

One-Room Apartment Can Be Made To Look Like Enchanted Cottage

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A one-room apartment can be made to look like an enchanted cottage. It may be utilized for entertaining and working, dining and sleeping, and still give the appearance of a comfortable sitting room.

You can sew and saw to furnish on a budget. Or you can buy the best furnishings available, and engage professional decorating advice. Either way the aim should be to achieve charm, coziness, comfort and compactness in your one-room abode.

Before you select your home furnishings, ask yourself what is necessary to your scheme of living. Then plan those essentials first, building accessories around them. Space savers such as desk-dining table, breakfast-chests, coffee table, bench combinations are indispensable in some homes. Everything in the small room should be built for service.

Color is important. Color may make up for a skimpy home-furnishings budget, and give you the charm you can't otherwise acquire. If you have a favorite color, so much the better. Splash it about your room liberally, for background or accent, choosing the accompanying colors carefully. It is easy to live with colors you like. But don't use more than three. These same colors should be used in the one pattern or stripe you select.

Here are some modern decorator color combinations and suggestions on how to use them:
Turquoise, lemon and pewter: Lemon walls, pewter cover for sofa or studio couch, throw pillows of turquoise and/or lemon, one upholstered chair in turquoise or in a pattern combining the three colors, gray rug.
Charcoal, lipstick red, pearl gray: Charcoal walls, red sofa (perhaps corduroy or velvet), gray or black and white rug. Another delightful accent with charcoal is citron.

Shades of tobacco, beige and cocoa are ideal for a man's room: Beige to crown walls, a contrasting shade, other furnishings in either hue. Pillows, lamp shades and other accents may be in a vibrant blue.
Plaid is a lovely bold accent for the room of a young girl or a patriotic Scotsman. Your favorite or family tartan makes it more fun, and offers a good conversation piece. The sparkling jewel-like reds, greens, blues or yellows of the plaids may be used in solid colors for rug and chair. The softer, contrasting shade in the plaid may be used for draperies and lounge cover. Plaid throw pillows and perhaps lamp shade add a real decorator touch.

Make 'Em Yourself
If you are furnishing on a budget, make some of your furnishings yourself. Here are some ideas:
Coffee and end tables . . . Take oval or oblong picture frames or mirrors and use as tops for old tables found in attic or junk shop. . . cover an old card table with tiles, saw legs down to size. If need be, if room is very large, take an old-fashioned round dining table (found at auctions or junk shops), cut legs down from the top, refasten to table top. Put a favorite tray on a wrought-iron stand.

Floor Covering . . . Make a wide-braid rug in all shades of the color you choose as an accent shade for your room. Mill-end blanket strips are used, usually, for making these rugs. If floors are bad, put down vinyl or rubber tiling (easy to do yourself if dining table and chairs are removed) and throw rug on top. One delightful scheme combines black and white tiles with a braided rug in shades of blue ranging from pale to sapphire. A citron, lipstick red or tangerine hued rug offer another smart accent.

Draperies . . . Make them yourself of inexpensive corduroy or denim in conventional or tiered-style cafe curtains. Large wooden or metal rings are a gay flip. Use shutters (bought at junk shops) painted and repaired to replace both blinds and draperies. If the window is in a small area, use wallpaper with a brick motif to give a delightful outdoor effect to this section of your room.

Other things to keep in mind when furnishing a small apartment are:
The scene when you enter your room should be immediately pleasing to the eye. In that first glance one should see a cozy grouping—sofa, chairs with table and lamps, perhaps a bookcase, and small inviting table with candles and attractive centerpiece. In the section that is not seen at once put necessary bulky objects such as bureau or desk. If these are particularly ugly, put a screen around them.

A mirrored wall can make few people today can afford to own actual pieces of furniture made during the 19th Century. What you can afford are modern adaptations of these superb designs. Today's modern adaptations retain the basic lines of original pieces. The grace and harmony of design are still present. Decorative details, however, have been simplified, not only to lower cost, but to fit in better with modern tastes.

Carefully matched surface wood patterns call for veneer. This is plywood with a veneered surface. Veneer is the thin but substantial layer of wood that is used on the face and back of plywood. All qualities and types of furniture use veneer construction for straight and curved flat surfaces.

The trend toward the use of marble celebrates the lasting of modern and traditional forms. In marble one can have both. One may use modern lines, but to suggest a feeling of old-world elegance.

1. A room seem larger.
2. A bookcase cabinet arrangement built from floor to ceiling gives you storage space for everything from books to bric-a-brac in a minimum of floor space.
3. Instead of conventional ash trays, use antique oyster plates or old ironstone chicken bone dishes, or odd limoge dessert dishes, as an important "little touch" to your room. These can be picked up in antique shops for less, usually, than modern receptacles.
4. Display handsome pieces of table china, silver and other items used in everyday living, instead of cluttering up your room with what-nots that serve no purpose.
5. Attractive sugar bowls or milk pitchers in china or pewter may double as flower vases.
6. Old jugs, tin canisters, kerosene lamps, or vases make pretty lamps for wiring. Loom shuttles with a glass tube wired to them make handsome wall flower containers.

This combination bed and couch has a wall-hanging storage chest with a built-in spot light in give a teen-ager comfort and something different in her room. In maple-with color the pieces can be mixed or matched in give functional, modern beauty. It is called "Group 18." (Crawford Furniture Co.)

Special Place For Younger Set Seen As Need In Homes

The younger set—from the age of 6 to 18—need a place in the home that they can call their own. Up till now they seem to have been neglected and much abused with hand-me-downs, small bedrooms, or possibly sharing a room with an older person.

They need a place in the home where they can have privacy, comfort and something really different in the way of furniture. A place to entertain friends, work, and play. A place where they have helped in the selection of furniture to meet their needs and tastes.

Furniture selection should be considered with great thought before any buying is done. Modern furniture that features built-in sections or stacking pieces is most practical because it can "grow" in height as the child gets older and taller.

of playful guests, should be selected. A desk for a boy's room or a frilly dressing table that doubles as a desk in daughter's dream room gives the child space for studies and hobbies.

In a youngster's room try to have an extra bed or bunk as a welcome feature of hospitality to overnight guests. Two studio couches placed in a corner with a large, useful table and lamp between, give room for "bull sessions" plus sleeping comfort.

Form rubber cushions stacked in a corner will give the appearance of a pouf, yet provide "on the floor" seating to groups of friends.

Plan a cork pin-up board so that the child can display his own efforts and keep interesting pictures. It can later be moved up on the wall and utilized by teen-agers for the ever-changing "heart throbs," dance programs, and clippings which reflect their developing interests and personalities.

Maybe strictly modern furniture isn't exactly what you had in mind. Traditional, Colonial and Provincial styles can make interesting rooms too. The contemporary forms of these styles, will provide you with practically the same features that modern designs boast. As long as the room is comfortable and convenient, and gives the child a feeling of privacy, you can choose any type of furniture that "fills the bill" to give the youngster what they want.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE
But the great heart of the Infantry sympathizes, and he marks the very sparrows' fall. Behold I weep out of sorrow, but I am not heard.—John 19:37

Governor McCarty's dog track tax bill finally passed the Senate 7-0 to 0. And that's just about the way the public felt about it.

Glad to see that Governor Mc-Carty is again able to attend church services, and hope that this is a sign that he will soon be his old self again.

Bids are being received for the rehabilitation of five barracks and three other buildings at the Naval Air Station. That doesn't look as if it is going to be put on an inactive status any time soon.

Senator Holland deserves a lot of credit for putting through the tideland bill. That he was more deserving of credit than anyone else was shown by the fact that it was to him that President Eisenhower presented the pen with which he signed the bill.

Ken Wacker, former Sanfordite, and district governor of Rotary, is now in Paris attending the 44th annual convention of Rotary International. He sailed from New York aboard the "Maasdam" on May 12, and expects to be home about the first of July.

It is perfectly possible for a city to go through an entire year without a single fatal automobile accident. In fact, 799 cities with populations of 5,000 or more did so last year. And at least one city, Hobart, Okla., population 5,400, has never had a traffic death since its incorporation in 1901. Belmont, Mass., population 27,400, has had one in six years. If they can do it, why can't we?

People who play golf should realize how hard it is to get good carrier boys. For the records show that the number of youngsters willing to work as caddies on golf courses has declined from 9,000-000 just before the war to a mere 2,000,000 at the present time and they are paid two or three times as much. It is kinda that way with carrier boys. They don't have to work any more and there are lots of other things to do.

This sixty day session of the Legislature is drawing pretty close to its end, with June 3 only a week from next Friday. And still not much has been accomplished. Outside of the State Medical School, the State Livestock Sanitary Board, public inspection of state welfare rolls, and the Governor's dog track tax bill, not much legislation of a general nature has been passed.
During the next ten days our legislators will have to work fast and nimbly to get through with their work.

The City of Sanford is going to do what it can to keep down the mosquito menace here this summer, but it can't do it all, and seeks the cooperation of the public. The City will spray the streets and alleys in an effort to destroy as many breeding places as possible, but it is up to the individual house owner to destroy his own breeding places for mosquitoes. Empty all water containers, and keep them empty. If there are any that can't be kept empty, keep the water covered with a little kerosene, or other oil.

Mrs. Roosevelt has a way of getting into more jams and out of them with the least serious consequences than any woman her age we ever heard of, and so we were not particularly surprised when we read that she had been mistreated by a bunch of Japanese Communists in Tokyo, though if the Communist had been a little more intelligent they would have known that Mrs. Roosevelt had been more sympathetic than most with their cause. All that would be needed to convince American people irresponsibly against Communism would be to see her mistreated as Mrs.
Roosevelt at the hands of the Communist.

Courtesy And Horns

Few nuisances on the street or highway have the rare gift for public annoyance possessed by the automobile-horn tooter. They attack the problem of traffic congestion with the same simple strategy that Joshua applied to bring down the wall at Jericho. The fact that their blasting their horn does no good whatever does not deter them. Ordinances against noise, threats from fellow motorists, rules of simple courtesy have little effect.

A Brooklyn, New York magistrate recently lashed out at such horn blowers. He deplored the fact that when they are brought before him for causing a disturbance he can do nothing more than fine them a few dollars. He recommended vigorous police action against them and stiffer penalties such as suspension or revocation of drivers' licenses for repeated offenders.

The horn tooter not only fails to help straighten out any traffic tie-up, he actually contributes to the confusion. The blaring sound of an automobile horn can unsettle anyone and in the dim accidents are likely to happen.
It is a strange fact that many of the people who blow their horn with reckless abandon are ordinarily polite and courteous people who would not think of raising their voices in other circumstances. Why do they forget their manners simply because they are behind the wheel of an automobile?

Adult Education

Americans believe in education. We have established public schools and colleges and we support private institutions of learning of all levels. In recent years this respect for education has been reflected in the increase in popularity and effectiveness of adult education programs.

Today's men and women have more leisure, labor saving devices in the home have taken some of the drudgery out of household work and have given women a greater degree of freedom than ever before. Men and women who work in business or industry work shorter hours each day and less days each week. More and more people are using this leisure to get the education they may have missed in their youth or to add to the store of learning they were fortunate enough to acquire.

Many leading universities are participating in adult education programs. Courses are offered in many communities for a nominal tuition fee. Some of these courses are designed to make the worker better at his job. Others are offered simply to satisfy the desire that some people have to know more about this complex thing we call life.
A democracy depends upon an educated citizenry. Adult education helps to meet this need. The success of the idea in this country proves the faith Americans have in the adage, "You are never too old to learn."

Strike Out Opera

Several generations of American schoolboys have grown up reciting Ernest Lawrence Thayer's poem "Casey at the Bat." It is the sad chronicle of "mighty Casey," who had the chance to win the ball game for his Mudville team but who struck out ignominiously. Casey's failure is not likely to be forgotten. It has now been made the theme of an opera which was performed for the first time recently in Hartford, Conn.

The critics differed in their opinion of "Casey at the Bat" as an opera. It was intended as a parody and some of the critics maintained that it was not as sharp as parody should be. Others found the opera amusing if not particularly significant musically.
Since 1888 when Thayer wrote his poem, "Casey at the Bat" has become part of our folklore. Baseball heroes have come and gone, great names of the diamond have passed into oblivion, but still the shame of poor Casey is remembered. Now the legend of the Mudville team has been put to music.

Britain's Elder Statesmen Meet With Elizabeth

LONDON—Young Queen Elizabeth II met today with the elder statesmen of the far-reaching British Commonwealth and received their pledge to go forward with her "in a spirit of adventure."
It was the first time in history that representatives of the Commonwealth parliaments feted a British sovereign about to be crowned. The occasion was a luncheon at Westminster Hall.
Standing in the hall, King Charles I was condemned to death for treason three centuries ago.
The 27-year-old queen was reverently received by the 150 representatives of 52 parliaments. A diminutive but dominant figure among her counselors, she appeared completely at ease as she promised to carry on the traditions of her father, King George VI.
"It is a stirring thought that all these legislatures are descended from the assembly which first met under this roof nearly seven centuries ago," she said in a brief response to the homage of the delegates.
"We stand here in the palace of Westminster which is the home of the Mother of Parliaments. Of the many ties linking this family of nations not the least is that system of parliamentary government which is common to us all."
Elizabeth, dressed in a blue ensemble, sat with her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh.
The queen's address was broadcast to all the dominions and colonies. It was her first overseas broadcast since Christmas.
The birth of a new "Elizabethan Age" was the theme of the luncheon and Harold E. Holt, of Australia and Australia's minister of labor and immigration, gave this pledge:
"Your commonwealth is responsible to all the dominions and colonies, as you have counseled us to the spirit of adventure. We feel the urge to develop our great resources, and as the young countries of our commonwealth grow in strength,

THE WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON— President Eisenhower's new security program goes into effect today and fifty Gen. Brownell, who drew it up, is so confident about it he has predicted all security risks will be out of government by autumn.
In his April 27 order setting up this program Eisenhower explained its purpose: to see that all government employees shall be "reliable, trustworthy, of good conduct and character, and of complete loyalty to the United States."

This covers wide ground. And Eisenhower has given all agency heads, each of whom must establish the program in his own shop, broad authority to decide the standards by which employees will be judged.
Because of this, the new program may be a little tougher on individual employees than the old loyalty-security program of former President Truman. From the way it's set up it should work faster than the Truman program.
Eisenhower has instructed the Civil Service Commission to keep a constant check to see that the program is working well and at the same time is fair.
Truman's program was really two programs: one covered employees of questionable loyalty; the other handled security risks—employees who might be completely loyal but might jeopardize national security because, for instance, they held a sensitive job but drank or talked too much or had some other shortcoming.
Eisenhower has lumped both programs under one. He has also widened it. Whereas employees of questionable loyalty were security risks in only about 10 agencies, like the Defense Department or the Atomic Energy Commission, the new program covers all employees in all agencies.

Under the Truman loyalty program an accused man got a hearing before a board made up of officials within his own agency. If it decided his loyalty was questionable, the agency head then upheld the board and fired him or overruled the board and kept him.
If fired by the agency head, the accused employee had one further appeal: to the loyalty review board made up of prominent citizens chosen by the President, and not connected with any agency.
The Eisenhower program completely abolishes this board. It will stay on a few months to clean up unfinished business but will handle no new cases. Thereafter the agency head will be the final authority. This is the procedure:
An accused man gets a hearing before a board within his own agency. (Unlike the Truman program, where this board might be made up of the accused man's friends from within his own agency, from now on the board members will be government employees from other agencies and more probably strangers to him).
No matter what conclusion the board reaches, the agency head can make the final decision on whether the accused man stays or goes.
Under the Truman security risk program a man accused of drinking too much or talking too much, while first with a board made up of people from his own agency. The agency head made the final decision on whether he kept his job or was fired.
Under the Eisenhower program the only real change here in the case of a security risk that the board will be made up of government employees from other agencies.
Under the new program, as under the old, a man fired on loy-

Congressman Herlong Reports

By a vote of 201 to 198, the House last week voted to continue emergency, year-to-year grants to farmers for the soil conservation program. Last year the Federal Government spent $211 million for this program, although we appropriated $250 million. Of this $211 million, $108 million was for what are commonly referred to as temporary practices.
This was a rather peculiar action on the part of the House. The Secretary of Agriculture asked for $160 million in place of the usual $200 million and the House insisted on giving him $215 million, or $55 million more than he asked for. Naturally, I voted against giving him more than he asked for. I have always felt that the government should not spend more money than it needs to do its job. I want to see research and technical assistance continued, but I am op-actly grounds got no other government job. Under the new program, as under the old, a man found to be a security risk in one kind of job can be transferred by his agency head to another.

The emphasis here is on "can be." The agency head decides whether the security risk is bounced or transferred to another job.

shall leave here tomorrow morning to witness the next explosion. I will give you a report on it at a later date.
I was glad to be able to be of assistance in arranging for the gift of 50,000 gallons of single-strength citrus juice to the British for use during the Coronation. A friend of mine in the British Embassy really went to work when we called him about it. We think things like this will build greater good will than government hand-outs. This comes from the great heart of the people of Florida, and the British Embassy has expressed its profound thanks to me and asked that I express them to our people for this generous gift. Of course the people of Florida will also hear directly from the British.

Cards Clip Daytona, 11-10, In 12th For 4th In Row

Ingram Relieves To Win His 7th; Sanford Plays In Daytona Tonight

By KENT CHETLAIN
 Playing fever-pitch baseball, the red-hot Sanford Cardinals thrived under yesterday's 90 degree temperature by edging out the mighty Daytona Beach Islanders, 11-10, in the bottom of the 12th at the Memorial Stadium last night.

CLARENCE INGRAM Wins His 7th Game

The heat of an unusually hot weather has ushered in the longest Sanford winning streak this year. By winning last night's three-hour and 34-minute marathon, the Cardinals ran their winning claim to four straight.

It was the heroic single by tiny Roman-Tony Barone—that provided the straw which broke Daytona's back in the bottom of the fourth extra stanza.

Barone, a 26-year-old Sanford right-hander with a 3-1 record this year, has been designated in hurling against the Islanders in Daytona Beach this evening by Manager J. C. Dunn.

Barone's name has been mentioned in latest trade rumors from Cleveland. The slender right-hander was one of the leading gopher ball specialists last year, serving up 11 home runs. He is currently leading the Florida State League this year with six home run pitches.

"Tiny Tony" cracked out his line single to center, pushing rookie first sacker Ricky Bruen around from second to end the utterly fought struggle with two out.

Clarence Ingram, third Sanford pitcher, came in to hurl without ball from the sixth inning on, getting credit for his second win in two nights and seventh of the season. Ingram didn't permit a pass which extended his string of no-walk outings to 13 consecutive.

It was a wild and wooly game with nine sacrifice hits being made, seven stolen bases and 30 hits, Sanford committing several errors and Daytona added two.

Tony Barone, Tom Leonard for a total of nine misuses. Things opened fast, Skeeter Halter led off with a single and scored on Barlowe Irlby's long fly to Tommy Leonard in left. Sanford rebounded with a pair in the bottom of the first, as Tom Leonard walked, Halter sacrificed him to second. Bill Silverthorne walked, Irlby straggled out to center. Barone, Manager J. C. Dunn stayed close to Silverthorne for the extra, figuring specialist Bob Locke could hold the Cards in the rest of the way.

 We would like to make a public acknowledgment of a letter we received from Junior Representative Mack Cleveland Jr. It was written in response to a letter sent to him by local sportsmen and commentators urging his support against a bill which would permit shading in fresh waters about to be introduced in the Legislature. It was signed by many people. We signed this letter simply because of our conviction that Florida's fresh water lakes, rivers and streams should be preserved for our sportsmen and tourists. Why should we kill a booming tourist trade for concessions to commercial fishermen who strip the lakes and streams of fish depriving us of the sport.

President And Taft Split On Major Policy

Eisenhower Believes Friends Are Needed

By JOHN M. Highower
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Sen. Taft split today on a major issue of U. S. foreign policy.

The President committed his administration to collaboration with friendly nations in Korea and over the world.

He said no single free nation can live alone and that the United States has no choice but to have friends.

Eisenhower spoke out at his news conference two days after Taft, the Senate Republican leader, had said the United States might well ally itself with the United Nations so far as the Korean War is concerned.

Allied diplomats here, aware that the Korean peace negotiations are at the showdown stage and may even collapse next week, have been deeply worried by the speech read for Taft in Cincinnati Tuesday.

City Of Sanford Jaycee Gavel Is To Borrow $30,000 Turned Over To Meet Expenses President Able

Because money for operating expenses has been used for capital investment purposes, the City of Sanford finds it necessary to borrow $30,000 to meet its operating expenses for the balance of the fiscal year which is ending today.

At Monday's meeting of the City Commission, City Clerk H. N. Sawyer reported that it would be necessary for the City to borrow at least $30,000 to defray operating expenses for the balance of the fiscal year of which $10,000 will be needed by June 30.

On a motion of Commissioner John Ivey, seconded by Commissioner J. J. Denver Corbett, City Attorney Ed Shubulster was authorized and directed to prepare the necessary resolution for adoption at the next meeting on June 30.

Mr. Ivey pointed out that the deficit was not the result of loose spending, but rather because of the use of operating money for such items as water and sewer plant and purchase of an aerator pending floating of a bond issue for the capital investment.

Robert Angus, engineer designing the water and sewer program for the City, has been paid over $17,000 in fees, which was not included in the budget. Another emergency resulted in the expenditure for $10,000 for a water plant aerator.

According to City Clerk Sawyer, it will be the first time the City has had to borrow money for operating expenses since it built municipal airport in 1911 without floating a bond issue. The field is now operated by the U. S. Navy.

Moscow Clips Army Power In East Germany

Civilian Control May Spell Withdrawal

BERLIN (AP)—Russia took control over East Germany out of the hands of the military today, it could mean withdrawal of troops eventually.

The announcement said the Soviet Control Commission is abolishing the post of military commander in chief, Gen. Vasily I. Chuikov, and Vladimir Semenov returns to Berlin as a "supreme commander" for the Soviet Union.

Semenov has become civilian boss of affairs for 18 million East Germans. He served here before as political adviser to Chuikov.

Gen. Chuikov, hero of Stalingrad and Hitler of the Berlin blockade, undoubtedly will not remain here long merely to direct 500,000 occupation troops. It might be, Allied sources said, that he will be in Germany to be "take leave home."

Western circles heard last February that the Russians had decided to use a target date to withdraw troops.

The selection of Semenov to be top man in East Germany in this respect is an indication of the Western powers who have sent high commissioners as "ambassadors" to West Germany. As soon as the European defense treaties are ratified by all six participating nations, the American, British and French high commissioners will be "ambassadors" to what amounts to a sovereign state.

The Russian action was regarded as an indication of the Soviet intention to recede from its position in East Germany as matching that of the West. It could mean that Moscow is convinced the European treaties will be ratified by the end of the year.

Abbreviated Toll Road For East Coast Gets Tentative Approval By Vote Of House

Furious Chinese Attack Launched Near Peace Site

STOUL, Ky.—The Chinese Reds sent 1,500 troops smashing into western outposts near Panmangton Thursday night after a four-day Communist seizure here in central Korea.

In one of the biggest attacks of the year the Reds struck behind thunderous artillery fire in the west, hitting outposts Vegas, Carson, Elko, East Berlin, Berlin and the Hook.

The Hook and Vegas, two of the most bitterly fought-over hills in the west, took the brunt of the Chinese attack and apparently held firm.

The Hook, one of the main positions guarding the invasion route from the northwest, was hit by three Red battalions, nearly 2,000 men, in three assaults. The main blow as parried but fighting still was going on early Friday.

An officer at the front, who earlier reported stalled, said the skies over the Hook were lit continually by the fierce artillery barrage.

The attacks began about 8 p. m. Thursday. By midnight the Chinese had overrun one outpost position in front of the Hook.

The chief Red thrusts against the main positions were repulsed in fierce hand-to-hand fighting.

Allied soldiers on Vegas counter-attacked at 5 a. m. Friday and were fighting with Chinese soldiers who had swarmed into the trenches on one finger of the hill.

The Reds apparently were ready to throw even more men into the fighting Saturday.

The situation at Carson, Elko, East Berlin and Berlin, a string of Red positions near the Hook, was not clear. However, the Redline officers had reported earlier in the day that "we are in control of the situation."

Heavy fighting also was in progress on the central front, where the Hook was hit along a 20-mile sector and were battling South Koreans for four miles. The South Koreans had beaten the Reds back from five other outposts.

New Directories Are Being Issued By Telephone Co.

Indicative of the growth of Sanford and surrounding communities is the large increase in the number of telephone directories now being distributed to local telephone subscribers.

Approximately 4700 new directories are being delivered to homes and businesses, according to J. P. Evans, District Manager for South Florida Telephone Co., compared with 4400 when the last directory was delivered.

The new telephone directory contains many new and changed listings and is easily distinguishable from the old gray-covered telephone book by its green cover. A sufficient quantity of new directories has been printed to supply every telephone subscriber and to allow for future telephone expansion.

The classified section—yellow pages—contains listings for business telephone subscribers under headings alphabetized according to their business or professions. The variety of classifications describing products, services, professions and businesses provides a convenient ready reference guide when you want to locate a firm or individual. Mr. Evans pointed out.

He requests that the old directory be discarded and that the new directory be referred to when telephone numbers are desired. Looking up the desired numbers helps to avoid the possibility of getting wrong numbers and saves time for both the caller and called parties. "Information" should be called only when seeking a number not listed in the directory.

Elks Will Observe 'Old Tiner Night'

Tonight will be "Old Tiner Night" at Sanford Hills Lodge 1941 at which time members, who have been in the organization for 25 or more years, will be honored.

Dinner will be served starting at 6:30 o'clock to be followed by the meeting at 8:00 o'clock.

John Cameron, chairman for the program, and Jimmy Rosewood, head of the entertainment committee, today urged all Elks hold in mind the 25 year anniversary.

Three charter members—Walter Morgan, Arthur ... and Arthur ... are still active members of the organization.

Safety Record

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—Over 361,000 vehicles crossed the 11 million dollar Mathews Bridge here without an accident during its first six weeks of use, the Florida Highway Patrol reported.

Work Of USO Is Told By Mrs. Bruce

There were 1,052 individual visits made to the U. S. O. Center in the Chamber of Commerce building during the month of April, according to Mrs. Camilla Bruce, treasurer of the service organization. She said that wherever American servicemen are stationed—whether in Florida or Okinawa, in Alaska or in Istanbul—the United States Organization Center is there. For millions of service men and women who are far from home, the duty time has become U. S. O. time.

Mrs. Bruce pointed out that the world-wide complex of services, which is continuing to expand to keep pace with the growth of our armed forces, exists through the voluntary efforts and support of free men and women in a free America.

Fred Perkins Named Manager Of Herald

Appointment of Fred Perkins, former business manager of the Jacksonville Herald, as general manager of the Sanford Herald was announced by the publisher today.

Mr. Perkins arrived in Sanford Wednesday afternoon with his wife and two daughters, Nancy and Sandra, and will assume his new post Monday after completing details of moving here.

The new general manager had been in the post of business manager of the Alabama publication for two years. Prior to that he served as circulation manager there, and he has held similar newspaper positions in Hartselleville, Okla., Wilmington N. C., Elizabethton, Tenn., Jackson, Pa., and Oklahoma City.

Mr. Perkins has come to be recognized as one of the most capable and successful young newspaper builders in the entire South, the publishers said today. "We like to feel that Sanford and Seminole County will profit by his associations in the community as well as with the Herald."
