Seminole County firefighters may soon blaze deal

By Russ White

SEMINOLE COUNTY - A year ago the Seminole County Professional Firefighters Local 3254 thought it had secured a suitable 3-year contract with the county. It didn't happen, but the union and the county could have their differences solved in the next week or two. The union is reviewing the county's latest offer that includes 20 percent hikes for new firefighters and those lower in rank, but does not go across the board. Officials from both sides met Thursday afternoon at the County Services Building.

"The ball's in their court," said management attorney David V. Kornreich after the information update session. Please See Contract, Page 3A

The county was represented by Deputy Manager Cindy Coto, attorney David V. Kornreich and Deputy Fire Chief Bill Kinley.

IN BRIEF

Oviedo shooting

OVIDEO - Seminole County Sheriff's deputies have reported finding the body of an adult male who appears to have died as the result of a gunshot wound. Although investigators know the identity of the victim, the information is being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

According to sheriff's spokesman Lt. Jack Cash, as of this morning, the investigation was still in the fact-finding stage, and additional details regarding the death have not been revealed.

The body was found in an unincorporated area but near the Oviedo city limits.

Funds approved

SANFORD - At a hearing on June 10, the St. Johns River Water Management District approved 2 requests from the city of Sanford for a total of $108,000 in grants to assist alternative water supply projects.

The money is to be used in the city's historic district in the 1100 blocks of Palmetto Avenue and Magnolia Avenue, as well as in Groveside.

Project Director Bill Marcous explained that the city had previously put a matching amount in the budget for this year pending approval of the grants. "We've received a contract for the projects this Thursday, now all we have to do is take it to the commission for final approval.

The money will be used in expanding the use of reclaimed water in the city. "It's maybe odd to talk about this now when we have a shortage in reclaimed water," Marcous said, "but we have plans to eventually take water from Lake Monroe when we have low reclaimed water levels like we have now and won't have to have watering restrictions."

Fire update: Danger isn't over

By Nick Pflaue
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - Even though the forest fires which burned some 2,000 acres in the Geneva area have been declared extinguished, state officials warn that Florida will continue to experience weather conditions that are highly conducive to fire activity, including lightning storms.

Statistics revealed by the state's Department of Community Affairs show fires had burned in 13 counties as of noon Thursday, with more reported by the end of the day.

Seminole, Flagler and St. Johns are the only 3 counties where damage was extensive enough to call for declarations of Local State of Emergency. That was officially done this Thursday. Seminole County is listed with 1 fire, demolishing 2,000 acres, with 2 injuries, 1 death, 15 homes, 15 other structures and more than 50 vehicles damaged. Seminole County Fire Chief Terry Schenk said an elderly woman, who left the fire ravaged area to stay with relatives, later died.

Volusia County figures show 14 separate fires with a total of 8 acres damaged. Brevard's 3 fires are said to have destroyed 3,300 acres.

Locally, a temporary American Red Cross disaster service center continues to operate at Firefighters used a number of specially equipped vehicles such as this to gain access into forest areas during the battle against the blaze which destroyed approximately 2,000 acres in eastern Seminole County.

Bridge update

By Tony Tiano
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

SEMINOLE COUNTY - To bring into fruition the I-4 bridge project connecting Seminole and Volusia counties, an additional $20 million is needed. Last week, transportation officials met with DOT (Department of Transportation) to accelerate the time frame to build the bridge which was originally expected to be completed in the year 2005.

Currently, the bridge has 2 lanes in each direction, with no shoulders or room for more lanes to be added. The bridge which was built in 1980 helps connect neighbors.

Recently, Congressman John Mica was successful in getting an initial $14 million for this project in the House Transportation Proposal. The $14 million is to pay for the complete design and land (property for the right of way).

Though no formal agreement has yet been made, there is cooperation with the St. Johns River Water Management District, says Harold Barley, executive director of Metroplan, the Regional Authority on Transportation Coordination and Planning.

"The $425 million commitment is needed immediately," says Barley. It is hoped this will become a reality with the new Federal Transportation Committee's TEA-21 (Transportation Equity Act, for the Twenty-First Century), this act replaces ISTEA (Intermodal). Please See Bridge, Page 3A

Film Festival: Take off from work

By David Frazier
HERALD STAFF WRITER

MAITLAND - Ladies and gentlemen. Boys and girls of all ages. Welcome to the greatest show on Earth. No, it is not the circus. It is the 7th annual Florida Film Festival going on now through June 21.

"We are trying to play down the whole 'film is art' thing," said Rich Grula, director of marketing for the Enzian Theater and the Florida Film Festival, referring to Enzian's motto. Grula said that they are trying to be fun and humorous, thus the carnival motif of this year's festival. "A ton of people don't even know about the festival," said Grula. This approach to the festival is to draw more patrons near.

There are over 100 films including several premieres. Altogether there are 10 world and United States premieres. Tonight, the new Helena Bonham Carter film, A Merry War, will kick off the festival at 7:30 p.m. at the Enzian. Rich Grula said that Opening Night is already sold out, but the Premier Party still has tickets. However, Grula said that there is a standby list for those who wish to see any announced sellouts. Right now, tonight's

Support group forms for widows, widowers

By Mary Rowell
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

LAKE MARY - One of the hardest losses to bear is the loss of a spouse. That's why W.O.W. was formed. W.O.W. is the Organization for Widows and Widowers. W.O.W. is an organization for widows, widowers and persons with a spouse in a nursing home.

W.O.W. held its first meeting on Tuesday, at the Florida Hospital on Sand Pond Road in Lake Mary with quite a large turnout for the first meeting. The groups goal is to offer support and social activities for members. The group won't be offering just emotional support, they also plan to offer specialized advice to any who need it. Non-member advisors include John Mica, Congressman; and Benjamin Moore, CPA.

Just a small group held a preliminary meeting to appoint and elect officers. Already, other groups are being planned. The Lake Mary group is Chapter 1, Chapter 2 will be in Daytona, Chapter 3 in Lake County and Chapter 4 in Orange County.

Dom Desarno, the president and organizer of W.O.W., isn't new at getting organizations off the ground. He started, among other things, ITAM for Italian American War Veterans and a Leisure Club for his church.

Jail's chapel dedicated to loyal worker

By Marva Hawkins
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

SANFORD - The chapel at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility was dedicated to Catherine Hanton Hawkins on Friday, June 5.

Hawkins for years was a Christian-hearted, loving, responsible, dedicated, friendly worker at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Her pleasing way extended into the corridors, the staff and many inmates who's lives she touched daily. On the wall of the Correction Center's Chapel will hang a bronze plaque in honor of Catherine H. Hawkins for her service to the center.

Displayed inside the chapel where inmates are allowed to come and meditate, is a picture of Hawkins, with a letter from an inmate who's life, heart, soul and mind will forever remember this Christian woman. Also displayed will be a copy of A Virtuous Woman, written and dedicated to her by her son-in-law Larry Dillguard.

Maj. Greg Futch made the presentation in memory of Hawkins, and he spoke of the love and kindness always shown by this Christian. Her words of wisdom were always a beacon of light to those who heard them.

Chaplain James Cawthon spoke of the Christian experience, and her care for the staff and inmates.

The family of the late Catherine Hanton Hawkins wishes to thank the John E. Polk administration, staff and inmates for sharing their loss and honoring their mother, grandmother, great-grandmother, sister, aunt, sister-in-law, other family and friends.

Her children are: Gloria H. Smith, Newark, New Jersey; Wilbur Hawkins, Claudia H. Randall, Rosalind H. Tillman, and Eloise W. Dillguard, all of Sanford.

Sanford police. Ponder was charged with battery and was arrested at the above address. Ponder allegedly pushed live-in girlfriend into a wall, slapped her face and began choking her.

"We're hopeful to have an agreement on or before June 26. The county is offering some pretty substantial increases. We seem to be on the same page. Everyone is going to get a decent wage."

Union president Dick Criswell, a lieutenant with 24 years of service with the county, said he believes there has been progress but there are still areas of the proposed contract that need to be addressed. "The county's firefighters have had more than their fair share (of work) recently. And they deserve more than kudos. They deserve better pay."

Criswell said it is absurd that Seminole County ranks 82nd in the state of Florida for pay for firefighters and 76th in pay for lieutenants. He predicts a majority of the younger firefighters are going to leave the county for better opportunities. He says that it is vital the county be able to both recruit and retain top personnel.

At present, Seminole County's 159 career firefighters make a starting salary of $21,607 and a maximum of $34,041. Orange County firefighters start at $26,542 and max at $39,361. Seminole lieutenants earn from $27,605 to $43,447. Orange lieutenants earn from $38,281 to $48,764.

Seminole County Fire Chief Terry Schenk said today that it is extremely important that the county's firefighters be paid competitive salaries as their counterparts in the Tri-County area. "This has to happen for us to retain good people, attract new people and not serve as a training grounds for firefighters."

"This is not just an issue of pay, it's also an issue of safety and an issue of public service," Criswell said. "People are going to be leaving. We've been given kudos and hoorays for firefighters for what we do but where is the pay? Let's get this settled."

Seminole County Commission Chairman Randy Morris said that the board made what it considered a "very fair" offer to the firefighters 2 weeks ago. Criswell disagreed and that's why it was back to the bargaining table again Thursday. "We've been at this 8 1/2 years," Criswell said. "We know what's fair and not fair."

Criswell said he was aggravated at one of the bargaining sessions when he was told that Seminole's firefighters don't have as hazardous a job as those in Orange County. "The reason we were told is that there are taller buildings in Orange County. Where in God's name did they come up with that? In recent years the majority of deaths to Central Florida firefighters have been at 1-story buildings."

The reason Seminole County had not suffered any deaths or serious injuries to its firefighters in recent years, Criswell said. "Is due to the grace of God, good training, darn good people and a large dose of luck."

The final decision on the contract for firefighters will be made by the Board of County Commissioners.

"We believe that a 20-percent pay hike is a good one," Commissioner Grant Maloy said today. "The whole idea was to pay the new guys like other counties do and we've tried to do that. From what we have been told there is only a 5-percent attrition rate which isn't too alarming. A year ago when the EMS issue was big, our same firefighters were saying how stable things were."

Much has happened since last year, Criswell said. "It's time to get things up to date before we lose the best of our people."

Fire

the First Baptist Church of Geneva, 325 Main Street. The center is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily. The shelters however, at the church as well as at Geneva Elementary School have been closed. The Red Cross said 160 area residents registered at the shelters this past weekend. Figures on meals served differ somewhat. The Red Cross said over 3,200 meals had been served to area shelter residents, relief workers and fire fighters in the 3-county Seminole, Putnam and Flagler area. The state figures report 9,182 meals served in 5 counties; these 3 plus Lake and St. Johns.

The latest fire reported in Seminole County was included in Thursday's state report. A major grass/woods fire started on SR-46 east of the St. Johns River bridge, with homes and a fish camp in the area which could have been impacted. County fire officials this morning said the fire was able to be contained in time to avoid any losses and that no active fires were being handled as of 8:30 a.m. today.

Officials warn that there will continue to be a danger regarding forest fires until the area receives sufficient rainfall to prevent ignition from something as small as a cigarette butt tossed from a passing vehicle. The relatively light rainfall in many areas of Central Florida during the past few days has not provided sufficient water to saturate the woodlands. Even with rain showers, there are often lightning strikes which also cause many of the fires.

"An Afternoon with Steve Buscemi and Seymour Cassel", scheduled for Sunday, June 21, are sold out. Grula said that the showing of the Central Florida-based film, All Shook Up, is near to selling out.

The film venues will be at the Enzian in Mailland, the Colonial Promenade in Orlando and, for the convenience of Universal employees, Cinemark Theater in West Orlando. Shows and schedules can be accessed by calling the theater or surfing the Web at www.enzian.org.

Yes, Steve Buscemi of the upcoming Armageddon will be one of the stars to grace this year's event. Seymour Cassel, Cliff Robertson, Matt Mulhern, Alan Ruck and Scott Wilson will also be attending.

As always, there will be special seminars, film shorts, foreign features, student works and midnight features are included in this year's line-up among other things. To Kill a Mockingbird, the Gregory Peck classic, which will replace The Trouble with Harry, and Mr. Jealousy have been added. Sponsored by Universal Studios Florida, which will serve again as the site of the Festival Awards Gala, the festival will be running some of the films this year twice; however, Grula warns, virtually every single film can sell out. "Take off from work," said Grula, "and come down and watch the films."

YMCA summer fun

LAKE MARY — The Seminole Family YMCA is signing kids up now for their summer day camp and the youth sports and tennis camp.

The day camp places an emphasis, like all YMCA programs, on character building. The camps last from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. with pre-day care starting at 7 a.m. and post-day care until 6 p.m.

Kids at the day camp will participate in activities such as arts and crafts, games, nature activities, swimming and other events.

Camp sites include Greenwood Lakes Park, Longwood Recreation Center, Sylvan Lake Park and Sanlando Park.

The sports camp involves four weeks of sports activities ranging from flag football and soccer to canoeing, archery and basketball.

There will also be a tennis camp featuring professional Karen Westmark for campers aged 7-12.

Also, call the YMCA at 321-8944 for information regarding a large number of youth and adult leagues about to get underway.

Ole', Ole', Ole', Ole', Ole'!!

ORLANDO — On Monday, June 13, the sounds of World Cup Soccer return to The City Beautiful.

Railroaders sweep by Expos in Bambino playoffs

By Jeff Berkebile
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD — Neither wind nor rain nor darkness of night could stop the Cubs.

After waiting an extra day, the Railroaders-Cubs defeated the Boys & Girls Club-Expos, 9-2, to sweep to the title of the Sanford Recreation Department Babe Ruth Baseball Bambino City Championship Series Thursday night at Roy Hoffer Junior Field.

The Cubs had won the first game of the best-of-three set, 13-3, Monday and the second game was slated for Wednesday, but Sanford's first rains in weeks postponed the game and gave the Expos an extra day to come up with a plan to beat the Cubs.

Before the rains and lightning came across Lake Monroe, the Expos (14-7), the National Division champions, got to Cubs starter Erik Bream for two runs in the top of the first inning.

Marcus Kendrick opened the game by drawing a walk on a full count. Kendrick advanced to second on a wild pitch as Bream struck out the next batter and moved over to third on a ground out by Cy Wynn.

Lyndon Merthie then put the Expos ahead as his double off the leftfield fence plated Kendrick and Merthie scored after moving over to third on a passed ball on a single by Anthony Mojica.

It was the Expos' only lead of the series.

The Cubs, who finished with a league-best 16-1 record in winning the American Division title, came right back with three runs in the bottom of the first inning.

DeKyan Debose led off with a walk off of Merthie and Erik Bream reached on an error. After a wild pitch moved the runners to second and third, Debose scored when Karl Henkel beat out a high-bouncer to short for a single and

The Railroaders-Cubs (above) let everyone know that they are No. 1 after being crowned the 1988 Sanford Bambino City Champions after completing a two-game sweep of the Boys & Girls Club-Expos, 9-2, Thursday night at Roy Hoffer Junior Field in Ft. Meador Park.

Erik Bream (left), who had struggled to get out of the first inning on the first two nights of the series (including Wednesday's rain out), came back strong on Thursday to get the pitching victory, striking out 11 in four innings (13 for the game including two he got on Wednesday) before giving way to series Most Valuable Player Freddie Howard (the winning pitcher in Game One), who got the game's final three outs in the sixth inning.

Leader gets scare in Men's Pinehurst Thursday softball

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — There was one upset, one near upset and a high-scoring battle in the Sanford Recreation Department Men's Spring Thursday Night Pinehurst Park Slow Pitch Softball League.

Westview Baptist Church pulled off the upset in the last of the evenings three games, scoring five runs in the top of the fourth inning to erase an 8-4 deficit and going on to edge Cactus Bob's, 10-9.

The Knights of Columbus also tried to pull off an upset, scoring three runs in the top of the fifth inning to take a 6-5 lead over undefeated Sanford Central Baptist Church.

But the league-leaders answered with four runs in the bottom of the fifth inning and held off another Knights of Columbus challenge to win 9-8.

Adapco scored seven runs in the top of the first inning and led 10-0 in the second inning, but Papa John's Pizza continued to battle, closing a 17-8 lead to a 17-12 final score with six runs in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Sanford Central Baptist Church is now 6-0 on the season and leads Bussard Lawn Service (4-1), Cactus Bob's and Matthews Associates (both 3-2). Westview Baptist Should she call, or shouldn't she?

Dear Mary,

I went over to the beach for a few days right after school was out just to relax and unwind. One night while I was there, I went into a club to dance and socialize. I saw this guy in there that nearly knocked me out. He was gorgeous—great body, good dresser, beautiful eyes. And I noticed that he was looking at me. We started talking and danced for a while, but he had to leave pretty early because he had to go to work the next day. He asked me if I was going to be around the next night and we kind of made plans to see each other. Well, we spent almost the entire evening together the 2nd night, then he asked if he could follow me back to my motel so we could walk on the beach for a while. I was thrilled. Of course, he wanted to have sex at the motel, and actually, so did I. But since I really didn't know him very well, I didn't do it. After that, he left pretty quickly. I asked him if we could meet for vote? Undecided

Dear Undecided,

Before I vote, I want to tell you how pleased I am that your good judgment prevailed even in the heat of 3rd degree lust. Since he clearly knows how to attract the ladies, he may have been the STD equivalent of Typhoid Mary. In any case, you can bet you're not the first gal he has escorted back to motel room.

My vote goes with the "No way!" group. He knows how to get in touch with you. If he's interested in developing more than a sexual relationship with you, you'll hear from him. If you don't, you can mentally thank him for making your stay at the beach much more exciting than you expected, and then just store the experience in your "pleasant memories" mental file folder.

lunch before I left the next day, but he said he couldn't get away from work. He said he would call me so we could get together again soon, but I haven't heard from him yet.

He gave me his card, so I have his number at work, and I'm wondering if it would be OK for me to call him, just to see how he's doing. Some of my friends say, "Go for it!", and others say, "NO way!". How do you

Kitchen questions that bug you

What are those little bugs that I sometimes find in my flour? How did they get there?

Technically, they are beetles, not bugs. When they turn up in a sealed canister, it is usually because they were born there. Beetles are common pests around flour mills and grain storage facilities. Manufacturers do a good job in controlling most of them, but they are nearly impossible to eliminate completely. Beetle eggs -- which are almost invisible -- take a week or so to hatch. If you happen to bring home some flour containing a few beetle eggs, they may hatch into larvae and grow into adulthood right in your kitchen! Freeze flours in an airtight container for 48 hours to kill larvae.

Keep everything in my kitchen really clean. What am I doing wrong?

Several kinds of ants may occur in and around the home. Many of them like to eat sweets and kitchen scraps. Since they like everything we eat, you need to keep all food covered or in the refrigerator. Begin your attack with a careful cleaning. Then to control the ants, you need to find and kill the nest and colony. Place tiny piles of sugar every two to three feet in the area where you see the ants. This may help you find the way to the nest. Dry ant sprays, dusts and baits at drug stores, hardware stores, grocery stores, and discount stores. Follow and read the directions on the box carefully. You only want to treat the areas where ants crawl; you do not need to treat entire floors, tops of counters or cabinets.

Do not get ant killer on food, dishes or cooking utensils. Do not treat the inside of drawers. Make sure that any leftover product is kept in the original container to prevent accidents. Keep it in a cabinet out of the reach of children and pets.

How do those little fruit flies get in to house when I have fruit?

Fruit flies, or vinegar flies, become a nuisance in homes when they fly around overripe fruits and vegetables. They are also attracted to food that contains yeast, such as vinegar, beer, wine, and cider. Your garbage disposal, an unclean sour mop, or dishcloth may attract them. Some can carry disease from human and animal excrement to foods. Female flies lay about 500 eggs near the surface of moist, fermenting food; slime in drains; and waste materials. The eggs hatch in 24 to 30 hours, and the life cycle is completed in 8 to 15 days, depending on the temperature outside.

When you bring in produce from the garden or store, baby flies may be attracted to it. A clean kitchen is needed for good control. Sometimes just throwing out an overripe banana, an empty catcup bottle, or dirty garbage can will eliminate the problem. Fruit flies can fly through ordinary house screening, so even if you did not invite them in, they are going to come in anyway!

An aerosol spray will kill mature flies, but does not eliminate them in the larva state. Commercial, nontoxic, pesticide-free fly traps are available. You can place traps wherever flies are a problem.

Heart stirred by embers of first marriage

DEAR ABBY: "Brian" and I fell in love at first sight as teen-agers. We married very young, but he was the most wonderful, caring, loving man I'd ever known. He treated me like a queen.

We moved far away from our hometown, and I was homesick. I didn't give married life a chance. I acted like a baby instead of the married woman I was and returned to my parents. Brian begged me to stay, but I refused to listen. I planned on going back to Brian and our life together "sometime." Besides, I was having fun being single and partying -- so when Brian flew home to talk to me, I brushed him off. Two months after that he moved in with a woman and filed for divorce. When I received the papers, I realized I'd made a mistake. I wrote Brian a letter apologizing and begging for another chance. He never wrote back. That was 20 years ago.

I have been married to "Charlie" for 15 years. We had some good times together, but about three years ago we started drifting apart. Neither of us cared enough to do anything about it -- and it's to the point where we don't even sleep in the same room anymore. It's only a matter of time until we divorce. I'd be gone already, but I need to pay off some bills before I go.

On a recent trip to my hometown, I ran into Brian while I was shopping with my mother. I was stunned at the strength of the feelings running through me. My heart stopped and I was completely in love again. I could barely speak. My mother did all the talking.

I feel like a love-struck teenager. Brian is on my mind 24 hours a day. We never had a "last talk"; we never said goodbye.

I recently ran into Brian again. (Yes, it was a planned "accident.") He was very nice. He's not married, but he's living with someone. I wrote him a long letter, apologizing for everything I did and thanking him for all he did for me. In it, I said if there's ever a time he'd be willing to talk to me, I'd like to. I didn't tell him I love him or want him back in my life, but the point comes across. I want him to know that if there ever could be a chance, I want it.

Should I give him the letter? Please help me. Tell me right from wrong. I have no one to talk to and nowhere to turn.

IN LOVE WITH BRIAN

DEAR IN LOVE: You are putting the cart before the horse. You owe it to yourself, your husband and to Brian to sort out your present marital and financial situation before telling this man that you are "available." Bear in mind that even if you give the letter to Brian, there is no guarantee he will respond to it in the way you hope.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the lady who asked her ex-daughter-in-law to hand down the family sterling to her granddaughter set me to giggling in memory of my own very wonderful mother-in-law. She had promised to crochet a bedspread for her son and me.

She was married to a man with "itchy feet," so they moved about three times a year, which left her with very little time to work on the spread, but she finally finished it!

Twenty-one years later, her son and I divorced. I stowed a long time about that bedspread. Obviously, I was no longer in the running -- so I wrote her a letter and suggested that she give it to one of my kids or one of her other grandchildren.

I was not prepared for her response: "Not to worry. I unraveled it."

MS. MONTY MILLER, BUCKLEY, WASH.

DEAR ABBY: I read your column every day, and it seems that at least once a week part of it is devoted to domestic violence. One would think that this problem is rampant in our country. However, there's another side to this subject that needs to be addressed.

All a woman has to do is charge her spouse with domestic violence, and he is automatically considered guilty and immediately removed from the house. My son's estranged wife has done this three times. The first time, the charges were dismissed. The second time, she dropped the charges when she learned that he had taped the incident, proving that she had no grounds.

The third incident is coming to trial soon. My son is sure to win the case, as it is obviously bogus, but there is nothing to prevent her from doing it again.

In the meantime, her boyfriend is living in the house my son is paying for.

I certainly agree that there should be no tolerance for domestic violence. However, the fact that many women are claiming it for their own purposes must be recognized. Speaking to police and attorneys, I am aware that this practice is much more common than the general public is aware.

I cannot sign my name, as my son's case is still in the courts, but I hope that you'll devote some space in your column to this growing problem. Sign me...

SEEKING JUSTICE

DEAR SEEKING: Thank you for pointing out that there are usually two sides to every story. I hope your son not only wins, but his wife will cease and desist from making her false charges.

DEAR ABBY: How can people still believe those totally absurd stories about cats smothering babies? Obviously, they don't know cats.

My husband and I had three cats for 10 years before our daughter appeared on the scene. She was born two months premature, and when we brought her home from the hospital, she weighed a whopping 4 pounds. Each of our cats was more than three times her size and weight.

They gently sniffed her, checked her out, and found her to be a non-threatening creature (just a bit noisy and smelly at times). I'm assuming that because she was neither furry nor feathery, they considered her to be no fun at all, so they ignored her.

Once in a while, I would find one of the cats curled up in a cozy corner of her crib, but only when she wasn't in it. As she got older and more mobile, she considered the cats her "brothers" and dressed those who were willing in her old baby clothes. They seemed to understand that she was just a "kitten" and were very patient with her.

Our daughter is now 15 and would like to volunteer at our local humane society one day -- helping to care for cats, of course.

Let's hope someday soon those silly myths about cats will come to an end. Abby, I don't know for sure, but I have a feeling that those wild rumors may have been started by a jealous dog.

CAROL A. RICHARDS, NASHUA, N.H.

DEAR CAROL: Your defense of our feline friends is a lovely story. I must, however, report that many of my readers write to explain why cats may have been accused of smothering babies -- and it seems to make sense.

Babies drink milk, cats love milk, and many cats have been seen sniffing or licking around a baby's mouth -- probably trying to get a taste of the milk residue. To a panicked parent, this could appear that the cat was trying to smother the baby. Read on for another insight.

Morning activities for children ages 4 and up will go from 9 a.m. through 11:45 a.m., and will include crafts, recreation, and a Bible lesson. Kids will be earning "camp dollars" for various activities and consistent participation, which will be used by the children to bid on fun items at the Sunday afternoon camp auction. The auction is the highlight for many children who compete fiercely throughout the half week for prize money.

Evening services will start at 7:30 p.m., and will be family oriented rather than children oriented. Special singers for the praise meetings will be the Southern Gospel Quartet, Crystal River and some of their associates.

"This church is unique," said Pastor Donald Crabtree, a 28-year resident of the Geneva area who has been involved in numerous community issues. "We have no formal membership, believing that people who live Christ-centered lives are already members in God's eyes."

The small, country-style church is also non-denominational, welcoming anyone who wants to attend. Its ministry focus is outreach towards the needy and hurting, including a bread ministry program. Church members pick up the bread donations from area stores and distribute it on Friday mornings near the Geneva Post Office and on Sunday mornings at the church to anyone who wants it, then on Thursday mornings volunteers take it into surrounding local neighborhoods.

The Geneva Community Church of God is located at the junction of 688 Cochran Road and State Road 46, and will celebrate its 20th birthday in November. Service times are 9 a.m. for Sunday School, 10 a.m. for Morning Worship, and 6 p.m. for Sunday Evening Service, all of which take place at the church. Children's Church is provided during Sunday Morning Worship for children under 10, and the church offers a regular bus ministry to pick up folks who need a ride to services. The church also has regular Wednesday evening Bible studies which take place at 7:30 p.m. in various homes.

For more information on any of the programs the church has to offer, feel free to call the pastor at 348-8068.

Congregation Beth El events planned

Special to the Herald

LONGWOOD - Congregation Beth El of Central Florida will host a series of perspective and new member socials at the synagogue, 160 Ibis Rd., Longwood and in the private homes of its congregates. On Sunday, June 14, Richard and Marci Gottfried of Lake Mary will hold a new member social at their home. For time and directions call 788-3729. On Sunday, June 28 and Sunday, July 26, new member socials will be held at Congregation Beth El, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

In addition, the first Friday evening of every month is Family and perspective/new member Shabbat Service, at 7:30 p.m. All other Friday evening services begin at 8:15 p.m. Saturday morning Shabbat Services begin at 9:30 a.m. year round.

New member socials will continue through the summer, Sunday, Aug. 9; Sunday, Aug. 30; Sundays, Sept. 6 and 13.

Sunday, August 16, Sisterhood of Congregation Beth El will hold a gala Barbecue HoeDown, Swim and Dance Party on the grounds of the synagogue. Food, Music, Swimming begin at 4:30 p.m. to welcome back congregation families and new members. The Grand Opening of Sisterhood's new Gift Shop will be the highlight of the day's activities.

A full service, conservative synagogue located in Longwood, Beth El provides religious, educational, cultural, social and youth services throughout the year.

Beth El's School Year Registration is now underway for all age levels, from pre-school for 3 and 4 year olds, to Judaic Studies for pre-Kindergarten through 5th grade; 6th and 7th grade studies and Hebrew studies for 3 through 7th grade. Adult education programs are held weekly. One of the new programs to be introduced this year is entitled Shabbat Time, Friday evening from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. and Saturday morning from 10:30 a.m. to noon, for children under 6. Shabbat stories, songs, play and refreshments will be part of the weekly schedule. Call the synagogue at 788-3729 to receive space.

Judaic High School classes for students entering 8th grade in September, 1998, will begin after the High Holy Days and will be held on two 10-week semesters. Demand has been great and Beth El is meeting that demand by offering text-oriented Judaic and Modern Hebrew courses along with social time and refreshments. For additional information call Beth El at 407-788-3729 or Myriam Fux at 333-4764.

Seniors' prom thrown by Catholic youth

A group of senior citizens had the chance to create new memories and revive some wonderful old ones when they attended the Balroom Blitz, a springtime "prom" organized for the 3rd consecutive year by the St. Mary Magdalen Catholic Church Senior High Youth Ministry. The students, all members of the St. Mary Magdalen parish, are invited to the dance, in the cafeteria of the parish school. As in previous years, the members of the Youth Ministry named and planned the event and decorated the hall and provide food for about 100 people who attended the free dance. The students also will make sure none of the celebrants sat out a dance by volunteering their services, when needed, as dance partners. Crowned king and queen of the prom are Frances Wroblewski (left) and Jim Knowles (right center) with Kevin Crowell, prom prince and Jessica Ortiz, prom princess (upper photo). Father Charles Miller partnered with Evelyn Leary for a spin around the dance floor (lower photo).

HEY, CHECK IT OUT... THEY HAD A TWO-FOR-ONE SHOVEL SALE AT THE HARDWARE STORE!!
 I MEAN, ISN'T ONE SHOVEL ENOUGH? WHAT'RE YOU GOING TO DO WITH AN EXTRA SHOVEL?
 UM, ISN'T THAT SORT OF ODD?
 IT'S A GIFT SHOVEL. WELL, THIS IS ONE CHRISTMAS EVE I WENT BE TOSSENG AND TURNING WITH ANTICIPATION.

Home test kits for prothrombin

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have to take Coumadin because of a heart condition. Every month or so, my doctor insists that I have a prothrombin blood test to check the level of anticoagulation. Because the test is performed at the hospital, I find it very inconvenient: long waiting times, delays in reporting, and so forth. Could I use a home test kit?

DEAR READER: Possibly. Because drugs like Coumadin that slow coagulation can be dangerous unless used properly, most physicians insist that patients who take such medicine must be periodically tested. This is the reason for the prothrombin time: If the patient is receiving too much Coumadin, the prothrombin time will be too prolonged; if not enough drug, the prothrombin time will be shortened.

Traditionally, such testing has been performed in hospital laboratories. In a few parts of the country, however, entrepreneurs have opened coagulation clinics that check prothrombin times. In early 1997, the Food and Drug Administration approved a home test kit that is accurate and should be time-saving for most patients.

The test takes less than five minutes and offers the same advantages as the home blood glucose monitoring systems.

Home testing can improve compliance and lifestyles for patients taking Coumadin. Devices are available through Boehringer Mannheim Corporation (the CoaguChek device).

Before ordering a home test kit, check with your doctor. You may not be a suitable candidate for such testing — if, for example, your vision or coordination is impaired. Moreover, many doctors are not familiar with these kits, so you should work with your physician to learn more about home testing and whether it is appropriate for your needs.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My son's uvula often swells up. His doctors think it's due to an allergy of some kind. How can he avoid this in the future?

DEAR READER: The uvula is a little, fleshy cone of flesh at the back of the throat that assists swallowing. During an allergic reaction, it can swell and interfere with breathing.

Therefore, your son's first step is to discover what substance is causing the reaction. Common culprits include certain foods and inhaled pollens or fumes. In my opinion, your son should be examined by an allergist. While the investigation is underway, your son should purchase and carry with him a prescription Epipen. This device consists of an anti-allergy drug that he should inject at the earliest sign of swelling. By using this device, he should be able to avoid a life-threatening situation.

Once the cause of his reaction is identified, he can avoid it or receive desensitization injections to overcome it.

If you would like to write to Dr. Gott send your letter to: P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156.

Blocking and unblocking

By Phillip Alder

Suppose you have a doubleton ace-king in your hand and queen-jack fourth in the dummy. You appear to have four tricks, but only if you have a dummy entry once the ace and king are out of the way.

Charles Sanders Peirce, an American philosopher and pioneer of pragmatism, wrote, "Do not block the way of inquiry." Well, at the bridge table, inquire how you will cash all of a blocked suit. On this example deal, how would you play in seven spades? West leads the heart jack.

It is difficult to bid seven spades with certainty. And if you cannot bid a grand slam with certainty, stop in six. In this auction, after the strong, artificial and forcing two clubs, North responds two no trump. This is an unappealing bid because if the contract is played in no-trump, it is surely better for the stronger hand to be the declarer. Yet at least the response tells South about North's goodies. After spade agreement and two doses of Blackwood, South might take a shot at seven.

There are 13 top tricks: six spades, two hearts, four diamonds and one club. But the diamond suit is blocked, so you can collect those four tricks only if you can get into the dummy after drawing trumps and unblocking the diamond ace-queen.

The secret, of course, is to win trick one in hand with the heart ace. Pull the opponents' spades, dispose of the diamond ace-queen, cross to dummy with a heart, and cash the diamond king-jack, discarding your two club losers.

HOROSCOPE

Our Birthday
 Saturday, June 13, 1998

In the year ahead, you're likely to set aside old interests that have neither produced a profit nor advanced your position in life. Your rewards will be garnered from the new.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A decision you've given considerable thought to could backfire today if you start making last minute changes. Adhere to your initial blueprint. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be cautious today when dealing with persons or firms you know little about. If you are naive, you may be deceived.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 31) Do not expect too much commercially today from someone you know socially. This is an individual who tries to keep his/her worlds separate.

ASTRO-GRAPE

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A bit more self-discipline might be required in your health habits today. Practice moderation when eating and drinking: excess is the enemy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Today your luck may only go so far. Rejection is a possibility if you press things too hard or fast; play important matters close to the vest.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) To take the vitality out of your extravagant whims, you may have to hide your checkbook. Keep your household budget intact.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Things could work out nicely for you today, provided you can find someone to execute your ideas. You may not be able to do too much about them yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you've been lucky enough to accumulate a small surplus, save it for a rainy day instead of wasting it on something frivolous.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Try to schedule your day so you can take care of more important needs later in the afternoon. You're likely to have a slow start and a strong finish today.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Associates are prepared to treat you cooperatively today, provided you don't make it a one-way street. Their assistance will cease if you're unresponsive.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Select companions today who are on your philosophical wavelength. Arrangements with those who don't share your rapport might not work out.

TAUROS (April 20-May 20) If you are hoping to expand a present area of opportunity today, it will be necessary for you to make a more conscientious effort than you're now doing.
