Ex-Detective Tony Brooks Asks Sanford For $150,000

By JOE DeSANTIS
Herald Staff Writer

Former Sanford Police Detective Tony Brooks has notified the city that he intends to seek $150,000 in compensatory and punitive damages.

Brooks, a nine-year veteran of the Sanford Police Department, resigned March 16 after blasting the Seminole County Sheriff's Department for its handling of recent drug investigations and charging that city police officials betrayed him.

Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles received a notice of Brooks' intention to seek damages in a letter from his lawyer, Steven L. Sommers, this morning.

"It's kind of like a form of harassment," said Knowles in response to Brooks' action. "He's trying to get at certain city officials and Sheriff's Department officials he didn't get along with."

"I regret that the taxpayers' money has to be spent to defend a lawsuit initiated in a personal vendetta by an ex-city employee."

Knowles said the legal action initiated by Brooks is a waste of time, money and valuable court docket space.

Brooks began his career with the Sanford Police Department in 1973, and until last March specialized in drug investigations with the Seminole County Strike Force.

In his letter of resignation, he said, "You have allowed the Sheriff's Department to dictate policy where I am concerned and allowed your supervisors to prod me and remove official reports and tamper with evidence in significant drug investigations where mention of the Sheriff's Department is made."

Brooks also alleged in his letter of resignation that his investigations brought to light criminal involvement on the part of Seminole County deputies and that "betrayal of trust by exposure, to specifics relative to investigations by the department have left me dumfounded and confused as to just what the responsibilities of a law-enforcement officer are."

Brooks said he was under the impression he was supposed to enforce the duties of a law officer in pursuit of criminal elements regardless of their social or political status. He also said Sheriff John Polk had threatened him and that for no just cause he was relieved of his deputy status.

Brooks' resignation came two weeks after Longwood Police Officer Daniele Dow submitted her resignation to the Longwood police. Ms. Dow also was a member of the county drug task force and was relieved of her deputy credentials by Polk.

Ms. Dow said she was ordered to abandon an investigation involving political figures allegedly being paid off by drug dealers in the Longwood area.

Brooks was one of two remaining black officers on the Sanford police force. He received an annual salary of $17,524.50.

Knowles said several meetings had been held between Brooks and city and county officials in attempts to resolve his differences, with members of the task force, but that efforts to clarify his allegations and bring forth specifics and proof of them had been unsuccessful.

In late March it appeared that a solution between Brooks and the city had been ironed out when he requested a transfer to the police motorcycle squad, but he resigned instead.

Sanford To Get Bad News On Drainage System Cost

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford City Commission, at a 7 p.m. meeting today, will hear the bad news.

The cost for construction of a citywide drainage system today is about $10.7 million minimum — up more than 60 percent over the 1978 estimate of $6.1 million.

It will cost the city nearly $20,000 to initiate and operate a mosquito control program in the city for the first year.

And it will cost the city $27,000 more to do the city's portion of the downtown development plan because of the delay while it was challenged in court.

City Manager W. E. "Pete" Knowles was told by the City Commission two weeks ago to up dust off the plans for the citywide drainage system. The instruction was given after a property owner complained that water drains onto her property, flooding her home, every time a rainstorm hits the city.

The minimum cost, according to Knowles and City Engineer Mack LaZenby, would be $10.69 million plus right-of-way costs for additional land required by the system.

And Knowles warns the commissioners that the drainage system design includes only the large arterial lines and does not include any collector lines. Another $2 million could be required if some collector lines, already in the ground, have to be rebuilt or new lines added.

Sanford's voters must approve a bond issue before the project can be accomplished.

Approval by the people of the bond issue will mean an increase in property taxes over a period of years to pay it off.

Residents first turned down a bond issue for a citywide drainage system first in 1968, when estimated costs were nearly $3 million. In 1975 the issue was again put on the ballot, and the estimated costs were by then $6.16 million, more than double in seven years.

LaZenby said that even with the $10.69 million estimate he is concerned that the plan may not be approved by the numerous state and federal regulatory agencies that must concur on such plans.

"In the last 14 years the state of the art for the treatment of storm water has changed from 'direct runoff' to a concept of hold, retain and treat storm runoff," LaZenby said.

In the Sanford Housing Authority matter, Knowles will urge the commission to return funds to the U.S.

Department of Housing and Urban Development which the city has been holding on the defunct federal program.

The total to be returned is $59,867.42. And the sum includes $19,841 which must come from the city coffers.

The nearly $20,000 includes $17,453 paid by the Housing Authority for rental of office space on ground floor of City Hall and some $2,389 paid by the authority for "unused utilities."

Under its agreement with the city, the authority paid for the utilities in advance. The sum for the utilities was unused because the authority moved its offices before the lease agreement was completed.

The federal agency disallowed rental payments to the city because City Hall construction was financed with a federal grant and the authority's program to purchase, renovate and resell homes to low-income families also was funded with a federal grant.

In response to Commissioner Milton Smith's request for a cost estimate to initiate a mosquito-control program, Knowles reports that costs have tripled since the city discontinued the program in the 1978-79 fiscal year in an economy move.

The last year the program operated, costs totaled $7,750.

To reinstate the program, Knowles reports, it would cost $22,650 the first year.

While operational costs would go up 25 percent from $7,750 to $10,000, a pickup truck and a fogger would have to be purchased to reinstate the program for a cost of $12,650.

Costs estimated by the city for the downtown improvements on Nov. 13, 1979, totaled $227,088.62 for labor and materials.

The latest estimate is $254,142.71, an increase of 11.9 percent or $27,053. Knowles noted, however, that $11,224 is the cost of improving a parking lot to be leased.

Knowles also notes that the city has continued $78,000 in its budget to pay for the materials' portion of the program. Materials costs are estimated at $160,000. The commission earlier agreed to finance the difference between the budgeted $78,000 and the materials' costs $160,000 — $82,000 — with a short-term loan.

Knowles said it will take 8 to 12 weeks to complete the city construction once begun.

Prior to the lawsuit, materials costs were estimated at $146,072, with the city using $78,000 budgeted. The loan then would have been for $68,000. The amount to be financed has gone up $4,000 due to the delay.

Paving On Longwood's Agenda

Orange Avenue residents will be seeking a compromise on the paving of their street at tonight's Longwood City Commission meeting.

Residents are expected to bring their objections on the paving before the commission for a third time, but the commission is expected to amend the assessment roll for expenditures for the paving.

The total cost of the project will run $56,137, including engineering work and legal costs. The paving itself will cost $49,150, based on the lowest bid from eight companies, the Amick Construction Co., Orlando.

The city will foot the bill for half of the project, while residents on each side of the street will share the other half. Residents on the unpaved street will be assessed $7.90 per linear foot.

The paving project will transform the street into a two-lane east-west corridor from U.S. Highway 17-92 to County Road 427.

At two previous public hearings on the matter, Orange Avenue residents have expressed concern about the street's being used as a shortcut between the two highways and have expressed fears that increased traffic on the street and high-speed traffic will create problems in the neighborhood.

The commission is considering a request by the residents to shorten the proposed paving width of the street from 26 to 20 feet so that money saved by using a narrower width can be used to build sidewalks on each side of the street.

The entire paving area will include a

2,150-foot stretch from CR 427 to Grant Street.

The commission also will hold a public hearing on a request by Walter Judge to rezone a parcel of land on East Street from multi-family residential to general commercial. Judge's parcel was annexed into the city a year ago under residential zoning.

The commission hinted its preference for commercial zoning of the parcel two weeks ago when it approved the city's long-range land-use map, which showed commercial use of the property.

Judge also is requesting that the Seminole County Commission waive a two-year required waiting period following the annexation to change the density use of the land.

Other agenda items the commission is expected to address include:

— Appointing replacements to the city's Code Enforcement Board.

— Adoption of Resolution 474, authorizing wire transfer of funds from state revenue-sharing funds.

The commission also is expected to hear on three city matters from City Administrator David Chacey.

His reports will include input on a renewal of agreement with International Systems Inc., for the Federal Grants Assistance Program; a proposal for agreement between the city and the Florida League of Cities for assistance in collecting delinquent occupational licenses from insurance companies, and approval of a fluoridation grant in the amount of $31,498.08 from the state of Florida. — JOE DeSANTIS

Crash Kills Longwood Man, Injures His Pregnant Wife, 17

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

A Longwood man is dead and his pregnant, 17-year-old wife has been hospitalized following an automobile accident near Ocala on Sunday afternoon.

Maxwell Donald Gatlin, 23, of 402 S. Wilma St., was pronounced dead at the scene after his 1969 Volkswagen station wagon was struck head-on by another car along State Road 500, 11 miles west of Ocala, at about 2:20 p.m., according to the Florida Highway Patrol.

Gatlin's wife, Nancy, was described as semi-conscious this morning at Monroe Regional Medical Center in Ocala, where she is being treated for injuries suffered in the crash, state troopers said.

Troopers said the Gatlin vehicle was traveling eastbound along SR 500 at about 55 m.p.h. when it was struck by a westbound vehicle driven by James Lay Jr., 62, of Dade City.

Lay's 1973 Chrysler, which was also traveling at about 55 m.p.h., was closing in on slower westbound traffic, made a quick stop, crossed the center line and collided with the couple's car, troopers said.

Lay and his passenger, Latonya Byrd, 13, also of Dade City, were hospitalized at the Ocala hospital. The extent of their injuries has not been disclosed.

Troopers added that charges may be filed pending the outcome of further investigation.

This Really Shouldn't Happen To A Dog

MIAMI (UPI) — What happened to Prince shouldn't happen to a dog — nevertheless, two days after the canine "Columbo" was stolen from a police cruiser, he was found brawling with neighborhood dogs, 20 miles away from the spot where he was abducted.

Scott Reed, the dog's handler, said the pride of Miami's K-9 squad was discovered just before midnight Sunday mixing it up with a couple of dogs belonging to a man who told police he recognized the missing pooch from a television newscast.

The unidentified man called police and they picked up Prince posthaste.

"Tonight was the point where it we didn't find him, I was starting to give up hope," said an overjoyed Reed, who keeps the dog at his house.

"He's happy to be home. He's running around the house with his squeaky toy. My girlfriend made me a 8-pound roast and he ate that."

Reed said only Prince's tags had been stolen. His pride was intact. The tags identified him as living at Reed's residence, but had no police markings. The dog is tattooed, however.

Prince was stolen from a police car parked in front of a Coconut Grove restaurant early Saturday morning, while Reed and another officer took an hour-long break.

SHA Sanford May Insist On 'Drastic' Changes

The city of Sanford may refuse to sponsor or participate in any project with the Sanford Housing Authority (SHA) until "drastic" changes are made in its methods, record-keeping and procedures.

At least that is the recommendation to the City Commission from City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles. Knowles' recommendation came as the result of a letter from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), Jacksonville office, showing 14 improprieties in SHA's administration of a Community Development Block Grant (CDBG).

More than $500,000 in federal money was given to the SHA through CDBG to purchase, renovate and resell homes to low-income families.

The program was stopped at Knowles' request to the federal agency more than a year ago, after he questioned the spending of so much money to buy, renovate and resell only eight houses.

Over the last 13 months, the city, through Knowles' office has been trying to straighten out the program's accounts.

In a report to the commission at a 7 p.m. meeting today at City Hall, 300 N. Park Ave., Knowles seeks permission to return to HUD some $59,867.42 it is holding for SHA. The funds include some $30,000 the city must reimburse for rent and utilities paid by SHA to rent offices on the City Hall's ground floor and for advance payments to the city for utilities for those offices. The balance was raised by the city through materials and property sales, purchased originally with part of the federal money. — DONNA ESTES

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Cerebral Palsy And Rh Factor

DEAR DR. LAMB -- I read with interest your column where you said the Rh factor was less serious for the first baby. In our particular case, we found just the opposite. Our first child was born with cerebral palsy. My wife is Rh negative and I am Rh positive. I'm writing you to clear up your statement.

pregnancy with an Rh positive baby, but the chances are much less. Of course if the baby, whether it is the first or the tenth, is Rh negative there will be no reaction and the pregnancy should proceed normally.

DEAR READER -- I am sorry to hear that your child has cerebral palsy. However, there are many things that cause cerebral palsy and most cases are not the result of Rh factors. In other words, I cannot be sure that your statement that cerebral palsy was caused by the differences in Rh factor is factual.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 64, Blood Type, Rh Factor and Transfusions. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

It is generally true that the first Rh Positive baby born to an Rh negative mother is less likely to have a problem than successive births. Here is why: The Rh negative mother develops an immunity to the Rh positive factor. You can't develop an immunity until you are exposed to a substance that stimulates the response. It is just like being immune to mumps. You get the immunity after you have had the mumps.

DEAR DR. LAMB -- I always read reports on exercise, what's good and what's bad. Most experts write that golf stinks. The same experts say walking is "peachy-keen." And be sure to stretch those back muscles, etc. at the end of the exercise.

Each successive Rh positive pregnancy exposes the Rh negative mother again to the Rh factor that causes her body to develop Rh positive antibodies. With each succeeding pregnancy the chances that her increased levels of antibodies to the Rh positive blood of the developing baby will cause a reaction is increased.

Hey, Doc, why is an exercise of toting about 20 pounds of equipment up hill and down dale, setting it down and picking it up 60 times or more, stretching every muscle from toes to ears the same number of times for about four hours not as good as an hour's walk or less?

That is the basis for giving an Rh negative mother a shot to prevent antibody formation after she gives birth to an Rh positive baby, or even after a miscarriage of an Rh positive baby. That is also why Rh positive blood transfusions are not given to an Rh negative female. The blood will stimulate formation of antibodies.

DEAR READER -- I agree with you entirely, provided you don't use a golf cart from hole to hole. If golf didn't provide some exercise heart specialists would not worry about their golfing patients playing golf too soon after a heart attack. Walking is walking, whether it is from hole to hole or block by block.

The biggest danger for most people on the golf course is the club house after the last hole with its bar, food, snacks and cigarettes. If you avoid these, golf itself can be a very healthy exercise and fun, too.

YOUR BIRTHDAY May 12, 1982

Don't be discouraged this early in the year if you don't seem to be getting the breaks where your work or career is concerned. Big changes are in the offing. Your time will come.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A negative attitude today will make things harder for you personally. It could also be very annoying to co-workers and, possibly, could cause unnecessary problems. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in each of the seasons following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't undertake situations today that you know, going in, are beyond your talents and capabilities. There's a chance you might make matters worse.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be watchful in one-to-one relationships today that associates don't try to shift the blame for their mistakes on you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be careful how you phrase things to subordinates today. They may read something to anger them in your language or tone that wasn't intended.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you are socializing today, don't let it be said that you weren't prepared to pay your fair share of the tab. Ante up cheerfully.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Difficult achievements are possible today, but you might have to pay a heavier price than usual. Don't look for easy outs or free rides.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Basically you're courageous and capable, but today there is a chance you may let self-doubt stop you before you get started.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Avoid acquaintances who tend to be takers rather than givers. Your tolerance today for people who behave pettily is extremely fragile.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It's important today that you try to work in harmony instead of making others feel you are competing against them. Tact is essential.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Even though you may be privy to some confidential information and know something unsavory about another, it's best to keep it to yourself today.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you expect a friend to forgive you for a past wrong, you must also be willing to forgive this person today.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Associates who are not supportive of your aims or positions aren't likely to be suddenly swayed to your side today. Proceed without them.

North's fourth hand opening was an effort to make a part score. Hence, he passed when South responded two hearts.

You are West and open the deuce of diamonds. Your partner produces the king and returns the 10 of clubs to dummy's queen. A trump is led and you are on lead with the ace.

It looks as if declarer is going to make his part score. Ask yourself "How can I beat this contract?"

You see that you need two spade tricks and a spade ruff. Accordingly, you lead a low spade. If South is kind enough to duck in dummy, your partner will take his queen, cash the ace of diamonds and return his eight of spades to your ace. You will lead another spade and get a plus score.

Why did we say that declarer would have been kind? Because if he had used "ARCH" he would not have played East for the ace of spades.

Teaching Kids To Make Emergency Phone Calls

The little girl's voice was shaking as she spoke into the telephone receiver, "My mother is just lying on the floor. She looks sick."

The four-year-old child then told the policeman her last name and what street she lived on. Help was on the way in minutes, thanks to this child's knowledge of how to handle an emergency.

Suppose you were lying on the floor, sick or hurt. Would your child know how to call for help? According to Southern Bell spokesman Larry Strickler, teaching a child, as early as possible, how to use the phone in an emergency is vital.

Strickler recommends that young children from two to four years old be taught to tell an operator their name and the area where they live. Children from four to six should know their name, approximate address and that there is a need for help. By the time they are six, children should know their parents' full names, complete address and the nature of the emergency.

"Because a child will be acting under pressure, it's important to practice emergency calling," says Strickler. "First, show children how to pick up the handset themselves and then how to dial the operator. Next, have them repeat what they should say slowly and clearly into the mouthpiece." One suggestion Strickler has is to call a friend and let your child practice making an emergency call.

Cornbread-Fed Celts Will Repeat

It seems as if the National Basketball Association's playoffs get longer every year. In fact, it wouldn't be surprising if Al McGuire (NBC basketball analyst) changed his saying to, "There's a lifetime left in this season."

When it finally does end, probably sometime in June unless there's a strike or something, the Boston Celtics will have won back-to-back NBA titles. When a team that has a guy who can defy gravity, a visitor from Lovetron, and a guy coming off the bench to average 24 points a game loses by 40 points to a Bird, a "Tiny" and a "Cornbread," well it's pretty hopeless.

Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

It looks like names and reputations don't bother the Celtics, who play in the Garden while Philadelphia plays in the Spectrum.

Sunday's opening game was a modern day "Boston Massacre" as the Celtics ruled the Sixers, 121-81. If Boston keeps it up they could win it in four. If the Sixers keep it up they'd better prepare for another massacre, this one by their fans.

Way out West in Los Angeles things look a little more interesting. The Lakers, behind Kareem and his "sky hook," got by the San Antonio Spurs, 128-117. If Magic Johnson can pull off a few tricks and Bob McAdoo continues to pour in the points then the Spurs could go down in four.

But if George Gervin has anything to say about it the Spurs could walk over the Lakers. If not, the "Ice Man" can at home with his son, the "Ice Cube" and watch the championship on TV.

The Lakers against the Celtics seems like a shoe-in for the title match. Then Larry Bird will have a chance for revenge on Magic Johnson. Johnson led Michigan State over Bird and Indiana State in the 1979 NCAA Championship. It was Bird who took things into his own hands in last year's NBA Championship Series. Boston had trouble with the Cinderella Houston Rockets and Moses Malone last year but managed to stave off the Rockets before they could blast off.

It should be a pretty exciting championship, if it ever gets under way.

A lengthy season is not the only problem the NBA is facing. Four or five NBA franchises are on the verge of extinction. A lot of the teams in the BNBA suffer from lack of attendance and find themselves deep in debt.

The NBA could solve its problems though. They could cut the regular season in half and let every team into the playoffs. They could model it somewhat like the National Hockey League where just about any team, no matter how bad they did in the regular season, has a chance to win the championship.

But for now the center of attention is the Sixers, Celtics, Spurs and Lakers. Take your pick—"Cornbread," the "Visitor from Lovetron," the "Ice Man" or Magic.

Diaz Clubs 2 More Homers; Raines Steals 3, Hits Key 2B

Tim Raines cruises into first.

United Press International

Bo Diaz is doing a pretty good job of keeping the demanding Philadelphia Phillies fans from adding an extra "o" to his first name.

When Diaz was acquired last spring, he could have become an easy target for the frustrated fans. Diaz, though, has used an age-old crowd pleaser, the home run, to become a favorite of the fans.

The Phillies' catcher unloaded two more home runs, both two-run shots, Monday night to help his team defeat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 9-8, in 10 innings. Pete Rose's run-scoring single in the 10th drove in the winning run, but it was the hitting of Diaz that did the most to snap the Dodgers' five-game winning streak.

"I'm surprised at the number of homers I've hit," said Diaz, who raised his team-high total to eight. "I'm just swinging good. It's still early. I don't want to get too excited."

So far, Diaz has no quarrel with the Phillies fans. After his second home run Monday night, the Veterans Stadium crowd cheered wildly and wouldn't settle down until Diaz came out of the dugout and acknowledged the cheers.

"I know I came here for a popular player (Lonnie Smith) but I've been treated well by the fans," said Diaz. "The ovation after my second homer was a real thrill. It's the first time I've been called from the dugout."

At Montreal, Tim Raines doubled in Chris Speier with two out in the eighth inning to cap a three-run rally that helped the Expos snap a five-game losing streak.

Raines, who was shifted from left field to second base when the Expos released Rodney Scott, has been on a tear of late which has seen his average zoom to .377 — fourth best in the National League.

The Sanford Swiftly also stole three bases along with his three hits and game-winning RBI.

Astros 7, Pirates 3

At Houston, Ray Knight tripled home two runs and Alan Ashby singled home two more to highlight a second inning that helped Don Sutton to his fifth victory.

Mets 3, Padres 2

At New York, pinch-hitter Bob Bailor lined a two-out, two-run double in the ninth inning to give the Mets their victory.

Reds 3, Cardinals 1

At St. Louis, Johnny Bench had three hits, including a solo homer, to back the combined seventh-inning pitching of Frank Pastore and two relievers and pace the Reds to victory.

Winter Springs Stuns Forest City; Ebbert Continues Mound Mastery

By JOHN REICH
Herald Sports Writer

Forest City and Winter Springs went head-to-head for the bragging rights of the Five Points Pinto League last week at the Seminole Pony Baseball Complex.

Coch Larry Froemming's Forest City squad had an unblemished 12-0 mark and the upstart Winter Springs' bunch of Darryl Wills wanted very much to mar it.

Winter Springs had thrown a scare into the FC team the first time around, losing a 9-8 nailbiter in nine innings.

This time, however, Winter Springs surprised the league leaders. B.J. Galoda, Kevin Twiggas and Davey Heldrick combined their pitching talents and held Forest City to just one hit for an 8-3 upset.

Twiggas ripped two hits and accounted for four RBIs. Todd Carpenter and Ryan Rector each collected two singles for Winter Springs.

In Bronco action, Forest City's Greg Ebbert continued his dominance of opposing hitters by hurling a three-hitter against first-round winner, Casselberry. Ebbert's effort led Forest City to their eighth win in a row, 9-2. A six-run fourth inning was enough for the win. J.W. Waring turned in the top plate performance with four hits.

Casselberry outhit Winter Springs to win 5-3.

Five Points

Casselberry's hitters were Mike D'Amico, Mike Morvick (each with two hits) and Keith Dial, with three hits. Jeff Poindexter turned in a sparkling pitching performance by holding Winter Springs to only three runs.

Tommy Frank, Jamie Mocny and Jayme Burke combined their pitching efforts for a one-hitter, as Forest City III steam-rolled Casselberry II, 13-0. Forest City III collected 16 hits for their offensive punch. Leading hitters were T.J. Griffin, Bobby Mauro, Chris McDermott, (all with two hits), Donnie Nestor, Jamie Mocny both with three hits, and Tommy Frank, with four hits.

In Mustang action, Brian Keller pitched hitless ball as Lake Mary ran by Winter Springs I, 6-1. Keller fanned two and walked four, then proceeded to lead all hitters with a three hit afternoon and two "ribbies." Greg Twiggas supported Keller with two hits, while Mike Hudson played an outstanding third base.

Wiginton Fire Sprinklers continued their undefeated habit by dousing Forest City II, 6-3. Two runs in the second, third and fourth was enough to take care of Forest City. Lance Reyes turned in the top plate performance with two hits.

Ivie's Long Belt Turns Rangers Green With Envy

This is one kind of "ivy" Sparty Anderson didn't have to stay away from for fear of picking up a rash.

"We wanted him the minute Houston let him go," Anderson said of newly acquired Mike Ivie after the right-handed slugger belted his first homer in the American League in Detroit's 3-1 victory Monday night over the Texas Rangers at Arlington, Texas. "If we play the way we can, Mike Ivie will give us a chance to be in it (the pennant race)."

Charlie Hough, 2-3, walked Kirk Gibson with two out in the first inning and Ivie hit a 2-0 pitch into the seats. Ivie, 29, had hit 27 home runs with San Francisco in 1979 but only four since then.

"I feel like my career is starting all over," said Ivie, who has been hospitalized twice in the past two years for what was diagnosed as "mental fatigue."

White Sox 6, Blue Jays 3

At Toronto, Steve Kemp belted a two-run seventh-inning homer and Tony Bernazard and Greg Luninaki added ninth-inning solo blasts to spark the White Sox to their seventh straight victory.

Red Sox 9, Twins 5

At Minneapolis, Jim Rice collected a two-

run homer and two singles and Rich Gedman socked a solo homer, to lead the Red Sox to their 17th victory in the last 20 games.

Rays 3, Brewers 2

At Kansas City, Mo., Amos Otis drove reliever Rolfe Fingers' first pitch of the ninth inning over the left-field wall to snap both the Royals' three-game losing streak and the Brewers' four-game winning streak.

Angels 2, Yankees 1

At Anaheim, Calif., Brian Downing singled in Tim Lincecum with one out in the eighth inning to lift the Angels. Geoff Zahn, 5-1, limited New York to five hits in going the distance.

Mariners 6, Indians 4

At Seattle, Jim Easian drove in four runs with a two-run homer in the fifth and a bases-loaded single in the eighth to lead the Mariners.

A's 7, Orioles 6

At Oakland, Calif., Rickey Henderson's two-out, 10th-inning single scored Wayne Gross from third base and capped a two-run rally that lifted the A's.

National VFW Auxiliary

Evelyn Hart Gets Post

Mrs. Evelyn Hart, Longwood, has been appointed National Publicity Director, a National VFW Auxiliary Leadership post, for the year, 1982-83.

The appointment was made by National senior vice-president Mrs. Florence Taylor of New York (to be elected national president in August.). Mrs. Hart will be a principal speaker at the National Senior Vice-Presidents Conference May 21-22, at the Hilton Plaza Inn, Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. Hart, who served as Florida VFW State President in 1980-81, was named as one of the ten outstanding state presidents of the year.

Keeping the public informed of the Auxiliary's many patriotic and service programs will be the responsibility of Mrs. Hart. Throughout the year, press releases will be sent to all news media — newspapers, radio, television.

Mrs. Hart will coordinate activities of 51 volunteer state publicity chairmen, including the District of Columbia, plus 8,000 local publicity chairmen throughout the nation. She will circulate guidelines on media relationships, plus a "how-to-do-it" manual to publicity chairmen during the year. Assisting her are four National Chairmen, each representing a geographical section of the United States.

The conference will prepare state senior vice-presidents (to be elected State Presidents in June) for administering the service programs to members in 7,000 Auxiliaries throughout the nation. Participating will be Mrs. Velma Burkhardt, Welaka, Fl., state senior vice-president, to be elected State President in June.

Speaker for the Saturday night banquet will be VFW senior vice-commander-in-chief James Currie, Fort Huachuca, Ariz., to be elected commander-in-chief in August.

During the past year, VFW Auxiliary members contributed over 25 million hours of voluntary service, plus $29 1/2 million dollars.

'I'm Sorry,' Abby Tells Lutherans

DEAR ABBY: Having been a Lutheran pastor for over 40 years and having performed more than 1,200 marriage ceremonies, I was shocked that you accepted without question all the statements made by "Ohio Lutheran" concerning Lutheran wedding practice.

Dear Abby

"Ohio Lutheran" stated: "No secular music is allowed; the floral arrangements must conform to specific regulations; the bride and groom may not write their own marriage vows."

While the above is true in some Lutheran churches, it is not true in all of them.

I personally have officiated at weddings where the soloist sang "Because," the couple wrote their own vows and a friendly neighbor brought in the flowers. There were even guitars and jeans. In some cases, the bride was obviously pregnant. But I'm sure there was just as much rejoicing in heaven over those marriages as in marriages where the strictest regulations were enforced.

A LOVING LUTHERAN DEAR LUTHERAN: After "Ohio Lutheran" had his say in this space, I learned that under the umbrella of the Lutheran church are 11 different kinds of Lutheran churches, each operating under its own rules. My apologies.

DEAR ABBY: Last Mother's Day everyone told a favorite story about his mom, and this was mine: Mom and Dad had some friends (acquaintances, really) who made a habit of dropping in at dinnertime so they could get invited to stay for dinner. Mom was bighearted and she always asked them to stay. Finally, it got to be a little too much, especially when the wife (I'll call her Mrs. Jones) always ran off without offering to stay and help Mom with the dishes.

One night while the Joneses were here for dinner, Mom decided to do the dishes while they were still eating. She calmly put all the dishes on the floor and whistled for our dog whose name was Nanny Goat. Nanny Goat came into the dining room and proceeded to lick every plate clean. Mother then picked up the dishes and nonchalantly placed them directly into the cupboard!

Needless to say, the Joneses never dropped in at dinnertime again.

ONE OF FOUR KIDS

DEAR ABBY: Someone told me that a recent poll was taken to find out which professions and business people are the most respected, and real estate dealers were way down at the bottom of the list. Can you please check this out for me?

SEILS REAL ESTATE IN DALLAS

DEAR SELLS: The Gallup Poll listed the following 24 professions in order of their reputation for honesty, integrity and ethical standards. The results of the poll showed that ministers were most respected, followed by pharmacists, then dentists, next M.D.s, engineers, college professors, policemen, bankers, TV reporters, newspaper reporters, funeral directors, lawyers, stockbrokers, senators, business executives, building contractors, congressmen, local officeholders, real estate dealers, union leaders, state officeholders, insurance salesmen, advertising practitioners and auto salesmen.

Sanford Clubwomen Attend Convention

The president-elect of the Woman's Club of Sanford, Mrs. William Foster, and two delegates, vice-president Mrs. Robert Brisson and Treasurer Mrs. E.W. Marcell attended the 87th Annual Convention of The Florida Federation of Women's Clubs. They were accompanied by Mrs. Phil Deere, chairman of the Hacienda Girls Ranch.

The convention was held at the Diplomat Resort and Country Club, Hollywood, and consisted of four busy days of business sessions and awards to the many clubs for their accomplishments of the past year.

The Woman's Club of Sanford won a third place award for both Visual and Performing Arts and second place award for the overall presentation in the Arts Department Programs. This was under the direction of the Arts Department chairman Mrs. William Reck.

Mrs. Milton E. Smith, State District Director for District VII and a vital member of the Woman's Club of Sanford, was roasted and toasted as she relinquished her duties to the incoming District Director, Mrs. Smith served two years as district director.

Many hours of volunteer service to enrich our country, state and communities, in all aspects, were performed by the women of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs.

The newly elected Florida Federation of Women's Clubs state president, Mrs. Kenneth A. Perkins of Fort Lauderdale, was installed at this convention. Her theme will be "Leadership Development" with special emphasis on Hacienda Girls Ranch, Special Olympics and Youth Programs.

Recipe Correction

Strawberry Soda Cake is a special recipe of Jan Foyer who was featured by Lou Childers as The Herald's Cook Of The Week on April 28. One step in making the cake was inadvertently omitted. The Herald regrets the error.

The correct recipe is as follows:
STRAWBERRY SODA CAKE
 Bake a yellow cake mix according to box directions. While hot, punch holes all over and pour gelatin-soda mixture over cake immediately.

The More Unseemly Rites Of Spring

April showers bring May flowers. But in Seminole County, April squabbles and hassles bring May pink slips and lawsuits.

In a spate of springtime nastiness, The Great Longwood Wrecker Truck Squabble and The Great Casselberry City Planner Hassle have erupted in a most unseemly manner, bringing about the firing of a veteran city employee in one case and a lawsuit against a city in the other. And we doubt that either was necessary, if only certain parties had mended their ways.

In the Longwood matter, the City Commission fired wrecker-truck driver Fred Petterson after he told the commissioners to take a May 10 deadline to stop parking the truck at his home and "shove it." He and the firm he runs, Spanky's Auto Body, thereupon sued the city for breach of contract, acting in excess of its authority, and breach of the sunshine law mandating open meetings.

Just down the road in Casselberry, the powers that be at City Hall decided they'd finally had it with what they called a seven-year history of incidents of abusive language and offensive conduct on the part of planner Dale MacMahan, and ousted him from his job for conduct unbecoming a city employee.

Did things have to come to this? The Longwood commissioners had been eyeing an amendment to a city ordinance so Petterson could park his wrecker at home, but later backed down. Why couldn't they have gone ahead and approved the amendment? Petterson, in turn, didn't have to get obscenely abusive at a public meeting. We believe both parties could have sat down and worked things out. But they failed to do so.

Dale MacMahan appears to have some sort of personal problem, or else there wouldn't be a long history of complaints about his language and conduct in the municipal job. Surely he could have attempted to do something about it.

MacMahan insists there was a "double standard" on behavior at the Casselberry City Hall. He mentions having had coffee thrown on him by Mayor Owen Sheppard's secretary, Linda Thomas. But Ms. Thomas says that was because MacMahan stepped hard on her foot and threw a cigarette into the coffee cup.

Ah, me! Such weighty matters! It's fortunate that the only things the rest of us have to contend with are a recession, the rising crime rate and the specter of nuclear annihilation. Besides the problem of where to park the wrecker truck and why someone hurled the coffee, these matters surely pale into insignificance.

The Soviet Role

The Soviets are criticizing the British for blockading the Falklands and preparing to retake the islands in the South Atlantic from Argentina.

"The aggressive actions of the British armada sent to the Malvinas (Falklands) Islands to restore their colonial status are a violation of repeated U.S. decisions on colonialization," the Soviet news agency Tass asserted.

The only U.N. action in the Falklands crisis has been to condemn the armed invasion of the islands by the Argentines and to call on Argentina to withdraw its military forces from the islands.

That action was taken by the Security Council soon after the April 2 invasion and came as the Soviet Union abstained, withholding its veto.

The Security Council action was the only action that could be taken, consistent with the United Nations charter. The invasion was clearly a breach of international law.

But the Soviets pay attention to the United Nations only when it suits their purpose. They have ignored repeated condemnations by the General Assembly of the December 1979 Soviet invasion of Afghanistan.

BERRY'S WORLD

... WARNING: THE FOLLOWING NEWS PROGRAM CONTAINS DEPRESSING MATERIAL AND MAY BE UNSUITABLE FOR VIEWERS WHO ARE ALREADY FEELING "DOWN" ABOUT THINGS.

UCF basketball coach Terchy Clark didn't waste any time procuring replacements for departed Jeff Derschner.

After the 6-foot-11 Derschner decided not to resume his career at UCF, Clark grabbed a couple of good ones from the junior college ranks.

Larry Gowins, a 6-foot-4 forward for Florida College in Temple Terrace (Tampa), gave the Seminole Community College Raiders "fits" for two years.

Last year, he averaged 14.8 points and nine rebounds per outing. Gowins hit better than 80 percent of his shots and was an All-Suncoast selection for two years.

Clark's other recruit is a 6-foot-4 point guard from Hutchinson (Kan.) Community College. Dwayne Dale, who was an All-Jayhawk Conference pick this season, handed out 136 assists and snared 89 steals.

Elsewhere at UCF, girls basketball coach Joe Sanchez also inked two players to bring his recruiting total to five.

Beverly Knight, an All-Region performer for South Georgia Junior College, brings her 13-point average to the Knights. The 5-foot-7 Knight is a point guard.

Sanchez also acquired some size for next year with the transfer of Becky Muschals. The 6-foot-1 Monarchina averaged 17 points per game with Trenton (Mo.) Junior College.

The prep sports season is gradually drawing to a close. This week's 3A (Friday) and 4A (Saturday) state track and field meets just about wrap up the year.

Seminole's Tossy Hardy should have a legitimate chance at winning the long jump or the 330 hurdles at the 4A meet.

Hardy leaped 19-feet-4/8 to win the long jump in the regional. She's only a couple of inches short of the state's best. The Tribe senior also won the 330 hurdles in 43.2. Only a few 10s separate Hardy and the state's best there, too.

ROBERT WAGMAN 'Jake's Folly' Becomes World's Fair

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (NEA) — "World's Fair Summer" has finally begun here with the opening of the Knoxville International Energy Exposition, as the 184-day event is officially titled — or the 1982 World's Fair, as it is more popularly known.

Even before the gates swung open, fair officials were proclaiming the exposition a success based on advance-ticket sales and hotel-admission packages purchased by tour operators around the county.

The fair was conceived eight years ago as a way of revitalizing 73 decayed acres between downtown Knoxville and the campus of the University of Tennessee.

The fact that it has opened in such style — with exhibits from 23 countries, 14 U.S. and 10 sign corporations and a half-dozen cities and states — is a tribute to the tenacity of its backers.

Chief among them is Jake Butcher, a flamboyant local banker and politician who has been chairman of the fair's board since 1975 (with two years off to run unsuccessfully for governor of Tennessee).

"Here in southern Appalachia we have always been depicted as barefoot and whiskey-drinking," Butcher recently proclaimed. "I think this will show the world what this 'scruffy little town' is really all about. This will be the best world's fair ever."

But the success of the fair was not always assured. In fact, for quite a while the event was known around these parts as "Jake's Folly." How things are turned around makes for an interesting tale.

In January 1981, the fair's backers were saying publicly that they hoped to sign up 10 foreign "entities," five states and maybe 30 corporations as exhibitors.

But they were nowhere near even this modest goal. At that time they reportedly had commitments from only nine countries, 12 corporations and a couple of states.

The fair had received an initial go-ahead from the Carter administration, which had agreed to put up $21 million for a pavilion and another $40 million or so for new freeways to get people to and from the site.

But aside from these actions — doubtless encouraged by Butcher's fund raising for Jimmy Carter and his financial ties to former Budget Director Bert Lance — the administration had done little to push the fair.

Enter Bill Morris, the assistant secretary of commerce for the new Reagan administration. His department is responsible for the federal government's involvement in fairs and exhibitions of this type.

"I'm from Tennessee, but a different part of the state," Morris says. "I had never really thought much about the fair before I got to Washington — and what little I did think was that it was kind of a dumb idea."

"But when I got into this job, I met with the fair people and began to see the possible advantages in it for foreign trade, which is my job. Besides, the United States already had a sizable investment in the fair, and I did not want to be identified with a failing effort."

"So I went to the president, and he told us to go all-out to make the fair as great a success as possible."

Morris is hesitant to accept much responsibility for the fair's turnaround, preferring instead that the credit go to "Jake Butcher, Bo Roberts (the fair president) and the people of Knoxville."

"All we did was help when we were asked," he says. "Jake and his people did the work."

A number of foreign countries and U.S. corporations were slow to make a commitment to the fair. Given the state of the economy, many potential exhibitors planned to sit out Knoxville and wait for the 1984 World's Fair in New Orleans.

Watt's Strategy Smells Of Watergate

WASHINGTON — It's easy enough to laugh at Interior Secretary James Watt. With his bald head and glasses, and his extravagant, shoot-from-the-lip sarcasm, he's a cartoonist's delight — an eggheaded exploiter out to nail Bambi's hide to his office wall.

Unfortunately, the workaholic secretary is no laughing matter. When he's not thinking of ways to use up the nation's natural resources in time for the Second Coming, he's scheming to keep Congress and the public from knowing anything about what's going on in the Executive Branch of the government. And I mean anything.

For six months, Watt defied a congressional request for 31 documents concerning Canadian energy policy, on grounds of "executive privilege" and "national security." Only on the brink of a contempt citation did Watt finally back down and send the supposedly sensitive documents up to Capitol Hill.

My associate Tony Capaccio has examined the documents, and it's clear that they have nothing to do with national security or

BUSINESS WORLD

Dr. Pepper Expanding

By BRUCE B. BAKKE
UPI Business Writer

DALLAS (UPI) — It may be good news for the folks who work for Canada Dry that W. W. "Foots" Clements won't fix anything that doesn't need fixing.

"A wise man told me a long time ago, 'If a yo-yo is working, don't tie a knot in the string,'" Clements, 67, board chairman of The Dr. Pepper Co. said.

Dr. Pepper acquired Canada Dry from Norton Simon Inc. for $135 million earlier this year but has no plans to change the newly acquired company or even move its offices to Dallas.

Clements will, however, use Canada Dry's solid base and knowledge of international operations to expand Dr. Pepper overseas.

For five years Clements and other Dr. Pepper executives had said it was their intention to expand the company. They had two products — Dr. Pepper and Sugar Free Dr. Pepper.

Then in a five-month period starting last September the product line ballooned from two to 27.

Dr. Pepper acquired Canada Dry and also took royalty rights for all Welch's carbonated drinks. As part of its Canada Dry acquisition, Dr. Pepper picked up fast-growing Barretthead, the No. 2-selling root beer, and the quality soft drink lines of Cot and No Cal.

With the acquisitions, Dr. Pepper jumped from a 7 percent market share in the U.S. soft drink industry to 11 percent. It also put the Dallas-based firm in debt.

"It was something they had to do. They really did need to make an acquisition, to expand," said Jessica Gallia, a senior analyst for the brokerage firm of Rauscher Pierce Refines Inc. "But it will hurt their earnings for the short term."

Dr. Pepper's annual report acknowledges that the purchase of Canada Dry will "restrict earnings growth for a short period of time," but says overall results will show an improved rate of earnings growth and perhaps an even higher return on stockholders' equity.

Dr. Pepper for years was considered a unique product associated mainly with the small towns of the South and Southwest. The rural figure sucking on a bottle of Dr. Pepper was common in literature of the region. The company's early advertising, built around the numbers 10, 3 and 4 on a clock dial — times to take a work break with a bottle of Dr. Pepper — was said to be a strange regional code to outsiders.

That regional image changed almost overnight in 1970 when Dr. Pepper burst onto the New York market. The well-established local bottler, The Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of New York, was able to put the product in almost every location Coke was sold. Then Dr. Pepper Co. blitzed the metropolitan area with a memorable advertising campaign of youthful singing, dancing, "Peppers."

The explosive entry into New York is one of the major milestones in the company's history, but is at least equalled by the acquisition of Canada Dry.

In addition to the earnings of Canada Dry, the North American leader in such mix-type drinks as ginger ale, club soda and tonic waters, the newly acquired company has a distribution network stretching into 91 countries.

They (Canada Dry) have the presence there. They have the bottlers. They understand the customs and the laws," Clements said.

And Dr. Pepper executives expect to use the expertise of the Canada Dry organization to make their drink truly international.

Canada Dry, said Clements, is "a good organization, with good people and a quality operation. And the same can be said about Welch's."

Furthermore, he said, the terms of the lease on the Canada Dry headquarters in Manhattan are so favorable "you can't lose space in Dallas for what we pay in New York. Unfortunately, the lease has only two years to run."

"Everyone thinks we'll move them down here, and we may. But we aren't in any hurry."

DON GRAFF Argentine Generals In Shock

Now that the Falklands crisis has become the Falklands' war, a brief review of American involvement is in order.

It did not begin with Alexander Haig's briefly intense but ultimately unsuccessful effort at shuttle diplomacy. Far from it. The beginning, it might in fact be argued, predates the swearing into office not only of the secretary of state but every other member of the Reagan administration.

To pick a date, any date, let's start in November 1980, when globe-trotting banker David Rockefeller stopped off in Buenos Aires and delivered himself of some personal opinions of considerable interest to local listeners. Among other things, he complimented the military junta on its stabilization of Argentina — in itself an interesting observation for anyone of Rockefeller's professional qualifications, considering that even then the Argentine economy was picking up speed in its downhill run under the inept and corrupt direction of the generals.

More important, Rockefeller shared his thoughts on the immediate future. In a clear and negative reference to the human-rights policies of the outgoing Carter administration, he assured his listeners that the incoming president would not seek to change the world to suit his own preferences but would deal with it "as it is."

Now, David Rockefeller held no official position, a fact of which his listeners were certainly well aware. But all other things considered, it is understandable that he found an attentive audience in the generals. Any doubts that their reading of that initial message might have been too optimistic must have been removed by the official signs of a new and warmer order in U.S.-Argentine relations that rapidly followed.

Gen. Leopoldo Galtieri, now president but then still merely commander of the Argentine army, paid an official visit to Washington in August 1981.

About the same time United Nations Ambassador Jeane J. Kirkpatrick, one of the distinction between authoritarian and totalitarian governments and the importance thereof to U.S. foreign policy, visited Buenos Aires on a Latin American tour.

In fact, traffic on the Washington-Buenos Aires route could only be described as brisk well before Haig's shuttle, with Thomas O. Enders, the very high-profile assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, among the more frequent travelers.

All this energetic coming and going appeared to be bearing fruit in Central America with reports earlier this year that Argentina was prepared to play a key role in a multinational Latin military force that would work with Washington in combating insurgencies in the region. Reports that Washington did not seriously seek to disavow.

This brings us to April 3 and the Argentine occupation of the disputed Falkland Islands, placing the United States in a diplomatically excruciating bind between its North Atlantic and hemispheric obligations.

That did not, however, deter Ambassador Kirkpatrick, who would be speaking for the United States in U.S. deliberations on the Falklands crisis, from keeping an engagement as guest of honor at an Argentine embassy dinner, to the reported immense relief of the Argentines.

Now that the Haig shuttle has been grounded and Washington has made its disagreeable choice of the traditional ally over the prospective useful new friend, the Argentine generals are said to be in a state of shock. As they see it, they were led down a disastrous garden path.

They may have a case.

Friends Advise Leonard To Quit

Never, since the very first day he laced on a pair of boxing gloves, has Sugar Ray Leonard gotten so much advice.

Good, well-meaning advice. At least, that's what all those giving it to him honestly believe. He's getting advice from those people who truly love him, from those who are writing him cards and letters at Johns Hopkins University Hospital in Baltimore, and from those who record their opinions on the nation's sports pages.

"Don't fight anymore," they're all telling him. "What do you need it for? You've made over $40 million and you've proved how good you are. You have to be crazy to fight again. Do you know what it means to undergo surgery for a partially detached retina as you did, Sugar Ray? Purely and simply, it means permanent blindness in the eye could result from further damage caused by blows, Ray."

How can you put any price on the loss of an eye? In Maryland where Leonard lives, the State Workers Compensation Law allows $44,500 for the loss of an eye, but who would give up his sight, even in one eye, for any price?

"They don't sell eyes," says Dr. Samuel Garfield, a leading New York optometrist who has seen detached retinas for more than 30 years. "I can assure you if that type of surgery ever was performed on me, the last thing I'd even consider would be taking another blow to the eye."

Yet, the chances are Leonard will consider it, not because of anything so material as money, but because of something as indefinable and intangible as the electric excitement of prize fighting — the skill, the competitiveness of it, and the self-satisfaction it affords someone to be as good as it as Leonard is. And how could anyone who is not, ever possibly realize the abysmal frustration that would eat at a 25-year-old Sugar Ray Leonard anytime he turned on the TV set to watch a fight or attend that Golden Gloves tournament he runs for kids?

Someone like Harold Weston would know all about that, though. Maybe Harold Weston would know it better than anyone else, even though he was never a world champion like Leonard.

Weston is the matchmaker for Madison Square Garden now, but he was a top-ranked welterweight until he underwent surgery, just as Sugar Ray did, for a detached retina three years ago after he was kayoed by Thomas Hearns.

Weston loved to fight. He didn't quit because of the operation he underwent. He quit because of money.

"They offered me $1,500 for a fight after I got out of the hospital," he says. "I thought it was a disgrace to me. I was only 28 and still ranked one or two by both the WBC and WBA, and that was all that they would pay me. I told them to forget it. I wasn't going to be used the way I saw so many other fighters used before me."

Yes, Harold Weston has an opinion about whether Sugar Ray Leonard should fight again. He knows Leonard personally and considers him a friend.

"I wish I could sit down with Ray, just him and me," he says. "I could tell him stories. I know Ray, and I'd like to express some things to him. I'd tell him not to fight again."

"Ray is like me. He's stubborn. You have to give him a reason. But I can tell him why he should never fight again and I'll betcha after I did, he'd say, 'You know, Harold, I'm not gonna do it.'"

"But right now, or after the eye is all healed and he feels much better, he might say he's gonna fight again just for the fact people are telling him not to do it. He's like Muhammad Ali in a sense. He wants to show he can do what everyone says he can't. But what a mistake it'd be if he does."

Harold Weston concedes now he probably fought with a detached retina without realizing he had one.

Some state athletic commissions are tougher than others in the physicals they give fighters. The California commission has the reputation for being the toughest with eye tests. The word is, if you have a fighter with an eye problem, don't take him to California.

In Sugar Ray Leonard's case, he shouldn't ever apply for a license to fight again in any state.

What for, when he has the best license in the world to wink at everyone and quit while he's way ahead.

Weaver Fight Off

NEW YORK (UPI) — Title fights are becoming an endangered species.

The latest in a rash of championship bouts to be postponed is the World Boxing Association heavyweight fight between champion Mike Weaver and Randall "Tex" Cobb, scheduled for June 3 in Atlantic City, N.J. UPI learned Monday night the fight was postponed due to a shoulder injury suffered by Weaver.

"The fight has been postponed due to medical reasons," said Weaver's attorney, George Glasco, who was reached by phone in Los Angeles. "Mike stretched a muscle in between the left shoulder and neck area while sparring on Wednesday or Thursday of last week."

"If (a similar injury) happened once already. In two or three weeks he should be fine. They prescribed rest and stretching exercises and some kind of therapy."

Glasco added, Weaver was taking the delay "badly."

Riggins '4-Star' Performance Brings Twinkle To Professional Scouts Eyes

When you're 6-foot-4 and 252 pounds like Charles Riggins, it doesn't matter if the blocking sled had pads on it or not. Sanford's Riggins was selected in the ninth round by the Packers of the NFL draft and will report to Green Bay on Friday.

The way Charles Riggins looked at it the Sheridan Black College All-Star game was for all stars, so he might as well play like one.

Sixty minutes, 12 tackles and two sacks later, the 6-foot-4, 252-pound defensive end was just that — an all star — and its probably the biggest reason Riggins heads for Green Bay, Wis. Friday for the Packers' mini-camp.

"A lot of the scouts saw that game," said the modest Riggins last Friday at his alma mater, Seminole High School. "It was my best game of the year and it couldn't have come at a better time."

Riggins has been having good games for some time now. He anchored coach Jerry Posey's defensive line along with Greg Pringle when the Tribe posted a spotless 10-0 record until it was discovered a third-teamer was ineligible and the "Noles had to forfeit the games."

After his impressive high school career, Bethune-Cookman College in Daytona Beach came calling for the services of the big defensive end.

While unsettling quarterbacks and running backs at B-CC, Riggins put on 50 pounds but retained his 4.8 (40-yard dash) speed which has the coaches blinking in amazement at their stopwatches.

Riggins was the ninth draft pick of the Packers. He feels his chances are good of making the team because only one other defensive lineman was selected.

"I guess the pass rush is what I do best," said Riggins, who collected 137 tackles this year. "I really don't know too much about what the Packers have on the defensive line, but I'll give it my best shot."

Riggins had an inkling that he would be drafted, but he didn't figure on the Packers. During the time the draft was taking place, he was being wine and dined by the Denver Broncos.

Pro Football

"I thought for sure Denver would draft me," recalls Riggins. "But when I heard it was Green Bay, I said, 'Thank you Jesus, I made it.'"

Riggins also made it academically at Bethune. The 1977 Seminole High graduate picked up a degree in Business Administration which he plans on using when his playing days are over.

Branch Earns Starting Spot

Charles Riggins was the only hulking football player hanging around Seminole High Friday. Reggie Branch, a 1980 Tribe graduate, was pumping a little iron himself in the 'Noles weight room.

College Football

Branch began his collegiate career at West Virginia University, but transferred to the University of East Carolina in September of 1961. While at Seminole, Branch was a 5-foot-11, 180 pound running back. He's still a running back, but a much bigger one.

Branch has pumped himself up to a very solid 210 pounds to go with his 4.5 (40-yard dash) speed. "I think I can get down to 4.4 this year," Branch predicts, who bench presses twice his weight. "Right now I'm starting at tailback."

Branch, who will be a sophomore next year, envisions a pro career like Riggins when he's through running past defenders at East Carolina.

Herald Sports Writer

The Sanford (800) 8 and under soccer team continued its winning ways Saturday with a 4-0 rout of Pine Hills 680.

Sanford rolled to its seventh victory without a loss, it has one tie, in what coach Gene Williams called a "good team effort." Sanford scored twice in the first half, first on an unassisted goal by Teddy Holloway and second on John Williams' goal assisted by Shane Stuart.

Sanford's two goalies, Stuart and Josh Ferguson, shut down the Pine Hills attack. In the second half Jason Walraven scored on an assist from Josh Letchworth and later Letchworth scored from Ferguson.

Sanford takes its unbeaten record into action this Saturday against Pine Hills 801. The game gets under way at 4:30 p.m., at the Fairgrounds.

Sanford Soccer Club

In other action, Sanford 201 "Celeste Industry" came back to score two second-half goals and held on for a tie against Downtown Orlando.

Celeste Industry ran to a 2-1 first half lead thanks to Mitch Albert's two unassisted goals. Rusty Miller and Nicky Pastis got credit for Sanford's third goal.

Sanford 201 travels to Showalter Field this Saturday to face Winter Park 285 at 11:30 a.m.

In the 14 and under age group Sanford 480, better known Saturday as the "Magnificent 7," erupted for five second half goals en route to a 6-0 blanking of Maitland 361.

Andrew White assisted Jason Helmadollar for Sanford 200's only goal. Sanford 200 is slated for an 11:40 a.m. game Saturday against Maitland 201 at the Sanford Airport.

The Kiwanis of Sanford 400 got back on the losing track with a 4-1 victory over Pine Hills 481. John Stuart scored three second half goals to pace the Kiwanis, 3-4-0.

Stuart's hat trick was offset by Sherri Rumlser's superb goalkeeping. Sanford 400 meets Maitland 361 Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the Airport.

In the 10 and under age division, Sanford 000 played to a 2-2 tie with Downtown Orlando 001. Matt Williams scored two goals and Troy Brewer added a goal and an assist for Sanford, 2-2-1.

Sanford 000 and Downtown 004 will meet Saturday at 12:10 p.m. at Memorial "B" Field. Sanford 080 scored two first half goals but gave up two in the second tie and the result was a 2-2 tie against F.C. United 080.

Sanford 081 — Winter Park 081, no score reported.

Man Struck By Car, Killed Along I-4

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

An elderly Oriental man died at 10:20 a.m. today just seven hours after he was hit by a car while walking along Interstate 4 near the Altamonte Springs exit.

Joe Bung Chun, 73, whose address has not been released pending notification of next of kin, died at the Florida Hospital-Orlando where he was being treated for severe head injuries, hospital officials said.

According to the Florida Highway Patrol, Chun was walking along I-4 when he was struck by a 1976 Oldsmobile driven by Francis Gerald Spalla, of 115 Ridgewood Rd., Longwood.

No charges have been filed in the accident pending the outcome of a homicide investigation, troopers said.

No other injuries were reported.

FIRES INVESTIGATED

No one was injured in either of two recent house fires, which occurred but fire investigators are continuing their investigation into one of the blazes which they feel may have been arson.

At 9:35 a.m. Monday, Seminole County fire personnel responded to a blaze at 114 Duncan Trail in Longwood, a home owned by Randall L. McCoy of Tallahassee. Fire of-officials said the fire, which was reported by a neighbor, broke out in the bedroom and spread down the hallway into the rest of the home, causing extensive heat and smoke damage.

Fire investigators are continuing their probe today into the fire's origin, saying it is of a suspicious nature.

Firefighters also doused a fire at a Sanford man's home early today but not before the flames had completely gutted the structure.

Herbert Johnson, 81, of 1017 Pine Ave., told police that he was attempting to light a kerosene heater when it exploded and started the fire. Police added that Johnson managed to escape from the burning home without injury.

GUNMEN ROB SANFORD RESIDENTS
Two Sanford residents were robbed of about $50 after two gunmen forced their way into a house and cut the telephone wires.

Clyde DeBose, 37, of 600 Cypress Ave., and Laura Frazier, 69, of 115 E. Fourth St., told police they were visiting an unidentified friend at 1112 Bay Ave., Sanford, at about 12:30 p.m. Monday when two men forced their way into the home.

CASSELBERRY TOWNHOUSE BURGLARIZED
Thieves broke into a Casselberry man's home at about 5 p.m. Monday and stole several unidentified art objects, some silver and two antique handguns.

Gary Johnston, 34, of 672 Parchment Lane, Conchlight Estates, told deputies that someone broke into his home by entering an unlocked garage door then removing the pins from the kitchen door.

SANFORD MAN STABBED
A 20-year-old Sanford man was listed in satisfactory condition at Seminole Memorial Hospital today after he was reportedly stabbed in the right side during a fight with another man Monday afternoon.

Ronnie Major, of 117 Anderson Ave., was taken to the hospital for treatment after he was stabbed at about 4 p.m. while fighting with a man known only to police as "Howard," reports indicate. The fight occurred at the intersection of W. 3th Street and Williams Avenue, Sanford, police added.

Americans Borrowing; Economic Recovery May Be In The Offing

Despite high interest rates, Americans borrowed heavily in March — a sign some economists look as an indication the long-awaited economic recovery is on its way.

The Federal Reserve Board reported Monday Americans' monthly payments increased by $990 million in March, the biggest jump in six months.

The increase in outstanding credit occurred despite a drop in automobile loans and a rare decline in consumer prices.

In Paris, Treasury Secretary Donald Regan predicted interest rates will come down, but cautioned against European countries placing too much stock in the decline.

"High interest rates in the United States may be a fault that needs curing, but it is not a panacea for all the world's economic ills," Regan told the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

Afterward, he told a news conference, "The rate of interest in the United States will come down primarily as a result of our settling on our deficit" with a fiscal 1983 budget proposal.

On Capitol Hill, however, the deficit remained up in the air, as the battle to produce a fiscal 1983 budget continued.

Rep. James Jones, D-Okla., House Budget Committee chairman, said he will propose a measure with a $103 billion fiscal 1983 deficit — slightly smaller than the budget plan approved last week by the Senate Budget Committee.

The March expansion of credit suggested to some analysts December's $33 million decline in borrowing would prove to be the bottom point for the recession.

"This is clearly a sign the economy is beginning to recover," said economist Lacy Hunt, senior vice president of Fidelity Bank, Philadelphia.

"It takes more confidence to go into debt to make purchases instead of using cash, and that's why it (consumer credit) is a leading indicator," Hunt said.

Doctor Says Hinckley Showed No Signs Of Mental Illness

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a dozen visits to his hometown psychiatrist, John W. Hinckley Jr. showed neither signs of serious mental illness nor a hint he was sharpening his shooting eye to stalk the president, the doctor told a jury.

Dr. John Hopper Jr., of Evergreen, Colo., testified Monday Hinckley impressed him as an intelligent young man who was experiencing social problems and was overly dependent on his family during the four months he treated him.

"At that time, I did not feel there was as much concern as we all realize we should have had," he said with a tinge of regret.

Hopper, who spent a full day on the witness stand and was called back for more questioning today, told the jury Hinckley appeared to have "anxiety attacks" and a "coldness in his emotional responses."

Hopper's notes on his sessions with Hinckley and his parents, introduced as evidence at the 26-year-old loner's historic trial, revealed Hinckley's mother and father were suffering from "severe marital discord."

Under cross-examination, Hopper said Hinckley showed no signs of psychosis, no neurological problems and no other apparent mental defects.

He said he found no reason to commit Hinckley to a mental hospital, to give him strong mood-controlling drugs or shock treatments, or to recommend he see other doctors.

Hinckley, 26, has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity to charges carrying a maximum penalty of life imprisonment stemming from the March 30, 1981, shooting attack that wounded Reagan and three others.

Prosecutors at the two-week trial contend the shooting was a calculated act and Hinckley had enough awareness and self-control to prevent it.

In cross-examination, Assistant U.S. Attorney Roger Adelman questioned Hopper on his ex-patient's mental state to build the government's case Hinckley was sane and concealed his plans to shoot Reagan.

Hopper's testimony could be critical because while as many as nine psychiatrists will testify, he is the only one who was not paid to examine Hinckley by prosecutors or defense lawyers.

Later, Adelman noted Hinckley apparently had no difficulty hiding from the psychiatrist the fact "he had been down on the rifle range on the 26th of January" practicing shooting his revolver.

"I guess he had the ability to do that," Hopper replied.

Hopper described advising the Hinckleys to set a deadline for John Jr. to get a job and make it on his own and getting a frantic phone call from the parents on March 6, 1981, saying their son was penniless in New York.

He said shortly after he urged the Hinckleys to let their son stay on the street for a few more hours before flying him home, Mrs. Hinckley advised him "John was fine" and would be needing no more help. Two weeks later, Hopper got a get-well card in the mail from John Jr. saying, "Thanks for recommending that I starve in New York City."

A week later, Hinckley allegedly shot the president.

'Head Shop' Law Won't Stop All Drug Paraphernalia Sales

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A two-year-old law closing "head shops" takes effect this week, but some drug paraphernalia sales still will be legal.

The statute outlawing the possession, manufacture or sale of items used to take illegal drugs takes effect Thursday, 21 days after being declared constitutional by the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta.

"Head shops" specializing in roach clips for marijuana cigarettes, water pipes for marijuana, spoons for cocaine and other paraphernalia are closing up or moving to other states.

Record and tobacco shops that have stocked the items on the side are sending their inventories back to the manufacturers.

But some items will still be available, including rolling papers for marijuana.

The law makes possession, manufacture or sale of the items a crime if they are intended for use with illegal drugs. Criminal intent must be proven if there is to be a successful prosecution.

"If somebody came in and just asked for a pack of 1.5's (a brand of rolling paper), I could sell them 1.5's," says Wick Bram, assistant manager of Smoke and Snuff at a Tallahassee shopping mall. "But if they came in and said, 'Man, I want to get messed up. Give me a pack of 1.5's,' I couldn't sell it to them."

Assistant Attorney General Mitchell Franks agrees that intent is a critical element in the law.

"It's the intent of individuals who sell that stuff. Is it his intent for it to be used for drugs," Franks said.

"If there is a prosecution, it becomes up to the judge and a jury to decide the intent."

The law was passed by the 1980 Legislature and quickly signed by Gov. Bob Graham. It was supposed to take effect that fall, but several head shop owners challenged it, and the statute was declared unconstitutional by a U.S. District Judge.

The 1981 Legislature amended the law, adding the intent for illegal use provision. The amended law was found constitutional by the Atlanta appeals court.

Use or possession of drug paraphernalia becomes a misdemeanor with a penalty of up to one year in jail and a fine of up to $1,000.

Manufacture and sale becomes a third-degree felony, carrying a penalty of up to five years in prison and a maximum fine of $5,000.

A Pill For Men Nearer Reality

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — In tests aimed at developing a male birth-control pill, a Vanderbilt University researcher successfully lowered sperm count without affecting sexual drive.

Dr. Gregory Doelle cautioned the studies are preliminary and it will be years before male contraceptive is available in pill form to the general public.

Doelle said the tests on six men combined two hormones — one that regulates the amount of sperm produced and another that provides sexual drive. Injections of the two hormones resulted in a significant drop in the sperm count but did not lower sexual drive, he said.

"All six maintained potency and libido (the sexual drive)" during the 20-week study period, Doelle said Monday. After the injections were stopped, normal sperm counts returned in all of them, he said.

The hormones injected "are a synthetic form of testosterone and luteinizing hormone releasing hormone, a natural hormone that regulates the development of the testes by acting on the pituitary gland in the brain."

In a previous Vanderbilt study in which LHRH injections were given without testosterone, five of eight male subjects became impotent during the treatment. All the men regained potency after the injections were stopped.

Doelle, a clinical fellow in the department of medicine, said the combined hormone treatment may avoid the major side effect of LHRH injections — impotence.

"We've not noted any other adverse effects," he said.

Eliminating Feared TB 'Next To Impossible'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Contrary to the optimistic predictions of the 1980s, experts now say tuberculosis is virtually impossible to eliminate in Florida. At the Florida Medical Association's annual meeting last week, Dr. Clifford Cole, state community tuberculosis control services director, told a group of doctors, "we should stop talking about the eradication of TB."

"We have overrode ourselves to the public in the past. We don't have the slightest chance of eradicating TB in the next 20 years," Cole said.

Miami is leading the country in the number of tuberculosis cases reported. Students, faculty and staff at three Dade County schools were forced to undergo screening this year for the debilitating lung disease.

Tuberculosis rates are especially high among American blacks and Haitians, Cole said.

He noted, however, that Haitians are not to blame for the TB problem and said the rate would be high in the Miami area with or without the refugee influx from Haiti.

"TB continues to spread and we do not seem to be able to get it to the degree of control we'd expect," said Cole. "We're failing to find cases early enough."

The state of Florida reported 1,463 new tuberculosis cases in 1981, including 346 in Miami, 49 in Fort Lauderdale, and eight in Hollywood. Haitians made up 11.9 percent of the new cases reported statewide.

New Naval Battle Near The Falklands

United Press International A British warship shelled an Argentine vessel in the narrow channel between the main East and West Falkland islands, causing a "large explosion," but it was unknown if the ship was sunk, the British defense ministry said today.

Ministry spokesman Ian McDonald said at a press briefing that the location of the attack demonstrated Britain's control of the area around the islands.

"One of our ships in the darkness detected the presence of a vessel within the total exclusion zone," McDonald said. "They fired on it."

He said, "We have no absolute evidence that the vessel was hit or sunk. All I can tell you is that we have reports of a large explosion."

The attack came on the third straight day of fighting around the blockaded Falkland Islands and followed an Argentine threat to attack any British ship or plane in the South Atlantic.

McDonald pointed to a map, indicating the attack took place at the midway point of the channel separating the two main Falkland Islands, seized April 2 by Argentina.

"The incident and its location shows how tight our grip is on the island," McDonald said. He also said the weather around the Falklands was deteriorating. "The wind strength is increasing; there is full cloud cover," he said.

Argentina's joint military command said it was widening the war zone because of Britain's "aggressive attitude which is reflected among other actions in the restrictions supposedly placed on Argentine maritime traffic in the South Atlantic."

"Any ship of English flag that is sailing in the aforementioned zone (the South Atlantic) towards the area of operations, and/or presumably constitutes a threat to national security, will be considered hostile and treated accordingly."

The latest eruption of warfare came less than 24 hours after British destroyers and frigates moved within sight of the Falklands, and opened fire with 4.5-inch guns on Port Stanley for the second consecutive day.

With U.N. peace talks entering their fourth day today, British diplomats voiced skepticism over contradictory Argentine statements on the key issue of sovereignty over the islands, a British colony since 1833.

Officials in Buenos Aires and at the United Nations indicated Argentina was dropping its demand that Britain recognize its sovereignty over the islands as a precondition to a cease-fire. But they insisted negotiations eventually end in Argentine sovereignty over the islands they invaded April 2.

"It is not that we are putting off our claim to sovereignty. We have simply made clear that in the first phase we could deal with other aspects," Foreign Minister Nicanor Costa Méndez said in a television interview in Buenos Aires.

"But Argentina is not renouncing and never will renounce sovereignty over the islands," he said.

British U.N. Ambassador Sir Anthony Parsons said there was no change in Argentina's position and warned the "next 24 to 48 hours" would be crucial to the mediation efforts of U.N. Secretary General Javier Perez de Cuellar.

"The Argentines seem to be saying everything must be agreed on the basis of continued Argentine sovereignty," Parsons said in television interviews shown in London.

"That is unacceptable to us and if they maintain that position, the talks will fail," he said.

Reporters aboard the HMS Hermes, the flagship of the British fleet, said frigates and destroyers Monday hammered Argentine positions near Port Stanley to soften Argentine defenses and prevent the resupply of troops.

The British Defense Ministry issued no comment, but the Argentine military junta claimed its forces "repelled the aggressions," without describing the actual fighting.

Argentine press reports quoted naval sources and other "reliable sources" as saying there were no Argentine casualties and the bombardment caused little damage to their positions on islands, 450 miles east of Argentina.

The bombardment Monday followed a 50-minute barrage Sunday on military installations near Port Stanley, where the bulk of Argentina's 9,000-man occupation force is believed stationed.

Britain, meanwhile, intensified its military buildup in the South Atlantic, dispatching a missile-carrying cruiser and three more frigates to join the British fleet of more than 60 ships enforcing a blockade of the islands.

A 100-mile "controlled air space" zone was declared around Ascension Island, the base of Britain's 10 long-range Vulcan bombers, the British defense ministry said. Ascension, a British dependency housing a U.S. Air Force base, is 3,000 miles north of the Falklands.

The destroyer Liverpool, sister ship of the HMS Sheffield, destroyed May 4 by an Exocet missile, left Liverpool for Devonport to be made ready for overseas service.

...Should Library Be Expanded?

per resident ratio is .70.

While Chairman Robert Sturm indicated a majority of the commission would be in favor of placing the referendum on the Oct. 5 ballot, he made it clear to the steering committee that the decision would be up to the voters.

"If we're going to spend these funds, we want the people to tell us they want it," he said.

Ms. Rhein told the commission that the library system should gear its support to the individual needs of the community and that branch facilities would be the best way to go about it.

"It's now, or we'll never catch up with the growth of the county," said another committee member.

Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather, who opposed the idea of a referendum six months ago when the commission instructed the steering committee to formulate future plans, remained opposed to the referendum at Monday's workshop.

"We need a central library — one that has everything," said Feather. "And until we have one that has everything, I don't see a need for branch offices."

Feather suggested that the committee take another look at incorporating existing library facilities with county high school libraries and with Seminole Community College.

Ms. Rhein said that access to the high school libraries because of school hours would be limited, and that local college libraries were more suited for research than general library services.

Feather, however, was adamant in his view that the construction program was much too costly, and said the staffing, maintenance and utility costs of six branch libraries would be very expensive for the county to maintain.

"I'm concerned about the library system, but I'm also concerned about what the county needs now," he said. "Until Seminole County's community matures, I don't think we can accurately project what the library needs will be. Right now we need roads more than we need libraries," he added.

In other matters discussed at the workshop session, County Administrator Roger Neiswender told the board he had received a letter from the state Bureau of Disaster Preparedness informing him that the only area of Seminole County that qualified as a disaster area in the wake of April's tornado was agriculture, which suffered some $6.1 million in damages from the storm.

Neiswender informed the commission that the only residential areas that could qualify for low-interest loans are those where at least 25 uninsured homes are in a concentrated area. He also said that in order for local businesses to fall under a disaster-area declaration and qualify for small-business loans, at least 25 percent of the local work force had to be out of work for at least a 30-day period.

Orange Avenue Paving Plan OK'd

By JOE DeSANTIS Herald Staff Writer

After three heated public hearings concerning the paving of Orange Avenue, the Longwood City Commission and residents of the street reached a quiet compromise at Monday night's commission meeting.

By unanimous vote, the commission adopted Resolution 473, approving an amended assessment roll and expenditures for the paving of Orange Avenue from its intersection with Grant Street to its intersection with County Road 427.

Residents had expressed concern about increased traffic, speeding traffic and the lack of sidewalks in an original proposal, but the commission agreed to narrow the proposed paving width of the street, pick up the tab for sidewalk construction, place 25-mph and "no through truck" signs along the street, and pay for the engineering costs of the paving project.

Original estimates by city engineers put the assessment amount per homeowner at slightly more than $10 per linear foot, based on a low bid of $56,137 from the Amick Construction Co., Orlando.

But the commission's agreement to pay for a sidewalk along the street and engineering work will cut the cost of paving to $49,150, reducing the assessment amount to $7.02 per linear foot.

The commission also agreed to narrow the proposed paving width from 26 to 22 feet in order to make room for a sidewalk along the 2,150-foot stretch of Orange Avenue.

Commissioner Steven Uskert expressed doubt that the city should start a precedent by paying for sidewalk construction with city funds, but Commissioner C.W. "Chick" Pappas said he thought it was a good precedent.

"If we pay for the sidewalk, the next thing you know we'll be paying for the streets," said Uskert.

Pappas said, "I think the city should start a precedent for sidewalks, they benefit the whole city. Sidewalks are a safety factor for children because they travel that street to get to school. I don't want to see any child getting hurt. You can't measure a child's life in money."

Commissioner Russell Grant, back in attendance after a recent illness, said, "I don't think we can divide the city by saying your tax money can go for this but it can't go for that. If the sidewalk benefits the city, let's do it."

The board agreed to transfer $7,500 from the city's drainage fund on the recommendation of City Administrator David Chacey to help pay for the sidewalk construction and engineering work.

The board also unanimously approved a request for rezoning of a parcel of land, the west 180 feet, plus or minus, of Lot 6, Triangledale, Plat Book 6, the property of Walter Judge.

In agreeing to the rezoning from R-1 Residential to C-2 Commercial, Judge agreed to provide the city with an access plan to his proposed business offices for city police and fire vehicles and to prohibit access to the site from East Street.

The rezoning conforms to the city's long-range land-use map, adopted two weeks ago by the commission.

— Formally approved a fluoridation grant in the amount of $31,496.06 from the state of Florida.

— Approved a request from Initial Engineering Inc. for a one-year extension until next May 1 for requirements of filing a final plat for Harbour Isle Subdivision, and tabled any action on a request by Mrs. Marie D. Spicer to open a flea market on weekends on the site of Mrs. Adams Auction Barn, the east side of County Road 427, just south of the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad, until a more detailed sketch of the proposed flea market could be presented to the commission.

'Look Mom, No Cavities!'

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Tooth decay is declining so rapidly among American children cavities may someday be only a memory, says a leading dentist.

Dr. Vincent N. Liberto said he has seen a "dramatic reduction" in the number of cavities among children in recent years although tooth problems may show up earlier.

"We're saying educational programs, along with using fluoride in the community water supply and eating nutritious foods, have led to a dramatic reduction in decay," Liberto said.

Liberto, president of the American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry, was in St. Louis during the weekend to present the city's Dental Theatre with a permanent exhibit on children's dental problems.

He said recent research shows 37 percent of children between the ages of 5 and 12 have no cavities — "a fantastic reduction" in tooth decay among children.

However, he said, some tooth problems now are starting to show up at earlier ages.

"We're now finding 2-year-old children with serious dental decay problems," he said. "The reason is the nursing bottle. The fluid coming from the bottle constantly bathes the teeth and eats away at the teeth."

He recommended sealing the teeth of cavity-free children with a plastic coating that would last for up to five years.
