SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Wife who's tired of husband finds what she wants in class

DEAR ABBY: My husband, "Howard," and I have been married five years. I at first didn't want to be married to him anymore. I started to feel this way, but he became "something" to me.

I'm afraid to bring it up because he has low self-esteem and depression. I don't want to be the wife of a depressed person — the lady I feel like I'm his mother.

I love Howard and Jesse. He has helped me raise my son. But I can't afford to waste the rest of my life with someone who is so insecure that I can't even touch my legs without making him cry.

ADDY

The twist to the story is that I attend school part time and have become friends with a man I'll call "Gary." When I'm absolutely miserable, Gary is attractive, smart, and knows what he wants out of life — and has a plan to get there. (I keep asking myself, what was Gary when I was single?) I live in a small town and can't talk to anyone about my situation. Any suggestions?

REPRINTED IN WISCONSIN

DEAR FRUITFUL: I love you. I've loved you since I was 15. I've been married for five years. Now here is your letter. You indicated that Gary is interested in anything more than a casual relationship.

Your husband's self-esteem can be helped through counseling and your emotional support. There is always going to be someone who is better, smarter, more beautiful and more successful than you. It doesn't mean you're not good enough.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 35-year-old woman. I've been married for 10 years. I'm tired of my husband. He's not happy in our marriage. He's not happy in our home. He's not happy in our life. He's not happy in our bed. He's not happy in our bed. He's not happy in our bed.

I'm tired of my husband. He's not happy in our marriage. He's not happy in our home. He's not happy in our life. He's not happy in our bed. He's not happy in our bed. He's not happy in our bed.

WANTS THE BEST FOR DAD IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR WANTS THE BEST: Your dad should be told the truth immediately. There are legal implications when someone conceals that kind of information. You should be honest with your father. He should be advised of his rights and the consequences of the could be a lady with plenty to hide. Either way, your dad should be given the opportunity to find out whom he's dealing with.

DEAR ABBY: My wife made me tired because she's not happy in our marriage. She's not happy in our home. She's not happy in our life. She's not happy in our bed. She's not happy in our bed. She's not happy in our bed.

Seminole High Class of 1961 holds reunion

On Nov. 8, the Seminole High School Class of 1961 held a reunion at the Seminole Junior Center for their 41st reunion. During the evening they enjoyed reminiscing about their college days when everyone was young, carefree, and full of life.

The reunion was sponsored by appointed representatives from each school and was held at the Seminole Junior Center. The group was shocked to learn they were in a museum.

Last in the evening, Alby Stanley of the Duke Sound played the top tunes from that high school years so the class could dance, while watching the after football game dances and wonderful prom nights. Attention was also to win prizes for identifying songs from the 1960s such as "I Fall to Pieces" and "Moon River."

A program director was given to each class member and class year. Prizes were given to the winners from during the evening. A Special Photo Book is being given to the class.

The committee who planned the reunion were: Robert, Bob Brown, Glenn Hodges, Bob Linder, Richard, Suzanne, Jack, M. S. Smith, and Rick, Alvin, and Robert, Mike, Robert, and John, Richard.

The next day members of the 1961 Class Team gathered at Mayday Country Club where they were joined by their coach, Fred Collins, and former gubber, Al Dr. John, Mary, and John.

Al Dr. John had not seen their former coach in 41 years.

Members of the golf team attending were John Whitcher, Sam, and John.
