Modern Civilization Termed As Hard On Trees As It Is On Men

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK—(AP)—If you think this civilization is hard on men, what do you think it is doing to trees?
 Well, they're having troubles too—according to a man who claims to be the nation's oldest active tree climber.
 "Tree diseases keep increasing all the time," said Harry Strevell, 67, shaking his head. "There are more than a hundred now."
 For forty years Strevell, dean of some 1,300 Davey tree experts, has been shinning up shade trees diagnosing abnormal ailments such as heart rot, sheathing fungus and other forms of blight.
 "I could have retired two years ago, but I didn't want to quit," he said. "With trees I have always been happy. There's something about working with them that tugs a man. You get away from it for a while and see a dead stub on some tree you are passing and you want to walk right up and saw it off."
 Strevell's affection for trees, however, isn't quite as strong as that shown by his teacher, the late John Davey, known as the father of tree surgery in this country. Davey used to tip his hat every time he met a white oak.
 Most major tree surgery is done in the spring, when a tree's circulation is at its best.
 "Trees fight harder than people do to stay alive," said Strevell, whose weathered tan and crew-cut hair make him look like a gentle giant. "It is very hard to discourage them."
 He is passing through a real test of courage. The Dutch Elm blight, believed carried by a small beetle, has spread through New England and the middle west since 1930. It is a major threat to what is probably America's favorite shade tree.
 "It is a bark disease, something like the chestnut blight that hit here in 1911 and wiped out all the native American chestnut trees west of the Mississippi River," recalled Strevell. "It is fatal within two years. . . acts something like cancer in two years. . . no known cure for it. All we can do is try to keep the disease from spreading to other elm trees."
 It takes two or three years of active work in the field to make a competent tree surgeon.
 "Some tree surgery jobs take a full week," said Strevell. "It is a lot like dental work. Once I had to fill a cavity in a tulip tree thirteen feet long, three feet wide, and three feet deep. I guess that was the biggest single job in my career."
 Many people still plant trees to memorialize their marriage, the birth of their children, or as monuments to a favorite cat or dog.
 "I believe women get to love trees more than men," Strevell said. "A wife sees the tree in her yard all day long. It gets to mean more to her than it does to her husband. He usually sees it only in the morning and in the evening."
 After climbing thousands of trees—and tumbling from a few—Strevell is convinced his occupation isn't particularly dangerous. But he once spent five months in a hospital after he fell on a stub. Another time his foot got caught in a loop of rope as a heavy dead limb was being lowered.
 "I rode right up the trunk of that tree on the back of my neck," he said thoughtfully. "And I tell you I was doing some mighty fast thinking."
 All tree surgeons have their pets.
 "Tulips are hard to climb. They don't have any branches on them for 70 or 80 feet. Elms are bad that way, too—not enough

Rural Common Sense

By SPUDS JOHNSON
 The country may not be jumping out of the frying pan into the fire, but it certainly is going quickly from one emergency into another. Farmers throughout the country were called on, and gave, fullest possible production of crops and animal products one year after another during World War II and the adjustment years which immediately followed. Farmers anticipated a period of slackened pace for themselves and their farms. But the rest period has been of short duration. The mobilization emergency again has resulted in the call for full production. In announcing acreage guides early this month, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan called for the maximum possible increases in corn and wheat—his goal asks nearly a 7 percent increase in corn acreage. Last fall he had requested a 53 percent increase in cotton acreage. And the Secretary says even larger plantings of grains could be used if this did not mean that other crop plantings would be unduly reduced. While the Department of Agriculture did not announce acreage guides for 1951, it is important that livestock production be continued at high levels. He suggested that farmers make their plans with close attention to available feed supplies.

 "Production of more livestock and livestock products from the same amount of feed, through increased efficiency in operations, is an important objective," the Secretary declared. "It is equally important that farmers get the largest possible production increases through higher crop yields per acre."
 "Farmers and ranchers should also continue, and where possible expand, their efforts to improve range and pasture. There is still considerable idle land and land now in poor pastures which can and should be brought into effective forage production."
 "No one knows how long the present emergency may last. It is therefore especially important that current crop production efforts be accompanied by good farm management and conservative practices which increase production this year and at the same time maintain the fertility of the soil."
 "Continued interest in conservation farming and grass land improvement can play a very important role in meeting the critical situation facing us for the next few years. Farmers and ranchers, with full support of federal and state agencies, should see that each acre is utilized so as to contribute its part in meeting the over-all need," Secretary Brannan concluded.
 It is estimated that there are more than 50,000 lumber mills now operating in the United States.
 During the Middle Ages it was considered unmanly to ride in European carriages. They were used chiefly by women.

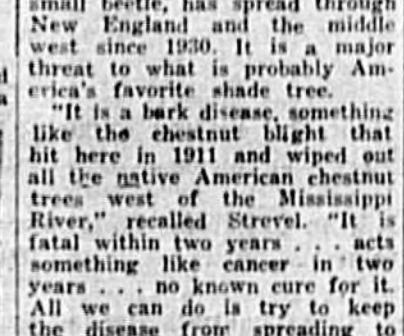

The American Junior Red Cross has more than 19,000,000 members.
 Texas has more miles of railroad than any other U. S. state—15,670 miles.

Mother of Two

Lucille Hiseel
 HADACOL Supplies Deficient Systems With Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron
 Mrs. Elmer Hiseel, 3225 2nd Ave., Council Bluffs, Iowa, is a good mother. And like all good mothers she keeps a careful watch for the welfare of her two young children. And when little four-year-old Lucille Hiseel wasn't feeling as her mother knew she should she decided to Lucille Hiseel do something about it. Mrs. Hiseel gave Lucille HADACOL because she had heard how much it was helping children who had poor appetites and stomach distress caused by deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin. It helped her so much that now Mrs. Hiseel gives HADACOL to both of her children.
 Here is what Mrs. Hiseel says: "My daughter has taken two bottles of HADACOL and she has been eating more than before and also sleeps better. I think HADACOL is the best thing for children who do not have an appetite. My daughter is four years old. Before taking HADACOL my daughter complained of her stomach hurting her, and I got her a bottle of HADACOL and she says her stomach doesn't bother her any more. I think HADACOL is wonderful. I am also giving HADACOL to my three-year-old daughter."
 HADACOL is so effective. An important thing about HADACOL is that you get Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron in liquid form, which means that they are quickly absorbed and dispatched to the blood stream, ready to go right to work. HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of the blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every part of your body.

handles. Maples are easy as a rule. They branch often. So do oaks. At my age I like the ones with handles on—so you don't have to shinin' so much."
 Only about 12 out of every 25 would-be tree surgeons make the grade. If they turn out to be "high-shy," nothing can be done with them.
 "But, of course, all the fallures may not be due to high-shyness," said Strevell sternly. "Some people are just plain lazy."

HOW RECOVER POWER?
 "Much has been said recently about the plight of Christianity. The only plight of Christianity is that it has taken its eyes off Christ. It does not uncompromisingly make Him central. It hopes to use Him as one foundation stone along with others in the structure of modern Christianity. There can be no recovery of Christian power and wisdom, no emergence of an 'ascetic church,' no church unity, no militant faith, until Christians realize that Christ is the sole reason for the power of Christianity, who must be central, and that means the passing of much that is now associated with the church."

 A change in thinking, from a viewpoint which accepts matter and material things as real to that standpoint which sees the actuality of the things of God, is indicated in the citations comprising the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches next Sunday. The subject "Reality: The Golden Text from James (1:17): 'Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning.' Bible passages include the following from Acts: 'And at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sang praises unto God; and the prisoners heard them. And suddenly there was a great earthquake... and every one's bands were loosed.' (Acts 16:25, 26). Correlative selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mark Baker Eddy include: "Spiritual senses, contradicting the material senses, in-volve intuition, hope, faith, understanding, fruition, reality" (206:13-15).

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Our laws have grown more kindly in three thousand years, but we should not abuse lenient laws. Maybe we lean too far toward mercy to important persons who repeat crimes again and again. Eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.—Exodus 21:24.

The city of Tallahassee has adopted a $4,079,000 budget for the coming year, up $300,000 over last year.

The Times-Union points out that April Fool's Day is no time for foolishness this year. The people have been fooled too much already this year.

Showing how new construction in Florida is increasing are these figures released by the Florida Industrial Commission. The average monthly employment in the construction industries in 1947 was 54,400; in 1948, it was 57,700; in 1949, it was 50,000; in 1950 it was 59,500; and for the first two months of this year it has been 65,000.

Nine Floridians are listed among the 575 greatest living American writers in a new book,
"American Novelists of Today"
by Dr. Harry R. Warfel. They are Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, Theodore Dreiser, Edith Pope, Elizabeth Metzger Howard, Andrew Lytle,
Dr. Frank G. Slaughter, Philip Wylie, Benedict Tieleen, and Robert Spencer Carr.

These are more ways than one of skinning a cat. The Chinese Communists couldn't whip the American boys in the field, so they are sending shipments of opium into this country. Federal Narcotics Commissioner Amlinger says, to undermine American youth. And some American youth, anxious in some cases to escape the draft are reported taking to dope as a way out.

Governor Byrnes of South Carolina will have no part of any Third Party movement in the South to oppose the re-election of President Truman. He will oppose Truman, or any other "Fair Deal Democrat," don't worry about that, but he will not do it merely by killing his vote, and the votes of all those who might join a Third Party movement. Votes are going to be too important to be killed in the next election.

As if to prove that the Administration hasn't the faintest idea what is going on in the world and desires only to play both ends against the middle, it at one and the same time authorizes Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson to issue an optimistic statement that the Marines have arrived and everything is well in hand, while General Marshall broadcasts dire forebodings that the situation is worse than it ever has been and all hell is about to break loose. No wonder the average man, who looks to his leaders for advice is confused.

The importance of an adequate hospital to meet any and all emergencies was again illustrated Wednesday morning when a school bus crashed into a ditch injuring 18 Negro students. Most of their injuries were superficial, fortunately, and the accident was not nearly as bad as it might have been. The victims were rushed to the hospital where they were promptly given emergency treatment. But 18 additional patients suddenly dumped into an already overcrowded hospital can cause a

Unfreezing Television

The Federal Communications Commission at last has taken a step toward lifting the freeze which has prevented issuance of new television station licenses for two and a half years. The freeze was intended to give the Commission time to study the allocation of frequencies, since it had become clear that there were to be far more applications for licenses than could be satisfied under the old setup, and that it would be necessary to add more channels. This study has now been completed, unless protests against the proposed allocations force further inquiry.

Everyone will hope for speed in finishing the matter now and resuming the issuance of licenses, as the continuance of the hold-up benefits no one. The freeze has caused haphazard geographic inequities. Some areas of the nation, where television stations happened to get an early start, have seen an almost unbelievable growth of this medium of communication and entertainment, while some other areas only a few miles away have remained with only embryonic television service or none at all. It should have been possible to serve the ends of the freeze without these inequities, but when the freeze was put on nobody expected it to last for thirty months.

Television has had an impact on family life, social life and education which leaves historians of the contemporary scene groping for words to describe it. The impact which has already been experienced is probably nothing compared with that which will come with unhampered development.

Importance Of A Name

"What's in a name? That which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet." Thus spoke Shakespeare's queen of lovers, Juliet, but wrongly. Names do make a difference.

Take "capitalism." In the battle against Communism, one trouble, as various thoughtful observers have pointed out, is that our economic system is handicapped by its name. "Capitalism" recalls the old-time conflict between capital and labor; it suggests a system in which the rich prosper at the expense of the rest of us.

"Free enterprise" is not a happy term either. It has been misused by its friends, some of whom have used it to cover all sorts of shady dealings. "Free enterprise" has in some cases been used to glorify oppression of labor, or illegitimate practices in business. To a good many critically minded persons the term is not so far removed from "racket."

It should be possible to find a better term without the undesirable meanings of these two expressions, so that the defenders of our traditional system will not start with two strikes against them. "Balanced economy" has been suggested, but is not particularly moving. "Economic" or "industrial democracy" could be nearer to what is wanted. There may be still better terms, which it would be well to find. There is something in a name.

Influence On Weather

Senate subcommittees are considering legislation which would put all experiments in rain-making under federal control. They have heard predictions from scientists that real control over the weather is quite possible, and have heard Weather Bureau officials, but poorly concealing their skepticism, say that if rain-making is to be done they ought to be in on it.

If weather were under federal control, past scandals of influence peddling probably would fade into insignificance beside new ones to come. The Senate has never seen a filibuster such as might be conducted in an effort to alter the next year's rain program. In the past the crash of lightning has seemed to invade committee hearings; in the future it might indeed do so.

Weather Bureau people may be scientifically dubious, or they may merely have envisioned such things as these while watching their gauges on stormy nights.

Academy Awards

playing the role of Billie Dawn, which she created in the New York stage play, Columbia studios tested many other actresses before selecting her. Ethel Barrymore accepted the award in her absence, lauding a "radiant performance."

Ferrer, another newcomer to films, spoke his acceptance from a New York Party. "This means more to me than the honor of an actor. I consider it a vote of confidence and an act of faith, and believe me, I'll not let you down."

Ferrer himself had thrown the party at a small Spanish night club and invited both Miss Holliday and Miss Swanson. Miss Holliday broke into sobs and could only say: "I'm beside myself with excitement."

Other important awards: mention picture story, "Panic in The Streets" by Edna and Edward Anhalt; story and screenplay (by same writers)—"Sunset Boulevard" by Charles Brackett, Billy Wilder and D. M. Marshman Jr.; Irving Thalberg Memorial for high-quality production, "Darryl Zanuck of 20th Century-Fox" best musical score, "Sunset Boulevard"; Franz Werhan; best song, "Mona Lisa" by Mack David, Al Hoffman and Jerry Livingston; from "Captain Carey, USA."

Special awards went to studio boss Louis B. Mayer for his service to the industry since 1907 and to actor George Murphy for his public relations tours.

The event was one of the least exciting in the Academy's 23-year history. A crowd of about 1,500 people gathered in the Hollywood Roosevelt ballroom for the ceremony.

THE WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The head men in Moscow may be looking with some misgivings over the compromise among the democracies about the political and military conduct of the Korean war.

Such dissatisfaction perhaps is worth more to the musicovites than legions on the battlefield. It not only may help them in the military sense but it could prove propaganda for the spread of communism.

Another typical of recent criticism was that voiced yesterday by Prime Minister Nehru of India in parliament. He characterized General Douglas MacArthur's recent peace-talk offer to the North Korean and Chinese Reds as an "extraordinary development fraught with grave consequences for all countries concerned."

"Certainly no field commander is going to lay down his policy of the government of India," declared Nehru. Political policies are laid down by governments, not commanders in the field.

The prime minister had in mind MacArthur's recent statement that he was ready to confer with the enemy commander "to find any military means whereby the realization of the political objectives of the United Nations in Korea might be accomplished without further bloodshed."

One can't dismiss lightly such a statement coming from the head of an Asiatic nation of 300,000,000 people. His views are bound to sway a host of folk, especially since his influence extends beyond the borders of his own country.

The London Daily Express sums the situation up in an editorial declaring "it is time the hounding of MacArthur was brought to an end." The Express says the real quarrel between the general and his critics is not about the tactics of the should halt at the 38th Parallel. He maintains that isn't sensible as a military proposition.

"A halt on the Parallel" declares the Express, would simply mean giving gratuitous advantage to the enemy which might be paid for with Allied lives. In a military sense the Parallel does not exist, but in the political field it looms very large indeed. Our leaders cannot decide where one begins and the other ends. This is why political direction of the Korean war has been and still is deplorable.

This defense of MacArthur comes from a newspaper in a country which has been very critical of the commander. There has been considerable feeling there that the general is too much of a one man band and has exceeded his prerogatives.

Who decides what his prerogatives are? Well he commands a United Nations army which fights under the U. N. flag. However, the peace organization has divested itself of responsibility by declaring that the United States is its agent to maintain a unified command. So it's up to Washington.

That brings us back to our original observation that Moscow must be no end pleased over any Allied blundering. A quick end to it would be welcomed in many quarters, but we find ourselves rather in the position of Captain Bruce Balmain's "Old Bill" and the "Better Ole!"

The famous British artist during World War I pictured his soldier character "Old Bill" as sheltering in a shell hole with a companion who was complaining bitterly about the heavy enemy barrage.

"If you know a better Ole, go to it."
So now some critics on both

Floods Hit

Much livestock was reported drowned. Far reaches of rich farmland were lapped by muddy waters, and farmers counted among their losses the certain delay in spring planting.

In northeast Alabama, the Cahaba and Coosa Rivers overtopped their banks and fanned out. National guardsmen were on duty at Childersburg, where the Coosa partly covered about 200 homes. Between 400 and 1,000 persons were homeless. Red Cross workers loaned the guardsmen in bedding down the unfortunate under dry shelter.

The downpour in Alabama in 48 hours was more than the normal precipitation for the entire month.

But in Alabama and elsewhere in the South the rains were mostly over. Ironically, skies were clearing as the flood threat inched toward its peak.

The Coosa was expected to rise four feet past flood stage of 20 feet today.

Downstream at Montgomery, Alabama's capital waited uneasily for the update overflow to send its waters into the Alabama River. A crest of 49 feet Saturday was expected to inundate sections of north Montgomery. Flood stage there is 35 feet.

At Northport, Ala., on the Warrior, most of the business section was under water. The river rose 42 feet overnight, and 50 families splashed out of river-side homes. Among the refugees of this town of 3,000 was Mayor H. L. Anders.

The Warrior neared a predicted crest of 68 feet, only six inches short of the record set more than a half-century ago.

Highway communication between Northport and Tuscaloosa, a mile distant, were cut, and the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio Railroad began free shuttle service. With an fare to pay, residents of the two cities crowded into passenger trains that saved them a detour of 35 miles by motor car.

In the fertile pastureslands of west-central Alabama, cattle were driven to earth mounds above the level of normal spring floods, only to be mired knee-deep in the unusual rise.

The Tennessee River was climbing fast in localities. The great description in the Tennessee Valley was recorded at Halesville, Ala.—7.69 had 6.95 inches. Damage to high-inches in 48 hours. Falkville, Ala., ways and bridges in Calhoun county alone was estimated by $300,000.

At Birmingham, where about 10,000 residents of a Negro suburb were marooned Wednesday night, the flood waters were slowly falling. The rain belt had reached from the Carolinas and North Georgia across Alabama and into Mississippi and Louisiana.

At Rome, in North Georgia, more than eight inches of rain fell in 24 hours and swelled the Oconee River to a rise of 14 feet in 12 hours.

Red Cross disaster crews were on the alert. Flood stage at Rome is 28 feet. Early today the river had reached 30 feet and was still rising. Highways to the south were under water. In some sections, rail tracks were washed out.

The sides of the Atlantic are saying that if we know a better ole we can go to it. They hold that if there is a better Allied military leader, and one who knows Asia better, why then send him to Korea. The alternative, from their viewpoint, is to support the man already here. That might halt any belly laughs in Moscow.

fire into Allied lines on the central front. Patrol clashes flared all along the battleline.

About 70 American and Russian-built jet fighter planes clashed over North Korea Friday in two separate high-altitude dog-fights. U. S. pilots claimed at least one Red jet destroyed and two others damaged. There was no damage to American planes.

The Red infantry was poised along a 60-mile front.

Many of the fresh troops may be replacements for Reds felled by a triple epidemic of typhus, smallpox and typhoid fever. Allied sources said the diseases had hit untold thousands of civilians and Red soldiers in north Korea in recent weeks.

The new arrivals were bunched along Parallel 38 on a 60-mile line centered north of Chunchon. Chunchon is eight miles south of the border.

They could be the jump-off force of an expected Communist spring offensive.

The U. S. Eighth Army command says the Reds at any moment can throw nine rested or fresh army corps—some 270,000 men—into such a drive.

If they do, it would be their greatest smash of the war.

If the Reds should strike during the first three weeks of April, they might find Allied army log-

Police Need Money

But AP correspondent Leif Erickson reported last Fri- day that Matthew S. Ridgeley's Eighth Army is in the best position of the war to absorb the shock of a major Red drive.

The Eighth Army holds strong positions just south of 38 on the western and central fronts. Some of its South Korean units are eight miles north of the border on the eastern front.

President Truman told a news conference in Washington he still wants a free and united Korea. He said the question of crossing the Parallel is a military matter.

An American Negro unit that calls itself "Fearless" drove without three miles of 38 on the western front Thursday.

British and American forces forged sizable gains near Chunchon, also in the western front. A light rain fell for hills east of the battered town. Some American troops were forced to withdraw.

U. S. artillery duelled with Red field pieces north of Uijongbu, also on the western front.

To the east, American patrols moved north and northward. A Hangry within four miles of 38.

The Eighth Army said 780 Reds were killed or wounded and 57 taken prisoner in Thursday's strong patrol action across the front.

Allied airmen spotted more than 2,000 Red vehicles moving along the Communist supply network in North Korea Thursday night. It's the most U. S. pilots have ever seen. They attacked more than 300 of them.

A Russian type jet made the first Red night air attack in more than a month. It made two passes at an American B-26 Thursday night. The B-26 was not hurt.

For the second straight day, U. S. B-29 bombers Friday struck and heavily damaged the Red airfield at Sinpak, 70 miles north-west of Seoul.

Many great discoveries have been due to "blind luck."
It is a disconcerting fact, however, that the "breaks" usually fall to those who keep everlastingly at something, whether it be creating an explosive, developing a new drug or molding a progressive city and county.

The Lamplighter

"Born Yesterday" is one of the "Must" pictures of the year. It is a comedy-drama, this is a comedy-casting Broderick Crawford and Judy Holliday in a story that parallels very slightly Shaw's Pygmalion...

Debutantes Go For Diamond Tiaras

By DOROTHY ROE Associated Press Fashion Editor NEW YORK — The diamond tiaras, once the exclusive province of queens and dowagers, has become the latest debutante fad.

At the recent Tiara Ball in New York, half a million dollars' worth of diamonds literally went to the heads of the teenage socialites in attendance.

BE QUICK To Treat BRONCHITIS

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Cromomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel mucus...

HEART TROUBLE

Nerve energy is transmitted from the brain to the heart by the nervous system. There must be no interference with these nerves leading from the brain to the heart or they cannot properly transmit their energy...

It is true that disease of the heart may be produced by pressure upon nerve fibers supplying the heart. Then it should be equally true that the release of this pressure would restore normal transmission of nerve energy to the heart.

Two Sanford Men End Basic Training

Two men from Sanford have recently completed the 13th week of basic training with Tank Company, 61st Infantry Regiment of the famed 8th Infantry Division at Fort Jackson, S. C.

Rail Unions

First, Kennedy wanted to exclude the one remaining tough issue from the arbitration. That was how much money the trainmen should be paid for coupling air hose between cars on occasion.

Previously the railroads had insisted the arbitrator be Dr. John R. Steelman, assistant to the President, as provided in a "memorandum of agreement" which the carriers and the union chiefs signed at the White House last Dec. 21.

The Brotherhood of Trainmen broke away from the other three operating unions—the engineers, firemen and conductors—and almost settled separately a few weeks ago. However, an agreement was blocked then by the arbitration issue and the deadlock over how much money should be paid the members of the trainmen's union when they are called on to couple air hoses between cars.

In accepting the carriers' arbitration proposal, Kennedy said he still feels there is no need for an arbitration but that if one is appointed he should be fully qualified to pass on the issues.

Worse the most fabulous head-dresses imaginable, provided by diamond merchant Harry Winston. Hank and his tiaras of the rest of the youthful guests raved from sweet peas to Christmas tree tiaras. Said one mother: "At least this is going to help Susie hold her head up straight!"

President Auriol

Rationing

(Continued From Page One) party level. Parity is a price, calculated according to a formula in federal farm laws, which is supposed to provide a fair return to farmers in relation to the cost of things they buy.

American officials later expressed concern over the French attitude. They said they hoped the problem would be ironed out quickly lest it mar the friendly atmosphere of Auriol's visit.

Warren Aide

(Continued From Page One) the three he already has told about the Governor are not adequate, outright lies.
