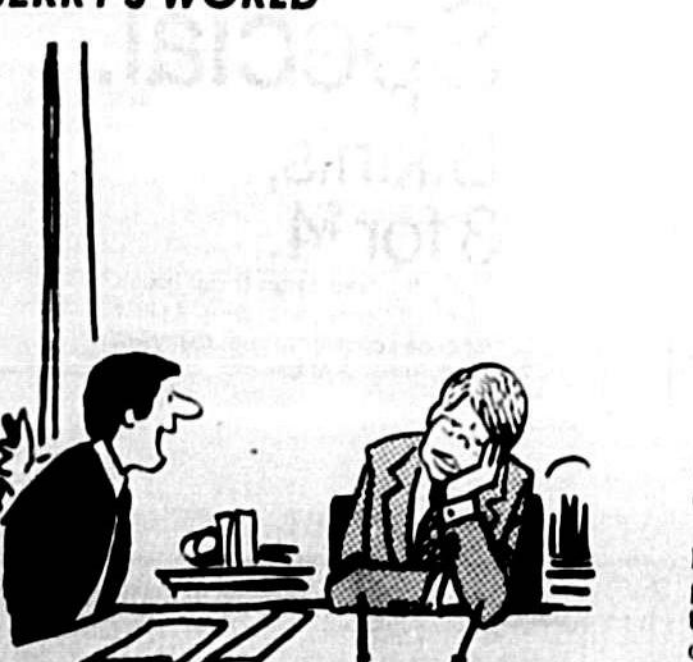

Purely political efforts by the United States will not turn the situation around. The ultimate solution to our unfavorable balance of trade and to our own prosperity lies where it always has been, it is in the productivity of U.S. workers and in modern U.S. industries.

Protectionism only preserves obsolescence here as Japan continues to widen the economic gap.

America's Deepest Mystery?

WASHINGTON — More than 14 years have passed since the killing, but for too many people the case still remains unsolved. Every purported conclusion about the slaying has been matched by the emergence of a new subplot, conspiracy theory or mysterious death.

The assassination of John F. Kennedy "is America's deepest running mystery," notes Tom Miller, author of an important new book on the subject, "The Assassination Please Almanac."

Miller's book is worthy of note because it includes an unprecedented industry spawned by citizen discontent with the official investigation of the assassination.

Pollster Louis Harris reported in 1967 that 59 percent of all those questioned in a nationwide survey believed there remained unanswered questions about the Kennedy death.

In the same poll, 44 percent thought there was a wider plot than did the presidential commission headed by then-Chief Justice Earl Warren.

A public opinion survey today, 10 years later, probably would reveal even greater cynicism.

Early critics of the Warren Commission's findings were widely dismissed as shouls and fools, scavengers and sensationalists. In too many instances, there was good cause for that criticism.

The list of those implicated in assassination conspiracies by various self-certified citizen investigators includes an international corporate cabal, the Mafia, Texas oilmen, Zionists, the Secret Service, Lyndon Johnson, Fidel Castro, J. Edgar Hoover and an unidentified man with a black umbrella.

For every left-center theorist convinced that the FBI or CIA was orchestrating a vast conspiracy there was a right-of-center analyst equally certain that the Communists masterminded the whole affair.

But assassination buffs are not unlike lawyers, journalists, auto mechanics, plumbers and those engaged in all other forms of human endeavor: some are sloppy, inept and stupid but others are bright, talented and highly competent.

Miller's book catalogs 247 other books, 15 films, 15 records and 9 plays on the subject. In addition, he identifies scores of researchers, some of them located in such unexpected places as Hammond, La.; Findlay, Ohio; and Bolinas, Calif.

Among them are a number of serious individuals and organizations which not only have exposed major contradictions within the Warren Commission report but also have developed new evidence that merits serious consideration.

The Assassination Information Bureau, probably the most respected of the groups, publishes a valuable bimonthly newsletter. Its Washington headquarters serves as a center for the gathering, analysis and dissemination of information.

JACK ANDERSON-LES WHITTEN

"Normally I'd be happy to have a drink with you after work, but it's holiday season, and I have a million things to do this evening," said a friend of mine to my invitation to do some moderate imbibing after work the other day.

"Let's see," replied my friend. "It's all on this list I cleverly prepared this morning. Since it was an important list, I put it in a safe place, and now I can't find-wait a minute. Here it is."

"After work I'll go by a liquor store and buy the booze for the office Christmas party. Then I drop the kids by a friend's house while my wife and I go shopping. We're a little late getting the Christmas cards out this year, so we'll address 'em or when we get home from shopping. If I have any energy after that, I'll do the monthly bills."

My friend convinced me that he had plenty to do, but his plight brought out a recurring Christmas season paradox: At a time of the year when we're supposed to quietly reflect on our activities during the past year, take time to count our blessings and make positive plans for the coming year, we're too busy preparing for the holiday season to make any serious self-evaluation at all.

In fact, the activities of most of us don't even come close to conforming to our annual expectations. Our commemoration of Christmas really is much closer to the way pagans used to celebrate their winter holidays.

Before-and for a time after-the birth of Christ, pagans celebrated a holiday called Saturnalia, which occurred at the time of the winter solstice. On the day of the solstice, which usually occurs during the third week of December, the sun is farthest from the equator and we experience a day with the year's shortest period of sunshine.

The pagans celebrated their holiday in a way that is familiar to us-toy-paraded non-stop for several weeks. They ate and drank to excess, slept off their hangovers and went at it again. It was a time of deliberate, sustained overindulgence.

And in that sense, it wasn't too different from the way most of us celebrate the contemporary holiday season. Just ask the police, liquor store owners and entertainers, all of whom work overtime this time of year.

There's an old saying that the more things change, the more they stay the same. Our observance of the annual winter holiday season, following a tradition thousands of years old, bears out the old saying.

SEATTLE, South Korea (UPI) — Highly placed sources in the Foreign Ministry said Tuesday U.S. Ambassador Richard Seidler and Korean Foreign Minister Park Tong-jin probably would set down final terms this week or early next on an agreement to let Tongjui Park return to Washington to testify on the Capitol Hill influence peddling scandal.

The Seoul sources said U.S. authorities eventually will drop charges — including tax evasion — against Park and assure his safe return to Korea. Park is under indictment by a U.S. federal grand jury on 36 counts of mail fraud, bribery and corruption charges.

Discussion Set For Tuesday

County Confronts Landfill Dilemma

Seminole County would have until next April to find a new county landfill site or change the method of treating garbage at the county's Osceola landfill if commissioners ratify a "consent order" received this week from the state Department of Environmental Regulation (DER).

DER's Orlando district office chief, requested commission approval of the consent order by Dec. 16. Commissioners delayed consideration of the consent order until after a week session next Tuesday at 2 p.m. A commission office to discuss the landfill situation.

Since July the county has operated the Osceola landfill, located in northeastern Seminole County, on a temporary DER landfill permit. State regulations require a five-foot separation between the underground water table and buried garbage, but due to the high water table at the landfill only a two-foot separation exists in some areas. County officials have been negotiating with DER since July on the terms of the consent order, which calls for the county to decide by the end of December to select one of three methods to bring its landfill operations into full compliance with DER regulations. The three methods are:

— Obtain a new landfill site and ground covering it with fill dirt, then adding succeeding layers) or by installing "an approved liner in the bottom of all solid waste cells" to prevent waste material from seeping into the underground water.

Sanford Woman Gets Probation In Shooting

Holly Ave., Sanford, Mrs. Jackson pleaded guilty to aggravated assault in October for the shooting of her husband with a 22-caliber pistol.

James Jackson Jr., 29, underwent surgery at Seminole Memorial Hospital following the shooting at the family residence Sept. 13.

Sanford police said Mrs. Jackson told officers that her husband had beaten her during a domestic argument and she got the pistol from a bedroom.

Mrs. Jackson told investigators that she only wanted to scare her husband "so he would leave me alone" after he allegedly threatened to kill her, according to police reports.

In other sentences Tuesday, Judge McGreggor ordered that Mary Jane Robinson, 23, 108 Sterling Court, Sanford, be placed on probation for one year in lieu of a $200 fine.

Ms. Robinson pleaded guilty to battery on Saturday, according to reports. Laurette Franecker reported to police that someone entered the theater at 203 Magnolia Ave. some Friday or Saturday, according to reports. According to court records, the fight took place at Ninth Street and Cypress Avenue. Judge McGreggor also ordered that a Longwood man found guilty of leaving the scene of an accident with injuries spend the next ten weekends in the county jail, excluding Christmas and New Years weekends.

McGreggor placed Charles Furnas, 22, 216 Warren Ave., on probation for one year, conditioned upon serving the weekend jail sentence.

According to court records, Furnas hit the rear of a vehicle showing to turn off SR 127 last Aug. 13. Police said Furnas was apprehended about a quarter mile from the accident scene after his vehicle broke down due to damages suffered in the

RONALD REAGAN Bureaucrats And Those Children

Outlaws. That's the way the bureaucrats view the Cessnas. Enterprising, helpful kids. That's the way the neighbors see them. Either way, the four Cessna youngsters have been running circles around the government regulators.

It all started a few months ago when Dickie Cessna, 13, and his sisters June, 14, Betty, 11, and Jeanne, 9, made a deal with their dad to clean out the stables he operates in a small town east of San Diego.

They decided to sell the manure to the neighbors for fertilizer. They lived in a new home development and the developer also had them to keep cans and bottles picked up to make sure the streets would be clean and inviting.

The children each put up and began Kidco, a company that was registered in the Cayman Islands, on the advice of father Richard Cessna's attorney. Most of the money the kids make is going into savings for their future and this registration had some deferred-income advantages.

Everything was going fine. Kidco landed a contract to sell manure to the local golf course. Then the bureaucrats heard of Kidco. The California State Board of Equalization stepped in with what it must have thought was the majesty of the law and demanded back sales taxes, penalties and interest on the manure that had been sold. The kids thought this wasn't right, since Mr. Cessna had paid tax on the hay and the horses had only reprocessed it. Dickie, the president, and his sisters, the other officers, took their story to a local newspaper. It got wide coverage. (I will do my own daily radio commentaries on it at the time.)

On one side were lined up the Cessnas, their neighbors and just about everyone else who heard the kids' story. On the other you had the bureaucrats in Sacramento.

The bureaucrats, realizing they were beginning to look silly, backed off. It was agreed that no back taxes were due; that taxes would be charged homeowners; that only future commercial sales would be subject to tax.

Kidco pushed ahead, diversifying into the popper killing business. The youngsters moved up a "secret" formula from their mother's kitchen staples and began depleting the local gopher population from lawns and gardens — for a modest fee.

This time the bureaucrats got more menacing. The state's Department of Food and Agriculture said the kids couldn't kill gophers without a state pest extermination license. They would have to take the state examination (California) and pass it, and passed, the rules say you can't hold a pest extermination license in California till you are 18).

The bureaucrats told Dickie he would have to reveal the secret formula. Kidco's chief executive declined. He wrote, "We read all the stuff you sent us about a pest control license. We even read some of the study books and we little kids don't understand all this stuff. But we do know we are not doing anything that's dangerous to people or birds or other animals. All we do is kill gophers and this is good."

Footnote: The Energy Department has now told Kennedy it will consider using some form of royalty bidding for several North Atlantic leases. The department was given 24 hours to make its recommendation and had no time to consult with Congress, a spokesman said.

LOVE THINE ENEMIES: Former members of a Nazi SS division are scheduled to be guests of the honor next August at a St. Louis reunion of the American 70th Infantry Division. These are the same Germans who recently paraded with 70th Division veterans after conducting joint wreath-laying ceremonies for Nazi war dead in the German town of Boppard.

We reported at that time that the U.S. Army provided a chaplain and a ceremonial band for the cemetery service. Now we have learned that the American visitors invited the former SS members of the 70th Mountain Division to attend their own funeral services for another round of partying and camaraderie.

A one-time 70th Division colonel has written us that members of the 6th Mountain Division were "nice" Nazis, not at all like their Storm Troopers brethren who ruthlessly ran the dress camp, gas chambers and ovens.

He credits his recent German hosts for holding 250 Americans as prisoners of war without murdering them, of abstaining from firing at American ambulances and of letting eight American officers escape without shooting at them. Other World War II veterans question, however, whether this entitles them to a red carpet welcome to this country next year.

WASHINGTON WINDOW Anyone For White House?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Is the Senate still a spawning ground for presidential candidates now that a former one-term governor now occupies the White House?

Yes. It is already virtually certain that a number of Republican senators will seek the GOP nomination in 1980.

And should a challenge to President Carter arise within his own party, that also could come from the Senate.

The Senate as the natural springboard for a presidential nomination is a modern political development that has taken roots.

Until Carter broke the streak by whipping a number of senators and others in the primaries, the Democrats had picked four straight candidates with a background in the Senate.

John F. Kennedy in 1960 and George S. McGovern in 1972 came directly from the Senate. The others were Lyndon Johnson and Hubert Humphrey.

Johnson, who succeeded to the presidency after Kennedy's assassination and was elected in 1964, and Humphrey in 1968, both went from the Senate to the vice presidency before winning the Democratic presidential nomination.

Even before that — going back to the last nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the presidential candidates picked members of the Senate for the number two spot.

Roosevelt took on Harry Truman in 1944. Truman paired with Allen Barkley in 1948 and Edes Kefauver chose John Sparkman in 1952. There is a similar track record among the Republicans, although GOP senators have not been picked as often for the vice presidential nomination.

Dwight D. Eisenhower plucked Richard Nixon for the Senate in 1952 and kept him in 1956. Nixon then won the nomination but lost the election in 1960 before winning in 1968 and 1972. In between, Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater won the nomination in 1964.

With that kind of history, it is not surprising that a number of Republican senators are giving very serious consideration to making the race for the GOP nomination in 1980.

Although he has not announced, Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, last year's vice presidential candidate, is off and running.

Already well-known throughout the party and even nationally as Gerald Ford's running-mate and as the fact-finding former national chairman, Dole has moved to position himself as a credible candidate.

One of his major endeavors this year has been to become the self-anointed GOP spokesman on foreign affairs in the Senate, filling a vacuum on that one else has claimed.

Another probable candidate from the Senate is Republican Leader Howard Baker of Tennessee who has never bothered to conceal his long-range ambitions. He is up for re-election in 1978 but spending as much — if not more — time on the stump as other states.

Teacher Review Draws Fire

TALLAHASSEE, (UPI) — The Department of Education has prepared a list of 23 factors for reviewing teachers' competency in the classroom.

But DOE administrators, legislators and teacher union officials said Tuesday a controversy has developed about how to apply the jostling criteria.

The controversy surfaced through a recommendation from Secretary of State Bruce Smithey and a bill by Rep. Elaine Bloom, D-Miami, who both want teachers to be tested on their classroom competencies.

The 23 competency factors, included in Ms. Bloom's bill, include "showing proficiency in basic reading, mathematics and writing."

They also include abilities to carry out instructional activities, being able to discipline students, showing awareness toward changing social behavior patterns of students, constructing fair and reliable classroom tests, to give sound advice, knowing how to keep accurate records, selecting reliable instructional materials, interpreting messages and helping students find moral values they can use away from school.

Commissioner of Education Ralph Turlington said current teacher tenure and certification laws expire in 1982 and that a department council is working on ways to cure poor classroom teaching and upgrade competency evaluations. The council, said Turlington, has not completed recommendations about the 23 factors should be applied.

"This is the greatest opportunity we'll have to improve teacher certification and I don't want to blow it," says Ms. Bloom.

Ms. Bloom would have teachers tested every five years. But teacher unions say the proposal is unfair, because members of other professions aren't periodically tested for competency.

"That (the view of the unions) has problems," said Ms. Bloom. "If I don't like a doctor because he's unqualified, I have the right to choose another physician. But as parent, I have no choice about which teacher teaches my children."

Ms. Bloom said if teachers fail the tests, they would be given instruction at teacher education centers to improve the skills. Failing a second time, she said, could lead to removal.

The tests, she said, would involve written examinations plus reviews of classroom performance.

"I think most teachers are doing a splendid job," said Bloom, who has worked on the bill for several years. "But I don't want to remove teachers who want to teach and have a dedication to the profession. All I want to do is help them improve the skills they have."

What to cut down on if you want to cut down on your electric bill.

Today, everybody is trying to use less electricity. Partly to conserve energy. But mostly to have lower-cost electric bills.

Yet many consumers don't know which appliances or products use the most electricity. So they go all out trying to save money without really cutting down on their bills.

To help you choose the best ways to conserve energy, we've provided the chart below. Itemized are "typical" appliance usage figures based both on Florida Power & Light research and industry-wide statistics. These figures are intended strictly as examples in that they reflect the average operating costs of various appliances. However, they are a helpful guide to effective cost-cutting. (Also, keep in mind that power usage varies among different product brands; weather conditions; size, location and insulation of a home; and each family's pattern of usage.)

You'll notice that air-conditioners are the heaviest users. But you can still keep cool, dehumidify your home, and realize substantial savings on your cooling costs by setting your thermostat at 78 degrees. If your thermostat isn't marked in degrees, place a good thermometer in a room out of the air-conditioning flow to be sure you're maintaining 78 degrees.

In addition to the information below, our booklet "HOW TO SAVE MONEY ON YOUR ELECTRIC BILL" will give you many helpful tips on energy conservation. And its free, at any FPL office. Because at FPL we want to help you save.

BOB ZIPKO, LEFT, JOE STERLING TAKE TO DEFENSE FOR SCC

SCC Suffers First Loss Despite Zipko, Williams

Florida College Prevails

Florida College returned the favor Tuesday night, handing Seminole Community College its first defeat of the season, 80-78, after seven victories.

WILLIE WILLIAMS KEYS RAIDERS' FAST BREAK

Bob Zipko and Willie Williams continued to pace the Raiders' scoring, in that order, as they have all season.

Seminole had edged Florida College by two points, 109-108, earlier in the season in Temple Terrace.

The two teams used the same script last season — swapping wins, each winning the other's floor.

Zipko led SCC scorers with 18 points, Williams added 16. David Kraitz was right behind with 14.

Zipko went into the game averaging 24 points per outing, Williams' average prior to Tuesday's loss was 21.

Joe Sterling's charges will have until Friday to think about the loss, before returning to action again — hosting Palm Beach Community College.

The home stand continues Saturday, when tall and talented Miami-Dade North comes to town.

Lyman Bumped By Colonial; Pats Top Lions; Hawks Lose

Steady Marcus Neal got his usual 18 points, but it wasn't quite enough Tuesday night, as the Lyman Greyhounds dropped their second game of the season, 69-67, to Orlando Colonial.

In other high school action Tuesday, Lake Brantley upended Orlorio, 83-58, and Lake Howell lost again, this time by to Bishop Moore, 56-53.

Neal, who has scored 18 in each of the Lyman outings this season, was the high man of four Greyhounds who scored in double figures in the close contest.

Arthur Cleveland and Greg Thomas each chipped in 13 points, and Frankie Carter, still bothered by a nagging back injury, added 12.

The game was a real see-saw affair, with host Colonial jumping out to an 18-15 first quarter advantage, then Lyman taking the lead at halftime, 37-32.

A big second quarter, in which Lyman outscored the Lions 23-15, and gave the Pats a lead they never relinquished was the difference in the game.

For Lake Howell, it was loss No. 4 in a row — as the Hawks get off to as slow a start in basketball as they did in football.

Willie Adams and Kent Weaver did most of the scoring in a losing cause for the Hawks; Adams pumping in 19 points, Weaver adding 14.

Seminole Entertains Colonial

Colonial will come calling on Seminole High tonight, and it should be interesting — for more reasons than one.

One reason, of course, is the fact that Seminole head coach Bill Payne coached at Colonial last year. The first time a coach faces his old school is always a time of high, and mixed, emotions.

Also, Colonial just defeated one Seminole County team Tuesday night — edging the Lyman Greyhounds, 69-67.

Lyman was the "team to beat" in the county in all nine-season estimates. But Seminole socked it to the Humbs in the semi-final round of the Rotary classic — making the Tribe the favorite of the still young cage season.

The junior varsity game will begin at approximately 6 p.m., the varsity game following immediately afterward.

There has been one major event made in three days of meetings and just because today is Pearl Harbor Day, don't expect any bombs to be dropped.

Everybody goes into trade talks expecting to get a battle-ship for a rowboat, said White Sox Manager Bob Lemon.

That seems to be the case. The Mets, for instance, have reopened negotiations with the Twins, who are still interested in obtaining Jerry Koosman. But, instead of accepting Minnesota's offer for outfielder Danny Ford, pitcher Pete Reffner and minor league infielder Steve Hertz, the Mets wanted to talk about Rod Carew.

"If I ever trade Rod Carew, I might as well hop on a plane and get out of Minnesota," said Twins' owner Calvin Griffith.

Two games are on tap for Saturday, Trinity Prep-opening its season at home against Montverde and Lake Howell's and Lake Howell's boys hosting Appala.

Friday will feature a girl-boy doubleheader at the Seminole Gym — the girls getting their try at Colonial at 6 p.m., followed by the boys vs. Ed White High.

The Lake Howell girls also play Friday, hosting Winter Park.

Time Out For Sports

Only someone of the religious stature of Trinity Prep principal Rev. Canon A. Rees Hay could get away with the metaphor.

Immediately after the Saints' almost miraculous second half comeback last Friday in their 126 overtime win over Palmer Prep of Miami, the Trinity headmaster, noted that the Saints were "dead in the first half," and had then "resurrected themselves" in the second half.

"You could say," he said, "That we then ascended into Divine Intervention?"

It made me wonder, if perhaps the Saints weren't getting a little divine aid from time to time.

But whether Trinity was using help from on high, or just riding the crest of their own confidence, he was right — the Saints' did come back from the dead in Vero Beach — or it is a good bet that most Trinity fans had started mentally preparing themselves for defeat by intermission.

I'll have to admit that the thought, "It's a long way to Vero Beach to lose like this," crossed my mind.

Only the super painting of sophomore Brooks Quinn kept the Pirates in the lead in the first half. Quinn booted points of 38, 43, and 45 yards on his first three attempts — twice putting the Pirates inside their 20 (once at the 5-yard line).

The fourth Quinn kick went off the side of his foot, however, traveling just 15 yards. Palmer took over on the Trinity 48, and scored in eight plays.

In the second half, it was completely different. Coach Joel Kelley attributes part of his team's slow start to the hassles of the trip down — the bus being in fourth gear, making the trip longer than necessary; and when they arrived at the stadium, they found the dressing rooms were a block up the street and across the road at the Vero Beach High gym. So, the Trinity players had to run up the street in their street clothes, carrying their gear, in a drizzling rain.

"Some of the boys had been fighting colds and viruses all week. A couple, Chan Muller for one, had been having a little temperature earlier in the day. They didn't need that sort of thing," Kelley said.

Kelley also pointed out that the third victory in a row has been a barrier for the Saints all year. "We'd win two straight, get to the thinking we were good or something, then play like we did in the first half — and lose."

"At least we've broken that third game jinx."

A quick word about the fantastic play of defensive backs Palmer Miles and David Gierach, both seniors, in the second half of the semi-final win. They might have been the difference that tipped the scales.

Palmer quarterback Kenny Roberts hit six of 10 passes in the first half, four completions coming on key third-and-long situations — including the touchdown pass.

After intermission, Miles and Gierach had a major hand in holding Roberts to one completion in regulation time.

In the fourth quarter, Gierach knocked down a sure touchdown to Steve Veinguard, who was two steps in front of everyone. It was on a fourth down play from the Saints' 33 — the deepest penetration of the Pirates in the second half, and the closest they came to scoring.

Palmer quarterback Kenny Roberts hit six of 10 passes in the first half, four completions coming on key third-and-long situations — including the touchdown pass.

After intermission, Miles and Gierach had a major hand in holding Roberts to one completion in regulation time.

In the fourth quarter, Gierach knocked down a sure touchdown to Steve Veinguard, who was two steps in front of everyone. It was on a fourth down play from the Saints' 33 — the deepest penetration of the Pirates in the second half, and the closest they came to scoring.

Cook Of The Week
Rotisserie Cooking Is His Favorite

By ELDA NICHOLS
Herald Correspondent
Harry (Bud) Calvert of Casselberry, likes to cook. He and his wife, Vonne, generally divide the cooking chores, with Bud specializing in rotisserie cooking. "Vonne is the expert on seafood and fish," he said. Working on the theory that there's more originality when cooking from scratch, Bud said, "We've always cooked from scratch. You know, I've been cooking for a long time, but I still don't always make recipes the same way twice."
One of his cooking variations concerns liver and onions. "I cube the liver, then saute the vegetables. After frying the onions, I use the oil to make gravy by adding cornstarch. That use orange juice instead of water. Place the liver on top of the vegetables and spoon the sauce over the top. It's really interesting."
Rotisserie cooking is his favorite method of cooking, with beef roast and duck being his favorite specialties. Laughing, he said, "I use lots of onion and garlic and plenty of spices in my cooking."
Bud and Vonne enjoy champagne. Here again they share the cooking. "We generally plank fish or steak and cook over a fire. We even bake biscuits by tipping the pan up by the hot coals," he added. Fresh or frozen vegetables are preferred to canned, according to Bud. "We do very little baking or eating desserts. Vonne is involved with Weight Watchers and we just don't care that much for desserts," he said.
Both Vonne and Bud work in their business, Calvert Machine Service, on Charlotte Street, Longwood. Vonne is the secretary, while Bud tends to the machinery.
He is also a consulting engineer for the plywood industry, covering Eastern Canada and the Northeast

HARRY (BUD) CALVERT SAMPLES SAUCE

United States. "Last time I was in Ottawa, it was 27 degrees below zero," he said.
The Calvert family includes two Sammie cats and two dogs. Bud belongs to the Airplane Owners and Pilots Association, and just recently sold his own plane. He enjoys dancing, fishing and flying.
CALVERT SPAGHETTI SAUCE
Break up 1 pound of ground beef in skillet, with 2 tsp. olive oil. Add:
1 tsp. salt
sprinkle of fresh ground pepper - top third
1/2 tsp. oregano
1/2 tsp. Italian Seasoning
1 tsp. garlic powder, or 2 crushed cloves
1/2 tsp. Rosemary
sprinkle of basil
Brown on medium high heat, turning and chopping up until mixture is a maximum of 5 in. chunks and starting to get crisp on corners. Set aside.
Chop 1/2 med. size fresh green pepper in 1/2 in. squares 1 1/2 med. size stalks fresh celery, 1/2 in. slices, use about 4 leaves
2 onions, sweet, 2 in. diameter, split lengthwise and cut 1/2 in. slices
12 ripe olives cut in halves
Sauté all vegetables above in 1/2 tsp. olive oil for 10 min. covered, on medium heat, should be just starting to brown. Add 1/2 large mushrooms, sliced 1/2 in. and saute another 5 min. covered.
Add 1/2 lb. oz. can tomato paste to meat, 1/2 cup dry red wine and juice from 1-10 oz. can of Baby Clams. Mix thoroughly and simmer 15 min.
Mix meat sauce with vegetables. Add 1/2 can of Baby Clams and 2 tsp. honey. Simmer for 30 min.
EIGHT JEWEL DUCK
1 cup (dry) instant rice
2 large dried Chinese mushrooms
15 small dried shrimp
2 tsp. peanut or safflower oil
1/2 lb. lean boneless pork
1/2 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
2 tsp. soy sauce
4 water chestnuts, halved and sliced 1/4 in.
1/2 lb. cooked Smithfield or smoked ham
1 med. tart apple
Prepare the rice, place shrimp and mushrooms to soak, each in one-third cup of warm water for 30 min.
In large skillet, pour 2 tbsp. of peanut oil and bring to high heat, just smoking. Toss in pork and ham and stir fry until pork is all changed color. Add water chestnuts, apple in 1/2 cubes, mushrooms, drained and chopped, shrimp, including the soak water.
Pour in the rice and mix thoroughly over high heat, then add soy and salt. Stir quickly and set off to cool.

cutting everything away from the main frame until the primary wing joint is reached. Cut tendons and separate, peeling the surrounding flesh from the frame. Leave the wing bones intact for now and proceed alternating from one side to the other and rolling the flesh inside out as you go. As the leg joints are reached, separate and continue on as before. When the tail is finally reached, cut the tail bone free from the carcass, leaving the tail with the flesh.
Now go back and locate the leg and wing bones, scrape all flesh away from the primary bones and separate at the first joint, leaving remaining bones with the flesh.
If you have scraped with care, you now have a perfect duck from which can be rolled back, right side up and sewed up at the neck in preparation for stuffing.
Rub the inside of the duck thoroughly with the 2 tsp. of salt and dry the exterior with paper towels. Hang by the wing tips for 1/2 to 1 hour, or occasionally wiping area dry as necessary.
Plait with marinate and place in the rotisserie, rotating slowly under the highest heat setting for 15 min. Then cut back two notches for the remainder of cooking time, allowing 20 min. per pound on the original weight.
Save some of the drippings to make a sauce from corn starch and orange juice, instead of occasionally wiping area dry as necessary.

'Southpaw' Should Change Attitude

DEAR ABBY: I think I can improve on your advice to SOUTHPAW who asked what to do about shaking hands. He had lost two fingers from his right hand in a farming accident.
You recommended that he see a specialist who fits prosthetic hands. Artificial fingers will be detected as such by the other party, and the reaction could be anything from shock to "ugh." In any case, it's awkward and embarrassing for all concerned.
The man with the missing fingers doesn't need anything from anybody. He should change his attitude about his minor handicap.
He should not be apologetic. He should shake hands with confidence. If HE is comfortable with the fact that he

DEAR BONNIE: Thank you for an inspiring testimony. You who have "been there" offer a tremendous source of strength and encouragement to those who are struggling to get there.
Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 122 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped 24c envelope.
If you feel left out and lonely, or wish you knew how to get people to like you, my new booklet, "How To Be Popular: You're Never Too Young To Be 60," is for you. Send $1 along with a long, self-addressed, stamped 24-cent envelope to Abby, 122 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

DEAR ABBY: I kept for the 14-year-old girl who was so tall she didn't care if she never saw her 15th birthday.
Her life can be blessed if she will realize that God made her unique because He loves her. She should read the 139th Psalm.
I grew 10 inches in my 14th year. I was 5 feet 11 in. high 8-foot and was never asked for a date. I sat busy and became a swimming champion and had no time to feel sorry for myself. God was good to me. He kept telling me that He loved me. I heard Him and was blessed again.
That 14-year-old girl seems to be so full of wanting that she can't hear Him. Please tell her for me that if she will turn her life over to God and realize that He loves her and has a wonderful plan for her, she too can have a beautiful, exciting and rewarding life.

Day Care Funding Saved By Askew; Crisis Headed Off

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The crisis over continued state funding for the subsidized child care program in Central Florida which affects 2,500 children in Seminole County has been averted, at least for the time being.

Mrs. Phoebe Carpenter, administrator of the Community Coordinated Child Care program of Central Florida (4-C), said today that William Page, secretary of the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS), reversed his position Wednesday and agreed to channel $2.5 million in new federal money into the program statewide.

Page had earlier announced that he would be reducing the state subsidy to start new programs elsewhere and to make up a $2.3 million deficit which occurred when $20 million in state contracts with day care centers were signed, even though only $17.3 million had been appropriated by the legislature.

Mrs. Carpenter said she had returned from a Tallahassee meeting with Page, a representative of the governor, State Sen. Kenneth Plante, minority leader of the Senate, and State Rep. Dick Batchelor, Monday very discouraged when Page remained adamant in his stand to cut the child care program.

She said that she presented Page and the governor's representative with a series of Evening Herald articles concerning the subsidized child care program in Seminole County and the mothers, many of them divorced or widowed, who were being helped with child care so that they could work for a living and stay off the welfare rolls.

She credited the stories for having a direct effect on changing Page's mind.

Page at a press conference in Tallahassee Wednesday afternoon said he would direct $2.5 million into subsidized child care of $1 million pumped into the state from the federal government under a law sponsored by Vice President Walter Mondale when he was a member of the U.S. Senate.

The 4-C program provides subsidized day care for single, working mothers in professional centers. Under the original Page proposal, 25 children would have been cut from the program in Seminole.

Mrs. Carpenter said today the new federal money pumped into the program on Page's order, after appeals were made to Gov. Heald Askew, means that "we will have the same number of dollars to use in 1978 as in 1977."

"But," she added, "since the minimum wage which must be paid to day care center workers has gone up, the same number of children cannot be served with the same number of dollars."

The Central Florida program, under 4-C, has a budget to expire in July of $3.1 million, while the costs for the same number of children, she said, totals $3.3 million.

The $3.1 million level of funding, Mrs. Carpenter said, halts a program in the planning stages for Osceola County.

Crisis will again strike in July, Mrs. Carpenter said, since Secretary Page, despite instructions from Governor Askew, is asking for only $19 million in state funding in the new state fiscal year budget.

Mrs. Carpenter said the governor has told Page to increase his budget request. Page is considering amending his request to $23 million statewide, while actually $25 million is needed, she said. The $25 million total would provide money to meet minimum wage costs, maintain the program and increase it. "If Page doesn't ask for the money, where do we start?" Mrs. Carpenter asked.

She said that two groups are very interested in the subsidized child care program—The Commission on the Status of Women and the League of Women Voters. Mrs. Carpenter said that Secretary Page apparently doesn't understand the concept of preventive child abuse and prevention of women going on the welfare rolls rather than working for a living that results from subsidized child care. "Perhaps he needs to be educated," she said.

Family Released On Bail After Seminole Drug Bust

By SCOTT ABRAHAM
Herald Staff Writer

Four Seminole Countyans, three of them members of the same family, have been arrested on drug-related charges stemming from a 10-month investigation by sheriff's deputies and the federal Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA).

Those arrested were:

- Artist Wayne Plemons, 37, 198 Willow Ave., Forest City.
- Barbara Harg, 15, of Forest Fern Park Apartments, Fern Park.
- John Emma Plemons, 198 Willow Ave., Forest City.

Authorities charged Mrs. Plemons with two counts of possession of a controlled substance — the drug phenylcyclidine — after sheriff's deputies allege they bought seven ounces of the flaky white substance from them in a shopping center parking lot Wednesday afternoon.

John Wayne Plemons, 19, of 1068 Orenta Dr., Altamonte Springs, Authorities charged Plemons with being a principal to delivery of a controlled substance, phenylcyclidine.

John Emma Plemons, 198 Willow Ave., Forest City, Authorities charged Mrs. Plemons with two counts of possession of a controlled substance, a single phenylcyclidine tablet, and "more than five grams of cannabis."

All three family members were released from the county jail. Artist Wayne Plemons and his son posted bond while Mrs. Plemons was released on her own recognizance. Miss Harg was still in jail this morning.

Sheriff's department spokesman John Spolski said the phenylcyclidine buy took place at a parking lot near the intersection of SR 424 and Highway 1792. The buy was the culmination of several earlier purchases made to gain evidence to search warrants for the Plemons home and the Harg apartment could be seized, he said.

Spolski said sheriff's deputies followed the elder Plemons and Miss Harg to a convenience store parking lot located at Grand Street and SR 424, where the arrest took place.

Spolski said the seven ounces of drugs purchased was valued at $10,000. The arrest of the Plemons and Miss Harg is one of the largest distributor sources of phenylcyclidine in Central Florida, Spolski said.

He said phenylcyclidine was a dangerous drug.

Both were charged with delivery of a controlled substance.

Row Over Appointments Cooled

Winter Springs Mayor Relents; He'll Consult Panel

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Despite an informal ruling by the state attorney's office he need not consult with council on making commission appointments, Winter Springs Mayor Troy Piland said Wednesday he'll do so anyway.

The issue came about last Monday when council refused to approve Piland's commission appointments.

Shortly after two new councilmen, Bart Logan and Laurent Pelletier—took that oath of office Monday, Piland's authority to name commission heads was challenged with Councilmen John Daniels and Donald Sines lining up with the newcomers. Only Councilman John Sabatini supported the mayor's appointments.

When Piland declined to change the appointments at Monday's meeting, council voted 4-1 for a motion by Daniels to have councilmen retain their current posts and giving Logan control of the fire department and Pelletier the police department. Daniels has been finance commissioner, Sines planning and zoning commissioner and Sabatini, public works commissioner.

Piland said the action violated the city charter which he said gives the mayor the authority to make appointments and instructed City Attorney Gary Massey to seek an opinion from Attorney General Robert Shevin.

Massey reported Wednesday night that he had received an informal opinion from a member of Shevin's staff who had said the mayor had the authority to make appointments by specific reference in the charter and specifically had control over the powers in the city are vested in the council. Massey, who said he agreed with this opinion, said to obtain a formal opinion from the attorney general would take two to three months and the request would have to be in writing.

"This does not satisfy me," Sines said, "we need an official
