Sheriff Tucker Speaks To DeBary CoC Thursday

DEBARY—Volusia County sheriff Tucker was guest speaker at a roast turkey dinner served to the DeBary Chamber of Commerce Thursday evening at Station cafeteria.

Introduced by president Abraham Lincoln he outlined the function and operation of his office the improvement of the budgetary procedure over the former fee system. He stressed the impartiality religiously followed in his enforcement of all state laws.

Following this discourse he conducted a question and answer session, during which members freely discussed County problems.

The Chamber then turned to the business at hand; reports from the various committees. Everett Swift reviewed the work done since January on zoning and values received at the town meeting held recently at the Civic Center for presentation of a petition on this topic. Swift emphasized that the committee wishes at all times to act in accordance with all of the residents of DeBary. The Chamber voted to receive and approve the report of this zoning committee.

A summary of the replies received on the recent labor survey questionnaire was presented.

Road Department Begins Campaign

The State Road Department has put into high gear its campaign to eliminate more than 300 unauthorized traffic signals throughout the state which have been erected by city and county authorities and which engineering studies have proved are a hindrance and menace to traffic.

Road Board Chairman Wilbur E. Jones said that field engineers of his Department are now contacting local authorities to secure immediate removal of their signals.

City Manager Warren E. Knowles said Friday that the City of Sanford has always secured approval of the State Road Department for signals placed on state roads and thoroughfares and therefore there are none of the signals or signs to be removed from locations within the city limits.

Under the new State Highway Code, which became effective last August, the Road Department is authorized to remove the signals if local authorities fail to heed a request.

Local Worshippers Hear Many Subjects In Church Sunday

Among the 50-million churchgoers in the nation yesterday Sanford worshippers heard their church leaders speak on many subjects with texts taken from the Holy Bible.

At the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer yesterday, Rev. Philip Schleissmann spoke from his text, Deut. 3:27. "Take, thou art weighed in the balances, and art found wanting."

Rev. Schleissmann said, "King Belshazzar's Feast is surrounded in and in sumptuous living bit as though he was above the power of God. He went so far as to challenge God's power by mocking Him in the final act of missing God's Holy Vessels. He was weighed in the balance of God's justice and found wanting. That very night he lost his kingdom as well as his life."

"We are also weighed in the balance of God's justice," Schleissmann said, "by our lives, by the balance of His law, by the measure of our advantages, as well as by His Word. 'and thou art found wanting.' In spite of God's law, of his long suffering of his mercy, we have in multitudinous ways fallen short. God's justice can only say that we are found wanting. Not through repentance and sorrow for our sins, through an earnest endeavor to overcome them, through the love of His Son, we find that the balance reaches the level of our being justified. For His Son suffered and died for our sins, the blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanseth us from all unrighteousness." Schleissmann concluded, "washes away the handwriting on the wall, saves us from fear and leads us finally to everlasting life."

Green's Office Reports Valuation

According to reports in the office of Ray E. Green, State Comptroller, from county assessors on the estimated assessed valuation of real and tangible personal property for tax purposes for 1955, the assessed valuation of Seminole County non-exempt real estate is $16,715,710.

This is an increase of nearly a half-million dollars over of 1954. The 1954 valuation was $16,228,770. The percentage increase of the 1955 valuation over 1954 comes to an approximate 4 percent.

The valuation of Seminole County tangible personal property, as estimated by the tax assessor shows a similar increase. The 1955 valuation estimated for 1955 is $9,290,470 in contrast with the 1954 valuation of $8,965,920.

The combined increase of the non-exempt real estate and personal property, in Seminole County comes to an approximate $811,510.

The State Comptroller said that the increases in assessed valuations are attributable in most part to new construction, a definite and concrete reflection of the growth of the state in new construction for industrial and residential development.

Dr. Walters will lecture at the Oklahoma City clinical conference which opens here today.

Viewers' Side Of TV Is Interesting

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—There are occasional periods when what's happening on the viewers' side of the world's 49-odd million television sets is more interesting than what's happening on the telecasting end. For example: A fellow in Dallas told police a Chief broke into his home and carried off his 21-inch set. "You won't have any trouble identifying the set," he said. "A big stinging scorpion has crawled up between the picture tube and the front glass. He just stayed there. I never bothered him, and he never bothered me."

In Paw Paw, Mich., for example, a fellow complained that his wife hit him with their dog's bone when he tried to watch wrestling on the TV set. A judge admonished her that letting the guy look at wrestling once a week "shouldn't be too much of a sacrifice."

In England—where television is called "the telly" and "the little box of fog"—one mother was all for opalling it for children too. She told a housing conference that TV is a "dreadful thing" that blunts children's minds. "My son is fast becoming a morose," she said. He does not sit like a codfish in front of the television set.

"If any parents are going to buy a television set please do not let the children look at it. I am sending my son to a boarding school where there isn't one."

OFFICIALS TO RETURN

NEW YORK (AP)—Two Argentine Roman Catholic church officials, departed by the regime of former President Juan Peron last June 15, left by plane today in return.

They are the Most Rev. Manuel Tate, auxiliary bishop of Buenos Aires, and the Rt. Rev. Ramon Novos, of the Buenos Aires archbishopric.

'Get-Married' Hat Sent To Margaret

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Dallas hat designer, manufacturer Richard Englander has sent a "get-married" hat to Princess Margaret of England.

"It's something blue for her to wear," said Englander yesterday, adding that the hat was fashioned after Texas' state flower, the bluebonnet.

The creation is a pearl-trimmed, blue satin shell in the shape of a heart, symbolic of romance, said the designer. The size is adjustable.

Dark Intent

By RAE FOLEY

SUMMARY
Death of Roger Stride, an extreme popular syndicate newspaper columnist, reveals a dark character in the lives of those whom he wrote so well. It leaves his young widow, Carol, and an entourage of persons who had befriended Carol, wondering what Roger left her so more than the thousand dollars. What she learns from his wife, Beanie, that Roger's first wife, Jane, has come to Stavetta for the funeral. Albert Kibbe, one of those befriended by Roger, refuses to see her.

CHAPTER THREE
BEANIE KIBBE had given everything she had to her husband but she had learned nothing from marriage. So now she protested, "But after all these years—"

"No!"
"Anyone would think, to listen to you, Jane was a monster. And, except for being stouter and a little grayer, she'd just the same as ever was. Now what? When I stood at the cemetery and watched Roger's two wives I couldn't help thinking he made a poor exchange. Of course, Carol's younger and she has a pretty face and I guess that's all a man cares about. Some men," she added nastily, her name coming over Albert's thin arm. "But Jane—she made a helluva mistake. Jane is wonderful," she said simply.

Albert drew his arm away. "She never believed in Roger," he said in his raspy voice. "She was destroying him. From the beginning, Carol knew what he was; she helped him believe in himself. Just because the woman is pretty—"

Beanie snorted. "Think I'm jealous? At my age?" Hatred flared her mouth with bitter taste.

"Why Roger was so miserable, why everyone had to believe in him—there's times, Albert, when it made me downright sick at my stomach to see you worshipping a man who wasn't worth tying your shoelace."

"Because!" she cried man not bolt upright, so frail that only the flame of the candle was left.

"All right," she capitulated, helping him to lie down again. "All right, dear. Not shouting words. I won't say another word. Though just the same—"

"The Lord will provide," he said gently.

She sat on the foot of his bed. "I suppose he left you something in his will. His was bound to do that. I'll say one thing for him, he always looked out for us."

"Did you see him?" Albert asked, following a track of his own.

"Who?"

"Roger. Before—"

"Yes, he looked natural! He he was alive!"

"Did he look happy?" When his wife made no reply Albert repeated his question with a touch of impatience.

"I was just thinking," she said in a tone of surprise, "but she never loved Roger. She was just using him. Roger looked really happy. Kibbe, of course. But I don't know—lately he looked anxious. I wouldn't wonder if he was worried for fear Carol might find out about that history woman. Anyone with an eye in his head could tell what was going on there. Him and his peevish secretary!"

"Roger was sorry for Ethel History," Albert reproved his wife. "That's all there ever was to it. There was a knowing gleam in Beanie's small eyes. 'No man's pity made her blossom the way she did. The wonder is that Joe History didn't suspect. Well, it's all water over the dam now. I hope Carol will get rid of them both.'"

Skeleton Of Ancient Man Found

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
One day last August Asa Johnston was operating his dragline—a kind of steam shovel rig—at a construction site near the Western Iowa village of Turin.

Suddenly the line uncovered what looked like human bones. Johnston jumped down, took a closer look and promptly called the coroner.

Johnston hadn't found a missing corpus delicti but he had, by accident, made one of the most notable archaeological discoveries in the history of North America.

Experts from the State University of Iowa soon confirmed the skeleton was one of the most important discoveries on ancient man ever made on this continent.

Working with small shovels, hand trowels and a brush, the men found three other skeletons which were 3,000 to 4,000 years old—maybe as much as 9,000 to 10,000 years old.

Says Dr. R. J. Ruppe, university anthropologist who helped direct removal of the skeletons:

"The Turin site is extremely important. It will be one of the most dates in the New World if the dates are on the order of 8,000 or 7,000 years of age. It then becomes the only site with more than one human being present and one of only two sites which are absolutely documented and about which there is no question of placement of the remains."

"The four Turin skeletons, Ruppe adds, are "by far the largest and most unusual bluffs apparently heaped by the winds as they ber of bones found in glacial deposits."

curator of archeology at Denver's Museum of Natural History and author of the authoritative "Ancient Man in North America," said after an inspection of the Turin site:

"It's entirely possible that the skeletons could be of early post-glacial age—some 9,000 years old—they should prove to be much later if it will be important period is urgently needed."

The skeletons were found at a scooped up barren soil from the Missouri River in one of the unearths exposed by a slowly retreating glacier.

The skeletons—of a man, a child, and an infant—were uncovered about 20 feet below the crest of the bluff and were within 30 feet of each other. All were in a two-foot vertical level.

Two of the skeletons were placed in casts while still in the soil. The bones were covered with aluminum foil and plaster-soaked burlap. The casts were then taken to State University laboratories for removal of the bones.

The essentially complete nature of the skeletons, says Dr. Ruppe, will allow many more observations of anatomical facts than have heretofore been possible since previous discoveries have been more fragmentary.

At least two of the bodies were in a doubled up position with knees drawn up to chest, indicating formal burial. Up to the Turin discoveries, it had not been supposed that the disposal of the dead was attended by such formality in the rugged post-glacial era.

Dr. Ruppe says it isn't known how the idea of flexed bodies in burials came about. "It has been suggested that the flexing was done to reduce the size of the burial pit. Others suggest it had something to do with the fetal position."

Soviet Union To Get Acid Test

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
The West intends to put the Soviet Union to the acid test at Geneva this week.

And the Soviet Union seems ready to embark on a colossal gamble.

Recent Soviet statements, stacked up against the Kremlin collective's fervent reassertion of the principles of Lenin, indicate a hope that concessions—or at least the appearance of concessions—will pay big dividends in achieving the Soviet goal: The production of a "crisis of the policy of strength" in the West.

If this comes to pass, the spirit of Geneva conjured up by Moscow in its whirlwind of magic-making over the past six months, will look more and more like a useful ghost, with no more substance than the Western world's wishful dreaming can give it.

Few incidents could better serve as a warning to the West than the recent confession of Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov that he erred dangerously in interpreting the Red scriptures. This confession alone will offer what will look like spectacular concessions at Geneva in a bold bid to hasten the disintegration of Western unity.

foreign state. Nor will there be any sacrifice of Communist interests in Germany, Ivestia, the Soviet government paper, put it bluntly recently: "Never will the workers of the German democratic republic give up their great democratic (meaning Communist) gains."

The West, on the other hand, demands reunification as a step toward European security. A deadlock in prospect unless there is a dramatic Soviet reversal.

That leaves the disarmament question as the one on which the Soviet Union can make a grandstand play. Can any move on this—or any of the other major questions —by the Soviet Union be trusted in the West?

Reaffirmations of the Leninist teaching in foreign affairs are numerous in Moscow these days, from Communist boss N. S. Khrushchev down. Recently, primed a bit by vodka, Khrushchev exulted: "If anyone expects that behind our smiles rears the teachings of Marxism-Leninism, those who will for that can wait until Easter falls on Tuesday."

If Khrushchev so devoutly believes in Lenin's principles, he must also believe, with Lenin, that concessions in negotiations are mere weapons in the never-ending war between the two systems. He must believe that "until the final issue is settled a state of partial war will continue." He must believe that "without revolutionary overthrow of capitalism, no arbitration, no talk of disarmament," can have any meaning.

Research Program Being Expanded

What's washable? That's the question that will answer these days what with all of the new "Miracle" fabrics for which claims and counter-claims are being constantly made.

However, some order is being created out of all this confusion by the extensive research program conducted in Joliet, Illinois, by the American Institute of Laundering.

The Institute, to which some 4,000 of the finest laundries throughout the country, including Seminole County Laundry in Sanford, belong, is the non-profit research center of the textile laundry industry. Its research activity, now being expanded, seeks to determine the washability of such fibers as cottons and other textiles that have been used for a long time.

M. L. Raeborn Jr., of the Seminole County laundry points out that textile mills, converters, clothing manufacturer's of deodorants send their products to the Institute's laboratory in Joliet for testing.

There, the research staff subjects each product to a rigid series of tests. This includes a number of washings under normal laundry conditions in the Institute's own professional laundry that serves the community of Joliet.

The testing is both thoroughly practical and scientifically accurate and is considered the most thorough approach to evaluation of fabric strength in the country, according to Mr. Raeborn.

For example, the Institute's technicians study the tensile strength of the fabric and seams and bursting strength of knit wear. They measure color fastness to washing, pressing and fading, bleeding and crecking. They check the resistance of fabrics to loss of color from sunlight and perspiration.

The dimensional stability of the fabric or garment is determined. Additional tests evaluate water absorption and water repellancy. Launderability of findings including buttons, snap slide fasteners and other closures, trim, lining, accessories and sewing thread is also tested.

Sanford Citizens Need More Confidence In Commissioners

We've been asked several times — why aren't more people registered to vote in the Sanford City Elections?

The answer is fairly simple if you've been following city politics for the last 8, 9 or 10 years.

What must be done now is the creation of a greater confidence in the Board of City Commissioners by the citizens of Sanford.

In 1950 the citizens went to the polls to settle a question that the commissioners did not want to settle amongst themselves. And the voters spoke their piece. They named their choice.

But! The commissioners have never granted the wish of the people.

The question then was: shall the city of Sanford grant a franchise to the Florida

Power and Light Company? And the people answered in unison by the marking of their ballots: YES.

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners, as they will recall, did not grant the wish of the people and the city has lost up to $100,000 that could have been put to use during the interim between the referendum and now.

Grant the wish of the people Mr. Commissioners! Let the people once more have confidence in their lawmakers and representatives. It is right and proper to let the people decide the big issues that confront the city — but when the people speak they would still like to have their wishes granted.

When discussions, issues, and matters of importance to the citizens of Sanford are brought out into the open instead of discussed in "informal get-togethers" and when the wishes of the people are recognized, then will the citizens of Sanford once more have the confidence in their commissioners.

We Don't Agree Judge!

We're very sorry that a Florida Judge expresses the lack of faith in the law enforcement agencies that exist within our state.

As far back as man's history is recorded, there are instances when crime went undetected and unpunished. And so, we in Florida have experienced some of the same portions of history, Judge and Mrs. C. E. Chillingworth disappeared mysteriously, their absence unsolved.

The creation of a centralized bureau, such as those that control Russia, similar even to the goose-stepping police powers that kept Hitler in control of Germany, would be a disgrace in our fine state.

We have a great system now in effect. When a sheriff needs help, he can get it. No doubt the new Florida Sheriff's Bureau has already received requests for help.

If there had been an agency, of the Judge's description in existence at the time of Judge Chillingworth and his wife's disappearance, the crime would still be unsolved, because in the Judge's own words, in my mind it was a well planned crime and carried out by experts.

Let's don't get hysterical and start forming agencies to watch one another. It will only foment dissatisfaction and a "pay me, brother, or you go to jail" sort of feeling.

Our democratic system of crime prevention is working well, let's keep it that way!

No Exceptions To Rules

There are no exceptions to the rules.

When signs were erected in accordance with ordinances of the City of Sanford, they were meant to be obeyed — by everyone.

And those rules include the school bus drivers as well as the individual motorist.

Friday morning, in the vicinity of a Sanford school, a school bus was clocked making 30 miles per hour through a 15 mile per hour school zone. It's understandable when, once in a while, an uncontrolled motorist who has no regard for the life of a beautiful little girl or a fine young man will speed through a school zone at a clip far in excess of the rate required for the area.

Many have said that laws were made to be broken.

But, dear friends, the young children and the motorists who pass through them, are not children with lives to be snuffed out as if it were a giant's step on an ant bed.

Names do not have to be called. Those who are guilty of placing young lives in danger are aware of their crime. Let's take stock and start obeying the law.

Were You In Church Sunday?

Enumerators tell us that of the 150-million people in our big country only 50-million go to church on Sunday.

Are you one of the three who didn't go to church yesterday?

If you're tired of the turmoil that's going on about you—if you're looking for comfort—if there is an uneasiness existing in your mind and everything seems unsettled—if everything you turn to seems to be sinful and wrong—then you're looking for a church to attend.

Sanford boasts of a church of your choice. There are numerous churches for you to attend. In them you will find lessons from the Holy Bible, prayers for the blessings that have been bestowed on all, a comfort that cannot be explained or defined.

Next Sunday, attend church, Blue Monday will disappear in favor of happiness, faith, and the comfort of a guiding hand all through the week leading you back to the church where you first learned that the world is really beautiful, after all.

Marine Flyer Building Aeromarine

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 16 (AP)—A private plane designed to operate off land or water—or be driven like an ordinary automobile—is being built here by a World War II Marine flyer who was the first man to land the Navy's vertical takeoff plane in flight.

It is J. F. (Shoote) Coleman, and he has incorporated some of the features of the vertical takeoff plane in the new combination automobile.

Called the aeromarine, the new craft has a delta wing of 45 degrees sweepback. Coleman became familiar with the delta wing's advantages as an engineering test pilot for Convair's division of General Dynamics Corp., assigned to the vertical takeoff fighter, designated by the Navy XF7F, but better known as the page.

In November 1954, Coleman became the first human being to make a transitional flight from vertical takeoff to level flight and back down to a vertical "fall-stop" landing in the page. He was shown the outstanding Marine aviator of the year and awarded the Navy Distinguished International trophy.

A 20-horsepower Franklin engine driving a propeller mounted above the wing, 45° of the delta, will power the aeromarine. It will have a range of 200 miles at 20 gallons of fuel and a cruising speed of 100 miles an hour. Cruising with a payload of four to six passengers, will be 100 miles an hour.

Coleman says the 2,500-pound aeromarine will be able to land on a runway of only 20 feet. Landing on a 20-foot runway will be 100 miles an hour.

good airplane that could operate off land or water," Coleman says. "Adapting the plane to operation as a medium performance car was secondary. We were satisfied with a 20-mile an hour top speed on land because anything more might have interfered with its performance as a plane."

Power for land operation will be fed to the two main wheels of the tricycle landing gear from the engine. The front wheel will be fully steerable to give complete ground control.

Water landings and takeoffs will be made on a single, free-floating hull mounted underneath the plane's water-tight hull, Coleman says. The hull, like the landing gear, will be fully retractable.

The plane was designed for extreme simplicity of operation in the air, since no good private airplane can be expected to survive if it is too complicated for the ordinary pilot to fly.

An indicator mounted on the nose of the plane like the radiator ornament on a car has been devised to show at a glance the attitude of the plane in flight, Coleman adds. The indicator, essentially a miniature delta wing on a support, will be calibrated to show safe attitudes of the plane in relation to important considerations in flying any delta wing, he explains.

Because of the delta wing, the aeromarine also will have exceptional structural strength for a light airplane. Coleman says the wing is inherently stronger than other types, and loading is expected to be no problem.

The engine cooling fan and exhaust will combine in a closed system to suck air off the leading edge of the wing for high lift on takeoff and landing.

THE NEW BELLBOOTS are to be produced by the American automotive industry but just come off the assembly line. Problem now is—how are they going to appear in today's stream of traffic?

Record Sales, Profits Reported

NEW YORK (AP)—Good news is flooding in today from the business front. Record sales and record profits are reported in many industries. Optimistic predictions that the upward trend of business will continue come from the heads of leading corporations.

Here is just one day's quota: Record sales are reported by Radio Corp. of America, Johns-Manville, Eastman Kodak, Union Carbide, Reynolds Metals and Stauffer Chemical.

Stalin's Fear Of Snooping Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—Marshal Stalin's fear of suspicion, of foreigners poking around inside Russia not only lasted to the end of his life but may have held back control of the atom bomb for years.

The Defense Department reports this week—on American efforts to get Russia into the war against Japan—put Stalin on record as early as Jan. 13, 1943, in opposition to letting the United States get a look into Sovietland.

At that time this country had the problem of sending planes to Russia, to fight off the Germans, by the round-about way of North Africa. It would have been easier to ship them from Alaska directly into Siberia.

In a message to Stalin in the latter part of 1942, President Roosevelt mentioned that to Stalin. He also told him Japan might attack Russia in such an event, he said, American planes would help fight the enemy.

But the amount of help Russia got, he said, would depend on the ability of Russian air bases to handle American planes. He suggested a few Americans be permitted to look around in Siberia to see what Russia needed in the way of bases.

Russia was having a tough time with the Germans in those days and needed help from the United States. Nevertheless, Stalin said in January 1943 in a message to Roosevelt:

"It would seem obvious that Russian military objects can be inspected only by Russian inspectors, just as American military objects can be inspected only by American inspectors."

After the war the United States proposed a plan to control the atom bomb: it called for teams of foreign inspectors to be stationed in the United States and Russia to be sure neither side cheated or prepared a sneak attack.

But to the end of Stalin's life in 1953 Russia frigidly turned its back on that idea. Perhaps if Stalin had died during or right after the war Russia might have been more receptive.

At any rate his Kremlin successors this spring, two years after his death, accepted the principle of foreign inspection teams in Russia — as a means of controlling atom bomb production — but only if they were stationed at a few key points.

It's not certain they would actually agree to such a plan if arrangements with them reached the point of signing on the dotted line. And by this time the United States has become fairly well disillusioned with the theory that inspection teams can be truly effective after its experience in Korea.

At Geneva, instead of depending on ground based inspections, President Eisenhower proposed to the Russians that both sides be permitted to fly their own planes over each other's territory and do their inspecting from the air.

Russian Premier Bulganin clung to the ground inspection plan. Eisenhower told him the United States would go along with that. Bulganin wanted it. But he urged Eisenhower to accept also his aerial inspection suggestion.

Since Stalin's successors have at least now said they'd accept ground inspection it's possible they might have reached that point much sooner if Stalin had died sooner. If so, the world might have been closer now to atom control.

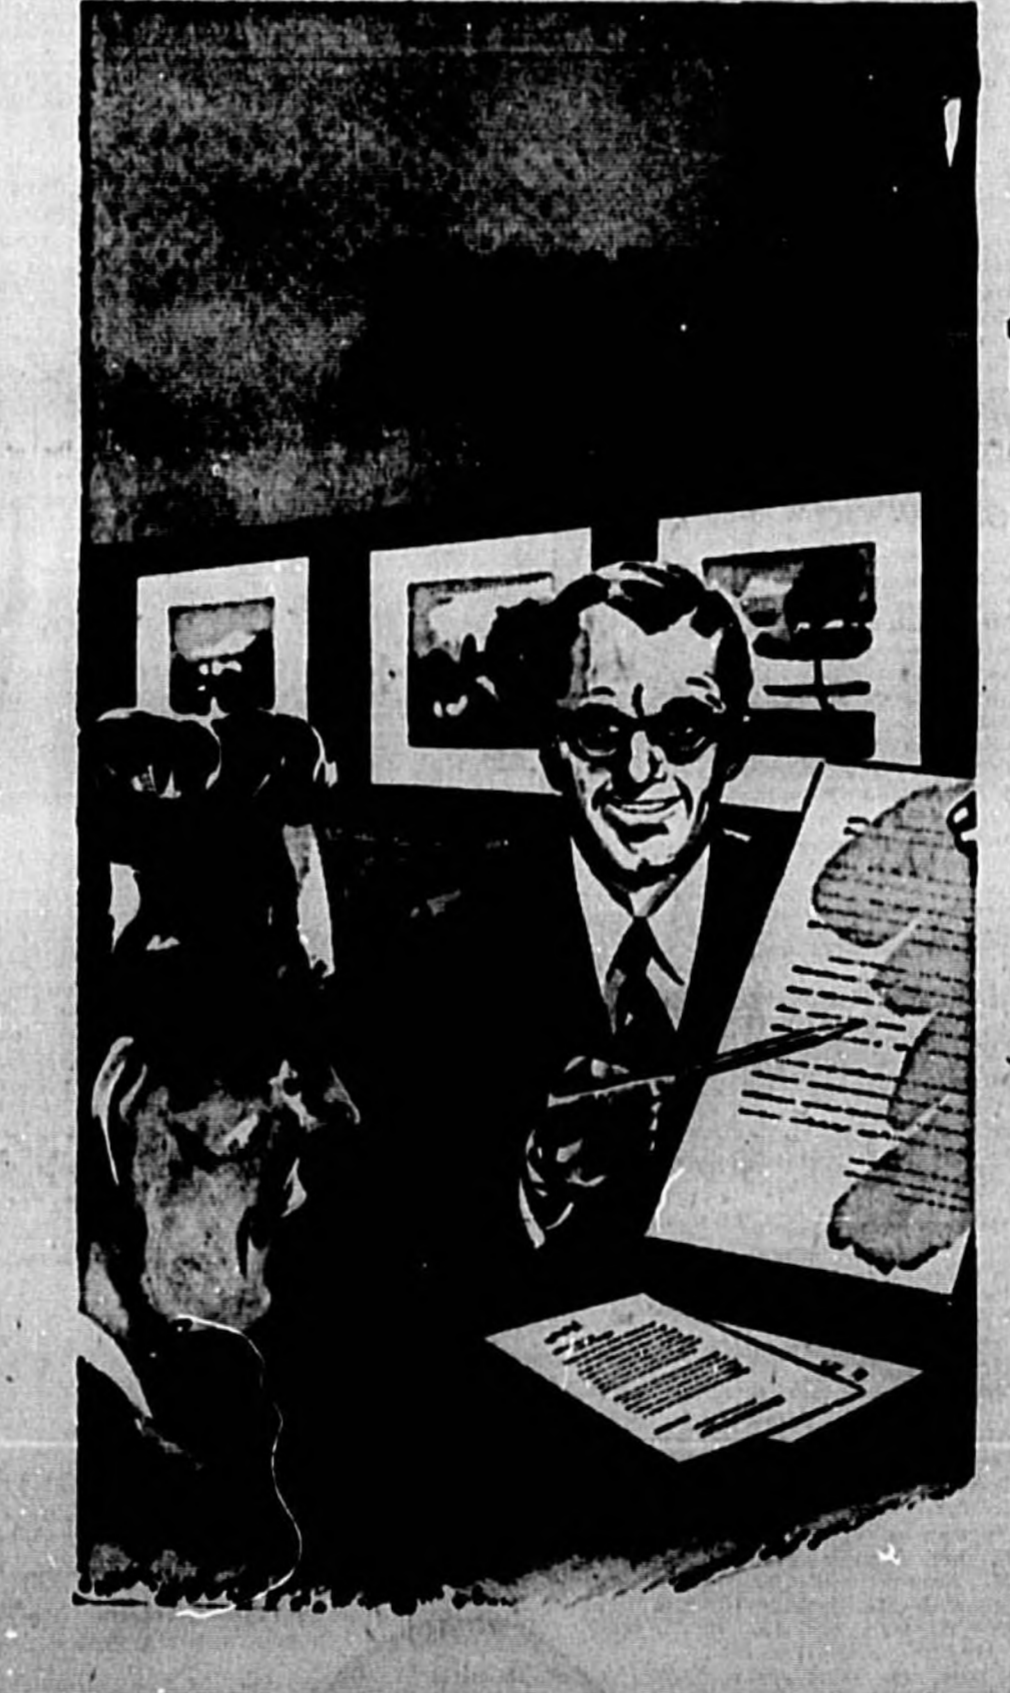

HIGH LEVEL TALKS
DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Premier Said Ghazzi flew today to Saudi Arabia for high level talks with King Saud.

Informed circles said Ghazzi will present King Saud a copy of the text of the Syria-Egypt military pact which a high ranking official said was signed yesterday. The text invites Saudi Arabia to join the pact.

Informants expressed the opinion King Saud will join the pact to show unity of action and purpose with Syria and Egypt, and that Lebanon will probably adhere to the pact.

Don't Be A Dropout Parent—Join Your High School P-TA, Be Active

Here's another in the series of articles sent in by the president of the Seminole County Council of P.T.A.'s Mrs. Marian St. John. She announces that the next high school P-TA meeting is scheduled for Nov. 3.

DON'T BE A DROPOUT PARENT.

Stand by your teenager! While he attended elementary school you realized the importance of belonging to a P.T.A. Now that he's in high school it's just as important for you to belong to the high school association.

Here's Why: Your teenager still needs encouragement, guidance and understanding. Now is the time when he explores new interests, tests his capacities and learns to know himself.

Through his searches for independence and self-direction he'll be counting on you for guidance and help. Don't let him worry through his problems alone. Reassure him by working with him. Remain active in parent-teacher work.

High school administrators and teachers need your expressed interest and friendly cooperation.

Even with the most modern plant and equipment a high school alone can't succeed. Administrators and teachers need you as a partner in educating today's youth.

As a member of the high school P-TA you share this partnership—and help in greater support for your school by interpreting its program to the public.

DON'T BE A DROPOUT PARENT. Show your continued interest in youth and in the schools they attend by joining your high school P-TA.

1. Find out the date of the next meeting.

2. Make plans to attend.

3. At the meeting, see the membership chairman.

Say you want to join, and through the high school P-TA—

1. Support the high school program.

2. Become partners with the teenagers in your town in their new educational enterprise.

3. Work with other parents on projects that will give teenagers wholesome enjoyment and a feeling of being responsible.

4. Participate in setting up standards of behavior.

Spotlight On Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD A—A lovely Saint named Lisa Marie has captured Hollywood.

Last year's Oscar winner for her role in "On The Waterfront," Miss Saint is here for her first Hollywood role. Ah, there's good news tonight: She may stay.

The focus of the matter was the career of her husband, young TV director Jeffrey Hayden. She was determined that her family would come first—they have a son, born shortly after the Oscar event last March. So if her husband had to remain in the east to direct TV dramas, she would have subordinated her film career to remain with him.

"But last week he signed a long-term contract to direct at MGM," she reported. "So now it looks as though we'll stay. For a year at least, maybe seven."

The couple is devoted, both to each other and to serious drama. "And look at us," she laughed. "He's directing Milton Berle and I'm co-starring with Bob Hope."

Before starting his MGM deal, Hayden is directing tomorrow night's Berle show, a TV play also starring Ann Blythe. His wife is appearing opposite "Shi-Nose" in "That Certain Feeling," adapted from the Broadway show, "King of Hearts."

"It's a wonderful change of pace," said Miss Saint, who has been noted as a dramatic actress. "On Sundays, she and her husband are house-hunting. They'll rent for a year or so, until they find out if they'll be permanent Californians. But producers who have been deluging her with scripts are doomed to disappointment."

"I'm going to take three or four months off," she remarked. "It's hard burning down wonderful scripts like 'The Rainmaker,' 'Summer and Smoke' and 'The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit.' I could probably be working from now on, if I accepted them all."

"But I want to take some time off to get acquainted with my son. I've been working almost steadily since he was born. He has been with us all the time; we took him with us when my husband and I did a summer stock tour in 'The Rainmaker.' But it wasn't the same as having him at home."

What kind of a girl is Lisa Marie? She is incredibly beautiful in person and requires only light makeup for the screen. She talks in quiet tones, but doesn't mumble. She is often compared, she is frank, down-to-earth and articulate.

Lisa Marie Kelly, Christian Science, Jack Lemmon and other recent film stars, she is TV bread.

Tampa Team Taking Day Off As Reward

TAMPA, Fla. — The Tampa University football team took a day off today as a reward for trouncing Livingston, Ala., State 51-7 Saturday.

The Tampans will trot back to the practice field tomorrow to begin two weeks of work for Eastern Carolina. Tampa has no game this week.

Coach Marcelino Huerta said he was happy at the way every man on the squad played Saturday, and especially the second and third string boys.

He liked the way quarterback Bill Minahan passed for ten touchdowns. Minahan passed for two straight touchdowns on two straight runs and Ken Suroff, an off-end-on player, came into his own on two dazzling touchdowns.

But Huerta had the most praise for tackle Bob Lovely, explaining "His trouble is he is too good. We have to get him out of there because he makes the opposition look bad."

Livingston's lone touchdown came on a 61-yard pass thriller with Allen Bass throwing to end Larry Boswell who outran the Tampa safetyman.

Billy Lemmon, converted end to tailback because of a backfield injury, proved to be the fire in the Lyman Greyhounds attack Friday night, as he gained 186 yards in nine carries, scored two touchdowns, and spelled a 19-12 homecoming victory over Dan Silman's Bishop Moore eleven. It was the first Central Florida Conference win and the third triumph of the season for the Greyhounds, as they sent home a large crowd of 1200 home well pleased.

Lyman jumped to an early lead in the first quarter when Lemmon cracked off left tackle and raced down the sideline for 53 yards and paydirt. In the second quarter the Stevens brothers teamed up to make the second tally. David Stevens hit the tackle slot on the 50 and carried the ball down to the Bishop Moore 23, where he was jarred loose from the ball, but his brother, Don, picked up the fumble and carried it the rest of the way for the touchdown.

On the return kickoff the Bishop Moore Hornets opened up a passing attack from John Ellis, combined with a running attack by Jim Stoppelbein. The 78 yard drive was climaxed with a TD when Stoppelbein carried around end from the nine yard line.

In the same stanza the Hornets tried to spark another passing attack, but Lemmon stepped in front of an aerial on his own 30, and returned the ball, untouched, for seventy yards and the final Lyman tally. Don Stevens passed to Ralph Farina for the extra point.

In the third quarter Bishop Moore fired a 50 yard drive for their second score, with Ellis tossing short passes.

Outstanding linemen for Lyman were tackle Pete Vanhorn, a guard John Shultz, and end Ralph Farina. In the backfield Lemmon and Don Stevens starred. Bishop Moore's center Dave Brilliant, and Don Green, and Bill Straits were top performers, as were backs Stoppelbein, Ellis, and Jim Lane.

Clark Griffith Is Reported Very Low

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Clark Griffith, 43-year-old president of the Washington Senators baseball club, is reported "very low" from a massive stomach hemorrhage.

Dr. George A. Reitz, the team physician, described Griffith's ailment and said "the symptoms are bad." However, he added that he was encouraged by a rise in the baseball executive's blood pressure late last night.

Mrs. Griffith and other family members had gathered at Georgetown University Hospital after Reitz described Griffith's chances of recovery as only "fair."

Griffith, a sometime pitching great who helped organize the American League, had been given several blood transfusions since suffering the hemorrhage Saturday. He had entered the hospital Wednesday for treatment of neuritis, a nerve ailment.

Teams May Return

DOTHAN, Ala. — Directors of the Class B Alabama-Florida League hope to learn definitely Wednesday if Panama City, Fla., and Crestview, Fla., will be in the 1956 baseball circuit.

League President Sam Smith of Dothan said directors met yesterday at Graceville, Fla., but got no definite assurance the doubtful clubs will drop from the loop. Another meeting is scheduled Wednesday at Panama City.

If the two teams do fold, Smith said, they will probably be replaced with two former Alabama-Florida teams—Ozark, Ala., and Andalusia, Ala.

The four teams considered earliest to return are Dothan, Doonville, Fla., Greenville and Rust Valley Beach, Fla.

One of the wildest Ivy League football games ever played involved Yale and Dartmouth in 1931. They played a 23-23 tie.

Harbert Confident Ryder Cup Team Will Beat England

MIDLAND, Tex. — Chick Harbert, captain of the United States Ryder Cup team, expressed confidence today that his golfers would beat England in the approaching matches and uphold the tradition of having never lost to the British in the series.

Harbert's Ryder Cuppers polished off a challenge team assembled by Jimmie Demaret 29½ to 15½ over the Midlands County Club course here the past week-end.

"This year's Ryder Cup Team is one of the best ever fielded by the United States," said Harbert. The Ryder Cuppers licked Demaret's team 17½ to 12½ in the singles yesterday, following up a 12-3 decision in the Scotch four-man Saturday.

Champion Harper, Sam Snead and Jack Burke led the Ryder Cuppers with 3-point victories. Snead beat Mike Soutchak with a summer-par 64 over the 7,303-yard course. Snead had a 74.

Cary Middlecott beat Demaret by one point by also shooting a 68 in the Snecot for low score of the day. Harper had a 69 in downing Bobby Lomborg Burke won over Al Bessilack with a 71.

Harbert split with Vic Ghezzi and Jerry Barber halved with Billy Maxwell challenges Don Cherni, Lou Winger, Byron Nelson and Fred Hawkins won their matches. Cherry beat Marty Furgal, Winger won over Tommy Bolt, Nelson beat Doug Ford and Hawkins edged Ted Kroll although the latter had a hole-in-one.

Football Fans Glad Graham, Hirsch Not Retiring Type

By R. P. WATSON
 The Associated Press

Pro football fans in Cleveland and Los Angeles can be glad Otto Graham and Crazy Legs Hirsch aren't the retiring type.

The two all-pro called it quits at the end of last season, then changed their minds. Today their clubs are leading the National Football League.

True, the surprising Pittsburgh Steelers are keeping pace with Cleveland in the Eastern Conference, but they were far less impressive yesterday in a 15-17 victory over the New York Giants than the Browns were in walloping Green Bay 41-10.

Graham, completing 7 of 12 passes for 187 yards, guided the Browns on touchdown marches of 74, 97 and 71 yards and scored once himself.

Hirsch took a pass from Norm Van Brocklin for the winning touchdown in Los Angeles' 24-13 victory over the toothless Detroit Lions. By winning, the Rams emerged from a three-way tie for the Western Conference lead as the Packers were beaten and Washington edged Baltimore 14-13 on Vic Janowicz's accurate conversion kicking.

The Chicago Bears won their second straight after a miserable start as Ed Brown ran for two touchdowns and passed for a third in a 24-23 victory over the San Francisco stars.

Philadelphia, the September choice to battle Cleveland for the Eastern crown, was left with a 1-3-1 mark after a 24-24 tie with the Chicago Cardinals. Cleveland and Pittsburgh are 4-1 with seven games to go.

Although the Green Bay-Cleveland game was close on the scoreboard for three quarters, the statists told a far different story. Cleveland ruled up 451 yards while their hard hitting defensive platoon held the Packers to 18. A 100-yard kickoff return by Al Carmichael supplied Green Bay's only touchdown.

Panthers Defeated By Bobcats

By JAMES BROWN

The Hungerford Bobcats of Winter Park, before a crowd of 2,500, defeated the CA Panthers by a score of 19-12.

Ge Knight CA's hard-running fullback, scored the touchdown of the game, during the first quarter, on a 15 yard carry. At the latter part of the first quarter the Bobcats' halfback, Leroy Fillmore, tied the score of game on a 10 yard off-tackle slant. At the start of the second quarter the Cats, Marvin Clark made the conversion, putting the Bobcats ahead by one point. In the midst of the second quarter Leroy Fillmore of the Bobcats, snatched down a long pass, thrown by Ben Lambkins, Bobcats' quarterback, and carried across the goal line making the score 13-6.

The Hungerford Bobcats, on an attempt to buffet the Panthers, tried a fake punt formation play, and was climaxed with a long pass, which was intercepted by Eddie Lanier, Crooms' halfback, who made a 35 yard run on the play.

The Panthers, coming back after the half, clawed their way through the Cats defense to enable Donnell Burke CA's star safety to reach the end zone on a 15 yard run. The scores at this point 15-12 Bobcats' favor.

The fighting Bobcats, not satisfied with a one point margin, came back while in the fourth quarter and extended lead by five yard run by Leroy Fillmore, Bobcats' halfback. L. J. McPhaden and Eddie Lanier were sensational in the Panthers' defense. David Jones and Marvin Clark did a good job of combating the Panthers offense and defense.

Both teams were equal as good on their ground attack. The Bobcats were proven better on the pass attack in that they received better results on their attempts.

The Crooms Panthers will play host to the Palatka Bulldogs Friday night at the Memorial Stadium.

Scoring Touchdowns: Leroy Fillmore, Bobcats; Donnell Burke, Ge Knight, Panthers.

Extra Point: Marvin Clark.

Woodruff Says Evidence Kentucky Violated Code

GAINESVILLE, Fla. — Bob Woodruff, Florida football coach, says there is considerable evidence Kentucky violated the code of ethics to stop the clock Saturday night and beat Florida 10-7 with a field goal.

Delmar Hughes kicked the three-pointer with only 34 seconds left in play.

Kentucky Coach Blanton Collier was able to substitute Hughes in the game and send in the rubber tee he used for the 20-yard place kick only because the clock was stopped for a player injury timeout.

Woodruff raised the question of whether it was a bona fide injury that stopped the clock and let Hughes, a quarterback, go into the lineup for Bob Collier, a guard.

At Lexington Coach Collier emphatically denied there was any violation of the Southeastern Conference code of ethics.

"On my word of honor, I did not at any time, nor have I at any time, instructed or suggested to any of my players that they take an injury or use any unfair means to stop a football game," the Kentucky coach said.

There is considerable evidence it was fake injury, the Florida coach said, and thus violated the football code adopted by the rules committee after two similar incidents helped Notre Dame beat Iowa in 1933.

The code says the feigning of injury for the purpose of gaining time "and other practices of deceit . . . are dishonest, unportmanteau and contrary to the spirit of the rules."

Wood said his assistant coaches saw Kentucky's staff on the sidelines signaling to the players on the field by bending over and holding their stomachs and legs, apparently wig-wagging them to fake an injury.

Sooners Are Using Deadly Air Attack On Grid Victims

NORMAN, Okla. — Oklahoma is famous for its devastating ground game but this season the Sooners are cashing in on a deadly air attack. It's been a potent weapon in five victories.

They have completed 34 of 43 passes for 289 yards and a percentage of 53.8. They've thrown an average of 8.6 passes per game.

Only one pass has been intercepted. That was by Corky Coit of Pittsburgh, who hauled in a 24-yarder. Quarterback Jim Harris' throw. He was snuffed in his tracks.

Halfback Tommy McDonald has been Oklahoma's best passer as well as its rushing leader and top scorer. He has completed 16 of 25 passes for 154 yards.

The Sooners have scored only two touchdowns on passes and both of them were thrown by Billy Sturm of Muskogee, Okla., who runs the third team. However, they have taken to the air to set up numerous touchdowns.

Halfway Mark Is Reached By FSU

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Florida State reached the halfway mark in its football schedule in its 24-0 loss to Georgia Tech Saturday and as Coach Tom Nugent commented "the worst is over."

For five games in a row the Seminoles have been underdogs against top-notch opposition. They copped the opener from North Carolina State but were outclassed in the other four by Miami, Virginia Tech, Georgia and Georgia Tech.

The Seminoles drop down to class the rest of the way and will enjoy the strange role of favorite in their next encounter with Villanova in Tallahassee Nov. 5.

Nugent's charges get a rest this week.

Against Tech it was the same old story—lack of players depth.

The Florida State first team did well enough the first half, holding to a 14-0 score. A passing attack brought Tech two quick scores in the third quarter and Bobby Dodd emptied his bench the rest of the way.

day at the First Christian Church, Pastor Perry L. Stone said, "Three things are essential to a successful enterprise: the faith to justify it; an instrument to operate it; and the power to sustain it when the business has worn off. Now the world-girding program of Christ is the greatest enterprise on earth. It is justified by our faith that Jesus is able to save unto the uttermost all who call upon him. The church is his instrument to carry out his program and operate this great surprise.

The question is: Have we the power to sustain it? Have we made known his program to his followers. Its purpose is salvation; its scope is universal. The technique for carrying out his program is that of witnessing; and the power to do it is the over of the Holy Spirit. The Master did not assign a difficult task and then fail to furnish adequate power to perform it. The power of the Spirit is available, not to a few rare individuals such as the apostles, but to all Christians who will meet the conditions"

Rev. David S. Carnelf, of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, spoke on "Christian Missions" yesterday.

"Christian Missions is the greatest business on earth," he said. "It requires tremendous capital and manpower to carry on its vast enterprises. Leaders and executives of great ability are needed to see that this business functions efficiently and profitably. The profits of this business are greater than any other business in the world. They are never entered on bookkeepers' ledgers, nor listed in business reports, but they are counted in terms of eternal returns in the form of pagan lives transformed and redeemed by our Lord Jesus Christ.

"Christian Missions is not an endeavor which the Church may sponsor, support and promote at its fancy convenience. It is not something that we can do as a last resort. It is not an effort to which we are to give attention and interest when we have little else to do. Jesus Christ left us with no doubt but that he expected the Church to carry on an aggressive program of spreading the gospel to the ends of the world. Among the last words spoken to the disciples before He ascended into heaven was the Great Commission. 'Go ye into all the world and proclaim the Gospel to every creature,' Rev. Carnelf concluded.

SAYS U.S., NOT RUSSIA, WON TITLE

PUTTING ALL OF HIS MIGHT INTO THE EFFORT, Paul Anderson (top), 27, of Toccoa, Ga., is shown in action as he competed in the 27-nation weight-lifting championships in Munich, Germany. Anderson holds the world's weight-lifting title, raising 1,130 pounds, to better by 60 pounds, the official record. Although Anderson was the individual winner, the Russians took the team championship. Coach Bob Hoffman (bottom) claimed that the United States, not Russia, won the world championship. He said that the selection of Tom Kono (bottom) of Sacramento, Calif., winner of the 181-pound title, as champion also in the physique competition should have credited the U.S., with five additional points. Since Russia went unplaced in the physique contest, Hoffman claimed a 20-to-25 victory instead of the previously reported 29-to-25 Soviet triumph. (International Radiophotos)

ATTENTION SPORTSMEN!

This Fall, sportsmen and others who enjoy the outdoors could cause thousands of forest and range fires unless they are extremely careful with smokes, matches, warming fires, and campfires. Carelessly caused fire destroy trees, and game cover. They destroy the food and water that produce wildlife and the wildlife itself. So, this Fall ...

Tennessee Leads SEC High Scoring List With Victory

By MERCER BAILEY
The Associated Press

Four overmatched visitors to Southeastern Conference football fields must have hobbled home-ward from their weekend sojourns and firmly convinced that the battle cry of the Dixie Dozen is "Lay on, MacDuff!"

Tennessee led the high-scoring parade with a 53-7 romp over Dayton but Auburn's victory margin was the biggest of the day as a result of the Plainsmen's 52-0 waltz past Furman. Vanderbilt walloped Middle Tennessee 46-0 and Georgia Tech trimmed Florida State 24-0.

Tennessee's 37 points were 15 more than the Vols had scored in four previous games combined. Vandy's 46 matched its previous four-game total and Auburn's 52 points were just four shy of its total for four earlier games.

But in neither case was it a matter of an SEC team seeing just how badly it could clobber a "breather" opponent. All four of the high-scoring teams sent in everybody but the water boy after gaining a safe lead.

Alabama also scored more points Saturday than it had all season, but with the Crimson Tide it was quite a different story. Mississippi State climbed to second place in the SEC standings with a 26-7 victory over 'Bama. In four previous games the Tide had scored only points-against Vandy.

Saturday's top game in the South pits a pair of once-beaten powers—Duke George Sech. Tech lost to Auburn a week ago and Delta was whipped by Pittsburg Saturday.

Mississippi is third in the standings with a 3-1 SEC record and Tech is fourth with a 2-1 mark. Kentucky 2-2-1 and Tennessee 1-1 are tied for fifth. Florida is seventh with a 2-3 mark and Vandy, George, Tulane and LSU are tied for eighth with 1-2 records. Alabama 0-3 is in the cellar.

Armstrong spent 12 years in Central America managing golf clubs. In the Republic of Panama Canal, Costa Rica and in Honduras. Three years in Detroit, Mich. were added to his record as well as two years in Texas. "I spent the last three winters in Phoenix, Arizona," Armstrong remarked, "at the brand new Paradise Valley Country Club." Armstrong has also seen golfing days in Florida with two winters at DelRay Beach.

"This is the first time I've been with the New York Giants organization," said Armstrong, "but I am happy that they've selected me to come here right at the advent of one of the biggest golfing events ever to come to Central Florida."

Commenting on the local golf course, Armstrong said, "it's in real good shape — in excellent condition. We started seeding the greens today. You see, this year the fairways, greens, and tees will all be seeded."

The new Mayfair Inn Country Club pro said today that he will soon have his pro shop in operation. (Continued On Page Two)

$346 Is Collected In Fines Yesterday

A total of $346 was collected in fines yesterday in Sanford City Court when 10 cases were heard by Judge John Leonard.

Traffic cases were in the majority when fines were imposed on four persons for reckless driving, two for running a stop sign, three for drunkenness, two for improper parking, one for assault and battery, one for drunk and disorderly, one for exceeding the speed limit and one for careless and negligent driving.

Hearing Is Held For Duo Yesterday

A preliminary hearing was held yesterday afternoon, before Justice of the Peace Hugh Duncan, for Clarence Smith and his wife Mary, who were being held under charges of both selling and possession of illegal moonshine whiskey.

They were originally taken into custody Sunday night, Oct. 16, and charges preferred against them following a search of their home.

Clarence Smith was bound over to Seminole County Court on a charge of "possession of a pint of illegal moonshine whiskey" while his wife, Mary, was bound over to Circuit Court on a charge of "possession of three gallons of illegal moonshine whiskey."

The arrests were made by Deputy Sheriffs Morgan McClelland and W. L. Long. Bond for each was set at $500.

Illegal Shooting Arrests Are Made

Two more arrests were recorded in the Seminole County Sheriff's Office for "shooting doves in bird sanctuary reserved" by Game Warden Harry Morris.

According to the Sheriff's office, a total of eight arrests were made for the illegal shooting.

These posting bonds on the charge were: John W. Mahan of the Orlando Air Force Base and Noah M. Dixon of the U. S. Air Force Hospital.

One of the most successful farmers in this area looked over his ten-acre plot of tender green beans yesterday and said, "they're the finest I've seen in a long time."

Walking through the field of beans, George Hiers looked over him and reaffirmed his statement with, "as good as I've ever had."

The west side farmer, 62-year-old, looked even elated at the mention of his crop, and when asked how the season would be this year, he looked about again and said, "I'm in good hopes."

"I've been growing crops for Harold Kastner since 1934," Hiers reminded, "and he's about the finest man I ever knew." Hiers said that he had been farming the same spot for 25 years but had spent 31 years altogether, farming in Florida.

"I'm proud of my farm," George Hiers commented, "because that's where my living comes from." Counting up his acreage, when asked about the size of his farm, he added up blocks of five acres until he reached 30, and then he said "that's all except the five acres over there where I keep my hogs. They're duros, and some of the finest you've ever seen. I've got ten of them over there."

Clyde Humphrey, field foreman for Harold Kastner Co., said that the field of tender green beans grown by George Hiers could be harvested Wednesday morning.

"The quality of these beans is extra fine," he said, "and the yield will be about 150 hampers to the acre," he added.

When asked about the produce from the George Hiers' farm, Humphrey said, "Mr. Hiers has always given quality produce, the finest that can be raised."

Humphrey said that, "we're looking forward to one of the best seasons we've ever had here."

Hiers looking out over his fields of beans said, "you know, I owe a lot of credit to my good crops to the fact that I haven't missed Sunday School in 30 years and it's pretty near 31 years now."

Growers Required To Pay License

Out of State growers will be required to pay the necessary license to peddle or sell their commodities in the City of Sanford in the future.

The decision was reached at last night's meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners when it was explained that such selling, with insufficient evidence that the seller had grown the products he is selling, is hurting the local grower, is hurting the local open air markets, and is hurting the local merchants.

Such growers, peddlers, or sellers, will be required, in the future, to present evidence that their products were grown on the sellers own farm.

City Officials To Attend Session

City Manager Warren E. Knowles, City Attorney William C. Hutchison Jr., and Mayor Denver Cordell, will attend the annual meeting of the Florida League of Municipalities which will be held in Jacksonville November 13 through 16.

Mayor Cordell is slated to take part in a panel discussion during the meeting.

Extensive Plans Made For Concert Membership Drive

Extensive plans are being made said Frances Roumillat, president of the newly formed Seminole Mutual Concert Association, to bring our membership drive to a successful conclusion.

At the first meeting of the association preliminary plans were outlined and artists were chosen for the three concert series. Those to appear in Sanford under the auspices of the Seminole Mutual Concert Association will be Corneilia Otis Skinner, Dee I. Nelson and Neal Australian American duo piano team late in January, and the Don Cassack Chorus and Dancers under the direction of the diminutive Serge Jaroff. Late in February.

Roumillat said today that Dr. Wade Tucker has been selected as treasurer of the local music organization and that Mrs. Philip Marx will serve as chairman of the Headquarters Committee.

Miss Ollie Reese Whittle will be in charge of the student memberships for the concert series.

Considerable interest has been shown by the Navy personnel at the local base, said Roumillat, and representatives from the three ladies organizations will serve on the immediate staff of the Seminole Mutual Concert Association. Representatives who will take part in the membership campaign will be from the Enlisted Men's Vets Club, the

Dock, Terminal Discussed Housing Authority Explains Needs

H. James Gut, a former Sanford Mayor and Commissioner, as well as a leader in civic and government affairs, was presented last night with a resolution by the Board of Sanford City Commissioners honoring him for his long years of devoted service to the city. Along with the resolution Mayor Denver Cordell presented Mr. Gut with a silver platter.

Gordon Bradley, local representative of the housing authority, explained to the Board of Commissioners the need for additional housing units in the city. The Public Housing Authority approved 50 additional units for Sanford in 1952, Bradley said, but the actual building of the housing facilities here was not pursued. The past Congress has authorized 45,000 units and has taken all strings off of the possibilities of obtaining the project.

Bradley explained the necessity of a resolution to prevent the spread of slums, with a local determination of need. We have only 40 units at Edwin Higgins Terrace now, Bradley said, and at the time they were made available we had application for more than double what we could provide. He believes that there is a need for the additional units for Sanford," Bradley said.

The Board of Commissioners approved the resolution asking for the additional units for this area. Possibilities of obtaining a city shuffleboard tournament was discussed last night if the city can make available additional courts necessary to conduct the gigantic affair here in the early winter. Gordon Bradley, chairman of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Recreation Committee said that a meeting will be held with representatives from the 26 cities affected in the tournament.

Bids were open yesterday, during the day, for the purchase of Radio equipment for both the Fire Department and the Police Department. Water meters for the city, and uniforms for the police department.

Awards for bids were made for two Motorola Radios for the Fire Department at a cost of $990.78, while one RCA radio unit was purchased for the Police Department at a cost of $581.45. 300 Neptune water meters were purchased for use by the city at a cost of $24.29 each. Purchase of uniforms for the Police Department was made from Yowell's but restricted to $1,500.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce requested that the city hold a referendum on annexation concurrent with the city election on November 8. A. B. Peterson Jr., president of the local Jaycees, appeared at the meeting. He said that there was no specific date designated in the bill which would allow the election.

Commissioner Jack Ratigan explained that "we want to make certain what services we can provide the area affected by annexation." (Continued On Page Two)

Letters Are Sent To Local Residents For USO Funds

Harold Kastner and Don Bales, co-chairman for the USO Fund Drive, now in progress, unable to speak personally with hundreds of Sanford citizens, have sent a letter to several thousand local residents.

The appeal for funds is to furnish in part a "home away from home" for the local Navy personnel.

The co-chairmen explain in their letter the vastness of the program here in Sanford. A volunteer staff of hostesses and chaperons give of their time and energies to maintain a schedule of dances, parties, beach parties and other special events to keep the service personnel stationed here entertained.

In addition to the thousands and thousands of hours of volunteer work, there is still a necessity for money to operate such an organization. Recording machines must be purchased, records must be bought, TV sets purchased, stationery and other necessities must be kept on hand.

The National USO has sent $200 monthly to Sanford to keep the necessities for the many programs flowing. And only once, since the local USO has been reorganized, has there been a local campaign for funds for the heavy expenditures.

The goal set for the local campaign is just about half of what it actually takes to operate the USO here. Harold Kastner and Don Bales ask Sanford citizens to drop a check to the USO, 400 East First Street, Sanford, and then drop the envelope for yourself what a difference you have made.

Water Main Broken At Intersection

A ten inch water main was broken this morning at the intersection of 13th St. and French Ave.

Heavy equipment, operated by Cragg Construction Company, tore the top of a valve from the pipe, sending water spurting high into the air.

The break in the large main furnishing water to Sanford residents necessitated the shutting off of water all over the city until the repairs could be made.

City Manager Warren E. Knowles said earlier today that he hoped that the water would be off only about 45 minutes. A fitting had to be made for the broken piece.
