Veterans parade Monday

SANFORD — Veterans of all wars and those who served in the armed forces will be honored Monday with a parade and ceremony in downtown Sanford.

The parade will form at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce parking lot, East First Street and Sanford Avenue. At 10:45 a.m. participants will march west on First Street, then north on Park Avenue to the memorial statue on the lakefront near the Sanford City Hall.

The parade grand marshal is Sam Levy, 94, a World War I veteran.

Marching will be units from the Air Force Junior ROTC #872, National Guard Co. B 2nd Battalion, Seminole County Sheriff's Explorer Post 517, the Seminole County Fire/Rescue Division, Canine Companions for Independence and others.

At the veterans' memorial, on the shore of Lake Monroe, Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith will issue the city's official proclamation for Veterans Day.

Salvation Army offers aid

SANFORD — Applications are still being accepted for assistance from the Salvation Army in Seminole County. Families needing Christmas assistance have only three days left during which to file.

The final three days are Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 18, 19 and 20. Hours of operation are 9 a.m. until 12 noon, and 1 p.m. until 4 p.m.

Applicants should take a number of items with them including an ID for each member of the household, a photo ID for the head of the household, proof of all expenses and proof of all income including Food Stamps.

Only one application per household will be considered for assistance.

The Salvation Army in Seminole County is located at 700 W. 24th Street in Sanford. For additional information, call 322-2642.

Computer tracking church fires

A sophisticated computer system based on the one developed for collecting data in the Gainesville student murders helping a task force investigate a series of church fires over the past 16 months, including one in Sanford last February.

Lt. Sadie Darnell, a spokeswoman for the federal, state and local task force assembled to investigate the church fires, said the computer system will store and compare information from 28 church fires reported since July 1990.

The latest occurred Friday in Jacksonville Beach, where the First Baptist Church suffered at least $200,000 in damage from a fire that destroyed church offices and classrooms.

Golden Age Games conclude in Sanford

SANFORD — Some of the participants at Saturday morning's final Golden Age Games track and field events at Seminole High School's Thomas E. Whigham Stadium complained that it was too cold to perform properly.

Many didn't bother to show up. "Actually it wasn't all that bad," said Jimmie Reid, 65, who, with her husband Donald, spends the winter in New Smyrna Beach but live in Charlottesville, VA the rest of the year. "I hear it's really cold up north."

Still many participants shivered and competed with their heavy sweatsuits on.

"It makes it hard to do your best when it's like this," Reid said.

The event marked the close of the 17th annual Golden Age Games in Sanford. Hundreds of older GAINESVILLE — Even three days following their selection of Robert Hughes as Alachua County school superintendent, county board members here still glowed with pride and eagerness.

"We're real thrilled that he's able to help us," Carolyn Kitchens, an Alachua County Board member, said late last week. "We feel he has the background to take us forward."

As Gainesville and its surrounding areas which comprise Alachua County head into the 90s, they face some major decisions which Hughes will tackle early in his four-year term. The retooling of elementary schools, mainstreaming of exceptional children with the rest of the students, and long-range strategic plans must be taken care of quickly, according to Kitchens.

Hughes' ability to handle adversity played a crucial part in his selection.

"That's one of the key reasons why he was selected," said Charles Chestnut, vice chairman of the school board. "We were impressed with his answers [during the board's interview with Hughes]."

Chestnut also likes Hughes' philosophy of education, which includes the belief that all children can learn, privileged or not.

"The kinds of programs he has done in Seminole County couple with his education

SANFORD — While some Seminole County school district officials believe the board may have let a good thing get away when Supt. Robert Hughes was offered the superintendency of Alachua County, they think there may be a bright side to the situation.

"I'm happy for him, but not happy that he's leaving," said Joe Williams, board chairman.

"But if we were going to keep him it had to be a unanimous decision of the board. (A vote of 3-2 doesn't make it on something like this.)"

Board member Sandy Robinson said she believes Hughes is a "fine superintendent."

How St. Johns got its name

This week we're again going with questions and answers.

Question: Several months ago you told us that Lake Monroe was previously known as Lake Valdez. How did the St. Johns River get its name?

Answer: We'd never thought about that so we contacted the Florida Department of Natural Resources in Tallahassee and got the answer for you. The river, with a long and colorful cultural history,

WAY BACK WHEN

was first known as "Welaka" by the Indians. The Indian name meant river of lakes. Not long after Columbus' discovery of the new world, Spanish seamen that followed labeled it on navigation charts as

Midway community must boil its water

MIDWAY — About 750 residences, several businesses and Midway Elementary here are currently under a "Boil Water" order from the Seminole County Public Health Unit because road crews turned off Midway's water supply Wednesday.

"There's no evidence of any contamination of that water at all," said Paul Morrison, manager of the drinking water enforcement section of the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation central Florida office. "There should be no cause for alarm. But we'd rather be safe than sorry."

John Cochran, director of the environmental health section of the county's Public Health Unit, said the notice was issued late Friday afternoon after discussions with DER officials. He said the order will remain in effect until next Wednesday when Monday and Tuesday water tests are analyzed. If any contamination is found the order will be extended, he said.

Morrison said residents need to boil the water they plan to consume for at a full boil for at least one minute to assure its safety. Water for bathing and other non-consumptive purposes does not need to be boiled, he said.

Morrison said DER officials recommended the health unit issue the order after Midway's main water

SANFORD — An icy wind blew across the open fields at Joe Baker's Polo Grounds on Pine Way south of the Central Florida Regional Airport in Sanford on Saturday morning.

"I thought it was supposed to be warm in Florida," said Karla Gentry of Boulder, CO. "You know...the sunshine state and all." Gentry, a self-proclaimed Ultimate Frisbee "freak," had driven from Colorado to watch the national championships being held in Sanford.

The preliminary rounds, played Thursday through yesterday at the polo grounds, were played in the midst of the coldest weather of the year. No sun appeared to warm the ground and a misty drizzle clung to faces that were red and raw.

The final games will be played today at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium at Seminole High School. The women's championship game is scheduled to start at 10:30 a.m. The final men's game is set to begin at 2 p.m.

"Sure it's cold out here," said Dee Rambeau, one of the coordinators of the national event. "But at least there's not snow on the ground."

The championships are played at various locations throughout Florida. Last year they were held in West Palm Beach.

"We always come to Florida because it's warm," said Tim Finan, another of the organizers, rolling his eyes.

Shuffleboard matches end

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Two strenuous days of shuffleboard competition have ended in the Golden Age Games. The 53 teams that began the event were narrowed down to the final eight on Friday.

Shuffleboard is not only a popular sport for the Golden Age Games. It is a favored recreational activity all around the state. Age is seldom a problem, and many teams consist of a husband and wife.

Sanford Shuffleboard Club member Hoppie Hopkins commented, "The only thing preventing this from being more of a major sport is the fact that you can't find many shuffleboard courts in the northern states." He projected, "This competition in the Golden Age Games is so strong it should be on nationwide TV."

Hopkins was not entered in any Golden Age Games competition this year. "During the past two years, I won 11 gold medals in various events," he said, "and I think its time I let other people experience the thrill of winning that I did."

The event was sponsored and hosted by the Sanford Tourist and Shuffleboard Club, at the Fort Mellon courts. Dutch Sawyer, president of the club, assisted in managing the event for the games.

"I was disappointed in the Sanford teams this year," Sawyer said. "They all dropped out early in the competition. They're often among the best." He added, "The final teams were all from other cities, but mostly here in Central Florida."

For people who are not familiar with shuffleboard competition, the players often appear exceptionally quiet, well-mannered, and not open to shouting with glee when they manage to drive their opponent's disc completely off the court.

Actually, the players are highly competitive, and pride themselves in their court accomplishments and victories, ready to show

Domino competition friendly

SANFORD — 1991 wasn't the year for Keith and Marion Wilson of Sanford.

After three straight years of winning gold medals for the doubles domino competition at the Golden Age Games, the Wilsons left Friday without even a third place showing.

"I just can't get going," Wilson commented during the game before they were eliminated from the playoffs.

The Wilsons, Keith, 70, and Marion, 73, were eliminated by Paulee Stevens, 74, of Lake Mary, and Dolores Martin, 62, of DeBary who won the gold medals. Silver medals went to Mary Schanzle, 67, of DeBary, and Wilson Gordon, 76, of Sanford. Bronze medals went to the Eulers, Lyle, 65, and Esther, 63, of Greeneville, Tenn.

If you're addicted to TV chase shows or killer robot movies, don't watch a game of dominoes. It's not that exciting. But if you enjoy the challenge of easy-to-learn strategy, don't watch the game either. Play it.

Dominoes are played by placing small plastic tiles end to end. Each rectangular tile has two sets of dots at each end. The dots may number the same, differently or have no dots at all.

Tiles with like-numbered dots must be placed end to end or the player must pass without laying down a tile. The hand continues until everyone passes.

The player or team with the lowest total number of remaining dots wins the number of dots held by the losing team. The combined number of dots becomes the winning score of the hand which adds up through subsequent hands until one team reaches 100 points, winning the game.

The strategy, similar to many card games, comes from guessing which tiles opponents have by the tiles they put down.

Battery charged

James Torrey, 21, of 1474 Sunshadow Dr. in Sanford was arrested for battery and resisting arrest without violence. Sheriff's deputies said that Torrey came after the victim with a knife as she was at a pay phone calling police about a fight they had had at home.

When deputies arrived he refused to put down his knife and submit to arrest.

He was finally taken into custody and transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where he was held on $2,000 bond.

Couple arrested after shouting match

Cynthia A. Evans, 24, of 105 Mayfair Cir. in Sanford and her husband James Evans, 24, of the same address, were arrested on Thursday and charged with disorderly conduct.

Sanford Police report the couple was arrested in the parking lot of the Barn at 1200 S. French Ave. in Sanford. They were shouting obscenities at one another.

They were transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where they were each held on $100 bond.

Woman arrested for striking child

Patricia Kennedy Darnell, 37, of 4428 Francis Rd. in Sanford was arrested on Thursday and charged with child abuse.

Sheriff's officers said she separated two of her sons who were fighting. She then hit one three times in the face, they said.

She was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where she was held in lieu of $500 bond.

Spouse abuse alleged

Gary T. Wilkins, 39, of 136 Hazel Blvd. in Sanford, was arrested for spouse abuse.

Sanford police reported that his wife told them he had hit her in the face and body, causing some cuts.

He was taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and held on $500 bond.

Warrant arrests

• Marie Annette Brooks, 28, of 306 Elm St. in Sanford was arrested on Thursday and charged with failure to appear on charges of sale of cocaine.

• Carolyn Whitehead Smith, 35, of 1210 W. 15th St. in Sanford was charged with violating her parole on charges of trespassing after warning.

• Darryl Eugene Williams, 26, of 59 William Clark Ct. in Sanford was arrested for failure to appear on charges of resisting arrest without violence.

• Douglas Christopher Sutton, 30, of 113 Academy Dr. in Sanford was charged with violating his parole on charges of grand theft.

United Way stretching toward $12 million goal

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

The Heart of Florida United Way has passed the second hurdle in its quest for the $12 million giving campaign.

With $6,024,105 already collected, Katrina Neller, spokeswoman for the Heart of Florida group said the easy part was over and that the remaining money would have to be "scraped out."

The United Way does not break down the origins of their donations by county, but some individual Seminole County teams "have given, and continue to give, generously."

Seminole County government, under the direction of German Romero, has so far donated $13,197 to the annual campaign.

Employees of Seminole Community College, led by Dr. Keith Samuels, have contributed $6,358 to the cause.

The Seminole County school district, with encouragement from Tom McDowell, has collected $35,290.

"I was particularly impressed with the amount that the schools are giving," Neller said. "They are struggling with budget cuts and no raises but are continuing to give so generously."

The employees of Siemens Strongberg-Carlson in Lake Mary, under the guidance of Nancy McCarthy have already surpassed the goal of giving they had placed on themselves. With a goal of $180,000, they raised $183,400.

"That's 103 percent," Neller noted. "We're impressed with that."

The Heart of Florida United Way, which includes Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties raised its goal of giving by 10 percent over last year. Neller said it is one of the few United Way organizations that set a double digit goal increase for itself.

"Seminole County, it seems, has come through for us in the past," she said.

School board, teacher are sued over student injury

By VICKI DeSORMIER

SANFORD — The Seminole County school board and Sam Morely, a vocational teacher, have been sued by the father of a Lake Mary High School student who was injured in a shop class there.

According to the court documents, Marvin Holmes son Craig was injured while using a power saw.

The suit claims Morely and the school board were negligent.

The suit claims that the student was "seriously and permanently injured" and has been "caused to expend large and diverse sums of money for doctors and hospitals."

The lawsuit also claims that as a result of his injuries, Holmes is "less able to earn income in the future and will be denied the enjoyments of life."

The injury, Holmes claims are permanent in nature.

School board attorney Ned Julian had not yet received a copy of the summons when asked about it.

Schools to lobby for same goals

By VICKI DeSORMIER

SANFORD — The program that school district lobbyist Don Reynolds will bring to Tallahassee in January is little different from the one used last year.

"The priorities haven't really changed much," said chairman Joe Williams.

Topping the list of programs important to the district are, again, the equalization of funds, the maximization of local control and the financing of state-mandated programs.

"Nothing has changed in the last year," Williams said.

Seminole continues to fight for equalization of funding because though they have one of the largest student enrollments in the state they still rank 65th out of 67 counties in the amount of money they receive from the state.

"We've been fighting to change that for years," Williams said. "We'll just keep after it until it changes."

Seminole County will continue to fight to gain more control of the operations of the district.

"Home rule would allow us to make our own decisions in a lot more matters," Williams said.

Home rule would create an educational environment where the state would establish goals for all schools, but the individual districts, and the schools within those districts would have wide latitude and flexibility in achieving those goals.

"It would allow each school board to be totally accountable to the public for the successes and failures of those schools," Williams said.

In addition, the district will work to have the state not mandate programs which they do not finance.

"We can't continue to pay for programs the state mandates without money from the state to pay for them," Williams said.

Commission bid announced

SANFORD — Fred Harden, one of Seminole County's leading environmental activists, said Wednesday he will seek the District 5 county commission seat.

Harden said he will open his campaign account within one to two weeks.

"I have some technical expertise that the commission could use," said Harden.

Harden said he picked up papers from the Seminole County Supervisor of Elections Office to declare a campaign treasurer and bank depository for contributions. Filing of the documents with the elections' office are required before candidates can accept campaign contributions and spend money for their campaigns.

Harden, a Democrat, is past president of the Friends of the Wekiva River and currently ety, which represents members from Seminole County and throughout central Florida. Harden is also chairman of the Seminole County Environmental Lands Committee, which will recommend sensitive areas for acquisition by the county.

For 22 years, Harden has worked for Walt Disney World in environmental permitting. He said he was responsible for obtaining all of the dredge and fill permits needed to build EPCOT.

Currently, only incumbent Jennifer Kelley, a Republican, has begun a campaign for the seat. Kelley's opponent in 1988, Art Davis, has said he will run again.

Harden said he also has experience in county government, managing the Fort Pierce mosquito control district. Harden said his educational background is in entomology, the study of insects.

Bull's-eye

President Bush scored a bull's-eye when he characterized members of Congress as a "privileged class of rulers." Insiders long have been aware of the congressional double standard that routinely exempts lawmakers from most of the statutes they enact. But angry voters slowly are coming to understand and be repulsed by the do-as-we-say, not-as-we-do ethos that pervades Capitol Hill.

Fed up with this hypocrisy, Sen. Charles Grassley, R-Iowa, has introduced a bill to place Congress under 16 major laws it has passed for others but exempted itself from. In addition, 10 GOP House members have proposed that the veil of secrecy that shields lawmakers be stripped away by making them subject, within limitations, to requests under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA).

If the FOIA, which was enacted in 1966, had been applied to Congress, the House would have been required to release the names of its members who have been bouncing checks. The executive and judicial branches of government must respond to FOIA requests. Why should lawmakers be protected from inquiries from the public they serve?

The same might be asked of congressionally mandated equal-employment and affirmative-action statutes that govern the public and private sectors but do not cover the House and Senate. Ditto for the congressionally created Occupational Safety and Health Administration, which scrutinizes private employers for hazardous working conditions but has no jurisdiction over Congress.

Additionally, Congress is not subject to the National Labor Relations Act of 1935, the Minimum Wage Act of 1936, the Equal Pay Act of 1963, the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990.

Nor would the House and Senate be covered by the pending bills on family leave and civil rights.

The civil rights bill exemption is especially galling because of its tough language on sexual harassment in the workplace. Despite all the senatorial posturing during the Clarence Thomas hearings about the need to punish sexual harassment, the fact is that lawmakers can harass their staffers without worrying about being held legally accountable for their actions.

Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Ill. had it right when he said: "Congress would exempt itself from the law of gravity if it could." This institutional arrogance helps explain why previous attempts in the House and Senate to curb congressional privilege have been unsuccessful. And it explains why Sen. Grassley's measure is probably doomed unless indignant voters demand that Congress abide by the same laws it imposes on everyone else.

LETTERS

Thanks for Red Ribbon aid

I wish to say "Thank you" to the many civic-minded businesses, governmental, and social service agencies who were so generous to the school children in Seminole County during the recent Red Ribbon Campaign for a Drug-Free America, Oct. 19 to 27, 1991.

Because of the commitment of our community leaders, all schools were provided with red ribbons and supplies for their students, faculties, and staffs. Contributions, both material and financial, from many different arenas of life in our community made this year's Red Ribbon celebration a truly unified acclamation for the residents of Seminole County.

I hope that citizens in our community will let the following organizations know that we appreciate their commitment to promoting drug-free life-style choices for our youth:

Seminole County Sheriff's Dept.; TubeTec, Inc.; Crown Savings and Loan, University Behavioral Center, Cincinnati Bell Information Services (CBIS), Simplimatic Engineering, Laurel Oaks Hospital, First National Bank, Southern Bell Telephone, United Telephone, Central Florida Traffic Safety Council, and the Sanford Herald.

Letters to the editor are welcome. All letters must be signed, include the address of the writer and a daytime telephone number. Letters should be on a single subject and be as brief as possible. Letters are subject to editing.

Pondering the things that count

There is no more appropriate time than Thanksgiving to consider "what really counts" in our lives. As we muse through the ledger of our lives do we find an abundance of items for which we should give thanks? Is this list focused upon material things? If so, I would suggest that you consider the following as the salient things that really count. They are life, health and family. These are the assets that contribute to a bountiful personal experience as we journey upon this earth.

It has been customary to define a person's status in consonance with the job held and the money earned. More money has afforded the opportunity to accumulate more things. However, all of us know people who have an abundance of material things but do not appear to be fulfilled. They are constantly searching for "something."

Self-fulfillment comes from setting proper values, standards and goals for one's life. To value life means that one would never deliberately do anything to harm anything that God has created. To value health means that one would observe moderation in eating, drinking and avoiding activities that are detrimental to maintaining a healthy body. To value family is to learn to live together respecting each family member's personhood and enhancing individual self-concepts.

SEMINOLE OPINION

American values have shifted as we expanded from "sea to shining sea" and technology wrought a revolution of material things. However, we must not lose sight of the things that really count in pursuit of material things that might disappear in the twinkling of an eye. These are tough economic times for many families. The current recession has impacted workers from every sector of the economy. The faltering economy seems to have served as a catalyst as the crime rate continues its upward spiral. Many, many Americans have no homes, little food, no medical coverage. Therefore, the time has come for our government to adopt as its number one priority the preservation of American lives, health and families.

Rhetoric emanating from Washington, Tallahassee, or county officials is no longer acceptable. Human beings are more important than roads, buildings or anything else material. Americans must face and resolve its people problems humanely.

The recent election results are indicators that people are growing weary of sophisticated slogans and gimmicks. Government has a responsibility to address and resolve the problems that are detrimental to life, health and family. It always amazes me that at the national level we can find millions to send anywhere at any time. However, when it comes to expanding unemployment benefits, for Americans we are told this will adversely affect our budget.

Isolationism is not being suggested. However, just as individuals have to value life, health and family, America has to have like values and resolve to address the societal problems forthrightly. We can all be thankful that we live in America but if America is to realize its greatest potential it must face its problems at home.

ELLEN GOODMAN New image, energy and money

BOSTON — And now as we make our daily rounds, we pause for a moment to check the pulse of public life for signs of Post Thomas Stress Syndrome.

Has the sexual shock that streaked through the body politic during the Thomas hearings worn off? Or are the aftereffects likely to continue?

For a proper diagnosis, we put on our best bedside manner and approach the Congress first where we find symptom one: Bi-Partisan All-Male Angst. This condition, a nervous tick in the presence of women voters, is apparent in both Republicans and Democrats, though Democrats are more likely to replay scenes of sheer incompetence in their heads and on their VCRs.

Angst is what produced those early compulsive declarations about the evils of sexual harassment. After Angst, came Apologies.

Ted "Lockjaw" Kennedy apologized for saying too little at the Senate hearings and promised to mend the personal ways that publicly gagged him. Alan "Pitbull" Simpson apologized for saying too much, and promised a personality transplant. Arlen "PA. Law" Specter, alas, is still in Befuddlement — an earlier stage — but coming along.

Now we have Reparations. The most evident congressional signs of Post Thomas Stress Syndrome (PTSS) are in legislation.

The sudden support for the Civil Rights Bill and its passage in the Senate was one happy side effect. The Senate's equally sudden decision that they should live with the civil rights laws of the land is another. The senators voted to allow their very own employees to sue them for things like, uh, sexual harassment.

But let us move on. To truly check the status of this syndrome, we must take to the streets, offices and homes where women with PTSS survive. By now they have been through Disbelief, Denial and Outrage. The image of Anita versus the Boys, however, remains vivid.

There is, of course, mixed medical opinion on whether anger will turn to apathy or action. Spin doctors of the Republican Party insist that real women don't vote along gender lines. Spin doctors of the Democratic Party insist they can take women for granted.

Indeed, nobody knows for sure whether women will go on choosing the lesser of evils at the ballot box, or will pick their own candidates. But on our routine exams, we pick up the hopeful signs. Especially for women in politics.

Sign One: Energy. Suddenly the groups that work for female candidates are getting those wonderful queries about 1992 that begin: "What Can I Do?"

As Jane Danowitz of the Women's Campaign

Fund says, "It always takes a calamity to make things happen. The women we're hearing from are mainstream folks who aren't generally political and might not call themselves feminists." They are people talking about gender, about changing the faces in office.

Sign Two: Money. Anita Hill may turn out to be the biggest fund-raiser of 1992. PTSS is working for the National Women's Political Caucus (NWPC). They used it in a national ad that featured a drawing of 14 women senators facing one lone Clarence Thomas. The tag line was "What if..."

PTSS is also working for senatorial candidates like Liz Holtzman and Barbara Boxer who are running in New York and California. It may even work against some men, especially those hapless Democrats who provided Thomas' margin of victory. As Ellen Malcolm who raises money for Democrat women through EMILY'S List says, "There may be a lot of women who gave money to these guys forever and ever, just sitting it out."

Sign Three: Running. Ever heard of Janet Napolitano? Meet the PCTC, a Post Clarence Thomas Candidate.

In the past few weeks pockets of women with Energy and maybe Money have organized to get someone Running against the male incumbent. In Arizona, Napolitano, one of Anita Hill's attorneys, is considering running against Republican Sen. John McCain, a Thomas supporter.

None of these signs proves the staying power of the syndrome. As Harriet Woods, the head of the NWPC says, "Women have been as politically homeless as everyone else. But that passion didn't appear out of nowhere. If we can get women candidates who remind women of the price we pay for not having our life experience represented, if we can remind them of their disgust and anger, we'll see some change."

So, a temporary diagnosis is in order. As we finish today's checkup, Post Thomas Stress Syndrome looks awfully good for the system. The political system.

The image of Anita versus the Boys, however, remains vivid.

JACK ANDERSON Interest rates drop, credit rates go up

WASHINGTON — The savings and loan "bailout" is not the only bailing Americans are doing these days. The commercial banking industry is taking on water also, and guess who is helping to keep those banks afloat? Credit-card customers.

Even though interest rates have been dropping in other arenas, credit-card rates are still out of sight. And the interest that banks pay to depositors, if any, has not gone up as loan rates go down. The ugly truth is that huge financial firms realize they can prey on small savers and credit-card holders, forcing them to bail out the banks from stupid and speculative loans and investments.

In the past two years, the rates banks give on savings accounts have fallen to about 5 percent — hardly enough incentive to take your money out from under the mattress. At the same time, interest rates on plastic have jumped to approximately 19 percent.

It couldn't hit Americans at a worse time. The jobless rate is soaring, and more people are unwisely living off their credit cards because they have no choice, and they hope that tomorrow will bring something better.

Ideally, consumers should cut up their credit cards and mail them in bulk to the greedy banks that issued them. But the banks know they have consumers over a barrel. They can charge what the market will bear, and a market in desperate need for credit will bear just about anything that it doesn't have to pay for until next month.

Even if the banks did not have consumers cornered, they could still set their own terms because the industry is fast becoming a monopoly. A few giant banks control the market. There are more than 6,000 card issuers, and you know this because you have received junk mail from most of them. But the top 25 issuers control two-thirds of the market.

Rep. Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., is sponsoring a bill that would force credit-card issuers to deal more fairly with their customers. His bill requires banks to engage in fuller disclosure of such things as rates, annual fees and grace periods, including granting customers 30 days notice before rates are raised. The current notice requirement is 15 days.

The rapidly with which a credit-card interest rate can go up would make the plastic spin in your wallet. Horror stories abound of consumers who found that their rates went up 50 percent because their bank was bought or had merged.

"Incredibly," says Schumer, "credit-card interest rates remain at the stratospheric heights they were at during the early '80s when the (cost of money) was at almost 15 percent."

MORE SHOCK WAVES — One of the after-effects of the banking bust is that loans are drying up to small businesses and consumer borrowers. President Bush has been warned by his economic advisers that the credit crunch is stalling the economic recovery, depriving the private sector of much-needed loans to start and expand businesses. Interest rates are becoming more reasonable, but banks are still tightfisted.

The banks blame the regulators for that stinginess. The 1980s were a period of fast and loose lending, and now the banks are paying for that in failed investments and defaulted loans. Regulation is an overreaction to that, the banks say.

Once the banks start blaming too much on regulation, you can watch for President Bush to buckle to those banks. He will press for less stringent lending practices. Bush is desperate to give the economy a shot in the arm before the 1992 election, and he can't do that if businesses can't get money to expand.

It couldn't hit Americans at a worse time.

 the "Rio de Corrientes," meaning river of currents. This was probably because the river, like the Nile, flowed north from a swamp to what is now Fort Pierce in St. Lucie County.

In 1562, almost 50 years before the English settlement of Jamestown was established, the French built at Fort Caroline on the southside of the river at a point near Jacksonville where it flows into the Atlantic Ocean. The French called the river "Mat." A contingent of Spanish soldiers marched north from their own fort at St. Augustine and captured Fort Caroline. The Spanish renamed the river, calling it "el Rio de San Juan," which of course means St. John. This name has endured through English, Confederate and American possessions of the river.

The river, from its source in 300 miles to its outfall into the Atlantic. It is Florida's longest river. Another interesting fact is the total drop of the river from its source to its mouth is less than 30 feet. This explains why at times when the depth of the water is low the river will actually flow to the south.

Another interesting point is that if you're traveling north on Interstate 95, just south of Jacksonville take the left exit to Interstate 295, exit on SR 13 and you'll find yourself in Mandarin. It was there that some of the first orange groves in Florida were planted - one of which belonged to Harriet Beecher Stowe who had a summer home on the banks of the river.

Several years ago I was sent a clipping showing a "mysterious landmark" on property my father, Dr. C.J. Marshall bought about 1925. The two-car garage and the water tower are still standing, I believe, but the house burned sometime ago. Although my father died in 1934, his mother, my grandmother, continued to live there until the mid-1940s. The tower caught and stored rainwater since under the water tower was a laundry room. I am now 68. There is no mystery about that tower.

Although there is actually no question, the letter was from Eleanore Marshall White who presently resides in Rockledge. She enclosed photos clipped, she said, from The Herald. Actually, the photos appeared sometime ago in the Orlando Sentinel.

We remember the tower well but we didn't know it was a water tower until recently. We believe Kay Shoemaker owns the property. When he bought it he removed the burned out home but retained the old water tower. We suppose that is what makes it seem a mystery.

But you know, Mrs. White's letter made us remember something else homes had back in those days. We can recall that many houses had what was referred to as rain barrels. They were located so they could catch rainwater from the roof of the home. What was the water used for? Well, ladies, like my mother used it for washing her hair. You folks remember that? If you do you've got some years behind you.

Scrubba said she has "always wanted to be" the Homecoming queen.

Scrubba, who plays the base clarinet in the marching band, said that her quest for the crown was not completely racially motivated.

"I'm just really a people person and it meant so much to me for my peers to give me this honor," she said.

Both Scrubba and Collins said that when the winners were announced they were surprised to hear their own names.

Officials from the Ultimate Players Association (UPA) had filmed a few segments for a training video for junior players at the games on Friday, but put the filming on hold due to the inclement weather on Saturday.

Few fans were on hand for the event, though most of the event staff attributed that to the lack of sunshine. They predicted that there would be a crowd for this afternoon's final.

Tickets for the games are $3 for adults and $1 for children under 12-years-old.

supply was turned off for about four hours Wednesday by crews working on the resurfacing and widening of State Road 46 past Midway. Morrison said a leak in the line may have allowed harmful bacteria to enter the water supply while the system was shut off.

Johann Jackson, a board member with the Midway-Canaan Water Users Association, contends the leak was caused by the road construction. Florida Department of Transportation officials could not be reached.

An official with APAC-Florida

Inc., the company doing the road work for the Florida Department of Transportation, said Thursday it was necessary to turn the water off to move lines leading from it. Many of the those smaller, "lateral" lines don't have valves so crews couldn't turn off individual street lines, said Don Carter, APAC project manager.

DOT ordered work to stop on the $1 million project Thursday morning until the water line issue could be resolved. Sanford officials are receptive to taking over Midway's water system if the county pays to repair it and resolve the water-line road construction problems.

philosophy," Chestnut said.

The school board openly complimented Hughes on his personality and characteristics, especially his boundless optimism.

"He sees the potential in almost every challenge," said board member Frank Lagotic. "He always sees the glass as half full."

Lagotic added that the phone calls he received following Hughes' selection were in favor of him by a 10-to-1 margin.

Even those who have yet to meet Hughes are excited.

"I'm looking forward to meeting him," said Mae Iser, principal of Buchholz High School. "I've heard some good things about him. We're glad he has an interest in our community."

Although some feel Seminole County school board members let a good man slip away, the Alachua County board members don't think any less of them. It may have just been time for a change.

"Ten years as an elected superintendent is a long time," Lagotic said. "The idea of looking at new challenges is healthy."

"They (the Seminole County School Board) are in a quandary."

Kitchens felt the incident didn't reflect badly on Seminole County.

"I don't think you can make any judgments on the Seminole County board (of education). This is one of those changes."

Alachua County, she said will benefit from Seminole County's loss.

However, she noted, the Seminole County school board should set their sights on their task of finding a new superintendent.

"We have the opportunity to bring in a new superintendent with a new point of view, with new ideas that will benefit the teachers, and most importantly, the students," Robinson said.

Dr. Marion Dailey, assistant superintendent for instruction, feels the Seminole County school board might have been able to keep Hughes from leaving had they offered him a contract when it first became known that he had applied for the Alachua County job.

"But that's their business, not mine," Dailey said. "Had they wanted him to stay, they could have done it."

Dailey said the district administrative staff has a "good working relationship" with Hughes and that he would be missed.

Williams said that Hughes has been good for the district.

"He's done a lot of good for the district," Williams said. "He's brought the district through a lot of controversy and he's held his own."

IN BRIEF

Lake Mary graduate gets scholarship

LONGWOOD — Bill Kroil II, son of Bill and Sue Kroil of Longwood, has been awarded a $1,000 J.C. Aaspley Scholarship from the Department of Marketing at the University of Central Florida.

Kroil is a 1988 graduate of Lake Mary High School, 655 Longwood-Lake Mary Boulevard in Lake Mary.

Kroil and other scholarship award winners will be honored at a reception on Nov. 21 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the University of Central Florida.

Breakfast with the principal

FERN PARK — On Thursday, Nov. 14, parents and staff at English Estates Elementary School, 290 Oxford Rd. in Fern Park, are being invited to have breakfast with the principal.

The 7 a.m. event is scheduled to take place at the Olive Garden Restaurant in Casselberry.

The informal breakfast is designed to give parents and school employees a forum for discussion about interests and concerns. For more information, call the school at 831-1416.

Nationwide sponsors from Promise

Nationwide Insurance Company is offering local high schools, and schools around the country, the chance to participate in the 1992 Prom Promise, which they hope will save teenage lives by encouraging students to abstain from using drugs or alcohol on prom night.

The insurance company reported that in 1990, nearly half of all fatalities among 16 to 20 year olds resulting from motor vehicle crashes were alcohol-related.

Schools must register for the program by Nov. 15.

Participating schools can be eligible to win $3,000 for the school.

For more information, call Kenneth Stowell at 904-338-4153.

Magic money for local club

ORLANDO — The Orlando Magic Foundation, the charitable arm of the Orlando Magic, will include the Central Florida YMCA.

Some of the money will be donated to the Seminole County YMCA for use in their youth programs.

The exact amount of the donation will be determined at the end of the basketball season.

Hot Shots to be honored

Cablevision of Central will be recognizing 90 middle school students from Seminole and Orange counties through April as part of the Dennis Scott "Hot Shots" Program. The program, in its second year, honors students who "continue to maintain strong attendance, conduct and academic records and who actively participate in extra-curricular activities."

Nine students from three schools will be recognized during each of 10 Orlando Magic home games. They will receive a ticket to the game, a t-shirt and dinner during the game.

To be nominated, a student must have a 2.5 grade point average or better, no unexcused absences, excellent school conduct and participation in at least two extra-curricular activities.

Whipple exhibit to open at SCC

SANFORD — An exhibit of recent drawings by John Whipple will open at the Fine Arts Gallery at Seminole Community College on Monday, Nov. 11.

The exhibit, called "A Line of Decent," is free and open to the public.

The Fine Arts Gallery is open on Monday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. It is also open in the evening during musical and theatre performances.

There will be an opening reception on Thursday, Nov. 14 from 3 to 5 p.m.

Band festival in Orlando on Saturday

ORLANDO — All six Seminole County High Schools will participate in the Florida Bandmaster Association's District VIII marching festival at University High School on Saturday, Nov. 16.

Eleven Orange county schools will also take part in the competition.

The bands will not be ranked in the competition, but their performances will be evaluated by a panel of judges.

The contest will begin at 5 p.m. at the school's football stadium. University High School is located on Eastwood Drive, just off Rouse Road in eastern Orange County.

The cost of admission will be $3.

Scholarships offered to entrepreneurs

PROVIDENCE, RI — The Center for Entrepreneurial Studies at Johnson and Wales University is holding a nationwide search for the "High School Entrepreneur of the Year."

High school principals are being asked to submit the names of outstanding seniors who have proven their entrepreneurial skills by starting, organizing and running their own business enterprise.

The business can be anything from a babysitting service to a hot dog stand to the marketing of a specific product.

The deadline for principals to submit nominations is Friday, Nov. 15.

Students will then be sent participation forms and competition criteria for entry. The students must then submit descriptions of their ventures by Dec. 27.

Scholarships ranging from $1,000 to full tuition will be awarded.

For more information, call director Mark Burke at 1-800-343-2565.

High school report

Allison Slater Senior

Rams' Homecoming was fun and crazy

LAKE MARY — Homecoming Week was a fun and crazy time for everyone at LMHS.

Tuesday night, the junior class sponsored the Miss Ewe Pageant, an annual contest for males who dress up as sexy ladies and compete in a skit and mock beauty contest. This year, eight acts entertained the audience with their aerobics expertise and singing performances.

Senior Marc Collins took the dubious crown with his act as a warrior-like feminist. He was crowned by last year's Miss Ewe, Anush Collins.

Wednesday, the streets of Lake Mary were filled with Lake Mary pride as the second annual homecoming parade was held on Greenway Boulevard south of the school.

Winners for the float contest, which was judged by the mayors of Lake Mary, Sanford and Longwood and several Lake Mary staff members, were the Spanish Club, HOSA/AVCA and the sophomore class.

Both the Lake Mary High School and the Greenwood Lakes Middle School bands participated in the parade.

That night, the senior class ruled at the Clash of the Classes, a competition of wacky games that was a part of the school's Spirit Night.

The seniors also presented a skit.

On Friday, a lip sync competition was held at lunch.

Prior to the big game against the DeLand Bulldogs, many former Homecoming Kings and Queens were honored.

The current court was also celebrated and the new king and queen, elected by the full student body, were named.

Saturday night, the "Blast to the Past" dance was held in the Lake Mary High Cafeteria.

The Homecoming Week celebrations and activities were planned by the student government and the Leadership class and overseen by Boyd Karns, the student government advisor, and officers Allison Slater, president of the student body; Brett Leckie, vice president; Bekah Boothe, secretary and Ryan Munns, treasurer.

Dori Sapp, Senior

Seminoles ready for hatchet job

SANFORD — It's hard to believe, but Homecoming Week is practically here. There are many activities going on throughout the week of the big game which is against Leesburg.

For starters, boys and girls were chosen to be members of the Homecoming Court. This year's Homecoming Court consists of senior guys Travis Groover, Guy Martin, Bruce McClary, Ric Perez, Shayne Stewart, Shawn Washington, Jay Jay Wiggins, and Vashaun Williams. The girl members are Susan Bills, Tina Brown, Jennifer Campbell, Lynn Dunn, Tara Hall, Michelle Lyon, Tiffany Miller and Dori Sapp. Everyone is anxious to see who will be crowned the new king and queen.

Each day of the week students participate by wearing clothes of the theme that is set for the day. Monday is College Day, Tuesday is Hawaiian Day, Wednesday is Hippie Day, Thursday is GQ (Dress Up) Day, and Friday is, of course, School Spirit Day. On Friday, the biggest pep rally of the year is held out in the stadium. There will be a band, skits put on by different clubs, cheerleaders with a special routine, dance team performing their best, and last but not least, the Big Spirit Contest. The question is, which class will have enough spirit to win.

The Homecoming Parade will march along First Street downtown on Thursday. Clubs have been working hard on their float, which will display the theme "Hatchet the Jackets: Part Two." First, second and third place prizes will be awarded.

The week comes to an end with the big game Friday night and the dance afterwards.

The dance is being held at the Sanford Civic Center, following the game from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. The cost of the dance is $5! Tickets can be purchased during the week in the cafeteria. XL 106.7 is hosting the dance.

Free food for A's

If you've got some good grades, run for the border.

Or to Burger King.

Taco Bell and Burger King restaurants are both offering free food as incentive for students who bring home exemplary report cards.

Randy Brown, manager of the Taco Bell Restaurant at 17-92 and 27th Street in Sanford, said his restaurant is continuing their tradition of rewarding good students with free meals.

"Most of our business is repeat students who've collected from us before," he said.

At Taco Bell, students with one A can get a free taco. Two A's will get the student a taco and a small drink and three or more A's will earn a meal of a taco, a small drink and a small cinnamon twist.

Brown wants students to bring in their report cards so they can be inflated as having received the meal.

While the offer is technically limited to just elementary and middle school students, Brown said his employees will honor any report card with good grades.

"All the way through the college students if they want to come in," he said.

At Burger King restaurants in the area, elementary school students with report cards two A's or three B's will be rewarded with a burger and a small drink.

"We want to give the students some reward for working hard in school," Melanie Cordeiro, manager of the Burger King at 879 Lake Mary Boulevard in Lake Mary said.

Dagvar Corporation, which owns most of the Burger King restaurants in the Seminole County area, has been very involved in education in the district and has the reward program in place for many years.

"It's a little something we can do to help the youngsters see the advantage of getting good grades," she noted.

Other local restaurants which were surveyed over the last few days said they did not have similar incentives for students.

Idyllwild Elementary

Parents make school special

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Idyllwild Elementary School is located in western Sanford just north of 25th Street near Airport Boulevard.

An active parent association has made the school a better place, according to assistant principal Mamie Bingham.

"They have made all the difference in the world with the school, especially this year with all the budget problems," Bingham said.

The Dividends program is actively involved in several school programs including teaching Spanish to all students from Kindergarten through the fifth grade and a class which teaches the youngsters in Kindergarten through second grade about science.

"The parents are in here every day involved at some level with teaching the students about their particular area of expertise," said Bingham.

In addition, parents have organized various fundraising efforts to help purchase supplies for the school.

"They've had bake sales and other things," said Bingham who noted that a sale of holiday items had just been completed.

She said, also, that some parents had brought in donations of office supplies and classroom items.

"They've been wonderful about helping us through this crisis," she noted.

In addition to parental support, many Sanford businesses had rallied behind the school to sponsor field trips for students, to act as classroom mentors and to donate items needed by various segments of the school.

The school has put a great deal of emphasis this year on the cultural arts.

Through a committee of the PTA they are sponsoring plays, poetry readings and cultural exchange programs for the students.

"Everyone from the Kindergarten on up is involved in that program," Bingham said.

HOUSE CALL

Rhinoplasty rendered inside out

Patients seek rhinoplasty to change the size of part or all of the nose. Ethnic and racial traditions affect changes that are desired in the shape of the nose.

Predicting results of nasal plastic surgery is difficult. There is great variation in the shape of people's faces, as well as their noses, and of their concepts of beauty.

There is no one way to perform a rhinoplasty. There are multiple techniques and the correct one for an individual must be chosen by the plastic surgeon in order to achieve the desired result. It is advisable that more than one consultation be held so that any questions the patient has can be answered and discussed prior to actually performing the surgical procedure.

The use of preoperative photographs, plaster casts, and computer screens can be misleading because of the fact that human tissue is elastic. Nasal soft tissues cannot be accurately depicted preoperatively in these methods to illustrate changes that can be carried out. Warning that specific changes can be made is unfair to the patient. Rhinoplasty is a procedure which can be and is done at all ages, although it is most commonly performed on patients 15 to 30 years of age.

Rhinoplasty is a procedure which can be and is done at all ages.

As in all patients who plan to have cosmetic surgery, it is necessary that a regular medical examination be done, either by the family doctor or by the plastic surgeon, and that appropriate laboratory work be done.

Rhinoplasty is done in office operating room situations, outpatient surgical centers and outpatient hospital centers. The surgery usually requires a one to two hour period of time to perform and may or may not require packing of the nose after the surgery.

As a rule the surgery is done under local anesthesia with appropriate accompanying sedation, although it may be done under general anesthesia depending upon the desire of the patient and the recommendation of the surgeon.

The surgery itself is characteristically done inside the nose. There are usually no incisions on the outer aspect of the nose. Basically, the operation consists of remodeling the bony and cartilaginous (gristle) framework. Because of the elasticity of the overlying skin envelope, the nose will readjust postoperatively to the remodeled framework and it is therefore not necessary to remove any of the skin.

Splinting is utilized after the surgery. Commonly, this is a plaster-of-paris splint that is fabricated for the individual patient and which remains in place as a surgical dressing for approximately one week after the surgery.

There is little pain or discomfort following the surgery. Patients usually are allowed to return to a normal working situation within 7 to 14 days.

Patients who smoke and those who use aspirin or aspirin-like products on a regular basis can anticipate delays in healing and sometimes unfortunate permanent sequelae. It is therefore highly recommended that smoking be stopped at least two weeks prior to any cosmetic surgical procedure.

Plastic surgeons and ear, nose and throat surgeons are the physicians characteristically trained to perform this surgery.

Bruce E. Walton, M.D. is a plastic and reconstructive surgeon with offices at 228 International Plaza, Heathrow and 578 Meteor Blvd., Orlando.

The health column is provided as a community service by the Seminole County Medical Society. Inquiries may be directed to the medical society.

November is National Diabetes Month

SANFORD — Approximately half of the 30,000 Central Florida residents with diabetes and 14 million Americans with diabetes are undiagnosed and are at risk for developing life-threatening complications, according to the American Diabetes Association (ADA) Central Florida Region.

HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital offers a Diabetes education course, entitled Diabetes: Take Control, covering topics ranging from self blood glucose monitoring to diet and medications.

"Our program educates diabetics and their families about the disease," according to Betsy Pitts, RN, Certified Diabetic Educator. "Also, the contact with other diabetics lets the person know that they're not the only one with the disease. In addition to the information that we provide, they also receive helpful hints in managing their diabetes from each other."

During National Diabetes Month in November, the ADA is urging Americans to take the Diabetes Risk Test to determine if they may be at risk for having diabetes, and, if needed, to consult their doctor.

People at high risk for developing diabetes include: those with diabetes in their family; minorities, including Afro-Americans, Hispanics, and

Prefilled insulin syringe helps diabetes treatment

The Diabetes Treatment Center at Orlando Regional Medical Center is one of a few facilities offering patients a state-of-the-art method of insulin delivery as part of a national clinical trial, according to Michele Hudson, media communications specialist at the hospital.

The new method provides human insulin in a prefilled, disposable syringe; a measuring device within the syringe component allows the deliverer to dial the appropriate dosage. The empty syringe is biodegradable and can be disposed of without further risk of re-use. Technically referred to as "Novolin Prefilled," the unit takes on the characteristics of a writing pen.

"The new delivery system has many advantages in terms of simplicity," says Dr. Marvin Menzel, medical director of the Diabetes Treatment Center. "It is especially helpful for patients who have poor vision."

The product is expected to be available in the United States within the next nine months. According to a pharmaceutical spokesperson, the cost is expected to be competitive in relation to the traditional insulin delivery method.

For more information on diabetes contact the center at 237-6330.

Native American Indians; and anyone over 30 and overweight. These populations have a high incidence of diabetes. For example, the prevalence of diabetes in adults is approximately 60 percent higher in Afro-Americans than whites.

Diabetes is a serious disease in which the body does not produce or respond to insulin, a hormone needed for daily life. The resulting high blood sugar can severely damage the heart, blood vessels, kidneys, eyes and nerves. If left untreated, diabetes can lead to premature death.

The symptoms of diabetes are: Type I, Insulin-Dependent Diabetes: frequent urination accompanied by unusual thirst; extreme hunger; unusual weight loss; extreme fatigue, and irritability. These symptoms often occur in a short period of time.

Type II, Non-Insulin-Dependent Diabetes: blurred vision or any unusual changes in sight; tingling or numbness in legs or feet; frequent skin infections; slow healing of cuts and bruises, and any of the previously mentioned symptoms for Type I. The symptoms of Type II diabetes often appear gradually and many individuals may not have symptoms.

For more information about diabetes or for free copies of the Diabetes Risk Test, contact: ADA-Central Florida Region, 3101 Maguire Blvd., Suite 288, Orlando, FL 32803, or call 884-3888.

Move consolidates Olsten, Upjohn offices

SANFORD — The Olsten Corporation has renamed its health care division "Olsten HealthCare," according to Gail Smith, R.N., a representative of the organization.

The move joins all Upjohn HealthCare Services and Olsten Health Care offices under a single banner. The announcement comes eight months after Olsten's $98 million acquisition of Upjohn HealthCare Services, Inc. which made the company the second largest home health care provider in North America and strategically positioned Olsten to take advantage of the burgeoning home health care market. Olsten HealthCare represents approximately 40 percent of the company's total revenues.

"We're working hard to insure that this name change continues the long-standing tradition of quality care and service that our clients have come to expect," said Pay Boyette, administrator.

"The name Olsten HealthCare marks the final assimilation of the Upjohn offices into our company systems," said Frank N. Li-quori, vice chairman and chief executive officer of The Olsten Corporation. "We now have a strong network of 250 offices throughout the U.S. and Canada that offer home health care and institutional staffing."

Olsten HealthCare provides a complete range of health care personnel from RNS to home health care aides and live-in companions for private homes, hospitals, and other health care settings.

Olsten has been represented in Sanford since 1971. They have been located in their present office at 300 W. Airport Blvd. since 1985.

AIDS is seventh most common killer in Florida

By Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — AIDS became the seventh most common killer in Florida this year, according to preliminary figures released by state statisticians.

The disease now is the third largest killer in Monroe County, ranks fourth in Dade and fifth in Broward and Palm Beach counties, according to the Florida Office of Vital Statistics.

In less than a decade, acquired immune deficiency syndrome has moved from an obscure illness to one that is claiming more South Florida lives than diabetes, car accidents or pneumonia and the flu.

The most common killers remain heart disease, cancer, stroke and respiratory disease.

Florida has the third highest number of AIDS cases in the nation, behind New York and California.

Statewide, AIDS has moved from the 11th leading cause of death in 1988 to the seventh early this year.

people — many of them from Central Florida, but some from elsewhere in Florida and the nation as well — took part in the week-long event.

Dozens of the participants, including a number from the Sanford and Lake Mary area, went home warm with pride as the recipients of gold, silver or bronze medals.

On Saturday, many runners jogged in place and rubbed their hands together. Two women laughed as they watched their breath condense in front of their faces.

"Cooooooold," one said. "I've never been so cold in Florida."

Marty Denson, 71, of Long Branch, KY sat out the competition on Saturday.

"It was too damn cold," Denson said. "I didn't want to get hurt. At my age it's just dangerous when it's this wet and cold."

He said he is primarily a runner, but he has competed in other events in the past.

"It's not the best of circumstances," he said with a sly smile. "And I'm an old wimp."

The Reids compete in various competitions across the south while on winter hiatus, mostly in field events.

"It's something we started doing when we retired," said Donald, 67. "We enjoy the Southeast. First Union. What's in a name?

A lot. If the name is Southeast, it's an important name. It has a long history, built up with years of dedicated service and with thousands of respected professionals. ♦ But now Southeast's branches are part of First Union. We'd like to invite you to see what it has to offer. ♦ We are a bank that delivers new financial strength, with nearly forty-five billion dollars in assets. We also have a three-billion-dollar capital base which far exceeds regulatory minimums. And since First Union was founded in 1908, we have never reported an annual loss. What's more, we have increased dividends to shareholders for the last 14 consecutive years. That's solid. ♦ We are also a bank committed to service, and we don't mean lip service. If there is anything we can do to help a customer, we want to do it. We like longevity in our banking relationships, and we want to earn that longevity. ♦ We subscribe to the philosophy that steady, responsible growth combined with steady, responsive service can build the sort of bank you'll want to call. ♦ Come talk. We like to listen. And we're ready to help.

Knights intercept Liberty

LYNCHBURG — Willie English rushed for 106 yards and three touchdowns, and Central Florida picked off five passes Saturday as the Knights defeated Liberty 31-26.

English, who had 31 of his team's 40 rushing attempts, scored on runs of 1 and 5 yards as the Knights (5-4) bolted to a 21-0 first-quarter lead. Darin Hinshaw's 67-yard pass to Mike Dickinson accounted for the other score.

English also scored from 8 yards out in the fourth period. Franco Grilla had a 37-yard field goal in the third quarter.

Liberty (4-5) relied on the arm of Robbie Justino, who completed 24 of 51 passes for 369 yards and two touchdowns. The scoring passes covered 6 yards to Pat Nelson in the second quarter and 81 yards to David Beezer for the Flames' final touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Scott Thomas scored on a 7-yard run for Liberty, and Daniel Whitehead kicked field goals of 22 and 20 yards in the third period.

FSU rolls over South Carolina

TALLAHASSEE — Casey Weldon returned to the lineup Saturday and threw three touchdown passes as top-ranked Florida State won its 16th straight game with a 38-10 victory over South Carolina.

The Seminoles will carry the nation's longest Division I winning streak into next Saturday's showdown against Miami.

Weldon, who missed last week's game against Louisville with strained ligaments in his left knee, completed 19 of 28 passes for 184 yards before retiring early in the final quarter.

The game marks the last scheduled between the Southern Independents, who are joining conferences next year. Florida State moves to the Atlantic Coast Conference, South Carolina to the Southeastern Conference.

Miami takes care of business

MIAMI — The Miami Hurricanes saved their best for Florida State in a sluggish 27-3 victory over West Virginia on Saturday.

The normally explosive Hurricanes, tied for second in the rankings with Washington, failed to produce many big gainers but methodically improved to 8-0. They play at top-ranked Florida State (10-0) next Saturday.

West Virginia (6-4) managed to keep the game scoreless for 24 minutes and within reach until midway through the third quarter, when Miami's Stephen McGuire scored on a 4-yard run following an interception for a 20-3 lead.

The Hurricanes came into the game averaging 37 points, but their first three possessions ended with an interception, a punt and a failed fourth-and-one run at their own 42.

Florida claims tie for SEC title

JACKSONVILLE — Sixth-ranked Florida, members of the Southeastern Conference since 1933, put an end to nearly six decades of frustration on Saturday by beating No. 23 Georgia 45-13 to clinch at least a tie for its first official SEC championship.

The Gators (8-1 overall, 6-0 SEC) have finished first in the league standings three times, including 1990, but haven't been recognized as champions because of NCAA probation. A victory against Kentucky next week would give them an undisputed title as well as a trip to the Sugar Bowl.

Shane Matthews threw for 303 yards and four touchdowns and Errict Rhett rushed for 124 yards and one TD to pace the rout before a crowd of 81,679 in Jacksonville's Gator Bowl.

FAMU rallies for OBC win

MIAMI — Tony Ezell hit Timothy Daniels with a 31-yard touchdown pass with 2:36 remaining to lift Florida A&M to a 24-20 win over Southern in the 59th Orange Blossom Classic Saturday.

Ezell was 20 of 33 for 303 yards and two touchdowns, but also was intercepted four times, tying a school record held by Rattlers coach Ken Riley.

The victory at Joe Robbie Stadium was the seventh straight Orange Blossom win for Florida A&M (5-4, 2-3 in the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference.) The Jaguars (2-6) have yet to win a Classic in three attempts.

Make way for the king

Collins leads Lake Mary

By TONY DESORNIER

LAKE MARY — It was a performance worthy of a king.

Anush Collins, crowned the king of Lake Mary High School's 1991 Homecoming Court, rushed for a single game school record of 307 yards and three touchdowns to lead the Rams to a thrilling 29-23 win over the gutsy DeLand Bulldogs Friday night at Lake Mary's Don. T. Reynolds Stadium.

With the packed home stands hanging on every play, Lake Mary spotted DeLand a 12-0 lead in the second quarter, stormed back behind the lightning strikes of sprinter-turned-tailback Collins and weathered a late Bulldog charge.

Pending a judge's ruling on a lawsuit filed by the parents of a Lake Brantley player concerning the forfeiture of two games, the victory guarantees Lake Mary a share of the 5A-District 4 crown. Now 6-2 overall and 5-1 in the district, the Rams could claim the district title outright with a win over Lyman next Friday.

On the whole, it was a satisfactory homecoming for the Rams and their faithful.

"The offensive line was just awesome. So were the fullbacks," said Collins, who broke the two-year old record of 242 yards set by Bob Menello during the 1989 season. "They were opening humongous holes."

Lake Brantley blanks Tribe

By BILL KERNS

SANFORD — When a young and struggling offense meets a top notch defense with a grudge, it can make for a long night.

The Lake Brantley Patriots, out for blood after the Florida High School Athletic Association forced them to forfeit two games, blanked Seminole 24-0 Friday night in a Seminole Athletic Conference contest at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium.

"Statistically, we have the best defense in the county," said Lake Brantley head coach Fred Almon. "The defense played great. They haven't played that well all season. David Sprinkle is the best fullback in central Florida. We've got the best kicking game in the county. We've just got a well-balanced team."

Sprinkle, the county's leading rusher, bore the brunt of the Patriots' offense with 29 carries for 100 yards and scored all three of the game's touchdowns.

"When they give something, that's what we do," said Sprinkle. "That's the basis of our offense. We just put it in there. That's our style."

Lake Brantley improved to 6-3 and 3-1 in the conference. Seminole DAYTONA BEACH — Oviedo and Spruce Creek played a little two-on-two Friday night at the Daytona Beach Municipal Stadium.

And the Lions' Leon Lowman and Dan Hargrave proved to be just a little bit better than the Hawks' Willie Cord and Brian Wheeler as Oviedo outscored Spruce Creek 35-33 in 5A-District 4 football game.

Lowman ran for a phenomenal total of 353 yards on 23 carries and scored a touchdown while Hargrave ran for 83 yards and two touchdowns and threw for 25 yards and another score.

Lowman, usually a split end, was used at running back and fullback in an effort to get the football into the talented junior's hands more often.

The Lions' duo overshadowed the performances of Cord (170 yards on 24 carries and ORLANDO — What do you do when you score a touchdown that leaves you trailing by one point with two seconds left in regulation? Do you (A) kick the extra point to tie the score and to force overtime or (B) go for the two point conversion and the win?

Lyman High School coach Bill Scott opted for the latter in the Greyhounds' game with the Edgewater Eagles at Double E Stadium Friday night. But the gamble didn't pay off as Bobby Washington was stopped at the goal line, Edgewater hanging on for a 14-13 win.

After the Greyhound defense held the Eagles to just five yards on their first drive, Lyman took over on its own 38 and drove the ball

CASSELBERRY — Lake Howell stopped a two-point conversion try with Q16 left in the game to salvage a 28-24 homecoming win over Mainland at Richard L. Evans Field Friday night.

The Buccaneers' Chris Jones raced 78 yards with a kick off return to cut Lake Howell's lead to two, but the attempted two-point conversion pass that would have sent the game to overtime fell incomplete.

The win was Lake Howell's fifth straight to raise its record to 6-3. More importantly, the Silver Hawks improved to 4-2 in 5A-District 4 keeping them in the hunt for the title.

The Buccaneers suffered their second straight setback and fell to 5-3 overall and 4-2 in the district.

Both teams will have important district games to finish the season next week. Lake Howell hosting DeLand at Richard L. Evans Field in SANFORD — Freshman Carolyn Hubbard became Seminole High School's first female cross country runner to qualify for the regional meet in several years when she finished fourth at the 3A-District 4 race Saturday at Seminole Community College.

Hubbard, who has lived in Brazil the last 12 years with her parents (who are missionaries representing the New Tribes Mission), finished in 12:43.9, 20 seconds off the winning time of Klammec-Gateway's Noelyn Sheppard (12:24.6).

Also representing Seminole was sophomore Darlene Pinto (54th, 17:04.8).

SANFORD — Transfer Brandy Friedemann scored a game-high 18 points and pulled down 11 rebounds to lead the Seminole Community College Raiders to a 63-59 season-opening win over the St. Petersburg Junior College Trojans in a women's basketball game played Saturday afternoon.

The Trojans, who trailed by as many as 11 in the second half, stayed in the game with the some long-range marksmanship, making six of eight three-point attempts. But the Raiders, led by Friedemann, Carla Letbetter and Monique Hays, out-rebounded the visitors 55-23 to maintain control of the contest.

Hays, a freshman, also had 11 rebounds to go with eight points while Letbetter, one of the four

For St. Petersburg JC, Laquanda Carmichael scored a team-high 17 points that included three three-pointers. Vickie Green added 12 points.

SCC enjoyed an exceptional shooting night for so early in the season, making 23 of 43 field goal attempts (53.5 percent). And while the Raiders hsat less than 50 percent from the free throw line, they did outscore the Trojans 17-9 from the charity stripe.

The Raiders will put their 1-0 record on the line Tuesday night at Indian River Community College as part of men-women doubleheader. The women's game will start at 5:30 p.m. with the men to follow.

"We didn't produce when we had opportunities," said Seminole head coach Emory Blake. "Everyone had their turn in missing a play that we called. We lost our whole offensive line from last year and Vashaun is in his first year of varsity play, so this is a rebuilding year."

Chris Gray picked off Williams for the first time on the game's opening drive. Four plays later, Sprinkle bulldozed one yard for the Patriot touchdown.

Lake Brantley opened the second half with an eight-play drive, capped by another Sprinkle one-yard touchdown run. Brian Cross intercepted Williams late in the third quarter to set up Lake Brantley's third touchdown, a three-yard run by Sprinkle.

Tim LeCroix kicked a 40 yard field goal in the fourth quarter to complete the scoring. The Patriots started the drive on Seminole's 36 yard line, and drove just 13 yards to set up the field goal.

Lake Brantley started four drives within Seminole territory on the night, taxing a Tribe defense that actually held the Patriots to just 174 total yards.

"We did a good job," said Seminole defensive coordinator

 Seminole Athletic Conference champion in the 100-meter dash, went along towards exploiting those holes by exploding through them. While his speed is undeniable, the knock on Collins has been that he's a little slow getting to a hole, trying to see and act rather than run and react.

Against DeLand, Collins ran with the sort of abandon that could carry the Rams a long way in their quest for the 5A-District 4 championship.

"I just wanted to hit the hole harder tonight," said Collins. "The biggest thing for me is trusting the blockers, to trust that the holes will be there when I get to the line."

According to Lake Mary coach Doug Peters, the game plan didn't call to run Collins 32 times or to attempt 49 rushing plays as a team. But the Ram offensive line allowed Lake Mary to move the ball and control the clock.

"The offensive line came off the field and said, 'Coach, we can run right at these guys,'" recounted Peters. "The offensive line has been coming off the ball real well the last few weeks. We're playing better football as a team as the season goes on."

Lake Mary nearly buried itself early. On their first possession, the Rams stalled at their own 45. Chad Kessler dropped back seven yards to punt, but it wasn't deep enough as the snap went over his head. When Allen Johnson finally fell on the loose ball in the end zone, DeLand led 8-0.

After the Rams' next drive ended in a failed field goal attempt, DeLand drove 80 yards to go up 12-0. Keith Dryden scoring on a four-yard sweep 62 seconds into the second quarter.

Then Lake Mary turned Collins loose.

In the first quarter, Collins rushed for 80 yards, including a 56-yard dash. But that was just an appetizer as he slashed through the DeLand defense for 158 yards and a pair of touchdowns in the second quarter alone, scoring on sprints of 48 and 55 yards. Pete Kuc ran for a two-point conversion after the first score and Norm Henkel kicked the point-after following the second.

Collins fumbled on his first carry of the second half but broke Menello's record on the second. He later gave the Rams a 23-12 lead when he scored on a 1-yard drive, Henkel kicking the point-after.

But the Bulldogs, who apparently hadn't been informed that they had been cast in the role of sacrificial lamb for Lake Mary's homecoming festivities, kept coming back as Jon Black kicked a 35-yard field goal early in the fourth quarter to cut the Rams' lead to seven, 22-15.

Terrell White, who recently regained his academic eligibility for Lake Mary, upped the Rams' advantage to 14 points when he scored on a 20-yard run with 3:15 left to play, but DeLand again countered. Craig May passed the Bulldogs down field, capping the drive with a 13-yard scoring toss to Robert Rogers and passing to Black for the two-point conversion.

Trailing by six with 1:14 to play, DeLand attempted an on-side kickoff. After the first was brought back when the Bulldogs were called for being offside, Marcua Bullock covered the second for Lake Mary, hanging on to the ball, despite getting hammered by several DeLand players.

"We were concerned when we fell behind 12-0, but we didn't panic," said Peters. "We felt we could throw the ball if we had to, but we controlled the line of scrimmage. And Anush is just getting better and better."

Another key to Lake Howell's second half comeback was the play of Paul Thompson, the quarterback who lost his starting job to Paul Davis four games ago. The senior came off the bench to fill in for an injured Davis, who suffered a concussion in the second quarter, and threw a 52-yard touchdown pass to Jeff Bootwell to put the Silver Hawks ahead 19-18.

The Eagles, who were forced to punt on their first three possessions, got their offense in gear and scored on their fourth drive as quarterback Herman snuck in from the 1-yard line. But John McEwan missed the extra point and it was 7-6 Lyman with 2:14 left in the first half.

Edgewater took the lead late in the third quarter with a 60-yard drive that took 7:00 off of the clock. Kierrie Conley (84 yards

Lions

Continued from 1B three touchdowns) and Wheeler (197 yards passing and two touchdowns).

The victory by Oviedo (6-3, 4-2) kept the Lions' slim district hopes alive. They will finish their regular season schedule next Friday night against Daytona Beach-Mainland at John Courier Field starting at 7:30 p.m.

Oviedo got on the board first when Lowman raced 77 yards for a score. The Lions increased the lead to 21-0 in the second quarter on a seven-yard pass from Hargrave to Ervin Alexander and a one-yard plunge by Alexander.

 their annual Parents Night contest and Mainland traveling to Oviedo to take on the Lions. Both games will start at 7:30 p.m.

Once again, it was Lake Howell's defense that rose to the occasion in the second half, holding Mainland to only 30 yards of offense. The Bucs had accumulated 207 yards in taking an 18-13 halftime lead.

After the Buccaneers scored the lone touchdown of the first quarter on a 62-run by fullback Chris Jones, both teams combined for 25 second period points.

The second half belonged to the Silver Hawk defense and the ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Lyman High School's defending state champion girls cross country team got a boost from the school's swim team Saturday to win the team championship at the 4A-District 5 championship meet at Lake Brantley High School.

With the Greyhounds fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth runners all out sick, Danielle Garrett — a mainstay of the Greyhound swim team — stepped in and finished eighth overall, the third best finish by a Lyman runner.

"(Swim coach) Don Clark deserves the credit for this win," said Lyman coach Fred Finke.

Chamber better-service seminar Tuesday

The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce is offering a Customer Service seminar on Tuesday morning. Sheila Morris, store manager of Dillard's in Winter Park, will be the discussion leader. The cost is $5 per person, payable at the door. The seminar will be held from 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. Tuesday at the chamber, 400 East First St. in downtown Sanford.

Eckerd revises Revco offer

CLEARWATER — Jack Eckerd Corp. announced a revised bid to take over Revco and create the nation's largest drug store chain. Eckerd's revised plan came in response to objections to its previous takeover plan and after discussions with creditors for Revco, which is operating under Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection.

The proposal, announced last week, sweetens the payout to unsecured creditors by providing $300 million in convertible bonds which could be changed into 10.7 million shares of a new parent company. It represents a 20 percent increase or about 1.8 million shares compared with the old plan.

Under the earlier proposal filed nearly two months ago, Eckerd would have taken over Revco by issuing nearly $970 million in debt securities. Privately-held Eckerd also planned to go public and issue about 200 million shares of stock and set aside the proceeds to retire some of Revco's debt.

Barnett trims work force

JACKSONVILLE — Barnett Banks Inc. is trimming 193 jobs in Tampa but will add 101 new jobs in Jacksonville as part of a consolidation of some of its processing operations.

Food Lion to build in Sanford

K-Mart to expand store at same site

By NICK PFEIFER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The K-Mart store, at 3101 Highway 17-92 in Sanford is getting ready to expand. In addition, a new Food Lion store is planned for the K-Mart Plaza property.

While the Food Lion will be a new store, located in the southern wing of the shopping center, the K-Mart will be expanded in its present location.

The Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission has approved the site plan for both the expansion and new store.

The K-Mart will be enlarged by an additional 50 percent. The retail operation of the store will increase from 40,437 square feet, to over 61,000 square feet.

The K-Mart Garden Shop, presently operating outside the north end of the building, will also be expanded, to give the entire operation almost 70,000 square feet of space.

The Garden Shop, to feature both covered and open areas, will be moved to the northern side with frontal access from the parking lot. The auto service center will also be moved to another location.

The Food Lion will take over the space presently used for small shops, many of which are presently vacant, along the southern end of the plaza.

Construction plans also call for a considerable amount of new heavy duty asphalt and concrete paving to the north of K-Mart, as well as in the rear delivery areas of both stores.

The cost of the two projects was not immediately revealed, nor has any starting date for construction or alterations been set. Additional permits will be required before the projects can get underway.

According to Florida Design Professionals, of Orlando, construction at the K-Mart store will be done in such a way to allow the store to maintain a continuous operation.

Both K-Mart and Food Lion have stores in Lake Mary, neither are expected to be changed because of the Sanford project.

Goodings opening store in Heathrow

LAKE MARY — Goodings Supermarkets, Inc., has announced plans for a new store in the Lake Mary area. The store will be on Lake Mary Boulevard at the I-4 exit.

The Arvida Corporation is developing the area, formerly known as the Heathrow Shops. The new name of the 100,000 square foot shopping center will be Market Square.

The new Goodings store was announced yesterday, during a breakfast meeting with area business leaders, at Heathrow Country Club.

The Altamonte Springs based supermarket chain reported the new building will occupy 42,000 square feet of space at Market Square. It will be Gooding's 18th store, with its opening planned for next summer.

Sanford hospital to benefit from pledge

SANFORD — HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital has pledged $500,000 to establish a bachelor's degree physical therapy program in the University of Central Florida's College of Health and Public Affairs, beginning in the Fall of 1992.

The money will pay half of the cost of developing and operating the program for a five-year period. After that, the program is expected to be self-sustaining from tuition generated by a full enrollment, the hospital and university said in a press release.

The support of area health care providers followed completion of a comprehensive study, prepared by the college, examining the need for physical therapists in mid-Florida. The report found the following:

- demand for physical therapists far exceeds supply.
- the cost of hiring physical therapists averages about $40,000 for every vacancy filled in Central Florida.
- at any one time during the year, about one-fourth of the full-time physical therapist positions remain unfilled.

When fully implemented, the program at UCF will help to combat these problems by graduating an average of 50 physical therapists a year.

Roy C. Vinson (center), Central Florida Regional Hospital administrator, presents check for $10,000 to Robert Bryan, UCF's interim resident, and Dr. Belinda McCarthy, dean of the College of Health and Public Affairs.

After reviewing the study, the health care facilities readily gave financial support to UCF's efforts to establish a physical therapy program on campus. In addition to funding the program, HCA Central Florida Regional Hospital will donate its facility to train students, as will the other health care facilities.

The College's Dean, Dr. Belinda McCarthy, describes the project as a "cooperative effort from which health care facilities and UCF will mutually benefit."

County chamber of commerce to hold fund-raiser

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — With a bit of tongue in cheek, the Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce will hold its first fundraiser Thursday to raise money for their new offices, named the "Help Save the Farm Bar-B-Que."

"It's a little bit of macabre humor," admitted chamber director Bill Blackburn.

The barbeque will be held from 5 to 8 p.m. in the chamber's offices, on Raymond Avenue in the Cambridge Square office complex. It is open to the public. Tickets, which are $15, can be reserved by calling the chamber at 834-4404.

Blackburn said the fundraiser will be the first of several during the next year to raise money for the chamber's capital fund, used to repay the $260,000 to $280,000 owned on the chamber's new offices in the Cambridge Square office complex on State Road 434 at Interstate 4.

Blackburn said the chamber has pledged from members amounting to $220,000 to repay the debt during the next five years. The fundraisers will help repay the balance, he said.

"We anticipate a series of fundraisers, at least one every quarter," Blackburn said. "We're not in as good a position as we want to be. I'd like to say we didn't need these fundraisers but we need to do something."

Blackburn said the chamber's financial picture is brightening. He said the organization currently has about 1,200 paid members and anywhere from 50 to 75 percent of the members are renewing as their annual fees are due. He said the national average renewal rate is about 60 percent.

"We're not where we want to be, but we're feeling a lot better about ourselves," he said.

Electone promotes executives

LONGWOOD — Paul R. Harford has been promoted to President of Electone, Inc., it has been announced by Gerald A. Giles, Chairman of the Longwood hearing instrument manufacturing firm.

The promotion of three other executives to vice presidential posts also was announced in the same press release. They are:

- James Nee, Vice President of Quality Assurance and Engineering.
- Joseph Huddleston, Vice President of Operations.
- Gary Whitaker, Vice President of Sales and Marketing.

This executive group, which also includes Toni Giles, Electone's Senior Vice President of Professional Services and Sales and Marketing, has keyed Electone's emergence with a new line of top-performing hearing instruments which incorporate a number of exciting new technologies, Chairman Giles said.

"They have demonstrated that they can provide the leadership that not only maintains, but will expand on the position Electone enjoys among the top five hearing instrument manufacturers in this country. And everyone of them is dedicated to leading the Electone 'family' in its historic role of providing our customers with quality, service, price and value," he said.

President Harford rejoined the Electone staff in September, 1989, as Senior Vice President of Operations and Finance and later was named Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer. He previously had been with Electone from 1981 to 1984 when he held the posts of Vice President of Operations and Finance and Board Member.

From 1984 until his return to Electone he was active as a consultant to businesses, specializing in manufacturing, through his consultant firm, PRII Company. He now has participated in Electone's management for a total of six years and in the industry for ten years.

A graduate of Osceola High School in Kissimmee, in 1966, Harford earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Education at the University of Florida and is a member of the American Production and Inventory Control Society (APICS).

He served with the U.S. Marine Corps and was stationed in Vietnam for a year-and-a-half during the Vietnam War.

James Nee has been in the hearing health industry for 15 years, ten of them with Electone. He oversees development of new products and upgrading of existing products while defining and maintaining the quality of Electone instruments and related items.

Joseph Huddleston started with Electone in 1980 as a technician and advanced through a number of assignments as a supervisor and manager until named Assistant Vice President of Manufacturing in 1987. In 1989 he was assigned to a Premier Management Team as Operations Manager. He attended Valencia Community College and the University of Central Florida, both in Orlando.

Gary Whitaker joined the Electone staff in early 1988 and was promoted to Assistant National Sales Manager in 1990. He attended Illinois Central College and Bachelor of Arts degree at George Washington University, Washington, D.C. He had 15 years of sales experience serving business firms before joining Electone.

Toni Giles holds a Master's degree in Audiology from Northwestern University and is a familiar figure on the national, state and district convention circuits as a featured speaker on various facets of the hearing instrument manufacturing and marketing fields. She is an approved speaker by the National Institute for Hearing Instruments Studies for continuing education.

Before joining Electone in 1985, she was Clinical Assistant Instructor in Audiology and Speech Pathology, Department of Otorhinolaryngology and Communicative Sciences at Baylor College of Medicine, from 1973 to 1983.

Special store shared

Seniors, juniors learn Christmas is for giving

By LACY BOWEN
Herald People Editor

SANFORD — In less than a month, some wide-eyed first graders will be going shopping at a special Christmas Store. And some benevolent senior volunteers will help them with their gift choices.

Members of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program on the campus of Seminole Community College, Sanford, spend many hours during the year planning the event for over 800 Headstart and first grade students from Sanford schools.

"It's a lot of fun for us seniors and the children are adorable," Eleanor Windle, advisory council member and chairman for the Christmas Store this year, said. "All of Santa's helpers are volunteers who look forward each year to working at the store."

The Christmas Store targets children whose families may not have much money for purchasing Christmas presents. Children are allowed to choose from among a variety of gifts suitable for males and females and for all age groups.

"Gifts are donated by various organizations and a great many are handmade articles," Windle said. "They're little kids who are so pleased to be choosing gifts for family members."

Windle added that children do not pay for the gifts. The store operates strictly on donations. It is currently stocked with toys and many items for parents but, Windle said, cash donations will still help purchase some needed items, such as wrapping paper. The seniors wrap the students' purchases for them too.

"RSVP would welcome and appreciate any donation, great or small from the community to cover overhead expenses," Windle said.

This year the store will be set up at the Police Benevolent Association Building, on the lakefront in Sanford. School buses will deliver students from Sanford schools five days the second week of December.

"We would like to thank Tim Welter, the police officer in charge of PBA; Police Chief Steve Harriett; the director of recreation, Mike Kirby; City Manager Bill Simmons and all of Participants young and old enjoyed last year's Christmas Store.

Sanford for their efforts in finding a suitable place to have the store and for making the store successful in the past," Windle said. Entertainment for the event will be supplied by the Casselberry and the Bram Towers kitchen bands. Santa Claus will attend. "I think it will be all our pleasure," Windle stated.

Know what a 900 number costs before you dial it

It sounds like every time I sit down to watch T.V. there is advertising for a 900 number.

I stopped to use a pay phone at a Sanford convenience store and an ad for the Lottery encouraged me to use a 900 number for more information.

The 900 number is a fairly new twist in telemarketing — where you may pay for the sales pitch, along with the telephone call.

By dialing a 900 telephone number, you can:

- Order products
- Hear Santa tell a story
- Vote in an opinion poll
- Get financial tips
- Talk to a willing stranger, and more.

To do these things, you pay a flat fee for the entire call or for each minute you stay on the phone.

If you know exactly what you are getting and how much you'll be charged, 900 numbers can be a perfectly good way to do business or get information. But, the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) is investigating complaints that some consumers have been charged excessively for 900 number services or have not received the service advertised.

A secretary in our office was a victim of the 900 number scam. What she did not realize was the phone company generally won't disconnect your phone for failure to pay a disputed 900 number charge. In addition, you are protected under the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act if a 900 number information provider tries to collect for a 900 number charge you dispute.

WHAT YOU CAN DO TO PROTECT YOURSELF

900 number scams are constantly changing. In general, you can protect yourself if you:

- Deal with only reputable companies

You may see well-known companies or organizations sponsor such 900 number services as opinion surveys or sports information. The costs, usually low, are stated up front. If you are interested in these services and are willing to pay for them, these are usually legitimate 900 number operations to call.

- Know precisely what the 900 number will cost

Before you make the call, make sure companies state costs up front as flat rates or — if the cost is per minute — the maximum number of minutes for the call. Unfortunately, even with this information, you may still pay to hear sales pitches for bogus products or services.

- Think twice before calling for a "free" gift

You may see television ads or receive postcards or phone calls, urging you to call 900 numbers for "free" prizes. Know that you pay for those "free" gifts when you make the 900 number call.

- Don't confuse 900 numbers with toll-free 800 numbers

You pay for the 900-number call. The company pays for the 800-number call.

- Talk to your children

Make sure they understand they shouldn't call 900 numbers without your permission.

- Check your phone bill carefully

This is a largely unregulated industry. Any business can get a 900 number. Make sure any phone charges on your bill for these services are accurate.

Life is sweet music

By MARVA HAWKINS
Herald Columnist

SANFORD — The musical talents of former Sanfordite, Sherwood Mobley, are still helping him to reach the top in the field of music which has been so much a part of his life since he was a little boy.

Musically inclined from birth, Mobley continues to excel in his chosen field as a timpanist. A graduate of Seminole High, and feeling the need to continue his musical career, Mobley pursued his education and received his bachelor's and master's degrees with top honors from New England Conservatory of Music in Boston.

After graduation he embarked upon a freelance career in Atlanta where he worked frequently with the Atlanta Symphony and Atlanta Pops. Mobley has worked as adjunct instructor of percussion at Reinhardt College, Clark Atlanta University and Columbus College. Mobley was recently appointed as timpanist with the Greenville Symphony Orchestra. He performs regularly with the Savannah Symphony, Charleston Symphony (S.C.) and other orchestras in the region. On Sundays he can be seen directing the instrumental ensemble at Ebenezer Baptist Church where he and his wife, Deborah, are active members. Mobley is the leader of S-M Quartet, a jazz group, and Verdugo, a percussion duo which recently received a grant to present educational concerts in DeKalb County public schools.

Occasionally, Mobley works with touring companies that have Atlanta on their itinerary. The most recent was with the Pittsburgh Lyric Opera in its presentation of George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess."

During his career he has also performed with such musical greats as Barry White, Frank Sinatra, the late Sammy Davis Jr., and has toured 27 major U.S. cities with Diana Ross.

For four years after receiving his master's degree in music from the New England Conservatory he spent four years in South America as principal timpanist for the Maracaibo, Venezuela Symphony orchestra. It was with this orchestra Mobley made his third European tour.

Mobley expresses deepest satisfaction for his appointment to the Greenville Symphony Orchestra as this, he says, is his greatest musical experience, principal timpanist.

Mobley was recently home to visit with his mother, Freddie Muller Mobley, and other family and friends. When you see the smile on Mrs. Mobley's face, you can truly say she's a very proud mother.

Pampered Chef shares

Seminole County Federation of Women's Clubs members who witnessed the demonstration of artful cooking by Carolyn Rohrbach, the Pampered Chef, center, will undoubtedly put more zest into their cooking. The Woman's Club was decorated in the Halloween motif by members Jean Melts and Mary Childers. The tables were centered with autumn leaves, orange and black candies and a miniature ghost. The covered dish luncheon was enjoyed by the members. The Junior Woman's Club of Sanford will hostess the next meeting. Shown with Rohrbach, from left, Vivian Buck, Barbara Bradshaw and Emy Bill.

Sorority sisters gather in style

The Country Club at Heathrow was the site Saturday, Nov. 2, for the annual All Chapter Luncheon of the Sanford Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. The sorority sisters arrived at the luxurious club dressed to the nines and were primed for an exciting fall season.

The hostess chapter was Xi Theta Epsilon with Brenda Carey as chairman. The chapter went all out in selecting an elegant meal, excellent door prizes and well — the best entertainment.

Throughout the entire gathering, Brenda drew numbers for door prizes which ranged from numerous potted plants to a luncheon cruise for two aboard the RiverShip Romance, a message from Judi Jeter, diners on the town and beauty service.

According to Brenda, 80 sorority sisters and guests made reservations for the event. At the last minute several canceled, but the dining room of the club was packed.

Everybody was excited about the entertainment. On the outside of the country club, beautiful girls were standing by ready to perform. Some wore black and silver costumes while others were dressed in identical white and gold outfits. The flimsy skirts terminated in handkerchief points at the mid-calves. The handsome fellows wore black tuxedo pants, white dress shirts and black bow ties. It was obvious they were ready to strut their stuff and put the show on the road.

The entertainment featured Seminole High School's Destiny and Pizazz accompanied by their own musicians. The two groups, showcasing about 70 SHS students, thrilled the audience of sorority sisters and guests including parents of the performers, and received a standing ovation at the end of the performance.

The award-winning singers are

under the direction of Bob Maguire, SHS choral director. His wife, Maureen, is the artistic director and choreographer for the high-stepping dancers.

The performers have won numerous awards at district, state and national levels. Destiny won National Champions at the Fiesta-Val Competition at Opryland in 1990-91. Pizazz was runner-up in this same competition.

Featured soloist was Christina Carey, the chairman's step-daughter. A beautiful girl with a beautiful voice and a former Destiny performer, Christina wowed the group with two lovely songs. The talented young woman hopes to pursue a career in education and let her singing develop as it may.

Maguire said the groups will begin their touring competition in February. They are raising funds now to make the trips. If anyone would like to make a donation, please mail a check to Seminole High School and call it to the attention of Destiny/Pizazz.

Although Maureen was unable to be present Saturday, her mother, Seminole County Commissioner Jennifer Kelley, a devotee of the performing arts, was a guest at the All Chapter Luncheon. Jennifer seemed to really enjoy the great show.

Joyce Harvey conducted the opening and closing rituals. Yearbook awards were presented by Laurel Tromblay, Preceptor Epsilon Kappa won first prize. Each of the seven chapters and Sanford Beta Sigma Phi City Council provided an item for drawings which was conducted by Sha Stump. Darlene Brumbaugh assisted with the door prizes.

Who's with Dick Tracy

The costume parade of the year usually marches triumphantly on Halloween and this year was no different. A variety of costumes were on parade in fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church at the Halloween Carnival.

"Who's the guy in the yellow raincoat?" a man asked his wife. It was not a man, but a woman, dressed as Warren Beatty, complete with a wide-brimmed hat, from the movie "Dick Tracy."

The question was who was the woman accompanying Dick Tracy as Breathless Mahoney or the famed Madonna? The gentleman, decked out in a blonde wig, blue gown, high-heeled shoes and rhinestone jewelry, was none other than the church pastor, the Rev. Jean Guerry. His wife, Pat, was Dick Tracy.

The preacher is not sure that blondes have more fun. His feet were killing him and the clip-on earrings had pierced his ears with severe pain.

Bonna Fitzgerald's talent surfaced at the carnival. She was dressed as a lovely Indian princess and her two children, Kirt, 6, and Kyle, 10 months, came as Indian braves. A niece, Amy Fitzgerald, 6, was attired as an Indian maiden.

Bonna put her sewing expertise to work designing and creating these costumes as well as a turquoise lame' sweeping mermaid outfit worn by another niece, Jennifer Fitzgerald, 9.

Brookmans celebrate

Glenna and Estes Brockman recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with a gala reception published in the Herald on Nov. 3.

As an anniversary gift to her parents, their daughter and her husband, Beverly and Gordon Haines of Aurora, Colo., presented them with a delightful tour of New England.

Also, the family and out-of-town guests were entertained at a dinner at Central Baptist Church. Hosts were Glenna's brother, David Beverly, his wife, Sonia, and their family.

Lee turns 88

Sanford's celebrity model, Lee Van Landingham, celebrated her 88th birthday on Nov. 2 in Gainesville. Remember Lee, the first model for Kodacolor film way back in the 1930s? She made her home in Sanford for a number of years before she became legally blind.

On the telephone, Lee sounded fit as a fiddle and sharp as a tack. She said she is into genealogy on both sides of her family. She mentioned that her youngest son gave her a red dress for a birthday gift and she is real thrilled over the lovely selection. She is looking forward to putting it to good use during the holiday season.

For those who might like to wish Lee a belated happy birthday, her address is: North Florida Special Care Center, 6700 NW 10th Place, Gainesville 32607.

Do something to direct your life when depressed

DEAR MARY: I feel like my life has gotten completely out of control and sometimes I don't think I want to do this anymore. My 16-year-old son has been arrested for selling drugs, my boyfriend and I just broke up and now I've found out that I have a suspicious lump on my breast which will be biopsied next week. I feel like I can't keep going with all these pressures on me right now. I don't know where to turn for relief or help. Do you have any ideas?

SINKING FAST
DEAR SINKING: Your life right now certainly proves the adage, "Bad times, like good ones, tend to be lumped together." First, call your doctor immediately for an appointment. Tell him or her what you've told me and ask whether a prescription for an antidepressant would be appropriate to help you get through this difficult period. Remember, appropriate use of legitimate drugs is NOT drug abuse.

DRUG COUNSELOR

I suspect that you are feeling pretty isolated and alone with all of the problems you're facing. Many people find strength and support through self-help groups when times are tough. Contact the Human Services Council (407)894-1441, or We Care, Inc. (407)425-2624 for more information on groups in the area. Additionally, Florida Hospital's Center for Women's Medicine (407)897-1617 runs support groups for women. The important thing is to DO something to get the feeling of being able to direct your own life. Start now, reach out, let people help and support you. YOU ARE WORTH IT!

A bee in her bonnet is not this woman's wish

DEAR ABBY: I have a strange and wacky problem that I have never seen addressed in your column. I have an intense fear of bees, hornets and wasps. I'm sure this will seem silly to many, but there may be others who share this crazy fear, although I have never met them.

Over the years, my fears have intensified. It is very embarrassing at times. Whenever I hear anything that sounds like a bee — an electric razor, a buzzing sound on the radio — I have a panic attack until I can locate the source.

I rarely go outdoors in the summertime (thank God, I work in an office), and I never wear perfume in the daytime during bee season. When I do gather the courage to go to a barbecue or some other outdoor event, I either leave early or stay inside the car. There must be a place for me to "escape" to or I won't even consider going.

My last apartment was chosen with great consideration for its landscaping. There are no flowers or bushes to attract bees. I am so deathly afraid of bees that I have (a) jumped out of a moving car, (b) left a 2-year-old child in the middle of the street, (c) run out into traffic, and done other outrageous things in a panic while trying to escape from bees.

Otherwise, I am a sane and sensible person. I wish there were some kind of device I could wear to discourage bees from coming to me.

PAULA IN QUINCY, MASS.
DEAR PAULA: Your problem is not bees, it is your inappropriate overreaction to the buzzing. Your irrational fear is making you a potential danger to yourself and others. Therefore, I urge you to work through your phobia with a therapist who specializes in banishing such fears. (Ask your family doctor for a referral.)

Meanwhile, ask your local pharmacist and/or the proprietor of the nearest sporting goods store for a reliable bee repellent. And good luck.

DEAR READERS: "As our society ages and people are living longer, many older people suffer from aches and pains which they dismiss as signs of old age, and choose not to consult a physician," says Dennis Boulware, president of the Louisiana Arthritis Foundation.

"While over 37 million Americans suffer from arthritis, it is not a normal part of aging. (The symptoms of arthritis include pain and swelling in the affected joint.) Pain and swelling are not natural, and should not be tolerated — especially when there is medical treatment available."

This reminds me of a very old story my dear, departed father used to tell: An elderly man went to see his doctor about a pain in his right leg.

The doctor examined the patient quickly, then said, "Well, what do you expect, Mr. Goldberg — that leg is 80 years old."

Mr. Goldberg replied, "Well, doctor, the other leg is also 80 years old and it doesn't hurt."

DEAR ABBY: This upbeat piece was written by my aunt, Marie R. Beatty of Denver. She wrote it for her family, but I think it deserves a wider audience. I hope you can find the space to use it.

ADVISE

MARCIE THOMPSON, PEPPER PINE, OREGON

DEAR MARCIE: I made the space, and thank you for sending it.

80 PLUS — SO WHAT!

"People ask me how I can be so contented living alone. I am almost 84. First, I never really feel alone. There's so much life around me. I don't even eat alone. I have a tiny television set on my breakfast table, and I still live in the same house I lived in when my husband was alive."

"I find life very interesting. I can hardly wait to read my daily newspaper and the magazines I get. I want to live forever — just to see what will happen!"

"A bridge game now and then helps to keep my mind alert. So does keeping a diary and a scrapbook."

"I have a new project, a la Grandma Moses. I'm writing stories. It's fun, whether they're published or not."

"I think a person's attitude has more to do with staying young than genes. Of course, it's important to eat sensibly. (Even George Burns drinks prune juice!) And a little daily exercise is also necessary. I have an arthritic knee, so I can't take long walks. Instead, I exercise in bed just before I get up in the morning. First, I thank God that I'm alive, then I concentrate on the good things that will happen that day. Is there a better way to start the day?"

"I think older people should do their share of entertaining — even if it's only homemade cookies and tea."

"Sometimes the rain gets in my way; then I remind myself that others may need it, so I put on my red raincoat and go out."

"Family is important. And how wonderful to have a grandchild call you a 'good sport.'"

"It doesn't bother me if I forget something. Children are the best forgetters in the world."

"I consider getting older a triumph, but I want to keep on learning. There is so much to learn!"

"Last night I say, 'Thank you, God, for everything. If I didn't accept all the good things I was offered, it wasn't your fault; they were there. I'll be around tomorrow.' Then I fall asleep."

MARIE BEATTY
"P.S. Perhaps I should have waited until I was 90 to write this, but I just couldn't wait to express myself."

By Bernice Bode Cool YOUR BIRTHDAY Nov. 10, 1991

Friends will play key roles in your personal affairs, both in the social setting and the business world, in the year ahead. These developments will prove productive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) There is justification for feeling fortunate and for expecting something good to happen today. You are on a roll where a major desire could be attained.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you're presently working on something that could generate financial returns, try to get things wrapped up as quickly as possible. Timing is your ally, and postponement could prove disastrous.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This might turn out to be a red letter day for you where your social interests are concerned. You could meet someone new who will include you in a group you've longed to join.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) For best results today let things happen instead of trying to dictate the turn of events. Lady Luck is in a position to do a better job than you are.

PICES (Feb. 20-March 20) You are still in a cycle where your popularity is at a high point. If you treat everyone you're involved with as special, it will add additional luster to your image.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Tenacity of purpose and Lady Luck are allies today, and they will operate like hand and glove. The harder you work, the greater your chances for success.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Good things could happen for you today through individuals with whom you'll be socially involved. You could either make a valuable new contact or have

By Bernice Bode Cool YOUR BIRTHDAY Nov. 11, 1991

Two dynamic new friends could be partially responsible for your more active social life in the year ahead. These friends will really know their way around.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though you'll be involved with others today, your way of doing things is likely to be the most direct and effective. Exercise your authority, but do it graciously. Major changes are ahead for Scorpio in the coming year. Send for Scorpio's Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A potentially profitable, secret objective you've been nurturing should be pursued in earnest today. Your probabilities for making it happen look very good.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Associates may wait around wishing for things to happen today, but not you. You'll be more interested in actively doing what's necessary to make your hopes become reality.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Instead of being stymied by obstacles or challenges today, you're likely to find them a source of stimulation. Overcoming difficulties arouses your ingenuity.

PICES (Feb. 20-March 20) It might take a little convincing to get others to go along with your ideas today, but this shouldn't bother you, because when you start selling, you're super.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Strive to work like hand and glove today with your mate regarding a goal you have in common. Desirable results are possible - if you function as a team.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Put your imagination to work today and you should be able to find several new alternatives to a dilemma you thought had only one solution. It's worth the effort.

an old friend do you a big favor. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A critical shift in conditions, of which you may not be initially aware, could develop for you today. Its benefic effects will become quite evident later.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) What you cannot do alone today can be accomplished with the assistance of a competent ally. If you're involved in an important undertaking, keep this in mind.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You are likely to fulfill expectations in your commercial and material affairs today. Use constructive methods that can generate a profit but, most of all, think positively. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Enterprises you originate or personally direct have excellent chances for success in this cycle. However, you must make things happen.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You might be a tad slow in getting yourself going today, but once you're on track, you could be an amazing finisher. (C)1991, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You are likely to be as ingenious as you are industrious in disposing of difficult assignments today. Your bright ideas can save you steps.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This could be a rather exciting day for you socially. Be alert for unusual developments involving new people. One is an individual you've been eager to know.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Little tasks you've left hanging from last week can be cleaned up at this time - if you apply yourself. This will give you a chance to begin new endeavors.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't put taking care of several situations that require your personal touch off until tomorrow. What is easy now could become much difficult later.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You could be rather fortunate today in receiving impulsive, generous gestures from others. If someone offers you something, don't be coy; be grateful and accept. (C)1991, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder Without doubt the Rolls Royce of bridge magazines is The Bridge World. This monthly publication costs $36 a year, and if you order more than one subscription, you receive a gift for each additional order. The address is 39 West 94th Street, New York, N.Y. 10025 (212-866-5860).

You must establish a spade winner to discard your club loser. But the diamond lead has removed a vital dummy entry. The best chance is to assume both a 3-2 spade split and a 2-2 trump division. After winning the first trick with the diamond king, play three rounds of spades, ruffing the third in hand (high if necessary). Finally lead the heart queen from hand.

Today's hand is easier than most of the others that have appeared in the magazine's challenging Test Your Play feature. South is in six hearts and West leads the diamond three. How would you plan the play? Perhaps North should have contented himself with a two-spade rebid and then cue-bid four diamonds over South's three hearts to show some slam interest.

Blue Angels looking for passengers

PENSACOLA — Movie actor Dennis Quaid had it. So did television personality Chuck Woolery and Los Angeles Rams quarterback Jim Everett. But sorry Madonna, you don't have the "right stuff." Quaid, Woolery and Everett are among scores of celebrities and hundreds of media types who have made publicity flights in the back seat of a Navy Blue Angels jet. Madonna, the sultry and often controversial songstress, is an example of the kind of celebrity who won't be invited to ride with the image-conscious flight demonstration squadron based at the Pensacola Naval Air Station. "Her role model is not what we are looking for," said Petty Officer 2nd Class Cathy Konny of Columbus, Ga., a spokeswoman for the Blue Angels. The Blues try to keep up a wholesome, squeaky-clean image.

New refuge flagship for protection

AVON PARK — A new wildlife refuge on 10,000 acres of unique Central Florida scrub land was seen Saturday as a flagship for a new style of federal environmental protection. U.S. Sen. Bob Graham joined U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service officials in announcing approval of the concept for the Lake Wales Ridge National Wildlife Refuge on 16 unconnected parcels in Highlands and Polk counties. "This represents an unprecedented opportunity to protect not only a number of federally listed plants and animals but also one of the rarest vegetation communities in the Southeast," the agency said in its refuge proposal. The sandy dune ridge is a remnant of a prehistoric beach and sand dune system that was a dry island when most of the Florida peninsula was underwater.

High-wire artist claims abuse

SPRING HILL — Allegations by a performing member of the high-wire Flying Wallenda family of childhood abuse by a foster father has led to the arrest of a Florida man on child pornography charges. "I lived with this for 13 years," said Angel Wallenda, 23, who is not only dealing with what she says was a long-kept secret but cancer as well. She led authorities to Richard W. Brook, 52, who was charged Thursday with 40 counts of child pornography after investigators discovered pictures and videotapes at his home 45 miles north of Tampa. Mrs. Wallenda, who married into the famous family, accused Brook of sexually abusing and photographing her and other children years ago while they were in his foster home in Carmel, N.Y., about 40 miles north of New York City.

Partners accused of bilking widows

NEW PORT RICHEY — Three partners in a dance studio are accused of bilking elderly widows out of more than $1 million, including $400,000 from one woman in a year. The three, who own and operate branches of Aragon World Dance Studios in Paaco County, were arrested late Friday. Each is charged with eight counts of exploiting the elderly, 11 counts of grand theft and one each of elderly abuse and scheming to defraud. The women were all lonely and wealthy, said sheriff's Sgt. Conagh Guenkel, adding angry complaints from relatives prompted a year-long investigation.

Northern lights brighten U.S. skies

CHICAGO — One of the most spectacular displays of northern lights in years awed sky gazers from Ohio to Utah and as far south as Texas, where solar particles fueled ripples, curtains and clouds of night brightness. "It was Christmas colors," said Julia Penn of the Chicago suburb of Aurora after Friday night's show, which lasted about 30 minutes. "My kids were yelling, 'Santa Claus is coming! Santa Claus is coming!'" she told the Aurora Beacon-News. "Oh, it was just beautiful." Also called aurora borealis, or "northern dawn," the lights result when clouds of electrically charged particles from solar flares collide with the earth's atmosphere. The sun is now at one of its peak periods of activity, which occur every 11 years, said David Schramm, professor of astronomy and physics at the University of Chicago.

Change unlikely from Baker's China visit

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State James A. Baker's forthcoming visit to China will give a symbolic boost to the Beijing government, but it isn't likely to produce any dramatic return gesture from the communist regime. Before his stop in the Chinese capital, Baker will visit Japan and Korea, two nations disappointed by the abrupt cancellation of President Bush's Asian trip. Baker arrives in Tokyo on Sunday from The Hague, where he and Bush met with European Community nations to discuss trade policy.

Rubber-check probe worries Democrats

WASHINGTON — House Democrats are worried that an investigation of rubber-check writing will invade "our privacy" and are insistent that damaging material be kept from Republicans, according to a congressman's written account of a party meeting. "We need to protect our privacy, and wrap up the investigation quickly," the memo said of the ethics committee probe into operations of the House members' bank. The account by Rep. Terry L. Bruce, D-Ill., obtained by The Associated Press, also reports Democrats' anxiety that members will be judged by standards that did not exist when the bad checks were written.

Legislature may go full-time

By GARY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — The state Supreme Court has separated the powers of government so dramatically that it could transform the Legislature into a full-time assembly instead of a sporadic gathering of citizen-lawmakers. "They have built a brick wall," said Mallory Horne, chief counsel to Senate President Gwen Margolis. "They may not have wanted to go as far as they did go."

The justices ruled Oct. 29 that Gov. Lawton Chiles and the six-member Cabinet had no constitutional authority to make cuts in the state budget during tough economic times. That power, the court ruled, rests solely with the Legislature. For more than 20 years, the governor and Cabinet have routinely approved budget cuts under a law called Chapter 216 so that the spending plan would always remain balanced — another requirement of the Constitution.

The Supreme Court called a halt to that practice, leaving lawmakers to figure out how to balance budgets and make routine agency fund transfers without continual legislative sessions. It voided a decision by Chiles and the Cabinet to cut the $29 billion budget because of a $623 million tax shortfall. Chiles, who left the U.S. Senate in 1988 frustrated with his inability to address the federal deficit, has half-jokingly said that there's not much left for the governor to do. "I have very few duties now," Chiles said in a speech last week. "The power now resides in Mr. Speaker and Madame President. They kind of cover two branches."

The governor was forced to call a Dec. 10 special session to address the budget shortfall. Margolis, D-North Miami Beach, and House Speaker T.K. Wetherell, D-Daytona Beach, are grappling with how to translate the court opinion into a workable system without forcing the Legislature to meet continually. It's only been 21 years since lawmakers changed from a session every two years to annual sessions. "I believe that the citizens were insistent on a part-time citizen Legislature, rather than one which must address every alteration to the appropriations act," Wetherell wrote in a letter to House members.

Magic touch: speaking out to save lives

By LISA LEVITT RYCHMAN
AP National Writer

The day after Magic Johnson learned he was infected with the AIDS virus, he told the world. The day after he told the world, people talked and cried and thought about little else. "I don't know how anybody could gather the courage to go before the entire world and explain a personal tragedy without a quiver in his voice," said Charles Franckowiak of Grand Rapids, Mich., who graduated from Johnson's alma mater, Michigan State University, in 1989. "It just shows what a tremendous person he is," Franckowiak said.

The superstar guard with the electric grin has been an idol to youngsters, a world-class fund-raiser and a consummate team player who gave the glory to the other guy almost 10,000 times in his basketball career, collecting a record number of assists. "He's had a life most of us could only dream of," said Jennifer Fenrich, a Michigan State junior who worked at Johnson's wedding reception in September. "Now he's living a life most of us would fear."
