Martinez: 'Frankly, We Don't Have The Votes For A Referendum'

Sales Tax On Services Repeal Looms

By Fred H. Cooper
Herald Staff Writer

When Gov. Bob Martinez met with senate Republicans and senate president John Vogt in Orlando Monday, he conceded for the first time that he didn't have the votes to effect a state referendum on the bill for a Florida sales tax on services.

Vogt, who accompanied Martinez on the flight from Tallahassee in the governor's plane for the mid-afternoon meeting at Orlando's Executive Airport, stated that the governor wanted to talk. "I was returning home from Tallahassee, so traveling down with him was the most convenient time," Vogt said.

Martinez and Vogt met with 13 senate

Republicans, all of the party's members of the upper body except Ander Crenshaw, who was unable to attend.

"Very frankly, we don't have the votes to get a referendum bill through," Martinez said. He also said he was not giving up the idea since more meetings are scheduled.

"People say there has not been enough debate on the subject. Well, there's more debate coming," the governor stated.

Stung by the accusation that the sales tax issue had ebbed and that he had "poured gasoline" on the embers causing a flare-up by his referendum proposal, Martinez said. "People who say that just haven't counted the petitions, haven't read the polls.

"A highly effective media campaign has been waged against the services tax and the people are aroused," he continued. "The grass roots sentiment differs from many politicians. Public opinion is against the bill and for repeal."

Vogt held out for revision for the sales tax bill citing the acute need for the additional revenue. "The mood is for repeal, but we must replace the lost revenue," the senate president said. "No one will be thrilled with paying a 6-cent sales tax, but if we don't replace the revenue, we'll be hearing from schools, prisons, road needs and the like. Right now, state contracts which have not been let are being held to see what will happen if we lose the revenue."

Sanford Budget Passes

Property Buy OK'd

Maryann L. Cross
Herald Staff Writer

One taxpayer questioned the need to raise the tax rate before city commissioners unanimously voted Monday night to approve Sanford's proposed fiscal 1987-88 budget in the first of two public hearings.

Commissioners voted 4-1 to purchase 2,200 acres for a wastewater effluent disposal site, despite questions that have arisen concerning 325 acres below the ordinary high water mark of Lake Jesup.

Earl Jesse, 96 Exeter Court, told commissioners he thought the (tax rate of the) present budget was sufficient.

"In the time I've lived here, I've seen water and sewage rates go from the lowest to some of the highest in the county," Jesse said. "The consumer pays for everything. It's time for city officials to take a look at the expenses (of the proposed budget) and decide if these are necessary."

City Commissioner John Mercer told those attending the meeting the city commission spent long, hard hours poring over the proposed budget for fiscal year 1987-88.

"The citizens of Sanford deserve and desire the services provided by the proposed budget," Mercer said. "That's why the tax rate was raised (for the next fiscal year)."

The proposed budget increases the property tax by nearly 17 percent. The budget calls for a tax levy of $4.85 per $1,000 assessed valuation, which will generate $2.3 million based on an estimated $489.5 million tax base for 1987-88. The current property tax rate in Sanford is $4.16 per $1,000 assessed valuation and generates $1.8 million based on the existing $456.2 million tax base.

For a house appraised at $50,000, property taxes would go from $208 to $242 if the proposed budget is accepted at

State Lottery Ticket Sales Attract 194

Altamonte Leads County Applicants

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

When the Florida State lottery gears up Jan. 15, there should be no problem in finding a place in Seminole County to buy the $1 tickets.

Almost 200 business representatives have asked the state what they must do in order to sell tickets, from which they get a 5 percent commission, said lottery spokesman Ed George. Although the sellers of the tickets will not get a cut of a winning ticket there will be no prohibition against the winner tipping the person who sold him the ticket. The state law says he winner can make a gift of the money he wins, said George.

Of the 194 Seminole County businesses representatives who wrote the state about sales requirements on lottery tickets, the largest number, 51, was from Altamonte Springs. Longwood had 45 people inquire and Casselberry 39. Thirty-six inquiries were from the Sanford area, 11 from Oviedo and six each from the Lake Mary and Winter Springs areas.

In Sanford, interested parties ranged from representatives of bars to video movie stores, George said. They include Action Mower Mart, the Army-Navy Store, B&W Market, Colonial Room Restaurant, Day Rent-A-Car, Experiences, Flea World, Gabriel's Sub Shop, Gormley's Grocery, Hair Now, Holiday Inn, Ideals Food Store, Kokomo Tool, Kulpa Liquors, Medco Drugs, Movie Gallery, Nice Day Coin Laundry, Poplar Avenue Grocery, Russell Sea Food, Seminole Petroleum, Seminole Petroleum Company, Stiemper Agency, Sunshine Liquors, The Barn, Thrifty Service Station, Touchton's Rexall Drug Co., Tranel's Fashions, Video Biz, and Video Vault. ## Manning Responds, Panel Splits On Vote

Longwood Drops Police Probe

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

In a surprise move, Longwood Police Chief Greg Manning responded point by point Monday night to previous allegations brought against him and the police department by City Commissioner Dave Gunter.

Although agenda items are supposed to be requested on the Wednesday prior to Monday night's meeting, Mayor Ed Myers allowed Manning's attorney to make the presentation.

The result was a 3-2 vote by the city commission on a motion by Harvey Smerilson to go ahead and find the allegations made against Manning unfounded as answered by the investigating body, and by Manning in his response.

Smerilson based the motion on Manning's presentation at the meeting, the result of the first Florida Department of Law Enforcement investigation that there was clearly no criminal intent on the part of Manning, and the second FDLE finding that there was no substance to Gunter's allegations.

Smerilson said "We refuse to waste any additional time on an investigation (requested by the entire commission) that is leading us nowhere. From this point forward the city administrator can concentrate on taking care of current city business instead of concentrating on what went on in the past."

"That's a good motion, Harvey," said Deputy Mayor June Lormann as she seconded Smerilson's motion.

Mayor Myers said, "I really don't see any sense voting on this thing," but Smerilson replied, "We made a request to Mr. Waller to investigate, why waste his time. We need to relieve him of the obligation to investigate."

Gunter and Commissioner Lynette Dennis who have been accused of being out to get Manning fired since they took office in January, voted against the motion.

Robertson Announces... Nearly

CHESAPEAKE, Va. (UPI) — Television evangelist Pat Robertson stopped short of a commitment to join the 1988 Republican presidential campaign but said on nationwide television today. "It looks like it's a go."

Robertson said on ABC's "Good Morning America" he would make "a very unique announcement" Oct. 1.

The evangelist, who stood ready to announce today the results of a nationwide petition drive he said would determine whether he would be a candidate, told the network he had "3.3 million expressions of support."

"It looks like it's a go," Robertson said, adding, "I'm not announcing as such... I'm not ready to become an announced candidate."

In Ames, Iowa, Saturday night, Robertson emerged as the surprise winner of a straw vote taken at a big GOP fund-raiser, finishing ahead of Vice President George Bush and Senate Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas, widely seen as the principal contenders for the party's 1988 nomination.

The loss prompted Bush to tell supporters in Milwaukee Monday. "Listen, we've got a lot of work to do. Pat Robertson came on like gangbusters there. People turned out from all over and he showed a lot of organizational ability."

Superpower Summit Said Within Reach

U.S., Soviets Open Arms Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze and Secretary of State George Shultz opened three days of talks today with both sides predicting tough negotiations but an arms control treaty and superpower summit within reach.

Shultz welcomed Shevardnadze to his office at 8 a.m. EDT and the two men began a scheduled 3-hour private meeting, with notetakers and interpreters sitting in.

Shevardnadze was scheduled to go to the White House at noon for a Rose Garden ceremony to sign an agreement setting up a joint "risk reduction" program to minimize the chances for accidental nuclear war and to give President Reagan a personal letter from Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

Agreement on a treaty covering medium-range and shorter-range missiles, with ranges of 300 to 3,000 miles, would set the stage for a third summit between the two men in Washington later this year.

But a senior U.S. official cautioned reporters Monday not to expect a completed agreement or a summit date to emerge from this week's negotiations. Gorbachev's letter probably does not include dates for a summit and Shevardnadze probably will want to return to Moscow to brief Gorbachev before such a decision is made, the official said.

Injured High School Football Player Dies

PENSACOLA (UPI) — A 15-year-old high school football player who was paralyzed during practice last week died early today at Baptist Hospital, officials said.

George Blackmon, a sophomore at Escambia High School, died at 3:21 a.m. CDT. He had been in the hospital's intensive care unit since being paralyzed from the neck down last Wednesday.

Witnesses said the varsity defensive back was injured while making a tackle during a scrimmage. An exact cause of death has not yet been announced by doctors in Pensacola.

Admission Price Hike Mulled

Zoo To Consider Promotions

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

Central Florida Zoo Directors will decide next month whether to approve a two-year contract with an Orlando marketing company which says it can increase the zoo's revenues and attendance.

Harold J. Buckland, president of Source One Enterprises, has given his marketing proposals to the board handling marketing for the zoo. He also told the board it should raise its admission prices because they presently are too low.

Gate receipts could be raised from $195,000 a year to $229,000 a year by September 1989 through an admission price increase and better marketing, Buckland said. He proposed that admission fees be increased from $3.50 to $5.25 for adults, from $1.50 to $2.50 for children, and from $2 to $4 for persons 60 years or older.

He proposed a two-year contract with Central Florida Zoo, which would pay him 50 cents for every $1 the zoo makes above the income the board has projected.

The board did not discuss the admission price increase that Buckland proposed, but probably will do so at its next meeting.

Buckland, who has done marketing for Boardwalk and Baseball, Sea World, and Sears Travel, said the zoo's present low admission fees may have a negative effect on prospective visitors by indicating that the zoo is of poor quality. He said his experience with other clients shows that admission prices have no effect on attendance. He pointed out that Disney World, Sea World and Cypress Gardens raise their rates frequently and continue to show increases in gate receipts.

The increased price would still be an attractive price for low- and middle-income families, and could be offset through special group rates and coupons, he said. The additional income the higher admission price would generate could be used to add more staff members, improve the zoo's exhibits, and advertise the park more, Buckland added.

Board President Susan Morris appointed a committee to evaluate Buckland's proposal for marketing the zoo, and to return with a recommendation for the board at its next meeting.

The board also voted to send three of its members, and Ed Posey, its acting director and curator, to a national zoo director's convention in Portland, Ore., this week to make preliminary contacts with prospective applicants for a new director.

Morris and Posey will fly to Portland from Orlando, and board members John Smith and Bryce Baker will travel to Portland from business trips elsewhere in the country.

The board is searching for a replacement for Al Rozon, who was fired from his position of executive director three months ago. That action set off a legal dispute from dissident members who are trying to have the board recalled. Three board members are asking the Seminole Circuit Court for clarification of the zoo's bylaws concerning recall of the board of directors. Judge O.H. Eaton is scheduled to hear the case Oct. 8.

The Orlando Consulting Group of Winter Park was asked to give the board a price for drafting a job description for the director. The group had previously offered to analyze job descriptions of all employees for $3,000 to $4,500, depending on the extent of the job. But the board decided to wait until a new director is on the job before authorizing the more thorough study.

The board also accepted an offer from Kane and Associates of Winter Park, an accounting firm, to conduct a free operational and financial audit for the zoo.

Bicentennial Events Slated

The city of Lake Mary plans to honor the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution on Thursday, Sept. 17, with a celebration program beginning at 7 p.m. The program will be in the parking lot of the Shoppes of Lake Mary on the corner of Country Club Road and Lake Mary Blvd.

The evening's events will start with a welcome and opening remarks by David Cruise, chairman of the city's Constitution Celebration Committee. The pledge of allegiance, national anthem and introduction of Mayor Dick Fess and the members of the city commission will follow those remarks.

Afterwards, a patriotic song will be presented by the Odysey and Destiny Choral Groups. The Odysey group is from Lake Mary High School and the Destiny singing group consists of Seminole High School students.

During the 45-minute program will be the announcement of winners of an essay contest on the Constitution. The contest, open to students at Lake Mary and Seminole High, Greenwood Lakes and Lakeview Middle and Lake Mary Elementary Schools, offers rewards of U.S. savings bonds for the best essays. Cruise said the celebration committee will give prizes for first, second and third places in the contest.

Following Fess' celebration address, the preamble to the Constitution will be recited and the choral groups will present more musical numbers. Audience participation will be invited in another patriotic song.

The city commission unanimously approved supporting the program and appropriated $700 from the city's contingency budget toward making the celebration of the Constitution's 200th anniversary a reality.

At the end of the program, helium balloons will be released.

Mists Don't Count In Rainfall Amount

Staff And Wire Reports

Folks in Lake Mary got a surprise this morning, if they were up early enough. Misting rain. Not much, you know, but enough to mess up the windshields and mess up someone's weather report. You know the type - No Rainfall Registered. Officially. But, ha, Lake Mary people will know better.

Now, officially, there was no rainfall recorded during the 24-hours ending at 8 a.m. this morning.

Told you so!

Later today you may get an isolated shower, however isolated a shower can be if it's falling on you. Sunny, however, with temperatures in the low 90s today and low 70s tonight. Dennis is still playing around way away.

At 6 a.m., the 11th tropical depression of the year was about 250 miles east northeast of Antigua in the Lesser Antilles, moving northwest at nearly 10 mph, and was expected to continue that motion today.

Maximum winds were estimated at 35 mph, with higher gusts in squalls east of its center. Forecaster Bob Ebaugh of the National Hurricane Center said the depression appeared to have garnered a little strength since forming Sunday night.

The depression would have to develop circulation and have sustained winds of 39 mph to become Emily, he said.

The center of Dennis, meanwhile, was about 1,275 miles east of Antigua, near latitude 18.5 north, longitude 44.0 west, and was moving west northwest at 15 mph. Ebaugh predicted it would continue on that path through today.

"Right now, it's only a concern to shipping. It's not expected to develop any further or become much of a threat," he said.

Dennis is the fourth tropical storm of the Atlantic hurricane season, which runs June 1 to Nov. 30. Its predecessors, Hurricane Arlene and tropical storms Bret and Cindy, all dissipated without making landfall.

Storms hurled heavy rain, hail and high winds that lifted roofs off Oklahoma buildings and downed tents at an Iowa county fair, a bout of severe weather forecasters predicted will lurk over a strip of the Plains "for several days."

A flash flood watch was up early today over north central Texas. Strong storms Monday stretched from Iowa across Missouri and Arkansas into Oklahoma and Texas.

"It's going to be around for several days," National Weather Service forecaster Pete Reynolds said of the threat of more storms. "We're still expecting the possibility of some severe weather from central Texas to parts of Oklahoma and Kansas and into the middle Mississippi Valley."

Numerous showers and thunderstorms were forecast today over the central Plains into Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, lower Michigan and Wisconsin. Scattered storms were also expected along the Gulf Coast from northern Texas to south Florida. Strong and gusty winds were expected across parts of Idaho and Nevada.

On Monday, a line of storms racing across southeastern Oklahoma flung winds that ripped roofs from several buildings and toppled utility poles across U.S. Highway 69-75 near Durant.

"One pole fell on a pickup," said Durant Civil Defense Director Johnny Shepherd. "They got the guy out. He wasn't hurt."

Roofs were blown off two horse stables northwest of Durant and at a neighboring storage building. The roof also was blown off the lower section of a split-level house and a fence was blown into a swimming pool.

Storms slammed northern and central Iowa with hail the size of walnuts and 70 mph winds.

Local Report

The high temperature Monday in Sanford was 91 degrees and the overnight low was 73 degrees as reported by the University of Florida Agricultural Research and Education Center, Celery Avenue. There was no rainfall recorded. Mostly sunny today with expected high in the low to middle 90s and a 30 percent chance of afternoon showers.

IN BRIEF

County, DOT Reach Agreement Howell Branch To Be Realigned

An agreement between the county and the Florida Department of Transportation for realignment of Howell Branch Road from its junction with State Road 426 north a half mile was approved. The road will be realigned east to provide a direct connection with Hall Road because traffic studies show that most southbound traffic on Howell Branch Road travel south on Hall and eventually University Avenue in Orange County.

The DOT has agreed to perform the engineering and buy the right-of-way for the project if the county pays for the construction. Jerry McCollum, county engineer, told the commissioners that the project is on the list of county projects to complete with road impact fee revenue. He said that, by the state paying for engineering and right-of-way acquisition, the county could save about $2 million. The commissioners approved the agreement without committing the county to any specific expenditure for the project, which is not expected to be completed for several years.

Comprehensive Plan Date Fixed

A deadline of Nov. 16 was set for accepting applications for amendments to the county's comprehensive plan. A series of hearings is held twice each year on proposed changes in the plan. Hearings on the applications received by 5 p.m. Nov. 16 will begin in March and continue into July.

'Olympics' Champs Win Anew

Two Seminole County medalists at the International Special Olympics competition at Notre Dame University were honored by resolutions passed by the county commissioners. Recognized were Stacie Neufeld, the designated representative from the county; and JoAnne Councils, the alternate representative from Seminole County. Neufeld won a gold medal in the 50-meter free-style swimming competition, and a bronze medal in the 4 x 50-meter lap free-style relay team competition. Councils won a gold medal in the 50-meter breast stroke, a silver medal in the 25-meter breast stroke, and a bronze medal in the 4 x 50-meter lap free-style relay team competition.

Retiring County Workers Lauded

Two county maintenance workers were recognized on their retirements from 10 years of service to the county. Recognized were George H. Hanna, a maintenance worker in the road division of the public works department; and Robert E. DeWitt, an equipment operator and truck driver in the road division.

'Constitution Week' Designated

The week of Sept. 13-20 was designated "Constitution Week" in Seminole County by a resolution passed by the commissioners. The week was proclaimed in recognition of the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution, which was signed on Sept. 17, 1787.

Expressway Loan Gets Nod

The commission formally approved loaning the Seminole County Expressway Authority $6 million for construction of the expressway from the Orange County Line to State Road 426. The intergovernmental agreement approved by the board calls for the authority to repay the loan, with interest agreed to between the county and authority, when the authority receives money through the sale of bonds. If bonds are not sold within three years, the authority is required to repay the county from any other revenue available.

County Budget Proposal Calls For Tax Rate Drop

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County's 1987-88 budget will be adopted after a final public hearing scheduled for 7 p.m. Sept. 22.

The proposed budget calls for a slight decrease in the millage rate for county taxpayers due to an estimated $336 million in new construction. The millage rate in the proposed budget is $4.57 per $1,000 taxable valuation, a decrease of about two cents less than the current tax of $4.60.

Individual taxpayers may or may not see a slight decrease in their county tax bill, depending on whether the taxable valuation of their property has increased.

The owner of a home with an assessed value of $75,000 with a $25,000 homestead exemption will pay a tax of about $229 on the $50,000 taxable valuation under the proposed budget.

The property tax will raise an estimated $27.74 million toward a total county budget of $135.16 million, based on a tax collection rate of 95 percent.

The slight decrease in the millage rate is largely based on an increase in the county's estimated tax base from $5.65 billion to $6.38 billion. Most of that increase is due to new construction, although some of the increase comes from increased assessed valuation and improvements to existing properties.

Residents of unincorporated areas, who are taxed for fire-rescue service and county road improvements, will pay the same tax rate as in the current year. Fire-rescue and road improvement taxes total $2.48 for each $1,000 taxable valuation for those property owners. That $2.48 rate is estimated to raise approximately $7.6 million at a 95 percent collection level.

Penney Fleming, the county's budget director, said the overall budget is lower than the current budget, largely because of the library capital improvements project included in the current budget. Contracts for the construction of new library buildings in Sanford, Oviedo, Casselberry, Forest City and Lake Mary were all let this fiscal year.

The budget, for the second consecutive year, includes a transfer of $650,000 from the general fund to the health trust fund to maintain future funding of Medicaid and indigent care. The money is being transferred from the general fund to establish a reserve for future payments.

The general fund in the 1987-88 budget totals $51.73 million, with a base budget of $49.88 million, which leaves $1,849,985 available for program changes.

Last week, commissioners approved the millage level, which cannot be changed. However, the board will be able to make changes in the spending and in the overall budget total following the Sept. 22 hearing.

collected by the police department and routinely turned over to the Police Benevolent Association prior to 1985 and the SWAT Team Fund, said these were public funds and the public should know how they were spent.

Lormann said, "There is a difference between taxpayer's funds and public funds."

But Gunter said today by law the commission is ultimately responsible for every penny whether it is tax revenue, fees, donations or money from auctions. He said today he will refuse to approve the 1987-88 fiscal budget if an audit of the SWAT Team Fund controlled by Manning is not available in the next two weeks.

"I don't think any of them understand what they are doing by again sweeping public funds under the rug," Gunter said. "The outcry is going to come at the polls. People want to know how their money is spent."

At the end of a long commission meeting, which lasted to almost midnight, Manning's statement was read aloud by his attorney, former Longwood police officer Bill Barfield, who is with the Orlando law firm of Markel, McDonough and O'Neal. Barfield said he had advised his client not to read the statement at the commission meeting, but that Manning had wanted to make his side of the story known to the public.

Manning stated that in July several allegations made by Gunter impugned not only his integrity, but that of the police department.

Manning, who joined the Longwood Police Department in 1972 and became chief in 1976, said it goes without saying that his tenure as police chief has not been faultless. He said he has attempted to minimize his mistakes and correct them and learn from them. He categorically denied any criminal involvement.

As for charges of misappropriating city funds, Manning stated that conditions were such at the National FBI Academy were such that it would have been treating Capt. Terry Baker "shabbily" if he had forced him to remain there one more day instead of having him stay at a motel at $42.50 at the city's expense. Manning went to Quantico, Va., to attend the Baker's graduation from the 11 week course.

Manning said as far back as he could remember up until 1985, when the city auditor told the commission the money should be placed in the general fund, fees collected by the police department for such things as making fingerprints and proceeds from the sale of confiscated items were given to the Police Benevolent Association, a local group not affiliated with national organization. He said the money was used for socials such as the annual Christmas party and putting on a Halloween party for children. "It was good for morale," Manning said, "and reduced the attrition rate saving the city money."

In response to a charge by Gunter that police officers had been allowed to buy confiscated property prior to auction, Manning admitted officers had been allowed to buy items "at a fair market price," but after an officer removed a gold ring from the locker without authority and sold it to a jeweler, Manning said he re-evaluated the policy.

As to the boating accident in Lake County in which Manning's boat and that of another officer were involved, Manning said neither he nor the police officers present were intoxicated and that the case of beer taken on the outing were not transported in his city vehicle as there were three or four other vehicles there. As to liability to the city of towing Manning's boat to the outing with a city vehicle, Manning said he thought he had sufficient insurance, but when he learned otherwise, he got it.

Manning admitted the city had paid some vet and food bills for Jeffery, the K-9 dog retired for medical reasons and now living at Manning's home. He said the dog is "much, much more than a pet" and is used for public relations work.

Manning said that throughout the ordeal of allegations and investigations he and the police department have received a strong vote of confidence from commissioners and citizens of the city.

As to a gambling arrest, Manning said, "It was a mistake in judgement and he had been given a vote of confidence by the commission at the time. 'I am not going to continue to beg for forgiveness,'" he said.

In a personal appeal as a former police officer, Barfield asked to commission to "put this matter to bed and give the police department a vote of confidence."

Developers Agree To Pay Permit Violation Fees

By Brad Church
Herald Staff Writer

Four developers, one of which is the developer of Red Willow Plaza shopping center at Tusawilla and Red Hug roads, have agreed to pay fines for violating the St. Johns River Water Management District rules.

Pridgeon and Associates agreed to pay a $1,500 fine for beginning construction on phase II of the shopping center before applying for the necessary stormwater permit from the district.

Ed Albanesi of the water management district said the company was ordered to halt construction on the project until a permit was issued. Construction was halted and a permit was applied for, but the company resumed construction before the permit was issued, he said.

Three other companies within the district's 19-county area have agreed to pay fines. All of the companies agreed to voluntarily pay the civil fines. If companies notified of a violation do not agree, through a consent order, to pay a fine voluntarily, the district can seek a court-imposed penalty of up to $10,000 per day per violation.

The remaining three companies paying fines, all for beginning construction before stormwater permits were issued, are:

Plantation-Sysco of Central Florida, which paid a $500 fine for beginning construction of a commercial building on a 21.4-acre site in Orange County before a stormwater permit was issued.

Gordon Burnam, owner of a 1.5-acre site in Duval County agreed to pay a $1,000 penalty for beginning construction of a mini-storage facility before obtaining a stormwater permit.

John Testorpf agreed to pay a $500 penalty for beginning construction of a manufacturing facility in St. Johns County.

Money from such fines goes into the district's "Save Our Rivers" account, which can be used for acquisition and management of lands utilized for water management purposes.

Dairy Delivery Man Milked Of His Cents

By Maryann L. Cross
Herald Staff Writer

A milk delivery man was held up at gunpoint and robbed of his wallet Sunday morning.

David West, 22, 478 Olive Circle, told police he returned at 4:15 a.m. to his Gustafson milk truck at Firestone, 601 W. First St., when a man placed a blue steel handgun against his head and took his wallet. West reported the wallet contained 90 cents and his Florida chauffeur's license.

Other action investigated by the Sanford Police include:

●Debbie Homme, 26, 1013 W. Third St., reported a burglary between 10:30 a.m. Friday and 5 p.m. Sunday. A screen in an open bedroom window was pushed out and an undetermined amount of money in coins were stolen.

●On Friday at 10 p.m., John Rogers, 35, 2430 Byrd Ave., reported he gave a ride to a male hitchhiker on East 25th Street. Rogers went to a store at 25th Street and Mellinville Avenue to get gas and left his wallet under the car's armrest. Rogers then dropped the man off at 25th Street and French Avenue. When he arrived home, he discovered his wallet containing $50 was missing.

●A 20-foot boy's mongoose bicycle was stolen from an open garage at 113 Centennial Drive Friday between 8:30 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. Scott Wagoner, 14, reported to police that the bike was worth $315.

●Burglars broke into a house at 114 Brierwood Drive Friday between 7:15 a.m. and 3:40 p.m. Sandra Mashner, 44, reported to police someone entered her home by breaking a den window and stole jewelry valued at $2,000 from the master bedroom.

●A man stole a purse belonging to Crystal Charron, 18, 618 Magnolia Avenue. Charron told police she was walking on Holly Avenue at 1 a.m. Saturday when a man came up behind her and snatched her purse.

●Three men stole a wallet from Homer Walker, 21, 138 Scott Avenue, Saturday at 12:30 a.m. Walker said he was walking past the intersection of Seventh Street and Cypress Avenue when the men approached him from behind and took the wallet from his back pocket.

●Paul Laskinski, 36, 1501 Ridgewood Street, of Perfection Cleaning Service reported to police Saturday he put six chair-style hair dryers behind LeSalon, 3617 S. Orlando Ave., while he was cleaning. When he went to retrieve them, one was missing. The hair dryer was valued at $200.

●Burglars broke into the house of Don Miller, 33, 2812 S. French Ave., Saturday between 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. Miller reported $844 in jewelry and a 4-inch Sony portable television missing.

●Janet DuFault, 19, 310 Magnolia Ave., reported to police Saturday someone pushed a hole in the back door screen and entered the house between 12:30 p.m. and 3:15 p.m. A 5-inch black-and-white television and $2 in coins were taken. Total value of goods removed was $202.

National Report Scores Schools

Most educational studies have the staying power of Chinese food. But the recent report from the National Endowment for the Humanities regarding the sorry state of history and literature instruction in American public schools provides plenty of substance that ought to be digested by every school district throughout the nation.

Not since the spring of 1983, when the National Commission on Excellence in Education scored the mediocrity in U.S. public schools, has a report been so consistently on the mark as to their shortcomings and what should be done to correct their deficiencies.

NEH Chairman Lynne Cheney hits the ground running in the report's foreword when she notes that the humanities have been neglected in the educational-reform movement that has swept across the country during the last four years. She makes her case with a wealth of statistics that disclose an appalling ignorance among students concerning history and literature.

For example, more than two-thirds of the 17-year-olds surveyed could not place the Civil War within the correct half-century. Nor were they familiar with either the time or the significance of the Reformation of the Magna Carta. These students believe that Karl Marx's phrase: "From each according to his abilities, to each according to his needs" is contained in the U.S. Constitution. Likewise, most of them are unfamiliar with the works of Dante, Chaucer, Dostoevsky, Austen, Whitman, Hawthorne, Melville, and Cather.

How, Mrs. Cheney asks, can students who know virtually nothing about their cultural heritage make informed judgements about the present? The answer, of course, is that they cannot.

In order to reverse this ominous trend, she recommends a restructuring of anemic social studies and language-arts curricula to breathe some life into history and literature. She would begin by replacing courses that stifle the students' imagination with in-depth studies of the past and special emphasis on great authors. She would require that history and literature textbooks contain lively writing and original sources instead of the formulaic fare that is commonplace.

She would also give classroom teachers greater freedom to select the books used in their courses. This makes much more sense than leaving such decisions to educational bureaucrats, most of whom haven't set foot in a classroom in years.

Gathering steam, Mrs. Cheney takes on teacher-training programs that emphasize process at the expense of content. Apart from student teaching, most teachers consider their education courses to be a colossal waste of time. California recognized as much in 1970 when it required teachers to earn a degree in the subject they are going to teach before they enter the classroom. Unfortunately they must take a fifth year of education classes before they are certified to teach. The State makes an exception for high-need areas, such as math and science, where a bachelor's degree and successful completion of the National Teachers' Examination will suffice.

Mrs. Cheney would make it easier for bright, knowledgeable persons to enter the classroom in all academic disciplines by expanding the certification routes. She's right of course. Such flexibility could entice to the teaching profession many talented persons, who otherwise bristle at spending a year slogging their way through methods classes. Further, all teachers should be encouraged to earn graduate credits in their content area, instead of getting their tickets punched in pedagogy.

These are just some of the numerous highlights in the perceptive NEH report that should be required reading for anyone concerned about the worrisome state of public education in the United States.

The Pope's 'Feisty Flock' Keeps Growing

The Holy Father's visit to America during the Constitution's 200th birthday brings together — in the words of a Protestant hymn — an abundance of "streams of mercy never ceasing."

With respect to the histories of church and state, their means may have differed, but their ends have often coincided — "to do justly, love mercy and walk humbly with the Lord, thy God."

Those words, by the Jewish prophet Micah, are particularly appropriate as President Reagan commemorates our Constitution and Pope John Paul II celebrates mass.

The pope's 10-day trip to America is especially timely.

His flock is on a roll. Since his last visit in 1979, Catholic church membership has increased from 49 million to 53 million.

Despite in-house disagreements on controversial issues such as abortion, birth control and prayer in schools, the Catholic church's voice still influences legislative dialogue.

Catholic elected officials are so ingrained in the political landscape that few Americans accord any unique significance to their religious beliefs. In the U.S. House of Representatives, one-fourth of its members are Catholic, the single largest religious denomination.

To be a Catholic in America in 1987 is to be an American.

To be an American is to be committed to the inexorability of change.

One hundred and forty years ago, De Tocqueville accurately captured that kinetic dimension of our character: "America is a land of wonders, in which everything is in constant motion and every change seems an improvement... they (Americans) all consider humanity as a changing scene, in which nothing is or ought to be, permanent."

That restless spirit is embodied in what Time magazine referred to as the Pope's "feisty flock."

Catholics are part of America's melting pot, and pluralism is, by definition, contentious.

A majority of Catholics disagree with the head of their church on the right to an abortion under certain conditions, the right of priests to marry, the right of women to be ordained as priests, the right of divorced Catholics to remarry and the right to use artificial birth controls.

Yet, 93 percent of American Catholics believe they can disagree with the Pope and still be good Catholics.

It doesn't necessarily follow that Pope John Paul II's, trip is being made in the spirit of Isaiah: "Come, let us reason together, saith the Lord." Rather, as head of the Roman Catholic Church, he will be reaffirming Christ's command to Peter: "Upon this rock, I will build my church."

The Catholic church is not a democracy. Still, Catholic church and American state have been joyously cross-fertilizing each other for decades, mutually establishing new realities.

The pope's 1987 itinerary takes cognizance of those new realities.

By including visits to the heavily Hispanic archdioceses of Miami, San Antonio and Los Angeles, John Paul is acknowledging the near demographic certainty that by 2050, Hispanics will comprise a majority of U.S. Catholics.

WILLIAM RUSHER

Area Of Framers' Neglect

It is commonplace, nowadays, to marvel at the many remarkable features of the Constitution that was ratified in Philadelphia 20 years ago. Of them all, perhaps the most ingenious was the way in which the framers devised barriers against dangerous accumulations of power by pitting each of the three branches of the government against the other two.

At the same time, it serves no good purpose to pretend that the Constitution was (or is) perfect. The original provision (in Article II, Section 1) that the person receiving the second-largest number of votes in the electoral college should become vice president was a serious mistake, soon rectified by the adoption of the 12th Amendment in 1804. Save for that amendment, Jimmy Carter would have become Reagan's vice president, and would have returned to the White House and remained there for nearly four years if John Hinckley's bullet hadn't missed Reagan's heart by an inch on March 30, 1981.

There is an equally serious matter on which the Constitution, as it stands, is dangerously silent. It confronts this nation with perhaps the gravest crisis facing it today.

The framers clearly intended to involve both the president and the Congress in the passage of laws. Under the Constitution, Congress must pass them, but the president must approve them, and it takes a two-thirds vote in both houses to override his veto.

But when it comes to devising foreign policies, the Constitution is much less explicit. Congress is given the power to declare war. The president is given the power to make treaties — which, however, must be ratified by two-thirds of the senators present. The president nominates ambassadors — but a majority of the Senate must approve them. That is all the Constitution says on the subject of foreign policy.

And yet a firm tradition grew up that foreign policy is the prerogative of the executive branch. One imagines that the reason for this was highly practical: Foreign policy often requires confidential negotiations, which a Congress consisting of hundreds of members is simply in no position to conduct. Besides, in the early days of the republic, U.S. foreign policy probably didn't matter all that much.

Prisoners Have Their Own Congressman

By Jack Anderson
And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — There will be sighs of relief and sighs of sadness when former Rep. George Hansen is released from prison next month. Elated will be the prison officials he has been censuring for over a year; dejected will be his fellow inmates, for whom he has acted as an ardent ombudsman.

The Idaho Republican is finishing up his second stint at the Petersburg (Va.) federal prison camp. After his 1984 conviction for filing false financial disclosure statements, he served six months last year. When he ventured too far from Washington and refused to disclose details about his personal finances, he was cited for parole violations and tossed in the can again in April of this year.

Always the maverick, the 6-foot 6 arch-conservative has bombarded the press and his former colleagues on Capitol Hill with complaints about prison food, safety and sanitation problems, waste of government property, and the arbitrary

AIDS: Good News

For the first time since 1982, there is some good news about the AIDS plague: It is rarely transmitted heterosexually. Moreover, signals are appearing that we were treated to a kind of scientific scam: researchers on AIDS hoped to keep the federal and other funds flowing into their laboratories by giving it out that AIDS was about to break out into mainstream American life. This is not happening, and is now thought highly unlikely to happen.

This information was well reported in an article by Robert Scheer in the Los Angeles Times, but so far as I can tell — and my research involved only a sampling of the nation's major newspapers — the story has been reprinted in only one very small New England local paper. It is possible that the story has been "spiked" because of its multiple inconveniences. Maybe Alzheimer's, cancer, arthritis, and cardiac disease are more important than AIDS to most taxpayers.

Mr. Scheer interviewed various officials and researchers at the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) in Atlanta and elsewhere. They "are generally agreed that they see no evidence the disease will reach epidemic proportions, except among homosexuals and intravenous drug users." This conclusion is based on recent reviews of statistical data, which show far fewer cases among American-born heterosexuals than earlier epidemiological predictions suggested. CDC studies show that in California and New York, the main foci of AIDS, "there is very little crossover to the mainstream population," according to Dr. Harold W. Jaffe, the center's chief of AIDS epidemiology. In fact it is minuscule.

"We don't need to panic about heterosexual transmission," Mr.

Scheer quotes Dr. Robert C. Gallo as saying, "It's not going to run rampant. Our greatest danger by far in this country is the drug addicts. But if the drug addiction problem doesn't get any worse, I doubt whether for heterosexuals at large this is going to be anywhere the problem that it is in the homosexual population." Dr. Gallo is a National Cancer Institute researcher and the discoverer of the AIDS virus.

Now we get into the politics of AIDS, and here Mr. Scheer's quotations from the scientists, perhaps understandably, are not for attribution on this touchy point. "If this wasn't seen as a heterosexual problem, the money wouldn't be there for research," argued a top federal official. A federal physician put it rather brutally: "Everybody has got their own agenda, and the thing that fuels the resources for AIDS is the threat of heterosexual transmission. The people who are spending the money basically don't care if a bunch of gay men and drug abusers get AIDS. They really don't. So the thing that's driving the money is the fear of heterosexuals transmission. And the people who run the laboratories that get the money know that."

The reason why epidemiologists earlier feared that AIDS was a general threat was that it had become so in Zaire and Haiti. But the sanitation, sexual habits, condition of the blood banks, etc., in such Third World countries are entirely different from what they are in the United States.

If you are neither gay nor a needle-using addict, the news appears to be a lot better than you may have thought.

Robert Scheer has done some major reporting, and his findings deserve to be more widely known.

Theory Of Crippling's Erosion

By Larry Doyle
UPI Science Writer

CHICAGO (UPI) — Alzheimer's disease, the mind crippling erosion of brain cells that affects an estimated 2.5 million older Americans, has nearly as many reputed causes as it has scientists working on the problem.

Head injuries, genetic flaws, slow viruses, autoimmune responses and environmental contaminants all have been postulated as agents of the disease, and all these theories have some merit, experts say.

But a New Hampshire researcher is challenging traditional medical thought by suggesting the addition of some rather unconventional co-factors in the disease.

Alzheimer's, says Dr. Abraham Lenzer, may be triggered by broken hearts and shattered lives.

"If you want to find out what's making a person sick, find out what's breaking his heart," says Lenzer, an adjunct professor of clinical psychology at Dartmouth University and the Hitchcock Medical Center in Hanover.

Lenzer believes that regardless of what may be the direct cause of Alzheimer's disease, it is clear from his research and the work of others that more people are exposed to the cause than go on to develop full-blown the disease. Some develop less severe forms of dementia, and some remain perfectly healthy.

At the same time, he says, it is interesting to note that Alzheimer's disease primarily develops after retirement age and almost never first occurs in a person over the age of 80.

"This period, the transitional aging years, are very turbulent, fraught with enormous anxiety and depression," Lenzer says. "An individual experiences many losses during this time, and there is a lot of evidence to suggest these sort of stresses can make a person susceptible to disease."

Lenzer presented his theory recently to an international meeting on the special mental health problems of the elderly and called for a large scale study to determine whether older people with greater stresses are more likely to develop Alzheimer's than others with similar biological risks.

The researcher found a surprising amount of support for his ideas, which he admits are "quite contrary to current dogma."

treatment of inmates.

The Petersburg prison camp is a minimum-security facility that holds about 200 inmates, including former public officials, businessmen, brokers, lawyers, and judges. Hansen's impassioned and fearless defense of the interests of these new and otherwise voiceless friends has earned him their heartfelt gratitude. As one example, take the case of Tom Williams, an inmate from Mechanicsville, Va.

A management consultant, Williams is serving a five-year sentence for tax evasion. He is husky, healthy and during the first two years of his incarceration, never missed a day of work in the compound.

This past spring, his 18-year-old son, Joseph, suffered severe kidney failure, and Williams offered to donate one of his to his son. He obtained permission from the camp director, he told us, to take an unsupervised leave of about a month for medical tests and the operation.

The transplant was performed by Dr. Vernon Smith of the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond on June 24. When Tom Williams was allowed to leave the hospital, he went home — five minutes away — for a short period of recuperation. This was done — with the verbal concurrence of the camp director, according to Williams — to facilitate post-operative hospital visits and to avoid the physical exertions he would have had to endure at the camp.

Tom Williams' stitches were removed on Monday, July 6. He reported to the prison the same day and learned that the previous camp director had left. There was no written record of approval for his stay at home, and he was therefore absent without permission. He was given an "incident report" (a "shot" in prison parlance) and placed in solitary confinement.

It was well over 100 degrees in "the hole" in July, Williams told us. The sink was full of fecal matter. The thin foam mattress was soaked through with the sweat of the previous occupant. And Tom Williams had a recently healed wound in his side, but that apparently mattered little to the prison authorities. He remained in the hole for 13 days. He was examined by his doctor nine days after he got out and learned that he had somehow avoided infection.

Williams was expecting to have his sentence reduced by eight months and to spend four months in a halfway house. After the "incident," however, he was hauled before a parole board in shackles and his early departure was canceled.

Since we started asking questions about the Williams case, the "shot" has been expunged from his record, but his sentence adjustments have not been restored. As far as he knows at this point, in short, donating a kidney to his son cost him another year behind bars.

Footnote: A prison spokesman said that Williams was supposed to report back to the institution upon his release from the hospital, failed to do so, and was placed in "administrative detention" upon his arrival at the facility.

SPORTS
WRITERHip, Hip, Hooray!
Exploding Offenses

Hip, hip, hooray!
After suffering through a mediocre offensive season last year, the Seminole County offenses came alive in convincing fashion this past weekend with 131 points.

Seminole coach Roger Beathard's debut was a memorable one as Jeff Blake, Jerod Jones, Curtis Rudolph, Dwight Brinson and Terrance Eady stoked the offensive fireworks in a 28-0 blowout of Titusville Astronaut.

Blake completed 9 of 13 for 141 yards. He hit Brinson with a nine-yard scoring strike and knifed four yards for another score. Jones, a junior halfback, scored on a brilliant 80-yard punt return and a one-yard burst. Rudolph, who led all rushers with 89 yards, set up two touchdowns.

Offensive linemen Wilton Hooks, Kevin Straub and Randy "Pork" Bryant opened gaping holes for the backs and gave Blake carefree protection.

Defensively, Ardine Daniels, Leonard Lucas, Earnie "Sackman" Lewis, Ron Cox, Bernard Burke, Ralph Hardy and Paul Newell were standouts as the War Eagles could muster just 118 yards of offense. Seminole forced four fumbles and recovered three.

The triumph broke a string of seven consecutive victories over Seminole by the War Eagles, who have lost just 37 games in 16 years. Seminole (1-0) will travel to EE Stadium this Friday to take on Orlando Edgewater in their first District 4A-7 contest of the season.

Oviedo and Lake Brantley hooked up in the most exciting game of the week.

Down by a touchdown, and faced with the ominous task of going 80 yards in just over a minute, Oviedo showed that it is a team with a lot of desire as Alan Greene's 20-year touchdown catch sent the game into overtime.

After each team scored the first time that had the ball in OT, the contest went to a second OT period. Chad Duncan's two-yard touchdown run gave Oviedo a thrilling 28-21 come-from-behind Seminole Athletic Conference victory.

"That was a real barnburner," Oviedo coach Jack Blanton said. "This was a huge win for us, and it should give the kids a heck of a lot of confidence." The opening game victory marked the third consecutive year that Oviedo has defeated Brantley in the first game of the season.

Brantley (0-1) will continue its SAC schedule as it will play host to arch-rival Lake Mary this Friday. Oviedo (1-0) hosts Orlando Dr. Phillips.

Brantley fullback Mark Sepe had an outstanding game as he rushed for 101 yards on 29 carries and a touchdown. Greene hauled in three passes for 64 yards and two touchdowns for Oviedo. Oviedo quarterback John Pettit threw for a pair of touchdowns as did Brantley quarterback Scott Meredith.

"We have got nothing to be ashamed about," Lake Brantley coach Fred Almon said. "That was a great football game, and they just happened to come out on top. It could have gone either way."

Lake Howell always seems to have trouble when it plays Apopka, and that was definitely the case again last weekend. Apopka used a pair of tipped touchdown passes and a questionable clipping call by an official to escape with a 27-20 victory over Howell.

Howell running back Marquette Smith, a freshman, had a fine varsity debut as he rushed for 72 yards on nine carries including a fancy 25-yard touchdown run.

Howell (0-1) will begin its SAC schedule this Friday when it travels to DeLand. The Silver Hawks, ranked No. 6 last week, fell from the Florida Sports Writers Association Class 5A rankings. Apopka moved to No. 5.

Lake Mary found out that taking on Winter Park is by no means an easy task, dropping a 28-7 decision.

Mary opened up the scoring when quarterback Carlos Hartsfield hit Sheldon Richard with a 60-yard touchdown pass.

Lake Mary (0-1) will travel to Lake Brantley this Friday.

The Lyman Greyhounds looked sharp in their opening game as they clobbered Orlando Boone, 27-0. The 27 points recorded by Lyman was almost half of what the Hounds scored last season.

Running back Victor Farrier looks as though he has recovered from a rib injury as he scored a pair of touchdowns. Mike McNamee tossed a TD pass to Johnny Luce.

The Lyman defense totally shut down the Braves, blocking two punts in the process. Linebacker Mike Whitaker, defensive backs Scott Radcliff and Luce led the way.

Lyman (1-0) is idle this week, and will return to action on Sept. 25 when it hosts Orlando Edgewater.

Rain Helps Lendl Extend Reign

NEW YORK (UPI) — A day of rain helped Ivan Lendl extend his reign as men's singles champion at the U.S. Open.

A steady downpour Sunday that forced the postponement of play until Monday gave Lendl an extra day to rest and recuperate from a bout with the flu. The day off helped as Lendl subdued Sweden's Mats Wilander in a grueling, four-set match to capture his third consecutive Open title.

"I haven't been feeling well for quite a while now," Lendl said. "Outside of my family and friends and coach, the biggest part of my victory is the rain."

Tennis

Top-seeded Lendl needed 4 hours and 47 minutes and a pair of tie-breakers to down No. 3 Wilander, 6-7 (7-9), 6-0, 7-6 (7-4), 6-4. Although no official records are kept, the match was believed to be the longest Open final ever.

The match began with the sun high in the sky over the National Tennis Center and ended with it moving behind the New York skyline.

"I felt so sick. If it was any other tournament I wouldn't have played Saturday (the day of the semifinals) and wouldn't have played today," Lendl said.

The flu sapped his strength and Lendl, referred to by jeering fans earlier in the tournament as a robot because of his mechanical demeanor on the court, was forced to rely on other parts of his game.

"I played on emotion," said Lendl, the top-ranked player in the world. "I was just out of juice the last three and a half sets so it had to be strength of mind and luck."

The only service break of the final set came in the 10th game. Lendl won the match with a backhand pass down the line. It was an outcome Lendl could not have imagined a few years ago.

"It's something I never dreamed of," Lendl said. "If someone told me three years ago when I lost my third Open that I'd win three Opens, I wouldn't have believed them. I'd tell them they were crazy."

Wilander, competing in his first Open final, had double set point in the 12th game of the third set before Lendl responded with a series of powerful serves to force the tie-breaker.

Atlanta's Scott Case (25) appears to have the football and Tampa's Gerald Carter played perfectly as the back judge takes a good look. Case and the official did not see eye to eye, however, as the Falcons' cornerback was whistled for interference, giving the Bucs possession on the one-yard line. After a procedure penalty cost Tampa five yards, Steve DeBerg found Carter for a six-yard scoring strike. The Bucs hammered the Falcons, 48-10, Sunday. Tampa Bay faces Chicago next.

DeBerg Passes Praise To Line
For Protection During Blowout

TAMPA (UPI) — On the morning following the most decisive victory in their 12-year history, the Tampa Bay Buccaneers were unsure just how they made the Atlanta Falcons look so bad.

With his club's next game in Chicago, Buccaneers rookie coach Ray Perkins was careful Monday not to overpraise a young team that crushed the Falcons 48-10.

The Buccaneers set team records for points scored, first downs (30) and margin of victory as Perkins made a dynamic return to the pro game after four years at the University of Alabama.

"I'm still real proud of the job our staff and players did," Perkins said, "but there were some spots where we didn't play as well as some people probably thought we did. There's plenty of room for improvement on defense."

"A lot of fans didn't see the missed tackles and blown coverages, mistakes that could turn into big, big things. I was a little nervous before the game, but I expected to win. What I didn't expect was to win in that fashion. We didn't expect for it to be as clean as it was."

Steve DeBerg, justifying Perkins'

Football

decision to start him over Vinny Testaverde, capitalized on superb protection to shred Atlanta's defense for 333 yards and a club-record five touchdown passes.

"That was as good a pass protection as I've ever had as a pro," said DeBerg, beginning his 11th NFL season. "My receivers were open all day long. Hopefully, we won't get a false reading on this football team. In fact, I haven't even heard Ray Perkins call us a team yet. We have come a long way since training camp, though, and we'll find out a lot about us this week against the Bears."

Of the 90 available players from both teams Sunday, only Testaverde did not play. Perkins said he did not send in the Heisman Trophy winner at the end of the game because, "I don't care about putting him in just to run the clock out — I can get a truck driver to hand the ball off."

DeBerg didn't mind going the distance.

"I always want to be in there, I'll mop up or whatever," said DeBerg, who has traditionally played well against the Bears. "The reaction from the fans was very nice. When you go 2-14 back to back, you don't get your name chanted very often."

"I didn't speak to Vinny very much during the game, but he was sitting next to me when they announced my five TD passes was a Buc record. I turned to him and said, 'Vinny, I'm setting records for you to break.'"

After struggling through two years of fan abuse, linebacker Ervin Randle is enjoying the initial blush of success.

"My first two seasons here, I suffered a lot," he said. "I remember walking off the field a lot of times after games I thought we should have won, thinking why does this happen to us? I used to ask myself why was I sticking around here? It was fun out there yesterday."

With the NFL strike date just a week away, Perkins will not be sympathetic toward any player distracted by off-field concerns.

"If the players can't get focused just on the Chicago Bears, they're not very intelligent," he said. "All they have to do to get focused is watch one quarter of film on that team."

Roby Expects To Miss 4 Weeks

MIAMI (UPI) — Miami Dolphin punter Reggie Roby said after an examination on his injured leg Monday night he expects to be out of action for about four weeks.

"The doctor told me that I probably wouldn't punt again for three or four weeks," he said. "I'd say four weeks. I've had this kind of injury before, my sophomore year of college, and it took about four weeks."

Roby suffered a strained groin, and had pain in his right knee and ankle after he was tackled while running after a poor snap on a rain-slick field in a 28-21 loss at New England Sunday. Fears he had broken a bone in his leg turned out to be unfounded.

Former Chicago Bears' punter Maury Buford is the leading candidate to take over Roby's punting duties.

The Dolphins have three punters in mind if Roby can't play Sunday at Indianapolis. Phil Smith, a seventh-round draft choice of Green Bay this year, and former Florida Gator Ray Criswell are the other two.

But Buford, who punted three seasons with San Diego and two years with the Bears, has the experience Shula is looking for. In five NFL seasons, including the Bears' 1985 Super Bowl campaign, Buford has averaged 42.2 yards per kick, and his longest punt was a 71-yard effort against Denver in 1982.

"One guy that makes sense is the guy that played for the Bears," Shula said of Buford. "He punted for San Diego and the Bears the last few years, so he looks like he's the best equipped to handle it if Reggie can't go."

In other news, Shula said he talked to NFL officials about the last seconds of the 28-21 loss to the Patriots. The Dolphins' last play began with 5 seconds left, and a clock superimposed on television showed 2 seconds remaining when Don Strock's pass fell incomplete from the New England 8-yard line.

Shula said the league talked to the officiating crew, which said the reason the final 2 seconds were allowed to tick off was because the clock was late getting started on the play, and that the play took 5 seconds. The official time is kept on the field.

"We timed it the best we could (watching films), and we felt the play ended within the five seconds," Shula said. "We feel we should have gotten one more play. They claim at the league office that the line judge, when he saw the signal, looked at his (time keeping device), and his time had run out, then he looked up at the scoreboard clock and that time had also run out."

"A lot of it depends on when the guy rules the pass is incomplete and when he rules the clock stops. But you would think with five seconds to go you could get that ball off and thrown and (if) it's incomplete, the clock stops."

Shula also said the team worked out free agents Keith Browner, a linebacker, and defensive back Demetrius Johnson and nose tackle Darryl Sims. The Dolphins also are considering activating Greg Koch, who currently has a two-week roster exemption, if he has a good week of practice and tackle Ronnie Lee is still hobbled by a groin injury.

Bears Devour
Giants, 34-19

CHICAGO (UPI) — The only thing missing from the Chicago Bears' domination over the defending Super Bowl champion New York Giants Monday night was it came nine months too late.

The Bears overwhelmed the Giants 34-19 in the game which was billed as Super Bowl XXI and a half. Chicago had hoped to meet the Giants in the NFC championship game a year ago, but the Bears were upset by Washington.

"Last year was last year, and this is what we wanted to do this year," said quarterback Mike Tomczak, who threw a pair of touchdown passes and led a surprisingly strong Chicago passing attack.

Chicago's aerial attack, which was suspect because of the quarterback merry-go-round during the past year, surprised the Giants. Tomczak was 20 of 34 for 292 yards including 42 yards to rookie Ron Morris and 56 yards to Willie Gault in the third quarter.

"We knew we'd have trouble running the ball against them," Bears Coach Mike Ditka said. "Tomczak did a good job. The offensive line (which did not allow a sack), banged up as it was, did its job. Give them credit and the coaches for what they did."

Giants Coach Bill Parcells, whose team was blanked 21-0 in the 1985 NFC semifinals at Soldier Field, credited Tomczak next.

"Their quarterback was excellent, considering it was his first start in a game of this magnitude," Parcells said. "I was extremely disappointed in the way we played tonight. We had a lot of poor individual performances."

The Bears defense registered eight sacks totaling 53 yards and permitted just one offensive touchdown by the Giants. It limited New York to 75 yards rushing.

"They kept coming and coming. They'd have seven or eight guys at the line all the time. It was impossible to stop," Giants center Brad Oates said.

On the opening drive, the Giants drove behind quarterback Phil Simms to the Bears 10 before Marshall recovered Simms' fumble. The Giants defense held and then blocked Bryan Wagner's punt in the end zone with Tom Flynn recovering the ball to give New York a 7-0 lead.

"After that, we got it going. It was one crazy game, the way the game was built up," Ditka said. "This was the hardest hitting game I've seen."

After Kevin Butler narrowed the gap to 7-3 with 1:39 left in the quarter with the first of his two field goals (24-yards to start the Chicago scoring, 25-yards to cap it late in the game), the Bears' domination began.

Tomczak engineered a time consuming, 80-yard, 15 play drive that was capped by his 1-yard touchdown with eight seconds left in the half.

Tomczak, who had only two touchdowns and 10 interceptions in his career entering the game, matched his previous touchdown total in the span of less than three minutes.

He hit Morris on the 42-yard strike with 7:20 left in the quarter and then found Gault on a 56-yard bomb with 6:17 remaining.

"I was just able to get behind them. They were giving it deep all night," Gault said.

One of Tomczak's few mistakes brought New York to 24-13 with just 41 seconds remaining in the quarter. Terry Kinnard snared a Tomczak pass and rambled 70 yards for a score.

"I made a stupid play. I didn't get sacked all night and I should have that time. My ego was too big and I threw an interception," said Tomczak, now 8-0 as a starter in replacing the injured Jim McMahon.

Dennis McKinnon, who missed the 1986 season with a knee injury, gave the Bears breathing room. He took a Sean Landeta punt at his own 6 and broke several tackles enroute to a 94-yard TD. It was the longest punt return in Bears' history, breaking the 89-yard, 45-year-old mark set by Ray Scooter McLean.

"We needed a big play then and I got it," said McKinnon.

Simms, who was knocked out briefly in the second quarter but returned to play the entire second half, hit Stacy Robinson for the Giants' lone offensive TD with 9:30 remaining in the game to make it 31-19.

Whitt's Trio Ignites Jays' 10-HR Attack

United Press International The Toronto Blue Jays, powered by a major-league record 10 home runs, Monday night geared up for their pennant drive with an 18-3 rout of the Baltimore Orioles.

The Blue Jays remained tied with the Detroit Tigers for first place in the American League East. Detroit defeated Boston 3-0 Monday night. The Blue Jays and Tigers meet seven more times this season.

Ernie Whitt belted three homers and collected five RBI, and George Bell and Randy Mullick each clubbed a pair of home runs as the Blue Jays broke the previous record of eight, attained by eight clubs.

"I'm on cloud nine," Whitt said. "Maybe one day when I'm talking to my grandchildren I can tell them a story about the night we broke the record."

"Tonight was an embarrassing ball game," Baltimore Manager Cal Ripken Sr. said. "I'm not the only one who's embarrassed, every one in that clubhouse is embarrassed."

Over their last 12 games the Blue Jays have scored 78 runs, an average of 6.5 runs a game. They are 9-3 during that span.

Toronto hosts Detroit for a four-game series beginning on Sept. 24 and then close out the season with a three-game set in Detroit.

Bell's two solo shots, upped his season totals to 45 home runs and 122 RBI — both tops in the Major Leagues. Lloyd Moseby added a two-run blast for Toronto and Baltimore's Rob Ducey contributed a three-run homer.

Winning pitcher Jim Clancy, 13-10, worked seven innings and allowed two runs on seven hits.

Toronto rocked Ken Dixon, 7-10, for three homers and five runs in the second inning. Dixon has allowed 31 homers in 105 innings for the worst ratio in the American League.

Cal Ripken Jr. was lifted in the bottom of the eighth inning, snapping his 8,233 consecutive innings streak in his 908th straight game.

"At this particular moment, I don't know how I feel," said Ripken, who said he wasn't hurt or tired and hadn't asked to come out of the game.

Samuel Double Hits Cards With Deja Vu

United Press International The St. Louis Cardinals experienced deja vu Monday night and it tightened up the National League East race.

Last Friday night, the Cardinals trailed the second-place Mets 4-1 with two out in the ninth before tying it 4-4 and winning 6-4 in the 10th. Monday night, however, the tables were turned on the East-leading Cardinals.

"We had two outs and nobody on in the ninth," Cardinals Manager Whitey Herzog lamented after the Phillies 3-2 victory over the Cardinals in 11 innings. "We should have had more runs. We ran ourselves out of a big inning. That's all I have to say."

The Cardinals led Philadelphia 2-0 before Juan Samuel's two-run, two-out double tied the score in the bottom of the ninth. Samuel later scored the winning run in the 11th.

The loss cut the Cardinals' lead to 1 1/2 games over the Mets, who defeated the Chicago Cubs 6-5. The Montreal Expos are two games out in third place after beating the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-4 in 14 innings.

With two out in the ninth, pinch-hitter Greg Gross walked and pinch-hitter Keith Hughes followed with a single to left. Samuel doubled to the gap in left-center off Todd Worrell to score both runners.

"The first pitch was the only time I was trying to hit the ball out," said Samuel, who is now 5 for 10 with six RBI off Worrell. "Home runs come by themselves. I tried, then I settled down and tried to get a good pitch. His best pitch is the fastball and he throws hard. You have to be ready. That's my approach."

"Samuel seems to be the guy who gets the big hit," Phillies Manager Lee Elia said. "And Schmidt has been consistent all year long."

East's Leaders Hope For Twins In Playoffs

TORONTO (UPI) — Any day now we're going to read how the Detroit Tigers and Toronto Blue Jays "don't care" who they face in the playoffs.

Don't believe it. Most players on both teams don't want to be quoted on the subject for an understandable reason — nobody wants their comments to wind up on another team's bulletin board.

But, unquestionably, whoever wins the American League East would like to see the Minnesota Twins emerge as champion of the AL West.

The reason? Pitching. The Tigers and Blue Jays can't wait to get a whack at the Twins' staff.

If Minnesota reaches the postseason, Manager Tom Kelly will use a rotation of just Frank Viola, Bert Blyleven and one other starter due to those built-in off days. The Tigers and Blue Jays prefer the Twins' staff to Oakland's or Kansas City's.

White Sox Twins

At Chicago, Dave LaPoint and Bob James combined on a five-hitter and Greg Walker drove in four runs with two doubles to lead the White Sox. LaPoint, 4-3, held the Twins to four hits until walking the bases full in the ninth. Frank Viola, 15-9, was the loser.

IN BRIEF

Lake Brantley Runners Third; Lake Mary Boys Up To Fourth

By virtue of its strong first place finish at the Lake Mary Opener, Lake Brantley has moved from 10th to third in state in the Class 4A cross country rankings.

Lake Howell, which ran well despite missing its No. 2 runner, moved from ninth to seventh in the rankings while Lake Mary, a solid third place finisher in the opener, entered the rankings at number 10.

In the boys' Class 4A poll, coach Mark Magee's Lake Mary Rams, who ran second to powerful Orlando Bishop Moore in the Lake Mary Opener, were ranked No. 4. Lake Howell improved to No. 5. Lyman dropped from No. 4 to No. 6. Largo moved into the top spot in the boys' poll.

In the girls' 4A, Brandon took over the top spot in the poll while previously top-ranked Largo dropped out of the rankings.

In the individual top 10, Lake Howell junior Jenny Bolt currently ranks fourth after running 12:59 in the opener while Lake Brantley sophomore Beth Schaffer ranks eighth in the state with her time of 13:09.

Seminole High's Shownda Martin, who ran a 12:47 at the Titusville Astronaut Invitational on Thursday, currently ranks first in Seminole County. Martin is not listed on the state rankings because Seminole is now a Class 3A school and Class 3A rankings were not available.

Oviedo, Knutson Batter Luther

Senior standout Jill Knutson served 12 points in a row in the opening game as Oviedo's Lady Lions came back from an early deficit and went on to rout Orlando Luther, 15-7, 15-2 Monday night at Oviedo High.

Oviedo, 2-0 overall, returns to Seminole Athletic Conference play Thursday at Lake Mary. The Lady Lions are 1-0 in the league.

Luther used some strong serving to build a 7-3 lead in game one Monday but Knutson then came on to serve out the game for the Lady Lions.

"If Jill (Knutson) had a weak link last year it was her serving," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said. "I don't think she has any weak links now. I forgot to count how many aces she had in her string but not many of her serves came back."

Oviedo was in control from the onset in game two as senior Jodie Switzer served the first six points, junior Anna Hollis served four more and junior Siri Harris came off the bench to serve the last five.

UPI: Michigan, Penn State Fall

Penn State and Michigan, teams with preseason national title hopes, suffered weekend losses that dropped them significantly today in the UPI Board of Coaches college football ratings.

The defending national champion Nittany Lions, 24-13 losers Saturday to Alabama, plummeted from ninth to No. 20. The Wolverines, ranked seventh last week, dropped entirely from the Top 20 following a 26-7 defeat to Notre Dame. The Fighting Irish and Crimson Tide made the greatest leaps, seven spots to ninth and 10th, respectively.

Oklahoma and Nebraska maintained their top two positions with victories over ranked opponents.

Florida State, which ripped East Carolina 44-3, climbed four spots to No. 7 and Clemson moved up two spots to No. 8 after downing Virginia Tech 22-10.

Players To Unveil New Contract

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The NFL Players Association will unveil a new contract proposal today when the union and league management resume talks to avert a threatened Sept. 22 strike.

"We believe that what we will present them will and should answer any questions that they have, and respond to their concerns where we feel that we can do that," union assistant executive director Doug Allen said Monday. "We believe it will be something that will be very useful in reaching an agreement, but how they respond we'll have to wait and see."

Earnhardt Marches Toward Title

DAYTONA BEACH (UPI) — Dale Earnhardt continues marching toward a second straight and third overall NASCAR Winston Cup national stock car racing championship with his victory in the Wrangler Indigo 400 at Richmond Fairgrounds Raceway.

Sunday's win, Earnhardt's third straight and 11th of the season, enabled him to expand his lead to 608 points over second-place Bill Elliott, 3706-3098. The lead is the largest any driver has enjoyed since Richard Petty held an 882-point margin in 1975, the first year the current point system was used.

Tide's Humphrey Tops UPI's Best

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI) — On a rainy night when defending national champion Penn State was spinning its wheels on a muddy field, Alabama halfback Bobby Humphrey was cruising in high style toward some national honors of his own.

Humphrey rolled over the Penn State defense for 220 yards and a touchdown on 36 carries to lead the Crimson Tide to a 24-13 upset Saturday night — a performance that earned him United Press International's Southeastern Player of the Week honors Monday.

McLain Banks On Appearances

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Former baseball giant Denny McLain, out of prison but awaiting retrial on extortion and cocaine charges, said Monday he is looking forward to "a whole new ballgame" of personal appearances so he can support his family.

McLain, a two-time Cy Young Award winner, was released from a federal prison in Talladega, Ala., Sept. 5 and has spent the last 10 days arranging an autograph session for fans at an Albany baseball card show on Saturday.

Guerrero's Condition Improves

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — The condition of race car driver Roberto Guerrero improved slightly Monday but he remained in critical condition with head injuries suffered during a practice crash.

"He has shown a slight improvement," said Methodist Hospital spokeswoman Kathryn Walsh-Miller. "He is moving more spontaneously and responding to stimulation by moving his legs and opening his eyes. It is encouraging but they (doctors) don't want to be too encouraging."

Brantley JVs Rout Edgewater

Lake Brantley's junior varsity volleyball team rolled to its second consecutive victory with a 15-3, 15-4 rout of Orlando Edgewater.

The serving of Jennifer Rippard, Tracy Finley and Krista Krantz paved the way for the JV Lady Patriots.

Stocks Open Lower

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened lower today in active trading of New York Stock Exchange issues, pressured by a slightly lower dollar.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which rose 4.30 Monday, was down 13.17 to 2599.87 shortly after the market opened.

Gainers led losers 668-314 among the 1,364 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape.

Early turnover amounted to about 11,406,000 shares.

Before the market opened the government reported that in August retail sales climbed 1.3 percent and industrial production rose 0.3 percent.

The stock market ended higher in moderate trading Monday, helped by a stable dollar and steady bond prices. But for most of the session market was at narrowly mixed or slightly lower levels, with a firm dollar and steady bond prices nearly counter-balancing pressure from profit-takers.

"The buying momentum prevailing Friday did not carry through, raising the question of whether this is a pause that refreshes or a pause for reflection," said Al Goldman, technical analyst at A.G. Edwards & Sons in St. Louis.

the second public hearing on Sept. 28.
The dispute about the land for the wastewater disposal site came when a letter from Florida's Department of Natural Resources revealed that the state claimed ownership of the 325 acres below the high water line. City Attorney William Colbert told the commissioners that the appraiser advised him that the disputed land does not change the $3.5 million market value of the site. Colbert also said the engineer told him the use and capacity of the property is not diminished by the state's claim. City Commissioner John Mercer voiced the only opposition to purchase the 2,200 acres, saying he thought the land was too expensive.

Talks

Other issues on the agenda included strategic weapons. Soviet human rights policies and world trouble spots such as Afghanistan and the Persian Gulf.

Monday, U.S. negotiators in Geneva formally presented Soviet counterparts with a draft missile treaty spelling out the administration's proposals for a missile agreement, including verification procedures.

Tax

Vogt stated that the speaker of the house, Rep. Jon Mills, is opposed to repeal, and will probably try to stall a repeal bill by referring it to various committees. He also said that Rep. Sam Bell, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, favored revision by deleting the tax on advertising.
"Whichever way we go now," Vogt said, "we'll be showing a lack of leadership."
Vogt cited his opposition to the tax on advertising when the bill was pending in the senate during the spring legislative session, saying he "gave in when my people wanted to tax ads and I couldn't see any alternative for revenue."

"Now we know that various media, particularly radio and television stations in the Panhandle, have a serious competitive disadvantage competing with stations in Georgia and Alabama which do not have the tax."
Martinez refused to discuss his meeting with Vogt or details of the meeting with Republican leaders, except to say, "We just talked and are exploring options."
The 3-day special session of the legislature opens in Tallahassee on Monday. The sales tax on services was effective July 1, 1987.

Lottery

what business they represented when they asked for the information, George said.
He said that statewide, 22,000 application packets have been requested and mailed out. About 3,000 applications have been returned.
The tickets, however, must be sold only at retail outlets, George said, and not by private individuals or by churches. The seller at the business must be 18, have no criminal record and be willing to pay a $100 fee. Background checks will be made by lottery officials rather than local sheriffs.
The lottery by law cannot limit retail outlets for the tickets, George said. He said the lottery director wants instant lottery tickets to become "as available as bubble gum."

George said it has not been decided whether the lottery will have a lot of small payoffs or a few large-money winners.
The instant winner tickets will be randomly distributed, presumably by computer. Ticket eligible to enter high stakes drawings will be put in an envelope and drawn randomly from a drum during televised drawings.
Instant lottery games usually run in the $5-to-$10,000 payoff range, with a big $1 million drawing for those who have won smaller amounts, George said.
He said the state is also banking on selling tickets to the states 50 million tourists per year. He said it is not illegal to buy a ticket in a lottery if you are from a state that does not have a lottery. What is illegal, however, is mailing tickets to other states, according to federal law he said. George said some states get around this by sending the tickets by private carriers.

He said to his knowledge it is not illegal to participate in an out-of-state lottery as long as the tickets are purchased in that state of the lottery and not sent through the U.S. mail.

Salvation Army Helps To Locate Lost Relatives

DEAR ABBY: Thank you so very much for your article on the Salvation Army finding lost relatives.

Because of your article my mother, Earlene Fay Haynes Click of Santa Fe, Texas, and my grandfather, Earl Haynes of Owensboro, Ky., were reunited after 42 years!

Our whole family would like to thank everyone who helped make this possible. You've really made my mother happy.

EARLENE'S DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Glad I was able to help.

Readers, the Salvation Army operates a Missing Persons Locator Service in 86 countries of the world. This is available to the public. Those interested in this service should be aware of the following basic guidelines:

1. The inquirer should be searching for a near relative.
2. The inquirer must be able to provide essential information about the missing person.
3. The Salvation Army reserves the right to accept or reject any request for services based upon considerations, feasibility or motive.
4. The inquirer is asked to pay a $5 non-refundable fee.
5. The inquirer may secure information and/or a missing persons inquiry form by contacting the nearest Salvation Army office in her area or by contacting the nearest Territorial Headquarters.

Dear Abby

Addresses: 860 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill. 60610-3392; 120 W. 14th St., New York, N.Y. 10011; 1424 Northeast Expressway, Atlanta, Ga. 30328-2088; 30840 Hawthorne Blvd., Rancho Palos Verdes, Calif. 90274.

DEAR ABBY: I must comment on the letter from "Hurt and Insulted" whose father-in-law said, "Please do me a small favor and change your brand of perfume; I had to go outside to keep from choking."

How I wish I had the courage of that father-in-law. There are several expensive fragrances on the market today that smell exactly like insecticide, and they affect me in the same way. My eyes water, I start to sneeze and my throat closes up. I have had to change my seat at the movie theater, and leave plays and concerts because of certain fragrances worn by both men and women.

Abby, is there a polite way to tell friends you see frequently that you can't tolerate their perfume?

NO NERVE IN JERSEY

DEAR NO NERVE: Yes. Say, "I have an allergy to the fragrance you are wearing," and if that person is considerate and well-mannered, that person will remember not to wear the offending fragrance in your presence again.

DEAR ABBY: I am planning a one-week vacation to San Francisco and already have my airline tickets (they are non-refundable). My son, 18, is insisting that I have an AIDS test when I return from my vacation. He says you can pick up AIDS from saliva, and since I will be eating in lots of restaurants and am also staying in the home of a gay friend, I am taking a large risk.

What do you say about this, Abby? Although I pretended to my son not to be worried, now I am becoming concerned. I think the medical world is trying to downplay the AIDS epidemic to avoid panic in the general population. Can it be that it is really worse than they are letting on? Please tell me if you think the risk is really great. Naturally I don't plan on having sex with anyone, or kissing anyone while I am there.

FLORIDA ABBY FAN

DEAR FAN: Your son is mistaken. You cannot pick up AIDS from eating in a restaurant, or staying in the home of a gay friend — unless, of course, you engage in unprotected sex with

'September In The Park'

Artist Helen Hickey will be one of about a dozen Sanford artists exhibiting in "September In The Park," featuring performing artists, visual artists and authors, Sunday, Sept. 19, from 1 to 5 p.m., in Centennial Park, Fourth Street at Oak Avenue, Sanford. Two top-notch bands, Seminole Community Band and Brevard Community Band will provide music during the afternoon of continuous entertainment. Also, food will be available and sold by Seminole High School Boosters Club. The event is sponsored by the Cultural Arts Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce. There is no admission charge. Betty Reagan, chairman, said. Patrons are asked to bring lawn chairs and blankets and plan to spend the afternoon.

Brunch Gets Heathrow Women's Club Underway

By Doris Dietrich
EOPLE Editor

The newly-formed Heathrow Women's Club is off and running.

The fledgling organization made its debut Monday at an European Brunch at the Country Club at Heathrow. Clubwomen and guests helped themselves to a buffet of Ham and Asparagus Newburg Crepes, Assorted Muffins, Croissants with Fresh Preserves, Fresh Fruit, Coffee and tea while socializing at the pre-autumn festivity before the business of the day got underway.

Club president Gilda Chacey welcomed the new members and guests and introduced the board of directors. The purpose of the club is to promote friendship and goodwill among Heathrow residents, assist in community functions and benefit charitable organizations.

One of the club's first projects is to assist with the Lake Mary-Heathrow Festival of the Arts scheduled Oct. 24 and 25 on the lush grounds of the Racquet Club at Heathrow. Sponsored primarily by the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, the festival, a "first of its kind" for the Seminole area, is expected to attract thousands of well-wishers and exhibitors.

Providing continuous piano selections during the brunch was Pam Brody Dillon. A fall fashion show was presented by Jacobson's Longwood, under the direction of Shirley Jones.

The next meeting will be at The Hamptons clubhouse on Oct. 12, at 10 a.m. The program will be on Christmas and fall flower arranging and home decorating by Ed Lachlari of the Flower Market at Longwood Village Inn.

President Chacey announced that Mrs. Jeno Paulucci is an honorary member and board member of the club.

Other club officer are: Shan Arnette, first vice president; Sharon Vorenkamp, second vice president; Gloria Schneeman, recording secretary; Sharon Tannian, corresponding secretary; Jo Ann Lucas, treasurer; Beverly Rettinger, public relations; Arlene Walther, telephone committee chairman; Marianne Bassile, ways and means chairman; and Agnes Sansc, historian and parliamentarian.

Scholarships Highlight Pageant

Applications are available by Pageant, 215 Piedmont Ave., N.E., Atlanta, Ga 30308.

Scholarships will be presented to Florida participants in the 17th Annual Miss Florida National Teen-Ager program to be held at the Radisson Plaza Hotel in Orlando on April 29, 30 and May 1, 1988.

Young women must be between the ages of 13 and 18 and are judged on scholastic achievement, leadership, poise, personality and appearance. There is no swimsuit competition. Each finalist may, at her option, present a talent or an essay on "What's Right About America."

The Florida winner will receive a $1,000 cash scholarship and a two-year tuition scholarship to Oklahoma City University (with provision for renewal) and an all-expense paid trip to compete in the national program in August where $40,000 in cash scholarships and other prizes will be awarded.

NEW ARRIVAL

Joe and Sherry (Cook) Landry, 5965 B Iowa Court, Camp LeJeune, N.C., announce the birth of a daughter, Sarah Grace, on Aug. 21, at the Naval Hospital, Camp LeJeune.

Sarah Grace was welcomed by her sister Melissa and her brothers Joey and Nicholas.

Maternal grandparents are Arthurene and Walter Cook and maternal great grandmother is Lera Wilson, all of Sanford.

Paternal grandparents are Mormon and Evelyn Landry, Colona, Ill.

MPO at 2397 French Ave. offers something for everybody in meat, poultry and seafood.

MPO Has Quality Meats And Personal Service

Coming into MPO (Meat Producers Outlet) at 2397 French Ave., Sanford, you get that old-fashioned feeling. It is just like stepping back into yesterday when you went to your friendly butcher for help in choosing just the right cut.

The service may be the good old-fashioned kind, but the facilities and equipment are modern. Parking spaces are under cover for the customer's convenience.

MPO, which is open seven days a week from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., has a meat cutter on duty and offers personalized service. It's the kind you don't find in super markets.

MPO has something for everybody, whether your tastes run to King Crab legs or mullet — fillet mignon or hamburger. There is something at MPO to suit everyone's taste and pocket book.

Formerly located at Village Flea Market, Sanford, MPO opened at its present location in December 1986. Java "Red" Jones is the owner and his daughter, Glenda Mangun, is the manager.

They have top quality fresh meats, seafood, and poultry at reasonable prices. MPO carries USDA choice beef, fresh fish, shrimp, clams and oysters, a complete line of pork and poultry, smoked meats and deli products.

They also have frozen food — lobster, king crab, scallops, rock shrimp, flsea lobster and Florida lobster.

MPO will cut you one steak or 20. They gladly serve businesses and restaurants and welcome special orders.

Saucemaker Finds Sizzlin' Market For Tangy Family Barbecue Blend

By Rebecca Kolberg

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Frederick Douglass may not be willing to divulge the recipe for Wass-Dis-Here Sauce, but public demand has forced him to share the taste of his grandfather's barbecue concoction.

"Most commercial sauces are based on the lowest common denominator — the taste that pleases the most people most of the time," Douglass said. "I want a taste that busts the elastic in people's socks."

Douglass, who says he is the great-great-grandson of abolitionist Frederick Douglass, inherited the recipe from his father about a decade ago. The spicy, tomato-based sauce was created by his grandfather, Charles Douglass, a professional chef in Meadville, Pa.

"I sort of took it for granted as I was growing up," said Douglass, who was pressured into mass-producing the sauce by acquaintances who tasted it at his house or who received it as Christmas gifts.

"secret" ingredients probably is a distinctive Maryland spice mixture used to season steamed crabs.

Although most people use the Wass-Dis-Here Sauce to dress up meat, Douglass says he has met people who put it in Bloody Marys, on eggs, spaghetti and even pancakes.

The sauce maker, who works full-time as public relations director for Morgan State University in Baltimore, urges others with secret home recipes to start mass producing their goodies.

But he cautions a "cottage industry" is not the easiest on-ramp to the road to riches.

"I advise them to do it only if they don't mind losing sleep and if they have the patience to do a lot of manual labor, like bottling."

As for Wass-Dis-Here-Sauce, a time may come when the Douglass family no longer has a monopoly on its secret ingredients.

Douglass said that although his 10-year-old daughter is interested in the legacy, several larger food producers have offered to buy the recipe — and he just might sell out if the price gets high enough.

Douglass, his wife and two children now spend one night a month churning out about 1,000 bottles in a marathon session at rented space in a Baltimore bottling plant.

The product — which comes in mild, hot and "sizzlin'" — costs about $3 per 10-ounce bottle and is marketed at Baltimore-area gourmet shops. Douglass has also received mail orders from as far as California and has one customer who takes cases to England.

The ingredients listed on the label, "tomatoes, vinegar, curry, peppers, herbs, spices, sugar, honey and salt," only hint at what gives Wass-Dis-Here Sauce its special zing.

A consensus of local tasters is that one of the

On the other hand, the sauce maker, who said he's "really not making any money," admitted he is sometimes tempted to go into the food production business full time.

Douglass says he is considering putting his sauce on store shelves in the Washington, D.C. and Richmond, Va. areas.

He also toys with the idea of starting a company to help home cooks such as himself package their specialties and promote the products by mail order catalog.

"Right now, there are a lot of tastes that people are missing out on," he said.

Jim Lash Blue Book Cars A Dealer You Can Count On

Who knows better about used cars than someone who has been specializing in them all of his life?

That's right, not a hobby, a sideline or a get rich quick scheme, but a career in selling clean, quality late model cars and trucks.

Jim Lash has been serving the car needs of Central Florida for over 33 years in the same location and in Sanford since 1966. You won't see "Grand Opening" today and gone tomorrow from this dealership. However, you will see many of the same helpful people who have served your car needs over the past years.

At Jim Lash's Blue Book Cars, he and son Steve, the general manager, use their knowledge and experience to hand pick each vehicle. This helps the customer take the guesswork out of purchasing a used car or truck. Other comforting notes are that each unit is inspected through Blue Book Service Center. Jim Durs, service manager, and his staff use their skills and latest equipment to bring each vehicle to optimum mechanical condition.

Also important is a large inventory selection from which choose, giving you a price range or payment plan to fit your budget's needs.

They also offer direct Barnett Bank financing with preferred customer rates and on-the-spot delivery. Another important point is the clean fresh appearance of the vehicles. This is achieved by total reconditioning of the car's interior and exterior. Nelson Montalvo, detail manager, gets the job done with his staff by having the proper equipment and receiving the benefit of Jim Lash's years of experience.

Credibility is also an important factor when purchasing a used car or truck. Blue Book Cars and Blue Book Service Center are members of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce, Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce, Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and the Better Business Bureau.

The sales staff, consisting of C. Ray Lash, Roger Scharlua and Steve Allen, has many years of experience selling used cars. They can answer your questions and give advice where others may simply guess or say they don't know!

Steve Allen, the newest addition to the sales staff, spent 21 years with the company in its Orlando store before moving to the Sanford location.

To finalize, all your automotive needs can be taken care of in our new clean facility at the same location, 4114 S. Orlando Drive (Highway 17-92 south of Lake Mary Boulevard). You can top and shop under the open showroom, deal in the spacious offices or if waiting, relax in the lounge at Jim Lash's Blue Book Cars, 4114 S. Orlando Drive, Sanford.

Parents Have Rights As To Their Children

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — What right does a parent have to accompany a child during tests? One hears stories about children being subjected to unnecessary tests while hospitalized, or to excessive X-rays. I know doctors don't want hysterical parents complicating their work, but I would think a calm parent could help soothe a frightened child, while making sure everything being done to the child was needed.

DEAR READER — I agree. I think that the practice of parents accompanying their children for testing is appropriate, and many doctors are encouraging this. Naturally, in certain circumstances — such as during surgery — parents may be prohibited from being present, but they certainly can be nearby.

Parental presence is, as far as I know, not a right. However, physicians are obligated to explain procedures to parents. In my opinion, a child should not be subjected to testing or surgery until the parents have been given a detailed and understandable explanation of what is to be done, its benefits and potential complications, and why.

In hospitals, rules often limit when and how long parents can stay with their children. I've found that these rules are flexible and can be bent to suit individual cases. Pediatricians usually welcome dialogue with parents on this issue.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What is the safest product for a woman to douche with?

DEAR READER — Most commercially available douches are safe — but expensive. Some women experience allergic reactions to the components of a douche; fortunately, these reactions are rare.

In my opinion, an effective and inexpensive douche can be made at home. To a quart of warm water, add either two tablespoons of white vinegar or two tablespoons of baking soda. These concoctions work, and I have yet to see a patient with an unpleasant reaction to them.

Remember that douching is not a necessary part of good female hygiene. The procedure is not appropriate for most women and should not be done frequently. Women who have recurring discharge or other gynecological symptoms should check with their doctors and not rely on periodic douching. And, of course, douching is totally useless as a form of birth control.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Are there better ways for South to bid his hand, after hearing North cue-bid two diamonds in response to the takeout double? Probably, but the simplicity of the five-spade bid is attractive. Some might interpret the bid as asking for good trump support; others might treat it as looking for a diamond control. South actually meant it to say: "Partner, we might have a slam. You make the decision." Was North right to go on? You be the judge.

Declarer won with dummy's king of spades. Since the opposing high cards were in the West hand and all finesses would fall, South went for an endplay. He played the ace and a low heart. If West had to win the doubleton king, he would then have to either lead into the A-Q of clubs or play a diamond. Of course West was happy to take his two heart tricks and defeat the contract.

Declarer can do better. After winning dummy's spade king, he can play the king of diamonds, shedding a heart. West will win the ace and can do no better than to play back a diamond. South throws two more hearts on the Q-J of diamonds, comes back to his heart ace, plays the seven of spades to dummy's eight and trumps a heart with his queen. He now leads the six of spades to dummy's nine and trumps another heart with his ace. He can still get back to dummy by playing a low spade to the five-spot. The little heart left is now a winner, on which he can shed the queen of clubs.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

By Bernice Bede Osol

YOUR BIRTHDAY SEPTEMBER 16, 1987
In the year ahead, you may become involved in an enterprise you previously considered beyond your scope. You'll discover that it isn't, and your chances for success are very good.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) An enthusiastic friend might try to include you in an enterprise he's sold on himself. If it appears expensive, don't move too hastily. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences governing you in the year ahead. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH, 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Take nothing for granted where your career is concerned today. If another isn't doing something he or she promised, take appropriate measures yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If there is something special that needs doing today, avoid seeking the aid of a talkative friend who doesn't usually produce. Enlist a dependable pal instead.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Being careless today could cost you a small loss through your oversights. Count your change, and be sure to get receipts for anything you buy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Big issues aren't apt to irritate your mate today, but little things might. Be sure to put the top back on the peanut butter jar after you use it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your mind is likely to be on something other than the task at hand today. Be careful you don't knock over your favorite lamp while dusting.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Stay away from bargain counters today. Your eye for values might not be up to par, and you could buy silly things you'll never use.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Strive to be enterprising today, but more for others than for yourself. Your gratification will come from knowing you were able to provide what they could not.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In order to maintain a harmonious relationship with co-workers today, you must be more free with your praise and less liberal with your criticism.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Financial conditions are apt to be mixed for you today. However, you can wind up in the plus column if you keep a tight rein on small expenses.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Instead of talking about what you intend to do for your mate today, surprise him or her by doing it. Conversation doesn't count, action does.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't stretch your points today when trying to get others to do your bidding. You'll accomplish your purpose, but others may later resent your tactics.
