UAWA Attorneys, Corporation Lawyers Meet In Long Court Arguments

Band Entertains 1,000 Spectators

Motor Heads Demand Eviction Of Sit-Downers In Plants

DETROIT, Mar. 13.—(AP)—Circuit Judge Allan Campbell today deferred until Monday morning his decision of a petition of the Chrysler Corporation for an injunction ordering sit-down strikers to evacuate the Corporation's plants.

The Court announced a postponement after several hours of argument by attorneys for the United Automobile Workers of America and a brief response by the Corporation counsel.

More than 1,000 persons remained in the corridor of the Wayne County Court building, where the hearing was held, until the judge's announcement was made.

Outside a double file picket line of Union men circled the entire building while a 12 piece band played for the marching men.

Chrysler Corporation officials remained firm in the stand that they would not negotiate wage and hour demands with workers.

WELL WERE FOR TODAY

BROTHERLY LOVE: Let brotherly love continue.—Hebrews 1:11.

Roosevelt calls his radio speeches a fireside talk because he always burns somebody up.

Isn't it funny nobody ever thought about retiring at seventy until someone wrote a book called "Life Begins at Forty"?

According to one of our comment propagandists Joseph Stalin, head of the Soviet government, receives a salary of only $3000 a year. But what are his perquisites? That's what counts.

Poor old "Doc" Townsend got thirty days in jail for telling Congressmen what he thought of them. And just look at what some Congressmen have been saying about the Supreme Court.

America's present engagement in note writing reminds us of the last time this country engaged in a rather voluminous correspondence with Germany shortly after the sinking of the Lusitania.

The only point we are trying to make here is that the constitutional amendment route is the obvious route—an almost impossible highway.—L. A. K. and Leader. What about the prohibition amendment in 1918, and the repeal amendment in 1933.

Roosevelt's second message to the people on his plan to add new blood to the supreme court forces us to retract what we said about his first message and to be otherwise disappointing to us.—Tennessee Democrat. And to many.

If it's a good thing to prevent the Supreme Court from ruling against acts of Congress, may be it would be a good thing to prevent the president from vetoing bills which have passed the House and Senate. That at least is what some of the Legion boys are thinking these days as they recall various presidential vetoes of veterans legislation.

As we get it, the Chrysler sit-down strike was called not because the U. A. W. A. seeks recognition as an agency for collective bargaining, but because it wants to be recognized as the sole collective bargaining agency for all Chrysler employees, only a comparatively small part of whom belong to that particular union.

The declaration in this fireside chat that the President would appoint justices who would not override the judgment of Congress on policy, could mean that following such appointments we might be faced with something like the Blue Eagle, price-fixing, regimentation, and potato stamp taxes.—Palm Beach Post. And we might be faced with something like the government censorship of the press, suspension of search and seizure laws, the right to vote, or the necessity of holding elections ever so often.

The idea of the three branches of our government being three docile horses going along together pulling a field is a new one for this country. We had always been taught that the three branches represented a system of checks and balances, more or less working against each other as it were, to keep any one branch from overshadowing the other branches. The three docile horses pulling together is a metaphor more appropriate for Germany where the executive, legislative and judicial branches really do pull together. And how!

The President Changes His Mind

It is Burton K. Wheeler, a liberal Democrat from Montana, speaking in the United States Senate. A Roosevelt for President" supporter B. C. (Before Chicago), he has been an ardent New Dealer up to now. But he is discussing the present Supreme Court emergency and to prove his contentions he quotes an eminent authority.

"The only way to attack the problem is by rigorous application of judicial efficiency," he quotes. "In the face of this congestion, the remedy commonly proposed is to add new judges or new courts. But I will readily be seen that if the problem is what I have stated it to be, SUCH A SO-CALLED REMEDY WOULD MERELY AGGRAVATE THE COMPLAINT. . . . It is easy to see that to apply this remedy to all cases is to add to the ravages of the disease, to contribute to the confusion, and what is profoundly important at this time, to burden still further an already seriously embarrassed taxpayer."

This wasn't some "economic realist" from whom Senate Wheeler quoted. Neither was he a Wall Street banker, a reactionary Republican, a prince of privilege, a money changer, a Tory, or some mean high priest of the horse and buggy age. This was President Franklin D. Roosevelt who said that packing the court would be no solution for existing problems. And he said it not as a carefree youth in his twenties, not as a candidate for the New York state legislature, or as governor of the Empire State, or as an aspirant for the presidency but in his book, "Looking Forward," written by him after he became President of the United States.

Advertising Pays

Harold Cole, president of the State Chamber of Commerce, is not one of those who believes in free publicity but thinks advertising is a waste of money. "Without advertising," he told a St. Petersburg meeting, "there is no good business investment for every citizen."

"We believe in recognizing the advertising good will directed toward our State by the press of the nation through a statewide program of advertising. We cannot expect to continually receive free publicity unless we pay for telling accurately the story of our tremendous assets and opportunities through paid advertisements. We should expect this no more than the local merchant expects the St. Petersburg papers to publicize his business."

Probably no state in the union has benefited more from free publicity during the past few years than Florida. Every newspaper in the country has sung the praises of this State for three years or more, telling not only of its healthful climate and invigorating sunshine which combine to offer a haven of refuge for the tired business man of the North, and his family, but also of the many investment opportunities which this State affords.

As a result, Florida today is enjoying the greatest tourist influx in its history. If we wish to continue to enjoy the benefits of heavy tourist travel to Florida and the publicity which is largely responsible we must, as Mr. Cole suggests, give some thought to paid advertisements in Northern newspapers which have already been generous with free space.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT uses the figure of "the three-horse team of the American system of government" which must "pull together" if the field is plowed. The implication is, of course, that the judiciary member of the team refuses to pull with the other two. To us, it seems instead, that one member of the three-horse team is conspiring with another member of the team to "reduce" the third horse to a position of complete subservience. Two of the three want to do all the planning, going whether they will and when; while the third member is merely to go along where its stronger teammates wish, whipped into complete submission.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THERE ARE 100 marriage-consultation centers and institutions in the United States besides 350 colleges which give courses on some phase of family life, of which fifteen give an hour to the technique of birth control. The Literary Digest states.

The first college premarital course was started at the University of North Carolina ten years ago and The Literary Digest reports that among the hundreds who married after taking the course there have been no divorces and only two serious sex maladjustments.

Dodd Gathers Press Clippings To Cite German Criticism

BERLIN, Mar. 13.—(AP)—United States Ambassador William E. Dodd armed himself today with front pages from both provincial and Berlin newspapers to "call attention" of the German Foreign Office to recent anti-American attacks in the German press.

Embassy spokesmen said since Washington instructions told Dodd to call attention to press criticism, "this, ordinarily, means representations which do not require a formal reply."

The ambassador also was known to have clippings from one paper showing how long before the present incident prominent Americans had been subjects of unfavorable comment because of their Jewish blood.

WOULD BAR EXTENSIONS

WASHINGTON, Mar. 13.—(AP)—Those "extension of remarks" that members do not make on the floor would be barred from the Congressional Record by Representative Hobbs of Alabama. Hobbs has introduced a bill in the house to prevent members from adding to the Record speeches they do not deliver. He would also limit distribution of the Record.

CANDLELIGHT

Put on the shillee,
An' put on de leet,
Manny's little baby
Lain' 'thouten' bread."

Here's a spoonbread recipe dedicated to those Southerners who have nostalgic memories of the delectable dish made by dairy mechanics who don't have to measure anything but just grabble around the kitchen with their hands poked out, tugging a pinch of this and a tinge of that, and making food fit for the gods.

SOUTHERN SPOON BREAD
1 cup cornmeal (waterground if possible)
1 cup water, about one and a half cups
One and one-half teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 eggs
2 cups sour milk or buttermilk

One-half teaspoon baking soda
Pour just enough boiling water over the cornmeal to make it of consistency of very thick milk. Add the salt and butter or margarine and beat until well blended. Add the eggs, slightly beaten, and the sour milk or buttermilk combined with the soda. Beat until well blended and transfer to an oiled pudding or baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes, or until a light crust has formed in the center comes out clean.

Oddly enough the spoon bread recipe doesn't come from Mrs. Dull's cook book or "Cooking in the Deep South," but from the latest volume of the New England farm food expert, author, and lecturer, J. S. Bailey Allen. His handbook will give food houses for Mrs. Allen's book if she can make their wives live up to it. His "Cooking Within Your Income," she has a lot of good ideas, and she believes that "buying in quantity means controlled food financing." She suggests a Monday, Wednesday, and Friday marketing schedule that really is a fine plan, but what to do when the bread gives out on Thursday?

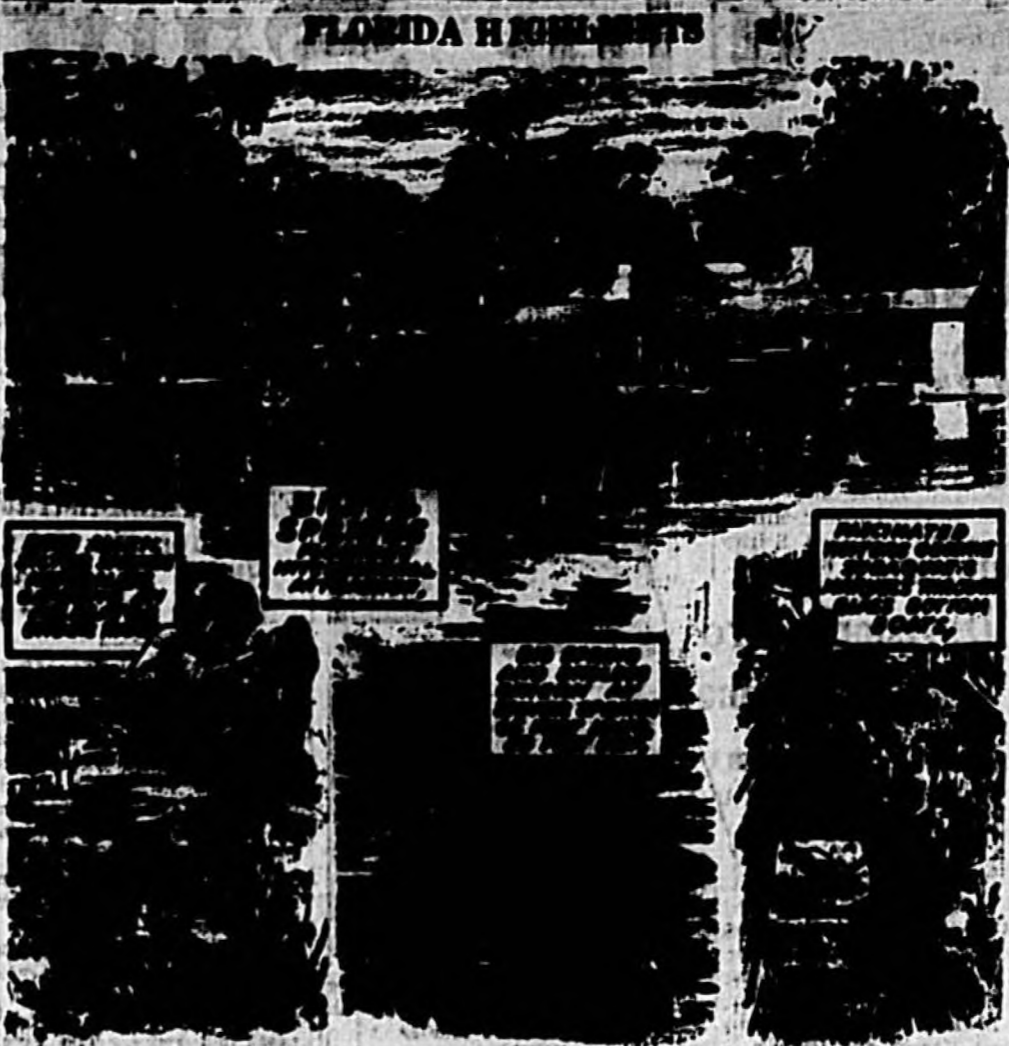

Another good suggestion is the emergency food shelf, especially designed for those Sunday afternoon visitors who come for tea and linger until supper time. All of us are familiar with the separate "here's nothing in the pantry" list that any lady who has a husband will give her husband for a gift. But that is just precisely where Mr. Roosevelt is not taking his appeal, and no more accurate description of his plan could be made than to say it is a device for obtaining his ends by avoiding an appeal to the Constitution.

A salute for Edwin Granberry of the Rollins English Department for letting us all know Margaret Mitchell isn't going to worry about not getting to interview her any more, although I must confess it has been a cherished dream of mine, because now we are such good friends that I have even watched her fit dresses. Mr. Granberry's article in Collier's and the Orlando Sentinel-Star has about it from the opening paragraph in the fitting room in a department store to the closing words about "the mysterious kindness of God" something of the exciting quality that characterizes Miss Mitchell's book. Margaret Mitchell looks out with wide blue eyes from between the lines of Mr. Granberry's story just as much alive as Scarlett and Rhett are between the pages of "Gone With The Wind."

FLORIDA WONDER INTERNATIONALLY FAMOUS!

SILVER SPRINGS, remarkable Florida phenomenon, is now a "Mecca" for tourists from all over the globe. Great crowds daily flock to this outstanding attraction to view the mighty subterranean river gushing up from cavernous depths with a maximum flow of 800,000,000 gallons of water per day to form Silver Springs Run. It is one of the few streams of the world navigable to its very source. Around its fountain-head approximately a million dollars have been expended in improvements to grounds and buildings. Modern, electrically driven, glass-bottom boats ply over the mirror-like surface of the crystal-clear water which remains at an even temperature of 72 degrees all year round. Looking through these glass-bottom boats fascinated visitors never cease to marvel at the strange underwater sights, and thousands repeat their visits many times from year to year to view the constantly changing spectacle. Other features of unusual interest here are the Florida Reptile Institute, where poisonous snakes are milked of their venom each Sunday; the Jungle Cruise, which takes visitors many miles down the picturesque river, and the quaint Seminole Indian Village, where real Indians are to be observed first-hand in their natural costumes. Because of its fame all over the world Silver Springs has justly earned the title "Florida's International Attraction."

TUESDAY'S FIRESIDE CHAT

By WALTER LIPPMANN

"We must find a way," said Mr. Roosevelt in Tuesday's fireside chat, "to avoid the crisis which would be caused by the Supreme Court's refusal to accept the new Constitution." But that is just precisely where Mr. Roosevelt is not taking his appeal, and no more accurate description of his plan could be made than to say it is a device for obtaining his ends by avoiding an appeal to the Constitution.

The Constitution provides for such an appeal. Twenty-one times such an appeal has been taken successfully. Twenty-one times the people have taken an appeal under Article V of the Constitution. For one hundred and fifty years that is the way appeals have been taken from the Constitution as interpreted by the Supreme Court. Such an appeal has been taken successfully six times since Mr. Roosevelt has been in public life. Such an appeal has twice been taken successfully since Mr. Roosevelt has been President of the United States. This is the method of amendment and there is no other lawful way of appealing from the Supreme Court to the Constitution.

his but the Supreme Court's? The argument about his inability to protect the country against another 1932 is an appeal to the unthinking. For Mr. Roosevelt's quarrel with the Supreme Court has no real relation with his power or with a wholly different thing, with the reform of deep-seated social evils that could not be cured "within a year or two" if the whole Supreme Court resigned in a body and Mr. Roosevelt appointed his office boy.

"The unanswered challenge of one-third of a nation, ill-nourished, ill-clad, ill-housed," needs to be answered, and there is no doubt whatever that Mr. Roosevelt has a mandate to answer it. But he cannot answer it in a year or two, and, therefore, by these reforms he cannot avert the crash he fears. Can he cure the poverty of the Southern tenant farmer in a year or two? Can he re-house the slum dwellers in a year or two? Can he bring the lowest wages up to an American standard in a year or two? Then why let the people believe that he can do these things at once and that if they are not done there will be another crash? If the only way to avert another 1932 within a year or two is to re-house one-third of the Nation, then Mr. Roosevelt cannot avert another 1932. For he cannot answer that challenge in a year or two though he and the powers of Mussolini and Stalin combined.

Not all, but most of those who are opposed to his plan want that challenge answered. They realize that while the Constitution as now interpreted provides all the power Mr. Roosevelt could use to avert another 1932, it does not provide sufficient power for his long-range reforms. They are asking him not to seize that power by any act of lawless legality but to obtain it lawfully by taking an appeal from the Constitution as the court interprets it to the people themselves.

That is the issue. And when Mr. Roosevelt tells them that he is devoted to the liberties which an independent judiciary protects and says, "I would not tolerate the destruction of any branch of government of freedom," they are aghast and bewildered that Mr. Roosevelt should think they could dare to entrust their heritage of freedom to the personal assurances of any man. The reason Americans hold to a constitutional system is that they mean to make the heritage of freedom depend not on the personal assurances of Mr. Roosevelt, or of anyone else, but upon the unhurried, considered will of the people insured by the checks and balances of their government. That is what Mr. Roosevelt has overlooked in this controversy and that is why he has run into such unexpected but determined opposition.

Eastis And Orlando In Semi-Finals Of Tourny Fight For State Crown

Tiger Surprise Miami Edison And Defeat Lakeland To Go On

Both of the district teams entered in the State tournament at Gainesville survived the early rounds of play, entering the semi-final round this morning with one favored to come through while the other, Orlando, an underdog to repeat as State champion, is expected to go down to defeat at the hands of the top-seeded team, Plant High of Tampa.

Eastis, seeded third but undefeated this year through its regular campaign and the two tournaments it has topped thus far, the Fifth District and the Central Conference, meets the second seeded team, of the tournament, Andrew Jackson of Jacksonville.

The team seeded fourth, Miami Edison, was a 23-20 victim of a surprise in the second round of play as the Orlando Tigers came through to meet Lakeland in the third round. The Tigers came through with a 20-21 win over the latter as Eastis, after defeating Barrow, 20-17, topped Clearwater, 20 to 27.

Leon of Tallahassee, Second District school, went out in the first round, bowing to Clearwater, 23-16, while Lakeland defeated St. Paul's of Jacksonville, 24-15.

The final contest will be played this evening at 8 o'clock on the University of Florida pavilion.

Ann Faith Will Attempt Renewal Of Winning Ways

Speedy Female Picked To Win In Feature Race At Longwood

Out of the picture in her past few performances, Ann Faith is again expected to cop the feature race at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club track in Longwood tonight when she lines up with a classy field in the tenth event over a furlong distance.

Also chosen to finish in the money is the veteran War Leader and Laddie's Gal.

Choice money dogs in the other races include Ann Charity in the first, Gloriosa in the second, Flash Play in the third, Madam Marker in the fourth, Spyrone in the fifth, Due Hallow Blue in the sixth, Skinny Barney in the seventh, Anna True in the eighth, Traffic Chance in the ninth and Dutch Friend in the eleventh.

STILL TOO HEAVY, SHANTY?

Shanty Hogan's on a diet and now eats like a canary—but it looks like he'll have to do a lot of reducing to get down to the right sort of playing weight. Coach Nick Altrock is shown measuring the big Washington catcher at the Senator's camp in Orlando, Fla., and neither seems any too pleased about the big girl. (Associated Press Photo)

Spotlights of Sport

The Charasoga Lookouts will in Joe Egan's moving his baseball school here this season and also secured us that the Charasoga team would be here for the month of training. Which amounts to what? Just this. The boys enrolled in the school, some old 1934 have spent at least $5000 here during the past week for living expenses alone. What they've spent for pleasure, drinking, and other things easily reach the usual $2000. That much more will be spent by them in the next two weeks.

The Lookouts, too, will bring money into the coffers of the citizens of Sanford. There won't be so many of the players coming in as was the case when the school opened up here but they'll be getting paid while training which means they'll have all the more to spend here.

Sure, it was a tough proposition when they walked out on you last year, if you call it walking out. But bygone are bygone, so forget about last year and look forward to the new year which is about to get under way.

Stretch out that head. You'll be healthy and L.D. the boys a heavy welcome. If you don't benefit by it otherwise you'll at least have the feeling that you've been given enough to give them another.

"You Live Only Once" To Show Here For Two Days

Henry Fonda, Sylvia Sydney Are Cast in Lead Roles of Film

The most starkly human drama the screen has ever offered comes to the Ritz Theater Wednesday when "You Live Only Once," Walter Wanger's first production for release through United Artists, begins a two-day engagement with Sylvia Sydney and Henry Fonda, the screen sweethearts of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," reunited in the starring roles.

Dynamic conflict, thrilling action and scintillating romance are combined in this story of a woman who risked her life to fight by the side of the man she loved when the whole world condemned him and hunted him like an animal in every corner of the earth.

Fritz Lang, who handled the megaphone on "Fury," "M," "Metropolis," and other unforgettable films, directed "You Live Only Once" from an original story by Gene Towne and Graham Baker.

A great supporting cast is headed by Barton MacLane, who incidentally has his first sympathetic role.

"To Mary—With Love" Returns Here Friday

Today's most talked-about love story brings Warner Baxter and Myrna Loy back into each other's arms in "To Mary—With Love," Twentieth Century-Fox picture at the Ritz Theater next Friday in a return showing.

Brilliantly, the sweethearts of "Penthouse" and "Broadway Bill" bring to the screen the great modern story of two lovers who find, in tears and heartbreak, the true depth of their emotion and affection.

Directed by John Cromwell from Richard Sherman's best-selling novel of the same title, "To Mary—With Love" also features Ian Hunter, Claire Trevor and Jean Dixon.

The department of agriculture says the income of farmers from marketing increased 18 per cent in December, 1936, over December, 1935, reaching a mark of $725,669,604.

SOLVE MYSTERIES

Glenda Farrell and Barton MacLane solve mysteries of murder and of love in "Smart Blonde," first of a Warner Bros. series about the adventures of "Torchy Blane," Tuesday at the Ritz Theater.

Murder Mystery Here At Ritz On Saturday

Blending a dramatic murder mystery with a continuously hilarious comedy plot in unique fashion, "We're on the Jury," a highly entertaining picture, comes to the Ritz Theater next Saturday.

The mystery forms the background, and the comedy rolls over it in waves of laughter as the story progresses to its surprise finish. The basis is a simple one; a prominent citizen is found dead in his home, and his wife is put on trial for the killing. But a chatty society woman of the town is selected to serve on the jury, and finding herself at variance with her fellow talesemen as to the lady's guilt, she sets about swaying the rest of the jury to her views, and also proceeds to solve the mystery by herself.

In the course of her efforts, plenty of unexpected crises occur, and under the deft treatment of Director Ben Holmes, the outcome remains in doubt until the fast-moving finale. Helen Broderick, long acclaimed Broadway's foremost comedienne, plays the resourceful jury-woman, with Victor Moore sharing top honors with her as a well-meaning real estate salesman who is also drafted as one of the talesemen.

SHOWS HERE SUNDAY AND MONDAY

An artist's depiction of film-land's sensational "Lloyds of London," which features Tyrone Power, who appeared here recently in "Love Is News," and the beautiful Madeline Carroll, who finds unforgettable romance in the screen achievement which shows tomorrow and Monday at the Ritz Theater.

Bob Steele Heads Cast of Coming Western

One of the fastest of all Bob Steele western pictures, excitingly filled with action and thrills; a well-balanced, hard riding, straight-shooting feature, is "Cavalry," a Republic release starring Bob Steele, which opens at Ritz Theater next Saturday.

Steele portrays a captain of the union forces who brings to justice the ringleaders of a band of men, trying to establish Saxe-ville as an independent country.

Romantic Comedy Is Booked Warren Williams Stars In "Outcast" Here Next Friday

James Melton, Pat Ellis Head Cast Of Colorful Adventure

Litigating music, rollicking laughter and glowing romance combine to make "Sing Me a Love Song," a Cosmopolitan production released through First National, which is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Ritz Theater on Wednesday and Thursday one of the most entertaining musical comedies of the year.

There is an all star cast headed by James Melton, the radio singer, Patricia Ellis, Hugh Herbert, ZaSu Pitts, Allen Jenkins and Nat Pendleton.

The story by Harry Sauber deals with the colorful adventures of a wealthy and somewhat irresponsible youth who goes to work incognito in his own department store to find out why the wheels aren't going around as they should. In doing so he falls in love with one of his clerks, gets himself and her tangled up in a series of innocent misadventures which land both in jail.

Included in the cast are Freddie Bartholomew, Sir Guy Standing, C. Aubrey Smith and Virginia Field.

SUDDEN ACCENT

The impulsiveness which accents the vivid personality of Virginia Field won for her an outstanding role in Twentieth Century-Fox's love story that changed the destiny of an empire, "Lloyds of London," at the Ritz Theater tomorrow.

FAMOUS IN ENGLAND

Ian Hunter, appearing with Warner Baxter and Myrna Loy in "To Mary—With Love," Twentieth Century-Fox picture at the Ritz Theater Friday, was famous on the English stage before coming to Hollywood.

The total white population of the Union of South Africa now exceeds two millions.

IN "OUTCAST"

Warren Williams and Karen Morley are the romantic pair in "Outcast," drama of mob fury, Friday at the Ritz Theater.

Glenda Farrell Is "Smart Blonde" At Ritz On Tuesday

Something new in the way of a feminine character on the screen is promised in "Smart Blonde," a mystery-comedy-drama produced by Warner Bros. and starring Glenda Farrell, which will be shown at the Ritz Theater on Tuesday.

"Torchy Blane" is the new character, and she is to run through a series of light yet thrilling pictures, impregnated in each by the lively, likeable and wisecracking Glenda.

It is true that girl newspaper reporters have been shown in films before—but no girl in any way like Torchy, who is alternately hip and serious; as bery sa any of her male journalistic conferees, yet altogether feminine. Real girl reporters who have seen previews of "Smart Blonde" say they gladly welcome Torchy into the profession of "Ladies of the Press."
