

Smithsonian Real Sensitive About Appearance

By DECK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Smithsonian Institution, that proud old relic hoarder, is getting sensitive about being described as "the nation's attic."

"Please don't call us that," said Frank A. Taylor, director of the Smithsonian's Museum of History and Technology, and I promised I wouldn't. But offhand I can't think of a better description.

I dropped in on Taylor to find out about the new museum the Smithsonian is building to house part of its vast collection of memorabilia from America's past. I found out I had been housing a misapprehension.

Someone had told me that the Smithsonian was required by law to accept everything that was tendered to it and was forbidden to throw anything away.

I understood it had several warehouses crammed with unsorted, useless and unwanted objects that had been handed over to it for preservation. Not so, said Taylor.

He said this impression must have stemmed from various magazine articles that have pictured the Smithsonian as squirreling away such attic treasures as old bird cages, broken baseball bats and portraits of maiden aunts.

"Actually, we're pretty selective in what we take," he said. The Smithsonian does, in fact, have several million articles in storage. But Taylor explained that this reflected a shortage of display space rather than any desire to keep them hidden.

He said the public tends to think of the Smithsonian in terms of those two medieval-looking buildings that stand on the mall between the Capitol and the Washington Monument. This is a misconception.

The institution institutes on a far-flung scale, operating three museums, two art galleries, a fine arts collection, a bureau of ethnology, an astrophysical observatory, a biological center, an international exchange service and a zoo.

I presume all of them have space troubles. However, the problem in Taylor's history and technology ballwick will be largely solved when the new $6-million-dollar museum is completed in 1962.

It will be situated near the two castle-like eyesores on the mall. But it won't look anything like them. It will be a marble structure of contemporary design. There will be three exhibition floors especially laid out for such things as a steam locomotive, the desk on which Jefferson drafted the Declaration of Independence, Washington's sword and Jane Appleton Pierce's inaugural gown.

I think Taylor is right in rejecting the traditional description of the Smithsonian. Whoever heard of an attic with a locomotive?

An Honest Man Settles A Debt

FORT MADISON, Iowa (UPI) — A 76-year-old retired railroad man recently settled a 27-year-old repair bill of 14 cents by sending a $2 money order to cover the money he owed plus compound interest and a $1 bill "to cover unnecessary expense."

"I had no intention of defrauding your company," wrote R. M. Francis of Big Rapids, Mich., to the W. A. Sheaffer Pen Co., enclosing a repair invoice dated July 24, 1933, "but did that which was about as bad — I failed to settle an old bill."

The firm returned the $2 to Francis and sent him a new pen to replace the one repaired more than 27 years ago.

'Slander' Keeps Good Men From Running, Krider Says

Most leading citizens are afraid to run for public office because of "slander campaigns" they have to face, County Commissioner Chairman John Krider told the Kiwanis Club yesterday.

"Many citizens are reluctant to seek office because they know they face character assassination by those who oppose them," Krider said in a talk at the Kiwanis luncheon.

The commission chairman, who also has served on the City Commission, said "people have accused me of graft and corruption of all kinds while I've been in office. I'd be glad to have a grand jury check the records, but the accusations just sit on the sidelines."

Krider, commissioner for District 1, said "Right now, I don't even know whether I'll make any plans to run again myself."

The county commissioner also gave a brief rundown of county problems due to a projected increased growth by 1975 of 150,000 persons and summarized the progress the county commission has made on a new county jail, remodeling the courthouse and road work.

Flu Warning

School Administrative Assistant Walter Teague today advised all parents to keep their children at home if they have signs of the flu rather than sending them to school.

A check of schools in the area this morning revealed that while the flu has hit most student bodies, absenteeism has not reached "alarming proportions."

Mrs. May Fort, attendance officer for Seminole High School said "a good many children were out yesterday, but many have returned today."

Mrs. Fort denied any report that the school may be forced to close down because of the excessive absenteeism due to the flu bug.

Sanford Junior High School and elementary schools in the city also report absenteeism up, but nothing alarming.

Israel Border Dispute Spreads To Other Areas

The Israeli radio reported today an Israeli soldier was wounded at midday in a new exchange of fire along the tense Israeli-Syria border.

Syrian soldiers were said to have opened fire on an Israeli patrol near the village of Shaar Yisahu in the Hula Valley in upper Galilee.

District 5 Forms Voting League

Residents have formed a District 5 Voters League "to get candidates and get out the vote" in that district.

Don Fletcher is chairman of the league, which has scheduled its first meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the courthouse. Letters are being sent out to all registered voters in District 5 urging them to join the league and attend its meetings.

Speakers at the Tuesday meeting will include John Fitzpatrick, Loch Arbor resident, who announced Wednesday that he will qualify as a candidate for the District 5 commission post.

Two Men Fined On Driving Counts

Two men were fined $250 on driving while intoxicated and reckless driving charges in county court Wednesday.

John Minarik of Sanford was fined $150 on two charges of driving while intoxicated. Minarik pleaded guilty. Lester Coleman of Gainesville pleaded guilty to reckless driving and was fined $100.

New Church Set For Casselberry

A United Presbyterian Church is planned for Casselberry.

An organizational meeting will be held in a week, Town Mayor W. M. Benson said today. A fund drive for the church will also start then. The property on the corner of Winter Park Drive and Crystal Bowl has been acquired for the church, Benson said. All Presbyterians in Casselberry are invited to attend the organizational meeting.

Heroic Measures Needed, Taylor Tells Probers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former Army chief of staff, told Senate investigators today that "heroic" measures are needed now — "men, money and sacrifice" — to reverse what he called a declining trend in U. S. military strength.

"The alternative is military inferiority," the retired general said, "and there is no living long with communism as an inferior."

Taylor testified before the Senate's combined space committee and armed services preparedness subcommittee. He was the first witness as the group turned its attention to Army needs.

His testimony echoes views Taylor had previously expressed in a book published since his retirement last June. He again urged a "complete reappraisal" of military policy.

Major reliance on weapons of massive destruction has, he said, "lost all justification." He called the manned bomber force "a dwindling military asset."

Taylor told the Senators: "Our long range missile force is limited in size, uncertain in reliability and immobile upon exposed bases. We have no anti-missile missile defense in being or in sight. There is no effective fall-out protection for our civil population."

Porter Lansing Still Critical

Porter Lansing, longtime Sanford resident who was injured in an auto accident, Tuesday night, which killed two men, is still in critical condition at Orange Memorial Hospital late this morning.

The two men killed in the mishap, which occurred on Hwy. 17-92 near the Lake Monroe Bridge, were Thomas J. Crosby of Jacksonville and Leon J. Daugherty of Fernandina Beach.

A brother of one of the victims, Thomas Y. Crosby, who was involved in the accident is reported in fair condition at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

$2,500 In Cash Stolen From Roumillat Store

About $2,500 was stolen from Roumillat and Anderson's Drug Store Monday, Sanford police revealed today.

Police said F. E. Roumillat Sr. laid the money behind the prescription counter and left it there in three bank bags and one paper sack for 20 minutes. It was gone when he returned. Roumillat said today that he was outside the prescription room only about 20 feet away from the money when it was taken.

The theft happened about 7 a. m. Roumillat intended to deposit the money in the bank.

Police said they are holding a former Roumillat and Anderson employe on suspicion of having taken the money. The employe was in the store at the time of the robbery, they said.

Roumillat said his insurance only covers breaking and entering the store, not thefts of this kind. The drug store never has been burglarized before.

Chief Roy Williams said that another local businessman reported $1,500 lost a few months ago. The money had been misplaced, however, and police found it.

ASSOCIATION FOR CHILDHOOD EDUCATION President Dr. Sara Lou Hammond, center, told Seminole County ACE members Tuesday how teachers can improve their offering to pupils. With Dr. Hammond are Mrs. Charles Bosh, president of the county ACE, right, and Lake Monroe Elementary School teacher Miss Mable Chapman.

Educator Stresses Teacher's Job

How teachers can improve their offering to pupils was explained by Dr. Sara Lou Hammond here Tuesday.

Dr. Hammond is president of the Association for Childhood Education and an authority on state and national education.

Teachers should find out the situation in a child's home and referrals at their command and should know what they are doing and why, the doctor urged.

Teachers should provide activities that will develop skills in which children are lacking. They should be able to look at criticism and use it to their advantage in improving teaching, Dr. Hammond said.

Sometimes a child will get bad grades but the teacher should make the parents understand that this is only one case and should not give a false picture of the whole school system. Teachers should know what cultural and recreation centers are available for youngsters, Dr. Hammond said.

Casselberry Course To Double Its Size

The Casselberry golf course will double in size before the summer is out, Mayor W. M. Benson said today.

The nine hole course will be enlarged to 18 holes. Town developer Hibbard Casselberry owns the present course property and the adjacent land to be used for expansion. The course is self-maintaining.

Commie Countries Sign 'Policy' Declaration

MOSCOW (UPI) — Eastern European Communist countries today signed a declaration of their policy on East-West issues.

A Soviet journalist said the text of the declaration would be released later by the Tass news agency.

Soviet and foreign journalists were called to the elaborate St. Catherine throne room in one of the Kremlin palaces to witness what was called a "signing ceremony."

But what exactly was signed was not revealed to the approximately 70 newsmen present.

The signing came at the end of a one-day meeting of the eight members of the Warsaw Pact.

The premiers and first secretaries of the Communist parties of Albania, Bulgaria, Romania, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, and East Germany, and Nikita Khrushchev for the Soviet Union, each signed four times — either copies of one many-paged document or four different documents.

Approximately 75 leaders of the various Communist countries were on hand for the 30-minute ceremony, as well as observers from Red China, Viet Nam, Mongolia and North Korea. The observers did not sign.

The countries signed the document in alphabetical order with Khrushchev, smiling broadly and obviously in good humor, signing next to last.

The ceremony was staged to obtain the greatest effect. Photographers also were present in good numbers.

Frederick Calls For Vote Action

The attorney general's office was notified today by Rep. Gordon Frederick on the need for Gov. LeRoy Collins to call a special election to fill a vacated Seminole County commissioner post.

Frederick said he spoke to Attorney General Richard Ervin's office and asked that the governor take immediate action calling for the special election during the May 3 primary.

Frederick informed the attorney general's office that the people of Seminole County want the election.

The District 2 post, representing Sanford, has been vacant since November when David Gatch resigned.

The attorney general's office told Frederick that under the Florida constitution, the governor is required to call a special election to fill any vacancy created by a resignation.

DeGaulle Fired Deputy Premier, Sources Claim

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles DeGaulle today fired Deputy Premier Jacques Soustelle, former rightist strong man in Algeria, informed sources reported.

Sources close to Soustelle reported his ouster, but there was no official confirmation from DeGaulle's office.

The sources said Soustelle was fired by DeGaulle at the end of an abrupt three-minute interview.

Citizens Can Help Stop Woods Fires

The Forest Service has asked the public to assist in curbing wood fires, several of which have led them to suspect malicious mischief and arson.

The first thing the Rangers ask is that people use common sense in wooded areas and stop setting off fires through carelessness.

They also point out that rewards totaling $1,350 are available to citizens furnishing information resulting in the arrest and conviction of anybody willfully setting forest fires.

Mr. E. D. Clark, district investigator for the Forest Service, said:

"Malicious woods burning can be stopped if the people of Seminole County will cooperate and report suspicious actions of persons setting fires to land they do not own."

Some woods fires don't only burn trees, they endanger homes and residents' lives. If you see some fool deliberately starting a woods fire, let the authorities know—you may save property and life.

DeGaulle's Prestige Is On Rise As Revolt In Algiers Quiets Down

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign Editor

The barricades in the center of Algiers came down this week and President Charles DeGaulle's prestige went up.

There was a revival of hope that the five-year-old Muslim revolt in Algeria finally could be settled.

But DeGaulle's unquestioned victory over the dissenting French settlers in Algeria and over the French army officers and men who passively sided with the right-wing settlers, also revived doubts about France itself.

DeGaulle's victory in Algeria was strictly a personal one. It restored the question of the real strength of the new French Fifth Republic. What would happen to it with DeGaulle's passing and whether in reality the Fifth Republic actually was not a "DeGaulle republic."

There also was the question of France's place in the North Atlantic Alliance, and her reliability as a partner.

Last week, as the threat of civil war hung over France, worried NATO members conferred on what their action should be in the event the threat became a reality. Presumably, the United States would participate in these talks because of the 75,000 men and the millions of dollars in equipment it maintains in France as part of NATO.

Closely related to the same problem was the influence the French might or might not be able to wield in a summit meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

And finally, there was the question of Algeria itself.

DeGaulle's victory in Algeria apparently was clear cut. He had granted the dissidents nothing and he had made clear his determination to push ahead with his self-determination plan. He also had made clear his confidence that, under the proper conditions, the vast majority of Muslims in Algeria would vote to continue a close association with France.

But win, lose or draw, the Algerian uprising once more had put world attention on the issue of colonialism when that form of civilization was becoming increasingly unpopular.

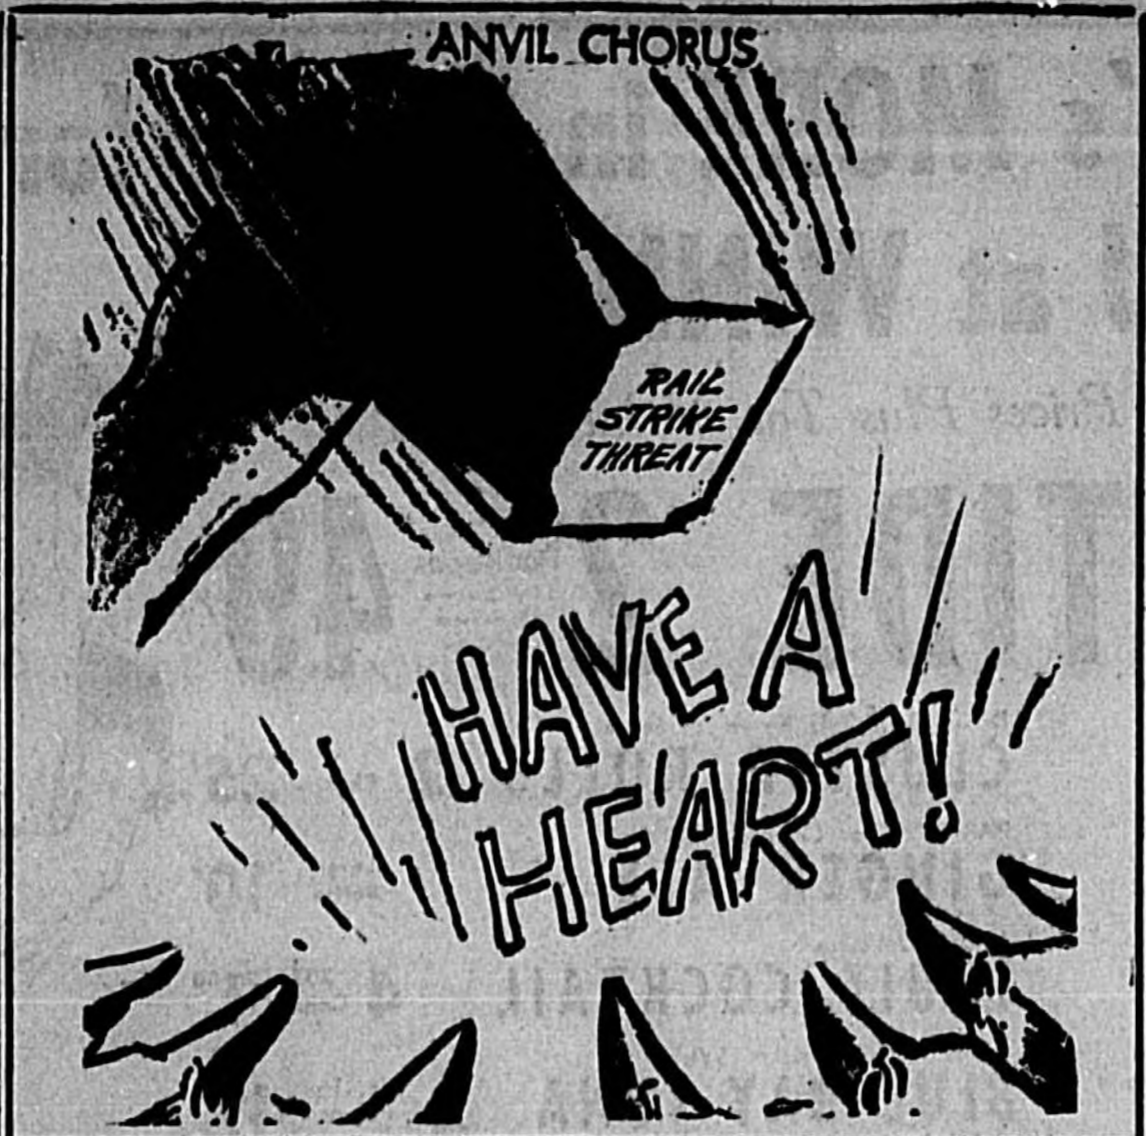

It was tailor-made for Communist propaganda.

DeGaulle's problem in Algeria was three-fold:

He had dealt firmly with the "Colon," the right-wing settlers who had tumbled nearly a dozen French governments and who by their pressure tactics had raised the very real question as to whether the French capital lay in Paris or Algiers.

When he fired Maj. Gen. Jacques Massu, hero of the Algerian rightists, he began dealing with the army as a political force and turning it back to its real job—suppression of the Muslim rebellion in Algeria.

He still had left the rebellion itself, led by a government-in-exile whose influence has been waning but which still insists that it will negotiate as the voice of the French in Algeria. That problem, DeGaulle still has.

WASHINGTON CALLING by Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON—If they were not so grim about it there would be something almost comic in the attitude of most Democrats toward Richard Nixon. It is with a kind of awe, as though he were the Loch Ness monster equipped with an electronic brain and guidance system of incalculable superiority, that they speak of the man they will confront in the campaign this fall.

As they demonstrated at their recent big $100-a-plate get-together they have a compulsion to denounce him. Part of this is understandable. It goes back to the campaigns of insidious Nixon conducted at the start of his political career, impugning the loyalty and patriotism first of Jerry Voorhis, galvanized when he ran for Congress, and then of Helen Gahagan Douglas in the Senate race.

More difficult to understand is the implied conviction that Nixon by his dazzling techniques, will put himself over on the public. And this, in the Democratic view, would be contrary to law, order, morality and nature itself.

Without a candidate in sight on whom they can unite, the Democrats are obviously not prepared at this stage to formulate a strategy for Nixon's defeat. But they talk about it a great deal, with much of the talk based on the assumption that the American people can never accept such a political slicker.

That is the identify they stress—the smart political operator whose opportunism shows through his guile. That opportunism is reflected, or so the uneasy Democrats believe, in his face. To sustain the point, Adlai Stevenson recently told a story about Lincoln when the first Republican president was under great pressure to name a certain man to an important postmaster position.

Lincoln repeatedly refused, although he was importuned by some of his important political backers. Pressed for a reason, he finally said he just didn't like the man's face.

"There, you see," the answer came back from the chief promoter, "this proves that you don't really have a reason to turn our candidate down."

"Oh, yes, I do," said Lincoln in the Stevenson story. "Every man after 40 is responsible for his face."

Whether there is an instinctive reaction against Nixon and whether it will weigh with the voters at the polls is an open question. This may be merely the wishful thinking of Democrats who refuse to forget the past. Certainly they cannot forgive Nixon for being the hatchet man in successive national campaigns when President Eisenhower was taking the high road above the political battles.

But to count on the instinctive reaction would seem, particularly in view of Nixon's considerable talents, to be most unwise. Now is nomenclature likely to prove effective? For the kind of name calling that went on at the Democratic dinner suggests an uncomfortable political parallel.

During the two decades beginning in 1932, when they wandered in the political desert, the Republicans never met together whether in small groups or big conventions without denouncing Franklin Roosevelt. They called him every name under the sun, printable names in public and unprintable names in private. No crime was too low to impute to him.

This is not to suggest the slightest resemblance between Nixon and FDR, a suggestion which the vice president's admirer's and detractors alike would instantly reject. But it is to say that the negativism of this incessant name calling was one of the more depressing aspects of Republicanism in the years in the desert. The very act of jumping up and down in indignation gives the object of the indignation an importance he might not otherwise have.

Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois, in the economic report recently brought out under his direction, indicates the kind of vulnerability on which the Nixon attack can be centered. It undermines, as does an article in the current Harper's by J. Kenneth Galbraith, the Nixon claim to be the bold fighter against inflation. That kind of documented challenge will weigh more with the voters than cries of rage and pain.

It is possible that the passage of the Nixon denunciation reflects the defeatist view that the Republican candidate with all his guileful technique is unshakable. This is in no way more than one dangerous assumption for all concerned. In 1948 most of the politicians and all the pollsters and commentators thought the Republicans had in Thomas E. Dewey an invincible. The voters proved them wrong.

ASSIGNMENT WASHINGTON by Ed Koterba

WASHINGTON—In the basement of the house, the voluminous secrets of this generation's most controversial man, Joseph R. McCarthy, have been carefully filed and noted.

Jean McCarthy had just finished the biggest task since her husband's death—setting up the papers, the records, memoranda, the many secrets in proper sequence.

The next step: "The only complete and accurate book about the works of the senator."

The senator's widow told me that she has at long last decided who should do the writing, but his identity would remain secret for the time being.

Actually, there may be two books. Mrs. McCarthy revealed in her first newspaper interview since Joe's death in 1957.

She was a little embarrassed in discussing the other book. She's writing it herself.

She said, "I think it may be too personal." So she's laid it aside—after doing seven chapters. I mentioned that this type of book about her husband would probably be more appealing to readers than any other profile. She said she'd think it over.

Over the past years, Jean would thumb through the files and come across little notes she had written to herself about Joe while working as his secretary.

Each note would bring back an old memory, and this would stretch out into a big chapter in his life, and Jean would sit down and write it. She did most of the work last year while sunbathing on the Chesapeake with her daughter, Tierney.

Jean McCarthy still doggedly carries on the philosophy of the man from Wisconsin, although most organizations that sprang up during his big days have dropped by the wayside.

Although she has avoided newspaper publicity and the social whirl like scouges, her life is not altogether one of seclusion.

Occasionally she has some old friends of Senate days in for a quiet evening in her home, which is one-half of a modest duplex she shares with her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Kerr.

On one wall of the living room, Jean had hung, in odd-shaped frames, seven medals which Joe had received, mostly during World War II.

Predominating in the room is a huge color portrait of the senator painted several years ago by a Marine. The artist caught McCarthy in an amazingly life-like pose.

The senator is at his desk pointing his pen in a pose that millions of TV watchers of the Army - McCarthy days would recognize. His face carries the hint of a secret grin, his eyes alert, tense, partly calculating, partly quizzical.

Jean said: "Isn't it a good likeness?"

It is a portrait of man on whom the book of history has not yet been closed.

And even the upcoming volume—the Joe McCarthy story—to end all Joe McCarthy stories—may not be able to close it.

Here is a copy of a letter I have sent to the Seminole County Commission:

"Now we all are agreed that a light is needed to facilitate traffic and help reduce the frequency of accidents at the intersection 17-88 and state road 486. Next comes the matter of reducing the speed limit there. So far no mention of it has come to my attention.

"How come the cost of an activated light is $12,500? Any good mechanic shop could invent one and make it from the raw material for less than a third of that and gold plated to boot. Furthermore, what is needed there is a 10-7 second or 15-10 automatic which does not require trips. No wonder we have induction and ever mounting rates.

WORRY CLINIC by Dr. G. W. Crane

Linda makes the mistake of many shy girls in her dilemma and shame parties. Instead, she should be glad she blushes, for that gives her an advantage over the non-blushing girl. It makes boys feel superior, which is why they stay around her to tease her further.

CASE D-48: Linda W., aged 18, is a college coed.

"Dr. Crane, I blush on the slightest provocation," she confessed. "And because of that fact, boys pick on me. They go out of their way just to tease me, knowing I'll blush as red as a beet."

"It makes my life so miserable that I shun boys and stay at home instead of going to parties. I have a compulsion by which to overcome blushing!"

Blushing is a first cousin to stuttering, as well as to spastic colitis, and several other nervous effects.

But the person who blushes is more conspicuous since his flushed skin attracts attention.

The cause of redness is the extra blood that suddenly accumulates in the vessels of the skin when they dilate.

Blushing is thus a natural reaction in an overabundant person for the body then dilates the blood vessels in the skin so the blood will cool off faster.

But Linda's type of blushing is the psychological sort which has developed as a nuisance habit and thus has become a "compulsor," akin to stuttering.

Whenever she feels acutely self-conscious and imagines that everybody is looking at her, she says she can feel the warmth in her skin and knows that she is turning red as a beet.

The most effective means of combating such blushing is to avoid that self-consciousness.

"Yes, Dr. Crane, but how can I quit feeling so self-conscious?" she begs.

The answer is to focus your attention diligently on other people, as by joining the Compliment Club.

It requires you to become a social detective so you can pick out some desirable traits in your companions. Then pay them a verbal compliment thereon.

And as you search your neighbors for their virtues, you meanwhile cannot be thinking acutely about yourself.

So people who are shy and blush, must divert their attention to others.

They must not see from social contacts and sham parties or dates.

"Linda, do you know why boys tease you about your blushing?" I asked.

"Oh, it's because they want to embarrass me," she replied.

But that isn't the basic reason. They do it because Linda makes them feel happier. For as she blushes, they feel superior. They are more pointed than she is.

"I want to feel important," is the magic motto figuratively tattooed on the chest of all of us at birth.

So Linda's blushing makes the boys actually feel more assured and important, for they are NOT blushing as she is.

Linda actually has an advantage over non-blushing girls. She must remember, that boys tease her because they enjoy her company.

"Why are you blushing?" they may boldly inquire.

"Because I'm a red-blooded American," she should perky learn to reply, with a smile, and then turn the spotlight on them by some compliment, such as "By the way, that's a beautiful tie you are wearing. Where did you get it?"

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 4 stamped, addressed envelope and 50c to cover typing and printing costs when you need for one of his booklets.

Garden Gate

By MARY LOU McDONALD This is the time of year when much interest is focused on house plants and planters. Look around your home or office and picture what a beautiful foliage plant would add, or perhaps a general revision of your present plants would add decorative eye appeal for the year to come. In areas of low light intensity, you should select plants which will do well in this condition. Don't let the appearance of a plant persuade you to use it in an area which it is not adapted. Plants that do well in low light conditions include Chinese evergreens, peperomias, violets, gloxinias and some philodendrons. Perhaps the most important single factor in the failure of house plants in the average home is the lack of humidity. Artificial heat in a house is drying and water in the pots alone won't take care of the problem. To raise the percentage of humidity in the average home is not as easy as it is not only good for the plants, but for you, too. Among the materials that are satisfactory are turkey or chicken grits, coarse sand and vermiculite. Another way to increase humidity of the air is to spray the plants three or four times a day or on warm days put your house plants outside and use the sprinkler on them. Plants get dusty and the pores in the leaves close up, making them short on necessary moisture. Clean foliage is important with indoor plants—even more so than with garden plants as house plants are viewed much closer. We know, too, that some plants are grown indoors for the foliage alone. A wonderful job of foliage cleaning can be done with one of those bottles with plunger spray cap that window-cleaning fluids come in. To attain a humidity percentage in the high 90's a Wardian case (simply a glass or transparent plastic enclosure which is essentially a small greenhouse) or a large snifter can be used for growing luxurious plants. If you are unable to put these measures into effect, there are still many tolerant plants that will grow in your home. Among drought resistant are many plants in the Poinsettia family. Among the most satisfactory are the various species of Philodendron, Monstera and Dieffenbachia. Plants in the Pepper family (including Peperomia) are also toughies. Sansevieria or Snake Plant is just about the toughest of all house plants and about the only conditions that will cause it to fall are too much water or freezing. House plants are by no means immune to insects and diseases and should be sprayed regularly with a general indoor insecticide. Regular feeding is also important. By using a soluble fertilizer (mixed with water) the two jobs can be combined. Care of house plants can be complete by having better tools for indoor gardening. Included should be watering can with small spout opening, small plunger sprayer for insecticide, leaf-shining materials and varied sizes of pots and plastic labels.

THE SANDS OF TIME ARE RUNNING OUT
There are only three homes left in exclusive SAN SEM KNOLLS. This means that only three more happy families will be able to say:

"In looking for a home we saw many with MANY of the features of SAN SEM KNOLLS, but none with ALL of them. For instance there were many with 3 bedrooms, 2 or 1 1/2 baths, electric kitchen, terrazzo floors and so on. I like a SAN SEM KNOLLS, and some even had the same FHA financing with low down payment and low monthly payments. But there was always SOMETHING wrong - like not having city water and sewer, or not having the large, covered patios you see in SAN SEM KNOLLS, or being located in a noisy neighborhood.

That is one thing we love about SAN SEM KNOLLS - it's QUIET. Another thing we love is that our children play in front because our home is on a dead end street and we don't live in constant fear that a speeding car will run them down. IT IS LIKE A GREAT CLEAN LITTLE VILLAGE WITHIN A CITY! And, last but not least, the construction is guaranteed to be the very best because every bit of it was personally supervised by the builder, Philip Zeutl."

SAN SEM KNOLLS is four blocks west of French Ave. on Twentieth Street. A Stempier associate is on the premises daily.

Covington Covers Sports

By JERRY COVINGTON

Coches of the Class A Group 5 tournament met Wednesday of last week and set up the action that will begin March 2.

The location was disappointing to all towns around this area. Ft. Pierce was chosen as the site and the 125-mile drive will keep a lot of local supporters at home, but they do have excellent facilities for a tournament of this size.

Since Sanford went into the meeting with a 10-1 record they were seeded third. Seeded in the one and two spots were Seabreeze and Cocoa. Coach Laver drew a bye for the first round and his Seminoles will face the winner of the Stuart-DeLand game.

The first game will get underway March 2 with Titusville and New Smyrna meeting at 4:30 p. m. and the winner of this game will face Vero Beach in the second round.

Ft. Pierce and Florida Military School will meet at 8 p. m. in the first round and the winner of this game will face rugged Cocoa in the second round.

Kissimmee and Seabreeze both drew byes in the first round of the tourney, so they will meet each other in the first game of the second round at 4 p. m.

The winners of the four games in the second round will meet the night of March 4, with the first game getting underway at 7 p. m. If things go as they have been shaping up, it should be Sanford facing Cocoa in this one. The winners of these two games will meet March 5 at 8 p. m. for the championship and a trip to the state tournaments.

Although it is a long way to travel, this will be the finest tournament in the state, with 11 of the best clubs to watch. With Cocoa, Vero Beach, Seabreeze and Sanford in there battling it out there is no doubt that there will be a lot of points made.

Speaking of tournaments, I made a statement a couple of weeks ago that I would like to correct. I said that the winner of the OBC tourney is entitled to a trip to the state tournaments in Gainesville, but the only route is through the district meets. So we will just have to take that route I suppose.

Voting For Baseball's Hall Of Fame Draws Big Blank Again

United Press International

The voting for baseball's Hall of Fame drew a big blank again today—meaning no one was elected for the second straight time—and Commissioner Ford Frick says it may be high time to change the system of balloting.

President Joe Cronin of the American League agreed with Frick that "some new procedure should be adopted," although National League President Warren Giles said the latest failure to elect anyone to the shrine at Cooperstown, N. Y., "doesn't necessarily indict the whole system."

Not only wasn't anyone elected this time, but no one even came close despite the fact a record number of 200 members of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America took part in the balloting.

Ed Roush, former Cincinnati outfielder, polled the best among the 120 players receiving votes. He got 146 votes, still far short of the necessary 200 minimum needed for election. Sam Rice, one-time Washington and Cleveland outfielder, was runner-up with 153 votes, followed by former Philadelphia and Cincinnati pitcher Eppa Rixey with 162 votes.

Silver Lake Golf Play Slated Soon

The 16th Annual Silver Lake Golf Club Tournament will be held Feb. 11, 12, 13, and 14, in Leesburg at beautiful Silver Lake.

The largest field in the history of the tournament is assured. Top amateur golfers from all over the country will be in the city to participate. A new champion is assured this year as the 1959 champion, Bob Swave Jr., a student and former member of the Florida State University Golf Team has turned professional.

Frank Baird, outstanding amateur golfer from the State of Kentucky will be on hand along with Claude Wild, former Maryland State Amateur Champion, and Dexter Danale, Senior Champion from Winter Haven, Florida.

2 Tie For First In Bidy League

Roumlatta and Robson Sporting Goods are tied for first place in the City Bidy Basketball League as a result of last week's thrilling game.

Robson defeated Roumlatta 24-20 to hand the druggists their second straight setback. Both teams have identical 5-3 records.

In other league action, Stempers defeated Higgenbothams, 38-4 and Standard Electric slipped past Seminoles Sporting Goods, 33-31.

Roumlatta and Robson Sporting Goods will play an exhibition game during the half of the Seminole High/Leesburg game Friday night.

The latest voting results were announced in Boston by Secretary Hy Hurwitz of the writers' association. After 212 p. m. Barleigh Grimsley finished fourth with 98 votes and Jim Bottomley fifth with 88 votes. Rounding out the top were Charley Ruffing, with 86; Urban Faber, with 83, and Hack Wilson, Kiki Cuyler and Luke Appling, with 78 votes apiece.

2 Championship Bouts To Be Staged In Same California Arena Tonight

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Southern California, land of super-fights, tonight stages the biggest fight program in California history—two 15 round world championship fights—in the biggest stadium in the west, the 105,000-seat Coliseum.

The principals are bantam-weight champion Jose Becerra of Mexico, who gives Alphonse Halimi of France a chance to regain his crown, and junior welter-weight champion Carlos Ortiz of New York meeting undefeated Raymond Bevilacqua of Teresopolis, N.J.

The four bouts meet at noon today for the weight-in line from the Coliseum at the home arena of the sponsoring Olympic Boxing Club. None of the fighters anticipated any problem meeting the weight.

The first fight has broken the Coliseum for the record as advance sales stand at more than the 100,000 interest of Mexican fans, some 15,000 of whom will be in attendance. Even the threat of rain Wednesday night and early today did not dampen the enthusiasm.

By the time the box office closed Wednesday night, an estimated $250,000 was in the till. The old gate record for a California fight was $234,321 drawn by the Carmen Basille-Art Aragon fight. Becerra probably was the major attraction to the Mexican fans. The quiet-spoken boxer from Guadalajara became the idol of his nation when he knocked out Halimi in the eighth round of their title fight last July.

But Carrara is a rising star who is undefeated in 21 straight fights and boasts of 24 knockouts. Carrara, however, is the underdog against the rugged Ortiz, a six-time veteran whose boxing skill was expected to overcome his 35-year-old opponent's punching ability. Becerra was favored once he time the fight was announced, the sports installing him a 10-5 choice. The odds increased to 10-4 with the possibility the Mexican champion may be 24 by the time the bell rings.

Ortiz did not become the favorite until this week. Previously the man who wager had tabbed the second bout as 6-5 and took poor choice. But Ortiz was an confident of victory he finally became a 10-5 choice.

Upset Marks Sandspur Play

Tuesday night's bowling saw an upset in the Sandspur Bowling League, as Foodmart pushed Irving Pryor's State Farm Insurance team out of the top spot, after that team had held it the most of the season.

This puts Foodmart on top with 26 wins, followed by Pryor's with 27 1/2 wins, Robson Sporting Goods 26, The Fig 'N' Whistle 21 1/2, Wilson-Maler Furniture 21, and Roumlatta and Anderson Drug with 20 wins.

Wilson-Maler deserves a bouquet from the grocers, for they took all three games from the knocking Pryor's out of contention, as the furniture team took two wins from the underwriters. Margie Woods rolled high for the league and her team to lead Wilson-Maler a little closer towards the first division. Lillian Ogden, making the 5-7 split, was top for the State Farm team, with Erna Anderson and Naomi Jackson, both making the 5-10.

Foodmart had easy sailing with Pryor's out of the way, as they took all three games from the druggists with ease. Grace Helle was high bowler for the grocers, and MaryLou Danyuk was tops for the druggists. Frances Cross picked up the 5-7, and Barbara Harrison topped the 5-9-10 on this pair of lanes.

Robson Sporting Goods and The Fig 'N' Whistle called it a draw, as they met on the five and six alleys. Each team won one, lost one, and split one evenly, to make it 1-1 each.

FSL Club Names New Manager

Managerial roles for the Florida State League's eight clubs were all but completed yesterday when the Philadelphia Phillies named Wilbur Johnson as pilot of their Tampa farm club.

Johnson, in the Philly farm chain for the past eight years, was the Eastern League's all-star team shortstop last year for Williamsport in the New York-Pennsylvania league. He reached Triple A play in 1956 when he was with Miami of the International League.

Stenstrom Realty Aiding Grayhounds

Another Sanford sportsman has joined the ranks of those re-ordering fence advertising at Memorial Stadium this summer as a means of co-operating with the local sponsors of the Sanford Grayhounds in the Florida State League.

This one is Herbert Stenstrom of Stenstrom Realty at 111 North Park Ave., and he is the sixth advertiser to accept one of 24 six foot by 16 foot spaces available.

Koufax OK's '60 Dodger Contract

By United Press International

The world champion Los Angeles Dodger gave Sandy Koufax a $5,000 raise today—for his pitching, not his hitting.

Rivals laugh whenever Koufax steps into the batter's box and his .111 average last season indicates why, but the smile disappears from their faces when the 24-year-old southpaw moves onto the pitching mound.

Koufax averaged better than 10 strikeouts per game last season, fanning 173 batters in 133 innings, and for that the Dodgers boosted his salary from an estimated $14,000 to $19,000 this year.

The Cardinals announced the signing of four players, chief of whom was Ken Boyer. The 28-year-old third baseman, who batted .309 last season, was given a "substantial increase" and is believed to be making $25,000 new. Infielders Dick Gray and Joe Wooten and outfielder Duke Carmel were the other St. Louis signees.

Outfielder Roman Mejias and first baseman R. C. Stevens agreed to terms with the Pirates, while the Braves announced the signing of outfielder Lee Maye, who batted .309 in 51 games for them last year.

Shortstop Joe DeMaestri, obtained in a multi-player deal with the Athletics during the winter, became the 10th member of the Yankees to okay terms, and Kansas City announced the signing of rookie shortstop Ken Hamlin.

The Reds pulled the signing coup of the day, however, satisfying two brothers at the same time. Catcher Dutch Dotterer and his brother, Tom, a third baseman, both okayed Cincinnati contracts.

5 Sailors Die Falling From Ship

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Hope was abandoned today for five sailors thrown into the icy waters of the Atlantic when a World War II destroyer making its final run made an unexplained 60-degree roll.

The accident severed the arm of one sailor aboard the USS Daly, fatally injuring him.

Ten crewmen were thrown overboard about 150 miles east of the Virginia Capes. The Daly pulled three sailors to safety shortly after the accident Thursday and the merchant ship Alabama picked up two more, one of them seriously injured with a cut seven to eight inches long and two inches deep.

The Daly, four other destroyers and Coast Guard and Navy aircraft from Elizabeth City, N. C., and Oceana, Va., searched the night, casting searchlight beams over the dark waters which intermittently glared with drops of water from the airplanes.

The search continued today and a spokesman said it would go on until after dark. But he admitted there was little hope.

"If they haven't found them by now I don't think they will," the spokesman said.

The Alabama rendezvoused today with the Coast Guard cutter Marion which rushed the two sailors into Little Creek, Va., near here. They were taken to the Portsmouth naval hospital.

The Navy identified the missing men as Nicholas A. Calcutt of Beacon, N. Y.; Robert A. Carlson of West Haven, Conn.; Charles E. Ellis of Madison, Ind.; Paul J. Harvey of Lodi, N. J. and Jerald J. Nobers of Crystal Lake, Ill.

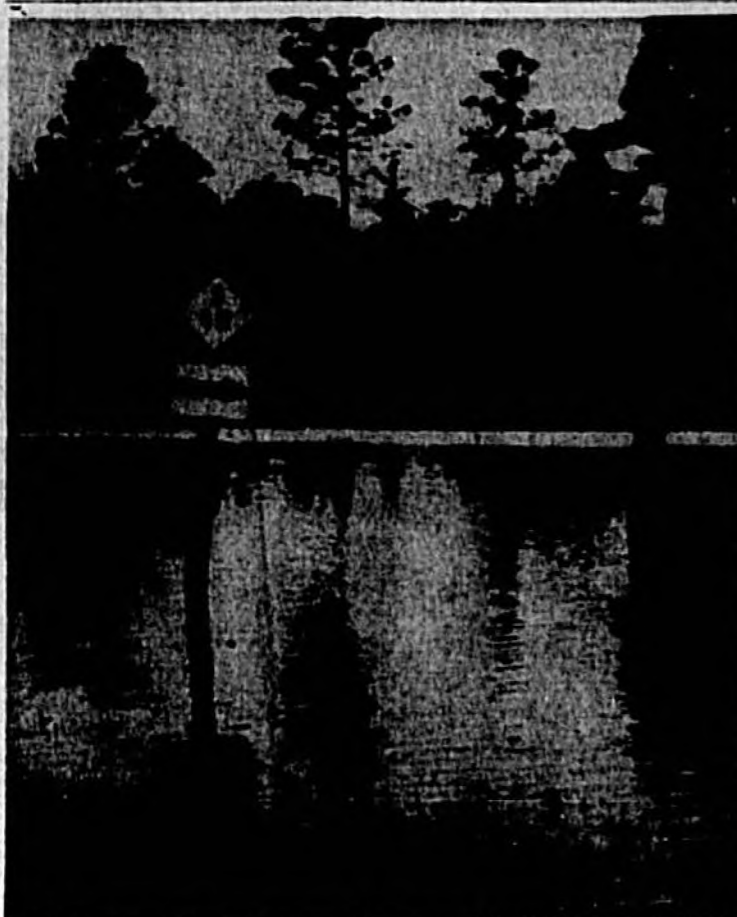

60 Feared Dead

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Reports reaching here said that a Bolivian commercial airliner crashed at Cochabamba early today, killing an estimated 60 passengers and crew members.

Confirmation of the death toll would make the crash the worst air disaster in the history of Bolivian commercial aviation.

Cochabamba is approximately 160 miles southeast of La Paz, the Bolivian capital. It is the second largest city 80,000 pop. in Bolivia.

There was no immediate information as to the type of airliner involved. It was identified, however, as a Bolivian National Airline craft.

Longwood Sells $70,000 Bond Issue

BY JACK PHILLIPS
Longwood's $70,000 bond issue is sold.

The town council last night passed a resolution to sell the street and water improvement bonds to Arthur S. Dewing of Cambridge, Mass. Sanford's Florida State Bank will be the depository for the $70,000 and will handle the bond account. The bonds bear five per cent interest per year.

Councilman R. C. Carlson asked the council if it would be all right to use part of the $70,000 to gain some interest instead of having it lie in the bank. The town won't use all the money at once for the improvements, Carlson suggested that the money be used to gain some interest to defray the five per cent interest cost Longwood must pay on the bonds. No action was taken on this suggestion.

Later in the meeting Councilman E. E. Williamson made a motion that Building Inspector William F. Litke be asked to resign. Williamson charged there had been several complaints about Litke's work.

Litke denied this and the motion was defeated as it ended in a 2-2 vote.

Earlier the council decided that Town Clerk Onnie Rockett should issue building permits instead of Litke. Two contractors requested this so they would have a central place to come for permits. The council also decided to have Longwood building permit rates conform to county rates. Litke's job will be to inspect the buildings after they are built.

Builders should call the clerk's office when they are ready to have a building inspected.

Lormann said that Florida Power Corp. was ready to offer the town a new franchise even though the old one hadn't expired. Lormann said he told Attorney Webber Haines to go ahead with the new franchise to get some more revenue for Longwood. The mayor has been seeking a tax return franchise agreement with Florida Power.

Lyman School asked for repairs on the Longwood baseball diamond, including a 50-foot wire fence along the first base line. The council referred the matter to the building and grounds committee with authority to put up the fence.

The council deferred appointment of a Longwood zoning committee since Council Chairman J. R. Reiter was absent. The group scheduled appointment of the committee for an adjourned meeting Monday.

Street Damage Caused By Rains

Heavy rains covered Seminole County and Sanford last night and this morning causing damage to low-lying streets in the city.

City Public Works Director S. M. Richard said Summerlin Ave. has been barricaded and several others are under "close observation" to prevent water from rising to home levels in the area.

Richard also said that all city work crews were pressed into emergency service to keep catch basins open on low level streets in the city to prevent any threat to sewer and drainage disposal units.

As of 11 a. m. over three and a half inches of rain fell in the area since 8 p. m. yesterday.

Official records disclosed that more rain has fallen during the last 12 hours than in the last four months period.

County Engineer Bob Davis said his crews are out today surveying rain damage over the county and that the heavy downfall has halted work on the Lake Mary Road paving project.

Just how much damage was done due to the rain, Davis said, could not be determined until he gets the report from his work crews.

"It was one heck of a rain and damage might be high," Davis added.

On the good side, County Agent Cecil Tucker said the rain has helped the agricultural situation. "We really needed it," he said.

The whole South was lashed by high winds reaching 70 miles an hour in gusts Thursday and the weatherman predicted more rain was in store for most of the area today.

DeGaulle Names Defense Minister

PARIS (UPI)—President Charles DeGaulle today named a tough paratrooper to the all-important post of minister of defense in his semi-dictatorial government.

He fired two key men and brought in three in the beginning of a purge.

Sacked were Jacques Soustelle, former Algerian strongman whose ties with DeGaulle go back 20 years to the Free French Days of World War II, and Bernard Cornut - Gentille, post and telegraph minister.

In their place, Messmer, a tough, 62-year-old paratrooper officer who supports DeGaulle's plans for Algeria; Jean Foyer and Louis Terrenoire.

Within the new cabinet, jobs were scrambled and two men were appointed ministers. Delegate attached directly to Premier Michel Debre's office.

This was an obvious move to bolster the top echelon to work more effectively with the semi-dictatorial powers given DeGaulle earlier this week.

Soustelle, 48, played a major role 10 months ago in the Algerian settler revolt which catapulted DeGaulle to power, but he could not go along with self-determination for Algeria.

Guns Are Quiet On Israel Border

By United Press International
Israeli and Syrian forces remained at a standoff today along the tense demilitarized zone border that has been the scene of sporadic fighting in both the north and south for the past 11 days.

There were no new reports of gunfire exchanges.

Thursday night the Israelis renewed their demand to the United Nations Mixed Armistice Commission that Syria military forces be made to quit the demilitarized zone near the Arab village of Tawafik, where most of the border incidents have taken place.

In Damascus, a spokesman for the northern Syrian region of the United Arab Republic charged the Israelis with intruding into the demilitarized zone at Shear Yaashur with two armored cars and opening fire on Syrian posts.

Lansing Critical

Porter Lansing, critically injured in an auto accident Tuesday, remains in poor condition in Orange Memorial Hospital today.

duction of U. S. missiles will be "the most significant factor in deterrence to all-out war."

The committee, taking up where Senate investigators left off, are trying to learn whether Air Force officers are satisfied with money allotted to them in President Eisenhower's budget. Schriever and Maj. Gen. D. N. Yates, commander of the missile test range at Cape Canaveral, Fla., were summoned as the first witnesses.

Schriever opposed suggestions that a "super agency" be established to run the U. S. space program. He said there has been "close cooperation" between civilian and military agencies which has "proven its feasibility, and is preferable."

Chimp Has To Go Back, Collins Says

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)—Mr. Moke the chimp and his human friend will have to go back to Missouri to face angry officials of the St. Louis zoo.

Gov. LeRoy Collins said Thursday that unless State Atty. Gen. Richard Ervin finds some legal reason to refuse extradition, he will order Robert Tomarchin, 27, and his pet chimpanzee returned to St. Louis.

Collins said the fact that Tomarchin raised Mr. Moke "like a son" does not constitute grounds for letting him use the state of Florida as a refuge from criminal charges.

Scientists Study Discoverer Data

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI)—Scientists today studied tracking data of the unsuccessful Discoverer IX shot in an attempt to learn why the satellite failed to achieve a polar orbit around the earth.

Discovered IX burned up in the earth's atmosphere moments after launching Thursday and fell harmlessly into the Pacific. With it went an ejectable capsule crammed with instruments which scientists had hoped to recover.

Each of the thousands of parts making up the seven-story, two-stage rocket were subjected to a minute examination for a two-month period prior to Thursday's shot. The rocket had been pronounced basically sound.

Circusland Construction Start Expected By May

Construction of Circusland will start by May, Marshall Marshall told the Jaycees Thursday.

Marshall, president of Entertainment Enterprises, said construction could start in April or May and still make the opening scheduled for December 1960. Building Circusland will be an eight and a half month job, he said. The whole project will open at approximately the same time as the new part of Circusland opening at the end of the year, Marshall said. If there are any lean months, they will be filled out with special circus tours.

The circus part of Circusland will be directed by the Cristians who will have a streamlined circus. Since there are 70 performers in the Cristians' class, alone only part will have to make their yearly circus tour.

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI)—An Orlando pilot, with the aid of an alert truck driver, landed his light plane on the busy South Florida Turnpike Thursday night.

Neither the pilot, Marcel (Bud) Horn, 28, nor his passenger, Thomas E. Fisher, also of Orlando, was injured.

He said he ran into stormy weather and his radio went dead shortly after taking off from the Lantana airport.

"When I started getting in the soup, I found a highway and brought her down," the pilot said.

He said he came in low over the much-traveled toll road, and followed a tractor-trailer, hoping the driver would realize he wanted to land.

The unidentified truck driver caught on quickly. He parked his long vehicle in the middle of the double lane to block traffic and make a clear landing strip for the plane.

Schriever Says Missile Force Poses Grave Threat

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Lt. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, Air Force research chief, said today that Russia will pose the gravest threat ever faced by the United States once ballistic missiles are in full production.

Schriever made the statement before the House Space Committee as it opened hearings in hopes of learning when the United States might catch up with Russia in both military and space rockets.

One production is big enough to herald the "military ballistic missile age," Schriever said. "It is my belief that the Soviet threat... will be the greatest in our history."

On the other hand, he said, production of U. S. missiles will be "the most significant factor in deterrence to all-out war."

The committee, taking up where Senate investigators left off, are trying to learn whether Air Force officers are satisfied with money allotted to them in President Eisenhower's budget. Schriever and Maj. Gen. D. N. Yates, commander of the missile test range at Cape Canaveral, Fla., were summoned as the first witnesses.

Schriever opposed suggestions that a "super agency" be established to run the U. S. space program. He said there has been "close cooperation" between civilian and military agencies which has "proven its feasibility, and is preferable."
