The Habitat for Humanity in Seminole County is looking for low income families with a desire to own a home.

These families must be residents of Seminole County.

The agency is having an orientation on March 8 at 7 p.m. The orientation will be held at The Salvation Army, 700 W. 24 St., Sanford.

For more information please contact Sharon Shoemaker, Director of Family Services, at (407) 328-9717.

Music will be in the air Thursday when the national award winning Seminole High School choral groups will showcase their spring competition pieces. The show begins at 7 p.m. at the Fine Arts Auditorium at Seminole Community College. Admission is free.

The Palmetto Abatement Board will meet today at the Sanford City Commission Conference Room, 300 N. Park Ave., Sanford, starting at 9:30 p.m. New member Linda Sue Walther will be introduced.

Casselberry retiree Dean Oakley made his second recent Flamingo Fortune appearance last week and his third in the past year. He won $50,000 last weekend. On Feb. 20, he won a $4,000 consolation prize. Oakley, who last week's prize playing Florida Jackpot, a high-low card game in which the top prize starts at $25,000, but it doubles if it is uncashed the previous week. On his first turn, Oakley took a strike but rebounded on his next six turns to win the jackpot. In Oakley's first appearance, in May of 1998, Oakley also hit for $50,000.

The Greater Orlando Alzheimer's Association is sponsoring a free support group for adults caring for a family member with Alzheimer's Disease or a related disorder on Friday at 3 p.m. in the parish office of All Souls Catholic Church. Call (407) 638-0088 for details.

An Urban Farming Workshop, featuring New Ideas for the 21st Century, will take place Saturday from 2 - 4:30 p.m. at the Seminole County Extension auditorium, 250 W. County Home Rd., Sanford. The agenda includes high value cropping alternatives for small farmers and market gardeners, alternative fruit crops for Central Florida: blueberries, persimmons and grapes; ornamental fish production for small farms, and using organic soil amendments in vegetable production. There will also be a tour of greenhouses, organic and hydroponic demonstration areas and free publications. Pre-registration is $6 for individuals and group rates are available. Mac in the saddle again

By Bill Kerns

STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - In a landslide, Sanford voters brought A.A. "Mac" McClanahan back to office, and placed the Sanford public safety departments under the supervision of the city manager.

McClanahan gained 361, or 68 percent of the votes in the District 3 race over Tom Carpenter and Dean Ray. Carpenter had 89 (17 percent) of the votes, and Ray had 79 (15 percent) of the votes.

"I'm happy to be back," McClanahan, who has served 12 years on the City Commission until losing to Kerry Lyons in 1995, said. "I'm looking forward to serving Sanford issue by issue."

The city-wide referendum to place the police and fire departments under the city manager's supervision was approved by a wide margin of 767 (83 percent) to 165 (17 percent).

Just 952, or 18 percent, of the city's registered voters cast ballots Tuesday. In District 3, the only district where voters could cast ballots in the commission race, 8 percent of the registered voters turned out. Only 899 voters turned out in District 3 to vote for the commission race.

"I was disappointed in the turnout," McClanahan said. "But, I wasn't surprised."

The public safety departments had been managed by the city commission. City officials and an independent consulting firm said placing the police department under the city manager's supervision was a key step to reforming that department.

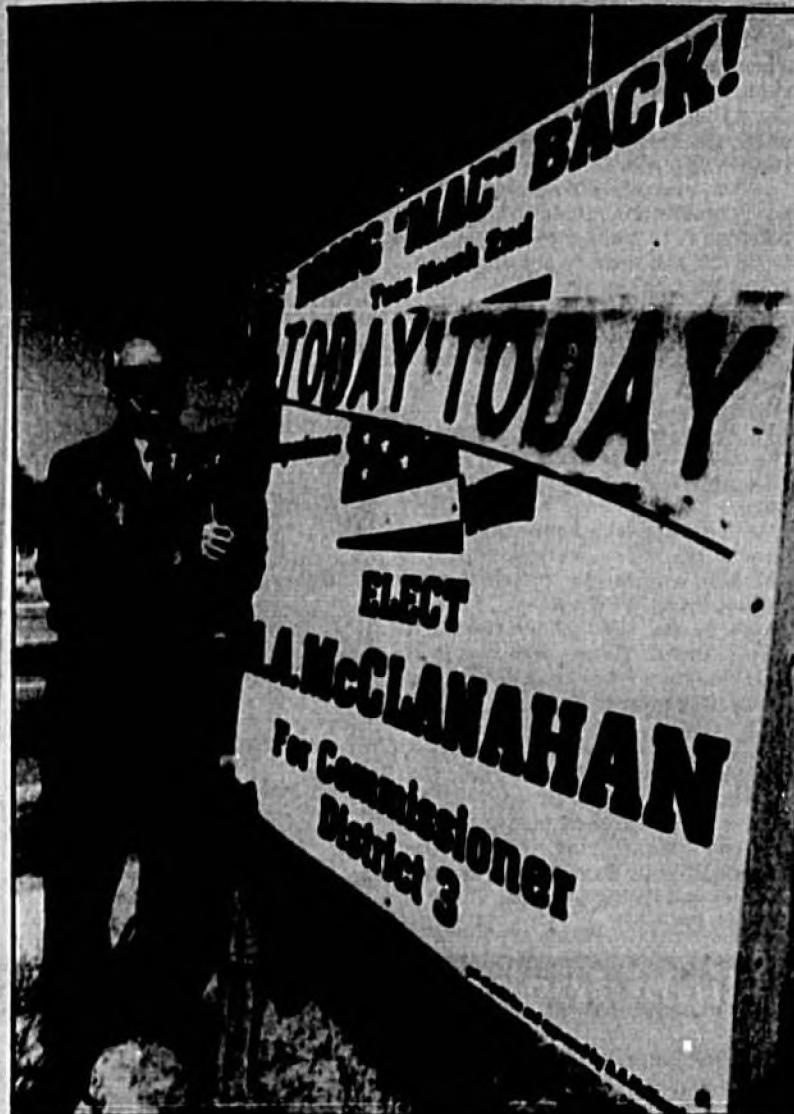

The city manager supervises every other department in the city. All cities in Seminole County place supervision of the public safety departments under the city manager.

McClanahan previously served on the commission from 1972-1979 and 1987-1995.

"It's kind of like I took a four year vacation," McClanahan said. "This feels just like old times. I wanted to serve into 2000. Then, I will have served in four different decades."

McClanahan said he is looking forward to working with the commissioners and Mayor Larry Dale.

"I think we'll do fine," McClanahan said of his relationship with Dale. "We both have the best interests of the city at heart, even though we have different ways of arriving there. I had quite the conversation with him last night at my little election party (at The Tin Line

"It's been an interesting ca-

Longwood to sponsor teen dance

By Bill Kerns

STAFF WRITER

LONGWOOD - The Longwood City Commission approved a law enforcement block grant that enables the city to continue to sponsor a controversial weekly teen dance program.

The Longwood Police Department has been awarded a Local Law Enforcement Block grant of $13,925 from the U.S. Department of Justice. The grant will be used for overtime and equipment repairs for the teen dance.

The teen dances are held Friday nights at The Teen Center at 311 Dane Lane in Longwood, officials said.

Commissioner Paul Lovestrand, who in past commission meetings has spoken against the appearance of law enforcement officers having any role in raising funds for the teen dance, approved the use of grant fund money for the dance.

Terry Baker, director of public safety, has said law enforcement officers do not ask for donations for teen dances. But, volunteers do ask for donations while carrying the Police Department's endorsement of the dances.

Bob Loman, a Longwood resident, told the commission that School board member Sandy Robinson reads to children at Ivywild Elementary School.

It was a storybook day across America

By Russ White

STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Seminole County School board member Sandy Robinson, a tad taller than the good doctor's top hat, read a Dr. Seuss story to a second grade class at Ivywild Elementary School on Tuesday.

She was one of hundreds of educators and celebrities who participated in a Read Across America program in observance of Dr. Seuss's 95th birthday.

Theodor Seuss Geisel, who died in 1991, wrote and illustrated a number of children's classics that parents have been reading to their children for many years.

"I'm familiar with almost all his stories," Robinson said. "I read them to our three children. I kept them and will read them to our grandchildren someday. I was pleased to participate in the Dr. Seuss birthday observance."

Sanford Acting Police Chief Ray Bronson was another of the Dr. Seuss readers as was Seminole Education Association President Gay Parker, Ivywild Principal David Scott and assistant principal Joyce Wagner also read. Each class at the school had someone other than the regular teacher reading stories.

Shaquille O'Neal, Danny Glover and James Earl Jones recorded public service announcements urging all America to read. Sheq's mother read "Green Eggs and Ham" to children at a school in Orlando. She said Sheq loved the story almost as much as he did shooting free throws. His favorite was "The Cat in the Hat."

In Jackson, Tenn., school principal Earl Wiman ate worms to reward students for reading 10,000 books and in Buhl, Idaho, principal Helen Brown swam in a tub of jelly.

"We want all children to learn how important it is to read," Robinson said. "The whole idea with this observance is to have caring adults read to the children. It was as much fun for us as for the children."

"Amid the movement, there are some serious messages we hope parents and children took away from the day's activities," said National Education Association president Bob Chase. "We know the more children read, especially the more they read outside of school, the better they will do in school."

City to remove hazardous trees from Touhy Park

By Bill Kerns

STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Sanford is taking steps to remove declining oak trees in Touhy Park, following the recommendations of professional arborists.

Two arborists hired as consultants concurred with the recommendation of the city's arborist and landscape architect Howard Jeffries that several oak trees are declining and a safety hazard to residents.

The City Commission approved the removal of the declining oak trees at last week's commission work session.

removal. Kittaley and Finley both said eleven of the laurel oaks need to be removed.

"Eleven of the laurel oaks are so decayed that their structural integrity is seriously compromised," Kittaley said. "Hollow and rotting bases and trunks, main crotches with major limbs rotting inside, large cavities, limb cankers, bark included crotches, and fungi are present in various combinations in all trees marked with red flagging."

Finley said that the 11 declining live oaks pose "a very high risk of catastrophic limb failure" because of severe decay in the trunks or main leaders.

"If these trees were in a cow pasture, I'm not sure I would allow my cows up under the trees."

- Bob Finley, Arborist

"We are one of the few cities our size that hires a full-time arborist," Mayor Larry Dale said. "Maybe in the past this city used to neglect trees, but not anymore. We work hard to make sure the trees in the city are in good shape."

Some citizens have complained about removing the trees, according to city officials.

There are 23 trees currently at Touhy Park. Two of the trees are sycamore palms, 13 are laurel oaks, and eight are live oaks.

Andrew Kittaley, an Urban Forester for Orlando, and Bob Finley, a former arborist for Casselberry, inspected the trees and recommended their

"If these trees were in a cow pasture, I'm not sure I would allow my cows up under the trees," Finley said. "Since this is a public park where a man would bring his wife and children, it is my professional opinion that the area around each tree be immediately roped off with caution tape."

The live oaks are all in good shape, Kittaley and Finley said. With pruning to remove stubs and deadwood, Kittaley said the live oaks "should be fine for years to come."

The removal of the 11 hazardous trees "will make more planting area available for the Historic Tree Grove," Kittaley said.

YIK no bother to Leif Eriksson

So, what's the worst that can happen to mankind when computers turn over their internal dates to the year 2000? Heard of any wacky Y2K fears?

It was very simple in 1000. The worst thing that happened to that society before Hefner and Hillfager was that a couple of moat bridges didn't open.

There were no trains, planes or express lanes. No launch, mouse or shoulder pads. No hip-hop, be-bop or do-wop. No Broadway, Beanie or test tube babies.

No one logged on or off. There were lookouts but no lockouts; crusading but no air raiding.

No one orbited, no one even dunked.

Leif Eriksson was man of the year in 1000. He helped the Vikings go all the way (to North America.) YIK was no grief for Leif.

The Chinese began fooling around with rockets early in October 1000. This interrupted a checkers tournament and repairs on the Great Wall.

Ethelred II ruled England at the start of the first millennium. He had a hissy fit whenever he was called, "The Unready."

William, the Conqueror, ruled 66 years later, and was always ready.

Macbeth, a pup in 1000, seized Scotland in 1040. Lot of good it did him, he was slain by the former ruler's son 17 years later.

Louis V, known as The Sluggard, died in 986. He left no heirs and was succeeded as King of France by Hugh Capet. Capet's son, Robert I, was king for the three decades of the 1000's.

Sadly, The Sluggard and his immediate successors never caught a glimpse of the Eiffel Tower or the Louvre. Marie Antoinette wouldn't lose her head until 793 years later and Brigitte Bardot start turning heads for another 200 years.

The New Year's Eve parties on Dec. 31, 999 were outrageously straight. Dick Clark wasn't born. Either was Guy Lombardo or any of the Canadians. There was no clock at Times Square. Manhattan belonged to its original owners.

Y2K could make a mess of the 1999 New Year's Eve celebrations. Those traveling abroad have been told to take caution. Will the lights go on on Broadway? What'll happen at Sanford's Barn? Get arrested on a DUI and you could be in jail for years.

Alan Greenspan and the financial wizards are saying not to pull our savings from the banks. Well, telling those who have any money.

The Red Cross has a list of suggestions for those who have Y2k fears.

One suggestion is to fill your automobile gas tank a day or so before 12/31/99. Another is to have some cash on hand in case computer-controlled electronic transactions involving ATM cards or credit cards cannot be processed.

The Red Cross warns to have plenty of flashlights and extra batteries on hand. Candles should not be used for emergency lighting and don't even think about using charcoal grills indoors.

Preparing for 2000 is not only important to surviving Y2K but will be helpful 1000 years from now when the world must deal with Y3K.

Was MacArthur a Tarzan co-star?

By Dick and Chicki Kleiner

ASK DICK KLEINER

DICK & CHICKI KLEINER

Q. Please settle a bet for me. I say James MacArthur played Boy as a teen alongside Johnny Weismuller's Tarzan. We also have a bet on his age. Is Helen Hayes still alive? I hope I haven't asked too much at once. — D.S., Newark, Ark.

A. You lose, big time. Johnny Sheffield was the only young actor to play Boy. MacArthur is now 61 years old. Ms. Hayes died in 1993.

Q. I need to explain something to you. My husband and I lived in Ohio and in Pennsylvania for many years. On Saturdays, on The Family Channel, we could get "The Rifleman" with Chuck Connors, as well as "Gunsmoke," "Bonanza" and "The Big Valley." We enjoyed them very much and when I moved here I could still get them on Saturdays. Then, all at once, they have something else on. I am very unhappy about that. Is there anything you can do to get them back on? — M.M., Barnesville, Ga.

A. You overestimate our power. We can't regulate programming. Your only recourse is to contact your local stations, and ask them to put those programs back on the air.

Q. What's up with that handsome actor, Edward Woodward, who played "The Equalizer"? How old is he? Does he still act? — R.S., Burlington, Mass.

A. Woodward, who is 68, is back in his native Britain, acting away. He is doing English movies, stage and TV work.

Q. I would like some info on a movie made in Grafton, Mass. I think it was in the 1950s. It was called "Ah, Wilderness." I lived there at the time and watched it being filmed. Please, who was in it and is there a video available? I also know it bombed. — E.W., Lowell, Mass.

A. It wasn't a big hit, but it didn't exactly bomb, either. It was a moderate success when it came out, in 1935. The stars of that screen adaptation of Eugene O'Neill's play were Wallace Beery, Lionel Barrymore, Mickey Rooney and Bonita Granville. There is a video available.

Q. I have seen Robert Loshier in a commercial advertising Minute Maid orange juice. Can you name any movies in which he appeared? — Mrs. C.M., Scranton, Pa.

A. We assume you are referring to Robert Loggia. He's been a very busy character actor for many years and has appeared in dozens of films.

Edward Woodward Robert Loggia Among them are "An Officer and a Gentleman," "Big" and "Independence Day."

Q. Is there any relationship between Charlie Chase of "Crook and Chase" on TNN and Charlie Chase, the comedian and character actor in movies some 50 or 60 years ago? They have similar mannerisms and facial characteristics. What about a relationship between Forrest Tucker and Phil Harris? — J.M.P., Hot Springs, Ark.

A. No. No.

Edward Woodward Robert Loggia

POLICE LOG

The following reports were compiled from the Seminole County Sheriff's Office for incidents recorded through March 2:

Battery:

SANFORD, 24th Street, 100 block, March 1, 1:03 a.m. A 30-year-old man was arrested for battery by Seminole County sheriff's deputies after he allegedly grabbed one of his friends around the neck during an argument and held him that way to the ground until he began to lose consciousness. The defendant's roommate told police he had to be hit in the head several times with a wrench before he would stop strangling the other man.

Disorderly intoxication:

FERN PARK, U.S. Highway 17-92, 7300 block, March 1, 12:33 a.m. A 51-year-old man was arrested for disorderly intoxication after Seminole County sheriff's deputies said he refused to stop knocking on all the doors in a hotel and screaming obscenities at those who answered the door. Deputies said the man was noticeably drunk and they asked him to return to his room, but as soon as they pulled out of the parking lot, they received a call that he started knocking on doors, so they returned to arrest him.

DUI:

OVEDO, Station Street at Broadway, March 1, 2:57 a.m. A 32-year-old woman was stopped for a traffic violation and the Ovedo Police officers noted she was intoxicated. During the arrest they found some marijuana and a pipe with burnt residue in the car. She was also charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and with possession of drug paraphernalia.

SANFORD, State Road 46 at Rand Yard, March 1, 2:33 a.m. A 29-year-old man was stopped for a traffic violation and they noticed a strong odor of alcohol on him. When they tried to get him to perform a roadside sobriety test, he kept falling to the ground and announced that he would stand up if he could, but that he couldn't because he was drunk.

Domestic violence:

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS, Woodside Court, 300 block, Feb. 28, 11:13 p.m. A 34-year-old man was arrested for domestic violence by Altamonte Springs Police after he punched his wife in the face and threw a cup full of hot tea at her.

GENEVA, Second Street, 300 block, March 1, 4:25 a.m. A 28-year-old man was arrested for domestic violence after he and his girlfriend got into a fight about how to care for her pet rodents. He struck her on the nose with his hand during an argument.

Drugs:

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS, Anchor Road at Live Oak, Feb. 28, 9:55 p.m. A 43-year-old woman was arrested for possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana. Altamonte Springs Police said they stopped her for a traffic violation and that she was acting suspiciously. They asked if they could search the car and found a baggie containing marijuana in the car.

SANFORD, Laurel, 100 block, March 1, 9:04 a.m. A 45-year-old woman was arrested for possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and with possession of drug paraphernalia. Sanford Police said they responded to reports of a domestic dispute and they were invited into the home. Inside they found a small marijuana plant growing in the kitchen. The woman told police she was not aware it was illegal to grow such a plant inside one's house. They also found some rolling papers that she said were hers.

"My day went downhill the second the Dr. Seuss celebration ended," said Robinson, who went from the school to a School Board budget meeting. "I prefer Dr. Seuss," she said.

Laser lights a problem, deputies say

By Bill Kerns

STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - The Seminole County Sheriff's Office is launching a campaign against laser lights and spotlights being pointed at aircraft.

The Sheriff's Office is arresting people who point laser lights or spotlights at aircraft within the airspace of Seminole County. The charges can include culpable negligence, aggravated assault, and resisting/obstructing an officer. Additional charges may also be filed, the Sheriff's Office said.

"We're responding to a problem we've had primarily with our law enforcement helicopters," Captain Bill Armstrong of the Tactical Air Operation Unit said. "High intensity lasers such as the spotlights on a gun have on a couple of occasions skewed our night vision. This is a problem with other aircraft, as well."

High powered spotlights or laser lights pointed at aircraft is a significant threat against the safety of the pilots.

the Teen Center is inadequate for events such as teen dances. He said the City should choose the location of a new Cultural Center with care.

"I would like to see us take a harder look at where we locate the next one," Lomax said.

A public hearing on the proposed use of the funds will be held at the next City Commission session before final approval can be given by the commission.

An advisory board that reviewed the proposed use of the grant funds recommended that the money be used for payment of overtime to law enforcement and other city personnel to chaperone a weekly teen dance, or to repair or replace equipment needed to operate the dance.

The advisory board also recommended that the money be used to repair or replace equipment needed by law enforcement. If any remaining funds from the grant are available,

Bowl of soup hits the spot on cool days

There's nothing more satisfying than soup, especially in cold weather. Now I know that some of you out there (and I am trying hard not to be jealous of you) said goodbye to winter weeks ago, or never even had to make it's acquaintance in the first place. But there are plenty of us who are still suffering the Big Chill, and one of the small comforts we have is a nice, hot bowl of soup.

I used to think of soup as a time-consuming project, starting with the stock pot and the chicken (or beef, or veal, or vegetables). Ever since I had kids, though, my life has gotten too complicated for homemade stock, and I consider canned broth — beef, chicken or vegetable — a godsend. Ditto canned beans. In fact, the very existence of canned broth (and beans) makes it almost impossible to cook up a good excuse for NOT making soup.

The recipes below all show that making soup can be a breeze. The Roast Tomato and Vegetable Soup comes from Heather Allard, a student at the New England Culinary Institute in Montpelier, Vt. The other recipes come from a lovely new book, "Saved by Soup," by Judith Barrett. Her recipes have the added benefit of being low in fat. They can all be made in under an hour, and all can be served as a first or main course.

One more thing: I'm sure these soups would all taste even better if made with homemade stock. So make it, if you want to. But those of you with no time on your hands can still have soup on the table.

ROAST TOMATO AND VEGETABLE SOUP

- 8 medium tomatoes
- 2 large onions, peeled and medium sliced
- 3 celery stalks, trimmed and medium sliced
- 3 garlic cloves, peeled and sliced 1 to 2 tablespoons oil
- Thyme, oregano, salt and pepper to taste
- 2 cups vegetable or chicken broth, canned or homemade
- 2 cups shredded cheddar, regular or reduced-fat
- 1/4 cup cream or half-and-half (optional)

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Prepare a bowl of ice water. Bring a medium-size pot of water to a boil. Plunge the tomatoes in the boiling water, working with a few at a time, and remove them from the water with a slotted spoon after 30 seconds. Then plunge them into the ice water. Remove, drain and remove the skins. Transfer the tomatoes to a cutting board and dice roughly, discarding the tough nub of the stem.

FOOD

Put the diced tomatoes, onions, celery and garlic into a bowl, and drizzle with just enough oil to coat very lightly. Sprinkle them with oregano, salt and pepper to taste.

Spread vegetables evenly on a very lightly oiled baking sheet and roast for 30 to 40 minutes, or until the vegetables begin to uniformly brown.

Put the caramelized vegetables into the bowl of a food processor or blender and pulse until chunky. Remove about 1/4 of the mixture and set aside in a saucepan, with the broth. Continue to pulse the rest until quite smooth. Add the smooth mixture to the chunky mixture and heat through. Taste to correct seasonings, adding more oregano, thyme and pepper if desired. (Wait to adjust salt until after the cheese is added.) When hot, stir in the cheddar until it is melted. As the cheddar melts, add the cream, if using. Taste to correct salt, if necessary. Serve immediately. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

SOUP OF CHICKPEAS, PASTA AND ROSEMARY

- 1 teaspoon olive oil
- 1 medium onion, peeled and finely chopped
- 1 clove garlic, peeled and pressed or finely minced
- 2 cups cooked or canned (drained and rinsed) chickpeas
- 1 tablespoon fresh rosemary leaves,

For those of us suffering the Big Chill, comfort can be found in a nice, hot bowl of soup. Pictured here: Roast Tomato and Vegetable Soup, garnished with a chunk of cheddar bread.

- coarsely chopped
- 4 cups defatted chicken or vegetable broth, canned or homemade
- pinch red-pepper flakes
- 1/2 cup short, tube-shaped pasta, such as ditalini or tubetti
- salt to taste

Heat the oil in a heavy 4-quart saucepan over medium-high heat. Add the onion and garlic, and cook, stirring, until the onion begins to soften, 2 to 3 minutes; be careful not to burn the garlic. Add the chickpeas, rosemary, broth and pepper flakes and bring to a boil. Cover, reduce heat to medium, and simmer for 10 minutes longer. Season with salt to taste. Yield: 6 servings.

WINTER SQUASH SOUP WITH THYME

- 2 teaspoons olive oil
- 1 medium-size onion peeled and finely chopped
- 2 medium-size carrots, finely chopped
- 1 rib celery, trimmed and chopped
- 1 medium-size leek, white part only, cut in half lengthwise, rinsed well

- between layers, and thinly sliced
- 1 pound Hubbard squash, peeled, seeded and cut into 1-inch cubes
- 2 sprigs fresh thyme or 1/4 teaspoon dried thyme
- 4 cups defatted chicken or vegetable broth, canned or homemade
- salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste
- 1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley leaves

Heat the oil in a heavy 4-quart saucepan over medium-high heat. Add the onion, carrots, celery and leek, and cook, stirring, until they begin to soften, 2 to 3 minutes. Add the squash, thyme and broth, and season with salt to taste. Increase the heat to high and bring to a boil. Reduce heat to medium-low, partially cover the saucepan and simmer until the squash is tender when pierced with a sharp knife, about 30 minutes.

Transfer the soup to a food processor or blender (or use an immersion blender), and process until smooth. Return the soup to the saucepan and season with pepper to taste. Reheat before serving. Garnish each serving with some chopped parsley. Yield: 6 servings.

Carrying identification is important

DEAR ABBY: I have never seen a letter in your column stressing the importance of always carrying identification, either in a pocket or attached to your clothing.

My neighbor spent last summer with her sister who lived several hundred miles away. During the visit, she suffered a massive stroke while shopping alone in a mall. Her purse was stolen and no one knew who she was. When she didn't return at the expected time, her sister became frightened and called the police, but the visiting sister couldn't be located.

Abby, a few nights later, her by-then frantic sister saw a news report about an unidentified woman who had a stroke in a mall and died two days later. She followed up on the story and discovered the unidentified woman was her sister!

Since then, I have been suggesting to friends and family that they carry identification on them at all times — and although many promise to do so, they don't get around to it. Perhaps if they see this in your column, they'll realize how important the message is and do something about it.

ALICE JOHNS,
NORTH PALM BEACH, FLA.

DEAR ALICE: I relayed that message to readers several years ago, but it bears repeating. It's also a good idea to carry essential medical information with the I.D. Should there be an accident or sudden illness that prevents communicating health problems, emergency personnel will know about allergies, possible drug interactions or pre-existing conditions.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to "Wandering Dad's" letter. I was widowed at 23 years of age with a 3-year-old daughter. A year and a half later, I'm still single.

I, too, worry that not having a "man of the house" will have repercussions later. People tell me that I should have a father for my daughter or she may not grow up right. Abby, my child is intelligent, outgoing and well-adjusted. Yes, there are some things that a father could teach her that I cannot, so I have enlisted my brother to spend time with her. Until I find someone who is perfect for the two of us, I will not rush into a marriage just to have a father for her.

I applaud you for the perfect answer you gave "Wandering Dad." Please let him know that as long as he gives his time and love, and teaches his son to respect and appreciate people, he will grow up to be a well-adjusted young man.

THE WOMAN OF THE HOUSE IN SHERMAN OAKS, CALIF.

DEAR WOMAN OF THE HOUSE: Selecting a spouse is not a decision that should be made in haste, because one can does not fit all. I'm certain that "Wandering Dad" will find your letter reassuring. Thank you for the input.

Da' Bomb!

Da' Bomb hears all...

Da Bomb says congrats to Spring Lake Elementary for its 30th anniversary this year. The campus is still as clean as it was back in 1969 when it opened.

The kids at Longwood Elementary are putting on a dinner theater this weekend featuring the musical Dinosaur Valley. Lots of schools put on plays, but this is the first dinner theater Da Bomb can remember.

Da Bomb wants to start hearing from some private schools and what's going on. Give us a call at 322-2611 so we can come on out.

Spring Lake kids turn 100 years old

The kids at Spring Lake Elementary School in Altamonte Springs were asked to write their autobiography if they looked back on their lives on their 100th birthday. Here's just a few samples:

By Kristen Merck
SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

I can't believe it's my 100th birthday already. The years have gone by so fast. My life has been a big roller coaster. A few ups and downs, but I keep going forward full blast.

Well, I guess my life really kicked in when I graduated from Florida State University. That weekend I decided to tell my parents what I wanted to do for a living. So I told them to meet me at a nearby restaurant for dinner. Later that night I told them what I wanted to be when I grew up. The President of the United States. They were very excited at my decision.

Fourteen years later, I decided to carry out my dream and accomplish it. It was almost election and I was ready to do whatever it takes to be the first woman president ever. First, I had to get nominated by the Republican Party of Florida. Since I had worked with their elections committee and been a big donor for so many years they were eager to vote for me. My resume was perfect: a Master's in Public Relations, Florida Law graduate, and had started my own law firm, winning the largest class action suit ever against the oil cartel and the automobile industry because they were secretly adding ingredients that would not only give you bad gas mileage but heat up your engine. I was a hero to the American people; no, the whole world.

I had my own money to run my own campaign so I didn't have to ask for donations. It was the biggest difference in votes there had ever been. In my eight years as president, I was able to house the poor, provide for the hungry children and save the environment.

I also made sure the rest of the countries quit fighting and live peacefully together as one nation.

I met someone while president, married him and we had two children: a boy named Taylor and a girl named Molly. They became the first president and vice-president that were related. Molly was a great president.

Spring Lake 5th-grader Kristen Merck wants to be President of the United States.

Having designs on the future

By Ashton Clover
SPECIAL TO THE HERALD

I had lived 100 years. My life has been full of surprises and sadness. During this time I will share with you some of my goals and dreams.

My name is Ashton Clover. I was born in Florida on Dec. 6, 1987. Over my first 10 years, I went to gymnastics class every Friday, church choir every Thursday, and many more activities outside of my school. In school, I was vice-president for Student Council, singing member, dance team, patrol, and newscast member. I finished college at 23, one of my dreams was to become a fashion designer. I got my license from college and moved to New York. There I designed wedding gowns and at the age of 25, I designed my own wedding gown. When I was 43, I visited my best friend, Lucia, in Puerto Rico. Then I moved again. I moved to Puerto Rico. At 74 I quit my fashion career. From that point on, I have reached and achieved more of my goals and dreams.

One of the best restaurants in the area is just a short drive away

If you could get some of the freshest, tasty Chinese food in the area, wouldn't you be willing to drive a little way to get it? Then take a trip to Casselberry and see for yourself why Ruby Chinese Restaurant is the talk of the town.

With one of the largest selections of made to order, authentic Chinese dishes, Ruby's has become the only place for oriental cuisine in the area.

Lunch is served daily (Ruby's only opens for dinner at 3:30 p.m. on Sunday) from 11:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. You'll save the money you spent in gas when you order lunch. Not one of the menu items is priced over $5.25. Not a bad price at all for a freshly made, heaping plate of delicious Chinese food. For just a little more, any lunch entree can be made into a combination platter with soup and egg roll.

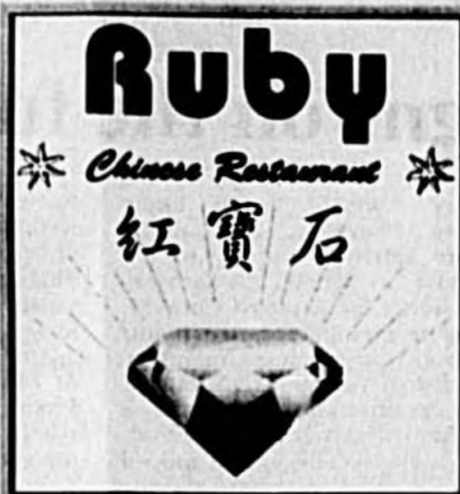

As if the lunch menu isn't enough to make anyone's mouth water, the dinner menu is four pages of every Chinese dish imaginable. From soup and appetizers to house specialties and chef's specials, there isn't anything a Chinese food lover won't find at Ruby's.

That includes an entire menu of Dim sum, which is very hard to find in Seminole County. Items like steamed rice noodles with any ingredient, various Fun items and deep fried dumplings are available every day.

Whether you desire any type of chicken, pork, beef, seafood, duck and vegetarian dish imaginable or specialties like Royal Emeralds (lobster in Hunan sauce and filet mignon with fresh vegetables), it's cooked fresh to order.

What really sets Ruby's Chinese Restaurant apart is the careful preparation of every dish. You won't find any frozen vegetables served in this restaurant, as every dish is prepared with only fresh selections. In addition, the soups, appetizers and side dishes are made on the premises to compliment the daily deliveries of fresh seafood and meats.

With this best kept secret only a few miles away in Casselberry, there's no reason why you shouldn't head out to Ruby's Chinese Restaurant and experience some of the best Chinese food in the county. It's worth the drive.

HOROSCOPES

Important changes in the year ahead could be in the offing for you where your finances are concerned. You could get many new opportunities to yield a larger paycheck. However, don't forget to put some away for a rainy day.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't let a grumpy person put you in a bad mood and sour you on the rest of the world today. Most people are of a different bent, so apply this concept in regards to all who cross your path.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you appear indifferent today to those who are trying to help you socially, you could lose their support completely. Don't let pride or ego stand in your way of accepting a favor.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) Conduct yourself in harmony with your audience at all times today. Attempting to set yourself apart with one-upmanship tactics might alienate them from you.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Being too laid-back or following the path of least resistance today could yield you a big fat zero, especially in communicative realms. Sell your audience!
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Allowing someone unqualified to manipulate or influence you on how to handle a financial matter could cost you money. Follow your own hunches and make your own decisions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Although you may think you're merely trying to establish harmony between a couple of pals, voicing excuses for the undeserving person could cause problems for you. Stay out of the squabble.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Most of the time you are both productive and imaginative, making you a very prolific individual. Under certain conditions today, however, these attributes may desert you.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Put up your guard if someone who rarely takes notice of you suddenly competes for your attention today. This individual may have unavowed intentions to manipulate you in some manner.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Just relax and be yourself today instead of trying to copy someone else's modus operandi. It just too hard to walk gracefully in the shoes of another.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) It's always good to be thoughtful in your dealing with others, but don't carry that to the extreme today where you put yourself in a subordinated position and scamp your own interests.

WIN AT BRIDGE

It's the party that counts

By Phillip Alder

When attitude in a suit is either known or irrelevant, you may wish to tell partner how many cards you have in a suit. If you play your lowest card, you have an odd number in the suit. If you play an unnecessarily high spade (starting a high-low, or an echo), you are showing an even number.

In this deal, how should the play go in three no-trump? South's rebid of two no-trump shows more points than a one-no-trump opening, but not enough for a two-no-trump opening. This means either 10-10 (or a poor 20, if there is such a thing!), or 10-20, depending on your range for a one-no-trump opening: 15-17 or 18-18, respectively. This rebid is effectively forcing. Unless the responder miscounted his points when making his first bid, he must keep the auction going.

West led the spade king. Immediately, South saw that he probably needed a misdefense. So, after winning the second spade trick, he led a diamond; he did not tell the opponents about his five club tricks.

However, East-West knew their business. East played the diamond two to show his odd number. So, West won the second round (when declarer played his last card in the suit), cashed his two spade tricks, and exited with a club. They scored a heart trick at the end.

Note that if West ducks the second diamond trick on a "just in case" basis, declarer runs for the exit with nine tricks via one spade, one heart, two diamonds and five clubs.

When dummy has a semi-solid suit, give partner count.

ASK DR. GOTT

Cataract surgery can improve balance

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am very weak and unstable when I stand, and I require a walker to get around. I had a stroke four years ago but none since. My ophthalmologist wants to perform cataract surgery. Will this make me steadier on my feet?

DEAR READER: Absolutely. Successful cataract extraction appears to produce enormous improvement in older patients' abilities to get around, stay steady on their feet and maintain independence. Go ahead with the surgery and let me know how it affects your balance.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What is the difference between bacterial pneumonia and viral pneumonia?

DEAR READER: Bacterial pneumonia is caused by bacteria and is treatable with antibiotics; viral pneumonia isn't, because viruses are resistant to antibiotics.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 61-year-old mother suffers significant memory loss. She had to retire early because of it. She has been extensively tested and appears not to suffer from small strokes, Alzheimer's disease, vitamin deficiency or hypothyroidism. She is taking propranolol for high blood pressure. Could the drug be a cause of her problem?

DEAR READER: Yes indeed. Propranolol can cause mental alterations in some older patients. I think that you could do your mother a service by asking her doctor to change the medicine to one that is not associated with memory loss. Even if such a change results in some small improvement, the quality of her life would be enhanced.

To give you related information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Consumer Tips on Medicine." Other readers who would like a copy should send $3 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O.

Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10116. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Why do women have to have Pap tests for sexually transmitted diseases whereas men don't? This doesn't seem fair.

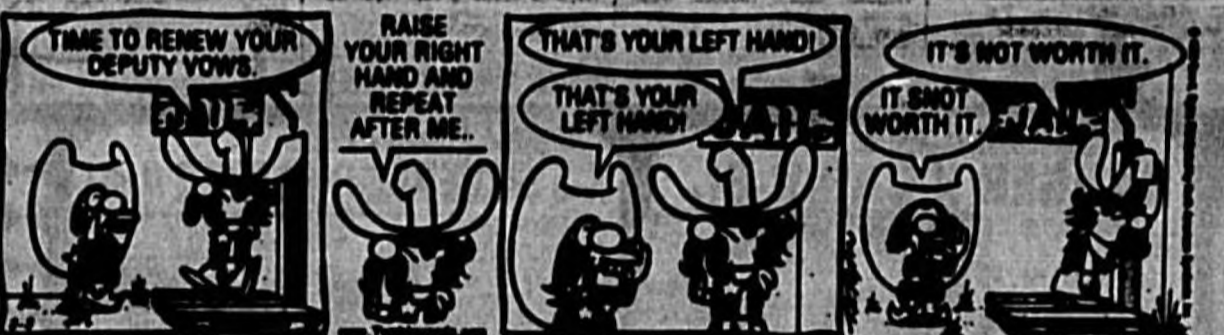

DEAR READER: Pap smears are appropriate only for women because the tests are designed to identify cancer of the cervix and uterus, two organs that are not traditionally part of the male reproductive tract. Pap tests are not used to diagnose sexually transmitted diseases. Special smears and blood tests — in both sexes — are used for this purpose. It's not a question of fairness, it's a gender thing. After all, women don't suffer from testicular or prostate cancer.
